> life for the masses of African people. This is > perhaps his greatest legacy and gift.

>
> Copyright 1998 Runoko Rashidi. All rights reserved.

>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> See AOL's top rated recipes
> (<http://food.aol.com/top-rated-recipes?NCID=aoltop00030000000004>)

>

| 24468|2007-12-31 11:15:38|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|

men and women are white and brown , not just women and they are of a artisticstyle more in line with greece and tyra and other white societies, then what is seen on the african mainland; there is no real significant archaeological evidence of invasion the white(greecian) and levant invasion is at a time after devastating earthquakes there , at any rate the minoans were not the greek people they had a different language and manner of lifestyle , the greecians were white peole as were the romans and etruscians, all were influenced by the africans and had temples ran by africans , but they were as much a white people as todays french, who were helped in founding the city of paris by black africans and have many blacks in their country, but france is a white nation of people

greece was a white nation, and the minoans were a cosmopolitan people made up of africans (island was probaly founded by africans and considered an outpost of the northern khamy like lybia was) and the peole of the mediterrian and levant, there was probaly a heavy infux early by the etruscians also and many lybians

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

>> the pics of the minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,<<

Well, it appears that the "very white" image- who were generally females - was ritualistic. That is to say that they were painted white as has long been an Afrikan custom for women to - if I remember correctly - indicate virginity and purity.

And also keep in mind I'm referring to a period before the invasions of whites or, at least, before a significant influx of them.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>

> i agree the minoans were an african people ,,probaly a outpost of ancient egyptians ,,i agree with Ra Unnefer Amen that it was at

crete that the ancient greeks recieved there initiation into the khamatic priesthood and guilds,;

> but the mainland greeks from archaeological evidence were stereotypically european, althought they [the old hellenic greeks] mixed with many people, persians and (negroid)egyptians they were europeans and both they and the dorians copied the architecture of africa , and the minoans were not greeks; the island of crete was cosmopolitan and multi-ethic, perhaps at its late history the population was mostly greek or a mixed type,,, the pics of the minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,,

>

> the architecture sems to me be a unique mix of ancient egyptian and etruscan and this maybe the real insight into these people , as the hellenes who are essentially the etruscians cousins were also taught by the egyptians: ; and the isle of crete maybe were they were initiated also.....

>

> i mean it(all are africa) in the same way stated by Dr, Richard King in his book the african origin of biological psychiatry, theres the african (all humanity) and theres the african-african (those who are the specific quality of the continent) please understand my paraphrasing of the Dr. is elementary compared too his description

>

> Mahari Mengistu wrote:

> I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all African". We ARE all

> Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what I suggest about > the early Greeks.

> The book "Who Were the Minoans? An African Answer..." states that > the Minoans were an Afrikan people who spoke Niger-Congo. Not only > the language suggests that but their architecture as well as their > dress.

> HTP,

> Mahari

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka

> wrote:

> >

> > i dont see the original greeks as african????, of course we all

> everywhere are african,, but the original people of that area in > archaeology are always the stereotypical european,

> > the greeks have no writing before 800 bce. so they could only > speak of other people very late in written history

> >

> > Mahari Mengistu wrote:

>> Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.
>> HTP,
>> Mahari
>>
>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>> More supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.
>>>
>>>
>>> http://64.233.183.104/search?
>>
>
q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtw J:www.htmlbible. com/sacrednamebi blecom/kjvstrong s/S
>> TRGRK27.htm+ greek+kauma& hl=en&ct= clnk&cd=4& gl=uk
>>>
>>> Somo
>>>
>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>> From: asar_imhotep
>>> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
>>> Sent: Friday, December 28, 2007 9:35 PM
>>> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu"
wrote:
>>>>
>>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the >>>> Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek word
>> for >>>> Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of the >> word - >>>> in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal
and
>> that >>>> black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of >> course, >>>> it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would assume
>> that >>>> dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the sun

>> to be >>>> so. However, it is possible that the term could have been >> coined by >>>> brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even >> darker
 >>>> skins.
 >>>> The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the >>>> word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course,
 >> we >>>> already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.
 >>>> HTP,
 >>>> Mahari
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern >> interpretation. I think the ancient Greeks simply were saying what >> the ancient Egyptians were actually calling themselves (or at least >> the priesthood). Notice the cognancy between the Greek word >> for "burn" and the Ta-Merrian term "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" >> piece of charcoal).
 >>>
 >>> Το λεξικόν βρήκε 1 λήσχηξη.
 >>> The dictionary found 1 word.
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> burn = καίῶ, καίομαι
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> kaio, kaiomai
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it
 is >> ironic that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek.
 The
 >> Greeks used the term Αἰθιοπία (Aithiopia) to refer to the >> people of Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek >> dictionary, no word comes up resembling Aithiopia.
 >>>
 >>> Greek word for sun
 >>>
 >>> Ν Ν ἥλιος
 >>> Β Β ηλιάζῳ
 >>>

>>> hlio
 >>> hliazo (helios)
 >>>
 >>> Greek word for face
 >>>
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> Ν Ν Θρ ρ Η Θ Θ ο, ρ η, μ ο ύ λ ρ ο, Θ ά λ η α
 >>> V V α ν λ ρ ο ρ ο ζ ζ ο, α λ λ ε ν ί ζ ζ ο
 >>>
 >>> prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa
 >>> antikruxio, atenixio
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words
 in >> Greek are included in the ΠιθιοΘία. This leads me to > suspect
 >> that it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when >> they say "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning >> to "burn" or to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> burn = καίΘ, καίομαι
 >>>
 >>> kaio, kaiomai
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone has >> some literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces,"
 >> maybe we can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I > don't >> think they were using it in the same fashion we think of it in > racial >> terms, but was playing off of the term already used when we think
 > of
 >> the Kematians.
 >>>
 >>> For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an >> Obelisk. Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the >> functional aspect of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) >> represents an erect penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits"

> sperm
>> from its opening. Although the Greeks used a different term, it >> philosophically is in alignment with the indigenous representation
> of >> a Tekkenu. The same could be at play here as well.
>>>
>>> Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I >> transliterated the terms just in case.
>>>
>>>
>>> Asar Imhotep
>>> <http://www.mochasuite.com>
>>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>>
>>
>> -----
>> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
>>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24469|2007-12-31 11:15:58|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|
the language seems too be a new language like hebrew a created language much in kine to what happened in so. africa{africaneer} and e. africa{kiswahili} a traders language , a language designed so people could quickly communicate, and crete is not greece//

Peter Gray wrote:

This question has been asked before, I'm sure, but:

If indeed the Minoans were Africans who spoke a Niger-Congo language, where are their evidences in Africa itself? Or for that matter, their palaces?

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: mahari@myway. com
Date: Sun, 30 Dec 2007 04:59:57 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop

I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all African". We ARE all Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what I suggest about the early Greeks.

The book "Who Were the Minoans? An African Answer..." states that the Minoans were an Afrikan people who spoke Niger-Congo. Not only the language suggests that but their architecture as well as their dress.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka
wrote:

>

> i dont see the original greeks as african????, of course we all
everywhere are african,, but the original people of that area in archaeology are always the stereotypical european,
> the greeks have no writing before 800 bce. so they could only speak of other people very late in written history

>

> Mahari Mengistu wrote:
> Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.
> HTP,

> Mahari
>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:
>>
>>
>> More supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.
>>
>>
>> http://64.233.183.104/search?
>
q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtwJ:www.htmlbible.com/sacrednamebi+blecom/kjvstrong+s/S > TRGRK27.htm+ greek+kauma& hl=en&ct= clnk&cd=4& gl=uk
>>
>> Somo
>>
>> ----- Original Message -----
>> From: asar_imhotep
>> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
>> Sent: Friday, December 28, 2007 9:35 PM
>> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
>>
>>
>>
>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:
>>>
>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the >>> Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek word
> for >>> Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of the > word - >>> in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal and
> that >>> black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of
> course, >>> it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would assume
> that >>> dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the sun
> to be >>> so. However, it is possible that the term could have been > coined by >>> brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even > darker
>>> skins.
>>> The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the >>> word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course,
> we

> > > already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.
 > > > HTP,
 > > > Mahari
 > >
 > >
 > > I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern > interpretation. I think the ancient Greeks simply were saying what > the ancient Egyptians were actually calling themselves (or at least > the priesthood). Notice the cognancy between the Greek word > for "burn" and the Ta-Merrian term "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" > piece of charcoal).
 > >
 > > Το λεξικόν βρήκε 1 λήσχη.
 > > The dictionary found 1 word.
 > >
 > >
 > > burn = καίω, καίομαι
 > >
 > >
 > > kaio, kaiomai
 > >
 > >
 > > With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it is > ironic that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek. The > Greeks used the term Αἰθιοπία (Aithiopia) to refer to the > people of Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek > dictionary, no word comes up resembling Aithiopia.
 > >
 > > Greek word for sun
 > >
 > > Ν Ν ἥλιος
 > > Β Β ηλιάζω
 > >
 > > hlio
 > > hliazo (helios)
 > >
 > > Greek word for face
 > >
 > >
 > >
 > > Ν Ν ὄψος, ὄψη, μούτρο, φάτσα
 > > Β Β ἀντωκρύζω, ἀπενίζω
 > >
 > > prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa
 > > antikruxio, atenixio
 > >

> >
> > When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words in > Greek are included in the Πιθιοΐα. This leads me to suspect
> that it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when > they say "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning > to "burn" or to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma
> >
> >
> > burn = καίῳ, καίομαι
> >
> > kaio, kaiomai
> >
> >
> > I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone has > some literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces," > maybe we can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I don't > think they were using it in the same fashion we think of it in racial > terms, but was playing off of the term already used when we think
of
> the Kematians.
> >
> > For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an > Obelisk. Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the > functional aspect of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) > represents an erect penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits"
sperm
> from its opening. Although the Greeks used a different term, it > philosophically is in alignment with the indigenous representation
of > a Tekkenu. The same could be at play here as well.
> >
> > Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I > transliterated the terms just in case.
> >
> >
> > Asar Imhotep
> > <http://www.mochasui te.com>
> >
>
>
>
>
>
>

>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile.
Try it now.
>

Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live. Share now!

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24470|2007-12-31 11:52:57|asar_imhotep|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg|

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:

>
> Hi.
>
> This is just a quick analysis of the charcoal mound. I shall reply to Asar's ideas soon.
>
> Many thanks.
>
> Somo
>

As I have said in a private email in regards to this, you might want to include in your definition of, in reference to the other name of Egypt (BaKaa), the concept of the "higher ones" or "elders."

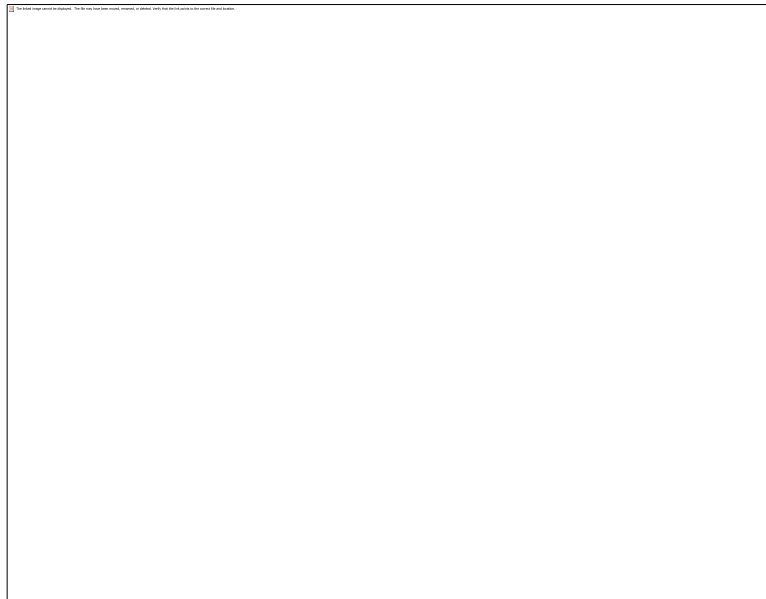

Remember the brotherhood that exist on the continent to this date, that is the BonaaBaKulu AbaseKhemu (The brotherhood of the higher ones of Egypt). The word BaKulu means elder or higher ones (masters).

When we are talking about the rendition of BaKaa, it is more than likely rendered BaKulu (depending on regional variation) and the /k/ sound in the Egyptian uses the hill/mound glyph.

We know with a slight sound variation, Kala becomes Kulu. Another thing you might want to consider is the philosophical concept of an elder who is about to transition and is closer to the ancestral realm. In Zaire, a bad person who has died is called an n'Kuyu. A DEIFIED ancestor is called MuKulu. There is not much distinction between a dead ancestor and an elder. They both serve the same function within the society.

Now let's look at your hypothesis of the hill actually being a firing mound. As Dr. Fu-Kiau has mentioned, the Musoni stage is the stage in the Cosmogram where the actual fire process (conception, thought, planning) of the human being (or any ideas) are grafted (the first "V").

An elder occupies V-4 on the Cosmogram and is preparing to reenter the V-1. There could be a philosophical correlation between what goes on "inside" the firing mound and the development that goes on in the Vangama (Musoni Stage) of development according to the Cosmology.

The charcoal making process is simply the initial stage in transforming something from one state to another. The elder in the community would fit the definition as presented in your analysis"

"By supreme one means, highest ranking, be the best, be pre-eminent, be excellent, be of distinction."

This fits perfectly with the name of the brotherhood/priesthood mentioned earlier: bonaaBaKulu abaseKhemu (The brotherhood of the higher ones of Egypt). The mound could simply represent the Musoni stage (just like the pyramids do) as inside this hidden "realm" as it is where all things develop and come to be. An elder is revered because he/she is closer to that realm and could be an ally for us in the realm of "ungrasped ideas."

Kara = kala = kulu

k = fire mound = the grafting process

What do yo think?

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24471|2007-12-31 13:25:49|Wayne Owens|Re: Osama bin Laden Is Dead - Benazir Bhutto|
I am in full agreement with your analysis until you spoke of democrats, I am seeing democrats and republicans as part of a system that is geared towards Global Aryanism (White Supremacy). It is difficult for me to see the democrats as something other than powermongers, my favorite type of white liberal is either in the vein of John Brown or is dead having acted like John Brown!
Majadi Baruti

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Posted by: "Wayne Owens" majadi9@yahoo.com majadi9
Sun Dec 30, 2007 8:16 pm (PST)

> > All I know, is that the US government is not very > > interested in catching him. I wonder why?
>
> Perhaps because men like Bin Laden and others
> were financially tied to the U.S. and others.

Osama bin Laden's brother bailed out George Bush when his Arbusto oil company went belly up. He did so by massively overpaying for Arbusto shares.

Now, Osama's brother OWNS Houston International Airport.

This is the same brother who was sipping coffee with Bush's father, when the planes hit the Twin Towers. (Doesn't Osama destroying major buildings in New York while his brother is being entertained by the former president smack of sibling rivalry?)

And of course, the Bushes ushered the entire bin Laden clan out of the country, thwarting an FBI investigation as to what, as Osama bin Laden's relatives, they may have known or information they might have picked up.

And of course this is the same Bush who ignored a Presidential Daily Briefing titled: "Osama bin Laden Determined To Strike Inside The United States".

It is difficult to catch where the incompetence ends and the collusion begins.

Let's hope a Democrat gets elected quickly.

Alex

*Upward Movement, Upward Movement!
Afrikan Power! Now and Forever! Ashe!*

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24472|2007-12-31 13:27:40|Wayne Owens|Re: FROM THE ARCHIVES--IN EGYPT WITH
YOSEF A.A. BEN-JOCHANNAN|

Mahari I am full agreement with this, a Holy place for us would be in one of these locations, it could serve as a centralisation point for Pan-Afrikanism!

Majadi Baruti

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

Perhaps, Kemet should become our Mecca. Or perhaps, a better location would somewhere in southern Sudan. The many conflictual elements in modern Egypt could somehow muddy the spiritual waters with the ancient invasions, the Arab conquest and racism, the Islamic intrusions and imperatives.

If such a place were established in southern Sudan - and I'm sure there is an appropriate historical location - it could also stimulate the economy there with the tourist trade.

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, shaimesh@... wrote:

>

> From: _Runoko@..._ (mailto:Runoko@ ...)

>

>

> 31 December 2007

>

> Greetings,

>

> Today is Dr. Ben's Earthday! Here is something from > the archives.

>

> Runoko Rashidi

>
> IN EGYPT WITH YOSEF A.A. BEN-JOCHANNAN: ICON OF > AFRICAN HISTORIOGRAPHY

>
> By RUNOKO RASHIDI

>
> "This is but a mere feeble effort in saying: Without > you, African/Black mother, there would have been no > us--African/ us--African/ Black fathers, sons and > need to say any more African/Black mothers, our own > true goddesses! Let us praise you to the highest, > telling the world about your righteousness. Let us > tell the entire universe about your sacredness > African/Black woman.
> --Yosef A.A. ben-Jochannan

>
> Every African should try to visit Egypt at least once > during their lifetime. It is a pilgrimage to our > sacred motherland-- sacred motherland-- tsacred > is never the same afterwards. Although there are now > numerous study tours to Egypt, undoubtedly the most > celebrated are those of Dr. Yosef A.A. ben-Jochannan.
> Dr. Ben's tours include the massive rock-hewn temples
> of King Ramses II and Queen Nefertari at Abu Simbel,
> the temple of goddess Isis at Philae Island, the royal > tombs of the Valley of the Kings and the west bank > mortuary temples of Makare Hatshepsut, Ramses II and > Ramses III at Luxor, the east bank worship temples of > Luxor and Karnak, the temple of goddess Hathor at > Dendera, the Sphinx and the massive pyramids on the > Giza Plateau, the Step pyramid designed by the > multi-genius Imhotep at Sakkara, and the Egyptian > Museum at Cairo.

>
> Regarding these sites, the reader should know that > Usemare Ramses II (popularly known as "Ramses the > Great") ruled Egypt more than six decades and emerged
> as one of history's most colossal builders. Nefertari, > his chief queen, helped Ramses govern and was revered > throughout ancient Egypt. Isis was one of Egypt's > greatest deities, and along with her husband Osiris
> and son Horus, formed one of antiquities' great > triads. The Valley of the Kings entombed the bodies > of some of pharaonic Egypt's most significant rulers.
> Makare Hatshepsut was a great female monarch who > governed effectively for twenty years. Ramses III

> fought off two foreign invasions of Egypt and sat on > the throne for thirty-one years. Karnak temple is the > world's largest religious sanctuary. Hathor was the > Egyptian goddess of love, beauty and sensuality. The > enormous pyramids on the Giza plateau have been called
 > "miracles in stone," while the Step Pyramid at Sakkara > has the distinction of being the world's first large > stone monument. The Cairo Museum is crammed full of > the representations, physical remains, personal > possessions and writings of the pharaohs, queens, > officials and ordinary people the ancient Nile Valley.
 >
 > Dr. Ben's tours, like the man himself, stand out quite > singularly. Born December 31, 1918 in Gondar,
 > Ethiopia, Dr. Yosef Alfredo Antonio ben-Jochannan
 > ("Dr. Ben," as he is affectionately known) has devoted > the better part of his life to the illumination of the > indigenous origins of African civilizations. By > profession, he is a trained lawyer, engineer, > historian and Egyptologist. Ben-Jochannan went to > Egypt for the first time in 1939, and moved to Harlem,
 > New York in 1945. Dr. Ben knew Malcolm X personally, > and was a student and colleague of George G.M. James.
 > He was exceptionally close to the late Dr. John Henrik
 > Clarke. Since 1957, he has coordinated regular study > tours and pilgrimages to the Nile Valley, directly > exposing thousands of African people to the still > visible splendors of ancient Egypt. Formerly adjunct
 > professor at Cornell University's Africana Studies > Department, Dr. ben-Jochannan has also been a > professor-at- professor- at-large at Al Azar Uni
 >
 > While now advanced in years, Dr. Ben continues to > wield tremendous influence on African studies. He is > indeed one of the most unrelenting twentieth century
 > advocates of the African origins of Nile Valley > civilizations and the African origins of Western > religions. By his own account, he has prepared > seventy-five manuscripts for publication, and was > working on another during his 1997 tour. He is the > author of more than twenty books, including African > Origins of the Major Western Religions in 1970, > Africa: Mother of Western Civilization in 1971, Black > Man of the Nile and His Family in 1972, A Chronology > of the Bible: A Challenge to the Standard Version in > 1973, The African Called Rameses ("The Great") II, and > the African Origin of Western Civilization in 1990.

 > Several of his works have gone through a number of > reprints and different editions, and although > controversial, all of them are well-documented. As > pointed out by Dr. Leonard Jeffries:
 >
 > "Ben-Jochannan' "Ben-Jochannan' s extensive pu > voluminous reference materials and sources to > stimulate students and scholars to pursue more > systematic and scientific research. He also includes > very revealing photos, illustrations and charts that > help the ordinary layman grasp the significance of the > work."
 >
 > Dr. ben-Jochannan remains uncompromising in his views, > a lively public speaker and a prolific writer, and has > probably done more to popularize African history than > any living scholar. Dr. Ben has brought history to > life for the masses of African people. This is > perhaps his greatest legacy and gift.
 >
 > Copyright 1998 Runoko Rashidi. All rights reserved.
 >
 >
 >
 >
 >
 >
 >
 >  See AOL's top rated recipes
 > (<http://food.aol.com/top-rated-recipes?NCID=aoltop00030000000004>)
 >

Upward Movement, Upward Movement!
Afrikan Power! Now and Forever! Ashe!

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24473|2007-12-31 13:52:00|kungfuhustle|Re: Osama bin Laden Is Dead - Benazir Bhutto|
 John Brown.

Now that was a GOOD white man!

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Wayne Owens <majadi9@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Osama bin Laden Is Dead - Benazir Bhutto

Date: Mon, 31 Dec 2007 13:25:47 -0800 (PST)

I am in full agreement with your analysis until you spoke of democrats, I am seeing democrats and republicans as part of a system that is geared towards Global Aryanism (White Supremacy). It is difficult for me to see the democrats as something other than powermongers, my favorite type of white liberal is either in the vein of John Brown or is dead having acted like John Brown!

Majadi Baruti

Alex van Deelen <avdeelen@wanadoo.nl> wrote:

Posted by: "Wayne Owens" majadi9@yahoo.com majadi9

Sun Dec 30, 2007 8:16 pm (PST)

> > All I know, is that the US government is not very > > interested in catching him. I wonder why?
>
> Perhaps because men like Bin Laden and others
> were financially tied to the U.S. and others.

Osama bin Laden's brother bailed out George Bush when his Arbusto oil company went belly up. He did so by massively overpaying for Arbusto shares.

Now, Osama's brother OWNS Houston International Airport.

This is the same brother who was sipping coffee with Bush's father, when the planes hit the Twin Towers. (Doesn't Osama destroying major buildings in New York while his brother is being entertained by the former president smack of sibling rivalry?)

And of course, the Bushes ushered the entire bin Laden clan out of the country, thwarting an FBI investigation as to what, as Osama bin Laden's relatives, they may have known or information they might have picked up.

And of course this is the same Bush who ignored a Presidential Daily Briefing titled: "Osama bin Laden Determined To Strike Inside The United States".

It is difficult to catch where the incompetence ends and the collusion begins.

Let's hope a Democrat gets elected quickly.

Alex

Upward Movement, Upward Movement!
Afrikan Power! Now and Forever! Ashe!

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24474|2007-12-31 20:24:20|shaimesh@aol.com|Sekhmet And The Art of Ancient Egyptian Medicine|

From:beywatch7@optonline.net

<http://showcase.netins.net/web/ankh/sekhmetnew.html>

See AOL's top rated recipes and easy ways to stay in shape for winter.

| 24475|2008-01-01 00:55:22|Mahari|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg|

This is not addressing "ka" directly but it might be of interest or even fit in some fashion.

I was just playing creative with KWANZAA where I am substituting the "a" in the name with a pyramid.

Asar's treatment of the pyramid shape made me think of the "a" shape in pyramids and the significance of what has become the "a"/alphabet. The "a" seems to be added to Kemetic words to give them divine status and even more so with a double a/"aa". How much of this is due to western transliteration conventions I can't say.

I don't have Budge's dictionary in front of me but do remember, I believe, seeing that the "a" alone has the highest significance.

FREE INDIA'S BLACKS.....

It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning.

Henry Ford (23)

--- On Mon 12/31, asar_imhotep < asar_imhotep@yahoo.com > wrote:

From: asar_imhotep [mailto: asar_imhotep@yahoo.com]
To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Date: Mon, 31 Dec 2007 19:52:56 -0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, "Ferg" ..> wrote:

>
> Hi.
>
> This is just a quick analysis of the charcoal mound. I shall reply to Asar's ideas soon.
>
> Many thanks.
>
> Somo
>

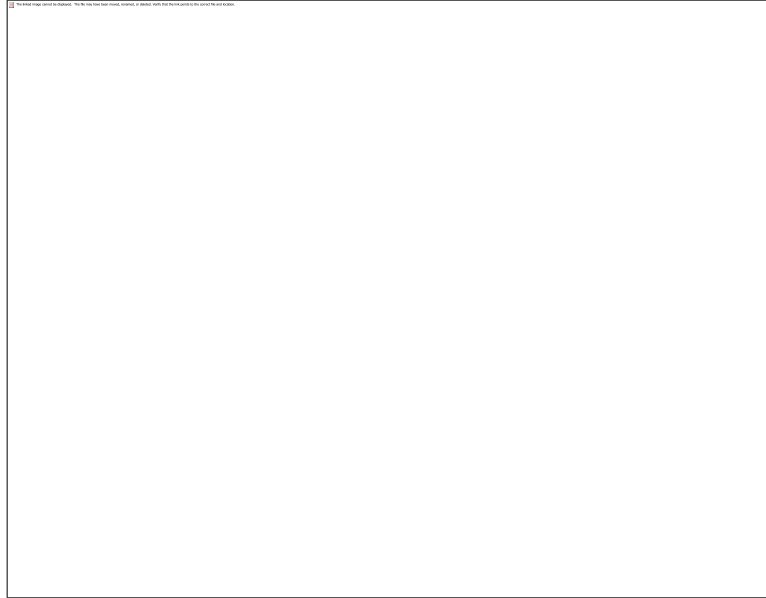

As I have said in a private email in regards to this, you might want to include in your definition of, in reference to the other name of Egypt (BaKaa), the concept of the "higher ones" or "elders."

Remember the brotherhood that exist on the continent to this date, that is the BonaaBaKulu AbaseKhemu (The brotherhood of the higher ones of Egypt). The word BaKulu means elder or higher ones (masters).

When we are talking about the rendition of BaKaa, it is more than likely rendered BaKulu (depending on regional variation) and the /k/ sound in the Egyptian uses the hill/mound glyph.

We know with a slight sound variation, Kala becomes Kulu. Another thing you might want to consider is the philosophical concept of an elder who is about to transition and is closer to the ancestral realm. In Zaire, a bad person who has died is called an n'Kuyu. A DEIFIED ancestor is called MuKulu. There is not much distinction between a dead ancestor and an elder. They both serve the same function within the society.

Now let's look at your hypothesis of the hill actually being a firing mound. As Dr. Fu-Kiau has mentioned, the Musoni stage is the stage in the Cosmogram where the actual fire process (conception, thought, planning) of the human being (or any ideas) are grafted (the first "V").

An elder occupies V-4 on the Cosmogram and is preparing to reenter the V-1. There could be a philosophical correlation between what goes on "inside" the firing mound and the development that goes on in the Vangama (Musoni Stage) of development according to the Cosmology.

The charcoal making process is simply the initial stage in transforming something from one state to another. The elder in the community would fit the definition as presented in your analysis"

"By supreme one means, highest ranking, be the best, be pre-eminent, be excellent, be of distinction. "

This fits perfectly with the name of the brotherhood/ priesthood mentioned earlier: bonaaBaKulu abaseKhemu (The brotherhood of the higher ones of Egypt). The mound could simply represent the Musoni stage (just like the pyramids do) as inside this hidden "realm" as it is where all things develop and come to be. An elder is revered because he/she is closer to that realm and could be an ally for us in the realm of "ungrasped ideas."

Kara = kala = kulu

k = fire mound = the grafting process

What do yo think?

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasui te.com>

No banners. No pop-ups. No kidding.

Make My Way your home on the Web - <http://www.myway.com>

| 24476|2008-01-01 00:55:48|clyde winters|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|

Hi Mahari

I have written on the Minoans. You can find my most recent work on this topic and a discussion of the Minoan language by doing a google search of Minoan2. This is the name of the site.

Clyde

--- Mahari Mengistu <mahari@myway.com> wrote:

> You might want to get the book and read it. One of > the obvious > challenges of such a thesis is to prove a connection > between what is > known of the Minoan culture and that of an Afrikan > culture. The > author attaches this connection to that of the > Yoruba and Fulani > cultures in the Nigerian region. The closest > connections appear to > be to the Yoruba who have similar architecture, > language, ritual, and
> dress.
> Dr. Winters also has written on this topic as well.
> He may want to > add something to this.
> HTP,
> Mahari
>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray
> wrote:
> >
> >
> > This question has been asked before, I'm sure, > but:
> >
> > If indeed the Minoans were Africans who spoke a > Niger-Congo
> language, where are their evidences in Africa > itself? Or for that > matter, their palaces?
> >
> > Peter
> >
> >
> >
> > To: Ta_Seti@...: mahari@...: Sun, 30 Dec 2007

> 04:59:57
> +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta
> Diop
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all > African". We ARE all > Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what > I suggest about > the early Greeks.The book "Who Were the Minoans? An > African > Answer..." states that the Minoans were an Afrikan > people who spoke > Niger-Congo. Not only the language suggests that but > their > architecture as well as their dress.HTP,Mahari--- In
>
> Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka > wrote:>> i > dont see the original greeks as african????, of > course we all > everywhere are african,, but the original people of > that area in > archaeology are always the stereotypical european,> > the greeks have > no writing before 800 bce. so they could only speak > of other people > very late in written history> > Mahari Mengistu
> wrote:>
> Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.> HTP,> Mahari> > --- In > Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" > wrote:> >> > > More > supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.> > > > >
> <http://64.233.183.104/search?>>
>

q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtwJ:www.htmlbible.com/sacrednamebiblecom/kjvstrongs/S
> > TRGRK27.htm+greek+kauma&hl=en&ct=clnk&cd=4&gl=uk>
> > > > Somo> >
> > ----- Original Message ----- > > From:
> asar_imhotep > > To:
> Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com > > Sent: Friday, December
> 28, 2007 9:35 PM>
> > Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta

> Diop> > > > > > > -
 > -- In Ta.Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu"
 > wrote:> >
 > > > > I was just reading some of Diop which > discusses the > > > > Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the > Greek word > for > > > Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a > caucasian origin of the > > word - > > > in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that > white skin is > normal and > that > > > black skin becomes black > through some outside > force when, of > course, > > > it is the reverse. A > black or brown > skinned person would assume > that > > > dark skin > is normal and > would not have to be burned by the sun > to be > > > > so. However, it > is possible that the term could have been > coined > by > > > brown > skinned people to refer to their brothers who had > even > darker > > > > skins.> > > The question is: does anyone know > approximately the time > the > > > word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek > language? Of > course, > we > > > already know that the original > Greeks were > Afrikan.> > > HTP,> > > Mahari> > > > > I think it > is a > mistranslation on the part of modern > > interpretation. I think the > ancient Greeks simply were saying what > the ancient > Egyptians were > actually calling themselves (or at least > the > priesthood). Notice > the cognancy between the Greek word > for "burn" and > the Ta-Merrian > term "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" > piece of > charcoal). > > > > > Το λεξικόν βρήκε 1 λέξη.> > The > dictionary found > 1 word.> > > > > burn = καίῶ, καίομαι > > > > > > kaio, > kaioimai > > > > > With recent discussion about the > term "kaa" > meaning burnt, it is > ironic that you would find > the same term in > the ancient Greek. The > Greeks used the term > Πιθιοθία

 > (Aithiopia) to refer to the > people of Ta-Nehesu.
 > When I look up the > term "burn" in any Greek > dictionary, no word comes > up resembling > Aithiopia. > > > Greek word for sun> > > N N > ἥλιοϋ > > V V > ἡλιάζω > > > hlioε> > hliazo (helios)> > > > Greek word for > face> > > > > > N N ὤρῳ, ὤρῳ, ὤρῳ, > μούρῳ, ὤ > ὤρῳ > > V V ἀνὸς, ἀνὸς, ἀνὸς > > > > prosopo, > ophe, moutro, phatsa> > antikruxio, atenixio> > >
 > > > When I look > at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words > in > Greek are > included in the Πιθιοθία. This leads me to > suspect > that it > may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For > when > they > say "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian > term meaning > > to "burn" or to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, > Kaa, KaaUma> > > > > > burn = καίω, καίωμαι > > > kaio, > kaiomai > > > >
 > I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe > if someone has > > some literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun > burnt faces," > > maybe we can clear this up. If they did indeed use > this term, I don't > > think they were using it in the same fashion we > think of it in > racial > terms, but was playing off of the term > already used when we > think of > the Kematians. > > > For instance, they > have their own > term for a Tekkenu called an > Obelisk. Obelisk > means "the little > spit." It is a play on the > functional aspect of > what a Tekkenu > represents. A Tekkenu (benben) > represents an erect > penis. The penis

> when it ejaculates "spits" sperm > from its opening.
> Although the > Greeks used a different term, it > philosophically > is in alignment > with the indigenous representation of > a Tekkenu.
> The same could be > at play here as well. > > > > Hopefully all of the > greek letters > shows up on your screens. I > transliterated the > terms just in case.
> > > > > > Asar Imhotep> >
> <http://www.mochasuite.com>> > > > > > >
> > > Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka> > >
> -----> Be
> a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with > Yahoo! Mobile. Try > it now.>
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
>

>

=== message truncated ===

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24477|2008-01-01 00:55:59|cristofori whitakara|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|
is this in reference to the silver and gold cycles or the moon and sun cycles?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

| yes,, and there are 4 gupa's the ancients all over the world lived by this astrological
| system,, im not qualified to explain it, but the greeks knew it well and talked about it it mostly their writing that scholars use to talk of it, u can get a good idea about it by checking out metu neter by ra unnefer amen

ancient egypt light of the world by gerald massey
the mythic image by joseph campbell

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

Vaguely. By the great year do you mean the 26000 year cycle when the North star -which may be Sirius?- moves closest to the Earth?

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>
> are u familiar with the 4 ages, and the great yr/ ?

>
> Mahari Mengistu wrote: That's very interesting. Could you expound on that?

> HTP,
> Mahari

>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

> >
> > the greeks were the ones using the word egypt(aegypto) so its > there's were u must look; they were simply saying that their time > ruling egypt was the age of the coptos(aegis= dispensation, ypto = > arabic qubt translated copt, pt=egyptian heaven bt= arabic-hebrew > house,, what we are talking about is time and place) the time of > copper or the fall from a golden age or maybe they were saying
> they > took egypt from the persians(copper or tan colored people),,,i > think > they knew they inheirited and golden legacy and the spiral downward > too cooper and then iron and now tin was what they were saying,
> they > knew of the 4 aegis..... ..

> >
> > Mahari Mengistu wrote:
> > There definitely - in Greek mythology - was an Egyptian king > named > > Aigiptos(?) from which comes the name according the myth.
> However,
> > in ancient times names mean something and that is what I am > trying

> to > > determine. There is practically NO NAME that doesn't mean something.
> >
> > HTP, > > Mahari
> >
> > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
> > wrote:
> > >
> > > I remember someone saying that there was a king called Ethiopis
> > or > > Ethiopie
> > > from which the term is derived.
> > >
> > > GTE
> > > _____
> > >
> > > From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Mahari Mengistu
> > > Sent: Fri 12/28/2007 5:06 PM
> > > To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> > > Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > ASAR!
> > > I think you hit have upon something. Your suggestion sounds very > > > likely. At one point I tried to research the Greek words for > > > Egypt
> > > and Ethiopia and I couldn't get it translated. I think it is > > > interesting that the beginning of both words are the same but I > > > don't > > > know what that particular prefix means. Perhaps, that could > > > give a > > > clue, too.
> > > Great contribution, though.
> > > HTP,
> > > Mahari
> > >
> > > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "asar_imhotep"
> > > wrote:
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu"
> > > > wrote:
> > > > >

>>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the >>>> Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek > word
 >>> for >>>> Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of
 the
 >>> word - >>>> in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal
 > and
 >>> that
 >>>> black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of
 >>> course,
 >>>> it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would > assume
 >>> that >>>> dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the > sun
 >>> to
 >>> be >>>> so. However, it is possible that the term could have been >> coined
 >>> by >>>> brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even >>> darker
 >>>> skins.
 >>>> The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the >>>> word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course,
 >> we >>>> already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.
 >>>> HTP,
 >>>> Mahari
 >>>>
 >>>>
 >>>> I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern >>> interpretation. I >>>> think the ancient Greeks simply were saying what the ancient >>> Egyptians
 >>>> were actually calling themselves (or at least the priesthood).
 >>> Notice
 >>>> the cognancy between the Greek word for "burn" and the Ta-> Merrian
 >>> term
 >>>> "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" piece of charcoal).
 >>>>
 >>>> Το λεξικόνE βρήκε 1 λΦshy;ξη.

> > > The dictionary found 1 word.
 > > >
 > > > burn = καίῶ, καίομαι
 > > >
 > > > kaio, kaiomai
 > > >
 > > > With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it
 is > > > ironic > > > that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek. The > Greeks
 > > > used
 > > > the term Πιθίουῤῥία (Aithiopia) to refer to the people
 > of > > > Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek > dictionary,
 > > > no
 > > > word comes up resembling Aithiopia.
 > > >
 > > > Greek word for sun
 > > >
 > > > N N
 > > ἥλιοῤῥ
 > > > V V
 > > > ἡλιάζῶ > > > hlioē
 > > > hliazo (helios)
 > > >
 > > > Greek word for face
 > > >
 > > >
 > > > N N
 > > > ὑῤῥῶπῶς ἔῤῥῶ, ἔῤῥῶ, μούῤῥῶ, > > > ὀφθαλμοῤῥ V V
 > > >
 > > > ἀντικρύζῶ, ἀπενίζῶ
 > > > prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa
 > > > antikruxio, atenixio
 > > >
 > > >
 > > > When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words
 > in > > > Greek > > > are included in the Πιθίουῤῥία. This leads me to > suspect

> > that > > > it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when > they > > > say
> > > "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning > > > to "burn" or > > > to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > burn = καίῳ, καίομαι
> > > >
> > > > kaio, kaiomai
> > > >
> > > > I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone > has
> > > some > > > > literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces," > > maybe
> > > we > > > > can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I don't > think
> > > they > > > > were using it in the same fashion we think of it in racial > terms,
> > > but > > > > was playing off of the term already used when we think of the > > > Kematians.
> > > >
> > > > For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an > > > Obelisk.
> > > > Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the functional > > > aspect > > > > of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) represents an > > erect > > > penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits" sperm from its > > opening.
> > > > Although the Greeks used a different term, it philosophically
> is
> > in > > > alignment with the indigenous representation of a Tekkenu.
The
> > same > > > > could be at play here as well.

>>>>
>>>> Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I >>>> transliterated the terms just in case.
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> Asar Imhotep
>>>> <http://www.mochasui te.com> <<http://www.mochasui te.com/>>
>>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Ta_Seti Repository
>>> http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta_seti2
>>> Yahoo! Groups Links
>>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>>
>>
>> -----
>> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
>>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
>
> -----
> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!

Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24478|2008-01-01 00:56:09|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|
the minoans perhaps were a african people, but like lybia the population of the city-state may have been cosmopolitan and multicultural,,, at times more mediterrain than african,, the temple and civil authority could have been mostly african(especially) early on or thru their hold historybut it probaly lost religious significancedue too its strategic location it can becalled the 1st carthage (as a manner of speaking) it may have lost it religious significance since the island wasa middle man and trade was good!, and so goes most societies the filthy monger excells over the religious zealot,, the lybians were a african people also, and the influx of europeans into their land (an egyptian territory) founded by egyptians made them multicultural and multiethnic with a unique language and a africa inspired world in africa that eventually became mostly white and proto-arab, late in history the same can be said for carthage

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

You might want to get the book and read it. One of the obvious challenges of such a thesis is to prove a connection between what is known of the Minoan culture and that of an Afrikan culture. The author attaches this connection to that of the Yoruba and Fulani cultures in the Nigerian region. The closest connections appear to be to the Yoruba who have similar architecture, language, ritual, and dress.

Dr. Winters also has written on this topic as well. He may want to add something to this.

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> This question has been asked before, I'm sure, but:

>

> If indeed the Minoans were Africans who spoke a Niger-Congo language, where are their evidences in Africa itself? Or for that matter, their palaces?

>
> Peter
>
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: mahari@...: Sun, 30 Dec 2007 04:59:57
+0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
>
>
>
>
> I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all African". We ARE all Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what I suggest about the early Greeks. The book "Who Were the Minoans? An African Answer..." states that the Minoans were an Afrikan people who spoke Niger-Congo. Not only the language suggests that but their architecture as well as their dress. HTP, Mahari- -- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:>> i dont see the original greeks as african???, of course we all everywhere are african,, but the original people of that area in archaeology are always the stereotypical european,> the greeks have no writing before 800 bce. so they could only speak of other people
very late in written history> > Mahari Mengistu wrote:>
Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.> HTP,> Mahari> > --- In
Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:> >> >> > More
supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.> > >> >
http://64.233.183.104/search?
q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtw J:www.htmlbible. com/sacrednamebi blecom/kjvstrong s/S
> TRGRK27.htm+ greek+kauma& hl=en&ct= clnk&cd=4& gl=uk> > > Somo> >
> ----- Original Message ----- > > From: asar_imhotep > > To:
Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com > > Sent: Friday, December 28, 2007 9:35 PM>
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop> > > > > > -
-- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:> >
>>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the > > > Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek word > for > > > Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of the > word - > > > in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal and > that > > > black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of > course, > > > it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would assume > that > > > dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the sun > to be > > > so. However, it is possible that the term could have been > coined by > > > brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even > darker > > > skins.> > > The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the > > > word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course, > we > > > already know that the original Greeks were

Afrikan.>>> HTP,>>> Mahari>>>>> I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern > interpretation. I think the ancient Greeks simply were saying what > the ancient Egyptians were actually calling themselves (or at least > the priesthood). Notice the cognancy between the Greek word > for "burn" and the Ta-Merrian term "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" > piece of charcoal). >>>> To λεξικ□ βρήκε 1 λΦshy;ξη.>> The dictionary found 1 word.>>>>> burn = καίῶ, καίομαι >>>>> kaio, kaiomai >>>>> With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it is > ironic that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek. The > Greeks used the term Πιθιοῖα (Aithiopia) to refer to the > people of Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek > dictionary, no word comes up resembling Aithiopia. >>>> Greek word for sun>>>> Ν Ν ήλιοῤ >> V V ηλιάζῶ >>>> hlioε>> hliazo (helios)>>>> Greek word for face>>>>>>> Ν Ν ὄρ□ῤῶο, □ῤῥη, μούῤῥο, ὀῤῥῥα >> V V ανῤῥικρύῶ, αῤῥενίζῶ >>>> prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa>> antikruxio, atenixio>>>>> When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words in > Greek are included in the Πιθιοῖα. This leads me to suspect > that it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when > they say "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning > to "burn" or to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma>>>>> burn = καίῶ, καίομαι >>>>> kaio, kaiomai >>>>>> I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone has > some literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces," > maybe we can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I don't > think they were using it in the same fashion we think of it in racial > terms, but was playing off of the term already used when we think of > the Kematians. >>>> For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an > Obelisk. Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the > functional aspect of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) > represents an erect penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits" sperm > from its opening. Although the Greeks used a different term, it > philosophically is in alignment with the indigenous representation of > a Tekkenu. The same could be at play here as well. >>>> Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I > transliterated the terms just in case. >>>>>> Asar Imhotep>> <http://www.mochasuite.com>>>>>>>>> >> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka>> ----->> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.>

>
>
>
>
>

>
>
> _____
> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.
> http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_122007
>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
| 24479|2008-01-01 00:56:16|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|
ive been told of a major work accepted by the royal court of the ashante that links them to crete,,,for more info: check with the ausar-auset society , they may be amenable to giving out some of their unpublished papers

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

You might want to get the book and read it. One of the obvious challenges of such a thesis is to prove a connection between what is known of the Minoan culture and that of an Afrikan culture. The author attaches this connection to that of the Yoruba and Fulani cultures in the Nigerian region. The closest connections appear to be to the Yoruba who have similar architecture, language, ritual, and dress.

Dr. Winters also has written on this topic as well. He may want to add something to this.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>
>
>
> This question has been asked before, I'm sure, but:
>
> If indeed the Minoans were Africans who spoke a Niger-Congo language, where are their evidences in Africa itself? Or for that matter, their palaces?
>
> Peter
>
>
>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: mahari@...: Sun, 30 Dec 2007 04:59:57
+0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
>
>
>
>
> I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all African". We ARE all Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what I suggest about the early Greeks. The book "Who Were the Minoans? An African Answer..." states that the Minoans were an Afrikan people who spoke Niger-Congo. Not only the language suggests that but their architecture as well as their dress. HTP, Mahari- -- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:>> i dnt see the original greeks as african???, of course we all everywhere are african,, but the original people of that area in archaeology are always the stereotypical european,> the greeks have no writing before 800 bce. so they could only speak of other people
very late in written history> > Mahari Mengistu wrote:>
Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.> HTP,> Mahari> > --- In
Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:> >> >> > More
supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.> > > > >
<http://64.233.183.104/search?>>
q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtw J:www.htmlbible.com/sacrednamebi blecom/kjvstrong s/S
> TRGRK27.htm+ greek+kauma& hl=en&ct= clnk&cd=4& gl=uk> > > Somo> >
> ----- Original Message ----- > > From: asar_inhotep > > To:
Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com > > Sent: Friday, December 28, 2007 9:35 PM>
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop> > > > > > -
-- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:> >
>> > > I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the > > > Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek word > for > > > Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of the > word - > > > in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal and > that > > > black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of > course, > > > it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would assume > that > > > dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the sun > to be > > > so. However, it is possible that the term could have been > coined by > > > brown
skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even > darker > > >
skins.> > > The question is: does anyone know approximately the time
the > > > word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course, > we > > > already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.> > > HTP,> > > Mahari> > > > > I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern > interpretation. I think the ancient Greeks simply were saying what > the ancient Egyptians were actually calling themselves (or at least > the priesthood). Notice the cognancy between the Greek word > for "burn" and the Ta-Merrian

[illegible]

|ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_122007

>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24480|2008-01-01 00:56:29|Mahari|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|

These conclusions are all contingent upon what timeframe one is discussing. I am referring to the time period of 15-2500 BC.

FREE INDIA'S BLACKS.....

It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning.

Henry Ford (23)

--- On Mon 12/31, Tafari khumbaka < tafari_sudra@yahoo.com > wrote:

From: Tafari khumbaka [mailto: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com]

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, ausar65@aol.com, sadiob@hotmail.com, kimberly.catron@bchs.edu, dowmaster10@yahoo.com, fsfayne@aol.com, chrisjon444@yahoo.com, henesy9@yahoo.com, hkmaat@aol.com, jay_shed@yahoo.com, artdealer@angelprod.com, latundras@yahoo.com, netqwest@msn.com, rachelletott@yahoo.com, ma-a-kherw-owner@yahoogroups.com, maatcollective@yahoogroups.com, mdtolliver@aol.com, rsmooth10@excite.com, millmorg199@msn.com, neru37@earthlink.net, aug196720@hotmail.com, rafikio@bellsouth.net, cathypkat@yahoo.com.ph, somuchprincess@hotmail.com, ta_seti@yahoogroups.com, the_paut_neteru@yahoogroups.com, fro34@hotmail.com, alandas@nsightmemphis.com, jake2617@aol.com, bberryhill2@hotmail.com, feferachelle227@yahoo.com, babyface_38141@yahoo.com, courtland7@comcast.net, dannytheq@yahoo.com, debswiney@aol.com, alandas@scsmemphis.com, erfbrooks@yahoo.com, ikowa2003@yahoo.com, jcingra@yahoo.com, johnsonjabari@yahoo.com, jancam5@hotmail.com, jewel.robinson@nwa.com, jogrant2004@yahoo.com, babygirljo01@hotmail.com, kendra.jamerson@utmg.org, squaw2161@yahoo.com, tafari_sudra@yahoo.com, jgilmore@bellsouth.net, roroel@yahoo.com, rls91685@yahoo.com, nanaslack52@yahoo.com, trizm1@yahoo.com, tripwithstephanie@yahoo.com, tweetyngu76@yahoo.com, isosceles@comcast.net, pierrebonet_2000@yahoo.com

Date: Mon, 31 Dec 2007 10:48:38 -0800 (PST)

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop

men and women are white and brown , not just women and they are of a artistic style more in line with greece and tyra and other white societies, then what is seen on the african mainland; there is no real significant archaeological evidence of invasion the white(greecian) and levant invasion is at a time after devastating earthquakes there , at any rate the minoans were not the greek people they had a different language and manner of lifestyle , the greecians were white peole as were the romans and etruscians, all were influenced by the africans and had temples ran by africans , but they were as much a white people as todays french, who were helped in founding the city of paris by black africans and have many blacks in their country, but france is a white nation of people

greece was a white nation, and the minoans were a cosmopolitan people made up of africans (island was probaly founded by africans and cons idered an outpost of the northern khamy like lybia was) and the peole of the mediterrian and levant, there was probaly a heavy influx early by the etruscians also and many lybians

Mahari Mengistu com> wrote:

>> the pics of the minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,<<

Well, it appears that the "very white" image- who were generally females - was ritualistic. That is to say that they were painted white as has long been an Afrikan custom for women to - if I remember correctly - indicate virginity and purity.

And also keep in mind I'm referring to a period before the invasions of whites or, at least, before a significant influx of them.

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka ...>
wrote:

>

> i agree the minoans were an african people ,,probaly a outpost of ancient egyptians ,,i agree with Ra Unnefer Amen that it was at crete that the ancient greeks recieved there initiation into the khamatic priesthood and guilds,;

> but the mainland greeks from archaeological evidence were stereotypically european, althought they [the old hellenic greeks] mixed with many people, persians and (negroid)egyptians they were europeans and both they and the dorians copied the architecture of africa , and the minoans were not greeks; the island of crete was cosmopolitan and multi-ethic, perhaps at its late history the population was mostly greek or a mixed type,, the pics of the minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,

>

> the architecture sems to me be a unique mix of ancient egyptian and etruscian and this maybe the real insight into these people , as the hellenes who are essentially the etruscians cousins were also taught by the egyptians: ; and the isle of crete maybe were they were initiated also.....

>

> i mean it(all are africa) in the same way stated by Dr, Richard King in his book the african origin of biological psychiatry, theres the african (all humanity) and theres the african-african (those who are the specific quality of the continent) please understand my paraphrasing of the Dr. is elementary compared too his description

>

> Mahari Mengistu wrote:

> I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all African". We ARE all

> Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what I suggest about > the early Greeks.

> The book "Who Were the Minoans? An African Answer..." states that > the Minoans were an Afrikan people who spoke Niger-Congo. Not only > the language suggests that but their architecture as well as their > dress.

> HTP,

> Mahari

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka >

> wrote:
>
>> i dont see the original greeks as african????, of course we all
> everywhere are african,, but the original people of that area in > archaeology are always the stereotypical european,
>> the greeks have no writing before 800 bce. so they could only > speak of other people very late in written history
>
>> Mahari Mengistu wrote:
>> Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.
>> HTP,
>> Mahari
>
>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" > wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>> More supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.
>>>
>>>
>>> http://64.233.183.104/search?
>>
>
q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtwJ:www.htmlbible.com/sacrednamebi+blecom/kjvstrong+s/S
>> TRGRK27.htm+ greek+kauma& hl=en&ct= clnk&cd=4& gl=uk
>>>
>>> Somo
>>>
>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>> From: asar_imhotep
>>> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
>>> Sent: Friday, December 28, 2007 9:35 PM
>>> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu"
wrote:
>>>>
>>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the >>>> Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek word
>> for >>>> Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of the >> word - >>>> in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal
and
>> that >>>> black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of
>> course,
>>>> it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would assume
>> that >>>> dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the sun
>> to be >>> so. However, it is possible that the term could have been >> coined by >>> brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even >> darker

 >>> skins.
 >>> The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the >>> word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course,
 >> we >>> already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.
 >>> HTP,
 >>> Mahari
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern >> interpretation. I think the ancient Greeks simply were saying
 what >> the ancient Egyptians were actually calling themselves (or at least
 >> the priesthood). Notice the cognancy between the Greek word >> for "burn" and the Ta-Merrian term "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" >> piece of charcoal).
 >>>
 >>> ??? ????O ???? 1 ???.
 >>> The dictionary found 1 word.
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> burn = ???, ??????
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> kaio, kaiomai
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it
 is >> ironic that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek.
 The >> Greeks used the term ???? (Aithiopia) to refer to the >> people of Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek >> dictionary, no word comes up resembling Aithiopia.
 >>>
 >>> Greek word for sun
 >>>
 >>> N N ?????f
 >>> V V ??????
 >>>
 >>> hlio
 >>> hliazo (helios)
 >>>
 >>> Greek word for face
 >>>
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> N N ???O?f???, ?O^?, ??????"???, ??????"f?
 >>> V V ??????"????????, ???"????????
 >>>

>>> prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa
>>> antikruxio, atenixio
>>>
>>>
>>> When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words in >> Greek are included in the ??????????????. This leads me to > suspect
>> that it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when >> they say "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning >> to "burn" or to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma
>>>
>>>
>>> burn = ????????, ??????????????
>>>
>>> kaio, kaiomai
>>>
>>>
>>> I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone has >> some literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces," >> maybe we can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I > don't >> think they were using it in the same fashion we think of it in > racial >> terms, but was playing off of the term already used when we think
> of
>> the Kematians.
>>>
>>> For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an >> Obelisk. Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the >> functional aspect of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) >> represents an erect penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits" > sperm
>> from its opening. Although the Greeks used a different term, it >> philosophically is in alignment with the indigenous representation
> of >> a Tekkenu. The same could be at play here as well.
>>>
>>> Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I >> transliterated the terms just in case.
>>>
>>>
>>> Asar Imhotep
>>> <http://www.mochasui te.com>
>>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>

> >
> >
> >
> > Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
> >
> >
> > -----
> > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
> >
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

No banners. No pop-ups. No kidding.

Make My Way your home on the Web - <http://www.myway.com>

| 24481|2008-01-01 05:50:34|Ferg|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg|

Asar.

Please note K = KH

Thank you for spurting me on to derive the second meaning of BA-KAA, Egypt, The Charcoal People. The concept of the 'higher ones' or 'elders' is an impotrant one. I seem to have erased your earlier email dealing with BonnaBakhulu AbaseKhemu, the brotherhood of the higher ones. However I can make sense of what you say from a purely linguistic point of view.

The Zulu-Bantu word:

The adjective -Khulu means great, person of high rank, nobleman, peer, member of the royal house, person of high standing at the Zulu court.

ABA-KHULU or BA-KHULU are seniors or elders.

The word -KHULU is derived from the Bantu verb KHULA which means grow up, attain maturity, grow old. It is not related to the word KAA or KALA, in any way and therefore one cannot substitute the word KULU in its place as you mentioned.

However the Kiswahili-Bantu verb KUA is KULA in Bantu. Both words have the same meanings. The Kiswahili-Bantu verb KUA is a compacted form of the Bantu verb KULA. Compare this to the Kiswahili-Bantu word KAA and the KALA, charcoal as already discussed earlier.

Thus KUA = KULA.

The Zulu-Bantu adjective -KHULU derived from KULA = KUA becomes the adjective -KUU in Kiswahili-Bantu.

-KUU means -KHULU the compacted form of KHULU. Again both words have identical meanings. Thus WA-KUU, or BA-KUU is equivalent to BA-KHULU, the elders or ancestors.

Thus KUU = KHULU just as KAA = KALA

If one substitutes the adjective -KUU into the word for Egypt, BA-KAA one obtains what you are looking for, BA+KUU, giving BAKUU which would be the second way of looking at the charcoal people, BAKAA. Looking at the investigation in a different light, the brotherhood of elders become the ancestors who have long become lost to vision, and therefore remain in darkness.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: asar_imhotep

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Monday, December 31, 2007 7:52 PM

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:

>

> Hi.

>

> This is just a quick analysis of the charcoal mound. I shall reply to Asar's ideas soon.

>

> Many thanks.

>

> Somo

>

As I have said in a private email in regards to this, you might want to include in your definition of, in reference to the other name of Egypt (BaKaa), the concept of the "higher ones" or "elders."

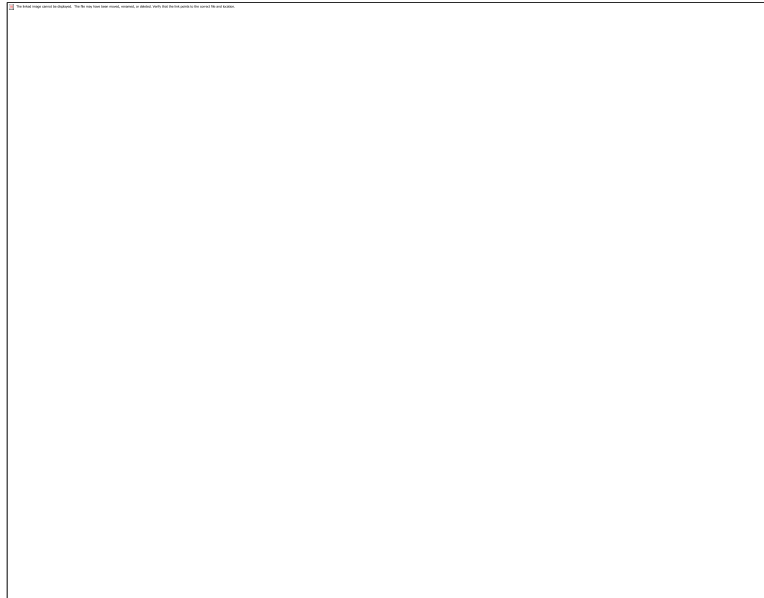

Remember the brotherhood that exist on the continent to this date, that is the BonaaBaKulu AbaseKhemu (The brotherhood of the higher ones of Egypt). The word BaKulu means elder or higher ones (masters).

When we are talking about the rendition of BaKaa, it is more than likely rendered BaKulu (depending on regional variation) and the /k/ sound in the Egyptian uses the hill/mound glyph.

We know with a slight sound variation, Kala becomes Kulu. Another thing you might want to consider is the philosophical concept of an elder who is about to transition and is closer to the ancestral realm. In Zaire, a bad person who has died is called an n'Kuyu. A DEIFIED ancestor is called MuKulu. There is not much distinction between a dead ancestor and an elder. They both serve the same function within the society.

Now let's look at your hypothesis of the hill actually being a firing mound. As Dr. Fu-Kiau has mentioned, the Musoni stage is the stage in the Cosmogram where the actual fire process (conception, thought, planning) of the human being (or any ideas) are grafted (the first "V").

An elder occupies V-4 on the Cosmogram and is preparing to reenter the V-1. There could be a philosophical correlation between what goes on "inside" the firing mound and the development that goes on in the Vangama (Musoni Stage) of development according to the Cosmology.

The charcoal making process is simply the initial stage in transforming something from one state to another. The elder in the community would fit the definition as presented in your analysis"

"By supreme one means, highest ranking, be the best, be pre-eminent, be excellent, be of distinction. "

This fits perfectly with the name of the brotherhood/ priesthood mentioned earlier: bonaaBaKulu abaseKhemu (The brotherhood of the higher ones of Egypt). The mound could simply represent the Musoni stage (just like the pyramids do) as inside this hidden "realm" as it is where all things develop and come to be. An elder is revered because he/she is closer to that realm and could be an ally for us in the realm of "ungrasped ideas."

Kara = kala = kulu

k = fire mound = the grafting process

What do yo think?

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24482|2008-01-01 05:58:38|Alex van Deelen|Re: Neocolonialism - Re: Africa Says No|
Peter,

> About the Zimbabwe situation, I think the big mistake that > Mugabe made was to delay "land reform" program for so > long after independence -- had he made it his first order > of business upon assuming power, he would have gained > international support, even from reluctant "former colonial > interests".

There are a lot of factors that go into why land reform started properly in 1997.

First there was the Lancaster House Agreement, which locked up any kind of land reform and other privileges for the white minority for 10 years. That puts them in 1989/1990.

In 1989, Berlin wall fell, eliminating the 'threat of communism' as an internal justification of the apartheid regime. The ANC started to go into rapid negotiations in South Africa. Thabo M beki has confirmed that they asked the Zimbabwean government to go slow on land reform, until they had concluded their negotiations. The ANC came to power in 1994.

It wasn't until three years after that, that the New Labour government of Tony Blair came to power in the UK
(the first social democrats since 1979). Claire Short sent her letter to Zimbabwe, and the rest is history.

It is no coincidence that Labour came to power in 1997, and that the fast track land reform program started in 1997.

This delay has been spun, including on the BBC website, to mean that president Mugabe somehow wasn't interested in land reform, or that he came to the issue late, when his popularity was waning. Nothing could be further from the truth.

And look at what happened when they went it alone. Donor aid stopped overnight. ZDERA was passed, etc. Weaker willed governments would have given in much earlier (Zambia under neoliberal rule comes to mind).

Alex

| 24483|2008-01-01 06:06:18|Alex van Deelen|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|

- > ive been told of a major work accepted by the royal
- > court of the ashante that links them to crete,,,for more
- > info: check with the ausar-auset society , they may be
- > amenable to giving out some of their unpublished papers

Or links Crete to them. Actually that is not that far out there. If you look at the Sickle Cell/Thalassemia genes, the Benin variety occurs in the Eastern Mediterranean. When it was transmitted I don't know, but there is at least that genetic link.

From:

Abstract

The clinical, hematological, and molecular features of 81 patients with Hb S--thalassemia and relatives from 76 unrelated families are reported. We analyzed the -thalassemia mutations and the S haplotypes in all patients and detected 6 different -thalassemia alleles: codon 39 (CT) (39 cases), IVS-I-1 (GA) (12 cases), IVS-II-1 (GA) (4 cases), IVS-I-6 (TC) (6 cases), IVS-I-110 (GA) (14 cases), and IVS-II-745 (GC) (6 cases). Eighty patients had haplotype #19 or the Benin type and one had haplotype #17 or the Cameroon type. The type of -thalassemia allele had the greatest influence on the phenotypic expression; this was observed for patients with Hb S--thalassemia and for simple -thalassemia heterozygotes. The mild IVS-I-6 (TC) mutation produced borderline abnormal erythrocytic indices and Hb A2 levels in heterozygotes. Overall, there was a milder expression in S+ patients (only 7.7% presented severe disease) than in those with the S condition (22.6% had the severe form of the disease). 1992 Wiley-Liss, Inc.

<http://www3.interscience.wiley.com/cgi-bin/abstract/112697473/ABSTRACT?CRETRY=1&SRETRY=0>

http://sickle.bwh.harvard.edu/sickle_heterogeniety.html (General article, with maps)

Alex

| 24484|2008-01-01 06:33:36|Asar Imhotep|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Mahari|
I know with the last "a" in Kwanzaa, Maulana Karenga simply took creative convention and added it into it. As far as the esoteric aspect of the Alphabet, you might want to review Alvin Boyd Kuhn's treatment of the topic. I can't vouch for its accuracy, but it is interesting none the less and at least gives you something to build on. Here is a link to the article:

<http://members.tripod.com/pc93/ESOSTRAL.HTM>

Mahari wrote:

This is not addressing "ka" directly but it might be of interest or even fit in some fashion.
I was just playing creative with KWANZAA where I am substituting the "a" in the name with a pyramid.
Asar's treatment of the pyramid shape made me think of the "a" shape in pyramids and the significance of what has become the "a"/alphabet. The "a" seems to be added to Kemetic words to give them divine status and even more so with a double a/"aa". How much of this is due to western transliteration conventions I can't say.
I don't have Budge's dictionary in front of me but do remember, I believe, seeing that the "a" alone has the highest significance.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24485|2008-01-01 06:57:55|Asar Imhotep|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg|
Thanks for that. Now ideographically it makes sense. Now when you break down the word BA & KUU (Ba-Kaa - According to Budge), you would get in an ideographic reading:

ba = foot glyph = place

kuu = hill/mound glyph = higher ones, priests, elders, wise men,

Or place of the higher ones. It makes sense in a priesthood context. Since Egypt would have been the place, according to the priests I've spoken with, of the highest order within the priesthood itself. This priesthood studies what they call Ukwazikwesithabango - the science that depends on the power of thought. The highest ones in this order are called Isangoma.

What needs to be addressed is why would they use a "hill" or "mound" to convey this message if indeed we are to properly read it as BaKuu or BaKhulu?

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Ferg wrote:

Asar.

Please note K = KH

Thank you for spurting me on to derive the second meaning of BA-KAA, Egypt, The Charcoal People. The concept of the 'higher ones' or 'elders' is an important one. I seem to have erased your earlier email dealing with BonnaBakhulu AbaseKhemu, the brotherhood of the higher ones. However I can make sense of what you say from a purely linguistic point of view.

The Zulu-Bantu word:

The adjective -Khulu means great, person of high rank, nobleman, peer, member of the royal house, person of high standing at the Zulu court.

ABA-KHULU or BA-KHULU are seniors or elders.

The word -KHULU is derived from the Bantu verb KHULA which means grow up, attain maturity, grow old. It is not related to the word KAA or KALA, in any way and therefore one cannot substitute the word KULU in its place as you mentioned.

However the Kiswahili-Bantu verb KUA is KULA in Bantu. Both words have the same meanings. The Kiswahili-Bantu verb KUA is a compacted form of the Bantu verb KULA.

Compare this to the Kiswahili-Bantu word KAA and the KALA, charcoal as already discussed earlier.

Thus KUA = KULA.

The Zulu-Bantu adjective -KHULU derived from KULA = KUA becomes the adjective -KUU in Kiswahili-Bantu.

-KUU means -KHULU the compacted form of KHULU. Again both words have identical meanings. Thus WA-KUU, or BA-KUU is equivalent to BA-KHULU, the elders or ancestors.

Thus KUU = KHULU just as KAA = KALA

If one substitutes the adjective -KUU into the word for Egypt, BA-KAA one obtains what you are looking for, BA+KUU, giving BAKUU which would be the second way of looking at the charcoal people, BAKAA.

Looking at the investigation in a different light, the brotherhood of elders become the ancestors who have long become lost to vision, and therefore remain in darkness.

Somo

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24486|2008-01-01 10:22:16|Paul Kekai Manansala|The possible existence of Third Intermediate Period elite tombs at el

The possible existence of Third Intermediate Period elite tombs at el-Ashmunein

A.J. Spencer

The use of temple forecourts as locations for tombs of the elite is a well-documented feature of the Third Intermediate Period. A reinterpretation of some very poorly preserved buildings in the court of the temple of Thoth at el-Ashmunein may provide an additional example.

Download PDF: The possible existence of Third Intermediate Period elite tombs at el-Ashmunein

To reference this article we suggest

Spencer, A.J., 'The possible existence of Third Intermediate Period elite tombs at el-Ashmunein', BMSAES 8 (2007), 49-51, http://www.britishmuseum.org/research/publications/bmsaes/issue_8/spencer.aspx

Contact the author

aspencer@thebritishmuseum.ac.uk

| 24487|2008-01-02 05:37:54|Wayne Owens|Re: FROM THE ARCHIVES--IN EGYPT WITH YOSEF A.A. BEN-JOCHANNAN|

An older brother/mentor of mine made reference to the holiness of Abydos. Abydos being one of if not the oldest holy place that we have recorded thus far. Also on prior comments I made in reference John Brown. My comments were meant as sarcasm, perhaps I should have been more clear. Even at 38 years old I am constantly aware of the learning process. My brother/mentor corrected my position that references to John Brown as a "white liberal" should be redirected as him having been a revolutionary. White liberals do not occupy the same space and time as do revolutionaries!!! I stand corrected, even in my sarcasm I must be aware of what energies come from my throat into the universe, we must always practice, MDW NFR, MDW NTR. Blessings on the energies of John Brown and other whites like him!!!

Wayne Owens wrote:

Mahari I am full agreement with this, a Holy place for us would be in one of these locations, it could serve as a centralisation point for Pan-Afrikanism!
Majadi Baruti

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

Perhaps, Kemet should become our Mecca. Or perhaps, a better location would somewhere in southern Sudan. The many conflictual elements in modern Egypt could somehow muddy the spiritual waters with the ancient invasions, the Arab conquest and racism, the Islamic intrusions and imperatives.

If such a place were established in southern Sudan - and I'm sure there is an appropriate historical location - it could also stimulate the economy there with the tourist trade.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, shaimesh@... wrote:

>
> From: _Runoko@..._ (mailto:Runoko@ ...)

>
>

> 31 December 2007

> Greetings,

> Today is Dr. Ben's Earthday! Here is something from > the archives.

> Runoko Rashidi

> IN EGYPT WITH YOSEF A.A. BEN-JOCHANNAN: ICON OF
> AFRICAN HISTORIOGRAPHY

> By RUNOKO RASHIDI

> "This is but a mere feeble effort in saying: Without > you, African/Black mother, there would have been no
> us--African/ us--African/ Black fathers, sons and
> need to say any more African/Black mothers, our own > true goddesses! Let us praise you to the highest, > telling the world about your righteousness. Let us
> tell the entire universe about your sacredness > African/Black woman.

> --Yosef A.A. ben-Jochannan

> Every African should try to visit Egypt at least once > during their lifetime. It is a pilgrimage to our > sacred motherland-- sacred motherland-- tsacred
> is never the same afterwards. Although there are now > numerous study tours to Egypt, undoubtedly the most > celebrated are those of Dr. Yosef A.A. ben-Jochannan.
> Dr. Ben's tours include the massive rock-hewn temples
> of King Ramses II and Queen Nefertari at Abu Simbel,
> the temple of goddess Isis at Philae Island, the royal > tombs of the Valley of the Kings and the west bank
> mortuary temples of Makare Hatshepsut, Ramses II and > Ramses III at Luxor, the east bank worship temples of > Luxor and Karnak, the temple of goddess Hathor at > Dendera, the Sphinx and the massive pyramids on the > Giza Plateau, the Step pyramid designed by the > multi-genius Imhotep at Sakkara, and the Egyptian > Museum at Cairo.

> Regarding these sites, the reader should know that > Usemare Ramses II (popularly known as "Ramses the > Great") ruled Egypt more than six decades and emerged
> as one of history's most colossal builders. Nefertari,

> his chief queen, helped Ramses govern and was revered
> throughout ancient Egypt. Isis was one of Egypt's > greatest deities, and along with her husband Osiris
> and son Horus, formed one of antiquities' great > triads. The Valley of the Kings entombed the bodies > of some of pharaonic Egypt's most significant rulers.
> Makare Hatshepsut was a great female monarch who > governed effectively for twenty years. Ramses III > fought off two foreign invasions of Egypt and sat on > the throne for thirty-one years. Karnak temple is the > world's largest religious sanctuary. Hathor was the > Egyptian goddess of love, beauty and sensuality. The > enormous pyramids on the Giza plateau have been called
> "miracles in stone," while the Step Pyramid at Sakkara
> has the distinction of being the world's first large > stone monument. The Cairo Museum is crammed full of > the representations, physical remains, personal > possessions and writings of the pharaohs, queens,
> officials and ordinary people the ancient Nile Valley.

>
> Dr. Ben's tours, like the man himself, stand out quite > singularly. Born December 31, 1918 in Gondar,
> Ethiopia, Dr. Yosef Alfredo Antonio ben-Jochannan
> ("Dr. Ben," as he is affectionately known) has devoted > the better part of his life to the illumination of the > indigenous origins of African civilizations. By > profession, he is a trained lawyer, engineer, > historian and Egyptologist. Ben-Jochannan went to > Egypt for the first time in 1939, and moved to Harlem,
> New York in 1945. Dr. Ben knew Malcolm X personally, > and was a student and colleague of George G.M. James.
> He was exceptionally close to the late Dr. John Henrik
> Clarke. Since 1957, he has coordinated regular study > tours and pilgrimages to the Nile Valley, directly > exposing thousands of African people to the still > visible splendors of ancient Egypt. Formerly adjunct
> professor at Cornell University's Africana Studies > Department, Dr. ben-Jochannan has also been a > professor-at- professor- at-large at Al Azar Uni

>
> While now advanced in years, Dr. Ben continues to > wield tremendous influence on African studies. He is > indeed one of the most unrelenting twentieth century
> advocates of the African origins of Nile Valley
> civilizations and the African origins of Western > religions. By his own account, he has prepared

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Upward Movement, Upward Movement!
Afrikan Power! Now and Forever! Ashe!

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24488|2008-01-02 06:48:26|Peter Gray|Re: Neocolonialism - Re: Africa Says No|
Alex,

I was thinking of the political timing --immediately after independence, it would have been very difficult for Western powers to impose any kind of punitive measures. I still think Mugabe betrayed Joshua Nkomo and all Zimbabweans by "delaying" land reform for so long. It just gave the West time to plan its attempt at reclaiming Zimbabwe. All the pragmatic factors you mention can't undo the fortitude of correct political timing.

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: avdeelen@wanadoo.nl
Date: Tue, 1 Jan 2008 14:47:37 +0100
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Neocolonialism - Re: Africa Says No

Peter,

> About the Zimbabwe situation, I think the big mistake that > Mugabe made was to delay "land reform" program for so > long after independence -- had he made it his first order
> of business upon assuming power, he would have gained > international support, even from reluctant "former colonial > interests".

There are a lot of factors that go into why land reform started properly in 1997.

First there was the Lancaster House Agreement, which locked up any kind of land reform and other privileges for the white minority for 10 years. That puts them in 1989/1990.

In 1989, Berlin wall fell, eliminating the 'threat of communism'

as an internal justification of the apartheid regime. The ANC started to go into rapid negotiations in South Africa. Thabo Mbeki has confirmed that they asked the Zimbabwean government to go slow on land reform, until they had concluded their negotiations. The ANC came to power in 1994.

It wasn't until three years after that, that the New Labour government of Tony Blair came to power in the UK (the first social democrats since 1979). Claire Short sent her letter to Zimbabwe, and the rest is history.

It is no coincidence that Labour came to power in 1997, and that the fast track land reform program started in 1997.

This delay has been spun, including on the BBC website, to mean that president Mugabe somehow wasn't interested in land reform, or that he came to the issue late, when his popularity was waning. Nothing could be further from the truth.

And look at what happened when they went it alone. Donor aid stopped overnight. ZDERA was passed, etc. Weaker willed governments would have given in much earlier (Zambia under neoliberal rule comes to mind).

Alex

im is proud to present Cause Effect, a series about real people making a difference. Learn more | 24489|2008-01-02 07:54:39|cristofori whitakara|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg| from a hill the elders can see the surrounding areas. in other words the elders could view any malevolent disturbances and provide defense against intruders?

Asar Imhotep wrote:

Thanks for that. Now ideographically it makes sense. Now when you break down the word BA & KUU (Ba-Kaa - According to Budge), you would get in an ideographic reading:

ba = foot glyph = place

kuu = hill/mound glyph = higher ones, priests, elders, wise men,

Or place of the higher ones. It makes sense in a priesthood context. Since Egypt would have been the place, according to the priests I've spoken with, of the highest order within the priesthood itself. This priesthood studies what they call Ukwazikwesithabango - the science that depends on the power of thought. The highest ones in this order are called Isangoma.

What needs to be addressed is why would they use a "hill" or "mound" to convey this message if indeed we are to properly read it as BaKuu or BaKhulu?

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Ferg wrote:

Asar.

Please note K = KH

Thank you for spurring me on to derive the second meaning of BA-KAA, Egypt, The Charcoal People. The concept of the 'higher ones' or 'elders' is an important one. I seem to have erased your earlier email dealing with BonnaBakhulu AbaseKhemu, the brotherhood of the higher ones. However I can make sense of what you say from a purely linguistic point of view.

The Zulu-Bantu word:

The adjective -Khulu means great, person of high rank, nobleman, peer, member of the royal house, person of high standing at the Zulu court.

ABA-KHULU or BA-KHULU are seniors or elders.

The word -KHULU is derived from the Bantu verb KHULA which means grow up, attain maturity, grow old. It is not related to the word KAA or KALA, in any way and therefore one cannot substitute the word KULU in its place as you mentioned.

However the Kiswahili-Bantu verb KUA is KULA in Bantu. Both words have the same meanings. The Kiswahili-Bantu verb KUA is a compacted form of the Bantu verb KULA.

Compare this to the Kiswahili-Bantu word KAA and the KALA, charcoal as already discussed earlier.

Thus KUA = KULA.

The Zulu-Bantu adjective -KHULU derived from KULA = KUA becomes the adjective -KUU in Kiswahili-Bantu.

-KUU means -KHULU the compacted form of KHULU. Again both words have identical meanings. Thus WA-KUU, or BA-KUU is equivalent to BA-KHULU, the elders or ancestors.

Thus KUU = KHULU just as KAA = KALA

If one substitutes the adjective -KUU into the word for Egypt, BA-KAA one obtains what you are looking for, BA+KUU, giving BAKUU which would be the second way of looking at the charcoal people, BAKAA.

Looking at the investigation in a different light, the brotherhood of elders become the ancestors who have long become lost to vision, and therefore remain in darkness.

Somo

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24490|2008-01-02 09:32:42|asar_imhotep|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg|

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

> from a hill the elders can see the surrounding areas. in other words the elders could view any malevolent disturbances and provide defense against intruders?

>

I thought about that, but from a different perspective. We have to keep in mind that there really isn't a different word for a deceased ancestor and a living elder. In Zaire a bad ancestor is called "n'Kuyu." A deified ancestor is called "Mukulu." We know that the prefix "mu" makes the noun singular and "ba" makes it plural (bakulu, bakuu).

To see how the proposed concept would make sense would be to look at how we view the relationship to ancestors and why we even ask for their help in the first place. In general, in African cosmological world-views, each spirit being separated somehow from the 'SOURCE' and came to this lowest sphere of existence to have experiences. We are here to complete certain tasks and develop ourselves as perfect human beings so we can make it to the next level of existence on our way back to the SOURCE (for all you Matrix fans).

For instance, in Ifa, you are to live as a human being 8 times and during these 8 incarnations, you are to complete "12 steps" or "lessons." If you have done this then you go to the next level of existence which has its own steps and levels. If you don't complete this, you go to the ancestral world to be "retaught" by the ancestors and sent back here to complete your lessons.

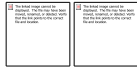

A person who has completed his lessons becomes a deified ancestor. So because they have finished their lessons on earth, they exist on a plane right above ours and can "see" what's going on here. So we call out to those deified ancestors so they can inform us of what's going on because they are at a "higher level" which they can see the big picture, which we can't being here. They are in essence in closer proximity than beings farther up in the chain.

It's like being on a mountain top and speaking to someone below of an enemy coming from afar which they couldn't see because they are at ground level. This is the basis for divination. This is why the Egyptians had an opening of the mouth ceremony. The same opening of the mouth ceremony is still done in the Kongo. Peep this:

"Go with our tears, wet upon your face, and represent our problems among the dead: be our medium." By similar interpretation, the open mouth, with the lips rendered in relief, symbolizes the leader speaking to the dead: "the funeral is over and now he is talking in the other world. All niombo should have open mouths. This means there is speech in the other world." ?If the open mouth of the niombo brings parlance into the other world, and hears code messages of shared concern, the towering gesture of the niombo, right hand up, left hand down, is similarly significant. It maps the boundary to be crossed; it identifies the cord connecting life to death; it is "the crossroads pose." ? The niombo gesture?also marks a person's transition from this world to the next. On behalf of his community, niombo hails the heavens and the horizon line. When you die you automatically become an ancestor. But not everyone becomes a niombo. Being buried in a niombo figure means the community believes this person will become our medium.

- Robert Ferris Thompson -- Four Moments of the Sun

Egyptian opening of the mouth ceremony (papyrus Ani)

This is why I showed the Kongo Cosmogram earlier and am leaning towards it (the /k/ sound represented by a "hill") being a firing mound as well. Because inside any smith's mound is considered the ancestral realm and it is here which all things "come to be." It is this region in which we call out to ancestors so they can inform us of what is coming, just like in the example I cited earlier.

So the Kuu (kulu, khulu) could either mean elder or deified ancestor as there is no separated word (at least in the Kongo).

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24491|2008-01-02 10:08:13|cristofori whitakara|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg|
what is proposed by your posts reminds me of the hebraic jacob's ladder where he sees angels (niombos?) coming up and down that ladder; the ladder being symbolic of the rankings (steps) of the angels(niombos?)?

asar_imhotep wrote:

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

> from a hill the elders can see the surrounding areas. in other words the elders could view any malevolent disturbances and provide defense against intruders?

>

I thought about that, but from a different perspective. We have to keep in mind that there really isn't a different word for a deceased ancestor and a living elder. In Zaire a bad ancestor is called "n'Kuyu." A deified ancestor is called "Mukulu." We know that the prefix "mu" makes the noun singular and "ba" makes it plural (bakulu, bakuu).

To see how the proposed concept would make sense would be to look at how we view the relationship to ancestors and why we even ask for their help in the first place. In general, in African cosmological world-views, each spirit being separated somehow from the 'SOURCE' and came to this lowest sphere of existence to have experiences. We are here to complete certain tasks and develop ourselves as perfect human beings so we can make it to the next level of existence on our way back to the SOURCE (for all you Matrix fans).

For instance, in Ifa, you are to live as a human being 8 times and during these 8 incarnations, you are to complete "12 steps" or "lessons." If you have done this then you go to the next level of existence which has its own steps and levels. If you don't complete this, you go to the ancestral world to be "retaught" by the ancestors and sent back here to complete your lessons.

A person who has completed his lessons becomes a deified ancestor. So because they have finished their lessons on earth, they exist on a plane right above ours and can "see" what's going on here. So we call out to those deified ancestors so they can inform us of what's going on because they are at a "higher level" which they can see the big picture, which we can't being here. They are in essence in closer proximity than beings farther up in the chain.

It's like being on a mountain top and speaking to someone below of an enemy coming from afar which they couldn't see because they are at ground level. This is the basis for divination. This is why the Egyptians had an opening of the mouth ceremony. The same opening of the mouth ceremony is still done in the Kongo. Peep this:

"Go with our tears, wet upon your face, and represent our problems among the dead: be our medium." By similar interpretation, the open mouth, with the lips rendered in relief, symbolizes the leader speaking to the dead: "the funeral is over and now he is talking in the other world. All niombo should have open mouths. This means there is speech in the other world." ?If the open mouth of the niombo brings parlance into the other world, and hears code messages of shared concern, the towering gesture of the niombo, right hand up, left hand down, is similarly significant. It maps the boundary to be crossed; it identifies the cord connecting life to death; it is "the crossroads pose." ? The niombo gesture?also marks a person's transition from this world to the next. On behalf of his community, niombo hails the heavens and the horizon line. When you die you automatically become an ancestor. But not everyone becomes a niombo. Being buried in a niombo figure means the community believes this person will become our medium.

- Robert Ferris Thompson -- Four Moments of the Sun

Egyptian opening of the mouth ceremony (papyrus Ani)

This is why I showed the Kongo Cosmogram earlier and am leaning towards it (the /k/ sound represented by a "hill") being a firing mound as well. Because inside any smith's mound is considered the ancestral realm and it is here which all things "come to be." It is this region in which we call out to ancestors so they can inform us of what is coming, just like in the example I cited earlier.

So the Kuu (kulu, khulu) could either mean elder or deified ancestor as there is no separated word (at least in the Kongo).

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24492|2008-01-02 10:12:55|IMJs@webtv.net|[Attn. Marc W.] Re: Massey ... The Pagan Origins of the Christ Myth|
Hey Marc,

This might interest you... I found these two images http://static.flickr.com/60/186830324_4e162f1ebe.jpg http://static.flickr.com/64/186830325_15654e6192.jpg ... of sculpture depicting a child/baby being partially wrapped-up in strips of cloth, mummy-like. I think are found on a hospital in Italy, from what it says in the source link below.

Of course some of the devout Christian "escape artists" say this "swaddling" was a standard practice w/ ALL babies... ok, but where did the _strips of cloth_ motif come from, and why did it end up in European iconography {I ask rhetorically} - surely a regular old blanket was better at providing warmth/comfort, wouldn't you say?

Here's the source site - w/ discussion:
<http://www.sculpture.net/community/archive/index.php/t-3181.html>

Anyway, keep doing what you do... (as if you would stop. lol)

Later,

IMJ

| 24493|2008-01-02 10:37:42|Asar Imhotep|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Ferg|
That could be plausible. But I think the Jacob's ladder is in a different context. But what is key is the full understanding of Biblical practices only makes sense, to me, when one understands African practices. The same with ancient Ta-Meri. Understanding the cosmology is key.

cristofori whitakara wrote:

what is proposed by your posts reminds me of the hebraic jacob's ladder where he sees angels (niombos?) coming up and down that ladder; the ladder being symbolic of the rankings (steps) of the angels(niombos?)?

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24494|2008-01-02 10:40:19|Herukhuti|BDSM Afrocentrically|

Peace Everyone,

I've just published an article, BDSM Afrocentrically, for my column From The Cave on our web site blackfunk.org. I invite members of the Afrocentric community to read and post a critique, suggestion, comment, reflection, whatever you are moved to write. You can go directly to the article here

<http://www.blackfunk.org/funk/modules.php?name=News&file=article&sid=159&mode=&o\rder=0&thold=0>

and you can visit blackfunk.org here

<http://www.blackfunk.org/funk/index.php> .

Peace Pleasure and Passion,

Dr. Herukhuti

Founder and Executive Director

Black Funk: The Center for Culture, Sexuality, and Spirituality

<http://www.blackfunk.org>

| 24495|2008-01-02 10:50:30|sakina_ra|2008 = Collective Unity, Growth & Elevation :::|

Elev-8 in 2008

New Ideas, Unity & Collective Work

Happy New Year to all! Farewell 2007! I didn't do anything special for the New Year, no fireworks, champagne or heavy partying. I was however inundated with a surge of powerful information/energy that woke me up at 5 in the morning. Information in the form of images, emotion and energy bombarded me for about an hour. I felt like my mind was going to explode so I had to calm myself down by doing some deep breathing.. anyway here are a few notes:

2007 marked the end of many things. Seven is in fact the number of completion and perfection. Eight is a higher vibration of the number four which represents FOUNDATIONS and stability. So this is the year to lay new foundations and build on NEW ideas. If you are in synch, things in your life will definitely go to a higher level.

This is the year that the foundations of the New Age will be laid.... more: <http://www.naazir.com/blog.htm>

Naazir

| 24496|2008-01-02 10:50:40|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|

the 4 ages

cristofori whitakara wrote:

is this in reference to the silver and gold cycles or the moon and sun cycles?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

yes,, and there are 4 gupa's the ancients all over the world lived by this astrological system,,, im not qualified to explain it, but the greeks knew it well and talked about it it mostly their writing that schalors use to talk of it, u can get a good idea about it by checking out

metu neter by ra unnefer amen

ancient egypt light of the world by gerald massey

the mythic image by joseph campbell

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

Vaguely. By the great year do you mean the 26000 year cycle when the North star -which may be Sirius?- moves closest to the Earth?

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>

> are u familiar with the 4 ages, and the great yr/ ?

>

> Mahari Mengistu wrote: That's very interesting. Could you expound on that?

> HTP,

> Mahari

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka

> wrote:

> >

> > the greeks were the ones using the word egypt(aegypto) so its
> there's were u must look; they were simply saying that their time > ruling egypt was the age of the coptos(aegis= dispensation, ypto = > arabic qubt translated copt, pt=egyptian heaven bt= arabic-hebrew > house,, what we are talking about is time and place) the time of > copper or the fall from a golden age or maybe they were sayings
they > took egypt from the persians(copper or tan colored people),,,,i think

> they knew they inheirited and golden legacy and the spiral downward > too cooper and then iron and now tin was what they were saying,

they > knew of the 4 aegis..... ..

> >
> > Mahari Mengistu wrote:
> > There definitely - in Greek mythology - was an Egyptian king
named > > Aigiptos(?) from which comes the name according the myth.
However,
> > in ancient times names mean something and that is what I am trying
> to > > determine. There is practically NO NAME that doesn't mean something.
> >
> > HTP,
> > Mahari
> >
> > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
> > wrote:
> > >
> > > I remember someone saying that there was a king called Ethiopis
> or > > Ethiopie
> > > from which the term is derived.
> > >
> > > GTE
> > > _____
> > >
> > > From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Mahari Mengistu
> > > Sent: Fri 12/28/2007 5:06 PM
> > > To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> > > Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > ASAR!
> > > I think you hit have upon something. Your suggestion sounds very > > > likely. At one point I tried to research the Greek words for Egypt
> > > and Ethiopia and I couldn't get it translated. I think it is > > > interesting that the beginning of both words are the same but I > > don't > > > know what that particular prefix means. Perhaps, that could give a > > > clue, too.
> > > Great contribution, though.
> > > HTP,
> > > Mahari

>>>
>>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "asar_imhotep"
>>> wrote:
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu"
> wrote:
>>>>>
>>>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the >>>>> Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek > word
>>> for >>>>> Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of
the >>> word - >>>>> in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal
> and
>>> that
>>>>> black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of
>>> course,
>>>>> it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would > assume
>>> that >>>>> dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the > sun
>> to >>> be >>>>> so. However, it is possible that the term could have been >> coined
>>> by >>>>> brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even >>> darker
>>>>> skins.
>>>>> The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the >>>>> word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course,
>> we
>>>>> already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.
>>>>> HTP,
>>>>> Mahari
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern >>> interpretation. I >>>> think the ancient Greeks simply were saying what the ancient >>> Egyptians

>>>> were actually calling themselves (or at least the priesthood).
 >>> Notice
 >>>> the cognancy between the Greek word for "burn" and the Ta-> Merrian
 >>> term
 >>>> "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" piece of charcoal).
 >>>>
 >>>> Το λεξικόν Ε βρήκε 1 λήξη;ξη.
 >>>> The dictionary found 1 word.
 >>>>
 >>>> burn = καίω, καίομαι
 >>>>
 >>>> kaio, kaiomai
 >>>>
 >>>> With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it
 is >>> ironic
 >>>> that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek. The > Greeks
 >>> used
 >>>> the term Αἰθιοπία (Aithiopia) to refer to the people
 > of >>>> Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek > dictionary,
 >>> no
 >>>> word comes up resembling Aithiopia.
 >>>>
 >>>> Greek word for sun
 >>>>
 >>>> Ν Ν
 > ήλιο
 >>>> V V
 >>>> ηλιάζω
 >>>> hlio
 >>>> hliazo (helios)
 >>>>
 >>>> Greek word for face
 >>>>
 >>>>
 >>>> Ν Ν
 >>>> προσωρό, έπη, μούτρο, >>>> θάψα V V
 >>>>
 >>>> ανώκροζω, αψενίζω
 >>>> prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa

>>>> antikruxio, atenixio
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words
> in >>> Greek >>>> are included in the ΠιθίουURία. This leads me to > suspect
>> that >>>> it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when > they >>> say
>>>> "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning >>> to "burn" or
>>>> to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> burn = καίῶ, καίομαι
>>>>
>>>> kaio, kaiomai
>>>>
>>>> I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone > has
>>> some >>>> literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces," >> maybe
>>> we >>>> can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I don't > think
>>> they >>>> were using it in the same fashion we think of it in racial > terms,
>>> but
>>>> was playing off of the term already used when we think of the >>> Kematians.
>>>>
>>>> For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an >>> Obelisk.
>>>> Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the functional >>> aspect
>>>> of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) represents an >> erect >>>> penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits" sperm from its > > opening.

> > > Although the Greeks used a different term, it philosophically
> is
> > in > > > alignment with the indigenous representation of a Tekkenu.
The
> > same
> > > could be at play here as well.
> > >
> > > Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I > > > transliterated the terms just in case.
> > >
> > >
> > > Asar Imhotep
> > > <http://www.mochasui te.com> <<http://www.mochasui te.com/>>
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > Ta_Seti Repository
> > > http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta_seti2
> > > Yahoo! Groups Links
> > >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
> >
> >
> > -----
> > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
> >
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
>
> -----
> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!
> Search.
>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24497|2008-01-02 10:50:45|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|
i agree,

Mahari wrote:

These conclusions are all contingent upon what timeframe one is discussing. I am referring to the time period of 15-2500 BC.

FREE INDIA'S BLACKS.....

It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning.
Henry Ford (23)

--- On Mon 12/31, Tafari khumbaka < tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com > wrote:

From: Tafari khumbaka [mailto: tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com]

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, ausar65@aol. com, sadiob@hotmail. com, kimberly.catron@ bchs.edu, downmaster10@ yahoo.com, fsfayne@aol. com, chrisjon444@ yahoo.com, henesy9@yahoo. com, hkmaat@aol.com, jay_shed@yahoo. com, artdealer@angelprod .com, latundras@yahoo. com, netqwest@msn. com, rachelletott@ yahoo.com, ma-a-kherw-owner@ yahoogroups. com, maatcollective@ yahoogroups. com, mdtolliver@aol. com, rsmooth10@excite. com, millmorg199@ msn.com, neru37@earthlink. net, aug196720@hotmail. com, rafikio@bellsouth.net, cathypkat@yahoo.com.ph, somuchprincess@hotmail.com, ta_seti@yahoogroups.com, the_paut_neteru@yahoogroups.com, fro34@hotmail.com, alandas@nsightmemphis.com, jake2617@aol.com, bberryhill2@hotmail.com, feferachelle227@yahoo.com, babyface_38141@yahoo.com, courtland7@comcast.net, dannytheq@yahoo.com, debswiney@aol.com, alandas@scsmemphis.com, erfbrooks@yahoo.com, ikowa2003@yahoo.com, jcingra@yahoo.com, johnsonjabari@yahoo.com, jancam5@hotmail.com, jewel.robinson@nwa.com, jogrant2004@yahoo.com, babygirljo01@hotmail.com, kendra.jamerson@utmg.org, squaw2161@yahoo.com, tafari_sudra@yahoo.com, jgilmore@bellsouth.net, roroel@yahoo.com, rls91685@yahoo.com, nanaslack52@yahoo.com, trizml@yahoo.com, tripwithstephanie@yahoo.com, tweetyngu76@yahoo.com, isosceles@comcast.net, pierrebonet_2000@yahoo.com

Date: Mon, 31 Dec 2007 10:48:38 -0800 (PST)

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop

men and women are white and brown , not just women and they are of a artistic style more in line with greece and tyra and other white societies, then what is seen on the african mainland; there is no real significant archaeological evidence of invasion the white(greecian) and levant invasion is at a time after devastating earthquakes there , at any rate the minoans were not the greek people they had a different language and manner of lifestyle , the greecians were white people as were the romans and etruscians, all were influenced by the africans and had temples ran by africans , but they were as much a white people as todays french, who were helped in founding the city of paris by black africans and have many blacks in their country, but france is a white nation of people

greece was a white nation, and the minoans were a cosmopolitan people made up of africans (island was probaly founded by africans and considered an outpost of the northern khamy like lybia was) and the people of the mediterranean and levant, there was probaly a heavy influx early by the etruscians also and many lybians

Mahari Mengistu com > wrote:

>> the pics of the minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,<<

Well, it appears that the "very white" image- who were generally females - was ritualistic. That is to say that they were painted white as has long been an Afrikan custom for women to - if I remember correctly - indicate virginity and purity.

And also keep in mind I'm referring to a period before the invasions of whites or, at least, before a significant influx of them.

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka ...> wrote:

>

> i agree the minoans were an african people ,,probaly a outpost of ancient egyptians ,,i agree with Ra Unnefer Amen that it was at crete that the ancient greeks recieved there initiation into the khamatic priesthood and guilds,;

> but the mainland greeks from archaeological evidence were stereotypically european, although they [the old hellenic greeks] mixed with many people, persians and (negroid)egyptians they were europeans and both they and the dorians copied the architecture of africa , and the minoans were not greeks; the island of crete was cosmopolitan and multi-ethnic, perhaps at its late history the population was mostly greek or a mixed type,,, the pics of the minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,

>

> the architecture seems to me be a unique mix of ancient egyptian and etruscan and this maybe the real insight into these people , as the hellenes who are essentially the etruscians cousins were also taught by the egyptians: ; and the isle of crete maybe were they were initiated also.....

>

> i mean it(all are africa) in the same way stated by Dr, Richard King in his book the african origin of biological psychiatry, theres the african (all humanity) and theres the african-african (those who are the specific quality of the continent) please understand my paraphrasing of the Dr. is elementary compared too his description

>

> Mahari Mengistu wrote:

> I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all African". We ARE all

> Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what I suggest about > the early Greeks.

> The book "Who Were the Minoans? An African Answer..." states that > the Minoans were an Afrikan people who spoke Niger-Congo. Not only > the language suggests that but their architecture as well as their > dress.

> HTP,

> Mahari

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka >

> wrote:

> >

> > i dont see the original greeks as african????, of course we all

> everywhere are african,, but the original people of that area in

> archaeology are always the stereotypical european,

> > the greeks have no writing before 800 bce. so they could only

> speak of other people very late in written history

> >

> > Mahari Mengistu wrote:

> > Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.

> > HTP,

> > Mahari

> >

> > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, "Ferg" > wrote:

> > >

> > >

> > > More supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.

> > >

> > >

> > > <http://64.233.183.104/search?>

> > >

> >

>

q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtw J:www.htmlbible. com/sacrednamebi blecom/kjvstrong s/S

> > TRGRK27.htm+ greek+kauma& hl=en&ct= clnk&cd=4& gl=uk

> > >

> > > Somo

> > >

> > > ----- Original Message -----

> > > From: asar_imhotep

> > > To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com

> > > Sent: Friday, December 28, 2007 9:35 PM

> > > Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop

>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:
>>>>
>>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the >>>> Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek word
>> for >>>> Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of the >> word - >>>> in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal and
>> that >>>> black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of
>> course,
>>>> it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would assume
>> that >>>> dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the sun
>> to be >>>> so. However, it is possible that the term could have been >> coined by >>>> brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even >> darker
>>>> skins.
>>>> The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the >>>> word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course,
>> we >>>> already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.
>>>> HTP,
>>>> Mahari
>>>
>>>
>>> I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern >> interpretation. I think the ancient Greeks simply were saying
what
>> the ancient Egyptians were actually calling themselves (or at least >> the priesthood). Notice the cognancy between the Greek word >> for "burn" and the Ta-Merrian term "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" >> piece of charcoal).
>>>
>>> Το λεξικόν βρήκε 1 λφshy;ξη.
>>> The dictionary found 1 word.
>>>
>>>
>>> burn = καίῶ, καίομαι
>>>
>>>
>>> kaio, kaiomai
>>>
>>>

> > > With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it is > > ironic that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek.

The

> > Greeks used the term Πιθιοΐα (Aithiopia) to refer to the > > people of Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek > > dictionary, no word comes up resembling Aithiopia.

> > >

> > > Greek word for sun

> > >

> > > Ν Ν ἥλιοϚ

> > > Β Β ηλιάζϚ

> > >

> > > hlioε

> > > hliazo (helios)

> > >

> > > Greek word for face

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > > Ν Ν ὤρϚ, ὤρη, μούϣρο, ὠάϣηα

> > > Β Β ἀνϣκρύζϚ, ἀϣνίζϚ

> > >

> > > prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa

> > > antikruxio, atenixio

> > >

> > >

> > > When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words in > > Greek are included in the Πιθιοΐα. This leads me to

> > suspect

> > that it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when > > they say "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning

> > to "burn" or to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma

> > >

> > >

> > > burn = καίϚ, καίομαι

> > >

> > > kaio, kaiomai

> > >

> > >

> > > I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone has > > some literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces,"

> > maybe we can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I > > don't > > think they were using it in the same fashion we think of it in > > racial

> > terms, but was playing off of the term already used when we think

> > of

> > the Kematians.

> > >

> > >

> > > For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an

> > Obelisk. Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the > > functional aspect of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) > > represents an erect penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits" > sperm
> > from its opening. Although the Greeks used a different term, it > > philosophically is in alignment with the indigenous representation
> of > > a Tekkenu. The same could be at play here as well.
> > >
> > > Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I > > transliterated the terms just in case.
> > >
> > >
> > > Asar Imhotep
> > > <http://www.mochasui te.com>
> > >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
> >
> >
> > -----
> > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
> >
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

No banners. No pop-ups. No kidding.

Make My Way your home on the Web - <http://www.myway.com>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24498|2008-01-02 18:23:23|Mahari Mengistu|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Mahari|

Actually, Asar, I was not referring to the double "a" at the end of Kwanzaa. I think he may have added the extra "a" to make the word be composed of 7 letters like the celebration.

I'll have to check Budge but I was referring to the dictionary and the word usage of the "aa".

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Asar Imhotep wrote:

>

> I know with the last "a" in Kwanzaa, Maulana Karenga simply took creative convention and added it into it. As far as the esoteric aspect of the Alphabet, you might want to review Alvin Boyd Khun's treatment of the topic. I can't vouch for its accuracy, but it is interesting none the less and at least gives you something to build on. Here is a link to the article:

>

> <http://members.tripod.com/pc93/ESOSTRAL.HTM>

>

>

>

> Mahari wrote: This is not addressing "ka" directly but it might be of interest or even fit in some fashion.

> I was just playing creative with KWANZAA where I am substituting the "a" in the name with a pyramid.

> Asar's treatment of the pyramid shape made me think of the "a" shape in pyramids and the significance of > what has become the "a"/alphabet. The "a" seems to be added to Kemetetic words to give them divine status and even more so with > a double a/"aa". How much of this is due to western transliteration conventions I can't say.

> I don't have Budge's dictionary in front of me but do remember, I believe, seeing that the "a" alone has the highest significance.

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> Asar Imhotep

> <http://www.mochasuite.com>

>

> -----

> Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

>

| 24499|2008-01-02 18:23:55|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [maatcollective] Brothas Keepa on YouTube....and other events!|

Afrikan Liberation wrote:

To: maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

From: "Afrikan Liberation"

Date: Wed, 02 Jan 2008 18:22:55 -0600

Subject: [maatcollective] Brothas Keepa on YouTube....and other events!

Sometimes when the news stops covering events - we tend to forget about the situation as if it's been resolved. So goes the same for our Afrikan brothers and sisters who survived or were murdered during Hurricane Katrina. Today - in 2008 - they are still struggling....and the world has forgotten. We should never forget.

In memory and honor of those affected by "Hurricane Fema", Brothas Keepa and Powwah tha Poet wrote "Below Sea Level." Check it out on YouTube:

Part 1: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aWBUDHkutXU>

Part 2: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dYWcYMPIIhU>

Also this week....

LIBERATION POETRY NIGHT!!!

Where: Marcus Garvey Institute

565 Parkway (the corner of South Parkway & Lauderdale)

When: January 5th, 2007

Time: 8 PM

Free admission!!! If you're a singer, rapper, poet, musician ? the mic is open and all yours! Call (901) 859-4051 for more info.

FEED THE PEOPLE!!!

Where: The corner of Poplar & High Street

When: Sunday, January 6th

Time: 12 PM

If we eat, they eat! Join us to feed those less fortunate! We're always in need of any food, drinks, and if you have any clothes that you can donate ? we are in need of that as well. If all you can donate is your time ? that'll work too!!! Come on out and help us feed our folks! Call (901) 859-4051 or (901) 502-4986 for more info.

Don't see us there, beat us there! Feel free to forward this email to any other parties who may be interested as well.

Peace&Blessings.....

Afrikan Liberation sent this email to maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

Questions? Contact rbg_liberation@yahoo.com or Afrikan Liberation, RBG 4 Life, Memphis, Tennessee 38116, United States

Privacy Policy - <http://www.FanBridge.com/learn/privacy.php>

Unsubscribe -

<http://www.FanBridge.com/unsubscribe/immed.php?userid=14544&email=maatcollective@yahoogroups.com&confCode=54cPc2hX6XXe5PPhBc4PeBcFPc>

Update Your Information:

<http://www.FanBridge.com/signup/fanupdate.php?userid=14544&email=maatcollective@yahoogroups.com&confCode=54cPc2hX6XXe5PPhBc4PeBcFPc>

Forward to a friend:

<http://brothaskeepa.fanbridge.com/signup/forward.php?userid=14544&sid=6121486&cid=45178&cc=54cPc2hX6XXe5PPhBc4PeBcFPc>

This email message is powered by Fanbridge:

<http://www.FanBridge.com/b.php?id=14544>

Free Email and Mobile fan list management for bands.

Yahoo! Groups Links

To visit your group on the web, go to:

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/maatcollective/>

Your email settings:

Individual Email | Traditional

To change settings online go to:

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/maatcollective/join>

(Yahoo! ID required)

To change settings via email:

<mailto:maatcollective-digest@yahoogroups.com>

<mailto:maatcollective-fullfeatured@yahoogroups.com>

To unsubscribe from this group, send an email to:

maatcollective-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com

Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to:

<http://docs.yahoo.com/info/terms/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24500|2008-01-02 18:24:11|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop|
the archaeology of greece presents a white people when talking about greece, when talking about a mediterrian type before there was a greece , one could speak of a diversity of people in prehistoric times , but to be grecian is too be white

i agree,

Mahari wrote:

These conclusions are all contingent upon what timeframe one is discussing. I am referring to the time period of 15-2500 BC.

FREE INDIA'S BLACKS..... .

It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning.

Henry Ford (23)

--- On Mon 12/31, Tafari khumbaka <tafari_sudra@yahoo.com> wrote:

From: Tafari khumbaka [mailto:tafari_sudra@yahoo.com]

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, ausar65@aol.com, sadiob@hotmail.com, kimberly.catron@bchs.edu, downmaster10@yahoo.com, fsfayne@aol.com, chrisjon444@yahoo.com, henesy9@yahoo.com, hkmaat@aol.com, jay_shed@yahoo.com, artdealer@angelprod.com, latundras@yahoo.com, netqwest@msn.com, rachelletott@yahoo.com, ma-a-kherw-owner@yahoogroups.com, maatcollective@yahoogroups.com, mdtolliver@aol.com, rsmooth10@excite.com, millmorg199@msn.com, neru37@earthlink.net, aug196720@hotmail.com, rafikio@bellsouth.net, cathykat@yahoo.com.ph, somuchprincess@hotmail.com, ta_seti@yahoogroups.com, the_paut_neteru@yahoogroups.com, fro34@hotmail.com, alandas@nsightmemphis.com, jake2617@aol.com, bberryhill2@hotmail.com, feferachelle227@yahoo.com, babyface_38141@yahoo.com, courtland7@comcast.net, dannytheq@yahoo.com, debswiney@aol.com, alandas@scsmemphis.com, erfbrooks@yahoo.com, ikowa2003@yahoo.com, jcingra@yahoo.com, johnsonjabari@yahoo.com, jancam5@hotmail.com, jewel.robinson@nwa.com, jogrant2004@yahoo.com, babygirljo01@hotmail.com, kendra.jamerson@utmg.org, squaw2161@yahoo.com, tafari_sudra@yahoo.com, jgilmore@bellsouth.net, roroel@yahoo.com, rls91685@yahoo.com, nanaslack52@yahoo.com, trizm1@yahoo.com, tripwithstephanie@yahoo.com, tweetyngu76@yahoo.com, isosceles@comcast.net, pierrebonet_2000@yahoo.com

Date: Mon, 31 Dec 2007 10:48:38 -0800 (PST)

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop

men and women are white and brown, not just women and they are of an artistic style more in line with Greece and Tyra and other white societies, then what is seen on the African mainland; there is no real significant archaeological evidence of invasion the white (Greek) and Levant invasion is at a time after devastating earthquakes there, at any rate the Minoans were not the Greek people they had a different language and manner of lifestyle, the Greeks were white people as were the Romans and Etruscians, all were influenced by the Africans and had temples run by Africans, but they were as much a white people as today's French, who were helped in founding the city of Paris by black Africans and have many blacks in their country, but France is a white nation of people

Greece was a white nation, and the Minoans were a cosmopolitan people made up of Africans (island was probably founded by Africans and considered an outpost of the northern Khamy like Libya was) and the people of the Mediterranean and Levant, there was probably a heavy influx early by the Etruscians also and many Libyans

Mahari Mengistu com> wrote:

>> the pics of the Minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,<<

Well, it appears that the "very white" image- who were generally females - was ritualistic. That is to say that they were painted white as has long been an African custom for women to - if I remember correctly - indicate virginity and purity.

And also keep in mind I'm referring to a period before the invasions of whites or, at least, before a significant influx of them.

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka ...> wrote:

>

> I agree the Minoans were an African people,,,probably an outpost of ancient Egyptians,,,I agree with Ra Unnefer Amen that it was at Crete that the ancient Greeks received their initiation into the khamatic priesthood and guilds,;

> but the mainland Greeks from archaeological evidence were stereotypically European, although they [the old Hellenic Greeks] mixed with many people, Persians and (negroid) Egyptians they were Europeans and both they and the Dorians copied the architecture of africa , and the minoans were not greeks; the island of crete was cosmopolitan and multi-ethnic, perhaps at its late history the population was mostly greek or a mixed type,,, the pics of the minoans shows them very white and very dark brown,,,, > the architecture seems to me to be a unique mix of ancient egyptian and etruscan and this maybe the real insight into these people , as the hellenes who are essentially the etruscians cousins were also taught by the egyptians: ; and the isle of crete maybe were they were initiated also.....

>

>

> i mean it(all are africa) in the same way stated by Dr, Richard King in his book the african origin of biological psychiatry, theres the african (all humanity) and theres the african-african (those who are the specific quality of the continent) please understand my paraphrasing of the Dr. is elementary compared too his description

>

> Mahari Mengistu wrote:

> I'm not sure what you mean by "we are all African". We ARE all

> Afrikan but some of us are negroid. And that is what I suggest about > the early Greeks.

> The book "Who Were the Minoans? An African Answer..." states that > the Minoans were an Afrikan people who spoke Niger-Congo. Not only > the language suggests that but their architecture as well as their > dress.

> HTP,

> Mahari

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka >

> wrote:

>>

>> i dont see the original greeks as african????, of course we all

> everywhere are african,, but the original people of that area in > archaeology are always the stereotypical european,

>> the greeks have no writing before 800 bce. so they could only

> speak of other people very late in written history

>>

>> Mahari Mengistu wrote:

>> Excellent, Ferg! Excellent.

>> HTP,

>> Mahari

>>

>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" > wrote:

>>>

>>>

>>> More supporting evidence for the word KAUMA.

>>>

>>>

>>> <http://64.233.183.104/search?>

>>

>

q=cache:JTbMwiVYNtw J:www.htmlbible.com/sacrednamebi blecom/kjvstrong s/S

>> TRGRK27.htm+ greek+kauma& hl=en&ct= clnk&cd=4& gl=uk

>>>
>>> Somo
>>>
>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>> From: asar_imhotep
>>> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
>>> Sent: Friday, December 28, 2007 9:35 PM
>>> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Remembering Cheikh Anta Diop
>>>
>>>
>>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu"
wrote:
>>>>
>>>> I was just reading some of Diop which discusses the >>>> Greeks and Ethiopians and it occurred to me that the Greek word
>> for >>>> Ethiopians - "burnt faces" suggests a caucasian origin of the >> word - >>>> in my opinion. It suggests, IMHO, that white skin is normal
and
>> that >>>> black skin becomes black through some outside force when, of
>> course,
>>>> it is the reverse. A black or brown skinned person would assume
>> that >>>> dark skin is normal and would not have to be burned by the sun
>> to be >>>> so. However, it is possible that the term could have been >> coined by >>>> brown skinned people to refer to their brothers who had even >> darker
>>>> skins.
>>>> The question is: does anyone know approximately the time the >>>> word "Ethiopian" originated in the Greek language? Of course,
>> we >>>> already know that the original Greeks were Afrikan.
>>>> HTP,
>>>> Mahari
>>>
>>>
>>>> I think it is a mistranslation on the part of modern >> interpretation. I think the ancient Greeks simply were saying
what >> the ancient Egyptians were actually calling themselves (or at least
>> the priesthood). Notice the cognancy between the Greek word >> for "burn" and the Ta-Merrian term "KMT" (pictured with a "burnt" >> piece of charcoal).
>>>
>>>> Το λεξικόν βρήκε 1 λφshy;ξη.
>>>> The dictionary found 1 word.

>>>
 >>>
 >>> burn = καίῶ, καίομαι
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> kaio, kaiomai
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> With recent discussion about the term "kaa" meaning burnt, it
 is >> ironic that you would find the same term in the ancient Greek.
 The
 >> Greeks used the term Πιθιοΐα (Aithiopia) to refer to the >> people of Ta-Nehesu. When I look up the term "burn" in any Greek >> dictionary, no word comes up resembling Aithiopia.
 >>>
 >>> Greek word for sun
 >>>
 >>> N N ἥλιοϚ
 >>> V V ηλιαΐζῶ
 >>>
 >>> hlioē
 >>> hliazo (helios)
 >>>
 >>> Greek word for face
 >>>
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> N N ὤψιον, ὤπη, μούτρο, ὤψια
 >>> V V ἀνψικρύζῶ, ἀψενίζῶ
 >>>
 >>> prosopo, ophe, moutro, phatsa
 >>> antikruxio, atenixio
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> When I look at the word Ethiopia, none of the individual words
 in >> Greek are included in the Πιθιοΐα. This leads me to > suspect
 >> that it may be a mispronunciation of an indigenous term. For when >> they say "burn" or "burnt," they use the same Egyptian term meaning
 >> to "burn" or to turn Black and that is Kami, KMT, Kaa, KaaUma
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> burn = καίῶ, καίομαι
 >>>
 >>> kaio, kaiomai
 >>>
 >>>
 >>> I think this needs some more investigations. Maybe if someone has >> some literature with the term Aithiopia meaning "sun burnt faces,"
 >> maybe we can clear this up. If they did indeed use this term, I > don't > > think they were using it in the same fashion we think of it in > racial > > terms, but was playing off of the term already used when we think

> of
> > the Kematians.
> > >
> > > For instance, they have their own term for a Tekkenu called an > > Obelisk. Obelisk means "the little spit." It is a play on the > > functional aspect of what a Tekkenu represents. A Tekkenu (benben) > > represents an erect penis. The penis when it ejaculates "spits" > sperm
> > from its opening. Although the Greeks used a different term, it > > philosophically is in alignment with the indigenous representation
> of > > a Tekkenu. The same could be at play here as well.
> > >
> > > Hopefully all of the greek letters shows up on your screens. I > > transliterated the terms just in case.
> > >
> > >
> > > Asar Imhotep
> > > <http://www.mochasui te.com>
> > >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
> >
> >
> > -----
> > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
> >
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

No banners. No pop-ups. No kidding.

Make My Way your home on the Web - <http://www.myway.com>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24501|2008-01-03 06:47:51|shaimesh@aol.com|Vendor Notice for Pan Afrakan Kash Kemet Mdw Ntchr Symposium on 1/25|

From: mdwntchr@blackgoldsacredliving.com

E e m hotep,

There is a limited number of vendor spaces and they are filling up. We are sending a courtesy email to you before we send another email blast to the public. If you are still interested in vending at this event, then go to www.BlackGoldSacredLiving.com, click on "Pan Afrakan Mdw Ntchr Conference", scroll down to click on desired link. Note, there is now a link for PAKKMNOS Member Discounts Vendor Spaces.

As a Vendor, you receive 2-free passes into the Symposium (1-pass is yours and 1-pass for your

Assistant, additional persons would need to pay) If you are a PAKKMNOS Member, then you receive a 20% discount. PAKKMNOS Membership is $35-Individual, $25-Elder/Student, or $100-Institution(pays for 2-members in Institution). So for members, 1-Day

Vending is $100 vice $125 and 2-Day Vending is $140 Vice $175.

You will be sent a Vendor's Agreement and Instructions prior to the Symposium for set-up times, instructions & policies. Any questions can be replied to this email. Thank you for your support.

Ankh Udjah Seneb (Life, Prosperity Health)
Mwt Seshatms Maatnefert Salim
Acting Secretary/Treasurer
PAKKMNOS

http://communityconsciousculturalevents.com/events_-_nj_4

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

| 24502|2008-01-03 07:53:29|Kwesi Ra Nehem Akhan|AFURAKA.:AFURAITKAIT Nanasom
Nhoma--Read Excerpts from 3rd Issue|

www.odwirafo.com

AFURAKA.:AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma
Afurakani/Afuraitkaitnit Ancestral Religion Journal

Read Excerpts from the 3rd Issue Here:

AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT: The Origin of the term 'Africa', Part 3: Alkebulan is Not An Original Indigenous Term for the Continent

MMARA NE KYI \(Law and Hate\), Part 3

AKOMA NTOASOO: The Power of Balance in Male/Female Relationships

OHEMMAA-odonkoni-OHEMMAA: Queen to slave to Queen, Embracing our Natural Hair Completely

Mikyia mo (Greetings):

The third issue of our nhoma (journal) is now available.

A 1-year ($27) eSubscription to AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma is an awoda akyede (birthday gift) of substance which will benefit the recipient throughout the year. A single issue of the nhoma (journal) is an inexpensive ($3.00) akyede which will be of great benefit as well. The electronic version of the nhoma is e-mailed immediately upon receipt of payment --- usually on the same day. Those who order the 1-year eSubscription will receive the first three (3) issues of the nhoma together. This is 185 pages of information in total.

Articles in this issue:

AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT:

The origin of the term
'Africa'

Part 3

(Includes information about the name
'alkebulan' which is not an original indigenous term for the continent)

ABUSUAKUW:

GBO: People and Culture

ABATUMM:

Abatumm (melanin),
Race and Nhwewemu (True Scientific Inquiry)

MMARA NE KYI:

Law and Hate, Part 3

KUKUU-TUNTUM:

Abraham, Isaac and Ishmael Never Existed

MAAKHERU:

Afurakanu/Afuraitkaitnut and the Truth About AIDS

...

There is No Such Thing as an HIV/AIDS Virus

AKOMA NTOASO:

The Power of Balance in Male/Female Relationships

OHEMAA

-odonkoni-

OHEMAA:

Queen to slave to Queen

Completely Embracing our Natural Hair

DIN TO:

The Akan Naming Ceremony

SANKOFA KRADA:

Returning to Go and Grasp the Meaning of Krada

AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma is an nhoma (n'-hoh-mah), a journal, focused on Afurakani/Afuraitkaitnit (African) Ancestral Religion.

Our nhoma is divided into seven sections based on the Abosom (ah'-boh-sohm), the Deities, of the solar, lunar and planetary bodies which govern the Akan 7-day week. The themes governing each section are:

KRADIN

(Soul-Name; Spiritual Identity)

ABUSUAKUW and ABATUMM

(Ethnic group; Cultural identity) and (Melanin; Physiological Identity)

MMARA NE KYI

(Law and Hate)

NHWEHWEMU

(Critical Examination)

NKRABEA

(Function)

AHOODEN and AHOOFE

(Health, Strength) and (Beauty)

AHODWIRA

(Ritual; Self-Purification)

For orders please visit our website at:

www.odwirafo.com/nanasom.html

We accept all credit cards and paypal. You do not need to have a paypal account in order to purchase.

www.odwirafo.com/nanasom.html

nanasom@odwirafo.com

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24503|2008-01-03 12:00:07|Bradenqp@aol.com|To Dr. Winters - Re: 2007 Diop Conference|

Hi Dr. Winters,

I was pleased to see you listed -on the program schedule of the 2007 Diop Conference-as making the keynote presentation on the first day of the event:

www.asante.net/diop/program.html

Is the paper you presented published online or would you care to upload it to Ta-Seti?

Also, would you care to share which particular presentations at the conference you found particularly edifying? Not asking you to criticize your peers, of course, but I'm wondering what the most interesting developments at the conference were in terms of advancing the field of African Centered studies.

Thanks,

Paul Braden

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24504|2008-01-04 13:35:38|cristofori whitakara|kola boof on being black egyptian|

Htp:

Share this and share your perspectives.

Remain in Ma'at,

Dr. Chenzira

TODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006

An Essay through PHOTOS

by Kola Boof

About a year ago,

one of my uncles wrote to me from Egypt, quite bitterly.

He said:

People are so busy discussing

and fighting over whether or not the ancient Egyptians were "black"
---that they forgot we're still here.

We still exist.

The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL of us yet.

Kola, you live in America, you're somebody over there. Why don't you say something?

You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right.

Your father was an Egyptian.

And he's right. Because of my own bitterness.. my hatred and loathing
for my father's country...I have been remiss to mention anything about the country.

My only real memory is a very painful one...the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs
after my birth parents had been executed
in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal in EGYPT)...because of course,
my black skin would have exposed her
--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's veins.
A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set.

BUT my uncle is right.
The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead of debating about the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones?

Why is it that in America--only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on television or in magazines?

Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa?

Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIAN
Black people---photos that are NOW TODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.

If I had not been put up for adoption by my colorstruck Egyptian grandmother
---I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful people in the world---my Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.

And I would be somewhere
on the Nile River,
and like all other BLACK people of
Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.

But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful

....because as my good friend,
Derrick Bell pointed out to me
---AMERICA doesn't want any image
that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPY
as the Black Americans say. I am not
the right "image"

....and just like they WHITENED
the recent exhibition of KING TUT
when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,
we know full well that the CHARCOAL
Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother

and just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI
only to discover that she was a dark brown black woman....

The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK.

For those Egyptians reading
this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise
you that I have been treated like trash
by the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my life,
they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name
with every chance they could slander it.

I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people....and as they have falsely branded me
a LIAR...I know their real face now.

ANWAR SADAT:

Like me, our late Black Egyptian President
Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian.

Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of
"black man".

He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab.

His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law ---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE.

Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploing me to speak up for the Black Egyptians.

You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair.

I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected.

When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile Riverthey are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrkhan.

The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP".

Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them

"talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are.

When I try to explain to them that as a
"BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things
to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it.

Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing"
of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so colorstruck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine.

But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL
Naima Bint Harith.

Although the Sahara desert sun no longer
blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful.

I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people.
And I promise you...that in my Autobiography,
I have done all that I can to tell our experience,
our truth...and to make us less invisible.

Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !!

tima usrah (through fire comes the family)

Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl"

<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>
(<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>)

AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS:
THE PROOF

By Kola Boof

I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.

PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair".

And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man.

And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously.

Truly, in America, you begin to understand it.

As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person.

Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic

Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.

PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.

And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation.

Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black

African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely

Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.

If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed.

You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Tye Diggz looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.

America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it.

They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic.

They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness.

So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.

We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.

And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it.

Worldwide NiggerStock

Black Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is.

Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human.

Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

THE AUTHENTIC BLACK

People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test.

But I don't care about failing the test.

Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino.

In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to.

Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.

It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White.

Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1.

So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable.

Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same.

If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.

And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us.

The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.

And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps.
The one true hair.

And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.

We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.

Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.

As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle.

Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.

And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa

Africa...must not perish.

this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24505|2008-01-04 14:45:50|Vernessa McVay|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.

cristofori whitakara wrote:

Htp:

Share this and share your perspectives.
Remain in Ma'at,
Dr. Chenzira

TODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006

An Essay through PHOTOS

by Kola Boof

About a year ago,
one of my uncles wrote to me from Egypt, quite bitterly.
He said:

People are so busy discussing
and fighting over whether or not
the ancient Egyptians were "black"
---that they forgot we're still here.

We still exist.

The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL of us yet.

Kola, you live in America, you're somebody over there. Why don't you say something?

You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right.

Your father was an Egyptian.

And he's right. Because of my own bitterness.. my hatred and loathing
for my father's country...I have been remiss to mention anything about the country.

My only real memory is a very painful one...the memory of my White
Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs
after my birth parents had been executed
in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery
to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal in EGYPT)...because of course,
my black skin would have exposed her

--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's veins.
A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set.

BUT my uncle is right.
The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead of debating about the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones?

Why is it that in America--only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on television or in magazines?

Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa?

Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIAN Black people---photos that are NOW TODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.

If I had not been
put up for adoption by my colorstruck Egyptian grandmother
---I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful
people in the world---my Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.

And I would be somewhere
on the Nile River,
and like all other BLACK people of
Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.

But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful

....because as my good friend,
Derrick Bell pointed out to me
---AMERICA doesn't want any image
that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick
told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because
I am too black and my hair is NAPPY
as the Black Americans say. I am not
the right "image"

....and just like they WHITENED
the recent exhibition of KING TUT
when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,
we know full well that the CHARCOAL
Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother

and just like they fought against the Scientists
who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI
only to discover that she was a dark
brown black woman....

The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT
being represented by those of us who are BLACK.

For those Egyptians reading
this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise
you that I have been treated like trash
by the American media---and because of
the controversies surrounding my life,
they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name
with every chance they could slander it.

I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that
we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African immigrants
have wanted to believe. They are not honest

people....and as they have falsely branded me
a LIAR...I know their real face now.

ANWAR SADAT:

Like me, our late Black Egyptian President
Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian.

Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of
"black man".

He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab.

His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law
---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARAB
....and especially to support PALESTINE.

Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploing me to speak up for the Black Egyptians.

You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights.
I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair.

I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected.

When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives

as Black people on the Nile River
....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrkhan.

The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP".

Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them
"talk, talk, talk" about Africa and
being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce,
because they don't know who they are.

When I try to explain to them that as a
"BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things
to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it.

Even after I told them about the Sudanese
slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing"
of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so colorstruck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine.

But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL
Naima Bint Harith.

Although the Sahara desert sun no longer
blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful.

I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor
have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people.
And I promise you...that in my Autobiography,
I have done all that I can to tell our experience,
our truth...and to make us less invisble.

Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !!

tima usrah (through fire comes the family)

Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl"

<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>
(<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>)

AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF

By Kola Boof

I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.

PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair".

And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man.

And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously.

Truly, in America, you begin to understand it.

As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person.

Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic

Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.

PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.

And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation.

Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black

African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.

If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed.

You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.

America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it.

They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic.

They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness.

So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.

We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.

And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it.

Worldwide NiggerStock

Black Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is.

Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human.

Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

THE AUTHENTIC BLACK

People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test.

But I don't care about failing the test.

Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino.

In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to.

Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.

It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White.

Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1.

So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable.

Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same.

If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.

And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us.

The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.

And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America)....and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.

And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.

We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.

Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.

As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle.

Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.

And black children are beautiful...to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa

Africa...must not perish.

this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof 🌹

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24506|2008-01-04 19:42:33|Tafari khumbaka|us'in is ways butthind!|

click on link below

http://www.nytimes.com/2008/01/02/business/worldbusiness/02japan.html?_r=2&hp&oref=slogin&oref=slogin

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24507|2008-01-05 00:21:22|shaimesh@aol.com|www.blackconsciousness.com Sale|

From:sales@blackconsciousness.com

<http://store.blackconsciousness.com>

New Attitude Sale

EACH EMAIL HAS NEW INFORMATION. PLEASE READ THIS EMAIL IN IT'S ENTIRETY FOR DETAILS!

Greetings Preferred Nubian Customers:

We have included a store coupon in this email which will give you 15% off on all products, including dvds. To visit the store and website just, click on the "Start Shopping Now!" button. Use the coupon code at the store checkout! Customers must enter this coupon code jn31 in order to receive the 15% off discount. If you don't enter this coupon code you will not receive the discount. We want you to receive your discount so please review your order before on all orders until 01/31/2008

Save

15%

Must use coupon code at store checkout in order to receive the discount.
NO EXCUSES AND NO EXCEPTIONS!

Use coupon code:

checking out to make sure you entered the coupon code jn31. If you've entered the coupon code the discount will show on your order before you check out. If the discount does not show it means you did not enter the code or you entered it incorrectly. Orders will be processed exactly as we received them. If you have any questions you must send an email to sales@blackconsciousness.com before placing the order. We will be more than happy to assist you. The sale ends January 31, 2008.

jn31

Start Shopping Now!

To avoid problems and misunderstandings.

PLEASE FOLLOW THE DIRECTIONS IN THIS EMAIL!

The buy 3 or more dvds, get 1 dvd free sale is still on! That's (1) single titled dvd free per order. This is your chance to stock up on your favorites at 15% off and receive a free dvd if you qualify. This sale will be ending soon. If you snooze you will loose out on this great opportunity!

Don't forget to check out some of the new dvd titles just added to the website. See extensive listings at:
<http://www.blackconsciousness/sshop/newuploads.html>

Dr. Sebi

Ma'at Celebration 2007 (2-part set)

Dr. Scott Whitaker

MediSin

Marcus Kline

Snitch Factor

Dr. Afrika

Sexual Astrology

Reparations Forum

Maddox, Smalls & Jeffries

Dr. Ali Muhammad Bey

The Global Shift in Consciousness (3-part set)

The Alchemical: Meaning of Masonry and It's Connection to The Black Body

Scientist Abdul Rahim E!

Mental Slavery How They Did It to Us (2-part set)

Dr. Raymond Winbush

Reparations

Dr. Ben, Dr. Welsing, Dr. John H. Clarke

Salute to Black Women

Dr. Ernest Smith

The N*gger Debate

Sis. Suzar

You Come to Power Only When You Come to a Point (2-part set)

Bro. Bobby Hemmitt & Various Speakers

Awakening New Enlightenment (4-part set)

Rev. Phil Valentine

Astrosophic Timeable of the Olmec Maya (2-part set)

Sis Yafaa Bey

How to Survive the Fall of Rome (Amerrikkka) (2-part set)

Madame Butterfly

The New Katrina Catastrophe

Kilindi Lyi

Ancient Gods & The Matrix

C Freeman El

Saturn Rules Capricorn

Bro. Stan

Everything You Wanted to Know About Dreams

Bro. Aseer

Your Moorish & Kemetic Story

At the Brooklyn Museum

Many, Many Muur! (2-part set)

IF YOU HAVE RECEIVED THIS EMAIL MORE THAN ONCE. WE APOLOGIZE IT WAS IN ERROR.

Thank you,
Customer Service

If you want to be removed from this mailing list, send an email with remove in the subject box. The email address must be the original address this email was sent to.

Read the store policy before placing orders with The Nubian Network.
<http://www.blackconsciousness.com/sshop/storepolicy.html>

Win a free gift, ENTER "THE WHO AM I CONTEST"
<http://www.blackconsciousness.com/WhoAmI.html>

Get your groove on, try our boot knockin' and toe curlin', body products!
<http://www.blackconsciousness.com/sshop/mall/html>

Confidentiality Notice:

This e-mail message, including any attachments, is for the sole use of the intended recipient and or credit card holder(s) and may contain confidential and privileged information. Any unauthorized review; use, disclosure or distribution is prohibited. If you are not the intended recipient/credit card holder, please contact the sender by reply e-mail and destroy all copies of the original message.

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24508|2008-01-05 04:12:07|Alex van Deelen|Re: Neocolonialism - Re: Africa Says No|

Re: Neocolonialism - Re: Africa Says No

Posted by: "Peter Gray" atenergy@hotmail.com atenergy2002

Wed Jan 2, 2008 6:48 am (PST)

Hi Peter,

> I was thinking of the political timing --immediately after independence, > it would have been very difficult for Western powers to impose any > kind of punitive measures. I still think Mugabe betrayed Joshua > Nkomo and all Zimbabweans by "delaying" land reform for so > long. It just gave the West time to plan its attempt at reclaiming > Zimbabwe. All the pragmatic factors you mention can't undo > the fortitude of correct political timing.

You also have to wonder why no other African countries did the same thing.

At the same, Zimbabwe was a 'frontline state' until the ANC came to power in 1994. They had occupation and infiltration from South Africa, or the threat thereof, during all that time.

Also, before the ascent of China, they didn't have the access to financing for the comprehensive agrarian reform that they are carrying through now.

Alex

| 24509|2008-01-05 14:25:21|Alex van Deelen|(Black Britain) Dalit Nationalism|

<http://www.blackbritain.co.uk/feature/details/80/Feature/>

Caste discrimination a worldwide problem for all black people and collective resistance is needed to defeat it

23/10/2006 | Race

Deborah Gabriel

The African Diaspora in the Indian subcontinent

A girl from the Yanadi tribal group in South India. Photo courtesy of Global African Presence

When you come to the tribals there is absolutely no controversy regarding the race of these people. They are clearly, physically, Africoid, they are linguistically distinct, religiously distinct;

Horen Tudu, Researcher and Pan Africanist

Few people are aware that India's 160 million untouchables or Dalits are descendants of Africans who once ruled the Indus Valley. But caste discrimination affects all black people, who are regarded as untouchables, even in the US and UK.

It may seem ironic to many that India's untouchable castes known as Dalits, who are despised and condemned in Hindu scriptures for the colour of their skin and who are oppressed and exploited are distant relations to Africans, who were dehumanised in order to justify their enslavement to enrich the West.

But two papers published by African scholar and physicist Cheikh Anta Diop in 1955 and 1967 were translated from French to English and published as : The African Origin of Civilization: Myth or Reality in 1974. In this book, as well as establishing the African origins of Egypt, Diop also revealed that Africans known as Dravidians created the Indus Valley civilization.

Dravidians are a linguistic group under which many different groups fall, but many scholars aside from Diop, including: Chiek Tidiane N Diave, S R Santharam and U.Pupadhyaya Susheela O.Uphadyaya, have found both linguistic and cultural links between Dravidians and Africans.

Diop wrote: ".The Indo-Europeans never created a civilization in their own native lands: the Eurasian plains. The civilizations attributed to them are inevitably located in the heart of Negro countries in the southern part of the northern hemisphere: Egypt, Arabia, Phoenicia, Mesopotamia, Elam, India. In all those lands there were negro civilizations when the Indo-Europeans arrived as rough nomads during the second millennium."

Diop described Dravidians as a type of the black race with: "Black skin, often exceptionally black, with straight hair, aquiline nose, thin lips, an acute cheekbone angle. We find a prototype of this race in India: the Dravidian."

But the real irony of the caste system is that is that it is a corruption of a social system invented by the early African civilizations, according to a 19th century French anthropologist called Francois Lenormant, whom Diop refers to in his book: "The Aryas of India adopted it, borrowed it from the Kushite populations."

Today, the descendants of the Dravidians live under the scourge of what is often referred to as: "India's hidden apartheid." In a 1999 report by Human Rights Watch called: Broken People: Caste Violence Against India's Untouchables, the extent to which the caste system affects the lives of a population almost three times the size of the UK was revealed:

"Untouchables may not cross the line dividing their part of the village from that occupied by higher castes," the report stated. But segregation is just the tip of the iceberg. As well as Dalits being forbidden to worship in the same temples as other castes, from using the same wells, and drinking from the same cups, they are denied land that is legally theirs, made to perform degrading tasks and are often subjected to violence, including the rape of Dalit women.

Horen Tudu was born in Bangladesh into the Santhal tribal group but grew up in the USA. He is a researcher and staunch Pan Africanist who has written extensively about African descendants in the Indian subcontinent. Asked whether Dalits are aware of their African heritage, he told Black Britain: "I do believe that they are starting to understand that the upper caste function from the paradigm of the Indo Europeans and that the Dalits and the tribals themselves are indigenous and that the proto Australoids are African."

But aside from the Dalits, India's tribal groups make up another 84 million of its population. Tudu told Black Britain: "When you come to the tribals there is absolutely no controversy regarding the race of these people. They are clearly, physically, Africoid, they are linguistically distinct, religiously distinct; you can connect their spiritual systems to the spiritual systems in Africa - there is no ambiguity there."

Caste Discrimination affects black people everywhere

Maria Doss at a campaign in Norway.

You have to also understand that most upper caste Hindus view Africans, African Americans or African Caribbeans in the UK as untouchables.

Horen Tudu, Researcher and Pan Africanist

The Bhagwan Valmiki Trust (BVT) is a community organisation based in London which aims to promote development, education and awareness among the Valmiki community in the UK. A Dalit sub-caste, Valmikis are descendants of the sweeping class from the Punjab region of Non-Aryan groups including Greeks that came into the sub-continent. Because of their non-Aryan ancestry they were placed into the lower caste groups. They traditionally carry out menial and degrading jobs such as cleaning toilets, removing human excrement with their bare hands.

Maria Dass, a member of BVT told Black Britain that in India the relationship between Africans and Dalits is really only known among the "intelligentsia", as opposed to the majority of Dalits who are uneducated. He said they had "lost their cultural identity," and see themselves as Indians rather than African descendants. But Dass said that he would welcome an alliance between Africans and Dalits to collectively fight against caste discrimination.

Discrimination against Dalits is not restricted to India and as Dass explained to Black Britain: "Is very much alive in the UK." In July of this year, a report called: No escape: Caste discrimination in the UK, by the Dalit Solidarity Network outlined the extent to which caste discrimination manifests itself in the UK among Indian communities both at school and in the workplace.

Dass told Black Britain: "Even at the hospital where I work as a supervisor I can see clear caste discrimination between two groups." One female worker aged 55 told Dass: "If my son marries from that caste my father will kill me."

He told Black Britain: "That is why we say that caste discrimination is worse than racism, because it is violent and direct but hidden. You cannot see the enemy." Yet higher caste Indians who are often in positions of power are able to exert control over the lives of Dalits living in the UK.

Dass told Black Britain: "If they do employ Dalits it will be on less wages and there is no kind of interaction. Temples are separate; there is no inter-dining or inter-marriage." But he said that even among Dalits themselves there is little interaction. "Bhuddists look down on Ravidassis and Valmikis," he said.

Dass added: "I have been to many places, colleges, churches and ordinary places, campaigning against these issues. we know what we need and what we can do. We try to bring them (Dalits) together."

BVT have been liaising with networks in India and is hoping to establish a Dalit reconciliation centre in the UK in order to unite the various Dalit sub-castes for the purpose of strengthening the Dalits as a whole to collectively fight the caste discrimination that affects them all. Black

Britain asked Dass whether he felt it was important for Dalits to know their history and the origins of the caste system that put them at the bottom of society: "Yes it is very important for our movement," he said.

Tudu pointed out that because of poverty among Dalits in the Indian subcontinent, it tends to be higher castes individuals who actually travel, but wherever they go their socio economic caste system travels with them. He told Black Britain in the USA the first wave of Indian immigrants never interacted with African Americans and: "Always treated them with contempt."

The reason for the hostility is because: "They actually see the Anglo Saxons as super Brahmins or ultra high caste Hindus. within their perverse world view, in terms of social status, race and skin colour. So they have always had this irrational hatred towards the African Americans that the African Americans themselves do not really understand."

Tudu went on to relay a familiar picture in the UK which has caused underlying racial tensions in Birmingham, London and other areas where Asians live in close proximity to Africans and African Caribbeans: "A lot of Indian shopkeepers and other Pakistani groups have come into the US, gone specifically into depressed urban areas and have made money off the local people and treated them very badly. You have to also understand that most upper caste Hindus view Africans, African Americans or African Caribbeans in the UK as untouchables. That's a distinction that must be made."

The important thing to note here is that it is not just Dalit immigrants from the Indian subcontinent who are victims of caste discrimination in the UK and USA but continental Africans, African Caribbeans and African Americans. Citing Hinduism as the basis for this discrimination, Tudu told Black Britain: "It is obsessed with racial purity and the keeping of the race separate in order to also endorse white supremacy."

Caste Discrimination and White supremacy on the Indian subcontinent

Horen Tudu (centre) with other Santhals from the village of Dinajpur in Bangladesh

They actually see the Anglo Saxons as super Brahmins or ultra high caste Hindus. within their perverse world view, in terms of social status, race and skin colour. So they have always had this irrational hatred towards the African Americans...

Horen Tudu, Researcher and Pan Africanist

The legacy of the early Aryan invasion on the Indian subcontinent, much like chattel enslavement has left a legacy of obsession with skin colour. Tudu told Black Britain that Unilever markets a skin bleaching cream called: Fair and Lovely which he noticed on a recent visit to Bangladesh in a television advertisement: "They show this girl with dark skin who can't get a job, can't get married, is doing poorly in her studies and all of a sudden she uses this bleaching cream and her life is much better - and they're marketing this kind of stuff."

Tudu said that the aim of marketing bleaching creams in the region is: "To destroy the self-esteem of the local people." He branded Bollywood as "Openly racist because they don't allow anybody who is dark skinned in there and they are 100 per cent Brahmins." Bollywood producers are "Ashraf Muslim ethnicities who are descendants of non-black people," he said.

Tudu told Black Britain that Pakistanis are also non-black people closely related to people in the Middle East : "And also have contempt for Africans and blacks." Upper caste Indians and Pakistanis have even gone to the extreme of creating their own ethnic group called Desi , because they are so desperate to believe they are Caucasians.

He told Black Britain: "I find this skin colour issue to be very debilitating, if you look at the psychological state of the indigenous people. They are being pounced on in every single way, they are really trying to destroy these people inside out [and] it's very shameful."

In Bangladesh dark skinned, short people assume a lowly status in society, despite the fact that 80 per cent of its population is of that appearance: "But you have individuals of foreign origin who are ruling the country and who are not indigenous to Bangladesh, but they are promoting their white supremacist ideals on the local people," Tudu said.

Bangladeshi women suffer most from self-loathing and a lack of confidence, despising their broad, flat noses and fuller lips and comparing themselves less favourably to the fair-skinned women portrayed in Bollywood movies: "It's very, very sad to see a group of people with so much self-hatred and so much of a lack of consciousness [because] they have no concept of their history," he said.

One form of resistance chosen by Dalits as a means of escape is conversion to Buddhism, an action advocated by Dr B R Ambedkar, an Indian who was born into the Dalit castes who overcame discrimination to become a scholar, lawyer and architect of the Indian constitution as well as the political leader of the Dalits. He was also a Buddhist revivalist who advocated conversion to Buddhism as a means of escaping discrimination.

Diop suggested that Buddha was a black Egyptian priest who was driven out of the City of Memphis by Cambyses. Iniyen Elango, M.D, is the author of a book called Without Malice: The Truth About India . Elango suggests: "Gautama Buddha, the Black revolutionary who founded the egalitarian religion of Buddhism to counter and destroy the bigotry of Hinduism, was a Black prince. But the Hindus highjacked Buddhism and killed Buddhists in large numbers. The Buddhist missionaries fled to other parts of Asia and spread the message of the Buddha in China and other parts of Asia. Those indigenous Dravidians who were loyal to Buddha and resisted the caste system became the untouchable outcastes (Dalits)."

Horen Tudu concurs with this view describing Buddha as a tribal from north-east India: "He protested against this racism coming from the Brahmins and the Hindus and he created his own spiritual system that was for the black people and for the indigenous people there." Tudu also feels that Hindus appropriate these indigenous beliefs, incorporating them into the Hindu system as a means of control by trying to pass off the Buddha as a Hindu god.

Speaking to Black Britain about the reason Dalits choose to convert to Buddhism, Doss explained: : "Today most Dalits feel that they should be Buddhists." But many state governments in India have introduced legislation to prevent Dalits from converting.

Black Britain asked in what way converting to Buddhism would change the fortunes of the Dalits if they remain in the same caste even after conversion. He explained: "As a community of Buddhists together, they are quite different - very strong. It empowers them socially and economically and they would proudly say they are neo-Buddhists." Doss admitted that whilst conversion to other religions "hasn't helped" , conversion to Buddhism "is helping and creating an identity."

Some Dalits, especially in Bangladesh have turned to Islam because of its absence of caste and to escape oppression whilst others have converted to Christianity, sometimes merging it with their indigenous beliefs.

The African influence on Dalit resistance

Given the fact that Dalits are closely related to Africans and that globally Africans are victims of caste discrimination (whether they are aware of it or not) makes them natural allies in resistance of it. Tudu told Black Britain: "If you go to Bangladesh, for example, you'll find in various regions that you cannot distinguish those people from [Africans]. You'll see people darker and more physically African than any person in Sub-Saharan Africa."

He also feels that in terms of the political development of Dalit organisations: "I think you can compare these movements directly to the struggles of the African Americans in particular." Since the 1970s resistance movements modelled on black pride have sprung up all over the Indian subcontinent including the Dalit Panther party, based on the Black Panthers which has several branches.

Tudu told Black Britain: "This kind of consciousness among the Dalits is making the upper castes and Hindu fundamentalist parties very scared." He explained that many people are unaware that the Dalits are descendants of Indian tribals that fought against the Aryans who were later brought into the caste system by force.

But in terms of politicised Dalit groups: "They mentally function from this indigenous African paradigm." Scholars like Runoko Rashidi who is US based is essentially the voice of the Dalits in the US. He has written several books on the subject, most notably African Presence in Early Asia.

Rashidi has worked with many African American scholars including John Henrik Clark as well as other prominent Dalit scholar activists such as V.T Rajshekar. Tudu explained: "There are quite a few Dalit intellectuals who are promoting this African centred belief. In fact, I believe all of them function from an African centred paradigm."

Periyar E.V.Ramasamy is considered the father of the Dravidian Nationalist Movement and founder of Dravidar Kazhagam, the first Dravidian political party in India. He pioneered the idea of self-respect among Dalits: "That is, why should an indigenous person or black person within the Indian subcontinent accept low status within this Aryan supremacist framework? They should have self respect and promote their own identity," Tudu told Black Britain.

Tudu believes that many radical elements in Dalit movements: "Were influenced by the struggles of African Americans," but furthermore that the time is right for a resurgence of Pan Africanism to deal with white supremacy and the oppression of black peoples. Commenting on the way that Marcus Garvey was able to mobilise millions of Africans across the globe in the last century, he told Black Britain:

"We need something like that to unify the world's oppressed and fragmented black masses. If you look at any country in the world, you'll find that the poorest members of the society, the persons that have the lowest social status have African origin."

This particularly applies to indigenous people such as the Africans on the western coast of Mexico who are descendants of slaves and the tribals in India and Bangladeshi who have become victims of oppression in their own country. Commenting on the upper castes in India Tudu remarked: "We regard these people as foreigners. I myself am a direct descendant of the indigenous people - black people of the Indian subcontinent and I consider those individuals to be foreigners and I see all African people worldwide as my brothers and sisters."

Like Doss, Tudu is adamant that resistance and the solutions for black people lies in education of self: "I think the critical effort should be directed toward the education of [our] people. We need to have our own scholars doing this research [and] we need to resurrect our history. We have to know where we come from - all of us worldwide."

Tudu told Black Britain that the ideology of Pan Africanism has a major role to play: "All of us can take credit for each other's accomplishments and that we are one people. That is all African people are one united people, not fragmented based on language or tribe, we're all the same."

| 24510|2008-01-06 13:55:30|shaimesh@aol.com|Watch "Origins, Ancient Rule & Contributions of Nile Valley Civiliza|

From: ramnhru128@yahoo. com

Must See!!!!

Subject: Watch "Origins, Ancient Rule & Contributions of Nile Valley Civilization"

Your friend, ramnhru128@yahoo. com, has sent you the following video:

Origins, Ancient Rule & Contributions of Nile Valley Civilization

1 hr 29 min 37 sec - Nov 17, 2007

Description:In this video you will see who were the authors/architects of the ancient Nile Valley Civilization, where they came from, how they ruled and there contributions, to modern civilization.

Want to see more cool videos?

Go to video.google. com/

Think you have an even cooler video?

Add it at video.google. com/videouploadf orm

If you're having trouble watching the video, try copying the following URL into your browser:
http://video. google.com/ videoplay? docid=6367673988 857194012&pr=goog-sl

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24511|2008-01-06 13:56:32|shaimesh@aol.com|The Late Great Dr. John G. Jackson|

Must See!!!!

----- Forwarded Message -----

From: ramnhru128

To: ramnhru128@yahoo.com

Sent: Sunday, January 6, 2008 11:49:25 AM

Subject: Watch "The Late Great Dr. John G. Jackson"

Your friend, ramnhru128@yahoo.com, has sent you the following video:

The Late Great Dr. John G. Jackson

2 hr 2 min 13 sec - Nov 15, 2007

Average rating:  (2 ratings)

Description: Dr. John Glover Jackson, one of our greatest cultural historians, was born on April 1, 1907 in Aiken, South Carolina. His essays were so impressive, that in 1925, while still a high school student, Jackson was invited to write articles for the Honorable Marcus Garvey's newspaper, the Negro World. In 1934, Jackson coauthored, with Dr. Huggins, "A Guide to the Study of African History". In 1937, also with Dr. Huggins, he wrote Introduction to African Civilizations. In 1939, he authored Ethiopia and the Origin of Civilization, and Pagan Origins of the Christ Myth in 1941, Man, God, and Civilization in 1972, Introduction to African Civilizations in 1974, Christianity Before Christ in 1985, and Ages of Gold and Silver in 1990. Professor Jackson, one of the most remarkable scholars of our time, taught and lectured at colleges and universities throughout the United States and resided, during his last years, in Southside Chicago, Illinois. John Glover Jackson joined the ancestors October 13, 1993.

Want to see more cool videos?

Go to video.google.com/

Think you have an even cooler video?

Add it at video.google.com/videouploadform

If you're having trouble watching the video, try copying the following URL into your browser:

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-4300870738766520910&q=pagan+history+of+christianity&pr=goog-sl>

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24512|2008-01-06 23:12:20|asar_imhotep|Re: The charcoal mound Reply to Mahari|

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

>
> Actually, Asar, I was not referring to the double "a" at the end of > Kwanzaa. I think he may have added the extra "a" to make the word be > composed of 7 letters like the celebration.
> I'll have to check Budge but I was referring to the dictionary and > the word usage of the "aa".
> HTP,
> Mahari
>

While searching for something else, I came across this link that I thought you might be interested in. Although I don't necessarily agree with it, I found it interesting given the recent discussion.

<http://www.resurrectisis.org/A1WebPage.htm>

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24513|2008-01-07 11:39:28|shaimesh@aol.com|THE MOORISH CONQUEST OF SPAIN -

Dedicated to Dr. Scobie|

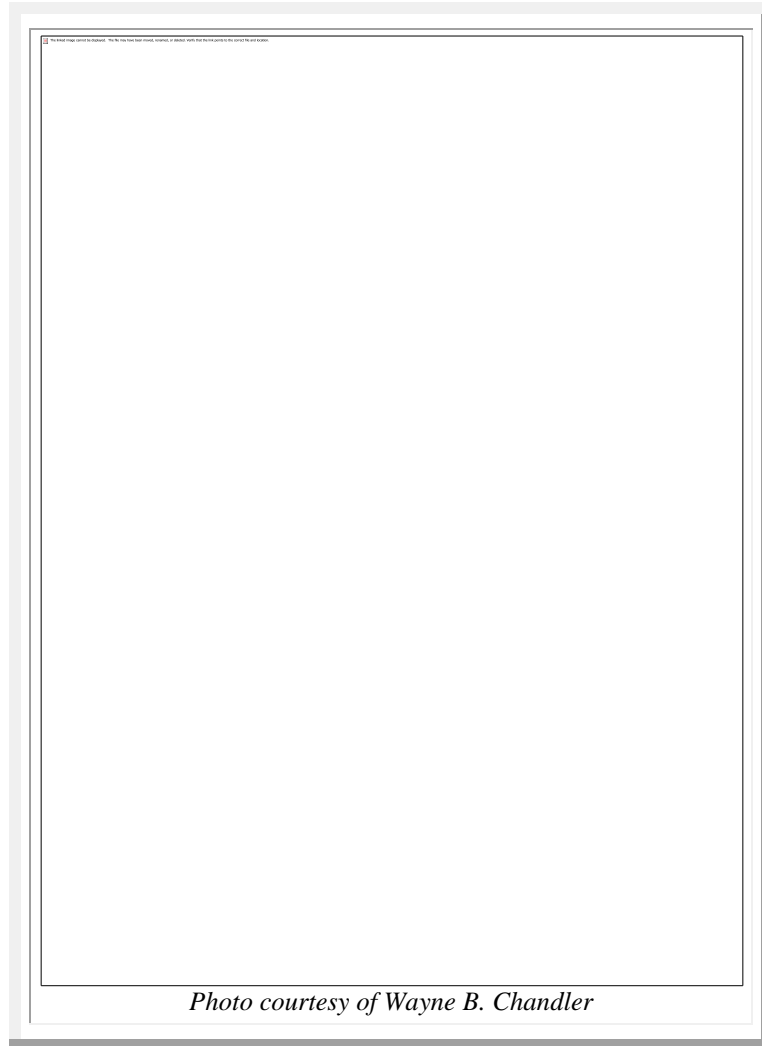

From:kamaurashid1@yahoo.com

<http://www.cwo.com/~lucumi/moors2.html>

THE GLOBAL AFRICAN COMMUNITY

HISTORYNOTES

THE MOORISH CONQUEST OF SPAIN

By RUNOKO RASHIDI

DEDICATED TO DR. EDWARD VIVIAN SCOBIE (ANCESTOR)

Early in the eighth century Moorish soldiers crossed over from Africa to the Iberian peninsula. The man chosen to lead them was General Tarik ibn Ziyad. In 711, the bold Tarik, in command of an army of 10,000 men, crossed the straits and disembarked near a rock promontory which from that day since has borne his name--Djabal Tarik ('Tarik's Mountain'), or Gibraltar. In August 711, Tarik won paramount victory over the opposing European army. On the eve of the battle, Tarik is alleged to have roused his troops with the following words:

"My brethren, the enemy is before you, the sea is behind; whither would ye fly? Follow your general; I am resolved either to lose my life or to trample on the prostrate king of the Romans."

Wasting no time to relish his victory, Tarik pushed on with his dashing and seemingly tireless Moorish cavalry to the Spanish city of Toledo. Within a month's time, General Tarik ibn Ziyad had effectively terminated European dominance of the Iberian peninsula. Musa ibn Nusayr, Arab governor of North Africa, joined Tarik in Spain and helped complete the conquest of Iberia with an army of 18,000 men. The two commanders met in Talavera, where the Moors were given the task of subduing the northwest of Spain. With vigor and speed they set about their mission, and within three months they had swept the entire territory north of the Ebro River as far as the Pyrenees Mountains and annexed the turbulent Basque country.

In the aftermath of these brilliant struggles, thousands of Moors flooded into the Iberian peninsula. So eager were they to come that some are said to have floated over on tree-trunks. Tarik himself, at the conclusion of his illustrious military career, retired to the distant East, we are informed, to spread the teachings of Islam.

SOURCES

Golden Age Of The Moor*, Edited by Ivan Van Sertima

The Story Of The Moors In Spain*, by Stanley Lane-Poole

Also see: THE MOORS IN EUROPE

and: THE INFLUENCE OF THE MOORS IN SPAIN AND PORTUGAL

and: THE MOORS IN ANTIQUITY: A BIBLIOGRAPHY

Return to the GLOBAL AFRICAN PRESENCE Home Page

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24514|2008-01-07 11:55:36|Peter Gray|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or ifshe's even finished it yet?

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

From: vrainette@yahoo.com

Date: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian

I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.

cristofori whitakara wrote:

Htp:

Share this and share your perspectives.

Remain in Ma'at,

Dr. Chenzira

TODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006

An Essay through PHOTOS

by Kola Boof

About a year ago,
one of my uncles wrote to me from Egypt, quite bitterly.
He said:

People are so busy discussing
and fighting over whether or not
the ancient Egyptians were "black"
---that they forgot we're still here.

We still exist.

The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL of us yet.

Kola, you live in America, you're somebody over there. Why don't you say something?

You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right.

Your father was an Egyptian.

And he's right. Because of my own bitterness...my hatred and loathing
for my father's country...I have been remiss to mention anything about the country.

My only real memory is a very painful one...the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs after my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal in EGYPT)...because of course, my black skin would have exposed her --Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set.

BUT my uncle is right. The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead of debating about the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones?

Why is it that in America--only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on television or in magazines?

Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa?

Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIAN Black people---photos that are NOW TODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.

If I had not been put up for adoption by my colorstruck Egyptian grandmother ---I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful people in the world---my Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.

And I would be somewhere
on the Nile River,
and like all other BLACK people of
Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.

But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful

....because as my good friend,
Derrick Bell pointed out to me
---AMERICA doesn't want any image
that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick
told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because
I am too black and my hair is NAPPY
as the Black Americans say. I am not
the right "image"

....and just like they WHITENED
the recent exhibition of KING TUT
when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,
we know full well that the CHARCOAL
Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother

and just like they fought against the Scientists
who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI
only to discover that she was a dark
brown black woman....

The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT
being represented by those of us who are BLACK.

For those Egyptians reading
this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise
you that I have been treated like trash

by the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance they could slander it.

I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people....and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face now.

ANWAR SADAT:

Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian.

Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man".

He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab.

His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law ---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE.

Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploing me to speak up for the Black Egyptians.

You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair.

I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected.

When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile Riverthey are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrkhan.

The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEPI".

Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are.

When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it.

Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so colorstruck- --they still bedammed me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine.

But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith.

Although the Sahara desert sun no longer
blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful.

I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor
have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people.
And I promise you...that in my Autobiography,
I have done all that I can to tell our experience,
our truth...and to make us less invisible.

Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !!

tima usrah (through fire comes the family)

Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl"

<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>
(<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>)

AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS:
THE PROOF

By Kola Boof

I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.

PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman.
Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair".

And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man.

And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously.

Truly, in America, you begin to understand it.

As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person.

Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.

PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.

And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation.

Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black

African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely

Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.

If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman;

authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed.

You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.

America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it.

They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic.

They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness.

So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.

We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.

And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it.

Worldwide NiggerStock

Black Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is.

Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human.

Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

THE AUTHENTIC BLACK

People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test.

But I don't care about failing the test.

Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino.

In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to.

Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.

It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White.

Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years.

And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1.

So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable.

Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same.

If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.

And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us.

The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.

And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.

And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.

We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.

Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.

As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle.

Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.

And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa

Africa...must not perish.

this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof 🌹

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live. Start now!
| 24515|2008-01-07 13:39:41|cristofori whitakara|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.

Peter Gray wrote:

Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or ifshe's even finished it yet?

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: vrainette@yahoo. com
Date: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian

I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.

crisfori whitakara wrote:
Htp:

Share this and share your perspectives.
Remain in Ma'at,
Dr. Chenzira

TODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006

An Essay through PHOTOS

by Kola Boof

About a year ago,
one of my uncles wrote to me from Egypt, quite bitterly.
He said:

People are so busy discussing
and fighting over whether or not
the ancient Egyptians were "black"
---that they forgot we're still here.

We still exist.

The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL of us yet.

Kola, you live in America, you're somebody over there. Why don't you say something?

You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right.

Your father was an Egyptian.

And he's right. Because of my own bitterness.. my hatred and loathing for my father's country...I have been remiss to mention anything about the country.

My only real memory is a very painful one...the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs after my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal in EGYPT)...because of course, my black skin would have exposed her --Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set.

BUT my uncle is right.
The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead of debating about the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones?

Why is it that in America--only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on television or in magazines?

Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa?

Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIAN Black people---photos that are NOW TODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.

If I had not been
put up for adoption by my colorstruck Egyptian grandmother
---I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful
people in the world---my Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.

And I would be somewhere
on the Nile River,
and like all other BLACK people of
Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.

But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful

....because as my good friend,
Derrick Bell pointed out to me
---AMERICA doesn't want any image
that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick
told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because
I am too black and my hair is NAPPY
as the Black Americans say. I am not
the right "image"

....and just like they WHITENED
the recent exhibition of KING TUT
when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,
we know full well that the CHARCOAL
Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother

and just like they fought against the Scientists
who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI
only to discover that she was a dark
brown black woman....

The Americans are very

racist against the idea of EGYPT
being represented by those of us who are BLACK.

For those Egyptians reading
this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise
you that I have been treated like trash
by the American media---and because of
the controversies surrounding my life,
they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name
with every chance they could slander it.

I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that
we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African immigrants
have wanted to believe. They are not honest
people....and as they have falsely branded me
a LIAR...I know their real face now.

ANWAR SADAT:

Like me, our late Black Egyptian President
Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian.

Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of
"black man".

He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab.

His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law
---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put
in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice the
Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARAB
....and especially to support PALESTINE.

Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploing me to speak up for the Black Egyptians.

You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair.

I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected.

When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile Riverthey are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrkhan.

The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEPE".

Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are.

When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it.

Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so colorstruck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine.

But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL
Naima Bint Harith.

Although the Sahara desert sun no longer
blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful.

I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor
have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people.
And I promise you...that in my Autobiography,
I have done all that I can to tell our experience,
our truth...and to make us less invisble.

Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !!

tima usrah (through fire comes the family)

Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl"

<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>
(<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>)

AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS:
THE PROOF

By Kola Boof

I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.

PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair".

And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man.

And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously.

Truly, in America, you begin to understand it.

As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person.

Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.

PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.

And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation.

Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black

African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely

Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.

If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman;

authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed.

You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon

Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.

America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it.

They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic.

They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness.

So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.

We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.

And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it.

Worldwide NiggerStock

Black Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is.

Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human.

Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

THE AUTHENTIC BLACK

People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test.

But I don't care about failing the test.

Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino.

In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to.

Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.

It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White.

Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years.

And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1.

So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable.

Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same.

If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.

And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us.

The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.

And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America)....and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.

And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.

We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.

Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.

As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle.

Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.

And black children are beautiful... .to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa

Africa...must not perish.

this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now!

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24516|2008-01-07 13:47:50|cristofori whitakara|Re: THE MOORISH CONQUEST OF SPAIN
- Dedicated to Dr. Scobie|
is he holding a "firestick"?

shaimesh@aol.com wrote:

From:kamaurashid1@yahoo.com
<http://www.cwo.com/~lucumi/moors2.html>

THE GLOBAL AFRICAN COMMUNITY
HISTORY NOTES

THE MOORISH CONQUEST OF SPAIN

By RUNOKO RASHIDI

DEDICATED TO DR. EDWARD VIVIAN SCOBIE (ANCESTOR)

Early in the eighth century Moorish soldiers crossed over from Africa to the Iberian peninsula. The man chosen to lead them was General Tarik ibn Ziyad. In 711, the bold Tarik, in command of an army of 10,000 men, crossed the straits and disembarked near a rock promontory which from that day since has borne his name--Djabal Tarik ('Tarik's Mountain'), or Gibraltar. In August 711, Tarik won paramount victory over the opposing European army. On the eve of the battle, Tarik is alleged to have roused his troops with the following words: "My brethren, the enemy is before you, the sea is behind; whither would ye fly? Follow your general; I am resolved either to lose my life or to trample on the prostrate king of the Romans." Wasting no time to relish his victory, Tarik pushed on with his dashing and seemingly tireless Moorish cavalry to the Spanish city of Toledo. Within a month's time, General Tarik ibn Ziyad had effectively terminated European dominance of the Iberian peninsula. Musa ibn Nusayr, Arab governor of North Africa, joined Tarik in Spain and helped complete the conquest of Iberia with an army of 18,000 men. The two commanders met in Talavera, where the Moors were given the task of subduing the northwest of Spain. With vigor and speed they set about their mission, and within three months they had swept the entire territory north of the Ebro River as far as the Pyrenees Mountains and annexed the turbulent Basque country. In the aftermath of these brilliant struggles, thousands of Moors flooded into the Iberian peninsula. So eager were they to come that some are said to have floated over on tree-trunks. Tarik himself, at the conclusion of his illustrious military career, retired to the distant East, we are informed, to spread the teachings of Islam.

SOURCES

Golden Age Of The Moor*, Edited by Ivan Van Sertima

The Story Of The Moors In Spain*, by Stanley Lane-Poole

Also see: THE MOORS IN EUROPE

and: THE INFLUENCE OF THE MOORS IN SPAIN AND PORTUGAL

and: THE MOORS IN ANTIQUITY: A BIBLIOGRAPHY

Return to the GLOBAL AFRICAN PRESENCE Home Page

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24517|2008-01-07 19:53:23|Paul Kekai Manansala|Last of the ancient wonders|

For thousands of years, the riddle of the Pyramids has puzzled observers. Assem Deif looks to the skies for an answer

- Front Page
- Egypt
- Region
- Economy
- International
- Opinion
- Press review
- Culture
- Special
- Heritage
- Living
- Sports
- Cartoons
- People
- Listings
- BOOKS
- TRAVEL
- Site map

Speaking of Egypt, it is the Pyramids that spring to mind. Their grandeur, their mystery and their architecture have caused more debate than any other structure on Earth. Since the time of Herodotus geographers and historians have tried to solve their riddles. The Great Pyramid of Khufu, in particular, has a design so striking that some thought only a deity could have created it. No wonder it was listed as one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World.

Click to view caption

Giza Pyramids; Pyramids text; Egyptian deity; canopic jars

Despite their size, the precise number of pyramids in Egypt remains unknown. Pyramidal structures that were demolished or hidden under the sand are constantly being found, and Egyptologists now put their number at about 100. There are thought to be some 28 pyramid complexes dating from the third to the sixth dynasties, all standing along a narrow stretch of the desert from Abu Ruwash south to Meidum. No two of them, whether from their external appearance or their internal system, are alike.

One can divide the pyramids of Egypt into geographical groups. Ten groups are at the ancient city of Memphis. Others are at Abu Ruwash, the Giza Plateau, Abu Sir, Saqqara, Dahshour (in which lie the two pyramids of Sneferu, Khufu's father and founder of the Fourth Dynasty) and finally Meidum, which probably also belonged to Sneferu although its construction began in the reign of his father, Huni. A further few pyramids are found in Upper Egypt.

Historians and Egyptologists have come up with a unified theory explaining how and why pyramids were built, but they differ on both issues. They cannot explain, either, why they were not erected in one centralised place instead of being dispersed.

Why did the builders choose the pyramidal shape? Some Egyptologists refer to it as a solar symbol with a similarity to sunrays, linking the Pharaoh with his home the sun. This view was put forward by Alexander Moret, who said: "The beams of the sun pierce the clouds and let down to earth a ladder of rays." Others emphasised the merit of the number four in reference to the four corners and faces of a quadrilateral pyramid. The number had a sacred nature in most of ancient mythologies. It refers to the number of cardinal points, the four elements from which the universe is composed (water, earth, air and fire), the children of Nut and the sons of Horus, the names of which match with the four canopic jars containing the viscera of the deceased. In Egyptian mythology, however, one can always find enough pretexts to ascertain the divinity of any number.

Egyptologists finally decided that the pyramidal shape was no more than the ben-ben stone on a giant scale. The ben-ben once surmounted the pillar of Atum in the Sun Temple of the Phoenix at Heliopolis; it was considered the "divine seed" of the prodigal cosmic bird. It was suggested that the relic was a meteorite that had fallen from heaven and was considered sacred. A small pyramidion was placed on the top of all obelisks and pyramids.

It is not difficult to find the reason for the pyramidal shape. The structure represents just one point in the long continuum of the evolution of tomb design that began with the mastaba shape in the pre-dynastic era, followed by the layered mastabas of the Step Pyramid, Sneferu's Pyramid at Meidum -- a step pyramid like Djoser's but superimposed with a second pyramid of eight steps -- and then by a third building phase whereby it was transformed into the pyramid type we know now. The last was the outcome of a series of experimental trials to reach the optimal shape of the Fourth Dynasty.

Pyramids are a natural shape. The design is simple; they are easily built, aesthetically pleasing, and stable, especially in buildings of great height. Thus from an engineering standpoint the pyramid shape makes sense, and above all has the advantage of satisfying man's basic need to imitate familiar hills and mountains. This explains why pyramids are so common throughout the world, without entailing cultural contact.

Again, if the pyramids were meant to be tombs, as we shall see in a while, and considering that the ancient Egyptians' religion was a sun-cult as well as a star-cult; associating the king's rebirth with the Sun (Ra), Orion (Osiris) and Sirius (Sothis), with whom the king is united after death, then the Egyptians would need to erect their tombs in the form of a pyramid in order to receive the maximum amount of rays, or blessings, falling from these three gods as they traverse the sky. However, the first rises in the east while the second and third culminate due south; so by adding further steps to the early mastaba the ancients ended up with a pyramidal shape able to maximise the rays. One can also say that, from the ideological point of view, the evolution from the mastaba to the Step Pyramid, i.e. from primordial mound of the Sun to a celestial ladder to the stars, reflects the increased importance of the stellar destiny or terminus of the divine king. This is exemplified in the Pyramid Texts found at Saqqara. Here is a passage taken from the pyramid of the Sixth-Dynasty king Pepi I, in which the gods Horus and Seth are urged to help the king by taking him by the hand and leading him to the sky to sit among the stars. Eventually, the king becomes a star:

"Who shall live lives by the gods' command. You shall live! You shall rise with Orion in the eastern sky. You shall set with Orion in the western sky. Your third is Sothis, pure of thrones. She is your guide on the sky's good paths."

While Egyptologists take the view that the pyramids served as tombs, others claim they were stellar observatories or stores of hidden knowledge. Those in favour of the latter view ask why a king like Sneferu would want to build two tombs. Another king, Amenemhet III, had two pyramids built for himself, one at Dahshour containing a granite sarcophagus and one at Hawara containing a quartzite sarcophagus. Were the pyramids meant not as literal tombs, but rather cenotaphs?

Again, there is more than one incident in which the sarcophagi of kings and queens were discovered inside their pyramids. The wooden sarcophagus of Menkaura of the Fourth Dynasty, was found in the third pyramid in the Giza Plateau with remains, presumably of the king, still in place. The cover bore the sentence "Osiris, the king of Lower and Upper Egypt, Menkaura, son of Nout and the descendant of Geb and his beloved, you shall have an eternal life." The mummy of Queen Ipwet, mother of Pepi I, was found in her burial chamber. The thieves did not waste time with opening the sarcophagus. They dug a hole to steal the contents but left her coffin intact inside a second wooden sarcophagus, her bracelet still on her right arm along with parts of her necklace. And while Queen Hetepheres's sarcophagus in a subsidiary pyramid at Giza was empty, the canopic jars containing her viscera were still in place among her intact funerary items.

The view that the pyramids were tombs was therefore endorsed by a number of scholars. Some suggested the pyramids had sloping sides so the dead Pharaoh could symbolically climb to the sky and live forever. They even inferred that the mastaba structure of the Step Pyramid, the first known pyramid, was a symbolic staircase. The Bible says: 'Let us build us a city and a tower whose top may reach unto heaven.' Although this refers to the gardens of Babylon, the concept is the same.

Yet the pyramids represent only one element in the pyramid complex. Others included small pyramids for queens, a mortuary temple, a valley temple connected by a causeway, offering shrines, funerary boat pits and mastaba tombs for family members and nobles. The walled complex constituted only one part of an integrated necropolis, and its location was another indication that the pyramid was intended as a tomb.

According to Breasted, the Papyrus of Abbott describes regular inspections of sepulchres of former kings in the reign of Ramses IX. A report on the pyramid of Sobekemsaf II of the 17th Dynasty stated: "It was found that the thieves had broken into it... The burial place of the king was found void of the king as well as the burial place of the king's wife Nubkhas; the thieves having laid their hand upon them."

Thus it was usual to consider the pyramids as tombs for kings, not as temples for worshipping the god Osiris, or granaries, or even stellar observatories. But why did the ancient Egyptians build such huge monuments if they were meant only as tombs? Did they really need to erect a structure 147m high to bury a king? Did it stem from the depth of their religion? Herodotus (485- 425 BC) had a say on this:

"The Egyptians are religious to excess beyond any other nation in the world... they are meticulous in everything which concerns their religion... It was only the day before yesterday that the Greeks came to know the origin and form of the various gods... The names of all the gods came to Greece from Egypt..."

An ancient Egyptian would never call the dead "deceased", but rather the "glorified" or, according to the Christian Egyptians of today, "the groom [or bride] of heaven". One experiences not life and afterlife, but a first and second life. Life is a transitory period, whereas the second life is eternal and worth making an effort for.

People obsessed with the afterlife would clearly consider that a private tomb was not less important than a house, and perhaps more. Mud- brick for the transitory lifetime, stone for the eternal afterlife. We cannot locate the palaces of the Pharaohs, yet their pyramids and temples have endured the ravages of time. Khufu's son Hardjedef expressed it neatly: 'The house of death is for life.' Nor were the men who built the pyramids slaves, as was once thought, but contributors to the house of eternity for their divine ruler, the manifestation of the gods on earth. "Set up for me a tower that I may ascend to Moses's God..." the Pharaoh told the envoy sent by Moses. "I am your supreme god." This quotation from the Quran suggests that even in the time of Moses, long after pyramid building had ceased, their original use was remembered.

All Egyptologists agree that the pyramids were intended as places of ascension and transformation of the king's soul. Khufu called his pyramid akhet, meaning the place of becoming an akh (spirit) . This is verified in the Pyramid Texts, funerary inscriptions serving as resurrection rituals that adorn the interior of several Old Kingdom pyramids. Egyptologists consider them the oldest collection of sacred texts known to us from ancient Egypt, if not the whole world, and put their number to 800 spells covering some 4,000 lines, according to Maspero who first collected them and Faulkner who translated them in 1969. The passages found in the Pyramid Texts suggest that they eventually evolved into the Coffin Texts and later in the Book of Going Forth by Day, known as the Book of the Dead, which was placed with the deceased. It was remarked that no single pyramid ever contained the whole collection of spells. Altogether there are some 10 pyramids containing Pyramid Texts, the earliest texts being at Saqqara in the pyramids of Unas and Teti where some 227 spells were found in the first pyramid alone. The pyramids built prior to these dates were puzzling monuments, revealing a little information; which led Maspero to announce in 1880, after entering the first to contain texts: "Thus spoke the dumb pyramids."

The main theme of the texts is the king's resurrection in the afterworld by identifying himself with the god Osiris, lord of the underworld. Whether the king boards the sun-boat of Ra or reaches the sky by flying like a bird or climbing a ladder, all texts emphasise one common theme: his eternal afterlife. In other words, the texts provide every possible service to the deceased king on his ascent and his reception in the world of the divine. This excerpt from the pyramid of Unas expresses a plea for the king to overcome death:

"Unas lives! He is not dead! He has not been judged! He judges! You have gone alive to sit on the throne of Osiris. You are to purify yourself with the cool water of the stars, and you will climb down upon ropes of brass, on the arms of Horus, the imperishable stars have carried you. Enter then into the place where your father is, where Geb is! Your son comes to you, both of you may stride over the sky, united in darkness, that you may rise on the horizon in the place where you like to be... The messengers of Ra have come to you. Go after your sun! ..."

The tomb was seen as an instrument of rebirth where the king's body entered into the starry body of Nut in the west so that he might be resurrected, like Ra, on the eastern horizon. The texts on the north and south walls begin in the west and read to the east; i.e. in accordance with the daily movement of the Sun, which "dies" in the west and is "reborn" in the east. According to J Allen, the direction of the texts matches the soul's path through the tomb, moving from the innermost part of the sarcophagus chamber in the west (duat) through the antechamber (akhet) to the outside of the pyramid, then flying through the corridors to be released into the light ("Going Forth by Day") to the northern circumpolar stars. The spells consequently fall into three main groups with their location dictated by their functions: offering and insignia spells on the north wall of the burial chamber; resurrection spells on its south wall and finally mourning spells in eastern locations in order to awaken the deceased. The Pyramid Texts represent the boundaries of the cosmos, whereas the movement from south to north is only an imitation of the Nile stream.

This layout of the tomb complex is equally valid for the Great Pyramid. While in the Fourth Dynasty no spells were inscribed on the walls, the arrangement of the chamber systems portrayed the same architectural metaphors. This led some authors to propose that Khufu's Pyramid was the Book of the Dead symbolised in stones.

From the Fourth Dynasty, the king was addressed as "Son of Ra". Other names were Ntr and Nfr, meaning the complete god. Sometimes he was called Horus or Khunum. When the king died the godhead passed to the next reigning king, whereas his ba (soul) was united with Osiris, Horus's divine father. So while Horus was the ruler in the land of the living, Osiris ruled the land of the dead.

From earliest times the ancient Egyptian religion was both a sun-cult and a star-cult. Like Horus, Ra was god of the living. According to I E S Edwards, Ra and Osiris shared a common feature: Osiris was brought back to life after being murdered by his brother Seth, while Ra disappeared daily beneath the western horizon but was reborn each morning. In these two events the ancient Egyptians found reason to hope for their own survival.

In trying to reach a unified theory on the issue of the afterlife in ancient Egypt, scientists reached vague and ambiguous conclusions. They speak of a star-destiny in which the king is transformed into an eternal star, and a solar destiny in which he followed the god Ra to be reborn likewise, and finally an Osiris destiny in which he impersonated Osiris and was resurrected. It seems to me that this misses the point. According to the Pyramid Texts, he also frequents other places or is transformed into other gods. Eventually he achieves a kind of unification with the cosmos. Ancient Egypt, as Thomas Mann remarked, is a country where "the gods die and the dead are gods", which applied to Ra and Osiris and equally to the stars. Eternity was therefore the diffusion into the whole of the universe.

 The writer is a professor of mathematics at Cairo University and MISR University for Sciences and Technology.*

Copyright Al-Ahram Weekly. All rights reserved

| 24518|2008-01-08 03:58:09|DaniloN|[Czech Egyptologists uncover intact 4500 year-old tomb]|
Czech Egyptologists uncover intact 4500 year-old tomb

Radio Prague - Prague, Czech Republic

That is exactly what happened in the pyramid fields of Abusir, Egypt, where Czech experts recently opened a tomb belonging to an Egyptian dignitary. ...

-- Danilo

| 24519|2008-01-08 07:07:36|Peter Gray|Re: THE MOORISH CONQUEST OF SPAIN -
Dedicated to Dr. Scobie|

I would like to know what/who the photo is of. Does anyone know where Wayne Chandler got the original image? Thanks.

Peter

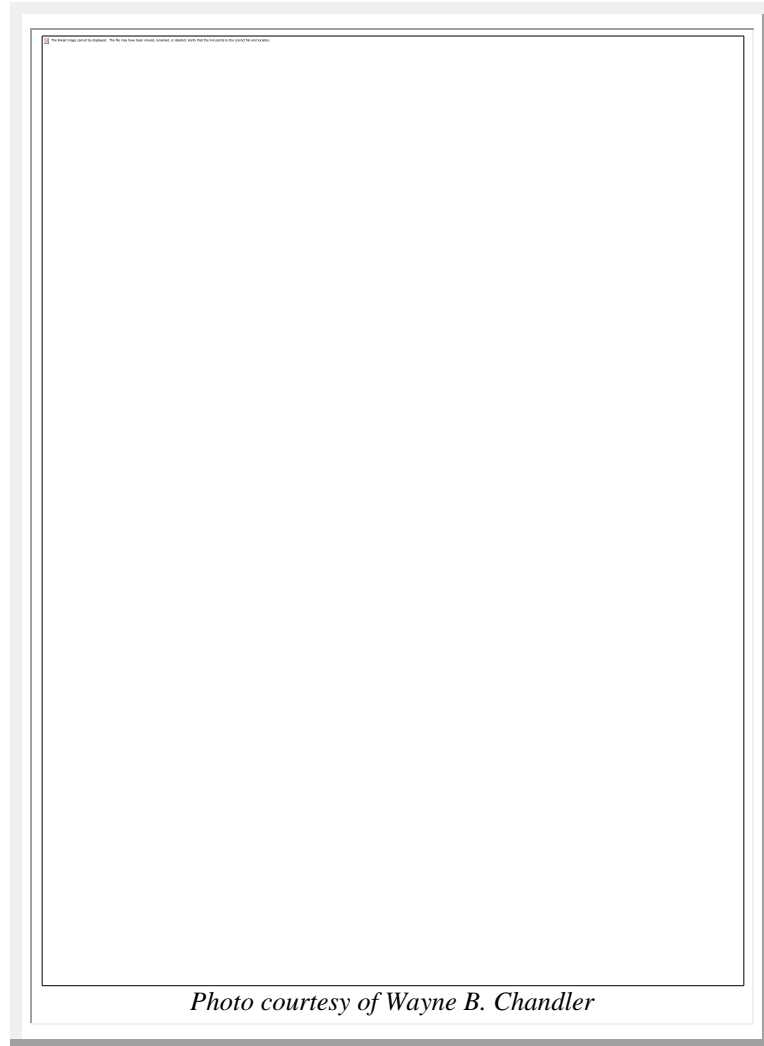

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com
Date: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:47:48 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] THE MOORISH CONQUEST OF SPAIN - Dedicated to Dr. Scobie

is he holding a "firestick"?

shaimesh@aol.com wrote:

From: kamaurashid1@yahoo.com
<http://www.cwo.com/~lucumi/moors2.html>

THE GLOBAL AFRICAN COMMUNITY
HISTORY NOTES
THE MOORISH CONQUEST OF SPAIN

By RUNOKO RASHIDI

DEDICATED TO DR. EDWARD VIVIAN SCOBIE (ANCESTOR)

Early in the eighth century Moorish soldiers crossed over from Africa to the Iberian peninsula. The man chosen to lead them was General Tarik ibn Ziyad. In 711, the bold Tarik, in command of an army of 10,000 men, crossed the straits and disembarked near a rock promontory which from that day since has borne his name--Djabal Tarik ('Tarik's Mountain'), or Gibraltar. In August 711, Tarik won paramount victory over the opposing European army. On the eve of the battle, Tarik is alleged to have roused his troops with the following words:

"My brethren, the enemy is before you, the sea is behind; whither would ye fly? Follow your general; I am resolved either to lose my life or to trample on the prostrate king of the Romans."

Wasting no time to relish his victory, Tarik pushed on with his dashing and seemingly tireless Moorish cavalry to the Spanish city of Toledo. Within a month's time, General Tarik ibn Ziyad had effectively terminated European dominance of the Iberian peninsula. Musa ibn Nusayr, Arab governor of North Africa, joined Tarik in Spain and helped complete the conquest of Iberia with an army of 18,000 men. The two commanders met in Talavera, where the Moors were given the task of subduing the northwest of Spain.

With vigor and speed they set about their mission, and within three months they had swept the entire territory north of the Ebro River as far as the Pyrenees Mountains and annexed the turbulent Basque country.

In the aftermath of these brilliant struggles, thousands of Moors flooded into the Iberian peninsula. So eager were they to come that some are said to have floated over on tree-trunks. Tarik himself, at the conclusion of his illustrious military career, retired to the distant East, we are informed, to spread the teachings of Islam.

SOURCES

Golden Age Of The Moor*, Edited by Ivan Van Sertima

The Story Of The Moors In Spain*, by Stanley Lane-Poole

Also see: THE MOORS IN EUROPE

and: THE INFLUENCE OF THE MOORS IN SPAIN AND PORTUGAL

and: THE MOORS IN ANTIQUITY: A BIBLIOGRAPHY

Return to the GLOBAL AFRICAN PRESENCE Home Page

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live. Get it now!
| 24520|2008-01-08 07:17:07|Peter Gray|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
Thanks. I'll try googling the title.

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com
Date: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -0800
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian

if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.

Peter Gray wrote:

Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or ifshe's even finished it yet?

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: vrainette@yahoo. com
Date: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian

I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.

cristofori whitakara wrote:
Htp:

Share this and share your perspectives.
Remain in Ma'at,
Dr. Chenzira

TODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006

An Essay through PHOTOS

by Kola Boof

About a year ago,
one of my uncles wrote to me from Egypt, quite bitterly.
He said:

People are so busy discussing
and fighting over whether or not
the ancient Egyptians were "black"
---that they forgot we're still here.

We still exist.

The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL of us yet.

Kola, you live in America, you're somebody over there. Why don't you say something?

You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right.

Your father was an Egyptian.

And he's right. Because of my own bitterness.. my hatred and loathing for my father's country...I have been remiss to mention anything about the country.

My only real memory is a very painful one...the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs after my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal in EGYPT)...because of course, my black skin would have exposed her --Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set.

BUT my uncle is right. The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead of debating about the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones?

Why is it that in America--only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on television or in magazines?

Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa?

Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIAN Black people---photos that are NOW TODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.

If I had not been
put up for adoption by my colorstruck Egyptian grandmother
---I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful
people in the world---my Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.

And I would be somewhere
on the Nile River,
and like all other BLACK people of
Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.

But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful

....because as my good friend,
Derrick Bell pointed out to me
---AMERICA doesn't want any image
that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick
told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because
I am too black and my hair is NAPPY
as the Black Americans say. I am not
the right "image"

....and just like they WHITENED
the recent exhibition of KING TUT
when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,
we know full well that the CHARCOAL
Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother

and just like they fought against the Scientists
who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI
only to discover that she was a dark
brown black woman....

The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT

being represented by those of us who are BLACK.

For those Egyptians reading
this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise
you that I have been treated like trash
by the American media---and because of
the controversies surrounding my life,
they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name
with every chance they could slander it.

I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that
we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African immigrants
have wanted to believe. They are not honest
people....and as they have falsely branded me
a LIAR...I know their real face now.

ANWAR SADAT:

Like me, our late Black Egyptian President
Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian.

Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of
"black man".

He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab.

His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law
---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put
in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice the
Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARAB
....and especially to support PALESTINE.

Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploing me to speak up for the Black Egyptians.

You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair.

I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected.

When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile Riverthey are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrkhan.

The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEPI".

Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are.

When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it.

Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the

Palestinians are so colorstruck- --they still bedammed me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine.

But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL
Naima Bint Harith.

Although the Sahara desert sun no longer
blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful.

I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor
have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people.
And I promise you...that in my Autobiography,
I have done all that I can to tell our experience,
our truth...and to make us less invisible.

Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !!

tima usrah (through fire comes the family)

Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl"

<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>
(<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>)

AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS:
THE PROOF

By Kola Boof

I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.

PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman.
Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair".

And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black

man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man.

And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously.

Truly, in America, you begin to understand it.

As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person.

Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.

PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.

And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive

as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation.

Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black

African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting

mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely

Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.

If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman;

authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed.

You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon

Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.

America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it.

They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic.

They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness.

So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.

We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.

And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it.

Worldwide NiggerStock

Black Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is.

Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human.

Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

THE AUTHENTIC BLACK

People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test.

But I don't care about failing the test.

Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino.

In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to.

Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.

It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White.

Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years.

And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1.

So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable.

Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same.

If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.

And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us.

The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.

And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps.

The one true hair.

And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.

We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.

Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.

As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle.

Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.

And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa

Africa...must not perish.

this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof 🌹

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live. Start now!

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live. Get it now!
| 24521|2008-01-08 10:43:20|asar_imhotep|Language Classification by Numbers|
Hutuapo Phamily

I am currently reading a book called Language Classification by Numbers - Oxford Linguistics written by April McMahon and Robert McMahon. I wanted to know if anyone has read this and what are your opinions of the work? I am currently on the second chapter. A book description follows for those unfamiliar with the work.

Book Description

This book considers how languages have traditionally been divided into families, and asks how they should be classified in the future. It describes and applies computer programs from biology and evolutionary genetics to data about languages and shows how the power of the computer can be harnessed to throw light on long-standing problems in historical linguistics. It tests current theories and hypotheses, shows how new ideas can be formulated, and offers a series of demonstrations that the new techniques applied to old data can produce convincing results that are sometimes startlingly at odds with accepted wisdom. April and Robert McMahon combine the expertise and perspectives of an historical linguist and a geneticist. They analyse the links between linguistic and population genetics, and consider how far language can be used to discover and understand the histories and interrelations of human populations. They explore the origins and formation of the Indo-European languages and examine less well studied languages in South America. Their book will be of great practical importance to students and researchers in historical and comparative linguistics and will interest all those concerned with the classification and diffusion of languages in fields such as archaeology, genetics, and anthropology. Its approachable style will appeal to general readers seeking to know more about the relationship between linguistic and human history.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24522|2008-01-08 14:12:00|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Onipa Abusia Nana Asuo Gyebi Festival 2008|

Onipa Abusia wrote:

From: "Onipa Abusia"
Subject: Onipa Abusia Nana Asuo Gyebi Festival 2008
Date: Mon, 07 Jan 2008 09:40:17 -0500

Nana Asuo Gyebi Festival

Saturday, January 12, 2008 8PM

Onipa Abusia
92-15 172nd Street
Jamaica, New York

All are welcome to attend the annual Nana Asuo Gyebi Festival hosted by Onipa Abusia, an Akan religious and cultural organization. Nana Asuo Gyebi is a healer and protector who is just and benevolent. He helps all who seek his aid. Join us in this celebration as we pay homage to this venerable deity. The Akan tradition is from Ghana, West Africa.

Prayers and gifts will be received by Nana Asuo Gyebi following the festival. Suggested offerings include fruit, Gordon's Gin, money, orange soda or hard candies. No cola or pork products please.

The Reading of the Year for 2008 will be presented at the festival.

Onipa charts a bus from Washington, D.C. to New York. Seats go fast!
Email onipaabusia@hotmail.com for details or call 202-529-3635.

Public transportation

Take LIRR to Jamaica Station (buy $3 "City ticket" from Flatbush or Penn Stations); take Q30/Q31 bus on Archer Avenue or Q54/Q56 bus on Jamaica Avenue to 170th. Cabs are also available at the station.

"E" or "J" train to Parsons & Archer; then take the Jamaica Avenue Q54, Q56 or Q110 bus to 170th or 172nd Street.

"F" train to 169th Street; walk to Jamaica Avenue.

Driving directions

Go to www.mapquest.com

For further information call 718-658-2600 or 718-525-4633 Onipa Abusia and Akan tradition, visit our website www.onipaabusia.org

Onipa Abusia maintains and preserves the traditional culture and spiritual practice of the Akan people of Ghana, West Africa established in the U.S. by the late Nana Yao Opare Dinizulu I, founder of the Dinizulu African Dancers, Drummers and Singers.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24523|2008-01-08 14:12:29|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership J|

Alandas Dobbins wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"

To: "Tafari khumbaka"

CC:

Subject: FW: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership Jan 18-19

Date: Wed, 2 Jan 2008 21:22:42 -0600

From: FORKSYROADS@aol.com [mailto:FORKSYROADS@aol.com]

Sent: Wednesday, January 02, 2008 8:10 PM

To: alandas@scsmemphis.com; alblakes@verizon.net; alchikuyu@yahoo.com; baba_hannibal@yahoo.com; Dmarsh4244@aol.com; Drtee91064@aim.com; khafre@peoplepc.com; lezellwilliams@bellsouth.net; rosanewman@cableone.net; Ooyaa3@aol.com; RShake5625@aol.com

Subject: Fwd: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership Jan 18-19

Ya'll will want to hear sister Mariba Ani!

Ser

See AOL's top rated recipes and easy ways to stay in shape for winter.

From:

To:

Subject: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership Jan 18-19

Date: Wed, 2 Jan 2008 20:01:17 -0600

website. <http://www.naaslc.org/>

Contact - ajstovall@gmail.com

The 14th Annual National African American Leadership Conference runs from January 18-19, 2008. This year's theme is "Answering the call to greatness: Is it YOU?"

The Conference is designed to address issues of liberation, and to provide analyses of progressive African American leadership models past and present, to aid students in developing revolutionary leadership paradigms for the future.

Click here to register now

Keynote speaker spotlight: Alfred □ Coach □ Powell

Founder, president, and CEO of the Human Motivation Council and Human Motivation Circle, is a bold, fearless advocate for urban youth, families, educators, and service providers. His groundbreaking research into street culture, the marketing of violence, irresponsible sex, and chemical addiction to urban youth, and his twenty-plus years of work in the trenches as a champion high school track and football coach and certified Violence Prevention Specialist have earned him the title of Dean of Street Psychology. This cultural critic has identified at-risk behaviors prevalent in hip hop and urban culture, including Prolonged Adolescent Syndrome, Premature Accelerated Adolescent Disorder, and Psychomedia Perpetrator Disorder (his terms). His research has empowered service providers, educators, clergy, and parents to better understand and help urban youth. Read more

August 23, 2007 | Filed Under Keynote speakers, The Conference | Leave a Comment

Keynote speaker spotlight: Marimba Ani

Marimba Ani is an active organizer in the Afrikan Community. She has conducted Rites of Passage programs for Afrikan youth and young adults. She travels frequently to Ghana, West Afrika, where she is continuing her study and support of Afrikan traditional healing concept and practices. She is part of a □think tank□ of Afrikan-centered scholars currently spear-heading the socially and politically dynamic □To Be Afrikan□ campaign. She is Director of the Afrikan Heritage Afterschool Program, a voluntary effort which has been operating in the Harlem Community for the past 14 years. Marimba Ani holds a BA degree in philosophy from the University of Chicago, and the MA and Ph.D. degrees in anthropology from the Graduate Faculty of the New School University. She is Professor of Afrikan Studies in the Department of Black and Puerto Rican Studies at Hunter College in New York City. Her daughter Dzifa graduated in May of 1999 from Howard University with a BS degree in biology.

Read more

August 16, 2007 | Filed Under Keynote speakers, The Conference | Leave a Comment

Keynote speaker spotlight: Professor Griff

Brought up in Long Island, New York along with 13 brothers and sisters, Professor Griff began his study of Martial Arts early in life. With thirteen years training in Japanese Ketsugen Karate (2nd Degree Black Belt), three years Wu-Shu training, two years Korean Style Tae Kwon Do (Green Belt), two years Hung Gar Kung Fu training, and one year Aikido training, Professor Griff has utilized the skills and discipline instilled in martial arts throughout his career. Read more

August 9, 2007 | Filed Under Keynote speakers, The Conference | Leave a Comment

Keynote speaker spotlight: Julia Hare

The dynamic motivational lecturer, relationship expert, author, social commentator and educational psychologist Dr. Julia Hare was born in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Hare has appeared on several television programs offering her expertise and insights on male/female relationships, gender interactions in the workplace, mate selection, toxic relationships and matrimonial harmony. She has appeared on CNN & Company, C-SPAN, Tony Brown's Journal and Inside Edition. Hare has also spoken before the Congressional Black Caucus, participated in Tavis Smiley's □State of the Black Family□ Conference and spoke at the annual Essence Empowerment Seminars at the Essence Magazine Culture Festival. Her written work has been featured in several magazines and newspapers including The New York Times, The Washington Post, and The Miami Herald. Hare and her husband co-authored The Endangered Black Family; Bringing the Black Boy to Manhood: The Passage, The Miseducation of The Black Child, Crisis in Black Sexual Politics and How to Find and Keep a BMW (Black Man Working). Read more

Vendors and craftspeople! Visit the Yahoo Group, African Cultural Vendors.

This group lists various events and festivals where you can showcase and display your creations.
To sign up, send an email to AfricanCulturalVendors-subscribe@yahoogleroups.com
"Unity IS possible".

"Humility does not mean you think less of yourself - it means you think of yourself less."

"We are not here to earn God's love, we're here to spend it!"

"Ahoofe ntua ka, suban pa na hia" (Physical beauty does not count much, it is good character that counts.)

"The world is my country, to do good is my religion".

"Obi nkyere abofra Nyame" (No one shows a child the Supreme Being")

"Change how you see things, and the things you see will change"

See AOL's top rated recipes (<http://food.aol.com/top-rated-recipes?NCID=aoltop00030000000004>)

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24524|2008-01-08 14:12:37|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: examples of how a black mayor can make a difference in the live|

Alandas Dobbins wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"

To: ,

""Alandas Dobbins \"(Men Ra\")"" ,

"Andre Dillon" ,

""Bastet Ankh Re"" ,

""Curtis Carter"" ,

"Felicia Carroll" ,
"Fredrick Jones" ,
"LaSaunders Hunders" ,
"Michael Harrell" ,
"Muata Muse" ,
"Nesby Blanchard" ,
"Nia Glenn-Lopez" ,
"Obike" ,
"Patrick Harris" ,
"Stephanie Williams" ,
"Tafari khumbaka" ,
"Tena Wheat Crump" ,
"Toni Brittenum" ,
"Tonya Dyson-Jerry"

Subject: examples of how a black mayor can make a difference in the lives of the people

Date: Tue, 8 Jan 2008 15:28:28 -0600

January 8, 2008

Baltimore Is Suing Bank Over Foreclosure Crisis

By GRETCHEN MORGENSON

Baltimore's mayor and City Council are suing Wells Fargo Bank, contending that its lending practices discriminated against black borrowers and led to a wave of foreclosures that has reduced city tax revenues and increased its costs.

The recent surge in homeowner defaults nationwide, generated by lax lending practices during the real estate boom, has officials bracing for a range of problems that often accompany foreclosures. Some municipalities, including Cleveland and Buffalo, are trying to make lenders responsible for abandoned properties to ward off crimes like arson, drug use and prostitution.

But the civil suit that officials in Baltimore are filing in United States District Court may presage another type of litigation against lenders by municipalities facing shortfalls in their budgets.

In the suit, Mayor Sheila Dixon joined with the City Council to ask that the court bar Wells Fargo from charging higher fees to black borrowers. Many of these borrowers paid more under the bank's subprime lending program, designed for less creditworthy consumers, and are more likely to default on their loans.

In 2006, Wells Fargo made high-cost loans, with an interest rate at least three percentage points above a federal benchmark, to 65 percent of its black customers in Baltimore and to only 15 percent of its white customers in the area, according to the lawsuit. Similarly, refinancings to black borrowers were more likely to be higher cost than to white ones and to carry prepayment penalties.

The complaint requests unspecified damages to cover the diminished property tax revenues and higher costs that the city said it had incurred. Additional costs include those for fire and police protection in hard-hit neighborhoods and expenditures to buy and rehabilitate vacant properties.

Kevin Waetke, a Wells Fargo spokesman, rejected the contention that race was a factor in the bank's pricing of mortgage loans. "We do not tolerate illegal discrimination against or unfair treatment of any consumer," Mr. Waetke said. "Our loan pricing is based on credit risk. We are committed to serving all customers fairly - our continued growth depends on it."

But Suzanne Sangree, chief solicitor for the Baltimore City Law Department, said: "This wave of foreclosures in minority neighborhoods really threatens to undermine the tremendous progress the city has made in developing distressed neighborhoods and moving the city ahead economically. Wells Fargo could do a lot, as well as other banks that have engaged in similar practices, to help to curb the flood of foreclosures that the city is experiencing now."

Among the practices cited by the city, Wells Fargo allowed mortgage brokers to charge higher commissions when they put borrowers in loans with higher interest rates than the customers qualified for based on their credit profiles. The bank also failed to underwrite mortgage loans to traditional criteria, the suit said, setting up the borrowers for default. Such practices were common at many lenders during the boom.

Now, Baltimore is a city in a foreclosure crisis, according to the complaint. Citing figures from the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, the suit said foreclosure-related events in the city, including notices of default, foreclosure sales and lenders' purchases of foreclosed properties, rose more than five times between the first and second quarters of 2007.

Wells Fargo has been the largest or second-largest provider of mortgage loans to Baltimore borrowers since 2004, according to the lawsuit. From 2004 through 2006, Wells Fargo made at least 1,285 mortgage loans a year to area residents with a total value of more than $600 million. Wells Fargo now has the largest number of foreclosures in Baltimore of any lender, the suit stated.

Half of the Wells Fargo foreclosures in 2006 occurred in census tracts with populations that were more than 80 percent black, the suit said. Meanwhile, only 16 percent of the foreclosures were found in tracts with populations that are 20 percent or less black. Figures for 2007 were similar, the city said.

John P. Relman, a lawyer at Relman & Dane in Washington, represents the City of Baltimore in its case against Wells Fargo. "Foreclosures have a more profound effect in minority communities because they are closest to the line of distressed neighborhoods in many cities," Mr. Relman said. "That causes big problems for the cities, not just the lost income from taxes but also the long-term social costs. Programs are going to be needed to stabilize the communities to be rebuilt."

The Baltimore complaint cited a 2005 study showing that foreclosures required more municipal services and higher costs. The study, commissioned by the Homeownership Preservation Foundation of Minneapolis, identified 26 different costs incurred by government agencies responding to foreclosures in Chicago and in Cook County, Ill., in 2003 and 2004. The analysis concluded that total costs reached $34,199 for each foreclosure.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24525|2008-01-08 14:12:53|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Taylor trial hears account of atrocities - |

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 08 Jan 2008 13:57:11 -0800

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: ma-a-kherw-owner@yahoogroups.com

CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Subject: Yahoo! News Story - Taylor trial hears account of atrocities - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

Personal message:

Taylor trial hears account of atrocities - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080108/ap_on_re_af/war_crimes_taylor_14

=====

Yahoo! News
<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24526|2008-01-08 16:51:06|KarnakHouse@aol.com|Ethiopians,Somali,andsome Sudanese|
Several of the Ethiopian ethnic groups, the Gurage and the Amara (the dominant language group and from which most of the ruling elite came from), are known to have migrated from the Sudan. Undoubtedly, through contact with other peoples along the Red Sea and the Mediterranean some proportion of them are mixed. They attest this through their own oral and written traditions. Interestingly, there have been finds of Kemetan artifacts dating to 1500 BCE in Eritrea, within 12 miles of the capital Asmara. Also, stone buildings of two stories high are attested in Eritrea between 800 - 1000 BCE which definitively destroys once and for all the Yemeni hypothesis of origin of civilization.
Just like we in the West who have problems with gradations of colour, the ruling elite definitely suffers from these prejudices and conceive of the black in very derogatory terms.

Intef Djehutimes

-----Original Message-----

From: Maurice Humphrey

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thu, 20 Dec 2007 3:15 am

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Ethiopians,Somali,andsome Sudanese

Hotep everyone! Does anyone know for sure if the Ethiopians,Somali,andsome Sudanese are indigenous to Northeast Africa or are they mixed with Arab or other Western Asian groups? Ithink that in Richard Poe's book, Black Spark White Fire a black scientist from Howard U said thatfor admixture to have occurred in these countries to the degree thatthe phenotype of the people changed dramatically, a major migration fromWestern Asia had to take place. And so far, he said there is noproof of this major migration. Can anyone elaborate or refute this theory?

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

| 24527|2008-01-08 20:58:41|shaimesh@aol.com|WHY AFRICANA HISTORY? BY JOHN HENRIK CLARKE (JANUARY 1987)|

From:brothertarikh@gmail.com

Long, but quite poignant.

Tarikh.

WHY AFRICANA HISTORY?

BY JOHN HENRIK CLARKE (JANUARY 1987)

Africa and its people are the most written about and the least understood of all of the world's people. This condition started in the 15th and the 16th centuries with the beginning of the slave trade and the colonialism system. The Europeans not only colonized most of the world, they began to colonize information about the world and its people. In order to do this, they had to forget, or pretend to forget, all they had previously known about the Africans. They were not meeting them for the first time; there had been another meeting during Greek and Roman times. At that time they complemented each other.

The African, Clitus Niger, King of Bactria, was also a Cavalry Commander for Alexander the Great. Most of the Greeks' thinking was influenced by this contact with the Africans. The people and the cultures of what is known as Africa are older than the word "Africa." According to most records, old and new, Africans are the oldest people on the face of the earth. The people now called Africans not only influenced the Greeks and the Romans, they influenced the early world before there was a place called Europe.

When the early Europeans first met Africans, at the crossroads of history, it was a respectful meeting and the Africans were not slaves. Their nations were old before Europe was born. In this period of history, what was to be later known as "Africa" was an unknown place to the people who would someday be called, "Europeans." Only the people of some of the Mediterranean Islands and a few states of what would become the Greek and Roman states knew of parts of North Africa, and that was a land of mystery. After the rise and decline of Greek civilization and the Roman destruction of the City of Carthage, they made the conquered territories into a province which they called Africa, a word derived from "afri," and the name of a group of people about whom little is known. At first the word applied only to the Roman colonies in North Africa. There was a time when all dark-skinned people were called Ethiopians, for the Greeks referred to Africa as, "The Land of the Burnt-Face People."

If Africa, in general, is a man-made mystery, Egypt, in particular, is a bigger one. There has long been an attempt on the part of some European "scholars" to deny that Egypt was a part of Africa. To do this they had to ignore the great masterpieces on Egyptian history written by European writers such as, Ancient Egypt, Light of the World, Vols. I & II, and a whole school of European thought that placed Egypt in proper focus in relationship to the rest of Africa.

The distorters of African history also had to ignore the fact that the people of the ancient land which would later be called Egypt, never called their country by that name. It was called, TA-MERRY or KAMPT and sometimes KEMET or SAIS. The ancient Hebrews called it MIZRAIN. Later the Moslem Arabs used the same term but later discarded it. Both the Greeks and the Romans referred to the country as the "Pearl of the Nile." The Greeks gave it the simple name AEGYPTCUS. Thus the word we know as Egypt is of Greek origin.

Until recent times most Western scholars have been reluctant to call attention to the fact that the Nile River is 4,000 miles long. It starts in the south, in the heart of Africa, and flows to the north. It was the world's first cultural highway. Thus, Egypt was a composite of many African cultures. In his article, "The Lost Pharaohs of Nubia," Professor Bruce Williams infers that the nations in the South could be older than Egypt. This information is not new. When rebel European scholars were saying this 100 years ago, and proving it, they were not taken seriously.

It is unfortunate that so much of the history of Africa has been written by conquerors, foreigners, missionaries and adventures. The Egyptians left the best record of their history written by local writers. It was not until near the end of the 19th century when a few European scholars learned to decipher their writing that this was understood.

The Greek traveler, Herodotus, was in Africa about 450 B.C. His eyewitness account is still a revelation. He witnessed African civilization in decline and partly in ruins, after many invasions. However, he could still see the indications of the greatness that it had been. In this period in history, the Nile Valley civilization of Africa had already brought forth two "Golden Ages" of achievement and had left its mark for all the world to see.

Slavery and colonialism strained, but did not completely break, the cultural umbilical cord between the Africans in Africa and those who, by forced migration, now live in what is called the Western World. A small group of African American and Caribbean writers, teachers and preachers, collectively developed the basis of what would be an African-consciousness movement over 100 years ago. Their concern was with Africa, in general, Egypt and Ethiopia, and what we now call the Nile Valley.

In approaching this subject, I have given preference to writers of African descent who are generally neglected. I maintain that the African is the final authority on Africa. In this regard I have reconsidered the writings of W.E.B. DuBois, George Washington Williams, Drussila Dungee Houston, Carter G. Woodson, Willis N. Huggins, and his most outstanding living student, John G. Jackson (now deceased; editor). I have also reread the manuscripts of some of the unpublished books of Charles C. Seifert, especially manuscripts of his last completed book, Who Are the Ethiopians? Among Caribbean scholars, like Charles C. Seifert, J.A. Rogers (from Jamaica) is the best known and the most prolific. Over 50 years of his life was devoted to documenting the role of African personalities in world history. His two-volume work, World's Great Men of Color, is a pioneer work in the field.

Among the present-day scholars writing about African history, culture, and politics, Dr. Yosef ben-Jochannan's books are the most challenging. I have drawn heavily on his research in the preparation of this article. He belongs to the main cultural branch of the African world, having been born in Ethiopia, growing to early manhood in the Caribbean Islands and having lived in the African American community of the United States for over 20 years. His major books on African history are: Black Man of the Nile, 1979, Africa: Mother of Western Civilization, 1976 and The African Origins of Major Western Religions, 1970.

Our own great historian, W.E.B. DuBois tells us, "Always Africa is giving us something new On its black bosom arose one of the earliest, if not the earliest, of self-protecting civilizations, and grew so mightily that it still furnishes superlatives to thinking and speaking men. Out of its darker and more remote forest vastness came, if we may credit many recent scientists, the first welding of iron, and we know that agriculture and trade flourished there when Europe was a wilderness.

Dr. DuBois tells us further that, "Nearly every human empire that has arisen in the world, material and spiritual, has found some of its greatest crises on this continent of Africa. It was through Africa that Christianity became the religion of the world It was through Africa that Islam came to play its great role of conqueror and civilizer."

Egypt and the nations of the Nile Valley were, figuratively, the beating heart of Africa and the incubator for its greatness for more than a thousand years. Egypt gave birth to what later would become known as "Western Civilization," long before the greatness of Greece and Rome.

This is a part of the African story, and in the distance it is a part of the African American story. It is difficult for depressed African Americans to know that they are a part of the larger story of the history of the world. The history of the modern world was made, in the main, by what was taken from African people. Europeans emerged from what they call their "middle-Ages," people poor, land poor and resources poor. They raided and raped the cultures of the world, mostly Africa, and filled their homes and museums with treasures, then they called the people primitive. The Europeans did not understand the cultures of non-Western people then; they do not understand them now.

History, I have often said, is a clock that people use to tell their political time of day. It is also a compass that people use to find themselves on the map of human geography. History tells a people where they are and what they are. Most importantly, history tells a people where they still must go and what they still must be.

There is no way to go directly to the history of African Americans without taking a broader view of African world history. In his book Tom-Tom, the writer, John W. Vandercook makes this meaningful statement:

A race is like a man. Until it uses its own talents, takes pride in its own history, and loves its own memories, it can never fulfill itself completely.

This, in essence, is what African American history and what African American History Month is about. The phrase African American or African American History Month, taken at face value and without serious thought, appears to be incongruous. Why is there a need for an African American History Month when there is no similar month for the other minority groups in the United States? The history of the United States, in total, consists of the collective history of minority groups. What we call 'American civilization' is no more than the sum of their contributions. The African Americans are the least integrated and the most neglected of these groups in the historical interpretation of the American experience. This neglect has made African American History Month a necessity.

Most of the large ethnic groups in the United States have had, and still have, their historical associations. Some of these associations predate the founding of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, (1915). Dr. Charles H. Wesley tells us that, "Historical societies were organized in the United States with the special purpose in view of preserving and maintaining the heritage of the American nation."

Within the frame work of these historical societies many ethnic groups, Black as well as white, engaged in those endeavors that would keep alive their beliefs in themselves and their past as a part of their hopes for the future. For African Americans, Carter G. Woodson led the way and used what was then called, Negro History Week, to call attention to his people's contribution to every aspect of world history. Dr. Woodson, then Director of The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, conceived this special week as a time when public attention should be focused on the achievements of America's citizens of African descent.

The acceptance of the facts of African American history and the African American historian as a legitimate part of the academic community did not come easily. Slavery ended and left its false images of Black people intact. In his article, "What the Historian Owes the Negro," the noted African American historian, Dr. Benjamin Quarles, says:

The Founding Fathers revered by historians for over a century and a half, did not conceive of the Negro as part of the body of politics. Theoretically, these men found it hard to imagine a society where Negroes were of equal status to whites. Thomas Jefferson, third President of the United States, who was far more liberal than the run of his contemporaries, was never the less certain that "the two races, equally free, cannot live in the same government."

I have been referring to the African origin of African American literature and history. This preface is essential to every meaningful discussion of the role of the African American in every aspect of American life, past and present. I want to make it clear that the Black race did not come to the United States culturally empty-handed.

The role and importance of ethnic history is in how well it teaches a people to use their own talents, take pride in their own history and love their own memories. In order to fulfill themselves completely, in all of their honorable endeavors it is important that the teacher of history of the Black race find a definition of the subject, and a frame of reference that can be understood by students who have no prior knowledge of the subject.

The following definition is paraphrased from a speech entitled. "The Negro Writer and His Relation To His Roots," by Saunders Redding, (1960):

Heritage, in essence, is how a people have used their talent to create a history that gives them memories that they can respect, and use to command the respect of other people. The ultimate purpose of history and history teaching is to use a people's talent to develop an awareness and a pride in themselves so that they can create better instruments for living together with other people. This sense of identity is the stimulation for all of a people's honest and creative efforts. A people's relationship to their heritage is the same as the relationship of a child to its mother.

I repeat:

History is a clock that people use to tell their political time of day. It is a compass that they use to find themselves on the map of human geography. It also tells them where they are, and what they are. Most importantly, an understanding of history tells a people where they still must go, and what they still must be.

Early white American historians did not accord African people anywhere a respectful place in their commentaries on the history of man. In the closing years of the nineteenth century, African American historians began to look at their people's history from their vantage point and their point of view. Dr. Benjamin Quarles observed that "as early as 1883 this desire to bring to public attention the untapped material on the Negro prompted George Washington Williams to publish his two-volume History of the Negro Race in America From 1619 to 1880."

The first formally trained African American historian was W.E.B. DuBois, whose doctoral dissertation, published in 1895, The Suppression Of The African Slave Trade To The United States, 1638-1870, became the first title to be published in the Harvard Historical Studies.

It was with Carter G. Woodson, another Ph.D., that African world history took a great leap forward and found a defender who could document his claims. Woodson was convinced that unless something was done to rescue the Black man from history's oversight, he would become a "negligible factor in the thought of the world;" Woodson, in 1915, founded the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History.

Woodson believed that there was no such thing as, "Negro History." He said what was called "Negro History" was only a missing segment of world history. He devoted the greater portion of his life to restoring this segment.

Africa came into the Mediterranean world mainly through Greece, which had been under African influence; and then Africa was cut off from the melting pot by the turmoil among the Europeans and the religious conquests incident to the rise of Islam. Africa, prior to these events, had developed its history and civilization, indigenous to its people and lands. Africa came back into the general picture of history through the penetration of North Africa, West Africa and the Sudan by the Arabs. European and American slave traders next ravaged the continent. The imperialist colonizers and missionaries finally entered the scene and prevailed until the recent re-emergence of independent African nations.

Contrary to a misconception which still prevails, the Africans were familiar with literature and art for many years before their contact with the Western World. Before the breaking-up of the social structure of the West African states of Ghana, Mali and Songhay, and the internal strife and chaos that made the slave trade possible, the forefathers of the Africans who eventually became slaves in the United States lived in a society where university life was fairly common and scholars were held in reverence.

To understand fully any aspect of African American life, one must realize that the African American is not without a cultural past, although he was many generations removed from it before his achievements in American literature and art commanded any appreciable attention.

Africana or Black History should be taught every day, not only in the schools, but also in the home. African History Month should be every month. We need to learn about all the African people of the world, including those who live in Asia and the islands of the Pacific.

In the twenty-first century there will be over one billion African people in the world. We are tomorrow's people. But, of course, we were yesterday's people too. With an understanding of our new importance we can change the world, if first we change ourselves.

--

NYAME NNWU NA MAWU

"God Never Dies, Therefore I Cannot Die!"

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24528|2008-01-09 10:23:57|Kwesi Ra Nehem Akhan|ODWIRAFO on LIBRadio, Tonight, Jan. 9th, 9pm|

Mikyia mo (Greetings),

We will be interviewed on LIBRadio tonight, Jan. 9th and 9pm CST.

Ma asomdwoee-Hetep (Peace)...

www.odwirafo.com

AFURAKA.:.AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma
Afurakani/Afuraitkaitnit Ancestral Religion Journal

Read Excerpts from the 3rd Issue Here:

AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT: The Origin of the term 'Africa', Part 3: Alkebulan is Not An Original Indigenous Term for the Continent

MMARA NE KYI \(Law and Hate\), Part 3

AKOMA NTOASOO: The Power of Balance in Male/Female Relationships

OHEMMAA-odonkoni-OHEMMAA: Queen to slave to Queen, Embracing our Natural Hair Completely

Mikyia mo (Greetings):

The third issue of our nhoma (journal) is now available.

A 1-year ($27) eSubscription to AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma is an awoda akyede (birthday gift) of substance which will benefit the recipient throughout the year. A single issue of the nhoma (journal) is an inexpensive ($3.00) akyede which will be of great benefit as well. The electronic version of the nhoma is e-mailed immediately upon receipt of payment --- usually on the same day. Those who order the 1-year eSubscription will receive the first three (3) issues of the nhoma together. This is 185 pages of information in total.

Articles in this issue:
AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT:

The origin of the term
'Africa'

Part 3

(Includes information about the name
'alkebulan' which is not an original indigenous

| | |
|---|---|
| term for the continent) ABUSUAKUW: IGBO: People and Culture ABATUMM: Abatumm (melanin), Race and Nhwewemu (True Scientific Inquiry) MMARA NE KYI: Law and Hate, Part 3 KUKUU-TUNTUM: Abraham, Isaac and Ishmael Never Existed MAAKHERU: Afurakanu/Afuraitkaitnut and the Truth About AIDS ... There is No Such Thing as an HIV/AIDS Virus AKOMA NTOASO: The Power of Balance in Male/Female Relationships OHEMAA -odonkoni- OHEMAA: Queen to slave to Queen Completely Embracing our Natural Hair DIN TO: The Akan Naming Ceremony SANKOFA KRADA: Returning to Go and Grasp the Meaning of Krada | AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma is an nhoma (n'-hoh-mah), a journal, focused on Afurakani/Afuraitkaitnit (African) Ancestral Religion. Our nhoma is divided into seven sections based on the Abosom (ah'-boh-sohm), the Deities, of the solar, lunar and planetary bodies which govern the Akan 7-day week. The themes governing each section are: KRADIN (Soul-Name; Spiritual Identity) ABUSUAKUW and ABATUMM (Ethnic group; Cultural identity) and (Melanin; Physiological Identity) MMARA NE KYI (Law and Hate) NHWEHWEMU (Critical Examination) NKRABEA (Function) AHOODEN and AHOOFE (Health, Strength) and (Beauty) AHODWIRA (Ritual; Self-Purification) . . . For orders please visit our website at: www.odwirafo.com/nanasom.html We accept all credit cards and paypal. You do not need to have a paypal account in order to purchase. |
|---|---|

www.odwirafo.com/nanasom.html

nanasom@odwirafo.com

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24529|2008-01-09 10:26:20|Kwesi Ra Nehem Akhan|ODWIRAFO on LIBRadio Tonight, Jan 9th|

Mikyia mo (Greetings),

We will be interviewed on LIBRadio tonight, Jan. 9th, at 9pm CST..

Ma asomdwoee-Hetep (Peace)...

www.odwirafo.com

AFURAKA.:AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma
Afurakani/Afuraitkaitnit Ancestral Religion Journal

Read Excerpts from the 3rd Issue Here:

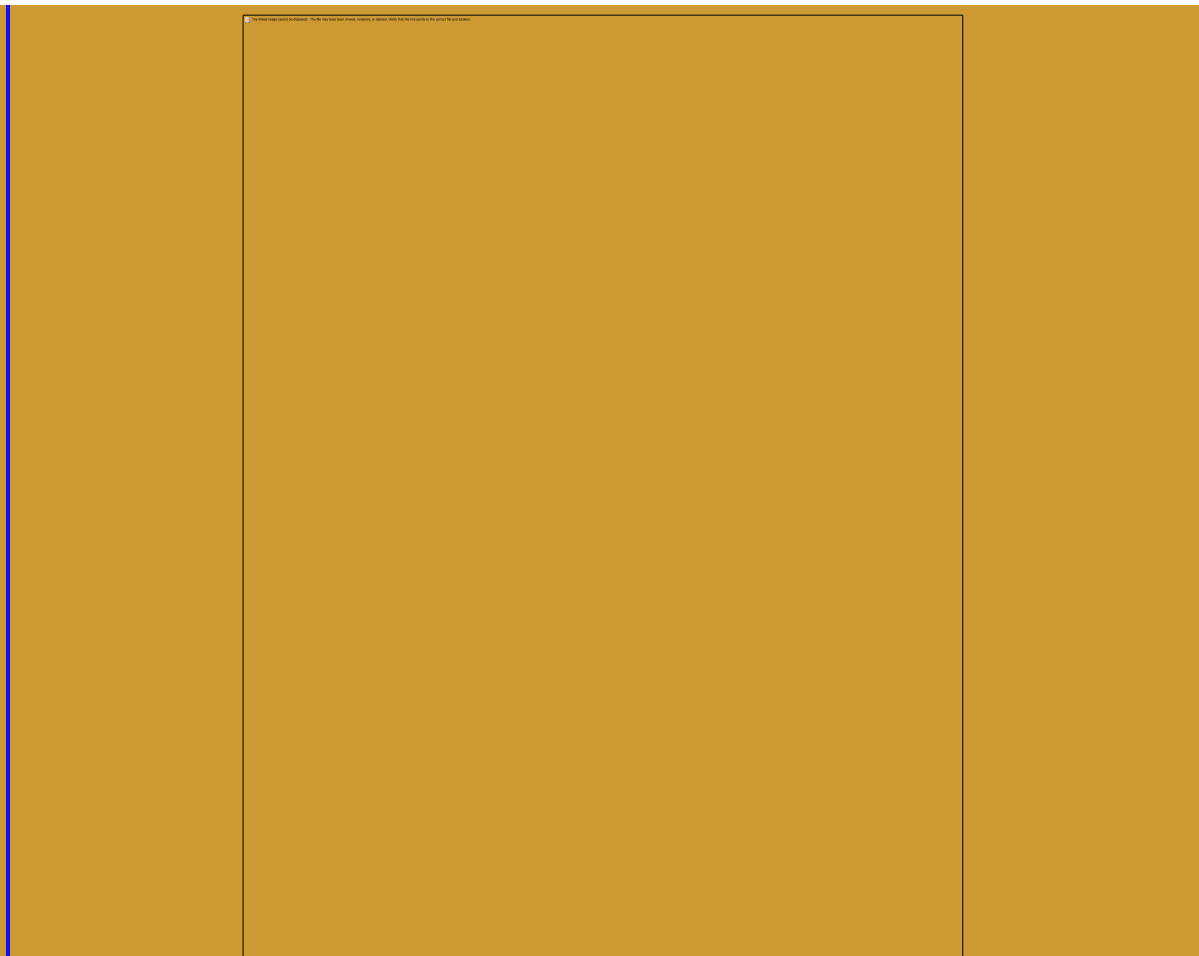

[AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT: The Origin of the term 'Africa', Part 3:
Alkebulan is Not An Original Indigenous Term for the Continent](#)

MMARA NE KYI \(Law and Hate\), Part 3

AKOMA NTOASOO: The Power of Balance in Male/Female Relationships

OHEMMAA-odonkoni-OHEMMAA: Queen to slave to Queen, Embracing our Natural Hair Completely

Mikyia mo (Greetings):

The third issue of our nhoma (journal) is now available.

A 1-year ($27) eSubscription to AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma is an awoda akyede (birthday gift) of substance which will benefit the recipient throughout the year. A single issue of the nhoma (journal) is an inexpensive ($3.00) akyede which will be of great benefit as well. The electronic version of the nhoma is e-mailed immediately upon receipt of payment --- usually on the same day. Those who order the 1-year eSubscription will receive the first three (3) issues of the nhoma together. This is 185 pages of information in total.

Articles in this issue:
AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT:

The origin of the term
'Africa'

Part 3

(Includes information about the name
'alkebulan' which is not an original indigenous

| | |
|--|--|
| term for the continent) | AFURAKA/AFURAITKAIT Nanasom Nhoma is an nhoma (n'-hoh-mah), a journal, focused on Afurakani/Afuraitkaitnit (African) Ancestral Religion. |
| ABUSUAKUW: | |
| IGBO: People and Culture | |
| ABATUMM: | |
| Abatumm (melanin), Race and Nhwewemu (True Scientific Inquiry) | Our nhoma is divided into seven sections based on the Abosom (ah'-boh-sohm), the Deities, of the solar, lunar and planetary bodies which govern the Akan 7-day week. The themes governing each section are: |
| MMARA NE KYI: | |
| Law and Hate, Part 3 | KRADIN |
| KUKUU-TUNTUM: | (Soul-Name; Spiritual Identity) |
| Abraham, Isaac and Ishmael Never Existed | ABUSUAKUW and ABATUMM |
| MAAKHERU: | (Ethnic group; Cultural identity) and (Melanin; Physiological Identity) |
| Afurakanu/Afuraitkaitnut and the Truth About AIDS | |
| ... | MMARA NE KYI |
| There is No Such Thing as an HIV/AIDS Virus | (Law and Hate) |
| AKOMA NTOASO: | NHWEHWEMU |
| The Power of Balance in Male/Female Relationships | (Critical Examination) | | OHEMAA | NKRABEA |
| -odonkoni- | (Function) |
| OHEMAA: | AHOODEN and AHOOFE |
| Queen to slave to Queen | (Health, Strength) and (Beauty) |
| Completely Embracing our Natural Hair | AHODWIRA |
| DIN TO: | (Ritual; Self-Purification) |
| The Akan Naming Ceremony | |
| SANKOFA KRADA: | |
| Returning to Go and Grasp the Meaning of Krada | |
| | For orders please visit our website at: www.odwirafo.com/nanasom.html We accept all credit cards and paypal. You do not need to have a paypal account in order to purchase. |

www.odwirafo.com/nanasom.html

nanasom@odwirafo.com

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. | 24530|2008-01-09 11:03:51|cristofori whitakara|Re: Ethiopians,Somalians,and some Sudanese|
kola boof writes voraciously about the issues of colorism among Nile river dwellers

KarnakHouse@aol.com wrote:

Several of the Ethiopian ethnic groups, the Gurage and the Amara (the dominant language group and from which most of the ruling elite came from), are known to have migrated from the Sudan. Undoubtedly, through contact with other peoples along the Red Sea and the Mediterranean some proportion of them are mixed. They attest this through their own oral and written traditions.

Interestingly, there have been finds of Kemetic artifacts dating to 1500 BCE in Eritrea, within 12 miles of the capital Asmara. Also, stone buildings of two stories high are attested in Eritrea between 800 - 1000 BCE which definitively destroys once and for all the Yemeni hypothesis of origin of civilization.

Just like we in the West who have problems with gradations of colour, the ruling elite definitely suffers from these prejudices and conceive of the black in very derogatory terms.

Intef Djehutimes

-----Original Message-----

From: Maurice Humphrey

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com

Sent: Thu, 20 Dec 2007 3:15 am

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Ethiopians,Somalians,and some Sudanese

Hotep everyone! Does anyone know for sure if the Ethiopians,Somalians,and Sudanese are indigenous to Northeast Africa or are they mixed with Arab or other Western Asian groups? I think that in Richard Poe's book, Black Spark White Fire a black scientist from Howard U said that for admixture to have occurred in these countries to the degree that the phenotype of the people changed dramatically, a major migration from Western Asia had to take place. And so far, he said there is no proof of this major migration. Can anyone elaborate or refute this theory?

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24531|2008-01-09 20:14:57|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Own a piece of history this Founders Day|
"info@blacksororityproject.com" wrote:

Date: Tue, 8 Jan 2008 18:07:14 +0100
To: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
From: "info@blacksororityproject.com"
Subject: Own a piece of history this Founders Day

On January 13th, the women of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. will celebrate Founder's Day. On the occasion of Delta's glorious birth, consider Black Sorority Project: The Exodus collection. It enables you to honor Delta's rich legacy through art, to share the story with friends and to preserve history for future generations.

EXPEDITED SHIPPING for Founder's Day

From now until Thursday January 10th all orders will be shipped in time for Founder's Day. Visit www.blacksororityproject.com/order.htm

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24532|2008-01-09 20:15:41|SUN OF MAN ONEANDONLY|Re: Exiled Egyptians by Moustafa Gadalla|
Peace! His books are P.E.A.C.E, if anybod hasn't read "Historical Decpetion" and " Animated Universe" by Moustafa GadallaI recomend it. Peace, Shaheed Reality Allah

Divine Ruler Equality Allah wrote:

He lives near me, in Greensboro, NC. Peace and htpw.

Divine Ruler Equality Allah

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

>

> He's Afrikan in the sense that Egypt is in Afrika. He is Egyptian.
> He now lives in the US - in the SE, one the Carolinas, I think. I've > wondered if living in Amerikkka changed him any. Of course, if they > understand that he is Egyptian they will assume and treat him like he > is white - even if he is black as soot.
> HTP,
> Mahari

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Asar Imhotep wrote:

>>

>> Yes I am referring to his book. All throughout the book he refers > to "Caucasian" facial features of the Africans. He believes the > Nilotics are Caucasian. It's basically the classic "Dark Whites." And > if I'm not mistaken, is he not an African writer? I don't see any > photos anywhere, so I don't know.

>>

>> Asar Imhotep
>> <http://www.mochasui te.com>

>>

>> Mahari Mengistu wrote:

> Asar,

>> Are you referring to Gadalla's book? If you are referring to his > book

>> I read it years ago but I don't recall the points that you make.
>> HTP,
>> Mahari
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> -----
>> Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
>>
>

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24533|2008-01-10 01:40:06|kcamm23063|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola Boof?

Forward,
Karen

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>
>
> Thanks. I'll try googling the title.
>
> Peter
>
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: boogie_down_black@...: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 - 0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian
>
>
>
>
> if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter Gray wrote:
>
>
> Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: vrainette@...: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 - 0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian

>

>

> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

>

> Htp:Share this and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr.
ChenziraTODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot
we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness.. my hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and instead of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--only theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a WHITE nation with no connectionto Africa?
Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIANBlack people---photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian grandmother---I would never have beenadopted by the most wonderfulpeople in the world---my Black Americanfamily...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people ofEgyptian

blood...I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful....because as my good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right "image"....and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown black woman....The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like trash by the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people....and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me--- imploring me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so color struck--they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html> (http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically biracial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic", but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms. If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's CDs, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people.

Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation...but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind. And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America)....and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black. We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic. And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.

>

>

> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

> "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

>

>

> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

>

>

> Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now!

>

>

>

> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> _____
> Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.

> <http://www.windowlive.com?>

ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008

>

| 24534|2008-01-10 05:24:48|Peter Gray|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: kcam23063@aol.com
Date: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola Boof?

Forward,
Karen

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>
>
> Thanks. I'll try googling the title.
>
> Peter
>
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: boogie_down_black@... : Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 - 0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian
>
>
>
>
> if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter Gray wrote:
>
>
> Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: vrainette@... : Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 - 0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian
>
>
> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofor i whitakara wrote:

>

>

> Htp:Share this and share your perspectives. Remain in Ma'at,Dr.
ChenziraTODAY' S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby
Kola

BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot
we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You' re only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness.. .my hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and instead of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--only theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor
are ever shown on televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a WHITE nation with no connectionto Africa?
Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIANBlack people---photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstr ate that Egypt is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian grandmother- --I would never have beenadopted by the most wonderfulpeople in the world---my Black Americanfamily. ..the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people ofEgyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN whois now an American citizen....I amable to bring some clarity throughmy work and activism.... and this hasbeen extremely painful....because as my good friend,Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any imagethat is black to represent theNile River Valley....and Derricktold me that this is one of thereasons that AMERICAN media hasbeen so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPYas the Black Americans say. I am notthe right "image"....and just like they WHITENEDthe recent exhibition of KING TUTwhen it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,we know full well that the CHARCOALNubian Queen Tiye was TUT's motherand

just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown black woman.... The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like trash by the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you all.... as AFRICANS... that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people. ...and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR... I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League.. ..because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me--- imploring me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights. ..as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful.... I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River.... they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK.... but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman... I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so color struck--they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters... I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you... that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth... and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html> (<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically biracial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress... but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course... is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes... "God put 'the Proof' on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man... is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us... we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man... which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote... "It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that... "one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms. If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, DjimonHounsou. ..and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"-- and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authenticBlack woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind. And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black. We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic. And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish. this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah, her message for us from the diaspora.

>

>
> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
> "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof
>
>
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
>
>
> Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live. Start now!
>
>
>
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.
> http://www.windowslive.com?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008
>

Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live. Start sharing!
| 24535|2008-01-10 05:40:38|Dexter Harper|Re: Exiled Egyptians by Moustafa Gadalla|
I have both of those you recommend ("Historical Deception" & "The Animated Universe"). Although I don't agree with all the information, it's still a pretty good read.

Sharma Men Ra

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, SUN OF MAN ONEANDONLY wrote:

>

> Peace! His books are P.E.A.C.E, if anybod hasn't read "Historical Decpetion" and " Animated Universe" by Moustafa GadallaI recomend it.

Peace, Shaheed Reality Allah

>

> Divine Ruler Equality Allah wrote: He lives near me, in Greensboro, NC. Peace and htpw.

>

> Divine Ruler Equality Allah

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

>>

>> He's Afrikan in the sense that Egypt is in Afrika. He is Egyptian.

>> He now lives in the US - in the SE, one the Carolinas, I think.

I've

>> wondered if living in Amerikkka changed him any. Of course, if

they >> understand that he is Egyptian they will assume and treat him like he >> is white - even if he is black as soot.

>> HTP,

>> Mahari

>>

>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Asar Imhotep

wrote:

>>>

>>> Yes I am referring to his book. All throughout the book he refers >> to "Caucasian" facial features of the Africans. He believes the >> Nilotics are Caucasian. It's basically the classic "Dark Whites."

And

>> if I'm not mistaken, is he not an African writer? I don't see any >> photos anywhere, so I don't know.

>>>

>>> Asar Imhotep

>>> <http://www.mochasuite.com>

>>>

>>> Mahari Mengistu wrote:

> > Asar,
> > > Are you referring to Gadalla's book? If you are referring to his

> > book
> > > I read it years ago but I don't recall the points that you make.

> > > HTP,
> > > Mahari

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > > -----

> > > Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

> > >

> >

>

>

>

>

>

>

> -----

> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile.

Try it now.

>

| 24536|2008-01-10 14:32:26|nnamdi79|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
Photos of Kola Boof can be found at <http://www.kolaboof.com/naima.htm>

Nnamdi

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "kcam23063" wrote:

>

> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola > Boof?

>

> Forward,

> Karen

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

> >
> >
> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.
> >
> > Peter
> >
> >
> >
> > To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 - > 0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in > publication.Peter Gray wrote:
> >
> >
> > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know > where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her > autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even > finished it yet? Peter
> >
> >
> > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 - > 0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian
> >
> >
> > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't > found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black > Americans.cristofori whitakara wrote:
> >
> >
> > Htp:Share this and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr.
> ChenziraTODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola > BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite > bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over > whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot
> we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians > have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're > somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You're only claiming > SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's > right. Because of myown bitterness.. my hatred and loathingfor my > father's country...I have been remiss to mention anything about > the country. My only real memory is a very painful one...the memory of > my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs after my birth parents > had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get > PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal

> in EGYPT)...because of course, my black skin would have exposed her-- > Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's > veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life > trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is > right. The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and > instead of debating about the "ancient" people....why do we never > force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it
that
> in America--only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor > are ever shown on television or in magazines? Why do they insist on > painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa?
> Clearly...these photos of EGYPTIAN Black people---photos that are > NOW TODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are > millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist. If I had not been put up > for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian grandmother---I would never > have been adopted by the most wonderful people in the world---my
Black
> American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C. And I would be > somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other BLACK people of Egyptian > blood...I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now > an American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work
> and activism.... and this has been extremely painful....because as my > good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any > image that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and > Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media > has been so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair
is > NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right "image"and > just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING TUT when it > toured California (and for those of us who are North African, we know
> full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother and > just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed the face > of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown black > woman....The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being > represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading > this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like > trash by the American media---and because of the controversies > surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist.

 > That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered
 my > name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you all....as > AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous > racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African > immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people....and
 as > they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face
 now. ANWAR
 > SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half > Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could > to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he > was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never > seen and in every political decision, every legal law---he was the > HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his > African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI > ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice
 the Black > Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement
 > to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to > support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me--- > imploring me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize > that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat > was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for > women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the > wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair. I have > also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed > here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I try > to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the > Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which

> come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run > around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, > but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and
 they > crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being > BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a > farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to > them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support > PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done > horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend > it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine > and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because > the Palestinians are so color struck--they still bedamned me for > getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting > Palestine. But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint > Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am > still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been > great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your > beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK > people. And I promise you...that in my Autobiography, I have done all > that I can to tell our experience, our truth...and to make us less > invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! tima usrah (through fire
 > comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's > autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" http://doorofkush.50megs.com/
 > photo2.html_ (http://doorofkush.50megs.com/ photo2.html) AUTHENTIC > BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically bi> racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black > American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to > North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an > uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my > citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom > fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.
 > PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe > the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and
 the > black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it > as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God > put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's > son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way

to

- > defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown
- > (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan
- > that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and
- > that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks,

- > it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a

- > bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks,
- > the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending
- > quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which

- > can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For
- > without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a
- > black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-
- > destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in
- > BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now
- > imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from

my

- > childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand

it.As

- > Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole
- > world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist
- > admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else

- > in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one

- > drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced
- > through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and
- > demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African
- > standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on

Automatic

- > Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like
- > their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time,
- > continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious

and

- > ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my
- > rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the
- > racist American notion that Black people should think so little of
- > themselves that just anybody can BE them.And, naturally, this is an
- > extremely painful position to take...because although I love all
- > races of human beings, and although I have family members who are
- > mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to
- > proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the
- > ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are

to > survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be > taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola

> Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a > white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is > chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my > scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled

> Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I > am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the > Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of > black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that

> Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey > is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is > not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool > in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from > having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow > people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images

> as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic

> Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her > own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the > mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually > looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white supremacist > minstrel > network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully > analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", > for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes > provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or > gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you

> watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black

> Filmmakers.. .you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the > authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one > possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or > Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself > enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris

 > Chestnut, Kanye West, DjimonHounsou...and you wonder...where in the > hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you > see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal > looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an > old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate > beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy.
 > She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"-
 -
 > and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to > publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that > completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa.
 > And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate
 > black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black,
 they > don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man > hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but > they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will > marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the > white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother > Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black > America is the authenticBlack woman. And the reason is...her WOMB > makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all > manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against > her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother > above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black > Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or > look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is
 the > living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their > natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of > cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of > us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave > master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this > image.We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet
 we > hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a > deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by > breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United > States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch

 B.E.T
 > (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight > the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of > darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with > light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting > to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's > got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful
 black > man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and > in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael > Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on > the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step > out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that > blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate > and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the > word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger > really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or
 the > United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become > the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the > lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" > bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS > do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any > other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else
 being > human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become > the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACKPeople ask me who > is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and > who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass > the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm > Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person
 > is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian,
 a > quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab > self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my > people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.
 > And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my > Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese > restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It > means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be > there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my > children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did > not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.It's not

just

that

> I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have > all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because > they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't > mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet,

> beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my
people.

> Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when

> I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of > whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see
is > that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new > generation.. ..but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are > only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently > taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority > group....mysterious ly being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS

in > just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos > together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1.

> So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter

> and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and > yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) > were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out

> the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were > total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not > honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow"
in > an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is > the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to > suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference > between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person.

> They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they

- > are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they
- > can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they - > were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about
- > Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of
- > their existence. They would have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE
- > of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's
- > the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and
- > the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we
- > are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.And though we - > have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are
- > in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless
- > it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... .and though a
- > thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades
- > of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the
- > Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black
- > majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a
- > thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we
- > know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.And that
- > one drop of African blood....does not make you black.We are not so
- > inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or actions...being down
- > for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If
- > that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just
- > as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed
- > to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I
- > love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe
- > Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with
- > the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not
- > nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black
- > BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.And black children are
- > beautiful... .to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial
- > children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother > and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish.this is > interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her > message for us from the diaspora.

>>
>>
>> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!
> Search.
>> "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" --
> Kola Boof
>>
>>
>> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
>>
>>
>> Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows > Live?. Start now!
>>
>>
>>
>> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now.
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>

>> Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.
>> <http://www.windowslive.com?>
> ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008
>>
>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24538|2008-01-10 15:58:09|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: AN FYI: From The Paut Neteru Collective
Fwd: FW: Ausar Auset 20|

Attachments :

Tafari khumbaka <tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

http://www.tauiente_rprises.com/store/c/22-Vitamins.aspx

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ausar_Auset_Society

| | |
|---|---|
| 1 | This blank page is intended for the user to provide additional information or comments related to the preceding page. The text on this page should be entered in the space provided below the line. |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |

| | |
|---|---|
| 1 | This blank page is intended for the user to provide additional information or comments related to the preceding page. The text on this page should be entered in the space provided below the line. |
| | |

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24539|2008-01-10 16:01:43|Mahari Mengistu|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

Hey, folks, this is the internet! Do a Yahoo or Google image search and there are "googles" of images of her. BTW, the internet is a fabulous research source.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: kcam23063@...: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
+0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>

>

>

>

> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola Boof? Forward, Karen--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter>

> > > To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 - 0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > >

if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter Gray wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter

> > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 - 0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofori whitakara wrote: > > >

Htp:Share this and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr.
ChenziraTODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness.. .my hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and instead of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--only theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a WHITE nation with no connectionto Africa? Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIANBlack people---photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian grandmother---I would never have beenadopted by the most wonderfulpeople in the world---my Black Americanfamily...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people ofEgyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN whois now an American citizen....I amable to bring some clarity throughmy work and activism.... and this hasbeen extremely painful....because as my good friend,Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any imagethat is black to represent theNile River Valley....and Derricktold me that this is one of thereasons that AMERICAN media hasbeen so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPYas the Black Americans say. I am notthe right "image"....and just like they WHITENEDthe recent exhibition of KING TUTwhen it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,we know full well that the CHARCOALNubian Queen Tiye was TUT's motherand justlike they fought against the Scientistswho reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a darkbrown black woman....The Americans are veryracist against the idea of EGYPTbeing represented by those of us whoare BLACK.For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promiseyou that I have been treated like trashby the American media---and because ofthe controversies surrounding my life,they even tried to pretend that I do notexist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my namewith every chance they could slander it.I tell you all....as AFRICANS...thatwe must begin to recognize that there isa hideous racism in these WHITE Americanpeople--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honestpeople....and as they have falsely branded mea LIAR...I know their real face now.ANWAR SADAT:Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian.Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything hecould to distance himself from the title of"black man".He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab.His Sudanese mother was never seen and inevery political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. Hemarried a White Arab woman. He despisedhis African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the ArabLeague....because they wanted to entice theBlack Americans after the Civil RightsMovement and the Black Power Movement tosupport all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE.Many of you in Egypt and in London writeto me--- imploring me to speak up for theBlack Egyptians.You do not realize that I am not popularwith Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMANand I am compelled to fight for women'srights...as well as Black people's rights.I am also the wrong "image" to representEgypt--I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life andhave been sinful....I am portrayed hereas a "crazy woman" and my intelligenceis not respected.When I try to speak withBlack Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with theirown notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like LouisFarrkhan.The Black Americans run aroundsaying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We neverspeak this way, but they want the fantasygrandeur of ancient Kings and Queensand they crave the past. Many of them"talk, talk, talk" about Africa andbeing BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce,because they don't know who they are.When I try to explain to them that as a"BLACK" North African woman...I cannotsupport PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous thingsto the Palestinians. ...they simply cannotcomprehend it.Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing"of Black women by Palestinians, because thePalestinians are so colorstruck- --they stillbedamned me for getting weapons to defendmyself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine.But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint

Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you... that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth... and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" _http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html (http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically biracial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress... but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course... is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes... "God put 'the Proof' on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man... is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us... we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man... which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote... "It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that... "one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic

Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms. If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or

Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, DjimonHounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authenticBlack woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellow, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind. And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black. We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that I detest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic. And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish. this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah, her message for us from the diaspora. > > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > >

> Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>

<http://www.windowslive.com?>

ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> <http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?>

ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012008

>

| 24540|2008-01-10 16:01:43|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership J|

Alandas Dobbins wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"

To: "Tafari khumbaka"

CC:

Subject: FW: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership Jan 18-19

Date: Wed, 2 Jan 2008 21:22:42 -0600

From: FORKSYROADS@aol.com [mailto:FORKSYROADS@aol.com]

Sent: Wednesday, January 02, 2008 8:10 PM

To: alandas@scsmemphis.com; alblakes@verizon.net; alchikuyu@yahoo.com; baba_hannibal@yahoo.com; Dmarsh4244@aol.com; Drtee91064@aim.com; khafre@peoplepc.com; lezellwilliams@bellsouth.net; rosanewman@cableone.net; Ooyaa3@aol.com; RShake5625@aol.com

Subject: Fwd: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership Jan 18-19

Ya'll will want to hear sister Mariba Ani!

Ser

See AOL's top rated recipes and easy ways to stay in shape for winter.

From:

To:

Subject: CONFERENCE (Mississippi) Nat'l Afr Amer Student Leadership Jan 18-19

Date: Wed, 2 Jan 2008 20:01:17 -0600

website. <http://www.naaslc.org/>

Contact - ajstovall@gmail.com

The 14th Annual National African American Leadership Conference runs from January 18-19, 2008. This year's theme is "Answering the call to greatness: Is it YOU?"

The Conference is designed to address issues of liberation, and to provide analyses of progressive African American leadership models past and present, to aid students in developing revolutionary leadership paradigms for the future.

Click here to register now

Keynote speaker spotlight: Alfred □ Coach □ Powell

Founder, president, and CEO of the Human Motivation Council and Human Motivation Circle, is a bold, fearless advocate for urban youth, families, educators, and service providers. His groundbreaking research into street culture, the marketing of violence, irresponsible sex, and chemical addiction to urban youth, and his twenty-plus years of work in the trenches as a champion high school track and football coach and certified Violence Prevention Specialist have earned him the title of Dean of Street Psychology. This cultural critic has identified at-risk behaviors prevalent in hip hop and urban culture, including Prolonged Adolescent Syndrome, Premature Accelerated Adolescent Disorder, and Psychomedia Perpetrator Disorder (his terms). His research has empowered service providers, educators, clergy, and parents to better understand and help urban youth. Read more

August 23, 2007 | Filed Under Keynote speakers, The Conference | Leave a Comment

Keynote speaker spotlight: Marimba Ani

Marimba Ani is an active organizer in the Afrikan Community. She has conducted Rites of Passage programs for Afrikan youth and young adults. She travels frequently to Ghana, West Afrika, where she is continuing her study and support of Afrikan traditional healing concept and practices. She is part of a □think tank□ of Afrikan-centered scholars currently spear-heading the socially and politically dynamic □To Be Afrikan□ campaign. She is Director of the Afrikan Heritage Afterschool Program, a voluntary effort which has been operating in the Harlem Community for the past 14 years. Marimba Ani holds a BA degree in philosophy from the University of Chicago, and the MA and Ph.D. degrees in anthropology from the Graduate Faculty of the New School University. She is Professor of Afrikan Studies in the Department of Black and Puerto Rican Studies at Hunter College in New York City. Her daughter Dzifa graduated in May of 1999 from Howard University with a BS degree in biology.

Read more

August 16, 2007 | Filed Under Keynote speakers, The Conference | Leave a Comment

Keynote speaker spotlight: Professor Griff

Brought up in Long Island, New York along with 13 brothers and sisters, Professor Griff began his study of Martial Arts early in life. With thirteen years training in Japanese Ketsugen Karate (2nd Degree Black Belt), three years Wu-Shu training, two years Korean Style Tae Kwon Do (Green Belt), two years Hung Gar Kung Fu training, and one year Aikido training, Professor Griff has utilized the skills and discipline instilled in martial arts throughout his career. Read more

August 9, 2007 | Filed Under Keynote speakers, The Conference | Leave a Comment

Keynote speaker spotlight: Julia Hare

The dynamic motivational lecturer, relationship expert, author, social commentator and educational psychologist Dr. Julia Hare was born in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Hare has appeared on several television programs offering her expertise and insights on male/female relationships, gender interactions in the workplace, mate selection, toxic relationships and matrimonial harmony. She has appeared on CNN & Company, C-SPAN, Tony Brown's Journal and Inside Edition. Hare has also spoken before the Congressional Black Caucus, participated in Tavis Smiley's State of the Black Family Conference and spoke at the annual Essence Empowerment Seminars at the Essence Magazine Culture Festival. Her written work has been featured in several magazines and newspapers including The New York Times, The Washington Post, and The Miami Herald. Hare and her husband co-authored The Endangered Black Family; Bringing the Black Boy to Manhood: The Passage, The Miseducation of The Black Child, Crisis in Black Sexual Politics and How to Find and Keep a BMW (Black Man Working). Read more

Vendors and craftspeople! Visit the Yahoo Group, African Cultural Vendors.

This group lists various events and festivals where you can showcase and display your creations.
To sign up, send an email to AfricanCulturalVendors-subscribe@yahoogroups.com
"Unity IS possible".

"Humility does not mean you think less of yourself - it means you think of yourself less."

"We are not here to earn God's love, we're here to spend it!"

"Ahoofe ntua ka, suban pa na hia" (Physical beauty does not count much, it is good character that counts.)

"The world is my country, to do good is my religion".

"Obi nkyere abofra Nyame" (No one shows a child the Supreme Being")

"Change how you see things, and the things you see will change"

See AOL's top rated recipes (<http://food.aol.com/top-rated-recipes?NCID=aoltop00030000000004>)

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24541|2008-01-10 22:45:47|Terry|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can do is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of Sister Kola Boof at youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott.com entitled BINT IL NIL

Thanks,

Terry

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: kcam23063@...: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04 +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>

>

>

>

> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola Boof? Forward,Karen-- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.>> > Peter> >>> To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 - 0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian>>>> if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote: >>> Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter>>> To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian>>> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofori whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: >>> Htp:Share this and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY'S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right. Your father was an Egyptian. And he's right. Because of my own bitterness... my hatred and loathing for my father's country... I have been remiss to mention anything about the country. My only real memory is a very painful one... the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs after my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal in EGYPT)... because of course, my black skin would have exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is right. The true Egyptians-- the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead of debating about the "ancient" people.... why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it that in America-- only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on television or in magazines? Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa? Clearly... these photos of EGYPTIAN Black people--- photos that are NOW TODAY--- demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist. If I had not been put up for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian grandmother--- I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful people in the world--- my Black American family... the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C. And I would be somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other BLACK people of Egyptian blood... I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen.... I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful.... because as my good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to me--- AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent the Nile River Valley.... and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me-- because I am too black and my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right "image".... and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown black woman.... The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like trash by the American media-- and because of the controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you all.... as AFRICANS... that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people-- far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people.... and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR... I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT BLACK--- that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law--- he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League.... because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARAB and especially to support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me--- imploring me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEPI". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so color-struck--they still bedammed me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" _<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>_ (<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... .and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.> > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > >

> Get the power of

Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>

http://www.windowslive.com?ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012008

>

| 24542|2008-01-11 05:32:34|kcamm23063|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

Sorry I didn't make myself clear. When I asked if any had ever seen Kola Boof or know someone who has seen her, I meant in person. I know nothing of Kola having a life outside the internet, except what she says on the internet. She seems to be a gifted writer, but she just seems so elusive. As far as her saying there is a fatwa on her, I doubt it, for that to happen, one has to smear Allah and/or Muhammed. So where is she?

Forward,

Karen

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:

>
>
>

> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can do > is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of Sister

> Kola Boof

at

> youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott.com entitled

> BINT IL NIL

>
>

> Thanks,

>

> Terry

>
>
>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

> >
> >
> > Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.
> >
> > Peter
> >
> >
> >
> > To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
> +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola > Boof? Forward,Karen--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray
atenergy@
> wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > > To:
> Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -
0800Subject: RE:
> [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are > referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter Gray
> atenergy@ wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head!
> It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely
have > to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's > even finished it yet? Peter > > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4
Jan
> 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black > egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I > haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us
black > Americans.cristofori whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: > > >
Htp:Share
> this and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY'S
> BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year > ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said:
> People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe
ancient > Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still > exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL
ofus > yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you

- > say something? You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right. Your
- > father was an Egyptian. And he's right. Because of my own
- bitterness.. my
- > hatred and loathing for my father's country... I have been remiss to
- > mention anything about the country. My only real memory is a
- very painful
- > one... the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the
- Mullahs after
- > my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against
- > slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is
- > primarily illegal in EGYPT)... because of course, my black skin would
- have
- > exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood
- in her
- > family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole
- > life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is
- > right. The true Egyptians-- the Black Egyptians do still exist, and
- instead
- > of debating about the "ancient" people.... why do we never force the
- WHITE
- > MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it that in America--
- only
- > the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on
- > television or in magazines? Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a
- WHITE
- > nation with no connection to Africa? Clearly.. these photos of
- > EGYPTIAN Black people--- photos that are NOW TODAY--- demonstrate that
- Egypt
- > is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who
- still
- > exist. If I had not been put up for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian
- > grandmother--- I would never have been adopted by the most
- wonderful people
- > in the world--- my Black American family... the JOHNSONS of Washington
- > D.C. And I would be somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other
- BLACK
- > people of Egyptian blood... I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a
- BLACK
- > WOMAN who is now an American citizen.... I am able to bring some
- clarity
- > through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely
- > painful.... because as my good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to
- > me--- AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent
- the Nile
- > River Valley.... and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons

that

- > AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too black and
- > my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right
- > "image"....and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING
- > TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North
- > African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's
- > mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed
- > the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown black
- > woman....The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being
- > represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading this
- > post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like trash by
- > the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my
- > life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up
- > and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance
- > they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin
- > to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE
- > American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to
- > believe. They are not honest people....and as they have falsely branded
- > me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late
- > Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half
- > Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance
- > himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT
- > BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and
- > in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the
- > blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage
- > and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the
- > Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the
- > Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things
- > MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE. Many of
- > you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploping me to speak up for
- > the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with

Black

> Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am > compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's > rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with > African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been > sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is > not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as

> Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own

> notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like

Louis Farrakhan. The

> Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We > never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings > and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about

> Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's > all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain > to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support

> PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous > things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after

> I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the

> "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are > so color struck--they still bedamn me for getting weapons to > defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers > and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert

> sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here.

And

> although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I > have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our > solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my > Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our > truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK

Egyptians!!! !!

> tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters

> of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>

> 50megs.com/photo2.html_ (<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>)

> AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by > a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned > to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an > uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my

> citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom > fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.

> PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the

> "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black > woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy

> Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" > on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man > made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and > destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his > head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of > humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our > hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people > have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan),

> I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa > by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the > Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, > he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the > self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in

> Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now > imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from

 my > childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand
 it.As > Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world".
 > And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition > that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's > universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a > black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds > of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave > master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules,
 and as > a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving
 to > produce children who look more like their slave master than like
 their > ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black"
 > by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.
 PROOF
 > Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer
 > and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should > think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.And,
 > naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because > although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family
 > members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as > "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate
 it > from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my
 people > are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must > be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola
 > Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a
 white > Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate
 > and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am > considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black

Americans I

- > say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to
- > fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and
- > I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that
- > Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as
- > Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is
- > just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin
- > Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically,
- > this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people
- > invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own
- > group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating
- > and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as
- > something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way
- > that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed
- > and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that
- > Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth
- > is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black
- > Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children
- > of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white
- > supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP,
- > if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul
- > Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life
- > Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no
- > one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in
- > Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by
- > Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the
- > authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing
- > the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid
- > features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted

by

> gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye

> West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these > beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark > womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never > allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will > never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men > trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated,

> because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye > Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.

America

> is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase > black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at > least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they > themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos > of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around

> having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again.

> Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look > more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the > words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in

> Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB

> makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner > of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own > mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a > savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have > forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very > darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of > their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And > yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and > protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African

and

- > Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in
- > destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's
- > only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human
- > beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women

or

- > White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.

And

- > in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we
 - > watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that
 - > highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of
 - > darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with
 - > light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to
 - > little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got
 - > platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man
 - > choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the
 - > media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's
 - > Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him
 - > saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front
 - > doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior
 - > and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide
 - > NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's
 - > crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in
 - > North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's
 - > true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.
- Skin
- > bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in
 - > America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even
 - > exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the
 - > African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn
 - > about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to
 - > erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC
 - > BLACKPeople ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly
 - > measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola

Boof,

> would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just > because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real

> Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half

> Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half

> Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my > people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.

And

> it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia

> Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or > having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong > somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to > return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like

> Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look > like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human > beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and

> Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, > compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are

> Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, > kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at > them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls

> full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with > black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America

> gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man > stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this > country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the > nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here > by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and > the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them > both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter > and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, > yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa

(where > I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination
that > wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race".
They > were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not > honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow"
in an > African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the > product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress > the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an > Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very > similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated
> the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see > beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the > High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark > blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would > have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the > issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color
itself
> and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides
> us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks > that divides us.And though we have been littered with Mixed race
People
> in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves
> African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting > America).... .and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left
some > Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish
> red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color
of > the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed
> mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black
Man

> is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true > hair.And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.We > are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or > actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES
 NOT > make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who > have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and
 being > committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.
 As > much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe
 > Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the > most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly > as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what > makes you black. Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to me, > they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they > deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and > Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from > another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the > diaspora.> > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast > with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming
 to > this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and > know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on > the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! >
 > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
 Mobile.
 > Try it now. > > > > > > >
 > _____> Get the > power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>
 > http://www.windowslive.com?
 ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>
 > >
 > >
 > >
 > >
 > >
 > >

> >

> >

> > Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> >

> [http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?](http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\> 008)

ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\

> 008

> >

>

| 24543|2008-01-11 07:27:52|Vernessa McVay|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
I love that poem at terryhowcott.com. She feels the same way I do.

Terry wrote:

Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can do is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of Sister Kola Boof at youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott. com entitled BINT IL NIL

Thanks,

Terry

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: kcam23063@. ...: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04 +0000Subject:
[Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>

>

>

>

> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola Boof?

Forward,Karen- -- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:>> >

Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > > > To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote: >>> Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter >>> To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian>>> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofor i whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: >>> Htp:Share this and share your perspectives. Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY' S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You' re only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness.. .my hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed her--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and instead of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--only theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a WHITE nation with no connectionto Africa?Clearly. .these photos of EGYPTIANBlack people--- photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstr ate that Egypt is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian grandmother- --I would never have beenadopted by the most wonderfulpeople in the world---my Black Americanfamily. ..the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people ofEgyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN whois now an American citizen....I amable to bring some clarity throughmy work and activism.... and this hasbeen extremely painful....because as my good friend,Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any imagethat is black to represent theNile River Valley....and Derricktold me that this is one of thereasons that AMERICAN media hasbeen so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPYas the Black Americans say. I am notthe right "image"and just like they WHITENEDthe recent exhibition of KING TUTwhen it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,we know full well that the CHARCOALNubian Queen Tiye was TUT's motherand justlike they fought against the Scientistswho reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a darkbrown black woman....The Americans are veryracist against the idea of EGYPTbeing represented by those of us whoare BLACK.For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promiseyou that I have been treated like trash by the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people- -far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people. ...and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League.. ..because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploping me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights. ..as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt- -I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so color struck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html> (http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. .you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, DjimonHounsou. ..and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authenticBlack woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black.

Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.> > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > >

_____ > Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.> http://www.windowslive.com?ocid= TXT_TAGHM_ Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?ocid= TXT_TAGHM_ Wave2_sharelife_

012008

>

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof 🌹

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24544|2008-01-11 07:32:25|asar_imhotep|Re: Language Classification by Numbers|
Just wanted to revamp this. Seemed to have gotten lost in the spam.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "asar_imhotep" wrote:

>

> Hutuapo Phamily

>

> I am currently reading a book called Language Classification by > Numbers - Oxford Linguistics written by April McMahon and Robert > McMahon. I wanted to know if anyone has read this and what are your > opinions of the work? I am currently on the second chapter. A book > description follows for those unfamiliar with the work.

>

>

> Book Description

> This book considers how languages have traditionally been divided into > families, and asks how they should be classified in the future. It > describes and applies computer programs from biology and evolutionary > genetics to data about languages and shows how the power of the > computer can be harnessed to throw light on long-standing problems in > historical linguistics. It tests current theories and hypotheses, > shows how new ideas can be formulated, and offers a series of > demonstrations that the new techniques applied to old data can produce > convincing results that are sometimes startlingly at odds with > accepted wisdom. April and Robert McMahon combine the expertise and > perspectives of an historical linguist and a geneticist. They analyse > the links between linguistic and population genetics, and consider how > far language can be used to discover and understand the histories and > interrelations of human populations. They explore the origins and > formation of the Indo-European languages and examine less well studied > languages in South America. Their book will be of great practical > importance to students and researchers in historical and comparative > linguistics and will interest all those concerned with the > classification and diffusion of languages in fields such as > archaeology, genetics, and anthropology. Its approachable style will > appeal to general readers seeking to know more about the relationship > between linguistic and human history.

>

>

> Asar Imhotep

> <http://www.mochasuite.com>

>

| 24545|2008-01-11 07:58:31|Vernessa McVay|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

I know a couple of people who saw her speak when she came here to Memphis a few years ago.

kcamm23063 wrote:

Sorry I didn't make myself clear. When I asked if any had ever seen Kola Boof or know someone who has seen her, I meant in person. I know nothing of Kola having a life outside the internet, except what she says on the internet. She seems to be a gifted writer, but she just seems so elusive. As far as her saying there is a fatwa on her, I doubt it, for that to happen, one has to smear Allah and/or Muhammed. So where is she?

Forward,
Karen

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, "Terry" wrote:

>

>

>

> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can do > is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of Sister

> Kola Boof <<http://youtube.com/watch?v=gbZzhjZbyOc&feature=related>>
at > youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott.com entitled

> BINT IL NIL <<http://www.terryhowcott.com/greenspace.asp?id=743>>

>

>

> Thanks,

>

> Terry

>

>

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

> >
> >
> > Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.
> >
> > Peter
> >
> >
> >
> > To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
> +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola > Boof? Forward,Karen- -- In Ta_Seti@yahoo.com, Peter Gray
atenergy@
> wrote:>>> Thanks. I'll try googling the title.>> Peter>>>> To:
> Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -
0800Subject: RE:
> [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian>>>> if you are > referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter Gray
> atenergy@ wrote: >>> Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head!
> It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely
have > to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's > even finished it yet? Peter>>> To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4
Jan
> 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black > egyptian>>> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I > haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us
black > Americans.cristofor i whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: >>>
Htp:Share
> this and share your perspectives. Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY' S
> BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year > ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said:
> People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe
ancient > Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still > exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL
ofus
> yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you

> say something? You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right. Your > father was an Egyptian. And he's right. Because of my own

bitterness... my

> hatred and loathing for my father's country... I have been remiss to > mention anything about the country. My only real memory is a very painful

> one... the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the

Mullahs after

> my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against > slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is > primarily illegal in EGYPT)... because of course, my black skin would

have

> exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood

in her

> family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole > life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is > right. The true Egyptians-- the Black Egyptians do still exist, and

instead

> of debating about the "ancient" people.... why do we never force the

WHITE

> MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it that in America--

only

> the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on > television or in magazines? Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a > nation with no connection to Africa? Clearly... these photos of

WHITE

> EGYPTIAN Black people--- photos that are NOW TODAY--- demonstrate that

Egypt

> is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who

still

> exist. If I had not been put up for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian > grandmother-- I would never have been adopted by the most

wonderful people

> in the world--- my Black American family... the JOHNSONS of Washington

> D.C. And I would be somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other > people of Egyptian blood... I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a

BLACK

BLACK

> WOMAN who is now an American citizen.... I am able to bring some clarity

> through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely > painful.... because as my good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to > me--- AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent

the Nile

> River Valley.... and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons

that

> AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too black and

> my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right

> "image"....and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING

> TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North

> African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's

> mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed

> the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown black > woman....The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being > represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading this > post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like trash by > the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my > life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up > and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance

> they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin > to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE

> American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to > believe. They are not honest people. ...and as they have falsely branded

> me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late

> Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half

> Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance > himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT

> BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and > in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the > blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage

> and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the > Arab League...because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the > Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things

> MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE. Many of > you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploping me to speak up for > the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with

Black

> Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am > compelled to fight for women's rights. ...as well as Black people's > rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt- -I am Black with > African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been > sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is > not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as

> Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own

> notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like

Louis Farrakhan. The

> Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We > never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings

> and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about

> Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's > all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain > to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support

> PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous

> things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after

> I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the

> "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are > so color struck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to > defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers > and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert

> sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here.

And

> although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I > have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our > solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my > Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our > truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK

Egyptians!!! !!

> tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two

chapters

> of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost

Girl" http://doorofkush.

> 50megs.com/photo2.html_ (http://doorofkush.50megs.com/

> AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, > technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by > a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned

> to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an > uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my > citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom > fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.
> PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe
the

> "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the
black > woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy

> Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof"

> on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first
man

> made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer
and

> destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his > head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of > humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find

our > hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those

people

> have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut

(Satan),

> I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer
Africa

> by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the > Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes,

> he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the > self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in

> Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now > imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my > childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As > Alice Walker wrote... "It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world".

> And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition > that... "one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's > universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a > black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds > of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave > master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as > a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to > produce children who look more like their slave master than like their > ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black"
> by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.

PROOF

> Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer > and mother... against the racist American notion that Black people should > think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And,
> naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take... because > although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family > members who are mixed, biracial and now even White... it is seen as > "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it > from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people > are to survive... and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must > be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola > Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white > Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate > and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am > considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black

Americans I

- > say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to
- > fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and
- > I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that
- > Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as
- > Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is
- > just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin
- > Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically,
- > this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people
- > invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own
- > group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating
- > and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as
- > something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way
- > that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed
- > and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that
- > Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth
- > is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black
- > Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children
- > of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white
- > supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP,
- > if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul
- > Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life
- > Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no
- > one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in
- > Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by
- > Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the
- > authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing
- > the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid
- > features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted

by

> gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye

> West, Djimon Hounsou. ..and you wonder...where in the hell did these > beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark > womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never > allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will > never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men

> trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated,

> because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye > Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.

America

> is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase > black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at > least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they > themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos

> of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around

> having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again.

> Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look > more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the > words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in

> Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB

> makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner > of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own

> mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a > savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have > forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very

> darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of > their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And > yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and > protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African

and

> Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in > destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's

> only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human > beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women
or

> White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.

And

> in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime
we

> watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that > highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of > darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with > light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting

to

> little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got > platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black

man

> choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in
the

> media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's

> Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news
of him > saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front > doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior

> and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide

> NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's > crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in

> North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's

> true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

Skin

> bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in > America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race

even > exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or

the

> African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn > about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is

to

> erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC

> BLACKPeople ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly

> measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola

Boof,

> would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just > because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real

> Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half

> Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half

> Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my > people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.

And

> it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia

> Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or > having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong > somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to > return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like

> Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look > like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human > beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and

> Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, > compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are

> Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, > kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at > them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls

> full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with

> black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America

> gets lighter and lighter with each new generation...but the White Man > stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this > country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the > nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here > by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and

> the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them > both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting

Whiter

> and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, > yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa

(where > I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination
that > wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race".
They > were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not > honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow"
in an > African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the > product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress
> the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an > Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very > similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated
> the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see > beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same,
then the
> High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark > blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would > have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the > issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color
itself
> and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides
> us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks > that divides us.And though we have been littered with Mixed race
People
> in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider
themselves
> African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting > America).... .and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left
some > Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions,
yellowish
> red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color
of > the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed
> mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black
Man

> is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true > hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black. We > are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or > actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES
NOT > make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who > have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and
being > committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.
As > much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe
> Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one
with the > most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly > as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what > makes you black. Authentic. And black children are beautiful... .to me,
> they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they > deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and > Africa Africa...must not perish. this is interesting read and from > another perspective from this sistah, her message for us from the > diaspora. > > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast
> with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming
to > this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and > know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends
on > the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! >
> > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile.
> Try it now. > > > > > > >
> _____ _> Get the > power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>
> http://www.windowslive.com?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwin dows_012008>
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >

> >
> >
> > Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.
> >
> http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\
> 008
> >
>

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof 🌹

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24546|2008-01-11 08:32:40|Peter Gray|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
Great idea, Mahari.

I found a wealth of web sites just by Googling her name.

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: mahari@myway.com
Date: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 17:02:06 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

Hey, folks, this is the internet! Do a Yahoo or Google image search and there are "googles" of images of her. BTW, the internet is a fabulous research source.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>
>
> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.
>
> Peter
>
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: kcam23063@. ...: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
+0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>
>
>
>

> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola Boof? Forward,Karen- -- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter>

> > > To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 - 0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > >

if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter Gray wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter

> > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -

0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black

Americans.cristofor i whitakara wrote: > > >

Htp:Share this and share your perspectives. Remain in Ma'at,Dr.

ChenziraTODAY' S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola

BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You' re only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness.. .my hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and instead of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--only theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a WHITE nation with no connectionto Africa? Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIANBlack people---photos that are

NOWTODAY---demonstr ate that Egypt is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian grandmother- --I would never have beenadopted by the most wonderfulpeople in the world---my Black Americanfamily. ..the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people ofEgyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN whois now an American citizen....I amable to bring some clarity throughmy work and activism.... and this hasbeen extremely painful....because as my good friend,Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any imagethat is black to represent theNile River Valley....and Derricktold me that this is one of thereasons that AMERICAN media hasbeen so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPYas the Black Americans say. I am notthe right "image"....and just like they WHITENEDthe recent exhibition of KING TUTwhen it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,we know full well that the CHARCOALNubian Queen Tiye was TUT's motherand justlike they fought against the Scientistswho reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a darkbrown black woman....The Americans are veryracist against the idea of EGYPTbeing represented by those of us whoare BLACK.For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promiseyou that I have been treated like trashby the American media---and because ofthe controversies surrounding my life,they even tried to pretend that I do notexist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my namewith every chance they could slander it.I tell you all....as AFRICANS...thatwe must begin to recognize that there isa hideous racism in these WHITE Americanpeople- -far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honestpeople. ...and as they have falsely branded mea LIAR...I know their real face now.ANWAR SADAT:Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian.Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything hecould to distance himself from the title of"black man".He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab.His Sudanese mother was never seen and inevery political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. Hemarried a White Arab woman. He despisedhis African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the ArabLeague.. ..because they wanted to entice theBlack Americans after the Civil RightsMovement and the Black Power Movement tosupport all things MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support PALESTINE.Many of you in Egypt and in London writeto me--- imploring me to speak up for theBlack Egyptians.You do not realize that I am not popularwith Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMANand I am compelled to fight for women'srights. ..as well as Black people's rights.I am also the wrong "image" to representEgypt- -I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so color struck--they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html> (<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically biracial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, DjimonHounsou. ..and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authenticBlack woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's CDs, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation...but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting whiter and whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind. And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America)....and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.> > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live. Start now! > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > >

_____ _> Get

the

power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>

<http://www.windowslive.com?>

ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> _____ _

> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> <http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?>

ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012008

>

Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live. Start now!
| 24547|2008-01-11 09:08:33|Mahari Mengistu|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
It could be worse, she smeared Bin Laden.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "kcammm23063" wrote:

>

> Sorry I didn't make myself clear. When I asked if any had ever seen

> Kola Boof or know someone who has seen her, I meant in person. I > know nothing of Kola having a life outside the internet, except what > she says on the internet. She seems to be a gifted writer, but she > just seems so elusive. As far as her saying there is a fatwa on her,

> I doubt it, for that to happen, one has to smear Allah and/or > Muhammed. So where is she?

>

> Forward,

> Karen

>

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:

>>

>>

>>

>> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I > can do >> is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of

> Sister

>> Kola Boof v=gbZzhjZbyOc&feature=related>

> at

>> youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott.com

> entitled

>> BINT IL NIL

>>

>>

>> Thanks,

>>

>> Terry

>>

>>

>>

>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>>>

>>>

>>> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

>>>

>>> Peter

>>>

>>>

>>>
>>> To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
>> +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen
Kola
>> Boof? Forward,Karen--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray
> atenergy@
>> wrote:>>> Thanks. I'll try googling the title.>> Peter>>>
To:
>> Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -
> 0800Subject: RE:
>> [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian>>>> if you are >> referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter
> Gray
>> atenergy@ wrote: >>> Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the > head!
>> It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely
> have >> to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if > she's >> even finished it yet? Peter>>> To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4
> Jan
>> 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black >> egyptian>>> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I >> haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us
> black
>> Americans.cristofori whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: >>>
> Htp:Share
>> this and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr.
ChenziraTODAY'S
>> BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year >> ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said:
>> People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe
> ancient >> Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still >> exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated

ALL

> of us

> > yet. Kola, you live in America, you're somebody over there. Why don't > you

> > say something? You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's not right. Your > > father was an Egyptian. And he's right. Because of my own

> bitterness... my

> > hatred and loathing for my father's country... I have been remiss to > > mention anything about the country. My only real memory is a > very painful

> > one... the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the

> Mullahs after

> > my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against > > slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is > > primarily illegal in EGYPT)... because of course, my black skin would

> have

> > exposed her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood

> in her

> > family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole > > life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is > > right. The true Egyptians-- the Black Egyptians do still exist, and

> instead

> > of debating about the "ancient" people.... why do we never force the

> WHITE

> > MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it that in America--

> only

> > the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on > > television or in magazines? Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as

a

> WHITE

> > nation with no connection to Africa? Clearly.. these photos of

> > EGYPTIAN Black people--- photos that are NOW TODAY--- demonstrate that

> Egypt

> > is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who

> still

> > exist. If I had not been put up for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian

> > grandmother--- I would never have been adopted by the most

> wonderful people

> > in the world---my Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington > > D.C. And I would be somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other
> BLACK
> > people of Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a
> BLACK
> > WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some > clarity
> > through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely > > painful....because as my good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to > > me---AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent > the Nile
> > River Valley....and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons
> that > > AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too > black and > > my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right
> > "image"....and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of
KING
> > TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North > > African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was > TUT's
> > mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who > reconstructed
> > the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown
> black > > woman....The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being > > represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading
> this > > post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like > trash by > > the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my > > life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made > up > > and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every > chance > > they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must > begin > > to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE > > American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted
to > > believe. They are not honest people....and as they have falsely > branded

 > > mea LIAR...I know their real face now.ANWAR SADAT:Like me, our late > > Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half > > Egyptian.Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything hecould to distance > > himself from the title of"black man".He insisted that he was NOT > > BLACK---that he was an Arab.His Sudanese mother was never seen and > > inevery political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST
 on
 > the > > blacks. Hemarried a White Arab woman. He despisedhis African > heritage
 > > and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the > > ArabLeague....because they wanted to entice theBlack Americans
 > after the > > Civil RightsMovement and the Black Power Movement tosupport all > things
 > > MUSLIM, all things ARABand especially to support > PALESTINE.Many of > > you in Egypt and in London writeto me---imploring me to speak up
 for > > theBlack Egyptians.You do not realize that I am not popularwith
 > Black
 > > Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMANand
 > I am
 > > compelled to fight for women'srights...as well as Black people's > > rights.I am also the wrong "image" to representEgypt--I am Black
 > with > > African hair. I have also had a very unusual life andhave been > > sinful....I am portrayed hereas a "crazy woman" and my > intelligenceis > > not respected.When I try to speak withBlack Americans about our > lives as
 > > Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with theirown > > notions, many of which comefrom Islamic leaders like > LouisFarrkhan.The > > Black Americans run aroundsaying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that?
 We
 > > neverspeak this way, but they want the fantasygrandeur of ancient > Kings
 > > and Queensand they crave the past. Many of them"talk, talk, talk" > about
 > > Africa andbeing BLACK....but their wives and children are white.
 > It's
 > > all a farce,because they don't know who they are.When I try to > explain

> > to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support > > PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done > horrendous > > things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend
it. Even > after
> > I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the > > "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because > the Palestinians are > > so color struck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to > > defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my > brothers > > and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara > desert
> > sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here.
> And
> > although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part,
I > > have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten
> our > > solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my > > Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our > > truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK > Egyptians!!! !!
> > tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two > chapters
> > of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost > Girl" _http://doorofkush.50megs.com/ > > 50megs.com/photo2.html_ (http://doorofkush.50megs.com/
> photo2.html)
> > AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, > > technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, > D.C. by > > a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I > returned
> > to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an > > uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my > > citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom > > fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.
> > PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe
> the
> > "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the

> black > > woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it > as "Nappy
> > Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the > Proof"
> > on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first
> man > > made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer
> and > > destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his > > head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of > > humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find
> our > > hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those
> people > > have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction
of > > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut > (Satan),
> > I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer
> Africa
> > by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by > removing "the > > Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale
> goes,
> > he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally > analyzed the > > self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans
> and in
> > BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now > > imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale
from
> my > > childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand
> it.As > > Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole > world".
> > And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition > > that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a > body's > > universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as
a > > black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through > hundreds > > of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave > > master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules,

> and as > > a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving
> to > > produce children who look more like their slave master than like
> their > > ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call > themselves "black"
> > by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.
> PROOF
> > Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman,
> wombbearer
> > and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people > should > > think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.And,
> > naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because > > although I love all races of human beings, and although I have > family
> > members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as > > "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate
> it
> > from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my
> people
> > are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position
that > must > > be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I,
> Kola
> > Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a
> white
> > Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is > chocolate
> > and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am > > considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black > Americans I > > say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going
to > > fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black > people...and

> > I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming
> that > > Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black
as > > Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry
> is > > just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim
that
> Vin
> > Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but,
> historically,
> > this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people
> > invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own > > group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, > celebrating > > and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness
> as > > something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been > the way
> > that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, > disallowed
> > and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending
> that
> > Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth > > is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the
Black > > Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the > children
> > of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white > > supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the > NAACP,
> > if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The > Soul
> > Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life > > Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls > that no
> > one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in > > Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and > directed by > > Black Filmmakers.. .you will notice that the WOMB of Black > people...the > > authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one > possessing
> > the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid > > features...is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted

> by > > gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut,
> Kanye
> > West, DjimonHounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these > > beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you > see...the "dark > > womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is > never > > allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you
> will > > never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these > men
> > trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, > > because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon,
> Taye
> > Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.
> America
> > is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase > > black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans
> (at > > least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they > > themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the > photos
> > of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit > around > > having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man > again.
> > Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who > look > > more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the > > words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated > person in > > Black America is the authenticBlack woman. And the reason is...her > WOMB
> > makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all > manner
> > of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their > own > > mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a > > savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have > > forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon

the
> very > > darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA
of
> > their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state.
And
> > yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and > > protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African
> and > > Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in > > destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.We claim that > there's > > only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human > > beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women
> or > > White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.
> And
> > in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out.
Everytime
> we > > watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films
that > > highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of > > darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up
with > > light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting
> to > > little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got > > platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black
> man > > choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in
> the
> > media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's > > Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news
> of him

> > saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our > front > > doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is > inferior
> > and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it.
Worldwide
> > NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's > > crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be
in > > North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's
> > true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.
> Skin
> > bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in > > America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race
> even > > exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or
> the > > African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn > > about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is
> to > > erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC > > BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we > possibly > > measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola
> Boof,
> > would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the > test. Just > > because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real
> > Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black.
Not
> half > > Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my
> Half
> > Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my > > people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.
> And
> > it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my > Julia
> > Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese > restaurants or > > having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that > belong

> > somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me
to > > return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like > > Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look > > like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.It's not that I don't love all
> human > > beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and > > Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet,
> beautiful, > > compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so
are > > Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, > compassionate, > > kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks
at > > them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California > malls
> > full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do
> with > > black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America
> > gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White
> Man > > stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this > > country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the > > nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come > here > > by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks
> and > > the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them > > both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting > Whiter
> > and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, > > yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa
> (where > > I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination
> that > > wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race".

> They

> > were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is

> not > > honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow"

> in an

> > African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the > > product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to > suppress

> > the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an > > Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are > very > > similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not > treated

> > the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see > > beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same,

> then the

> > High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark > > blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They > would > > have a like mind. And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing

> up the > > issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color

> itself

> > and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that

> divides

> > us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks > > that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race

> People

> > in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider

> themselves

> > African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting

> > America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left

> some

> > Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions,

> yellowish

> > red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color

> of

> > the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are

> indeed

> > mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black
> Man
> > is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true > > hair.And that one drop of African blood....does not make you
> black.We > > are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or > > actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES
> NOT > > make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE"
people
> who > > have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and
> being > > committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.
> As > > much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and > loathe
> > Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one
> with the > > most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not > nearly > > as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is > what > > makes you black. Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to > me,
> > they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they > > deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and > > Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from > > another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the > > diaspora.> > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them > fast > > with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming
> to > > this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and > > know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends
> on > > the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! >
> > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!

> Mobile.
>> Try it now. >>>>>>> >> _____> Get
the >> power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>
>> <http://www.windowslive.com?>
> ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.
>>>
>> <http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?>
> ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\
>> 008
>>>
>>
>
| 24548|2008-01-11 09:10:38|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Reminder Onipa Abusia: Nana Asuo Gyebi
Festival 2008|
Attachments :
.....

Note: forwarded message attached.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24549|2008-01-11 12:28:34|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: Did you know???? LYRICS TO
SOULJAH BOY|
Alandas Dobbins wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"
To: ,
,
"Andre Dillon" ,
"Felicia Carroll" ,
"Tafari khumbaka"
Subject: FW: Did you know???? LYRICS TO SOULJAH BOY
Date: Fri, 11 Jan 2008 12:25:18 -0600

Please forward to Foundation Builders

-----Original Message-----

From: Mubaarik Sulaimaan [mailto:diversity66@yahoo.com]

Subject: Re: Did you know???? LYRICS TO SOULJAH BOY

NO,I DIDN'T KNOW THAT BUT I DON'T LET THEM LISTEN TO IT AROUND ME JUST FOR THE MERE FACT OF THE CURSING. YOU OUGHT TO SEE THEM SCRAMBLING TRYING TO CHANGE THE STATION BECAUSE 90% OF WHAT THEY LISTEN TO IS SEX/DRUG/KILLING CRAP.IT IS PLAYED ON AT LEAST 3 LOCAL RADIO STATIONS,4 CABLE VIDEO STATIONS,HOME COMPUTERS,PHONE DOWNLOADS,ANS IPODS.YOU CAN'T GET AWAY FROM THE FILTH. TO BE HONEST,I SAW IT COMING 20 YEARS AGO. A SOCIETY DOESN'T BREAK DOWN ALL AT ONCE BUT BIT BY BIT.ATTACK A FAMILY'S MORAL CODE/CULTURAL NORMS.INTRDUCE OUTSIDE FORCES THAT CORUPTS THE CHILDREN/WEAKEN MAN.POOR EDUCATION,MORAL BREAKDOWN,SEX/PREGNANCY,DRUGS/INCARCERATION,NO MARRIED INTACT FAMILY.NOW A CYCLE .

--- Karen Boozer wrote:

> I thought everybody knew what it meant. You better > find out what > your kids are dancing to and what is really means.
>
> _____
>
>
> I wanted to pass this information on, I didn't know > if anyone > else was as behind on things as I was. Thanks to Tom > Joyner's show this > morning with Kirk Franklin I was enlightened. Kirk > Franklin said he did
> not > let his children listen to the song Souljah boy > because of the words and > the meaning of Superman. With that information I > needed to find out > exactly what superman meant other then the super > hero. I Google searched > Urban dictionary and put the word in and this is > what I discovered:
> Superman is when a guy ejaculates on a girl's back > and puts a sheet on > her > back. When she wakes in the morning and stands up, > the sheet is stuck > to her back (like a cape) , you have officially > supermanned that > h__. Watch Me crank dat Souljah boy now superman dat > h__. My mouth is > still > hung open with shock -(call me green) I had no > idea. It pays to know > what

> the kids are listening to and singing.
>

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.
<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24550|2008-01-11 14:13:25|Paul Kekai Manansala|Zimbabwe: How Secret Societies Shape
Western Politics|

Zimbabwe: How Secret Societies Shape Western Politics

The Herald (Harare)

OPINION

10 January 2008

Posted to the web 10 January 2008

Mabasa Sasa

Harare

IN the foreword to his book, Captains and Kings, Taylor Caldwell dedicates his work to those young men and women disillusioned by the way the world is being run but do not know why or how.

Caldwell's book tries to outline -- through fictional characters -- how shadowy societies that purport to be concerned with following economic, political and social trends are actually the prime creators of these trends and that they manipulate these for their own benefit.

Of course, it all sounds like a conspiracy theory, but then again the Taylor Caldwells of this world will tell you that it is a manifestation of the power of secret societies that many people dismiss their existence and influence as the stuff of overworked Hollywood imaginations.

Interestingly though, most -- if not all -- research into the workings of secret societies has tended to focus on these bodies, that have evolved into veritable institutions in their own right, within the context of occidental civilisation with very little explorations into their linkages -- historical and contemporary -- with Africa.

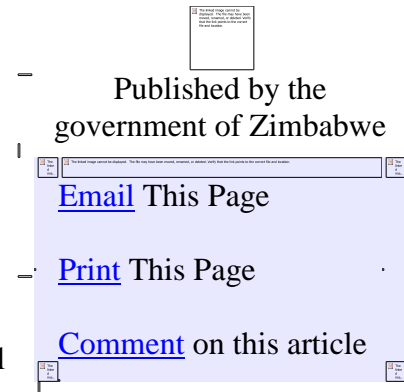

A Zimbabwean writer using the pseudonym Kufara Gwenzi has, however, tackled this academic and practical deficiency in the study of secret societies by penning his own research into these bodies and unlike Caldwell's book, Gwenzi's work is based on a reality buttressed by meticulous research.

The soon to be published manuscript, titled "Seeing Beyond the Cotton Wool: Understanding the Form and Structure of Caucasian Power" is a breathtaking exploration of secret societies, where they came from, their role in today's politics and the implications of their existence for countries like Zimbabwe.

But the book goes further and makes a daring suggestion; that it is time Africa started creating such power structures designed to protect our national and continental interests in much the same way institutions like the American Council for Foreign Relations do.

For Gwenzi, this is not a staggering idea considering that secret societies have part of their origins in the works of Pythagoras (582-507 BCE) who was himself a student of African Mystery Society teachings in Egypt for over two decades.

The African Mystery Schools in Ancient Egypt, explains Gwenzi, were aimed at educating and passing on esoteric knowledge from one generation to the next.

Gwenzi writes: "Pharaoh Thutmosis III, who ruled ancient Egypt from 1500-1447 BCE, organised the first esoteric brotherhood of initiates founded upon principles and methods familiar to those perpetuated by the Rosicrucian Order today.

"Moses, a son of the tribe of Levi, educated in Egypt and initiated at Heliopolis, became a High Priest of the Brotherhood under the reign of the Pharaoh Amenhotep. He was elected by the Hebrews as their chief and he adapted to the ideas of his people the science and philosophy which he had obtained in the Egyptian mysteries; proofs of this are to be found in the symbols, in the Initiations, and in his precepts and commandments.

"The wonders which Moses narrates as having taken place upon the Mountain of Sinai, are, in part, a veiled account of the Egyptian initiation which he transmitted to his people when he established a branch of the Egyptian Brotherhood in his country, from which descended the Essenes."

The narrative gets rather interesting here and it is highly unlikely that it will endear Gwenzi to dogmatists and fundamentalists at all.

The author quotes Manetho, a High Priest at Heliopolis in his work, The History of Egypt, saying the "dogma" of an only God was passed onto Moses by the Egyptian Brotherhood as founded by the Pharaoh who established the first monotheistic religion known to man.

Moses himself admits to this training in Exodus 2:10 (also referred to in Acts 7:22) and Gwenzi contends that he then transmitted this esoteric knowledge to 70 elders as outlined in Numbers 11:24.

Enough of that.

| Relevant Links |
|---------------------------------------|
| Southern Africa |
| Europe and Africa |
| International | | Organizations and |
| Africa |
| United States, Canada |
| and Africa |
| Zimbabwe |

Pythagoras, on being equipped with this knowledge subsequently created his Pythagorean Brotherhood and formulated the principles that were later to influence the thoughts and works of Plato and Aristotle, who are in turn credited with being the ideological fathers of occidental civilisation.

Gwenzi contends that all major civilisations have grown on the back of the activities of secret societies as evidenced by Egypt's own greatness and the power and influence that Greece had following Pythagoras' education in Africa.

In Japan, the author contends that "the social, political and economic fabric is premised on the Bushido (Way of the Warrior) Code of the Japanese Samurai. It originates from the Samurai moral code and stresses frugality, loyalty, martial arts mastery and honour till death".

good article

Paul Kekai Manansala wrote:

Zimbabwe: How Secret Societies Shape Western Politics

The Herald (Harare)

OPINION

10 January 2008

Posted to the web 10 January 2008

Mabasa Sasa

Harare

IN the foreword to his book, Captains and Kings, Taylor Caldwell dedicates his work to those young men and women disillusioned by the way the world is being run but do not know why or how.

Caldwell's book tries to outline -- through fictional characters -- how shadowy societies that purport to be concerned with following economic, political and social trends are actually the prime creators of these trends and that they manipulate these for their own benefit.

Of course, it all sounds like a conspiracy theory, but then again the Taylor Caldwells of this world will tell you that it is a manifestation of the power of secret societies that many people dismiss their existence and influence as the stuff of overworked Hollywood imaginations.

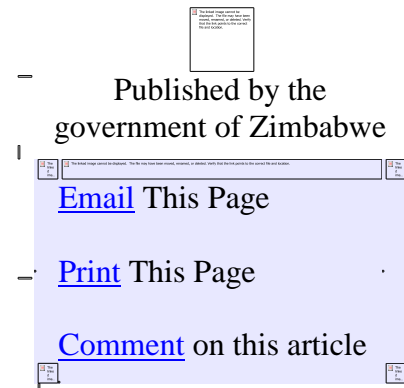

Interestingly though, most -- if not all -- research into the workings of secret societies has tended to focus on these bodies, that have evolved into veritable institutions in their own right, within the context of occidental civilisation with very little explorations into their linkages -- historical and contemporary -- with Africa.

A Zimbabwean writer using the pseudonym Kufara Gwenzi has, however, tackled this academic and practical deficiency in the study of secret societies by penning his own research into these bodies and unlike Caldwell's book, Gwenzi's work is based on a reality buttressed by meticulous research.

The soon to be published manuscript, titled "Seeing Beyond the Cotton Wool: Understanding the Form and Structure of Caucasian Power" is a breathtaking exploration of secret societies, where they came from, their role in today's politics and the implications of their existence for countries like Zimbabwe.

But the book goes further and makes a daring suggestion; that it is time Africa started creating such power structures designed to protect our national and continental interests in much the same way institutions like the American Council for Foreign Relations do. For Gwenzi, this is not a staggering idea considering that secret societies have part of their origins in the works of Pythagoras (582-507 BCE) who was himself a student of African Mystery Society teachings in Egypt for over two decades.

The African Mystery Schools in Ancient Egypt, explains Gwenzi, were aimed at educating and passing on esoteric knowledge from one generation to the next.

Gwenzi writes: "Pharaoh Thutmosis III, who ruled ancient Egypt from 1500-1447 BCE, organised the first esoteric brotherhood of initiates founded upon principles and methods familiar to those perpetuated by the Rosicrucian Order today.

"Moses, a son of the tribe of Levi, educated in Egypt and initiated at Heliopolis, became a High Priest of the Brotherhood under the reign of the Pharaoh Amenhotep. He was elected by the Hebrews as their chief and he adapted to the ideas of his people the science and philosophy which he had obtained in the Egyptian mysteries; proofs of this are to be found in the symbols, in the Initiations, and in his precepts and commandments. "The wonders which Moses narrates as having taken place upon the Mountain of Sinai, are, in part, a veiled account of the Egyptian initiation which he transmitted to his people when he established a branch of the Egyptian Brotherhood in his country, from which descended the Essenes."

The narrative gets rather interesting here and it is highly unlikely that it will endear Gwenzi to dogmatists and fundamentalists at all.

The author quotes Manetho, a High Priest at Heliopolis in his work, The History of Egypt, saying the "dogma" of an only God was passed onto Moses by the Egyptian Brotherhood as founded by the Pharaoh who established the first monotheistic religion known to man.

Moses himself admits to this training in Exodus 2:10 (also referred to in Acts 7:22) and Gwenzi contends that he then transmitted this esoteric knowledge to 70 elders as outlined in Numbers 11:24.

Enough of that.

Relevant Links

Southern Africa
Europe and Africa
International Organizations and
Africa
United States, Canada
and Africa
Zimbabwe

Pythagoras, on being equipped with this knowledge subsequently created his Pythagorean Brotherhood and formulated the principles that were later to influence the thoughts and works of Plato and Aristotle, who are in turn credited with being the ideological fathers of occidental civilisation.

Gwenzi contends that all major civilisations have grown on the back of the activities of secret societies as evidenced by Egypt's own greatness and the power and influence that Greece had following Pythagoras' education in Africa.

In Japan, the author contends that "the social, political and economic fabric is premised on the Bushido (Way of the Warrior) Code of the Japanese Samurai. It originates from the Samurai moral code and stresses frugality, loyalty, martial arts mastery and honour till death".

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24552|2008-01-11 15:44:45|KAMAU|christianity as an obstacle to Afrikan liberation|

Hello.

There is too much talk about making christianity Afrikan, or it was originally & caucasoids just changed it or that is what we were practicing in Ethiopia and a whole lot of unresearched nonsense.

We had/have spiritual systems that DO NOT resemble anything christian.

Any resemblances are purely coincidental & do not have the same efficacy or power of Akan/Ifa/Ewe/our original spiritual systems.

Only when we regain faith in Olodumare/Olorun/Odumankoma & deal with those Spirit Forces on Their terms, not some pseudo-watered down versions, will we regain our humanity & worldwide respect.

~~~~~

How To Make A Negro Christian addresses the myth (i.e. lie) that Afrikans had no culture coming to these shores. It also addresses the chimera of Black christianity. While the attempt to create it was laudable? giving Afrikans in this dungeon some semblance of religious centering? it also was fed by following the myth that we had no culture/no spirituality worth anything before the Maafa (enslavement). Blackening up images without Afrikanizing principles won't change/hasn't changed any collective Afrikan conditions. Latching on to neo-Egyptian philosophies AFTER it had finally been completely overran by foreigners without any deep study into it and especially with no study of Kemet (wrongly called Egypt) before foreign invasions has led to the present dearth in Afrikan spiritual meaning as well as no substantial changes in the collective Afrikan condition.

This work attempts to start the process of spiritual healing and correct Afrikan spiritual-historical renderings. With the correct information, it becomes an individual pursuit of truth; the reader is tasked to search out the books, the Afrikan spiritual services and/or houses in their areas and engulf themselves in the Afrikan reality. Ideally, more Afrikans dealing with their original spiritual reality will affect Afrikan's material reality, i.e. the collective Afrikan condition.

It starts off with a truism?"We are an Afrikan people." It then, briefly attempts to lay out why that is a truism. It shifts gears to show that while we brought Afrika over with us deep within our bosoms, deep within the bowels of the enslaver's ships, little by little, that once seen-as-normal Afrikan reality was "legally" outlawed, punishable by ridicule and death. Since one cannot really divest themselves of culture, esp. a 200,000 year inculcation, our Afrikanity expressed/expresses itself more on the unconscious levels of reality?be it deliberating tattooing Afrikan symbols like Gye Nyame or Odenkyem on your bodies, naming children with Afrikan-esque names or even shouting in an otherwise non-emotion filled european-imposed religious system? for a few modern day examples.

The work then traverses to its main area of inquiry and exposition- the life and works of Dr. Rev. Charles Colcock Jones. As detrimental as he has been to the Afrikan race forced to america and arguably to all Afrikans, this is the first work written with him in mind from an Afrikan perspective. He is also barely referenced, if at all, in works (books, commentaries, journals) dealing with christianity and our 'interesting' introduction to it. How To Make A Negro Christian is truly a missing piece of the puzzle in understanding how so-called Afrikan americans became christians exponentially after physical slavery was 'abolished.' This writer reprints in full and most of two major works by this misnomered "Apostle of the Blacks"? The Religious Instruction of the Negroes-A Sermon and Suggestions on the Religious Instruction of the Negro, respectively. I first follow Jedi Shemsu Jhwty's (Ancestor Baba Jacob Carruthers) sage advice and let the texts "speak for themselves." I then follow each reprint section with a short, insightful, thought-provoking, and sometimes funny commentary on some of the more disturbing passages.

By way of conclusion, the work does what most others don't? offer concrete solutions. The Afrikan reader? if moved by the information to jettison the soon-to-be-defunct system called christianity? is instructed in certain key books, CD's and videos to have, not only to reorient one's mind but also to reorient one's spirit back to its natural, inherent Afrikaness. There are even sections briefly addressing how caucasoids spiritually ensnared continental Afrikans and wrongly labeled Native americans.

This work is by no means definitive, but it does get the dialogue started by resurrecting the works of this Afrikan-reality-hating reverend. It gives a fresh new way of looking at how Afrikans in this country, specifically, became christians.

Unscholarly critics beware: Damning this writer to the phantasmagorical hell does not interrupt the veracity of this research; calling the writer nonsensical names like atheist, pagan or ungodly will get a laugh first and then it will be met with consternation, because nothing could be further from the truth. This writer is a deeply spiritual man who is intellectually learning as much about Afrikan Traditional Spiritual Systems as possible and is intimately learning the Akan spiritual system

Early reviews have used phrases like, "Ground Breaking," "A breath of fresh air," and "much needed scholarship."

To make up your own mind, How To Make A Negro Christian is available by clicking the button above or go to www.lulu.com/kamau301 for $16.95. PICK UP YOUR COPY NOW!!!

"Lulu (www.lulu.com), the world's fastest-growing provider of print-on-demand books."

Or???

Send $16.95 plus $3 s/h (plus $1/each additional book) with your NAME, MAILING ADDRESS, E-MAIL &/OR PHONE NUMBER TO:

M.D.E. P.O. BOX 53 SUITLAND, MD 20752

Checks or money orders MUST BE MADE PAYABLE TO

M.D.E.

(Please allow 4-6 weeks for delivery)

WILLIE LYNCH 2--HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

In 1832, a sermon was given in the south entitled, The Religious Instruction of the Negro.

By 1906, Negro church followings increased 57.6 percent. Said another way, enslaved Afrikans were being transformed into negro christians at alarmingly fast & successful rates.

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN reprints the entire sermon, so you can read it for yourself and adds highly critical commentary.

Read about the exact plans constructed by one Dr. Reverend Charles Colcock Jones to 'biblize' us-the enslaved Afrikan population and take notice at what happens on sundays in the majority of the Afrikan/Black communities today in 2007.

Below are a few choice quotes from the so-called 'Apostle of the Blacks.'

www.lulu.com/kamau301

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

And having our plantations, the time and persons of our servants wholly under our control, we can arrange the manner and frequency of our instructions, as we please, and the period of these instructions with as much punctuality, and with as little interruption, as we can arrange the morning and evening devotions of our own fire-side. Our very children might become, to some extent, teachers, by reading to them plain portions of the Bible, or plain Tracts and things of such sort

page 67

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

Will the authority of the Masters be weakened by instructions of this sort? No, it will be strengthened. And we believe that their authority can be strengthened and supported in this way only; for the duty of obedience will never be felt and performed to the extent that we desire it, unless we can bottom it on religious principle
page 72

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

It is a matter of astonishment, that there should be any objection at all; for the duty of giving religious instruction to our Negroes, and the benefits flowing from it, should be obvious to all. The benefits, we conceive to be incalculably great, and [one] of them [is] there will be greater subordination . . . amongst the Negroes.
page 52

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

[i]n order to induce a sense of guilt, [you] must charge upon the Negroes those particular sins to which they are so much addicted, and expose their enormity and consequent punishment in the world to come.
page 55

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

[The matter of preaching to the Negroes should] deal much in parables, historical events, miracles, lives of men holy and profane, as found in the Bible, and the great and wonderful works of God: all in illustration of doctrine and practice. He must reason much by illustration. And as the great majority of them do not read, he should read and explain God's holy word to them constantly, and as extensively as possible
page 83

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

It becomes us to inquire, if, in the history of the world, any people have ever been thoroughly christianized, without the employment of their own agency to a large extent, in diffusing the gospel amongst themselves? I know of no such people.
page 86

HOW TO MAKE A NEGRO CHRISTIAN

Let them [the slave masters] invest a little capital in the minds and hearts of their people [us Afrikans], and it will prove to all concerned, a peace-giving and profitable investment for time and for eternity. ". . . for time and for ETERNITY"

page 102

www.lulu.com/kamau301

A log may stay in water for 10 years but it will NEVER become a crocodile. --Afrikan proverb

| 24553|2008-01-11 15:48:51|shaimesh@aol.com|Pan Afrakan Mdw Ntchr Symposium

****Register Today****|

From: khalfani@essex.edu

Pan Afrakan Mdw Netcher Symposium

Learn about the Ancient African Language and Culture of Kash-Kemet (Egypt). Mdw Netcher is mis-called Egyptian Hieroglyphs.

Master teachers will share their knowledge.

Enjoy a Kemetic Concert on Friday.

When: Friday, January 25th, 2008 ~ 12:00pm to 8:00pm

Evening Kemetic Concert and Poetry Slam

Saturday, January 26th, 2008 ~ 9:00am to 9:00pm

Where: Smith Hall Essex County College

MLK, Jr. Blvd. and West Market St.

Newark, New Jersey

Registration Required:

Register On-line: www.blackgoldsacredliving.com

Students ECC $10; Other Students $50

Regular Admission $75; Youth (10-17) $10

Children Free (Single day admission available)

1-866-227-3170 MdwNtchr@BlackGoldSacredLiving.com

Co-Sponsors

Pan Afrakan Kash Kmt Mdw Ntchr Outreach Society
Kera Jhuty Heru Neb Hu Kemet Kash Per Ankh
Africana Institute at Essex County College

For more information call 973-877-3219 or 1-866-227-3170, or via e-mail africana@essex.edu

Akil Kokayi Khalfani, Ph.D.

Director, Africana Institute
Acting Director, Urban Issues Institute
Essex County College
303 University Avenue
Newark, New Jersey 07102
973-877-3219
<http://faculty.essex.edu/~khalfani/>

---

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

| 24554|2008-01-11 21:06:45|Terry|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

Well, I know she's been interviewed on MSNBC once or twice. But, she's also a wife and a Mother, so I suspect she's probably with her family.

T.

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "kcam23063" wrote:

>

> Sorry I didn't make myself clear. When I asked if any had ever seen > Kola Boof or know someone who has seen her, I meant in person. I > know nothing of Kola having a life outside the internet, except what > she says on the internet. She seems to be a gifted writer, but she > just seems so elusive. As far as her saying there is a fatwa on her,
> I doubt it, for that to happen, one has to smear Allah and/or > Muhammed. So where is she?

>

> Forward,
> Karen

>

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:

>>

>>

>>

>> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I > can do > > is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of > Sister

> > Kola Boof
> at > > youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott.com
> entitled
> > BINT IL NIL
> >
> >
> > Thanks,
> >
> > Terry
> >
> >
> >
> > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
> > >
> > >
> > > Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.
> > >
> > > Peter
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
> > +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola > > Boof? Forward,Karen--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray
> atenergy@
> > wrote:>>> Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > > To:
> > Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -
> > 0800Subject: RE:
> > [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are > > referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter > Gray
> > atenergy@ wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the > head!
> > It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely
> have > > to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if > she's > > even finished it yet? Peter > > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4

> Jan
>> 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black >> egyptian>>> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I >> haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us
> black
>> Americans.cristofori whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: >>>
> Htp:Share
>> this and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY'S
>> BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year >> ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said:
>> People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe
> ancient >> Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still >> exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL
> ofus
>> yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't > you >> say something?You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your >> father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown > bitterness.. .my >> hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to >> mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a > verypainful
>> one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the > Mullahsafter
>> my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against >> slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is >> primarilyillegal in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would
> have >> exposed her--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood
> in her
>> family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole >> life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is >> right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and
> instead >> of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the
> WHITE
>> MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--
> only
>> theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on >> televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a
> WHITE
>> nation with no connectionto Africa?Clearly..these photos of >> EGYPTIANBlack people---photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstrate that
> Egypt
>> is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who

> still > > exist. If I had not been put up for adoption by my colorstruck Egyptian > > grandmother---I would never have been adopted by the most > wonderful people
> > in the world---my Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington > > D.C. And I would be somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other
> BLACK
> > people of Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a
> BLACK
> > WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some > clarity
> > through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely > > painful....because as my good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to > > me---AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent > the Nile
> > River Valley....and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons
> that > > AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too
> black and
> > my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right
> > "image"....and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING
> > TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North > > African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was > TUT's
> > mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who > reconstructed
> > the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown
> black > > woman....The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being > > represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading
> this > > post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like > trash by
> > the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my > > life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made > up > > and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every > chance > > they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must > begin > > to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE > > American people--far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to > > believe. They are not honest people....and as they have falsely > branded
> > me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late > > Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half

> > Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance > > himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT > > BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and > > in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on
 > the > > blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African > heritage
 > > and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the > > Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans
 > after the > > Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all > things
 > > MUSLIM, all things ARAB ....and especially to support > PALESTINE. Many of > > you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploring me to speak up for > > the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with
 > Black
 > > Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and > I am
 > > compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's > > rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black
 > with > > African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been > > sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my > intelligence is > > not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our > lives as
 > > Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own
 > > notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like > Louis Farrakhan. The
 > > Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We > > never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient > Kings
 > > and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk"
 > about
 > > Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white.
 > It's
 > > all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to > explain
 > > to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support > > PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done
 > horrendous > > things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even > after
 > > I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the > > "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because

> thePalestinians are > > so colorstruck- --they stillbedamned me for getting weapons to > > defendmyself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine.But my > brothers
> > and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith.Although the Sahara > desert
> > sun no longerblackens me, I am still dark and beautiful.I am here.
> And
> > although there has been greatbitterness against EGYPT on my part, I > > havenot forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten
> our > > solidarity as BLACK people.And I promise you...that in my > > Autobiography,I have done all that I can to tell our experience,our > > truth...and to make us less invisble.Long live the BLACK > Egyptians!!! !!
> > tima usrah (through fire comes the family)Read the first two > chapters
> > ofKola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of aLost > Girl"_http://doorofkush.
> > 50megs.com/ photo2.html_ (http://doorofkush. 50megs.com/> photo2.html)
> > AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS:THE PROOFBy Kola BoofI am an African woman, > > technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, > D.C. by > > a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I > returned
> > to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an > > uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my > > citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom > > fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.
> > PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe
> the
> > "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the
> black > > woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it > as "Nappy
> > Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the > Proof"
> > on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first
> man
> > made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer
> and
> > destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his > > head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of > > humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find
> our

> > hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those
> people
> > have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of > > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut > (Satan),
> > I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer
> Africa
> > by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by > removing "the > > Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale > goes,
> > he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally > analyzed the > > self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans
> and in
> > BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now > > imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from
> my > > childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand
> it.As > > Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole > world".
> > And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition > > that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a > body's > > universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a > > black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through > hundreds > > of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave > > master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules,
> and as > > a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving
> to > > produce children who look more like their slave master than like
> their > > ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call > themselves "black"
> > by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.
> PROOF
> > Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman,
> wombbearer
> > and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people > should > > think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.And,
> > naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because > > although I love all races of human beings, and although I have > family

> > members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as > > "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate
> it
> > from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my
> people
> > are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that > must > > be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, > Kola
> > Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a
> white
> > Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is > chocolate
> > and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am > > considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black > Americans I
> > say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to > > fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black > people...and > > I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming
> that
> > Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as > > Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry
> is > > just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that > Vin
> > Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but,
> historically,
> > this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people
> > invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own > > group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, > celebrating > > and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness
> as > > something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been
> the way
> > that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, > disallowed
> > and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending
> that
> > Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth > > is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black > > Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the > children
> > of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white > > supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the > NAACP,

> > if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The > Soul
> > Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life > > Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls
> that no
> > one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in > > Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and > directed by > > Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black > people...the > > authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one > possessing
> > the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid > > features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted
> by > > gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, > Kanye
> > West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these > > beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you > see...the "dark
> > womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is > never > > allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you > will > > never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these > men
> > trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, > > because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon,
> Taye
> > Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.
> America
> > is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase > > black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans > (at > > least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they > > themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the > photos
> > of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit > around > > having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man
> again.
> > Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who
> look > > more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the > > words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated

> person in > > Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her > WOMB
> > makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all > manner
> > of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their > own > > mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a > > savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have > > forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the > very > > darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of > > their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And > > yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and > > protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African
> and
> > Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in > > destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that > there's > > only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human > > beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women
> or
> > White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.
> And
> > in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime
> we > > watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that > > highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of > > darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with > > light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting
> to > > little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got > > platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black
> man
> > choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in
> the
> > media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's > > Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news
> of him > > saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our > front > > doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is > inferior
> > and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide > > NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's > > crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in > > North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's > > true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

> Skin
> > bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in > > America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race
> even > > exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or
> the > > African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn > > about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is
> to
> > erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC > > BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we > possibly > > measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola
> Boof,
> > would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the > test. Just > > because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real > > Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not > half > > Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my
> Half
> > Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my > > people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.
> And
> > it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my > Julia
> > Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese > restaurants or > > having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that > belong
> > somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to > > return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like > > Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look > > like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all > human > > beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and > > Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet,
> beautiful,
> > compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are > > Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful,
> compassionate,
> > kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at > > them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California

> malls
>> full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do
> with
>> black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America >> gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White > Man
>> stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this >> country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the >> nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come > here >> by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks
> and
>> the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them >> both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting > Whiter
>> and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, >> yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa
> (where >> I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination
> that >> wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race".
> They
>> were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is > not >> honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow"
> in an >> African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the >> product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to > suppress >> the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an >> Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are > very >> similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not > treated
>> the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see >> beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same,
> then the
>> High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark >> blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They > would >> have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing > up the >> issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color
> itself
>> and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that > divides

> > us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks > > that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race
> People
> > in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider
> themselves
> > African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting > > America).... and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left
> some > > Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions,
> yellowish
> > red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color
> of > > the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are > indeed
> > mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black > Man
> > is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true > > hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you > black. We > > are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or > > actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES
> NOT > > make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people > who > > have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and
> being > > committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.
> As > > much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and > loathe
> > Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one
> with the > > most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not > nearly > > as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is > what > > makes you black. Authentic. And black children are beautiful... .to > me,
> > they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they > > deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and > > Africa Africa...must not perish. this is interesting read and from > > another perspective from this sistah, her message for us from the > > diaspora. > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them > fast
> > with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming
> to

> > this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > Be a better friend, newshound, and > > know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends
 > on > > the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start
 now! >
 > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
 > Mobile.
 > > Try it now. > > > > > > >
 > > _____> Get the > > power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>
 > > <http://www.windowslive.com?>
 > > ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>
 > > >
 > > >
 > > >
 > > >
 > > >
 > > >
 > > >
 > > >
 > > > _____
 > > > Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.
 > > >
 > > <http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?>
 > > ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\ > > 008
 > > >
 > >
 >

| 24555|2008-01-12 11:44:06|cristofori whitakara|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
 she also calls Arab women Bitches and hates palestine for enslaving sudanese women and children.

Mahari Mengistu wrote:

It could be worse, she smeared Bin Laden.
 HTP,
 Mahari

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "kcammm23063" wrote:

>
 > Sorry I didn't make myself clear. When I asked if any had ever seen > Kola Boof or know someone who has seen her, I meant in person. I > know nothing of Kola having a life outside the internet, except what > she says on the internet. She seems to be a gifted writer, but she > just seems so elusive. As far as her saying there is a fatwa on her,

> I doubt it, for that to happen, one has to smear Allah and/or > Muhammed. So where is she?
>
> Forward,
> Karen
>
>
> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:
>>
>>
>>
>> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I > can do >> is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of > Sister
>> Kola Boof <<http://youtube.com/watch?v=gbZzhjZbyOc&feature=related>>
> at >> youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott.com
> entitled
>> BINT IL NIL <<http://www.terryhowcott.com/greenspace.asp?id=743>>
>>
>>
>> Thanks,
>>
>> Terry
>>
>>
>>
>> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.
>>>
>>> Peter
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
>> +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen

Kola

> > Boof? Forward, Karen- -- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray
> atenergy@

> > wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > >

To:

> > Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -
> 0800Subject: RE:

> > [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are > > referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter

> Gray

> > atenergy@ wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the > head!

> > It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely

> have > > to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if > she's

> > even finished it yet? Peter > > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4

> Jan

> > 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black > > egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I > > haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us
> black

> > Americans.cristofor i whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: > > >
> Htp:Share

> > this and share your perspectives. Remain in Ma'at,Dr.
ChenziraTODAY'S

> > BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year > > ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said:

> > People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe
> ancient

> > Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still > > exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated

ALL

> ofus

> > yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't

> you

> > say something?You' re only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your > > father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown

> bitterness.. .my

> > hatred and loathing for my father's country...I have been remiss to > > mention anything about the country. My only real memory is a > very painful
> > one...the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the > Mullahs after > > my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against > > slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is > > primarily illegal in EGYPT)...because of course, my black skin would
> have > > exposed her--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood
> in her > > family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole > > life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is > > right. The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and > instead > > of debating about the "ancient" people....why do we never force
the
> WHITE
> > MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it that in America--
> only
> > the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown
on > > television or in magazines? Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a
> WHITE
> > nation with no connection to Africa? Clearly. .these photos of > > EGYPTIAN Black people---photos that are NOW TODAY---demonstrate that
> Egypt
> > is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who > still > > exist. If I had not been put up for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian
> > grandmother--I would never have been adopted by the most > wonderful people > > in the world---my Black American family. ..the JOHNSONS of Washington
> > D.C. And I would be somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other
> BLACK
> > people of Egyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a
> BLACK
> > WOMAN who is now an American citizen....I am able to bring some > clarity

> > throughmy work and activism.... and this hasbeen extremely > > painful....because as my good friend,Derrick Bell pointed out to > > me---AMERICA doesn't want any imagethat is black to represent
> theNile
> > River Valley....and Derricktold me that this is one of thereasons
> that > > AMERICAN media hasbeen so hostile towards me--because I am too
> black and
> > my hair is NAPPYas the Black Americans say. I am notthe right
> > "image" ....and just like they WHITENEDthe recent exhibition of
KING
> > TUTwhen it toured California (and for those of us who are North > > African,we know full well that the CHARCOALNubian Queen Tiye was > TUT's
> > motherand justlike they fought against the Scientistswho
> reconstructed
> > the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a darkbrown
> black > > woman....The Americans are veryracist against the idea of EGYPTbeing
> > represented by those of us whoare BLACK.For those Egyptians reading
> this > > post, I, Kola Boof, can promiseyou that I have been treated like
> trashby
> > the American media---and because ofthe controversies surrounding
my > > life,they even tried to pretend that I do notexist. That I was made > up > > and not a real person. And they have slandered my namewith every > chance
> > they could slander it.I tell you all....as AFRICANS...thatwe must > begin
> > to recognize that there isa hideous racism in these WHITE > > Americanpeople- -far worse than the African immigrants have wanted
to > > believe. They are not honestpeople. ...and as they have falsely > branded > > mea LIAR...I know their real face now.ANWAR SADAT:Like me, our late
> > Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half > > Egyptian.Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything hecould to distance > > himself from the title of"black man".He insisted that he was NOT > > BLACK---that he was an Arab.His Sudanese mother was never seen and > > inevery political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST

on

> the >> blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African

> heritage

>> and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the >> Arab League... because they wanted to entice the Black Americans

> after the >> Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all

> things

>> MUSLIM, all things ARAB ....and especially to support

> PALESTINE. Many of >> you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploing me to speak up for >> the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with

> Black

>> Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and

> I am

>> compelled to fight for women's rights. ...as well as Black people's >> rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt- -I am Black

> with

>> African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been >> sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my > intelligence is >> not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our > lives as

>> Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own

>> notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like

> Louis Farrakhan. The

>> Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that?

We

>> never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient

> Kings

>> and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk"

> about

>> Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white.

> It's

>> all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to > explain

>> to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support

>> PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done

> horrendous

>> things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend

it. Even

> after

>> I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the

> > "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because
> the Palestinians are > > so colorstruck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to > > defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my > brothers
> > and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara > desert
> > sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here.
> And
> > although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part,
I
> > havenot forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten
> our > > solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my > > Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our > > truth...and to make us less invisble. Long live the BLACK > Egyptians!!! !!
> > tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two > chapters
> > of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost
> Girl" http://doorofkush.
> > 50megs.com/ photo2.html_ (http://doorofkush. 50megs.com/> photo2.html)
> > AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, > > technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, > D.C. by > > a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I > returned
> > to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an > > uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my > > citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom > > fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet.
> > PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe
> the
> > "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the
> black > > woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it > as "Nappy
> > Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes... "God put "the > Proof"
> > on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first
> man

> > made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer
> and > > destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his > > head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of > > humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find
> our > > hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those
> people
> > have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction
of > > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut > (Satan),
> > I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer
> Africa
> > by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by > removing "the > > Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale
> goes,
> > he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally > analyzed the > > self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans
> and in
> > BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now > > imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale
from
> my > > childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand
> it.As > > Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole > world".
> > And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition > > that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a > body's > > universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as
a > > black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through > hundreds > > of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave > > master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules,
> and as > > a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving
> to > > produce children who look more like their slave master than like

> their > > ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call > themselves "black"
> > by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit.
> PROOF
> > Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman,
> wombbearer
> > and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people > should > > think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them.And,
> > naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because > > although I love all races of human beings, and although I have > family
> > members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as > > "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate
> it
> > from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my
> people
> > are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position
that > must > > be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I,
> Kola
> > Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a
> white
> > Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is > chocolate
> > and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am > > considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black > Americans I > > say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going
to > > fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black > people...and > > I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming
> that > > Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black
as > > Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry
> is > > just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim

that

> Vin

> > Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but,

> historically,

> > this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people

> > invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own > > group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place,

> celebrating

> > and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating

Blackness

> as > > something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been

> the way

> > that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated,

> disallowed

> > and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending

> that

> > Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth > > is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the

Black

> > Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the

> children

> > of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white > > supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the

> NAACP,

> > if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The

> Soul

> > Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life

> > Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls

> that no

> > one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in > > Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and

> directed by

> > Black Filmmakers.. .you will notice that the WOMB of Black > people...the

> > authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one

> possessing

> > the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid > > features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself

enchanted

> by > > gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris

Chestnut,

> Kanye

> > West, DjimonHounsou. ..and you wonder...where in the hell did these > > beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you

> see...the "dark
> > womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is > never > > allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you
> will > > never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these > men
> > trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, > > because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon,
> Taye
> > Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image.
> America
> > is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase > > black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans
> (at > > least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they > > themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the > photos
> > of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit > around > > having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man
> again.
> > Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who
> look > > more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the > > words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated
> person in > > Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her
> WOMB
> > makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all > manner
> > of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their > own > > mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a > > savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have > > forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon
the
> very > > darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA
of

> > their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state.
And
> > yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and > > protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African
> and > > Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in > > destroying, lying upon and degrading this image.We claim that > there's > > only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human > > beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women
> or > > White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself.
> And
> > in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out.
Everytime
> we > > watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films
that > > highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of > > darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up
with > > light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting
> to > > little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got > > platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black
> man
> > choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and
in
> the > > media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's > > Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news
> of him > > saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our > front > > doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is > inferior
> > and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it.
Worldwide
> > NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's > > crucial that we understand what a nigger really is.Whether he be

in

> > North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a

nigger's

> > true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master.

> Skin

> > bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in > > America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black

race

> even

> > exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or

> the > > African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a

damn

> > about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal

is

> to

> > erase himself and become the image of his master.THE AUTHENTIC

> > BLACKPeople ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we

> possibly

> > measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola

> Boof,

> > would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the > test.Just > > because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a

Real

> > Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black.

Not

> half

> > Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my

> Half

> > Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my > > people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.

> And

> > it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my

> Julia

> > Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese

> restaurants or > > having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that > belong

> > somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me

to > > return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like

> > Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to

look > > like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all > human > > beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and > > Mariah Carey's CDs, and I admire them because they're sweet,

> beautiful,
> > compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so
are > > Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful,
> compassionate,
> > kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks
at > > them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California > malls
> > full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do
> with > > black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America
> > gets lighter and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White
> Man > > stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this > > country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the > > nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come > here > > by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks
> and > > the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them > > both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting > Whiter
> > and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, > > yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa
> (where > > I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination
> that > > wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race".
> They
> > were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction
is
> not > > honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow"
> in an > > African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is

the > > product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to > suppress

> > the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an > > Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are > very > > similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not > treated

> > the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see > > beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same,

> then the

> > High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark > > blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They > would > > have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing

> up the > > issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color

> itself

> > and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that

> divides

> > us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks > > that divides us.And though we have been littered with Mixed race

> People

> > in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider

> themselves

> > African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting

> > America).... .and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left

> some

> > Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions,

> yellowish

> > red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color

> of

> > the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are

> indeed

> > mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a

Black

> Man

> > is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true > > hair.And that one drop of African blood....does not make you

> black.We > > are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or > > actions...being down for Black people and the Black

cause.....DOES

> NOT

> > make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people > who > > have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and

> being > > committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black.

> As

> > much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe

> > Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the > > most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly > > as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is

> what > > makes you black. Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to > me,

> > they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they > > deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and

> > Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from > > another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the > > diaspora.> > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast > > with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming

> to

> > this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and > > know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends

> on

> > the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! >

> > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!

> Mobile.

> > Try it now. > > > > > > >

> > _____ _> Get the > > power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>

> > <http://www.windowslive.com?>

> ocid=TXt_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>

> > >

>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>

---

>>> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

>>>

>> <http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?>

> ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\

>> 008

>>>

>>

>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24556|2008-01-12 11:44:36|cristofori whitakara|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
terry i relate with her too as i like to say i'm into womananity (finds my sanity within my mother and her teachings) :)

Terry wrote:

Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can do is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of Sister Kola Boof at youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott. com entitled BINT IL NIL

Thanks,

Terry

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: kcam23063@. ...: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04 +0000Subject:
[Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>

>

>

>

> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola Boof?

Forward,Karen- -- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:>> >

Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter

> > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofor i whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: > > > Htp:Share this and share your perspectives. Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY' S BLACK EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You' re only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness.. .my hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed her--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and instead of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--only theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a WHITE nation with no connectionto Africa?Clearly. .these photos of EGYPTIANBlack people--- photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstr ate that Egypt is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian grandmother- --I would never have beenadopted by the most wonderfulpeople in the world---my Black Americanfamily. ..the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people ofEgyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN whois now an American citizen....I amable to bring some clarity throughmy work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful....because as my good friend,Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right "image"....and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she was a dark brown black woman....The Americans are very racist against the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like trash by the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people- -far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people. ...and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League.. ..because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARAB ....and especially to support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploping me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights. ..as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt- -I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so color struck- --they still bedamned me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" _<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>_ (<http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not

"authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic", but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, DjimonHounsou. ..and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types) will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authenticBlack woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J. Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter and lighter with each new generation... ..but the White Man stays White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously ly being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness. So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us.And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... .and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black.We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood. He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish.this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.> > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now!> > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > > _> Get the power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.> <http://www.windowslive.com>

ive.com?ocid= TXT_TAGHM_ Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> [http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?ocid= TXT\_TAGHM\_ Wave2\_sharelife\_012008](http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?ocid= TXT_TAGHM_ Wave2_sharelife_012008)

>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24557|2008-01-12 17:21:33|Terry|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

Well, I confess I haven't followed her enough to say I relate with her entirely. What I can say is that I appreciate any Sister who is ostracized - and I really enjoyed some of her writings If she said such a thing about women of Palestine, I think we all would obviously strongly oppose that.

Terry

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

> terry i relate with her too as i like to say i'm into womananity

(finds my sanity within my mother and her teachings) :)

>

> Terry terrylynnh@... wrote:

>

> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can do is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of Sister Kola Boof at youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott.com entitled BINT IL NIL

>

>

> Thanks,

>

> Terry

>

>
 >
 > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:
 >>
 >>
 >> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.
 >>
 >> Peter
 >>
 >>
 >>
 >> To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04 +0000Subject:

[Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>>
 >>
 >>
 >>
 >> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola

Boof? Forward,Karen--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter > > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofori whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: > > > Htp:Share this > and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY'S BLACK

EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness..my hatred and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful one...the memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal > in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed her--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and instead of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--only theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a WHITE nation with no connectionto Africa?Clearly..these photos of EGYPTIANBlack people---photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian grandmother---I would never have beenadopted by the most wonderfulpeople in the world---my > Black Americanfamily...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people ofEgyptian blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN whois now an American citizen....I amable to bring some clarity throughmy work and activism.... and this hasbeen extremely painful....because as my good friend,Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any imagethat is black to represent theNile River Valley....and Derricktold me that this is one of thereasons that AMERICAN media hasbeen so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPYas the Black Americans say. I am notthe right "image"....and just like they WHITENEDthe recent exhibition of KING TUTwhen it toured California (and for those of us who are North African,we know full well that the CHARCOALNubian Queen Tiye was TUT's motherand justlike they fought against the Scientistswho reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she > was a darkbrown black woman....The Americans are veryracist against

the idea of EGYPTbeing represented by those of us whoare BLACK.For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promiseyou that I have been treated like trashby the American media---and because ofthe controversies surrounding my life,they even tried to pretend that I do notexist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my namewith every chance they could slander it.I tell you all....as AFRICANS...thatwe must begin to recognize that there isa hideous racism in these WHITE Americanpeople--far worse than the African immigrantshave wanted to believe. They are not honestpeople....and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT

> BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and

in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARAB ....and especially to support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploping me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I > try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so color-struck--they still bedammed me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not

> supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima

Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you...that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth...and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! tima usrah (through fire comes the family)Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html> (http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of > trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut

(Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through > hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people > are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people

> invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own

group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms. If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or > gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you

watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. .you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Tye Diggz looking types) > will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of > blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male > and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J.

Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in > America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race

even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts > movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's CDs, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter > and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays

White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White > Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind. And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or > black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... .and though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black. We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the > fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood.

He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic. And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish. this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah, her message for us from the diaspora. > > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > >

> _____> Get the

power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>

http://www.windowslive.com?ocid=TXT\_TAGHM\_Wave2\_powerofwindows\_012008>

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> > _____> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> >

http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?ocid=TXT\_TAGHM\_Wave2\_sharelife\_012008

> >

>

>

>

>

>

> -----

> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!

Search.

>

| 24558|2008-01-12 21:06:47|shaimesh@aol.com|Sunday Night "Live" with Brother Ray-"The Resurrection Of Jesus Chri|

From: truthcenter@ aol.com

This Sunday Night's Topic is:

THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS: FACT OR FABLE?

"Belief in the resurrection is not an appendage to the Christian faith. It IS the Christian faith."

- George Carey, Archbishop of Canterbury , London Times, April 19, 1992

For almost 2 millennia, the Christian Church has taught that Jesus was crucified, died, and was bodily resurrected (i.e. returned to life in his original body) three days later. This has long been one of the church's foundational beliefs, along with the inerrancy of the Bible, and the virgin birth, atonement, and future second coming of Jesus, etc. Do you want to know what REALLY happened???

Join Dr. Hagins Every Sunday Night

8:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight (EST)

(7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Central Time)

For "LIVE" talk radio and Q&A Log on to: www.wblr.com

Call-in lines: 1-877-454-1900 (Long Distance) & (314) 741-9507 (St. Louis area)

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24559|2008-01-12 22:10:27|bonotchim@aol.com|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

Hotep to all, about two years ago I meet Kola Boof when she gave a lecture in Detroit. Michigan. She had some pictures of this event on her web page. She is a tall, black, fine, deep sister. She is not a myth. We had to Det. police outside the bookstore where she lectured. The government cleared the plane she was on of other passengers and I think she flew into detroit alone on a plane. Bro. Bonotchi

-----Original Message-----

From: Terry

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Sat, 12 Jan 2008 8:02 pm

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

Well, I confess I haven't followed her enough to say I relate with her entirely. What I can say is that I appreciate any Sister who is ostracized - and I really enjoyed some of her writings If she said such a thing about women of Palestine, I think we all would obviously strongly oppose that.

Terry

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

> terry i relate with her too as i like to say i'm into womananity

(finds my sanity within my mother and her teachings) :)

>

> Terry terrylynnh@... wrote:

>

> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can do is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of Sister Kola Boof at youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at terryhowcott. com entitled BINT IL NIL

>

>

> Thanks,

>

> Terry

>
>
>
> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:
>>
>>
>> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.
>>
>> Peter
>>
>>
>>
>> To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04 +0000Subject:

[Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>>
>>
>>
>>
>> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen Kola

Boof? Forward,Karen- -- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -0800Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication. Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head! It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's even finished it yet? Peter > > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black Americans.cristofor i whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: > > > Htp:Share this

> and share your perspectives. Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY' S BLACK

EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola, you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say something?You' re only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father was an Egyptian. And he's right. Because of my own bitterness.. my hatred and loathing for my father's country... I have been remiss to mention anything about the country. My only real memory is a very painful one... the memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs after my birth parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal > in EGYPT)... because of course, my black skin would have exposed

her--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is right. The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead of debating about the "ancient" people.... why do we never force the WHITE MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it that in America--only the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on television or in magazines? Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE nation with no connection to Africa? Clearly. .these photos of EGYPTIAN Black people---photos that are NOW TODAY---demonstrate that Egypt is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still exist. If I had not been put up for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian grandmother-- I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful people in the world---my

> Black American family. .the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C. And I would be somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other BLACK people of Egyptian blood... I would be INVISIBLE. But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an American citizen.... I am able to bring some clarity through my work and activism.... and this has been extremely painful.... because as my good friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any image that is black to represent the Nile River Valley.... and Derrick told me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPY as the Black Americans say. I am not the right "image".... and just like they WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING TUT when it toured California (and for those of us who are North African, we know full well that the CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother and just like they fought against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to discover that she > was a dark brown black woman.... The Americans are very racist against

the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have been treated like trash by the American media---and because of the controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a hideous racism in these WHITE American people- -far worse than the African immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people. ...and as they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was NOT

> BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and

in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the Arab League...because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things MUSLIM, all things ARAB ....and especially to support PALESTINE. Many of you in Egypt and in London wrote to me---imploping me to speak up for the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am compelled to fight for women's rights. ..as well as Black people's rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt- -I am Black with African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is not respected. When I > try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but they want the fantasy grandeur of ancient Kings and Queens and they crave the past. Many of them "talk, talk, talk" about Africa and being BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a farce, because they don't know who they are. When I try to explain to them that as a "BLACK" North African woman...I cannot support PALESTINE, even though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous things to the Palestinians. ...they simply cannot comprehend it. Even after I told them about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing" of Black women by Palestinians, because the Palestinians are so colorstruck--they still bedeviled me for getting weapons to defend myself from ISRAEL and not

> supporting Palestine. But my brothers and sisters... I am STILL Naima

Bint Harith. Although the Sahara desert sun no longer blackens me, I am still dark and beautiful. I am here. And although there has been great bitterness against EGYPT on my part, I have not forgotten your beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK people. And I promise you... that in my Autobiography, I have done all that I can to tell our experience, our truth... and to make us less invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html> ( <http://doorofkush.50megs.com/photo2.html>) AUTHENTIC BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North Africa for several years, got into loads of > trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress... but returned to the land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist and poet. PROOF, of course... is the term that many Africans use to describe the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and the black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it as "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes... "God put "the Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, conquer and destroy the black man... is to remove the Crown (the Proof) from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other race of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of

> us... we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut

(Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer Africa by killing the black man... which can only truly be done by removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in Black Americans and in Black British, and the ways that their legendary self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to understand it. As Alice Walker wrote... "It only takes one lie to unravel the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the racist admonition that... "one drop" of African blood defiles everything else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced through > hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules, and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop" bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if my people > are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position that must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I, Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp, I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black people

> invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own

group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as something to be "evolved" from...and in particular, this has been the way that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP, if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no one protects or > gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you

watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers.. .you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, Djimon Hounsou. ..and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking types)

> will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge out of > blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations are male > and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J.

Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person we can find in

> America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race

even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master or the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof, would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal. And it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia Roberts > movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and Mariah Carey's CDs, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America gets lighter

> and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays

White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country. They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2 to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from) were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable. Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of White

> Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same, their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a like mind. And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself and the loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us. The difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves African or > black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... .and

though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair. And that one drop of African blood....does not make you black. We are not so inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or actions...being down for Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence Thomas....the > fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood.

He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black. Authentic. And black children are beautiful... .to me, they're more beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not perish. this is interesting read and from another perspective from this sistah, her message for us from the diaspora. > > > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live. Start now! > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > >

> _____> Get the

power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>

[http://www.windowslive.com?ocid= TXT\_TAGHM\_Wave2\_powerofwindows\_012008](http://www.windowslive.com?ocid= TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008)>

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> > Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> >

[http://www.windowlive.com/share.html?ocid= TXT\_TAGHM\_Wave2\_sharelife\_012\008](http://www.windowlive.com/share.html?ocid= TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\008)

> >

>

>

>

>

>

> -----

> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!

Search.

>

---

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

| 24560|2008-01-13 02:36:56|Mahari Mengistu|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|

>>If she said such a thing about women of Palestine, I think we all would obviously strongly oppose that.<<

Why? If they are bitches - then they are. Just because a group is oppressed doesn't in ANY logical way mean that they therefore are good. They are just oppressed and we'd LIKE TO THINK that they are also good and undeserving of their treatment. They may be underserving of jewish oppression - and I'd say they are - but that does not mean therefore they are not opprssors of black women. Remember too many of us think for some reason that Arabs are our friends even though they were the middlemen in the slave trade of "old" - and perhaps currently - and are now a pain in the ass to Afrikans today.

HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:

>
>
>

> Well, I confess I haven't followed her enough to say I relate with her > entirely. What I can say is that I appreciate any Sister who is > ostracized - and I really enjoyed some of her writings If she said such > a thing about women of Palestine, I think we all would obviously > strongly oppose that.

>
>

> Terry

>
>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara

> wrote:

>>

>> terry i relate with her too as i like to say i'm into womananity

> (finds my sanity within my mother and her teachings) :)

>>

>> Terry terrylynnh@ wrote:

>>

>> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can > do is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of

> Sister Kola Boof at youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at

> terryhowcott.com entitled BINT IL NIL

>>

>>

>> Thanks,

>>

>> Terry

>>

>>

>>

>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:

>>>

>>>

>>> Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

>>>

>>> Peter
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04
+0000Subject:
> [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen
Kola
> Boof? Forward,Karen--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray
atenergy@
> wrote:>>> Thanks. I'll try googling the title.>> Peter>>> To:
> Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 -
0800Subject: RE:
> [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian>>>> if you are > referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter
Gray
> atenergy@ wrote: >>> Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head!
> It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely
have > to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's > even finished it yet? Peter >>> To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4
Jan
> 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black > egyptian>>> I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I > haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us
black > Americans.cristofori whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: >>> Htp:Share
> this
>> and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY'S
BLACK
> EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one > of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People
are > so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians
> were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The > Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus

yet.Kola,

> you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say > something?You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father > was an Egyptian.And he's right. Because of myown bitterness.. .my hatred
> and loathingfor my father's country...I have beenremiss to mention > anything about thecountry.My only real memory is a verypainful
one...the > memory of my WhiteArab grandmother going to the Mullahsafter my birth
> parents had been executedin SUDAN for speaking out against slaveryto get > PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarilyillegal
> > in EGYPT)...because of course,my black skin would have exposed > her--Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACKAfrican blood in her > family's veins.A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole > life trying to hidefrom the Arab Muslim social set.BUT my uncle is > right.The true Egyptians--the Black Egyptiansdo still exist, and
instead > of debatingabout the "ancient" people....why do we never force the
WHITE
> MEDIA to showimages of the black ones?Why is it that in America--
only
> theWHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJAand the Noor are ever shown on > televisionor in magazines?Why do they insist on painting EGYPTas a
WHITE
> nation with no connectionto Africa?Clearly..these photos of > EGYPTIANBlack people---photos that are NOWTODAY---demonstrate that
Egypt
> is nota White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still > exist.If I had not beenput up for adoption bymy colorstruck Egyptian > grandmother---I would never have beenadopted by the most
wonderfulpeople
> in the world---my > > Black Americanfamily...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be > somewhereon the Nile River,and like all other BLACK people
ofEgyptian
> blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN whois now an > American citizen....I amable to bring some clarity throughmy work
and > activism.... and this hasbeen extremely painful....because as my good > friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any > image that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and

Derrick told > me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile

> towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPY as the Black > Americans say. I am not the right "image"....and just like they

> WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING TUT when it toured California (and > for those of us who are North African, we know full well that the

> CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother and just like they fought > against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to > discover that she > > was a dark brown black woman....The Americans are very racist against > the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those > Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I have > been treated like trash by the American media---and because of the > controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do > not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have > slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you > all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a > hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African > immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people....and as > they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face now. ANWAR

> SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half > Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to > distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was

> NOT

> > BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen and > in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on the > blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage

> and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the > ArabLeague....because they wanted to entice theBlack Americans
 after the > Civil RightsMovement and the Black Power Movement tosupport all things
 > MUSLIM, all things ARAB ....and especially to support
 PALESTINE.Many of > you in Egypt and in London writeto me---imploring me to speak up for > theBlack Egyptians.You do not realize that I am not popularwith
 Black
 > Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMANand
 I am
 > compelled to fight for women'srights...as well as Black people's > rights.I am also the wrong "image" to representEgypt--I am Black
 with > African hair. I have also had a very unusual life andhave been > sinful....I am portrayed hereas a "crazy woman" and my intelligenceis
 > not respected.When I > > try to speak withBlack Americans about our lives as Black people
 on > the Nile River....they are arrogant with theirown notions, many of which > comefrom Islamic leaders like LouisFarrkhan.The Black Americans run > aroundsaying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We neverspeak this way, but > they want the fantasygrandeur of ancient Kings and Queensand they crave
 > the past. Many of them"talk, talk, talk" about Africa andbeing > BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a > farce,because they don't know who they are.When I try to explain to them
 > that as a"BLACK" North African woman...I cannotsupport PALESTINE,
 even > though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous thingsto the > Palestinians. ...they simply cannotcomprehend it.Even after I told them > about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing"of Black
 > women by Palestinians, because thePalestinians are so colorstruck-
 > --they stillbedamned me for getting weapons to defendmyself from ISRAEL
 > and not > > supporting Palestine.But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima
 > Bint Harith.Although the Sahara desert sun no longerblackens me, I am > still dark and beautiful.I am here. And although there has been > greatbitterness against EGYPT on my part, I havenot forgotten your > beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK > people.And I promise you...that in my Autobiography,I have done all

that > I can to tell our experience,our truth...and to make us less > invisble.Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire
> comes the family)Read the first two chapters ofKola Boof's > autobiography, "Diary of aLost Girl"_http://doorofkush. 50megs.com/
> photo2.html_ (http://doorofkush. 50megs.com/ photo2.html) AUTHENTIC > BLACKNESS:THE PROOFBy Kola BoofI am an African woman, technically > bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black > American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North > Africa for several years, got into loads of > > trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to
the > land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a > freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist
and > poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe > the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and
the > black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it
as
> "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes..."God put "the > Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the > first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat, > conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof)
> from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other
race
> of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our > hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those
people
> have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of > > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut > (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer
> Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by > removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-

Hebrew

- > folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I
- > finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in
- > Black Americans and in BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary
- > self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this
- > folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to
- > understand it. As Alice Walker wrote... "It only takes one lie to unravel
- > the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the
- > racist admonition that... "one drop" of African blood defiles everything
- > else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that
- > "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced
- > through
- > > hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand their
- > slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules,
- > and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by
- > striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than
- > like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call
- > themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop"
- > bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African
- > woman, wombbearer and mother... against the racist American notion that
- > Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can
- > BE them. And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to
- > take... because although I love all races of human beings, and although I
- > have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White... it is
- > seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to
- > separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if
- > my people
- > > are to survive... and to survive as themselves, it's a position that
- > must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I,

> Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a > white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is > chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp,

> I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black > Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still > going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black > people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by > claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as > black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle

> Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim > that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, > historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black

> people

> > invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own > group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating

> and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as > something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been the way

> that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed

> and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending that

> Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth

> is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black

> Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children > of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white

> supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP,

> if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul

> Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life

> Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls

that no

> one protects or > > gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you > watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers..
> .you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black > woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the > Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost > always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous > African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye West, > Djimon Hounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful > authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that > it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to > be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see > the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted > across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is > the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking > types)
> > will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western > society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and > Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also > hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black, > they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man > hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but > they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will > marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white > lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother > Africa"...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America > is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them > black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse, > create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in > order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge > out of > > blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look > upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what > they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left > of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the > connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their > ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from > Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and > degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human > race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a > deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding > it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are > encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger and > coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness > and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations > are male

> > and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J.
> Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute > unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, > successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on > television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see > Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played > on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step > out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that > blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate and > ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word
> "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really > is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United > States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image > of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person

> we can find in >> America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black
race
> even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master
or > the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn > about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is
to
> erase himself and become the image of his master. THE AUTHENTIC > BLACK People ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly > measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola
Boof, > would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test. Just > because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real > Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half > Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my
Half
> Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my > people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.
And
> it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia
> Roberts
>> movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or > having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong
> somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to > return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like > Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look > like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods. It's not that I don't love all human > beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and > Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet,
beautiful,
> compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are > Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful,
compassionate,

> kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at > them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls
 > full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do
 with > black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America
 > gets lighter
 > > and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays > White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country.
 > They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1 > minority group....mysteriously being allowed to come here by the > MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the > Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them both 2
 > to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and > Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower > and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm
 from) > were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out > the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total > losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable.
 > Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African > tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of
 > White
 > > Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.
 > So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic > Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, > but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same,
 > their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty
 the > same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High > Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks > insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a > like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue > that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself

and the > loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us.

The

> difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that > divides us. And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in > Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves

> African or

>> black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting

America).... and

> though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans

lighter

> shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though

> the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black > majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a > thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know > the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair. And that one > drop of African blood....does not make you black. We are not so > inferior...that just anybody can be us. Deeds or actions...being down for

> Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If that > were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down > for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black > causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and > idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence

> Thomas....the >> fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood.

> He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or > committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black.

> Authentic. And black children are beautiful... to me, they're more > beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born, > because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not > perish. this is interesting read and from another perspective from this > sistah, her message for us from the diaspora. >>> Looking for last > minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The

black > woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > >

> Be
> a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try
it
> now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + > Windows Live?. Start now! > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and > know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. > > > > > > > > > _____> Get
the > power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>
> http://www.windowslive.com?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >

---

> > > Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.

> > >
> http://www.windowslive.com/share.html?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\
> 008

> > >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > -----

> > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!

> Search.

> >
>

| 24561|2008-01-13 06:15:25|Ferg|Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas|

Hi.

Any comments from Ta-Seti on the following message from Meroe Yahoo group.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: adin kachisi

To: Meroe@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Friday, January 11, 2008 6:44 PM

Subject: [Meroe] Re: Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas

--- In Meroe@yahoogroups.com, john welch wrote:

> The Medewe cobra, Eg. uraeus, is seen in Norse church snake-dragons as on Thai temples and Angkor of the cobra Naga kings. (Naga of early Egypt?).

I wonder who these Naga snake kings were and more importantly whether they were benevolent or an oppressive elite royalty. Why the association between kingship and snakes?

NAGAS:- Snake Kings

1. We know that in Indian mythology a race of half-human half-snake beings were called the nagas.

- In Tibet, the same characters are demi-gods, and in China, they're associated with the emperors.

- Same for Egypt

2. For the Hindus, the Nagas are snake gods and nature spirits. In Malaysia and Indonesia, Naga means dragon.

-For the Cambodians, the Nagas are a reptilian race of beings who possessed a large empire in the Pacific Ocean. Their legends say a Naga king's daughter married an Indian Brahmana and brought forth the Cambodian people.

-In China, Korea, and Japan, they talk of dragon kings and their descendants.

3. The Hebrews also have the word Naga. For them, it means shining one or serpent.

4. In Mexico, their word Naguel originally meant serpents of wisdom.

5. In Africa, for the Ethiopians their word Nagast means kings.

The Kebra Nagast deals with the origins of Solomonic line of the emperors of Ethiopia - all about kingship.

- In southern Africa, the word Noga means snake in Setswana language. In Zimbabwean Shona language the 'Setswana' word Noga was distorted to Nyoka meaning snake.

peace

Adin

| 24562|2008-01-13 09:47:08|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: Scholarship and Internship, January 18, 2008 deadline|

Alandas Dobbins wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"

To: "Ra` Setep " ,

"Tafari khumbaka" ,
"Kimberley Haile" ,
"Iris Scott" ,
"Alandas Dobbins (Men Ra)" ,
"Andre Dillon" ,
"Bastet Ankh Re" ,
"Curtis Carter" ,
"Felicia Carroll" ,
"Fredrick Jones" ,
"LaSaunders Hunders" ,
"Michael Harrell" ,
"Muata Muse" ,
"Nesby Blanchard" ,
"Nia Glenn-Lopez" ,
"Obike" ,
"Patrick Harris" ,
"Stephanie Williams" ,
"Tena Wheat Crump" ,
"Toni Brittenum" ,
"Tonya Dyson-Jerry"

Subject: FW: Scholarship and Internship, January 18, 2008 deadline

Date: Sat, 12 Jan 2008 20:17:27 -0600

---

From: ecsistare1@aol.com [mailto:ecsistare1@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, January 11, 2008 7:04 PM

To: undisclosed-recipients:

Subject: Fwd: Scholarship and Internship, January 18, 2008 deadline

>> Please forward the information below to anyone you know who is > interested...

>

> I would appreciate it if you would share our NASA Langley Aerospace

> Research

> Summer Scholars (LARSS) Program information with your contacts. This is

> a > paid internship opportunity.

>

> Thanks so much!

> Debbie Murray

> LARSS Program Coordinator

> 757-964-5215

> Deborah.B.Murray@nasa.gov

>

> NASA LARSS Internship Program - <http://research.nianet.org/larss>

>

> Deadline Info: Summer - Feb. 1, 08; Fall - Mar. 6, 08; Spring 2009 -

> Oct.

- > 24, 08
- >
- > NASA's Langley Aerospace Research Summer Scholars (LARSS) Program,
- > hosted at
- > NASA Langley Research Center in Hampton , Virginia , offers paid 10-week
- > summer or 15-week fall and spring internship experiences for rising
- > college
- > juniors and above. Applicants must be U.S. citizens, have a 3.0/4.0
- > GPA,
- > and be pursuing a major of interest to NASA including engineering,
- > science,
- > mathematics, or special project areas such as history, journalism,
- > accounting, and photography.
- >
- > There are also opportunities for outstanding rising High School Seniors,
- > College Freshmen, and Sophomores who have a 3.5 GPA and previous NASA
- > program experience.
- >
- > See website for specific details.
- >
- > -----
- >
- > NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS ALUMNI EXTENSION 2008
- >
- > Alumni Extension Technical Scholarship Greetings, NSBE Graduate/ATP and
- > graduating Collegiate Members. The application deadline for the 2008
- > Alumni
- > Extension Technical Scholarship is quickly approaching. All applications
- > must be submitted within the next week (01/18/2008). There is NO GPA
- > requirement. This scholarship applies to undergraduate seniors already
- > accepted to a graduate program for Fall 2008 as well as any NSBE member
- > (Graduate or ATP) with at least one complete year of graduate study left
- > in
- > program. Details are listed below. Contact NSBE Programs Department for
- > more
- > information.DETAILS: The 2008 Alumni Extension Technical Scholarship
- > recognizes NSBE members accepted or enrolled in graduate school in the
- > Fall
- > of 2008 pursuing an advanced technical degree. The National Society of
- > Black
- > Engineers - Alumni Extension will award up to three (3) Technical
- > Scholarships of $2,000 each to deserving graduate students.
- >
- > ELIGIBILITY: NSBE member in good academic standing
- > Student attending a college/university in the United States
- > Accepted or enrolled in a graduate program for the Fall 2008 term

>
> ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATIONS (NOT REQUIRED): New AE-memberMember of a > Special
> Interest Group (SIG)
> 2+ years remaining in graduate program (note: applicants must have at > least > one complete year of graduate study left in program)
>
> REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION: Applicants must submit all of the following via > postal mail:
> . Proof of acceptance or enrollment in an engineering or science > graduate > program for the Fall 2008 term.
> . One (1) official academic transcript from current institution
> . Two (2) letters of recommendation . Resume highlighting your NSBE > experience (via NSBE Online)
> . Essay (part of NSBE Online application) 200 - 250 words detailing a > technical design, process, or program that NSBE technical professionals > (Alumni) or specialists (graduate students) can implement via a new or > existing Special Interest Group to improve the quality of life in the > Black > community. Incomplete scholarship packets will not be considered
>
> AWARD: $2,000/each
>
> ONLINE SUBMISSION DEADLINE: JANUARY 18, 2008
>
> Please mail recommendation and proof of acceptance/enrollment letters
> to:
>
> National Society of Black Engineers
> AE Technical Excellence Scholarship Program > 205 Daingerfield
> Alexandria , VA 22314
>
> QUESTIONS/CONTACTS:
> National Society of Black Engineers
> Programs Department
> 703.549.2207 x305
> E-mail: programs@nsbe.org or techex@nsbe-ae.org
>
> -----
>
> For those of you looking for an opportunity to partner with NASA, the > NASA

> Explorer Schools is a great way to make the link.
>
>
> NASA Explorer Schools Project Application is Open
>
> Applications are now available for educators interested in joining NASA > Explorer Schools during the 2008-2009 school year. Schools from the 50 > states, the District of Columbia , Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands may > apply for t he NES 2008-2009 school year. NES offers unique > opportunities > designed to engage and educate the future scientists who may someday > advance
> U.S. scientific interests through space exploration.
>
> Teams composed of full-time teachers and a school administrator develop
> and > implement a three-year action plan to address local challenges in > science, > technology and mathematics education for grades 4-9. Schools that are > selected are eligible to receive funding during the three-year > partnership > to purchase technology tools. The project also provides educators and > students with content-specific activities that can be used within the > curricula to excite students about science, technology, engineering, and > math.
>
> Applications are due Jan. 31, 2008. For more information about the NES > Project Application click here or visit:
> http://explorerschools.nasa.gov/portal/site/nes/menuitem.3a9dc5f6e0302a4
> 4825
> 8f708c41a5ea0/
>
>
> If you have any questions or need assistance please contact Trena > Ferrell at > GSFC at 301.286.9211 or trena.ferrell@okstate.edu.
>
>
> Trena Ferrell
> Goddard Space Flight Center
> NASA Explorer Schools Coordinator
> Trena.Ferrell@okstate.edu
> Phone: 301.286.9211/Fax: 301.286.1655
> <http://explorerschools.nasa.gov>
> _____
> John Leck

> Education Specialist
> NASA Goddard Space Flight Center
> Education Office, Code 130.3
> Office: 301-286-7504
> Fax: 301-286-1655
> john.p.leck@nasa.gov

> -----

> Summer Research Program for Minorities

> The Moore Undergraduate Research Apprentice Program (MURAP) invites > applications for a ten-week paid summer research internship for > undergraduate students (rising juniors or seniors). The program will > be held from May 25 -July 31, 2008 at the University of North Carolina > at Chapel Hill . The MURAP program seeks to prepare students from > racially and ethnically diverse backgrounds, or those with a proven > commitment to diversity, for graduate study and academic careers in > fields in the humanities, social sciences and fine arts. The program > provides students with a rigorous research experience under the > guidance of UNC faculty mentor. Each student participant will receive:

> . Stipend . Paid Campus Housing
> . Daily Meal Allowance
> . Weekly writing workshops
> . Free GRE prep course
> . Paid domestic travel expenses (up to $500)

> The application deadline is February 1, 2008. For more details about > the program please see the attached announcement. To access an online > application and for additional information about MURAP please visit > our website at

> <http://www.unc.edu/depts/murap/>

> Also, attached is a flyer and description of the program that you can > handout to your students. We appreciate your help!

> Best,
> Allison Mathews
> MURAP Alumni Coordinator
> Sociology Doctoral Student, UNC-Chapel Hill

> -----

> American Red Cross Presidential Internship Summer Jobs For $400/800

- > Weekly
- > Plus Other Jobs
- >
- > Subject: Paid Internship with the American Red Cross National
- > Headquarters
- > (DEADLINE FOR APPLICATION SUBMITTAL: JANUARY 15, 2008)
- >
- > Undergraduate and graduate students are encouraged to apply for the
- > American
- > Red Cross Presidential Internship Program: the only paid, summer
- > internship
- > program offered at the American Red Cross. With over 35 professional
- > internships at our National Headquarters and salaries ranging from
- > $440-800/week, the Presidential Internship Program is one of the premier
- > internship programs in the United States . Some the perks for 2008
- > Presidential Interns include:
- >
- > . A roundtable discussion with the Red Cross President and CEO.
- >
- > . Brown-bag lunches and meetings with senior leadership and executives.
- >
- > . Housing offered at special rates in nearby George Washington
- > University
- > Campus apartments.
- >
- > . Opportunities to travel to national conferences and areas stricken by
- > disaster.
- >
- > . Information provided to you about Washington , D.C. networking events.
- >
- > . A career development forum with professionals from the Red Cross and
- > for-profit companies.
- >
- > . An employee badge that allows unlimited access to employee lounges
- > and a
- > fitness center.
- >
- > Open positions may be found by going to www.redcross.org, clicking on
- > jobs,
- > followed by search openings, and then under the area of interest
- > clicking
- > "internships". For more information about this year's program you may
- > visit
- > the program's external website at
- > www.redcross.org/presidentialinternship .
- > Please feel free to use the Presidential Internship Program Flyer to - > share

- > news of the program with your chapter members.
- > There are a number of simple step by step instructions that you need to
- > follow for each Presidential Internship job that you select from a list
- > to
- > submit your cover letter/resume. American Red Cross at 202-303-5551 is
- > manned 24 hours a day. You may have to leave a message for someone to
- > get
- > back to you to walk you through the steps. I have provided some detail
- > steps for your convenience below.
- >
- > Go to: www.redcross.org/presidentialinternship
- >
- > click on jobs either at the top of the page or next to Presidential
- > Interns.
- > scroll down and click on
- >
- > Search Openings: View all current openings or search on specific
- > criteria to
- > find jobs that match your interests. You will be asked to log in if you
- > choose to submit to any of our vacancies.
- >
- > click,
- > scroll down on same page
- > leave All next to state
- > leave All next to country
- > at area of interest, scroll down to internship, then
- > scroll down to search, click which
- > takes you to jobs available and where
- > a number of Presidential Intern jobs are listed
- > with different areas of interested. I selected the area
- > of Program Management for a simple to walk you through.
- >
- > Note if you are looking for other jobs you can follow the instructions
- > below
- > search on the same page.
- >
- > On the page with jobs available listed scroll down to
- > your job # section and click on it like I did on job # 6446BR,
- > Presidential
- > Management Internship, Program Management, click on job # 6446BR,
- > click on submit job,
- > click yes under Security Information,
- > enter your e-mail address,
- > enter your password,
- > click yes under Security Information,

> enter or paste the text of our cover letter > from here on you follow the instructions according to your personal > history
>
> and college works.... until you receive confirmation of your submission
> of > the specific Presidential Internship job that you applied for and a note > asking you to please print this email as confirmation of your resume > submission.
>
> -----
>
> Application for the Tom Joyner Foundation
> 2008 Full Ride Scholarship
>
> The Full Ride Scholarship
>
> The Tom Joyner Foundation Full Ride Scholarship is this organization's > most > prestigious scholarship award to date. One scholarship will be awarded > to a > freshman entering a Historically Black College or University (HBCU) in
> the > United States in the fall of 2008. The scholarship recognizes academic > distinction as well as strong character and personal qualities.
>
> The recipient of the Full Ride Scholarship will receive full tuition > waivers > and stipends to cover room and board (on campus only) and books. The > scholarship recipient will have to maintain a required 3.0 GPA (on a > 4.00
> scale) and 15 credit hours per semester -the scholarship award will be > renewed each semester up to ten (10) semesters.
>
> Eligibility
> 1.) United States Citizen
> 2.) Current high school seniors attending school in the United States > (applicant must be anticipating completion of high school in the Spring
> of > 2008).
> 3.) Minimum high school grade point average of 3.50 (on a 4.00 grade > scale, > excluding home school studies) and Minimum SAT score of 1300 (math and > verbal only)/ or ACT score of 28.
> 4.) Applicants must have applied and been accepted into an HBCU by July > 1,

- > 2008.
- > 5.) Applicants must have demonstrated leadership abilities through
- > participation in community service, extracurricular, or other
- > activities.
- >
- > Selection Criteria
- > Students will be selected as finalists based on their academic
- > accomplishments, intellectual and creative distinctions, extracurricular
- > activities, letters of reference, and original essays. Finalists will be
- > invited for a required interview with members of the Full Scholarship
- > Selection Committee. Interviews will occur on or around March 15, 2008.
- >
- > Application Deadline
- > The application must be typed and may be accessed at
- > www.blackamericaweb.com
- > . The application, together with ALL related documentation must be
- > postmarked no later than January 18, 2008. Please place your name on all
- > materials. Do not staple items together. Send the original and one copy
- > of
- > everything to:
- > The Tom Joyner Foundation, Attn: Full Ride Scholarship Committee, PO Box
- > 630495 Irving , Texas 75063 . Address questions to the TJF Full Ride
- > Program.
- > Phone: 972-789-1058 or Fax: 972-789-1411. Last Name _____
- > First _____ Middle Int. _____
- > Forms to Submit
- > I.) Two copies of the applicant's official high school transcript. At
- > least
- > one copy must be certified by the registrar or other recognized
- > official. If
- > SAT or ACT scores are not included, the candidate must arrange to have
- > such
- > results forwarded by a responsible official to The Tom Joyner Foundation
- > Full Ride Scholarship Committee postmarked no later than January 18,
- > 2008.
- > II.) Two copies of a list of your senior year high school courses for
- > 2007-2008.
- > III.) Two letters of recommendation; one from a high school teacher and
- > the
- > other from a teacher, counselor, administrator, or person who can
- > objectively assess your abilities and character .(no family members,
- > please). Do not submit more than two letters. Please ask your references
- > to
- > address the following:
- > . Reference's position or title
- > . Indicate how long and in what capacity you have known the applicant?

- > Describe the applicant's motivation and potential for academic success.
- > Please be specific.
- > . Describe the applicant's distinctive qualities or unique characteristics
- > that you have personally observed that make the applicant particularly qualified to receive a Full Ride Scholarship.
- >
- > IV.) Essay (Type as separate copy and attach to application)
- > . Please address in 350 words or less the most impressionable moment in your life and why. How did this experience influence your goals?
- >
- > V.) Completed application.
- > I wish to be considered for a Full Ride Scholarship. I have applied to a HBCU and have read and agree to all conditions stipulated for Full Ride Scholarship candidates. I include in this application items, I, II, III, IV, and V. Confidential letters of reference written on my behalf will be sealed in individual enveloped and signed along the seal.

> _____
> Signature (Required) Mailing Address

> _____
> _____

> Date City , State, Zip Code Last Name _____ First > _____ Middle Int. _____

> STUDENT PROFILE

> Last Name _____ First _____ Middle
> Int. _____

>
> Address _____

> Email
> Address _____

>
> _____ Male _____ Female Home Phone: _____ Cell Phone: _____

> Social Security Number: _____ Date of Birth: _____ > Parents'

Name _____

>
>
> Address _____

—
> _____
> —
> Home Phone _____ Cell
Phone: _____

[illegible]

> _____
> _____
> _____
> _____
> _____
> _____
> _____
> _____

> Paid Employment

> Are you currently employed part-time or fulltime? ____Y ____N

> If yes, please list positions, dates of employment and brief job > description.

> Company: _____ Position:

> _____

> Dates of Employment: _____ Total Number of Hours:

> _____

> Brief Job Description:

>

_____

—

> Last Name _____ First _____ Middle Int. _____

>

> Company: _____ Position:

> _____

> Dates of Employment: _____ Total Number of Hours:

> _____

> Brief Job Description:

>

_____

—

>

> Company: _____ Position:

> _____

> Dates of Employment: _____ Total Number of Hours:

> _____

> Brief Job Description:

>

_____

—

>

>

> ALL APPLICATIONS MUST BE POSTMARKED BY: January 18, 2008

> Mail Application to:

> The Tom Joyner Foundation

> Attention: Full Ride Scholarship Committee

> PO Box 630495

> Irving , TX 75063

>
> -----
> Stacey Bain Crittenden
> Financial Advisor
> Ettman/Crittenden Team
> Smith Barney*
> 4201 Northview Drive, Suite 500
> Bowie , MD 20716
> 800-344-5348 or 301-809-4928
> Fax 301-262-0876
> stacey.b.crittenden@smithbarney.com
> <http://fa.smithbarney.com/staceecrittenden>
> *Smith Barney is a division of Citigroup Global Markets, Inc.
>
> >Did you know there is one place you can go to: View Your Portfolio, > View Statements & Confirms, View Research & Market Info, Pay Bills, > Obtain Information on Home Loans and Refinancing, and Much More...ALL
> FOR FREE? VISIT: <http://fa.smithbarney.com/staceecrittenden>
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> Classification: UNCLASSIFIED
> Caveats: NONE
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: maritat@verizon.net [<mailto:maritat@verizon.net>]
> Sent: Wednesday, December 26, 2007 11:11 AM
> To: bajebawa@yahoo.com
> Cc: nbernard@howard.edu; kbooker@virginia.edu; Lthomas@mitretek.org;
> Adays3@yahoo.com; Gran1cas@comcast.net; ecoope@verizon.net;
> deneeskee@msn.com; westcarter@aol.com; asewell@comcast.net;
> wmtpmt@verizon.net; midd2401@aol.com; drfordhorton@hotmail.com;
> eveburton@comcast.net; hillarieflood@hotmail.com; GABOOK@aol.com;
> michelle.bernard@iwf.org; valend@aol.com; arthur718@aol.com;
> andreamcintosh@comcast.net; alexinej@aol.com; JOthman100@aol.com;
> Donna.cooper@bet.net; ebllloyd6392@msn.com; Sylvia4@mymailstation.com;
> joanw75@yahoo.com; maria.dejoie.murphy@us.pwc.com; Crittenden, Stacey B
> [GWM-SBPVTC]; cuttnejj@hotmail.com; Jackie@nmanet.org;
> BrASloAus@aol.com; bbrown2778@aol.com; maritat@verizon.net;
> AlcaseTW@comcast.net; Jonitacarter@aol.com; ttmallett@aol.com;
> Tiffini001@cs.com; DSAUNtoot@comcast.net
> Subject: GF January 2008 Meeting Notice

>
>
> See two attachments:
> 1. Notice
> 2. Directions
>
> -----
> Reminder: E-mail sent through the Internet is not secure.
> Do not use e-mail to send us confidential information > such as credit card numbers, changes of address, PIN > numbers, passwords, or other important information.
> Do not e-mail orders to buy or sell securities, transfer > funds, or send time sensitive instructions. We will not > accept such orders or instructions. This e-mail is not > an official trade confirmation for transactions executed > for your account. Your e-mail message is not private in > that it is subject to review by the Firm, its officers, > agents and employees.
> -----
>

---

Make distant family not so distant with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now! =

| 24563|2008-01-13 18:27:04|shaimesh@aol.com|University of Kmt Press; UKMT On-line, New Research|

From: tkilimanjaro@ukmtpress.com

Maat everyone,

We have a winner for the free web site valued at $1300: Ms. Ladia Ferguson! Thank you all again for your support. Next drawing is in August 2008. Each purchase is automatically entered in this web drawing. Best wishes in the future. Our goal is perfection in all that we do. So Ladia will have a wonderful site when it is completed, made to order. If you have an organization we can construct your website at a 10% discount if you are on our mailing list. Get involved, today.

Reciprocity News: University of Kmt Press is partnering with Kemetmagazine who will help with our site editing. Thank you, again Katrina; your help in this area will free us to post much more detailed research findings, quicker and with greater accuracy. Maat, morality, ethics at its highest is reciprocity. Please support these young courageous African liberators out of Oakland Cal. It takes heart to stand tall, it takes nothing to bend over in fear and look the other way. Their video work at Kemetmagazine is exceptional. Please support them. Each month we have to pay our bills out of our pockets, so we understand what these children straight out of college are going through. Only a very few courageous Black folk have helped us get this far; a very few. We thank you again. It takes heart and integrity to face centuries of fears, but our race must begin to find its heart again and strike out on our own---independent of all historical enslavers. All of them.

UNIVERSITY OF KMT ON-LINE 12 week courses are running. The 6/9 week classes begin on January 26th 2006. We are still enrolling students for the 6-9 week courses.

Registration for Second Semester at UKMT starts Jan 13 and goes through April 13th. 2nd semester classes start April 9th 2008. We are registering for all courses.

UKMT PRESS.com is improving. We are posting new research reports at ukmtpress.com. Based on questions posed by our readers---mainly youth and women---our men should step up---this week our newest technical reports are as follows:

Instructions: What Africans with Integrity Must Do
Lessons: Why Black Intelligensia Must Think Independently Principles of Building Pan African Universities
Lessons: When Economic Recessions Become Depressions Principles of Modern Architecture Principles of Reparations***updated Principles of African-centered Education Principles of Kmt Martial Arts Principles of Kmt Initiation

UNIVERSITY OF KMT has a new online and print pan African magazine: Kheperkara. It brings together the African Humanities and African Centered Movements in theory and practice with a special focus on African youth applied practicums in bringing about the African renaissance in this lifetime.

Finally, we all have our reasons for what we do and don't do. Fear is central to so much in our race. But we get heart by doing brave things; we gain strength and guts by measuring up. If our research has helped you understand in a way you haven't understood in the past then you should help us.

best wishes, much respect

tdka kilimanjaro, ph.d.

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24564|2008-01-13 21:07:14|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Group: Kenyan police have killed dozens - Y|

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 13 Jan 2008 13:41:40 -0800
From: Tafari khumbaka
To: ma-a-kherw-owner@yahoogroups.com
CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Subject: Yahoo! News Story - Group: Kenyan police have killed dozens - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

Group: Kenyan police have killed dozens - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080113/ap\_on\_re\_af/kenya\_election\_violence

=====

Yahoo! News

<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24565|2008-01-14 06:00:27|kcamm23063|Re: kola boof on being black egyptian|
Glad to know that someone in this group has seen Ms. Boof.

I can't see the US Government using our tax dollars to clear a plane for Ms. Boof, it would have msde more sense to just fly her on a government plane (even though it would still cost tax dollars).

I am a Kola Bood skeptic :0)

Forward,
Karen

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, bonotchim@... wrote:

>

>

> Hotep to all, about two years ago I meet Kola Boof when she gave a lecture in Detroit. Michigan. She had some pictures of this event on her web page. She is a tall, black, fine, deep sister. She is not a myth. We had to Det. police outside the bookstore where she lectured. The government cleared the plane she was on of other passengers and I think she flew into detroit alone on a plane. Bro.
Bonotchi

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> -----Original Message-----

> From: Terry
> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Sent: Sat, 12 Jan 2008 8:02 pm
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>
> Terry
>
>
>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara
>
> wrote:
>
>>
>
>> terry i relate with her too as i like to say i'm into womananity
>
> (finds my sanity within my mother and her teachings) :)
>
>>
>
>> Terry terrylynnh@ wrote:
>
>>
>
>> Excuse me for dropping in and out the way I do. Sometimes all I can
>
> do is scan all my group mails and keep moving. Here is a video of
>
> Sister Kola Boof at youtube, and also here is a writing by Kola at
>
> terryhowcott.com entitled BINT IL NIL
>
>>
>
>>
>
>> Thanks,
>
>>
>
>> Terry
>
>>
>
>>
>
>>
>

> > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:

>

> > >

>

> > >

>

> > > Good question. I'd like to see some pics of her too.

>

> > >

>

> > > Peter

>

> > >

>

> > >

>

> > >

>

> > > To: Ta_Seti@: kcam23063@: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 09:40:04

+0000Subject:

>

> [Ta_Seti] Re: kola boof on being black egyptian

>

> > >

>

> > >

>

> > >

>

> > >

>

> > > Has anyone ever seen Kola Boof, or know someone who has seen
Kola

>

> Boof? Forward,Karen--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray
atenergy@

>

> wrote:>> > Thanks. I'll try googling the title.> > Peter> > > To:

>

> Ta_Seti@: boogie_down_black@: Mon, 7 Jan 2008 13:39:39 - 0800Subject: RE:

>

> [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black egyptian> > > > if you are

>

> referring to the book "nile River Woman" it is in publication.Peter Gray

>
> atenergy@ wrote: > > > Kola Boof hits so many nails right on the head!
>
> It's hard to know where to begin agreeing with her. I'll definitely have > to get her autobiography. Any idea if its already available or if she's
>
>
> even finished it yet? Peter > > > To: Ta_Seti@: vrainette@: Fri, 4 Jan
>
> 2008 14:45:45 -0800Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] kola boof on being black
>
> egyptian> > > I LOVE that sista!!! I've read a few of her books. I > haven't found anything that I disagree with either, concerning us black
>
>
> Americans.cristofori whitakara boogie_down_black@ wrote: > > >
Htp:Share
>
> this
>
> > and share your perspectives.Remain in Ma'at,Dr. ChenziraTODAY'S BLACK
>
> EGYPTIANS: 2006An Essay through PHOTOSby Kola BoofAbout a year ago,one > of my uncles wrote tome from Egypt, quite bitterly.He said: People are
>
>
> so busy discussingand fighting over whether or notthe ancient Egyptians
>
> were "black"---that they forgot we're still here.We still exist.The
>
> Arabs who claim to be Egyptians have not exterminated ALL ofus yet.Kola,
>
> you live in America, you're somebodyover there. Why don't you say > something?You're only claiming SUDAN. But that's notright.Your father > was an Egyptian. And he's right. Because of my own bitterness.. my hatred
>

>
>
> and loathing for my father's country... I have been remiss to mention > anything about the country. My only real memory is a very painful one... the
>
>
> memory of my White Arab grandmother going to the Mullahs after my birth
>
> parents had been executed in SUDAN for speaking out against slavery to get
>
> PERMISSION to put me up for adoption (as adoption is primarily illegal
>
> > in EGYPT)... because of course, my black skin would have exposed
>
> her-- Miss Najet Kolbookek--- as having BLACK African blood in her
>
> family's veins. A fact that she, unlike my Uncle, has spent her whole
>
> life trying to hide from the Arab Muslim social set. BUT my uncle is
>
> right. The true Egyptians-- the Black Egyptians do still exist, and instead
>
> of debating about the "ancient" people.... why do we never force the
WHITE
>
> MEDIA to show images of the black ones? Why is it that in America-- only
>
> the WHITE ARAB INVADER groups, the BEJA and the Noor are ever shown on
>
> television or in magazines? Why do they insist on painting EGYPT as a WHITE
>
> nation with no connection to Africa? Clearly.. these photos of
>
> EGYPTIAN Black people--- photos that are NOW TODAY--- demonstrate that Egypt
>
> is not a White nation. There are millions of BLACK EGYPTIANS who still

>

> exist.If I had not been put up for adoption by my color-struck Egyptian

>

> grandmother---I would never have been adopted by the most wonderful people > in the world---my

>

>

> > Black American family...the JOHNSONS of Washington D.C.And I would be

>

> somewhere on the Nile River, and like all other BLACK people of Egyptian

>

> blood...I would be INVISIBLE.But because I am a BLACK WOMAN who is now an

>

> American citizen....I am able to bring some clarity through my work and > activism.... and this has been extremely painful....because as my good > friend, Derrick Bell pointed out to me---AMERICA doesn't want any

>

>

>

> image that is black to represent the Nile River Valley....and Derrick told > me that this is one of the reasons that AMERICAN media has been so hostile

>

>

> towards me--because I am too black and my hair is NAPPY as the Black

>

> Americans say. I am not the right "image"....and just like they

>

> WHITENED the recent exhibition of KING TUT when it toured California (and

>

> for those of us who are North African, we know full well that the

>

> CHARCOAL Nubian Queen Tiye was TUT's mother and just like they fought

>

> against the Scientists who reconstructed the face of NEFERTITI only to

>

> discover that she
>
> > was a dark brown black woman....The Americans are very racist against
>
> the idea of EGYPT being represented by those of us who are BLACK. For those
>
> Egyptians reading this post, I, Kola Boof, can promise you that I
have
>
> been treated like trash by the American media---and because of the > controversies surrounding my life, they even tried to pretend that I do
>
>
> not exist. That I was made up and not a real person. And they have
>
> slandered my name with every chance they could slander it. I tell you
>
> all....as AFRICANS...that we must begin to recognize that there is a
>
> hideous racism in these WHITE American people--far worse than the African
>
> immigrants have wanted to believe. They are not honest people....and
as
>
> they have falsely branded me a LIAR...I know their real face
now. ANWAR
>
> SADAT: Like me, our late Black Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was half
>
> Sudanese, half Egyptian. Unlike me, Anwar Sadat did everything he could to
>
> distance himself from the title of "black man". He insisted that he was
>
> NOT
>
> > BLACK---that he was an Arab. His Sudanese mother was never seen
and
>
> in every political decision, every legal law---he was the HARDEST on

the

>

> blacks. He married a White Arab woman. He despised his African heritage

>

> and was basically put in office by the SAUDI ARABIANS and the

>

> Arab League....because they wanted to entice the Black Americans after the

>

> Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement to support all things

>

> MUSLIM, all things ARAB ....and especially to support PALESTINE. Many of

>

> you in Egypt and in London write to me---imploring me to speak up for > the Black Egyptians. You do not realize that I am not popular with Black

>

>

> Americans in the way that Anwar Sadat was popular. I am a WOMAN and I am > compelled to fight for women's rights...as well as Black people's > rights. I am also the wrong "image" to represent Egypt--I am Black with

>

>

>

> African hair. I have also had a very unusual life and have been

>

> sinful....I am portrayed here as a "crazy woman" and my intelligence is

>

> not respected. When I

>

> > try to speak with Black Americans about our lives as Black people on > the Nile River....they are arrogant with their own notions, many of which

>

>

> come from Islamic leaders like Louis Farrakhan. The Black Americans run > around saying, "HOTEP". Can you believe that? We never speak this way, but > they want the fantasygrandeur of ancient Kings and Queensand they crave

>

>
>
> the past. Many of them"talk, talk, talk" about Africa andbeing
>
> BLACK....but their wives and children are white. It's all a
>
> farce,because they don't know who they are.When I try to explain to them
>
> that as a"BLACK" North African woman...I cannotsupport PALESTINE, even
>
> though I am well aware that ISRAEL has done horrendous thingsto the
>
> Palestinians. ...they simply cannotcomprehend it.Even after I told them
>
> about the Sudanese slave women in Palestine and the "sterilizing"of Black
>
> women by Palestinians, because thePalestinians are so colorstruck-
>
> --they stillbedamned me for getting weapons to defendmyself from ISRAEL
>
> and not
>
> > supporting Palestine.But my brothers and sisters...I am STILL Naima
>
> Bint Harith.Although the Sahara desert sun no longerblackens me, I am
>
> still dark and beautiful.I am here. And although there has been
>
> greatbitterness against EGYPT on my part, I havenot forgotten your
>
> beauty or your worth, nor have I forgotten our solidarity as BLACK
>
> people.And I promise you...that in my Autobiography,I have done all
that
>
> I can to tell our experience,our truth...and to make us less > invisible. Long live the BLACK Egyptians!!! !! tima usrah (through fire
>

>
> comes the family) Read the first two chapters of Kola Boof's
>
> autobiography, "Diary of a Lost Girl" _http://doorofkush. 50megs.com/
>
> photo2.html_ (http://doorofkush. 50megs.com/ photo2.html) AUTHENTIC
>
> BLACKNESS: THE PROOF By Kola Boof I am an African woman, technically
>
> bi-racial, who was adopted and raised in Washington, D.C. by a Black
>
> American family. As an adult, searching for myself, I returned to North
>
> Africa for several years, got into loads of
>
> > trouble as an uneducated low rent film actress...but returned to
the
>
> land of my citizenship (America) with a new outlook as a womanist, a
>
> freedom fighter for Sudan's SPLA, and most notably, as a novelist
and
>
> poet. PROOF, of course...is the term that many Africans use to describe
>
> the "one true hair" that is the unique Crown of the black man and
the
>
> black woman. Black Americans (who, to me, are Africans) refer to it
as
>
> "Nappy Hair". And as the Cushitic-Hebrew folktale goes... "God put "the
>
> Proof" on the black man's head as a marker that he is God's son, the
>
> first man made in the image of God, and that the only way to defeat,
>
> conquer and destroy the black man...is to remove the Crown (the Proof)
>
> from his head. I was taught as a little girl in Sudan that no other

race

>

> of humans were given this hair but blacks; and that anytime you find our > hair growing from the scalps of non-blacks, it is because those people

>

>

> have the blood of our bloodberry and are a bastardized extraction of

>

> > us...we being the first race; the blacks, the Africans. Taghut

>

> (Satan), I was taught, is in a never-ending quest to destroy and conquer

>

> Africa by killing the black man...which can only truly be done by > removing "the Proof" from his head. For without it, the Cushitic-Hebrew > folktale goes, he is not really a black man. And it wasn't until I

>

>

>

> finally analyzed the self-destruction and the erasure of blackness in

>

> Black Americans and in BlackBritish, and the ways that their legendary

>

> self-hate is now imported to Africa itself, that I began to take this

>

> folktale from my childhood seriously. Truly, in America, you begin to > understand it.As Alice Walker wrote..."It only takes one lie to unravel

>

>

> the whole world". And in America, that lie manifests itself in the

>

> racist admonition that..."one drop" of African blood defiles everything > else in a body's universe and marks any and everyone possessing that

>

>

> "one drop" as a black person. Tragically, Black Americans were forced

>
> through
>
> > hundreds of years of conditioning to accept, believe and demand
their
>
> slave master's rule, to be ignorant of any African standards or rules,
>
> and as a result, they have been put on Automatic Self-Destruct by
>
> striving to produce children who look more like their slave master than
>
> like their ancestors, but at the same time, continuing to call
>
> themselves "black" by virtue of this insidious and ridiculous "one drop"
>
> bullshit. PROOF Magazine.... is but one of my rebukes, as an African
>
> woman, wombbearer and mother...against the racist American notion that
>
> Black people should think so little of themselves that just anybody can
>
> BE them.And, naturally, this is an extremely painful position to
>
> take...because although I love all races of human beings, and although I
>
> have family members who are mixed, biracial and now even White...it is
>
> seen as "racist" to proclaim one's blackness, to cherish it and to
>
> separate it from the ownership of those who are not black--but still, if
>
> my people
>
> > are to survive...and to survive as themselves, it's a position
that
>
> must be taken. And taken without apology or hesitation. Many say that I,

>

> Kola Boof, am not "authentically" black, because I am the daughter of a > white Arab Egyptian man. Of course, in Africa, because my skin is

>

>

> chocolate and I have "the Proof" of my ancestors growing from my scalp,

>

> I am considered a Black African woman, but to disgruntled Black

>

> Americans I say....fine. You can call me "inauthentic" , but I am still

>

> going to fight for the dignity and integrity of the Authentic Black > people...and I will never promote the evil erasure of black people by

>

>

> claiming that Lenny Kravitz is a black man or that Vin Diesel is just as

>

> black as Denzel Washington or that Mariah Carey is black or that Halle

>

> Berry is just as black as Lauryn Hill. This is not only a lie to claim > that Vin Diesel, Lenny Kravitz and Mariah Carey are black...but, > historically, this has been a strategic tool in making authentic black

>

>

>

> people

>

> > invisible and keeping them from having representation of their own

>

> group. By putting mixed and yellow people in their place, celebrating

>

> and elevating Mulatto images as "normal" and castigating Blackness as

>

> something to be "evolved" from..and in particular, this has been

the way

>

> that the authentic Black woman's image has been denigrated, disallowed

>

> and killed by her own black children in the west...by pretending
that

>

> Lena Horne is the mother of the Black Americans, when the truth

>

> is...Esther Rolle and Cicely Tyson are what the mothers of the Black

>

> Americans actually looked like--the Black Americans being the children

>

> of the West and Central African Kingdoms.If you watch this white

>

> supremacist minstrel network, BET, if you attend a dinner at the NAACP,

>

> if you carefully analyze the majority of women presenters at "The Soul

>

> Train Awards", for instance (where child molesters are given Life

>

> Achievement Prizes provided their victims are little black girls that no

>

> one protects or

>

> > gives a shit about in our community, just like in Africa), or if you

>

> watch the majority of films produced and directed by Black Filmmakers..

>

> .you will notice that the WOMB of Black people...the authentic Black

>

> woman; authentic meaning the darkest, the one possessing the Crown ("the

>

> Proof"), the one with Nilotic, Ethnic or Negroid features..is almost

>

> always disallowed. You find yourself enchanted by gorgeous

>

> African-looking men like Michael Jordan, Morris Chestnut, Kanye

West,

>

> DjimonHounsou...and you wonder...where in the hell did these beautiful

>

> authentic black men come from? Because, you see...the "dark womb" that > it took to create these chocolate royal looking men is never allowed to

>

>

> be shown unless she's presented as an old woman. But you will never see

>

> the 19 year old deep chocolate beauty that produced these men trotted

>

> across the stage as a trophy. She will not be celebrated, because she is > the "black man's mother"--and even her sons (Akon, Taye Diggs looking

>

>

> types)

>

> > will fail to publicly celebrate her image. America is a western > society that completely fears, hates and seeks to erase black people and

>

>

> Africa. And I would say that most Black Americans (at least 70%)...also

>

> hate black people and Africa...but because they themselves are black,

>

> they don't realize it. They will curse the photos of a lynched black man

>

> hanging from a tree as white people sit around having a picnic...but > they will not give birth to that black man again. Instead, they will > marry the lynch rope and produce children who look more like the white

>

>

>

> lynchers at the picnic. They will call out the words, "Mother
>
> Africa" ...yet the lowest, most despised, hated person in Black America
>
> is the authentic Black woman. And the reason is...her WOMB makes them > black, therefore, she is the enemy. And they make all manner of excuse,
>
>
> create any and every bald-faced lie against her...their own mother...in
>
> order to place the White man's mother above her...as a savior; a bridge
>
> out of
>
> > blackness. So many Black Americans have forgotten that when they look
>
> upon African people or look upon the very darkest black woman...what > they are seeing is the living REPLICA of their ancestors... what's left
>
>
> of them...in their natural state. And yet, they don't make the
>
> connection. Instead of cherishing and protecting the ethos of their
>
> ancestors, many of us...both African and Black removed from
>
> Africa...assist the slave master/colonizer in destroying, lying upon and
>
> degrading this image. We claim that there's only one race...the human > race....yet we hate the Blackness in human beings. We see blackness as a
>
>
> deformity... a curse that White women or White men can cure by breeding
>
> it out of us. We hate Africa itself. And in the United States...we are
>

> encouraged to breed it out. Everytime we watch B.E.T (a true nigger
and
>
> coon channel) or countless films that highlight the beauty of Lightness
>
> and disallow representations of darkness...unless those representations
>
> are male
>
> > and paired up with light or white images...everytime we see Mary J.
>
> Blige transmitting to little black girls that she can't possibly be cute
>
> unless she's got platinum blond hair...everytime we see a famous, > successful black man choose a White woman or a Latina Woman (which on
>
>
> television and in the media is MOST of the time)...everytime we see
>
> Michael Jackson's Casper-white complexion or hear phone messages played
>
> on the news of him saying, "I hate my nigger hair!"...everytime we step
>
> out of our front doors in America...we are given the message that
>
> blackness is inferior and sub-human and that the answer is to hate
and
>
> ERASE it. Worldwide NiggerStockBlack Americans don't like the word
>
> "nigger", but it's crucial that we understand what a nigger really
>
> is. Whether he be in North Sudan, South Africa, Jamaica or the United
>
> States...a nigger's true goal is to erase himself and become the image
>
> of his master. Skin bleaching in Africa...marrying the lightest person

>
> we can find in
>
> > America so as to "genetically" bleach...denying that the Black race
>
> even exists...that only HUMANS do, as if Hitler or the Slave Master
or
>
> the African dictator or any other Power on this planet ever gave a damn
>
> about anybody else being human. Seriously. A nigger's true goal is to
>
> erase himself and become the image of his master.THE AUTHENTIC
>
> BLACKPeople ask me who is "authentically black" and how can we possibly
>
> measure who is and who isn't...they point out that I myself, Kola Boof,
>
> would not pass the test. But I don't care about failing the test.Just
>
> because I'm Half Arab...doesn't mean that I don't know what a Real
>
> Black Person is. I do know and so do you. They're mostly Black. Not half
>
> Indian, a quarter Irish and three fourths Filipino. In setting my Half
>
> Arab self aside, I just want to know that the BLACK people...my
>
> people....will continue to exist. Which is not racist, it's normal.
And
>
> it doesn't stop me from loving my Sherwood Anderson books or my Julia
>
> Roberts
>
> > movies. It doesn't stop me from eating at Chinese restaurants or > having sex with a White man I'm attracted to. It just means that belong
>

>
> somewhere and that I want that place to always be there....for me to
>
> return to. Before I had children, I wanted my children to look like
>
> Denzel Washington and Lauryn Hill....and I did not want them to look
>
> like Alicia Keys and Tiger Woods.It's not that I don't love all human > beings...I do love all human beings. I have all of Alicia Keys and
>
>
> Mariah Carey's Cds, and I admire them because they're sweet, beautiful, > compassionate kind women. But that doesn't mean shit. Because so are
>
>
> Lauryn Hill, India Arie and Alek Wek sweet, beautiful, compassionate, > kind women...and those women are my people. Any African who looks at
>
>
> them...immediately recognizes them. And when I see the California malls
>
> full of bi-racial black children, few of whom want anything to do with
>
> black people or Africa...what I see is that the Black Man in America
>
> gets lighter
>
> > and lighter with each new generation.. ..but the White Man stays
>
> White. Black Americans are only 13% of the population in this country.
>
> They were very recently taken over by the Latinos as the nation's #1
>
> minority group....mysterious ly being allowed to come here by the
>
> MILLIONS in just 20 short years. And...if you put the Blacks and the
>
> Latinos together...then the White Americans still outnumber them

both 2

>

> to 1. So, you see...I am right. The White Man is getting Whiter and

>

> Whiter and the Black Americans are being bred into Mulattos, yellower > and yellower, which is how our empires in North Africa (where I'm from)

>

>

> were destroyed. This is the same ancient extermination that wiped out > the MOORS.....and truly, the MOORS were a "nigger race". They were total > losers, otherwise, they would still exist. Extinction is not honorable.

>

>

>

> Don't get me wrong. It's natural to have some "yellow" in an African > tribe. Here and there. But this disparity in America is the product of

>

>

> White

>

> > Supremacy. It is unnatural and it is done to suppress the blackness.

>

> So of course, we all know the difference between an Authentic

>

> Black...and a Mulatto, Biracial, Mixed person. They are very similar, > but ultimately, they are not the same....they are not treated the same,

>

>

> their experiences are not the same, they can no longer see beauty the > same or love Africa the same. If they were the same, then the High

>

>

> Yellows wouldn't be in denial about Colorism...while the dark blacks > insist that it's the very marrow of their existence. They would have a

>

>
> like mind.And it's not the ISSUE of color...or my bringing up the issue
>
> that divides us....but it's the stark difference in color itself
and the
>
> loss of hair texture and the loss of African looks that divides us.
The
>
> difference in how we are treated based on our separate looks that
>
> divides us.And though we have been littered with Mixed race People in
>
> Africa (most of whom are in the North and do not consider themselves
>
> African or
>
> > black, unless it's to get AID or they're visiting America).... .and
>
> though a thousand years of "explorers" have left some Africans lighter
>
> shades of brown and even, on rare occasions, yellowish red....and though
>
> the Higher Class Ethiopians who are not the color of the blue black
>
> majority Ethiopians deny they are mixed, but are indeed mixed from a > thousand years ago.....we in Africa know what a Black Man is and we know
>
>
> the PROOF that grows from our scalps. The one true hair.And that one
>
> drop of African blood....does not make you black.We are not so
>
> inferior...that just anybody can be us.Deeds or actions...being down for
>
> Black people and the Black cause.....DOES NOT make you black. If
that
>
> were the case then there are "WHITE" people who have been just as down

>

> for Black causes as there are Mulattos, and being committed to Black > causes and Black people doesn't make you black. As much as I love and

>

>

> idolize Malcolm X....as much as I despise and loathe Clarence

>

> Thomas....the

>

>> fact is, the one that Idetest is the one with the most African blood.

>

> He is blacker than Malcolm, though he is not nearly as conscious or > committed to our people's struggle. Black BLOOD is what makes you black.

>

>

> Authentic.And black children are beautiful... .to me, they're more > beautiful than White or Biracial children...and they deserve to be born,

>

>

> because I am African mother and I say so...and Africa Africa...must not

>

> perish.this is interesting read and from another perspective from this

>

> sistah,her message for us from the diaspora.> > > Looking for last > minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. > "The black

>

>

> woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof > >

> Be

>

> a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it > now. > > > Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista® +

>

>

> Windows Live□. Start now! > > > > Be a better friend, newshound, and

>

```
> know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. >>>>>>>
>
>> _____> Get
the
>
> power of Windows + Web with the new Windows Live.>
>
> http://www.windowsslive.com?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_powerofwindows_012008>
>
>>>
>
>>>
>
>>>
>
>>>
>
>>>
>
>>>
>
>>> _____
>
>>> Share life as it happens with the new Windows Live.
>
>>>
>
> http://www.windowsslive.com/share.html?
ocid=TXT_TAGHM_Wave2_sharelife_012\
>
> 008
>
>>>
>
>>
>
>>
>
>>
>
>>
>
>>
>
>> -----
```

Dr. Ben has contributed much to our cultural knowledge base on the history, civilization and spiritual concepts of our African ancestors in Egypt (Kemet) and other parts of the Nile Valley. He is the author of numerous books on ancient Nile Valley civilization and its impact on Western culture. It is now our opportunity to give back to Dr.

Ben, who has given much to us.

For more information, please call: (409) 765-7086.

Hotepl!

Merira Kwesi

Kemet Nu Productions

(214) 371-0206

kwesi@kemetnu.com

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24567|2008-01-14 08:14:53|ahmed|AbuSimbel you will like it|

The Temple of AbuSimbel consists of a Great and Small Temple, and is situated near the border of Egypt with Sudan.

for more information about abusimble and luxer and aswan visit

<http://ancient-egyptian.blogspot.com>

| 24568|2008-01-14 12:43:00|shaimesh@aol.com|KMT - A Black Civilization|

From: Ori-Piankhi@insight.rr.com

Message BCCed to a list of African people

An interesting British video clip on the African origins of ancient KMT (Kemet) (7,000 8,000 years ago)

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-6056288267287312439>

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24569|2008-01-14 19:28:58|shaimesh@aol.com|Dr. Hagins In Atlanta - Saturday, January 19 at Georgia Perimeter Co|

From:  truthcenter@aol.com

You Are Invited To Attend An Educational Lecture Given By

Dr. Ray Hagins
(Regularly featured leading Psychologist, Historian, Lecturer and Spiritual Leader heard on the nationally syndicated Michael Baisden Radio Show 102.5 in Atlanta )

Topic:

THE KING ALFRED PLAN (a.k.a. REX-84):

The Extermination of Blacks In Amerikkka

Between the years 1960-1964, the National Security Council developed a government program called "The King Alfred Plan." This program details the arrest, detention, encampment and extermination of the Black and Hispanic/Latino population in the U.S. It has been solidified by Reagan under Mr. Louis Guiffreda, ex-Director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) [pronounced (fee-mah)]. The plan is under the control of FEMA and had been secured under executive orders 11490, 11921, 12148 and amended under National Security Directive #52 (aka REX-84) as of April 6, 1984.

When: Saturday, January 19, 2008 - 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Where: Georgia Perimeter College Decatur Campus Building SB Room 1170
3251 Panthersville Road
Decatur, Georgia 30034

Free Admission Free Will Contributions Will Be Received

Major Credit Cards Accepted
CDs & DVDs of Dr. Hagins lectures will be available (Due to limited seating and strict adherence to room capacity, please RSVP via email if you plan to attend this event)

For more event information contact:
Me'Shi Avery via Email: mavery4u@hotmail.com

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24570|2008-01-14 22:12:24|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: Self CPR|

Attachments :

Alandas Dobbins wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"
To: , ""gordon dobbins"" ,
""Tafari khumbaka""
Subject: FW: Self CPR
Date: Mon, 14 Jan 2008 16:57:36 -0600

100 The first step should be to determine if the person has any known medical conditions or allergies. If not, then the person should be treated as a general medical emergency.

101 The first step should be to determine if the person has any known medical conditions or allergies. If not, then the person should be treated as a general medical emergency.

What are you to do if you have a heart attack while you are alone?
If you've already received this, it means people care about you .

The Johnson City Medical Center staff actually discovered this and did an in-depth study on it in our ICU The two individuals that discovered this then did an article on it .. had it published and
have

even had it incorporated into ACLS and CPR classes.
It is very true and has and does work. It is called cough CPR. A cardiologist says it's the truth ... For your info ...If everyone who gets this sends it to 10 people, you can bet that we'll save at least one life.

Read This...It could save your life! Let's say it's 6:15 p.m. and you're driving home (alone of course), after an usually hard day of the job. You're really tired, upset and frustrated. Suddenly you start experiencing severe pain in your chest that starts to radiate out into your arm and up into your jaw. You are only about five miles from
the hospital nearest your home. Unfortunately you don't know if you
be able to make it that far.

What can you do? You've been trained in CPR but the guy that taught the course, didn't tell you what to do if it happened to yourself.

Since many people are alone when they suffer a heart attack, this article seemed to be in order. Without help, the person whose heart is beating improperly and who begins to feel faint, has only about 10 seconds left before losing consciousness. However, these victims can help themselves by coughing repeatedly and very vigorously. A deep breath should be taken before each cough, and the cough must be deep and prolonged, as when producing sputum from deep inside the chest. A breath and a cough must be repeated about every two seconds without let up until help arrives, or until the heart is felt to be beating normally again.

Deep breaths get oxygen into the lungs and coughing movements squeeze the heart and keep the blood circulating. The squeezing pressure on the heart also helps it regain normal rhythm. In this way, heart attack victims can get to hospital. Tell as many other people as possible about this, could save their lives!

From Health Cares, Rochester General Hospital via Chapter 240 newsletter 'AND THE BEAT GOES ON ..'
(reprint from The Mended Hearts, Inc. publication, Heart Response)

BE A FRIEND AND PLEASE SEND THIS ARTICLE TO AS MANY FRIENDS AS POSSIBLE

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

---

More

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

---

Put your friends on the big screen with Windows Vista + Windows Live?. Start now!

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24571|2008-01-15 22:44:11|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Watch "Origins, Ancient Rule & Contributions of Nile Valley Civi|
<http://kmtman.vodpod.com/video/21002-dr-marimba-ani-yurugu>

shaimesh@aol.com wrote:

From: ramnhru128@yahoo. com
Must See!!!!

Subject: Watch "Origins, Ancient Rule & Contributions of Nile Valley Civilization"

Your friend, ramnhru128@yahoo. com, has sent you the following video:

Origins, Ancient Rule & Contributions of Nile Valley Civilization

1 hr 29 min 37 sec - Nov 17, 2007

Description:In this video you will see who were the authors/architects of the ancient Nile Valley Civilization, where they came from, how they ruled and there contributions, to modern civilization.

Want to see more cool videos?

Go to video.google.com/

Think you have an even cooler video?

Add it at video.google.com/videouploadform

If you're having trouble watching the video, try copying the following URL into your browser:
<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=6367673988857194012&pr=goog-sl>

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24572|2008-01-17 07:27:02|clyde winters|Re: Oprah's New Network|

Hi

There is a lot of excitement about Oprah starting her own network.

I hope Oprah's new network will lead to changes in how History programs present the ancient history of Blacks. . But, Oprah has not been too Afrocentric so I don't know how what her vision is of the ancient history of Blacks. I am sure that from her associations with Gates, that she might be interested in producing a documentary that dealt with slavery, genes and etc.

Rights now Kittles works at the University of Chicago. Who knows if Keita and Kittles approached her with a prospectus on a documentary discussing Black Egyptians she might go for it.

The major problem though, is that whenever a Black claims that the Egyptians are Black they are accused of being a racist, even though everyday the claim is made that they were "white/Arab/mixed" and etc.

I have taught at a number of Colleges and Universities over the years. At these Universities Blacks can be the Chairman of departments and College Deans and you will find that during their tenure no other Blacks are hired as a direct result of their efforts.

This is sad. I teach Education courses. Over the past 15 years you will find that many Education Departments have increasingly become dominated by women, as women assumed leadership positions in these departments. These women educators have sought the best women in their fields for teaching positions.

This is not done by Afro-American males in Universities. Many Afro-American Department Chairman and Deans, just don't feel they should hire other Black males. In fact in most cases they will hire a female of either color before they will hire a qualified Afro-American male for a teaching position.

And in the last 5-10 years, you had a 85% better chance of being hired, if you are an Afro-American male at a College or University, by a white women heading a search committee, than a Black College Department Chairman or Dean. You may not know things but many Blacks working at Universities rarely attempt to bring in other Blacks to these institutions. For the most part they are cowards who care only for their own well being and could care less about bringing truth and clarity to history.

Let's hope Oprah will shed a real light on Black Egypt and make us all know the true state affairs in this important region of the world. But I hate to say this, but if an Afrocentric proposal ( and remember this any claim of Blacks playing a significant role in an ancient civilization is going to be considered Afrocentric) most Afro-American and African professors at the major Universities will not support the proposition.

Clyde

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

| 24573|2008-01-17 09:40:40|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: Oprah's New Network|

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, clyde winters wrote:

>
> Hi
>
> There is a lot of excitement about Oprah starting her > own network.
>
> I hope Oprah's new network will lead to changes in how > History programs present the ancient history of > Blacks. . But, Oprah has not been too Afrocentric so I > don't know how what her vision is of the ancient > history of Blacks.

Clyde, I wonder what type of programming the new network will broadcast. Oprah is taking over the Discovery Health Channel, but I'm guessing she will change the format.

Does anyone know if she will also own the Discovery Channel? That would be a coup.

Regards,

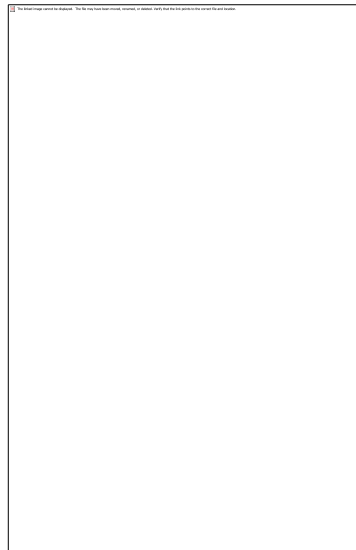

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24574|2008-01-17 09:41:48|Paul Kekai Manansala|How Pharaoh sailed to Karnak|

New discoveries at Karnak Temple in Luxor have changed the landscape and the history of this great religious complex, writes Nevine El-Aref

<http://weekly.ahram.org.eg/2008/879/he2.htm>

---

- Front Page
- Egypt
- Region
- Focus
- Economy
- International
- Opinion
- Press review
- Culture
- Features
- Special
- Heritage
- Living
- Sports
- Cartoons
- People
- Listings
- BOOKS
- TRAVEL
- Site map

History has a special scent and taste at Karnak Temple. The emotions it evokes are powerful and timeless. Inside the lofty pylons is amassed an unsurpassed assembly of soaring obelisks, awe-inspiring chapels and hushed sanctuaries reflecting the spectacular life and great civilisation of ancient Egypt. Although most of Karnak has been thoroughly excavated, the complex still conceals and occasionally reveals more of the Pharaohs' secrets and mysteries.

Click to view caption

Clockwise from top:
Ptolemaic bath with 16 seats; a stela bearing the name of the 25th-Dynasty King Taharqa; the obelisk of Tuthmoses I at the eight pylons; restoration work at the Chapel of Osiris Neb-
Ankh

---

During 18 months of excavations at the front of the temple, Egyptian archaeologists have stumbled upon several important discoveries that are leading them to reconsider the history and plan of the temples. The discoveries have included a Ptolemaic ceremonial bath, a private ramp for the 25th-Dynasty Pharaoh Taharqa, a large number of bronze coins, an ancient dock and the remains of a wall that once protected the temples of Karnak from the rising Nile flood.

These discoveries came within the framework of the Karnak Development Project, which is aimed at protecting the temple from progressive infringements as well as restoring its monuments and removing all building encroachment from in front of the temple. It will also allow excavations to uncover the ancient harbour and canal that once connected the temple to the Nile. According to an old map, the ancient Egyptians used this canal to gain access to the west bank of the river in a position corresponding to Hatshepsut's Deir Al-Bahari Temple, which was built on the same axis.

The area of the so-called "madrasa" (religious school) 50 metres to the southwest of the first pylon has the appearance of an important archaeological zone. No less than three Egyptologists and two restorers are on site, along with 10 workmen who are removing with buckets the remaining sand of what was a massive sandstone embankment wall built some 3,000 years ago to reinforce the bank of the river, which has since moved. This is the first evidence that the Nile once ran alongside the temple.

The embankment is directed northwest/southeast, and thus far the excavations have revealed that it has been preserved at a height of more than 3.5 m for a length of nearly 15 m. It continues to the south under the road and to the north underneath a mosque. This portion is connected to the landing quay preserved in front of the first pylon. The wall has generally been interpreted as the eastern limit of a huge lake dug in front of the sanctuary and linked to the river by a channel.

"It is a very important discovery that changes the landscape of the whole of Luxor city," says Mansour Boraik, general supervisor of antiquities in Luxor. It also changes previously-held theories about the settlement of Luxor and the construction of the temple itself.

Boraik told Al-Ahram Weekly that the discovery of the embankment had changed the thinking about the features of the temple's ancient facade. Previous theories, based on depictions found in several 18th-Dynasty private tombs such as that of a top government official named Neferhotep, were based on the view that Karnak Temple was linked to the Nile by a canal through a rectangular pool dug in front of the temple. Boraik says this theory was supported by the uncovering in the 1970s of a small part of this embankment, which was assumed to be the back wall of the pool.

This theory held until December 2007, when Egyptian excavators found another part of the same wall several metres away from the first. "It is even too far off to be part of the enclosed basin," Boraik says.

Archaeologists now believe that the pool depicted in ancient drawings was backfilled in antiquity and that the temple was expanded on top of it, built out to the edge of where the Nile flowed 3,000 years ago.

The new theory has been backed by tests of the sediment at the base of the embankment wall, which show alternating levels of silt and sand that suggest running water once flowed there. Based on cartouches and other inscriptions found on the wall, experts believe that construction began in the 22nd Dynasty and was completed by the middle of the fourth century BC.

Boraik explained that a number of fragments of ceramic material from the 25th and 26th dynasties found in the foundations helped to date the construction. Some repairs to the higher part of the wall (the two upper levels) were certainly added at the end of the 30th Dynasty or during the Ptolemaic period. Consisting of segments of slightly differing orientations, it presents a sloped western face against which staircases were arranged. "These gave access to the water during the Nile's low period," Boraik says.

During the Ptolemaic era the zone to the west of this wall gradually silted up. An earthwork dating from the end of the Ptolemaic or the very beginning of the Roman period brought completion to the transformation of the trench. When no longer flooded, this zone became a viable and practical place to build.

Thus the wall lost its original function. Its higher part, still visible, was integrated into the new installations, influencing their orientation. The construction zone covered the whole excavated surface, which extends for more than 2,000 sq. metres. It seems that the zone was linked to ruins found in front of the first pylon. Several mud- and red-brick buildings have been found here. The thickness of the walls is variable, indicating various chambers or storerooms. On the eastern side were kilns or cisterns.

A number of Ptolemaic clay pots and pans were unearthed during excavations, among them a large jar containing 360 bronze coins dating from the Ptolemaic and Byzantine eras. Early studies on these coins have revealed that they were a local currency circulated only in Egypt and that they were stamped with images of the gods; Amun, Zeus and Isis.

One of the most important discoveries in the area was the remains of a great circular Ptolemaic bath with an intricate mosaic tiled floor and seating for 16 people, with some seats flanked by dolphin statuettes. Zahi Hawass, secretary-general of the Supreme Council of Antiquities (SCA), said the bath could be linked to some ancient brick structures located some 100 metres away and excavated by Jean Lauffray in the 1970s.

Hawass told the Weekly that recent excavations confirmed the presence of Ptolemaic and Roman installations in front of the first pylon, especially at the north end. The remains of the installation show that it was composed of quite remarkable elements, including a circular building containing a semi-circular row of seats with back stands. The seats were built of fired brick and coated with a thick layer of plaster. The depth of each one was 66 cm, and a circular piece of granite was placed on the foot. These seats were placed in a radiating pattern around a circular construction. A water tank, in very good condition, has been found on the west side of the seats and beyond the embankment. Also made of fired bricks and plastered on the inside, it measures 2.5x2m and is well preserved to a depth of 1.44m. On the west side of the floor is a step ending with circular slab of granite used for cleaning.

Hawass said that a dense canal system had been observed that was used for the drainage of wastewater. The main drain runs from east to west and then turns towards the south. After a bend, the channel is divided into two branches: the first, 0.46 metres wide and covered with fired brick, runs over the embankment to the west for a length of 2.70 metres. The second, equally well preserved, runs for 6.75 metres in a southwesterly direction.

A part of the second drain crosses the embankment for a length of 2.86 metres, and was cut into the surface of the embankment for a width of 0.2m and a depth of 0.28m.

To the north, a fired pipe consisting of a set of tiny cylinders fitted together runs from the water tank towards the east for 3.90 metres. The edge of the channel was protected by fired brick walls, which suggests the pipes may have carried hot water to the seats.

Hawass revealed that according to the preliminary investigations of the ceramics, the bath dated from the second century BC.

Egyptologist Tareq Al-Awadi, director of the Abusir archaeological site, said archaeologists had also found a giant ramp leading up to the temple complex and inscribed with the name of Pharaoh Taharqa, who ruled in the late seventh century BC. The ramp probably served as the ruler's personal dock area, extending directly into the Nile to allow the Pharaoh to transfer directly from his boat to the temple.

This raises the prospect that parts of ancient boats may still be buried in the old riverbed, including pieces of the gigantic ceremonial barges known to have carried images of the gods during religious processions.

Copyright Al-Ahram Weekly. All rights reserved

| 24575|2008-01-17 12:13:05|Peter Gray|Re: Oprah's New Network|
Thanks, Clyde.

I too have seen white women (e.g., at the World Bank/IMF/IFC/GEF) collaborate to hire/promote additional women, but it is lamentable as you point out that black males always feel they must first prove their own validity to their respective organisations before they will dare stick their necks out for another. The bottom line is: blacks prefer to chase the almighty dollar!

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: olmec982000@yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 17 Jan 2008 07:27:01 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Oprah's New Network

Hi

There is a lot of excitement about Oprah starting her own network.

I hope Oprah's new network will lead to changes in how History programs present the ancient history of Blacks. . But, Oprah has not been too Afrocentric so I don't know how what her vision is of the ancient history of Blacks. I am sure that from her associations with Gates, that she might be interested in producing a documentary that dealt with slavery, genes and etc.

Rights now Kittles works at the University of Chicago. Who knows if Keita and Kittles approached her with a prospectus on a documentary discussing Black Egyptians she might go for it.

The major problem though, is that whenever a Black claims that the Egyptians are Black they are accused of being a racist, even though everyday the claim is made that they were "white/Arab/ mixed" and etc.

I have taught at a number of Colleges and Universities over the years. At these Universities Blacks can be the Chairman of departments and College Deans and you will find that during their tenure no other Blacks are hired as a direct result of their efforts.

This is sad. I teach Education courses. Over the past 15 years you will find that many Education Departments have increasingly become dominated by women, as women assumed leadership positions in these departments. These women educators have sought the best women in their fields for teaching positions.

This is not done by Afro-American males in Universities. Many Afro-American Department Chairman and Deans, just don't feel they should hire other Black males. In fact in most cases they will hire a female of either color before they will hire a qualified Afro-American male for a teaching position.

And in the last 5-10 years, you had a 85% better chance of being hired, if you are an Afro-American male at a College or University, by a white women heading a search committee, than a Black College Department Chairman or Dean. You may not know things but many Blacks working at Universities rarely attempt to bring in other Blacks to these institutions. For the most part they are cowards who care only for their own well being and could care less about bringing truth and clarity to history.

Let's hope Oprah will shed a real light on Black Egypt and make us all know the true state affairs in this important region of the world. But I hate to say this, but if an Afrocentric proposal ( and remember this any claim of Blacks playing a significant role in an ancient civilization is going to be considered Afrocentric) most Afro-American and African professors at the major Universities will not support the proposition.

Clyde

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. [http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR 8HDtDypao8Wcj9tA cJ](http://mobile.yahoo.com/;_ylt=Ahu06i62sR 8HDtDypao8Wcj9tA cJ)

---

Helping your favorite cause is as easy as instant messaging. You IM, we give. Learn more.
| 24576|2008-01-17 12:35:41|shaimesh@aol.com|Khamitic T-Shirt - check out the link below|
From: khonsugo@aol.com

<http://gear.spreadshirt.com/us/US/Shop/>

---

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

| 24577|2008-01-17 14:57:38|clyde winters|Re: Oprah's New Network|

--- Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com> wrote:

>
> Thanks, Clyde.
>
> I too have seen white women (e.g., at the World > Bank/IMF/IFC/GEF) collaborate to hire/promote > additional women, but it is lamentable as you point > out that black males always feel they must first > prove their own validity to their respective > organisations before they will dare stick their > necks out for another. The bottom line is: blacks > prefer to chase the almighty dollar!
>
> Peter
>

Hi

The thing I hate most about these people is that they will talk like they're really for their people--have tenure, years of experience and etc.--but when it comes time to stand up and help another brother they remain silent.

Clyde

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?
Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

| 24578|2008-01-17 18:15:01|keon garraway|Re: Oprah's New Network|

Her network will be geared to middle class professional women just like her show. It will be race neutral and avoid controversial topics.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24579|2008-01-17 18:15:01|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Oprah's New Network|

here,here, i agree,

Peter Gray wrote:

Thanks, Clyde.

I too have seen white women (e.g., at the World Bank/IMF/IFC/ GEF) collaborate to hire/promote additional women, but it is lamentable as you point out that black males always feel they must first prove their own validity to their respective organisations before they will dare stick their necks out for another. The bottom line is: blacks prefer to chase the almighty dollar!

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: olmec982000@ yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 17 Jan 2008 07:27:01 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Oprah's New Network

Hi

There is a lot of excitement about Oprah starting her own network.

I hope Oprah's new network will lead to changes in how History programs present the ancient history of Blacks. . But, Oprah has not been too Afrocentric so I don't know how what her vision is of the ancient history of Blacks. I am sure that from her associations with Gates, that she might be interested in producing a documentary that dealt with slavery, genes and etc.

Rights now Kittles works at the University of Chicago. Who knows if Keita and Kittles approached her with a prospectus on a documentary discussing Black Egyptians she might go for it.

The major problem though, is that whenever a Black claims that the Egyptians are Black they are accused of being a racist, even though everyday the claim is made that they were "white/Arab/ mixed" and etc.

I have taught at a number of Colleges and Universities over the years. At these Universities Blacks can be the Chairman of departments and College Deans and you will find that during their tenure no other Blacks are hired as a direct result of their efforts.

This is sad. I teach Education courses. Over the past 15 years you will find that many Education Departments have increasingly become dominated by women, as women assumed leadership positions in these departments. These women educators have sought the best women in their fields for teaching positions.

This is not done by Afro-American males in Universities. Many Afro-American Department Chairman and Deans, just don't feel they should hire other Black males. In fact in most cases they will hire a female of either color before they will hire a qualified Afro-American male for a teaching position.

And in the last 5-10 years, you had a 85% better chance of being hired, if you are an Afro-American male at a College or University, by a white women heading a search committee, than a Black College Department Chairman or Dean. You may not know things but many Blacks working at Universities rarely attempt to bring in other Blacks to these institutions. For the most part they are cowards who care only for their own well being and could care less about bringing truth and clarity to history.

Let's hope Oprah will shed a real light on Black Egypt and make us all know the true state affairs in this important region of the world. But I hate to say this, but if an Afrocentric proposal ( and remember this any claim of Blacks playing a significant role in an ancient civilization is going to be considered Afrocentric) most Afro-American and African professors at the major Universities will not support the proposition.

Clyde

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. [http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR 8HDtDypao8Wcj9tA cJ](http://mobile.yahoo.com/;_ylt=Ahu06i62sR 8HDtDypao8Wcj9tA cJ)

---

Helping your favorite cause is as easy as instant messaging. You IM, we give. Learn more.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24580|2008-01-17 18:15:01|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Oprah's New Network|
onecompotent of courage is culture,, we are and have negro-culture, so expect the worst from one another, what we need is our ancient egyptian history to be a living reality we need our old time religion
clyde winters wrote:

--- Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com> wrote:

>
> Thanks, Clyde.
>
> I too have seen white women (e.g., at the World > Bank/IMF/IFC/ GEF) collaborate to hire/promote > additional women, but it is lamentable as you point > out that black males always feel they must first > prove their own validity to their respective > organisations before they will dare stick their > necks out for another. The bottom line is: blacks > prefer to chase the almighty dollar!
>
> Peter
>

Hi

The thing I hate most about these people is that they will talk like they're really for their people--have tenure, years of experience and etc.--but when it comes time to stand up and help another brother they remain silent.

Clyde

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?

Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. <http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24581|2008-01-17 18:15:34|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists - Yahoo!|

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 17 Jan 2008 12:28:28 -0800

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: maatcollective@yahoogleroups.com

CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Subject: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

Niger charges 2 French journalists - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080116/ap\_on\_re\_af/niger\_french\_reporters\_1

=====

Yahoo! News

<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24582|2008-01-18 04:54:58|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists - Ya|

Seems like another case of "ethnic" conflict between blacks and Tuareg, but the bottom line (once again) is economic self interest.

Peter

---

To: ausar65@aol.com; sadiob@hotmail.com; kimberly.catron@bchs.edu;
downmaster10@yahoo.com; fsfayne@aol.com; chrisjon444@yahoo.com;
henesy9@yahoo.com; hkmaat@aol.com; jay_shed@yahoo.com;
artdealer@angelprod.com; latundras@yahoo.com; netqwest@msn.com;
rachelletott@yahoo.com; ma-a-kherw-owner@yahoogroups.com;
maatcollective@yahoogroups.com; mdtolliver@aol.com;
rsmooth10@excite.com; millmorg199@msn.com; neru37@earthlink.net;
aug196720@hotmail.com; rafikio@bellsouth.net; cathypkat@yahoo.com.ph;
somuuchprincess@hotmail.com; ta_seti@yahoogroups.com;
the_paut_neteru@yahoogroups.com; fro34@hotmail.com;
alandas@nsightmemphis.com; jake2617@aol.com; bberryhill2@hotmail.com;
feferachelle227@yahoo.com; babyface_38141@yahoo.com;
courtland7@comcast.net; dannytheq@yahoo.com; debswiney@aol.com;
alandas@scsmemphis.com; erfbrooks@yahoo.com; ikowa2003@yahoo.com;
jcingra@yahoo.com; johnsonjabari@yahoo.com; jancam5@hotmail.com;
jewel.robinson@nwa.com; jogrant2004@yahoo.com;
babygirljo01@hotmail.com; kendra.jamerson@utmg.org;
squaw2161@yahoo.com; tafari_sudra@yahoo.com; jgilmore@bellsouth.net;
roroe1@yahoo.com; rls91685@yahoo.com; nanaslack52@yahoo.com;
trizm1@yahoo.com; tripwithstephanie@yahoo.com; tweetyngu76@yahoo.com;
isosceles@comcast.net; pierrebonet_2000@yahoo.com
From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 17 Jan 2008 12:34:28 -0800
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists -
Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 17 Jan 2008 12:28:28 -0800

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Subject: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

Niger charges 2 French journalists - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080116/ap\_on\_re\_af/niger\_french\_reporters\_1

=====

=====
Yahoo! News
<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

| 24583|2008-01-18 08:30:21|cristofori whitakara|Re: Oprah's New Network|

wonders if Bev Smith is trying to get her own network. i always preferred her over oprah being that she talks about controversial issues and racial topics

Paul Kekai Manansala wrote:

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, clyde winters wrote:

>

> Hi

>

> There is a lot of excitement about Oprah starting her > own network.

>

> I hope Oprah's new network will lead to changes in how

- > History programs present the ancient history of
- > Blacks. . But, Oprah has not been too Afrocentric so I
- > don't know how what her vision is of the ancient
- > history of Blacks.

Clyde, I wonder what type of programming the new network will broadcast. Oprah is taking over the Discovery Health Channel, but I'm guessing she will change the format.

Does anyone know if she will also own the Discovery Channel? That would be a coup.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24584|2008-01-18 10:02:24|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2
French journalists - Ya|
the tuareg in subsaharan are all black(DARK!) people, its islam versus christianity and traditionalist,,, as a cover for economic explotation , of the poor

Peter Gray wrote:

Seems like another case of "ethnic" conflict between blacks and Tuareg, but the bottom line (once again) is economic self interest.

Peter

---

To: ausar65@aol. com; sadiob@hotmail. com; kimberly.catron@ bchs.edu;
downmaster10@ yahoo.com; fsfayne@aol. com; chrisjon444@ yahoo.com;
henesy9@yahoo. com; hkmaat@aol.com; jay_shed@yahoo. com; artdealer@angelprod
.com; latundras@yahoo. com; netqwest@msn. com; rachelletott@ yahoo.com; ma-akherw-owner@ yahooogroups. com; maatcollective@ yahooogroups. com;
mdtolliver@aol. com; rsmooth10@excite. com; millmorg199@ msn.com;
neru37@earthlink. net; aug196720@hotmail. com; rafikio@bellsouth. net;
cathypkat@yahoo. com.ph; somuchprincess@ hotmail.com; ta_seti@yahooogroups .com;
the_paut_neteru@ yahooogroups. com; fro34@hotmail. com; alandas@nsightmemph is.com; jake2617@aol. com; bberryhill2@ hotmail.com; feferachelle227@ yahoo.com; babyface_38141@ yahoo.com; courtland7@comcast. net; dannytheq@yahoo. com;
debswiney@aol. com; alandas@scsmemphis. com; erfbrooks@yahoo. com;
ikowa2003@yahoo. com; jcingra@yahoo. com; johnsonjabari@ yahoo.com;
jancam5@hotmail. com; jewel.robinson@ nwa.com; jogrant2004@ yahoo.com;

babygirljo01@hotmail.com; kendra.jamerson@utmg.org; squaw2161@yahoo.com;
tafari_sudra@yahoo.com; jgilmore@bellsouth.net; roroel@yahoo.com;
rls91685@yahoo.com; nanaslack52@yahoo.com; trizm1@yahoo.com;
tripwithstephanie@yahoo.com; tweetyngu76@yahoo.com; isosceles@comcast.net;
pierrebonet_2000@yahoo.com
From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 17 Jan 2008 12:34:28 -0800
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists -
Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 17 Jan 2008 12:28:28 -0800

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Subject: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

Niger charges 2 French journalists - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080116/ap\_on\_re\_af/niger\_french\_reporters\_1

=====
Yahoo! News

<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24585|2008-01-18 10:15:53|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists - Ya|

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

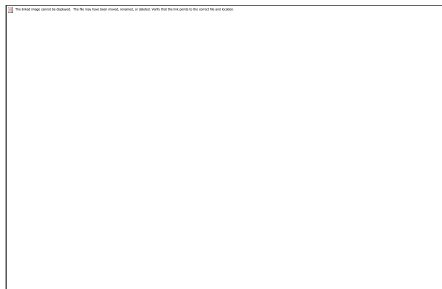

>

> Seems like another case of "ethnic" conflict between blacks and Tuareg, but the bottom line (once again) is economic self interest.

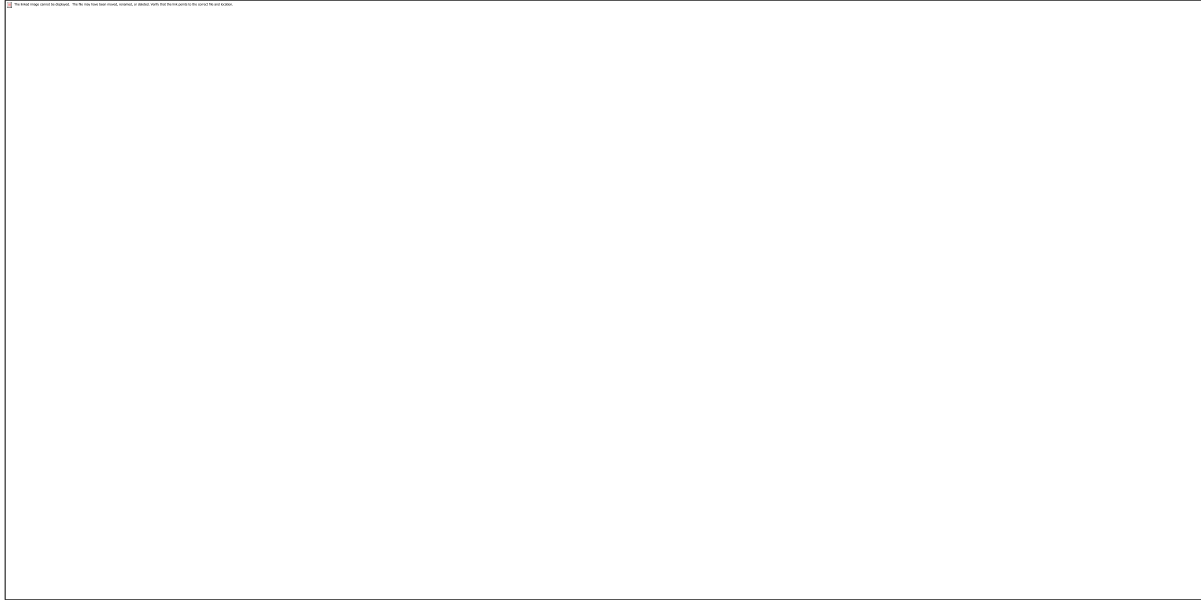

>

>

The Tuareg are predominantly "blacks" who dress like "Arabs" including the men covering their faces leaving a little opening for the nose and eyes. This makes it very easy to perceive them (the men) as fitting the Arab forensic descriptor.

Tuareg children Tamazalak School, Niger

Tuareg children in Abouye, Niger

Tuareg, Niger

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24586|2008-01-18 15:23:57|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2
French journalists - Ya|
cool photos,, yep all blacks in niger and nigeria,,, and lot of arab type in tunisia and that area

Paul Kekai Manansala wrote:

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> Seems like another case of "ethnic" conflict between blacks and Tuareg, but the bottom line (once again) is economic self interest.

>

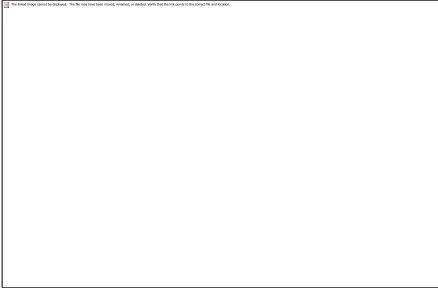

>

The Tuareg are predominantly "blacks" who dress like "Arabs" including the men covering their faces leaving a little opening for the nose and eyes. This makes it very easy to perceive them (the men) as fitting the Arab forensic descriptor.

Tuareg children Tamazalak School, Niger

Tuareg children in Abouye, Niger

Tuareg, Niger

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24587|2008-01-18 15:23:57|proudoofniqab|New member...|

Hotep...

I'm new to this group and very happy to have been accepted as a member. I'm looking forward to being an active member.

FYI: Try to watch the PBS station on Feb the 4th at 10pm. They will be showing a film entitled "Prince among Slaves" It's a true story about a Slave we should have known about. Don't miss it....

Sheara

| 24588|2008-01-18 15:24:39|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: New member...|
Welcome, Sheara.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24589|2008-01-19 05:00:07|kcamm23063@aol.com|Oprah Winfrey's OWN|

Posted: Tue., Jan. 15, 2008, 10:30am PT

Oprah Winfrey gets OWN network

Channel will open for business in 2009

By JOHN DEMPSEY

Oprah Winfrey is adding a major piece of real estate to her media empire, teaming with Discovery Communications to create an Oprah-branded TV net.

OWN: The Oprah Winfrey Network will bow in the second half of 2009. OWN will take over the Discovery Health Channel distribution platform, which guarantees it a strong subscriber base of 67.7 million cable and satellite homes, according to Nielsen. Winfrey will be chair of the network.

Deal between Winfrey and Discovery was described as a "cashless transaction" for a 50-50 joint venture that will be considered an entity independent of other Discovery channel holdings. Winfrey will have full editorial control of OWN and oversee its programming, branding and creative thrust.

OWN will dive deeper into the lifestyle, self-help, entertainment and spiritual themes Winfrey mines on her daily show, which has been daytime's top syndicated yakker for 20 years, and in her successful monthly magazine O: the Oprah Magazine, a joint venture with Hearst Magazines.

"We'll deal with topics such as money, health and relationships. I want to create a niche, a place where people can go to feel better about their lives," Winfrey said during a conference call with reporters Tuesday. She said it's too early in the process for her to discuss specific shows or programming ideas.

Winfrey said she would not be able to offer reruns of "The Oprah Winfrey Show" on the channel because CBS TV Distribution has exclusive distribution rights to the series through May 2011.

But if she continues to produce and star in the series beyond that date, Winfrey said she'd get the right to funnel repeats to OWN. She added that she'll have to make the decision to about whether to continue her show for the 2011-12 season and beyond by the end of this year. Her contract with CBS TV Distribution has a clause that allows her to opt out of the syndicated show in mid-2010.

Even if she can't use "The Oprah Winfrey Show" on OWN, "I'll still be the voice and brand of the network," Winfrey promised.

David Zaslav, prexy-CEO of Discovery Communications, said OWN would draw on the resources of Discovery's extensive library of programming from its 13 domestic cable networks as well as Winfrey's Oprah.com website; O: the Oprah Magazine; her radio show "Oprah & Friends" for XM Radio; and her Harpo Prods. lineup of theatrical and TV movies.

Winfrey said, "Harpo will contribute programming for OWN, as well as for TV syndication and network primetime."

Winfrey has dabbled in cabler ownership once before. She was one of the original investors in Geraldine Laybourne's femme-centric Oxygen Media. But Winfrey said she bowed out of the Oxygen board of directors when she found that the programming "didn't reflect my voice."

Winfrey has cashed in her investment in Oxygen. NBC Universal bought the net late last year for $875 million.

Discovery will handle distribution and origination of the OWN channel. Discovery Health, which will cease to exist after OWN debuts, was launched as a themed spinoff of the mothership Discovery Channel in 1999.

Winfrey and Discovery are about to launch a search for a CEO to run the network. Zaslav said Discovery and Winfrey haven't decided whether the network will be based in Chicago, home of Harpo Prods., or in Discovery's home base of Silver Spring, Md.

Read the full article at:

<http://www.variety.com/article/VR1117979055.html> 2008 Reed Business Information

Forward Ever (by any means necessary)!
Karen C. Aboiralor

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24590|2008-01-19 05:04:43|kcammm23063|Re: Oprah's New Network|

Oprah is phenomenal, and she knows which side her bread is buttered.

Forward,
Karen

| 24591|2008-01-19 08:19:29|bamaguze|Re: Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Niger charges 2 French journalists - Ya|

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>
> cool photos,, yep all blacks in niger and nigeria,,, and lot of arab type in tunisia and that area

>
> Paul Kekai Manansala wrote: --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

> >
> >
> > Seems like another case of "ethnic" conflict between blacks and Tuareg, but the bottom line (once again) is economic self interest.

> >
> >
>
> The Tuareg are predominantly "blacks" who dress like "Arabs"

including the men covering their faces leaving a little opening for the nose and eyes. This makes it very easy to perceive them (the men) as fitting the Arab forensic descriptor.

I would like to note that in Niger, at least, the Tuareg are a cultural and linguistic group consisting of both "African (Black) and Arab (non-black)" people. They speak the same language and share cultural affinities but are phenotypically different but/and in some cases "mixed".

Many of the Africans are formerly( presently) enslaved or subjugated people who have over time been subsumed into the culture. In this regard they resemble Blacks in the USA who share language and (to a certain degree) culture, as Blacks in Cuba for example who share the spanish language and "Cuban" culture. Not unlike the Blacks in Sudan and Mauritania who share language and culture with Arabs but who are phenotypically different. Often because of the close relationship between enslaved and enslaver, or what maybe considered classes (they dress alike, eat, work and play together) the differences are not always evident to the casual observer.

What is important is to note that colorism is important, maybe the most important, and the strife that exists between the Tuareg and African Groups in Niger is based upon the desire of the first not to be governed by the latter, whom they consider to be inferior.

Bamaguze

>
>
> Tuareg children Tamazalak School, Niger
>
>
> Tuareg children in Abouye, Niger
>
>
>
> Tuareg, Niger
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile.

Try it now.

>

| 24592|2008-01-20 09:17:01|shaimesh@aol.com|Sunday Night Live with Brother Ray - Topic:
Iatrogenic Medicine & Me|
From:truthcenter@aol.com

This Sunday Night's Topic is:
IATROGENIC DISORDERS AND MESSED UP MELANIN

Many doctors today practice what is called iatrogenic medicine.
This means that doctors prescribe medication to their patients

that,
over a period of time, will result in the death of the patient.
In their ongoing effort to destroy people of color, white bio-chemists create designer drugs, structured to chemically bind with and alter the Melanin molecule, causing it to become toxic and even fatal to highly melaninated people!

Join Dr. Hagins Every Sunday Night
8:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight (EST)
(7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Central Time)
For "LIVE" talk radio and Q&A Log on to: www.wblr.com
Call-in lines: 1-877-454-1900 (Long Distance) & (314) 741-9507 (St. Louis area)

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24593|2008-01-20 09:26:58|shaimesh@aol.com|Mount Meru Tanzania with Caroline Shola
Arewa & Yirser Ra Hotep 2/16|
From: shola@shola.co.uk

Visit Mount Meru - February 16th - 2nd March 2008
with Caroline Shola Arewa & Yirser Ra Hotep

Mount Meru, is the beautiful sacred mountain in Tanzania.

I speak of Meru in my book Opening to Spirit referring to it as the Ancient Egyptians do,

as all things surrounding love or the centre of the universe as it is known in India/Sanskrit.

Meru has important links between Egypt, India and the Chakras.

Mount Meru is one of the most powerful spiritually charged places on our planet.

Close to Kilimanjaro and the Great Lakes, Meru stands proud at the heart of the birthplace of humanity

It is with great pleasure that I visit Mount Meru & Zanzibar for the first time with a group.

You are invited to join us and climb to the peak of the mountain - Crown Chakra or stay on the ground - Root Chakra, enjoying the beaches and other cultural activities for non-climbers

If you feel Mount Meru, and the powerful Spirit of Africa calling you, don't delay contact us today and join us on this trip of a lifetime.

Shola - shola@shola.co.uk Upesi - umtambuzi@sbcglobal.net

Peace and Blessings

Shola

PS. Please inform your lists and people who will be interested in this special journey.

SHOLA AREWA

Speaker, Coach, Author

www.createingease.com

www.successwithoutstress.net

Helping busy professionals achieve Success without Stress

Want to achieve Success without Stress?

Learn how with your Free 7-day e-course available now from www.createingease.com

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24594|2008-01-20 09:48:24|shaimesh@aol.com|7th Annual Egypt Study Tour, July 19 to August 2, 2008. w./Professor|

From: crawford@mec.cuny.edu

Hello All:

Happy New Year. Please share the links below with your friends and relatives about our 7th Annual Egypt Study Tour, July 19 to August 2, 2008.

Thanks,

Clinton Crawford

<http://www.sankofaworldpublishers.com/sankofawp-egyptstudytour2007.htm>

<http://www.sankofaworldpublishers.com/sankofawp-egypt%202007-videopromo.htm>

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24595|2008-01-20 23:06:20|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Oprah's New Network|

yep,,only pheNOMENAL 🧐

kcamm23063 wrote:

Oprah is phenomenal, and she knows which side her bread is buttered.

Forward,
Karen

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24596|2008-01-20 23:07:08|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: african burial ground|

Felicia Carroll wrote:

Date: Fri, 18 Jan 2008 12:35:04 -0800 (PST)
From: Felicia Carroll
Subject: african burial ground
To: Aundre Dillin , Tafari khumbaka ,
Toni Brittenum , felicia.carroll@medtronic.com

http://www.africanburialground.gov/Memorial/ABG\_MemorialDesign\_RodneyLeon.htm

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. | 24597|2008-01-20 23:07:09|Franklin Jones|They can murder our Black leaders, but they can not kill a realiza|

Please Black family over come the psychologically engrained white is right perception andnegatively held perceptions of our selves andopen your hearts andminds to see the truth.

This is anoffer of thetruth for those who will listen for it; and the truth is that we, African Americans,[as with also Africans the world over]can no longer survive as a race hanging on to lies. A reality of truth must prevail if we are to be a part of the future.

Today we African Americans are faced with many despairing statistics far worst than any generation before now. These negative statistic creates a distracting paradyme of where in which we, as a people, are not able to move forward because we're always reacting to negative statistic about ourselves that we in fact can neither confirm nor refute. It is a scenario not unlike that of a dog unsuccessfully chasing his own tail. This is a deliberate design and there is neither a struggle, nor fight more pressing for we African Americans than this one, where we are being systematically economically exploited, suppressed, confused, turned and against each other [divided] as a matter of meeting the U.S. Government's secret unrelenting commitment of maintaining its white dominance and control.

For almost half a century now-- because the blatant methods of racism used and condoned in the past are no longer morally and socially acceptable --the United States government reincarnated its methods of ensuring that White dominance and control is maintained by having secretly implemented its largest ever COINTELPRO-- Counterintelligence Program -- covert operation against its entire Black population through a campaign of massive psychological warfare that uses mis-education, false statistics, and negative propaganda spread by media reports. By doing so, they acquired a far more insidious and covert method of maintaining White dominance that exists behind a clever shroud of secrecy and deceit ? for it is in this way that the evils of racism thrive best -- when its victims do not recognize the evil. Unlike the brutal system of racism used in the past that caused African Americans to rally together and unify themselves against, this modern system of racism is not easily comprehended by Blacks. It is a method so opaque that many of its Black victims remain largely unaware of it themselves. And while most African Americans may instinctively feel that something is wrong, they cannot, however, express their suspicions and conceptualize them sufficiently so that they and others can comprehend and act to defend themselves against it. It is, in fact, so sophisticated that even very bright African American individuals have little, if any, hope of extricating themselves from its brutal effects. In fact, most Blacks cannot believe that they are being attacked or subdued because it wears the appearance [if any] of being totally self-inflicted by African Americans themselves. Most African Americans have never heard of this method of asserting White racism, therefore many will find it too shocking and stunning to contemplate?nevertheless, it is directly intertwined with the many problems adversely affecting Black America today. Moreover, this modern method is the most prevalent and lethal system of racism now assaulting African Americans. This modern method covertly uses false propaganda media reports that equates a psychological warfare that deliberately conspires to severely reduce African America's upward mobility by corrupting them of unity, reason, and common sense, deliberately soliciting the disparity that has now become modern Black America. Here is a simplified analogy of how this is being done to America's Black population. Let us say, for example, that a group of people was aboard their own massive ship and that their ship was being shadowed by another neighboring ship, a neighboring ship that was constantly broadcasting derogatory messages to the first group that their ship was lesser, smaller, not seaworthy or perhaps slowly sinking or that their crew was incompetent or was planning a mutiny. With time, the group receiving the negative messages, being unable to refute or to confirm these derogatory messages and deficiencies will grow weary and paranoid of the negative messages and will eventually come to accept these negative assessments of themselves. The perception created by the taunting now unconsciously influences how the taunted group perceives themselves, subsequently causing them to become distrustful of themselves, doubting themselves, hating themselves and, eventually, fighting among themselves. The taunted group may even become so besieged by deep feelings of inadequacy that they may even jump into the sea and attempt to swim towards the taunting ship now believing it to be superior to their own ship even if their own ship was in fact better.

This concept of warfare uses psychology as the decisive factor in the outcome. The basis of the concept is that the human being's most critical aspect is the mind. This science of psychology works by affecting the unconscious mind through deception. Its weapon is the message that it carries and the way this message affects the recipients in terms of their behavior.
Within a real world setting, this is implemented against African Americans through U.S. governmental agencies that leak false derogatory press releases, documentaries, and media information concerning its Black population that are designed to perpetuate and frame the myth of Whites? racial, moral, and ethical superiority over its Black population. Its collaborators in the news media, which either knowingly or unknowingly carry the false information or create their own false information through news releases in magazine articles, radio, and television, work to demoralize, discourage, berate, subjugate, and or dismantle the Black population. It insinuates that America would be a better society as a whole if African Americans were gone, thus psychologically changing the root problem of racism in America to be due to Black's behavior rather than White's proclivity for racism.

This perversion of reality, shifting the blame, and role reversal of the problem of racism to be the fault of African Americans, is perpetuated unrelentingly everywhere through press releases, pamphlets, radio, newspaper, and magazine articles and television. The weapon is not the way it is sent, but the messages that it carries and how the messages affect the recipient and influence society. This campaign engenders a shift of victimization that fosters distorted perceptions and increasingly prejudiced and acrimonious beliefs about its African American population that creates a consensual environment that facilitates the easier exploitation and suppression of Black America. [For when contempt of Blacks appears to be justifiable, it is the fiercest and most effective type of racism because its witnesses, bystanders, and jurors will sit by idly allowing African Americans to be brutally mistreated under the belief that it is justified.]

This premise that the U.S. Government has reincarnated its methods of suppressing its Black population by the usage of psychological warfare is not at all ridiculous. For since the beginning of recorded history, ruling governmental bodies of nearly every nation have involved themselves in implementing methods to maintain and defend their positions of established power against its minority group. The American Government is in no way an exception to this rule. For it has implemented methods designed to ensure that White dominance is maintained since the time Black people first arrived in America as slaves. During slavery, Blacks were not allowed to be educated, speak among themselves in their native language, or to congregate in large groups [except during their religious services which their master often over saw]. Even after the abolishment of slavery, methods were again implemented to ensure that White dominance was maintained in the form of Jim Crow inequalities that included many unethical methods that denied Blacks the right to vote and that fostered and sanctioned thousands of brutal lynchings of African Americans. Since the methods of the past are no longer morally acceptable, it became necessary for America's White governmental elites secretly to create and apply a system more subtle, sophisticated, and socially acceptable in its application and appearance for ensuring that White dominance is maintained.

Although this may sound a bit like bad science fiction, Psychological Warfare is a real and well-proven technology that exceeds the territorial limits of conventional warfare to penetrate the proposed target. This type of psychological warfare has been used by the military since World War II. The British Special Operation Executives (SOE) was pioneering this form of propaganda during the Second World War. The British Government, between 1930-1940, conducted psychological warfare against Germany, by putting together a massive department staffed by many former journalists that conducted secret journalism and planted favorable stories in the world's press. Generally using friendly newspapers editors, but also using bribery to get pro-allied stories in print, British pilots also dropped propaganda leaflets and spread rumors concerning Germany 's relations with France and other aspects of the war. The unrelenting daily assault on the Black psyche corrupts African Americans? sense of reason and unity and produce a consensual nation environment of where in which African american are economically exploited and supressed thus creating the culture of failure and disparity that now afflicts modern Black America. In fact this modern massive system of covert White racism is so subtle, pervasive, organized, complete, and proficient that it may be the single most aggravating factor behind the persistent national disparities and culture of failure now afflicting Black America ?and yet most African Americans are totally unaware of its existence.

The many problems now facing Black America will not be corrected by implementing outdated strategies of foot marches, speeches, the commemoration of fallen Black martyrs, nor from the preaching of scriptures from any of our religious texts? Christian or Moslem? but instead by exposing and developing counter strategies against this fiercest and most lethal system of institutionalized racism now facing Black America.

[ Because this article exposes the hidden, conspiratorial, and profound dimensions of racism that secretly exist at governmental levels in the United States , these are very dangerous waters that the author is attempting to navigate. For if this important information were to become commonly well known among African Americans, the U.S. Government would most certainly dispute it and initiate a national campaign of spin control and coverage through the national media and the internet with experts lined up to dismiss its premises as a means for protecting its national interest. ]

PLEASE FORWARD
!!!!!!!!!!!!!!FWD,FWD,F WD,FWD

getting out . THE BLACK MATRIX: The Modern Mental and Social Suppression of African American Under National Interest 2006 by Franklin G. Jones
www.divineblacktruth.org

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile. Try it now.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24598|2008-01-20 23:07:09|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Sunday Night Live with Brother Ray - Topic: Iatrogenic Medicine|
truthcenter@aol.com wrote:

Subject: Sunday Night Live with Brother Ray - Topic: Iatrogenic Medicine & Messed
Up Melanin
To: Tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Date: Sat, 19 Jan 2008 22:11:08 -0800
From: truthcenter@aol.com

This Sunday Night's Topic is:
IATROGENIC DISORDERS AND MESSSED UP MELANIN

Many doctors today practice what is called ?iatrogenic medicine.?

This means that doctors prescribe medication to their patients that,
over a period of time, will result in the death of the patient.
In their ongoing effort to destroy people of color, white bio-chemists

create ?designer drugs,? structured to chemically bind with
and alter the Melanin molecule, causing it to become toxic and even fatal to highly melaninated people!

Join Dr. Hagins Every Sunday Night

8:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight (EST)

(7:00 p.m.to 11:00 p.m. Central Time)

For "LIVE" talk radio andQ&A Log ontoto:

www.wblr.com

Call-inlines: 1-877-454-1900 (Long Distance) & (314)

741-9507 (St. Louis area)

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24599|2008-01-20 23:07:09|Tafari khumbaka|THE YR OF THE RAT, IS COMIN|

Attachments :

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rat\_\(zodiac\))

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24600|2008-01-21 06:22:49|Ferg|Re: [Meroe] Re: Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas|

Attachments :

An interesting observation.

I did not connect the English word 'S-NAKE with NYOKA or NAGA. The word for 'snake' or 'serpent'in the Ancient Egyptianlanguageis derived fromProto-Bantu-OKA with the correct formative of the word as may beseen below.

|                                   |                                         |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| Ancient Egyptian           | NIK, Serpent                     |
| Proto-Bantu root           | -OKA, Snake, Serpent             |
| Kiswahili-Bantu, formative | NI-OKA or NY-OKA, Snake, Serpent |

On further researching the word NYOKA apossible explanation might lie in the Kiswahili-Bantu language. The word Nyoka as a noun means a snake.Nyoka mayalso beused as a verb and hasthe following meanings: uncoil as a snake, become straight, be straightened, be straightforward, be honest, be upright, Further meanings are: be set right, to be led aright, be converted, be reformed, prosper, be outspoken. Closely related to the word describes an upright person or a person who has the role to lead. I wonder if these definitions of NYOKA could add to the discussion and could they reflect on some of the ideas examined between speech (be outspoken) and the ability to lead?

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: adin kachisi

To: Meroe@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thursday, January 17, 2008 9:30 PM

Subject: [Meroe] Re: Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas

--- In Meroe@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:

>

> However as you have mentioned, the word 'Naga' in Ge'ez means speech. Is there a connection between the word 'Naga' and the term for a snake 'Noga' or 'Nyoka'?

>

Two other sources I can think of where the connection between "speech" and "snake" is the Judeo mythology and well as Zulu mythology.

Hebrew Mythology

Nahash /Nakash

Nahash (Hebrew) [from nahash- to whisper, hiss, prognosticate, practice divination]

Serpent; a constellation -- the serpent or dragon in the northern quarter of the heavens;

In Hebrew this word is associated with magic and enchantment. It is related to and pronounced almost the same as the Sanskrit word naga.

Zulu Mythology

In Shona the word for snake is Nyoka, but the word for speak is "Taura".

According to Credo Mutwa in Zulu mythology the ancient reptile/snake people were called "Chitauri" meaning 'speaker'. So here again the snake kings are called 'speakers'

Hebrew - Nakash

Sumerian - Naku

Sanskrit - Naga

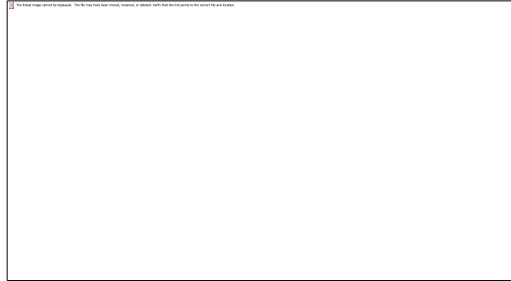

English - S-Nake

| 24601|2008-01-21 10:31:17|shaimesh@aol.com|The Association for the Study of Classical African Civilizations (AS)

Attachments :

From: queen2274@sbcglobal.net

SAVE THE DATE!!!

The Association for the Study of Classical African Civilizations

Presents the

25th Annual Ancient Kemetic (Egyptian) Studies Conference

Enduring for Eternity
March 6-9, 2008

California State University Dominguez Hills (CSUDH)
Carson , California

The people called forth by their work do not die, for their name is raised and remembered because of it.

Nzinga Ratibisha Heru, International President ASCAC Foundation

2274 W. 20th Street Los Angeles , CA 90018
(323) 730-1155 (office) (323) 620-1434 (cell)

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24602|2008-01-21 12:48:28|Tafari khumbaka|Re: [Meroe] Re: Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas| wonderful work

Ferg wrote:

An interesting observation.

I did not connect the English word 'S-NAKE with NYOKA or NAGA. The word for 'snake' or 'serpent' in the Ancient Egyptian language is derived from Proto-Bantu-OKA with the correct formative of the word as may be seen below.

|                                   |                                         |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| Ancient Egyptian           | NIK, Serpent                     |
| Proto-Bantu root           | -OKA, Snake, Serpent             |
| Kiswahili-Bantu, formative | NI-OKA or NY-OKA, Snake, Serpent |

On further researching the word NYOKA a possible explanation might lie in the Kiswahili-Bantu language. The word Nyoka as a noun means a snake. Nyoka may also be used as a verb and has the following meanings: uncoil as a snake, become straight, be straightened, be straightforward, be honest, be upright. Further meanings are: be set right, to be led aright, be converted, be reformed, prosper, be outspoken. Closely related to the word describes an upright person or a person who has the role to lead.

I wonder if these definitions of NYOKA could add to the discussion and could they reflect on some of the ideas examined between speech (be outspoken) and the ability to lead?

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: [adin kachisi](mailto:adin kachisi)

To: Meroe@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thursday, January 17, 2008 9:30 PM

Subject: [Meroe] Re: Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas

--- In Meroe@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:

>

> However as you have mentioned, the word 'Naga' in Ge'ez means speech. Is there a connection between the word 'Naga' and the term for a snake 'Noga' or, 'Nyoka'?

Two other sources I can think of where the connection between "speech" and "snake" is the Judeo mythology and well as Zulu mythology.

Hebrew Mythology

Nahash /Nakash

Nahash (Hebrew) [from nahash- to whisper, hiss, prognosticate, practice divination]

Serpent; a constellation -- the serpent or dragon in the northern quarter of the heavens;

In Hebrew this word is associated with magic and enchantment. It is related to and pronounced almost the same as the Sanskrit word naga.

Zulu Mythology

In Shona the word for snake is Nyoka, but the word for speak is "Taura".

According to Credo Mutwa in Zulu mythology the ancient reptile/snake people were called "Chitauri" meaning 'speaker'. So here again the snake kings are called 'speakers'

Hebrew - Nakash

Sumerian - Naku

Sanskrit - Naga

English - S-Nake

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24603|2008-01-21 16:24:34|Franklin Jones|A Story for All Black People|

This is a story that occurred near Petersburg
Virginia in 1736 upon a financially struggling plantation.
There had been several years since this plantation had a successful crop

season that turned a profit.

This also resulted in the master often having to sell several slaves
each year just before

Christmas in order to get by.

Also during these winter months, due to this despairing circumstance, the slaves were also given very little to eat.

During good days, the slaves

would eat twice and during the bad days only once and those good days were far and few between. The master said that this rationing was necessary because of the plantations low crop .

However,
the master secretly hid extra food for himself and family within an old abandoned

barn house that was made off limits to the field slave. The off limits rules were strictly enforced.
Therefore, any slave found near the barn, other than those house slaves sent by their master to recover food,
would immediately receive 25 lashes across his or her back.
Moreover, to further ensure that the field slaves stayed away from the barn, the master, instructed the house slaves to spread rumors

among the field slaves that the barn was in fact haunted.

For years, the master's scheme worked perfect and as a result he and his family always had more than enough for themselves during the winter while the field slave often loss an average of twenty pounds during the winter seasons.

However, this was about to change for upon this plantation, there lived a very exceptional and inquisitive little eight-year-old
African

American male slave. For the purpose of this story we shall called him the boy of insight .

For what made this little boy unique was that, although born during the age of slavery unlike the other slaves on the plantation that had succumb to the mental degradations of their masters that implied

Black inferiority

and white

superiority ,

This child was bravely

insightful and inquisitive even

contrary of the orders and wishes of his masters. His intelligence and

intuitiveness would often get

him into trouble

with the master.

He even secretly learned

to read at the age of seven, a fact that his mother, herself only nineteen, adamantly discouraged and made the boy promise not to divulge to any one else

?not even other slaves for she feared gravely that if word of the child?s ability to read got back to the master's house then her only son would be severely punished and then sold

because it was illegal for slaves to learn to read and write. One morning, this inquisitive boy awoke with the desire to find out what was truly hidden in his master's old barn.

Therefore, he quickly got dressed and sneaked out to the barn under the darkness of the early morning. As he got closer approached the barn, his heart began to race with fear as he remembered all of those stories of the barn being haunted and of those 25 lashes that he would certainly receive if he were caught.

Nevertheless,
the boy
continued onward until he reached the barn's door.
There was an old rusted lock upon the door, so the boy picked up the biggest rock that his little arms could lift and began hitting it against the lock until it broke and fell to the ground. The boy then slowly opened the large squeaky door and was immediately shocked for what he had found. He found that the barn was filled with many hidden jars and cans

fill with food.

The boy

became elated

and very excited by his finding. He was anxious to reveal his findings to the other slaves, so he rang the old triangular bell

awakening the other slaves.

The other slaves hearing

the ringing bell

quickly got

dressed and rushed out to find out what was going on?
Upon reaching the site of the ringing bell, the slaves were surprised to find that it was not their master ringing the bell, but instead that it was the little boy of insight who had rung
the bell awakening them so early. One of the slaves, a large man said boy,?what's going on and why did you awaken us so early?? The boy responded that he had found lots of food hidden in the barn. The large man responded to the boy saying ?you know that master told us all never to come near this barn, so what's wrong with you, boy? "Sounds like you don't

what to live to get old;
because you won't get much older not listening to the master.? The crowd, although many were themselves starving, began to also express their displeasure with the boy's defiance of the master's instructions.
"Yeah, yeah," they yelled,
?that boy's

going to get us all in trouble with the master.? The entire crowd began to yell saying that master is going to be angry, and as their anger escalated, they demanded that the child be punished
immediately.
They echoed that the boy should be punished for he had disobeyed their master in the first place and that was what had to happen. The child's mother picked him up and ran through the woods. The angry slaves pursued her.

The mother continued to run as fast as she possibly could until she slipped and fell with her son into the cold neighboring creek where they both drowned. Most of the slaves, after witnessing the tragedy, responded with the sentiments of good riddance for the boy had been a thorn in the master's side ever since he was born. Now, they said ?let's try to fix that old lock and place it back on to the barn door.? The slaves repaired the damaged locked and put it back on the door of the barn as if it had not been disturbed, and they resumed their typical slave chores feeling no remorse for the now deceased mother and child. The slaves in this story were more concerned with offending their master than they were about the death of the young mother and her child.

How is it possible that these slaves could express more concern for their master than one of the very own fellow slaves, especially that of a young mother and her child? This type of devotion to their masters was not at all uncommon

behavior of the African slaves
in America.

Moreover, when an African slave was planning an escape or a revolt, often another slave would forewarn
the master.

During the Civil War, many African slaves attempted to defend their master's home and family against the approaching Union soldiers.

There is evidence that some Africans fought on the side of the South. Why and how absurd to imagine such behavior and loyalty to their masters at the expense of their own self preservation.

The
slaves found it difficult to accept the boys

disclosure because they have beencondition through years of mental manipulation to revere their master even at the expense of their own survival .

Very much like that of the earlier stated

story of

where in which the slaves

preferred it easier to see their fellow

slaves

diethan to accept the boys

revelation that their master had liedthem,

today many

Blacks have perceived my submissions of information exposing today's modern[the Black Matrix]

method of white racism as being a form of reverse racism against whites .To recognize the significant of the given information entitled "the Black Matrix"

Black people must over come the psychological y ingrained white is right perception andnegatively held perceptions of our selves andopen your hearts

and minds to see the truth.

For I'm merely offering of the truth for those who will listen for it; and the truth is that we, African Americans, [as with also Africans the world over] can no longer survive as a race hanging on to lies. A reality of truth must prevail if we are to be a part of the future.

Today we African Americans are faced with many despairing statistics far worse than any generation before now.

These negative statistic creates a distracting paradigm of where in which we, as a people, are not able to move forward because we're always reacting to negative statistic about ourselves that we in fact can neither confirm nor refute. It is a scenario not unlike that of a dog unsuccessfully chasing his own tail. This is a deliberate design and there is neither a struggle, nor fight more pressing for we African Americans than this one, where we are being systematically economically exploited, suppressed,

confused , turned and against each other [divided] as a matter of meeting the U.S.
Government's secret unrelenting commitment of maintaining its
white dominance and control.
For almost half a century now-- because the blatant methods of racism used and condoned in the past are no longer morally and socially acceptable -- the United States

government reinforced its methods of ensuring that White dominance and control is maintained by having secretly implemented its largest ever COINTELPRO-- Counterintelligence Program -- covert operation against its entire Black population through a campaign of massive psychological warfare that uses mis-education, false statistics, and negative propaganda spread by media reports. By doing so, they acquired a far more insidious and covert method of maintaining

White dominance that exists behind a clever shroud of secrecy and deceit ? for it is in this way that the evils of racism thrive best -- when its victims do not recognize the evil. Unlike the brutal system of racism used in the past that caused African Americans to rally together and unify
themselves against, this modern system of racism is not easily comprehended by Blacks. It is a method so opaque that many of its

Black victims remain largely unaware of it themselves. And while most African Americans may instinctively feel that something is wrong, they cannot, however, express their suspicions and conceptualize them sufficiently so that they and others can comprehend and act to defend themselves against it. It is, in fact, so sophisticated that even very bright African American individuals have little, if any, hope of extricating

themselves from its brutal effects. In fact, most Blacks cannot believe that they are being attacked or subdued because it wears the appearance [if any] of being totally self-inflicted by African Americans
themselves.
Most African Americans have never heard of this method of asserting White racism, therefore many will find it too shocking and stunning to contemplate?
nevertheless, it is directly intertwined with the many problems

adversely affecting Black America today.
Moreover, this modern method is the most prevalent and lethal system of racism now assaulting African Americans.
This modern method covertly uses false propaganda media reports that equates a psychological warfare that deliberately conspires to severely reduce African America's upward mobility by corrupting them of unity, reason, and common sense, deliberately soliciting the disparity that has now become modern Black America. Here is a simplified analogy of how this is being done to America's

Black population. Let us say, for example, that a group of people was aboard
their own massive ship and that their ship was being shadowed by another neighboring ship, a neighboring ship that was constantly broadcasting derogatory messages to the first group that their ship was lesser, smaller, not seaworthy or perhaps slowly sinking or that their crew was incompetent or was planning a mutiny. With time, the group receiving the negative messages, being unable to refute or to confirm these derogatory messages and deficiencies will grow weary and paranoid of the negative messages and will eventually comes to accept these negative assessments of themselves. The perception created by the taunting now unconsciously influences how the taunted group perceives

themselves, subsequently causing them to become distrustful of themselves,
doubting
themselves, hating
themselves
and, eventually, fighting among
themselves.
The taunted group may even become so besieged by deep feelings of inadequacy that they may even jump into the sea and attempt to swim towards the taunting ship now believing it to be superior to their own ship even if their own ship was in fact better. This concept of warfare uses psychology as the decisive factor in the outcome. The basis of the concept is that the human being's most critical aspect is the mind. This science of psychology works by affecting the unconscious mind through deception. Its weapon is the message that it carries and the way this message affects the recipients in terms of their behavior. Within a real world setting, this is implemented against African Americans through U.S.

governmental agencies that leak false derogatory
press releases, documentaries,
and media information concerning its
Black population that are designed to perpetuate and frame the myth of Whites? racial, moral,
and ethical superiority over its Black population. Its collaborators in the news media, which either knowingly or unknowingly carry the false information or create their own false information through news releases in magazine

articles, radio, and television, work to demoralize, discourage, berate, subjugate, and or dismantle the Black population. It insinuates that America would be a better society as a whole if African Americans were gone, thus psychologically changing the root problem of racism in America to be due to Black?s behavior rather than White?s proclivity for racism. This perversion of reality, shifting the blame, and role reversal of the problem of racism to be the fault of African Americans, is perpetuated unrelentingly everywhere through press releases,

pamphlets,
radio, newspaper, and magazine articles and television. The weapon is not the way it is sent, but the messages that it carries and how the messages affect the recipient and influence society. This campaign engenders a shift of victimization that fosters distorted perceptions
and increasingly prejudiced and acrimonious beliefs about its African American population that creates a consensual environment that facilitates the easier exploitation

and suppression of Black America.
[For when contempt of Blacks appears to be justifiable, it is the fiercest and most effective type of racism because its witnesses, bystanders,
and jurors will sit by idly allowing African Americans to be brutally mistreated

under the belief that it is justified.]

This premise that the U.S.
Government
has reincarnated its methods of suppressing its Black population by the usage of psychological warfare is not at all ridiculous. For since the beginning of recorded history, ruling governmental bodies of nearly every nation have involved themselves in implementing methods to maintain and defend their positions of established power against its minority group. The American Government is in no way an exception to this rule. For it has implemented methods designed to ensure that White dominance is maintained since the time Black people first arrived in America as slaves. During slavery, Blacks were not allowed to be educated, speak among themselves in their native language, or to congregate in large groups [except during their religious services which their master

often over saw]. Even after the abolishment of slavery, methods were again implemented to ensure that White dominance was maintained in the form of Jim Crow inequalities that included many unethical methods that denied Blacks the right to vote and that fostered and sanctioned thousands of brutal lynchings of African Americans.
Since the methods of the past are no longer morally acceptable, it became necessary for America ?s

White governmental elites secretly to create and apply a system
more subtle, sophisticated,
and socially acceptable in its application
and appearance for ensuring that
White dominance is maintained.
Although this may sound a bit like bad
science fiction, Psychological Warfare is a real and well-proven technology that exceeds the territorial limits of conventional warfare to penetrate the proposed target. This type of psychological warfare has been used by the military since World War II. The British Special Operation Executives (SOE) was pioneering this form of propaganda during the Second World War. The British Government, between 1930-1940, conducted psychological warfare against Germany, by putting together a massive department staffed by many former journalists that conducted secret

journalism and planted favorable stories in the world's press.
Generally using friendly newspapers editors, but also using bribery to get pro-allied stories in print, British pilots also dropped propaganda
leaflets and spread rumors concerning Germany 's relations with France and other aspects of the war. The unrelenting daily assault on the Black psyche corrupts
African Americans? sense of reason and unity and produce a consensual nation environment of where in which African American are economically exploited and suppressed

thus creating the culture of failure and disparity that now afflicts modern Black America. In fact this modern massive system of covert White racism is so subtle, pervasive,
organized,
complete, and proficient that it may be the single most aggravating factor behind the persistent national disparities and culture of failure now afflicting Black America ?and yet most

African Americans are totally unaware of its existence.
The many problems now facing Black America will not be corrected by implementing outdated strategies of foot marches, speeches, the commemoratio n of fallen Black martyrs, nor from the preaching of scriptures from any of our religious texts?Christian or Muslim? but instead by exposing and developing counter strategies against this fiercest and most lethal system of institutionalize d racism now facing Black America.

[ Because this article exposes
the hidden,
conspiratorial, and profound dimensions of racism that secretly exist
at governmental levels in the United States , these are very dangerous waters that the author is attempting to navigate. For if this important informationwer e to become commonly well known among African

Americans, the U.S.

Government would most certainly dispute it and initiate a national campaign of spin control and coverage through the national media and the Internet with experts lined up to dismiss its premises as a means for protecting its national interest. ]

PLEASE

FORWARD

!!!!!!!!!!!!!!FWD,F

WD,FWD,FWD

getting out .

THE BLACK

MATRIX: The

Modern Mental

and Social

Suppression of

African

American

Under National Interest 2006
by Franklin G.
Jones
www.divineblacktruth.org

---

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Be a better
friend,
newshound,
and know-it-all
with Yahoo!
Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Be a better friend,
newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? [Find them fast with Yahoo!
Search.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24604|2008-01-21 16:26:32|Paul Kekai Manansala|"Black Pharaohs" (National Geographic)|
The title "Black Pharaohs" of course incorrectly implies that the non-Nubian Pharaohs were non-Black.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

---

National Geographic

Photographs by Kenneth Garrett

By Robert Draper

For 75 years Nubian kings ruled over ancient Egypt, reunifying the country and building an empire. Until recently, theirs was a chapter of history lost in the shadows.

In the year 730 B.C., a man by the name of Piye decided the only way to save Egypt from itself was to invade it. Things would get bloody before the salvation came.

"Harness the best steeds of your stable," he ordered his commanders. The magnificent civilization that had built the great pyramids had lost its way, torn apart by petty warlords. For two decades Piye had ruled over his own kingdom in Nubia, a swath of Africa located mostly in present-day Sudan. But he considered himself the true ruler of Egypt as well, the rightful heir to the spiritual traditions practiced by pharaohs such as Ramses II and Thutmose III. Since Piye had probably never actually visited Lower Egypt, some did not take his boast seriously. Now Piye would witness the subjugation of decadent Egypt firsthand?"I shall let Lower Egypt taste the taste of my fingers," he would later write.

North on the Nile River his soldiers sailed. At Thebes, the capital of Upper Egypt, they disembarked. Believing there was a proper way to wage holy wars, Piye instructed his soldiers to purify themselves before combat by bathing in the Nile, dressing themselves in fine linen, and sprinkling their bodies with water from the temple at Karnak, a site holy to the ram-headed sun god Amun, whom Piye identified as his own personal deity. Piye himself feasted and offered sacrifices to Amun. Thus sanctified, the commander and his men commenced to do battle with every army in their path.

By the end of a yearlong campaign, every leader in Egypt had capitulated?including the powerful delta warlord Tefnakht, who sent a messenger to tell Piye, "Be gracious! I cannot see your face in the days of shame; I cannot stand before your flame, I dread your grandeur." In exchange for their lives, the vanquished urged Piye to worship at their temples, pocket their finest jewels, and claim their best horses. He obliged them. And then, with his vassals trembling before him, the newly anointed Lord of the Two Lands did something extraordinary: He loaded up his army and his war booty, and sailed southward to his home in Nubia, never to return to Egypt again.

When Piye died at the end of his 35-year reign in 715 B.C., his subjects honored his wishes by burying him in an Egyptian-style pyramid, with four of his beloved horses nearby. He was the first pharaoh to receive such entombment in more than 500 years. A pity, then, that the great Nubian who accomplished these feats is literally faceless to us. Images of Piye on the elaborate granite slabs, or stelae, memorializing his conquest of Egypt have long since been chiseled away. On a relief in the temple at the Nubian capital of Napata, only Piye's legs remain. We are left with a single physical detail of the man?namely, that his skin was dark.

Piye was the first of the so-called black pharaohs?a series of Nubian kings who ruled over all of Egypt for three-quarters of a century as that country's 25th dynasty. Through inscriptions carved on stelae by both the Nubians and their enemies, it is possible to map out these rulers' vast footprint on the continent. The black pharaohs reunified a tattered Egypt and filled its landscape with glorious monuments, creating an empire that stretched from the southern border at present-day Khartoum all the way north to the Mediterranean Sea. They stood up to the bloodthirsty Assyrians, perhaps saving Jerusalem in the process.

(1 of 5)Next >>

| 24605|2008-01-22 07:27:42|Vernessa McVay|Re: Oprah Winfrey's OWN|
I'm happy for that sista!!

kcamm23063@aol.com wrote:

Posted: Tue., Jan. 15, 2008, 10:30am PT

Oprah Winfrey gets OWN network

Channel will open for business in 2009

By JOHN DEMPSEY

Oprah Winfrey is adding a major piece of real estate to her media empire, teaming with Discovery Communications to create an Oprah-branded TV net.

OWN: The Oprah Winfrey Network will bow in the second half of 2009. OWN will take over the Discovery Health Channel distribution platform, which guarantees it a strong subscriber base of 67.7 million cable and satellite homes, according to Nielsen. Winfrey will be chair of the network. Deal between Winfrey and Discovery was described as a "cashless transaction" for a 50-50 joint venture that will be considered an entity independent of other Discovery channel holdings.

Winfrey will have full editorial control of OWN and oversee its programming, branding and creative thrust.

OWN will dive deeper into the lifestyle, self-help, entertainment and spiritual themes Winfrey mines on her daily show, which has been daytime's top syndicated yakker for 20 years, and in her successful monthly magazine O: the Oprah Magazine, a joint venture with Hearst Magazines.

"We'll deal with topics such as money, health and relationships. I want to create a niche, a place where people can go to feel better about their lives," Winfrey said during a conference call with reporters Tuesday. She said it's too early in the process for her to discuss specific shows or programming ideas.

Winfrey said she would not be able to offer reruns of "The Oprah Winfrey Show" on the channel because CBS TV Distribution has exclusive distribution rights to the series through May 2011. But if she continues to produce and star in the series beyond that date, Winfrey said she'd get the right to funnel repeats to OWN. She added that she'll have to make the decision to about whether to continue her show for the 2011-12 season and beyond by the end of this year. Her contract with CBS TV Distribution has a clause that allows her to opt out of the syndicated show in mid-2010.

Even if she can't use "The Oprah Winfrey Show" on OWN, "I'll still be the voice and brand of the network," Winfrey promised.

David Zaslav, prexy-CEO of Discovery Communications, said OWN would draw on the resources of Discovery's extensive library of programming from its 13 domestic cable networks as well as Winfrey's Oprah.com website; O: the Oprah Magazine; her radio show "Oprah & Friends" for XM Radio; and her Harpo Prods. lineup of theatrical and TV movies.

Winfrey said, "Harpo will contribute programming for OWN, as well as for TV syndication and network primetime."

Winfrey has dabbled in cabler ownership once before. She was one of the original investors in Geraldine Laybourne's femme-centric Oxygen Media. But Winfrey said she bowed out of the Oxygen board of directors when she found that the programming "didn't reflect my voice."

Winfrey has cashed in her investment in Oxygen. NBC Universal bought the net late last year for $875 million.

Discovery will handle distribution and origination of the OWN channel. Discovery Health, which will cease to exist after OWN debuts, was launched as a themed spinoff of the mothership Discovery Channel in 1999.

Winfrey and Discovery are about to launch a search for a CEO to run the network. Zaslav said Discovery and Winfrey haven't decided whether the network will be based in Chicago, home of Harpo Prods., or in Discovery's home base of Silver Spring, Md.

Read the full article at:

<http://www.variety.com/article/VR1117979055.html> 2008 Reed Business Information

Forward Ever (by any means necessary)!

Karen C. Aboiralor

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24606|2008-01-22 15:56:46|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Sheesh! Did you know...|

"T. Lomax"

Government documents released through the Freedom of Information Act show that the top Pentagon generals once approved plans to foment terrorism in major U.S. cities and even kill innocent Americans. It was called "Operation Northwoods".

You may be eating genetically modified food every day which scientific experiments have repeatedly demonstrated can cause sickness and even death in laboratory animals. There's a book on this called "Seeds of Deception".

Detroit's leading newspaper reported that the 1908 Ford Model T boasted a fuel economy of 25 miles per gallon. Yet almost 100 years later, the EPA average mileage for all cars is under 21 mpg. (Detroit News, 6/4/03)

A highly decorated US General wrote a book titled "War is a Racket", which clearly depicts how he was manipulated and how most wars are waged largely to keep the coffers of the big corporations filled. His name was General Smedley Butler, and he wrote it in 1935.

The former chief of a prestigious medical journal has revealed that the total profits of the ten drug companies in the Fortune 500 were more than the profits of the other 490 businesses combined. (Dr. Marcia Angell, former editor in chief of the New England Journal of Medicine.)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24607|2008-01-22 15:56:55|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - 45,000 people dying a month in Congo - Yahoo|

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 22 Jan 2008 12:30:43 -0800

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Subject: Yahoo! News Story - 45,000 people dying a month in Congo - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

45,000 people dying a month in Congo - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080122/ap\_on\_re\_af/congo\_1

=====

Yahoo! News

<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24608|2008-01-22 15:57:09|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [maatcollective] Yahoo! News Story - Folk medicines contain lead

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

To: maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

From: Tafari khumbaka

Date: 22 Jan 2008 12:34:17 -0800

Subject: [maatcollective] Yahoo! News Story - Folk medicines contain lead - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----

Personal message:

Folk medicines contain lead - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080122/ap\_on\_he\_me/dangerous\_remedies

=====

Yahoo! News

<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24609|2008-01-23 03:54:45|Alex van Deelen|Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex
| 24610|2008-01-23 10:09:13|Divine Ruler Equality Allah|Re: Pan Afrakan Mdw Ntchr
Symposium *****Register Today*****|
Itinerary

PROGRAM OUTLINE - PAN AFRAKAN MDW NETCHER SYMPOSIUM 6247 ST
THEME - "MDW NTCHR IN YOUR EVERYDAY LIFE"

FRIDAY, 01/25

10:00AM-11:00 AM Vendors, Set-up, Decorations, Altar

11:30AM Doors Open to Public & Registration

11:30 AM ? 7:00 PM Registration for 1 or 2-Day Symposium Workshops

12:00PM-12:30PM GREETINGS & "KASH-KEMET TIME CAPSULE" SLIDE SHOW

Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani: Director of Africana Studies, Essex County College, PAKKMNOS

Executive Council Member

Neb (Master) of Ceremonies

Mfundishi Jhutyms Ka N Heru EL-Salim: PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member

12:30PM-01:00PM WELCOME & OPENING CEREMONIES *All Events held in Smith Hall, unless otherwise indicated. *

Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani, Neb of Ceremonies Communal Greetings

Mwt Rosalind Jeffries, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member- Welcome & Opening Prayer

Mwt Abut Seshatms Ma'atnefert EL-Salim, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member- Kash-
Kemet Opening of the Way

Mfundishi Jhutyms EL-Salim- Libations

Mwt Rkhty Amen, PAKKMNOS Executive Member PAKKMNOS- Mission Statement, Purpose
Membership, Executive Council & Events

01:00PM-01:15PM Temple of White & Gold Lotus- Kash Kemet Ceremonial Hesi

01:20PM-02:15PM PRESENTATION

Mfundishi Jhutyms EL-Salim- "Kash-Kemet Video Presentation for all Ages"

02:20PM-03:55PM WORKSHOP

Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani- Bio of Sn Heri Khafra

Sn Heri Khafra Ndongo, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member- "Pyramid Matrix for All Ages" (Seiglar Hall)

02:20PM-03:55PM LUNCH/AFRAKAN MARKETPLACE

04:00PM-06:00PM WORKSHOP

Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani Bios of Mwt LaTrella & Mwt Seshatms Mwt LaTrella Thornton, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member "Life Empowerment with Altars & Shrines in Your Everyday Life"
Mwt Abut Seshatms EL-Salim

06:00PM ANNOUNCEMENTS

06:00PM-06:45PM KEMET POETRY SLAM-SPOKEN WORD CONTEST
Sn Heri Khafra Ndongo, Facilitator

06:45PM-07:45PM KEMET CONCERT

Sn Heri Khafra Ndongo & Temple of White & Gold Lotus

07:30PM Vendors Close out

07:45-08:00PM Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani Closing Remarks & Announcements

SATURDAY, 01/26

07:30AM-08:30AM PAKKMNOS Executive Council Meeting

08:00AM Vendor Set up

08:30AM-9:00AM Doors Open to Public, Registration & Afrakan Marketplace

09:00AM-10:00AM OPENING & KEMET RITUALS

Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani, Neb of Ceremonies, Director of Africana Institute Communal
Greetings

PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member

Mwt LaTrella Thornton, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member- Welcome & Opening Prayer

Mwt Abut Seshatms Ma'atnefert EL-Salim, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member- Kash-
Kemet Opening of the Way

Mwt LaTrella Thornton Libations

Mwt Rkhty Amen, PAKKMNOS Executive Member PAKKMNOS- Mission Statement, Purpose
Membership, Executive Council & Events

Temple of White & Gold Lotus- Kash Kemet Ceremonial Hesi (10 Minutes)

10:15AM-12:15PM WORKSHOP

Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani Bio for Mwt Rhkty
Mwt Rhkty Amen- "Conversational Mdw Ntchr"

12:15PM-01:15PM LUNCH/AFRAKAN MARKETPLACE

01:20PM-03:20PM WORKSHOP

Mfundishi Jhutymys Ka N Heru EL-Salim, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member "Correct Names of the Nswtw & Hmt Wrt

Nswtw (Men/Women Rulers ) of Ancient Kmt"

3:20PM-04:00PM AFRAKAN MARKETPLACE

04:00PM Sn Dr. Akil Khalfani Bio for Sn Akinjidi Bonotchi

04:00PM-06:00PM WORKSHOP

Sn Akinjidi Bonotchi, PAKKMNOS Executive Council Member- "Khpr in Kmt Creation Story"

06:00PM-06:30PM DINNER/AFRAKAN MARKETPLACE

06:30PM-07:00PM KASH-KEMET-MOORS MARTIAL ARTS DEMONSTRATION

Mfundishi Jhutymy Ka N Heru EL-Salim, Grandmaster & Founder of Aha Kemet Kupigana Ngumi & Ma'at Akhw Ba Ankh

Students of Aha Kemet Kupigana Ngumi & Ma'at Akhw Ba Ankh

Professor EL-Tawfiyq Aziz, Founder of Shakajutsu Warrior Academy

Students of Shakajutsu Warrior Academy

07:00PM-07:30PM PAKKMNOS Executive Council SPECIAL PRESENTATIONS

07:30PM-08:00PM "MDW NTCHR PANEL"

Mfundishi Jhutymy EL-Salim, Facilitator

08:00PM-08:20PM CLOSING

Sn Akil Khalfani Appreciations, Announcements,

Next Steps, Closing Remarks

Closing Pray

Temple of White & Gold Lotus Closing Hesi

08:30PM-09:00PM Vendors Closeout

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, shaimesh@... wrote:

>

> From: khalfani@...

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
 $\succ$  $\geq$  $\succ$  $\angle$  $\angle$  $\angle$  $\angle$

✓

7

1

/

/ /

> Pan Afrakan

> Mdw Netcher Symposium

$$>$$
 $\succ$
$$>$$
 $\geq$  $\geq$  $\geq$  $\angle$

- > Learn about the Ancient African

> Language and Culture

 $\geq$ > of Kash-Kemet (Egypt).

> Mdw Netcher is mis-called Egyptian Hieroglyphs.

$$>$$
$$>$$
 $\succ$  $\geq$  $\geq$  $\succ$  $\gamma$

- > Master teachers will share their > knowledge.

 $\geq$  $\succ$  $\gamma$

> Enjoy a Kemetic Concert on > Friday.

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> When: Friday, January

> 25th, 2008 ~ 12:00pm to 8:00pm

>

>

>

> Evening Kemetic Concert and Poetry Slam

>

>

>

>

> Saturday, January 26th,

> 2008 ~ 9:00am to 9:00pm

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> Where:

> Smith Hall □ Essex

> County College

>

>

>

>

>

> MLK, Jr. Blvd.

> and West Market St.

>

>

>

>

> Newark, New

> Jersey

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> Registration

> Required:

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> Register

> On-line: www.blackgoldsacredliving.com

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> Students

> ECC $10; Other Students $50

>

>

>

> Regular Admission

> $75; Youth (10-17) $10

>

>

>

> Children

> Free

> (Single day admission available)

>

>

>

> 1-866-227-3170

```
> MdwNtchr@...
```

 $\succ$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$

> Co-Sponsors

$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$

> Pan Afrakan Kash

> Kmt Mdw Ntchr Outreach Society

$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$

> Kera Jhuty Heru Neb Hu Kemet Kash Per

> Ankh

$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$

> Africana

> Institute at Essex

> County College

$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
 $\succ$
$$>$$
$$>$$

> For more information call

> 973-877-3219 or 1-866-227-3170, or via e-mail africana@...

$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
 $\succ$  $\succ$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$
$$>$$

>
>
>
>
>
> Akil Kokayi
> Khalfani, Ph.D.
>
>
>
> Director, > Africana Institute
>
>
>
> Acting Director,
> Urban Issues Institute
>
>
>
> Essex County > College
>
>
>
> 303 University > Avenue
>
>
>
> Newark, New > Jersey 07102
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> 973-877-3219
>
>
> <http://faculty.essex.edu/~khalfani/>
>
>
> _____

> More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail ! - <http://webmail.aol.com>

>

| 24611|2008-01-23 10:45:31|shaimesh@aol.com|University of Kemetian Sciences|

From: info@kemetaphysics.org

Prepare for Your Future Now, Join us at UKS!

"Thank you so much for all the work that you have put into each presentation and lesson. Every lesson has been mind feeding, and has increased my appetite for more...Again, thank you"

- Cherille G., Student

"Where the Mission is Mastery"

It's not too late to sign up for your class!

Courses offered in the Winter/Spring 2008 Semester

(Click here for course descriptions)

Metaphysical Psychology Classical Naturopathy Mdw Ntr

Learn about the realm of CAUSE - where EVERYTHING begins

Learn the concepts of True Natural Healing

Learn to speak the language of Kemet

Receive YOUR Certification !

In This Issue (Click on title)

About Essentil Oils

Honey - Sweet & (S)low Poison - Part 1

Cancer -You're Not A Victim - Part 2

Celestial Correspondence

Quick Links

<http://www.uksnow.org>

<http://www.templehealing.com>

<http://www.jpnalani.com>

<http://www.contentfamily.com>

<http://www.healbytouch.com>

<http://www.brazztree.com>

www.analytical-designs.com

<http://www.mazzmuzik.com>

Click here to

Greetings!

Our University is unique in several ways. It explores the full spectrum of each of the subjects that we offer, and expands intellectual borders to encompass wider perspectives based on the ancient African, Asian and Indigenous worldview.

As you will see in our open letter

http://kemetaphysics.org/Mission\_Statement.pdf

"All institutions of 'higher learning' represent fixed points of reference for the consolidation and proliferation of a social, economic and cultural ideal.

Those entering and graduating from such institutions are indoctrinated to accept and perpetuate this consensus ideal, so as to reinforce the paradigm structures set by the social engineers who build, fund and control the way we live, think and participate in our being."

Help us change this paradigm to build a new foundation of thought and being for the children of the future.

Come join us at UKS, where

"The Mission is truly Mastery"

The Drs. Valentine

About Essential Oils

From 7 Steps to Healing & Wellness

"Essential oils are volatile substances that are extracted from different parts of a plant. Most citrus oils are pressed from the rind...some are distilled from the flowers, stem or root..."

(page 21)

Glyphs on the pyramid walls show our ancient ancestors using essential oils. They have been used through the ages for aromatherapy (because they can positively effect our moods), as medicine, and--because of their high value, even as currency. Today, many cosmetic companies are "jumping on the bandwagon", and using essential oils in their products. But did you know that not all essential oils that have the same name are actually the same?

In her book, Dr. Nalani explains some of the differences:

"Not all Essential Oils are created equal. There are several factors that come together to create Therapeutic Grade oils: The primary constituents of the oil have to be present in specific percentages the original plant must be organically grown the quality and quantity of nutrients in the soil that the plant was grown in must be high The distillery should be stainless steel-not aluminum or copper, which are reactive..."

7 Steps to Healing & Wellness, Using Essential Oils is a perfect guide for the novice who has never used essential oils, as well as the seasoned practitioner.

A special event coming to New York!
March 29th, 2008

This first-time Healing Dance event will incorporate a WHOLE WEEK of nutritional, physical and meditative preparation, created to jump-start your healing process!

During the week of preparation there will be

- o Internal cleansing
- o A 24 hour fast (water only)
- o Meditation
- o Nutritional recommendations from Dr. Nalani
- o Instructional guidelines for the actual day of Healing Dance

Noon-Day, March 28th (the day before) will begin the practice of total SILENCE and Introspection that will continue throughout the entire dance experience!

And on the actual day of Healing Dance,

- o Authentic Shamanic Music
- o Silence (except for the music)
- o Aromatherapy w/ YL Essential Oils
- o Yoga
- o Tai Chi
- o Massage Therapy
- o Reiki Healing
- o Healing circles
- o Rhythmic movement
- o Belly Dancing
- o Gentle stretching

You won't want to miss this one!

Watch for the flier and pre-registration

For Young Living Essential Oils

Go to <http://www.youngliving.com/drnalani>

For Good Nutrition

Go to <http://www.jpnalani.com>

Click here for your copy of the latest edition

Honey

Nature's Sweet & (S)low Poison

Dr. Phil Valentine

First, let's clear up some misconceptions around the uses and perceived meanings of the word "cure." According to Webster's 7th New Collegiate Dictionary (1972), the word derives from the Latin "cura" and is associated with religious principles (viz.) "...cure of souls; spiritual charge; pastoral charge of a parish."

Thus its primary meaning is associated with religion, or a 'belief structure.' Its secondary meaning is applied to what is termed "remedial action" (viz.) "recovery and relief from disease;" or, "a restoration to health after disease."

Let's take a closer look at the latter definition and the word 'restoration.' It derives from the word 'restore', which means "...to give back; return; to put or bring back into existence..."

Now; based on the above definitions, one may easily be misled into applying them to symptomatic actions expressed by the body in its response to the introduction of a "curative." Medical science, as well as herbalists, have us believing that we can take something inert (lifeless) that enlists a stimulating effect, to "cure" a condition that the CELLULAR INTELLIGENCE of the body created, NOT a germ, virus or bacteria.

And this is where we are so totally deceived. Stimulants and irritants cannot "put back" or "bring back" health to a diseased body. Due to the nature of their toxic effects when introduced, the body is being leached and thus exhausted of the inherent vital life forces, vitamins and minerals already there. The sudden "rush" caused by the defensive action of the cells gives us the impression that the honey and cinnamon are "putting back" or "giving back" energy and nutrients (or "curing"), when in fact they're STEALING AND DISSIPATING WHAT WAS ALREADY THERE!

All "diseases" are initiated by the cellular intelligence of the body in response to the degenerative habits that gradually created them in the first place. Thus arthritis, colds, upset stomach, bad breath, cancer, influenza, bladder infection (et al), are the results of eating habits cultivated by appetite-addictions that over-stimulated the body into a condition called ENERVATION, which leads to a condition of CONSTIPATION that both eventually lead to symptoms of TOXEMIA.

The University of Kemetian Sciences teaches the ancient yet most ## advanced principles of Naturopathic Hygienic Science--seldom taught in other schools in the United States

Cancer - You Are Not A Helpless Victim

Dr. Nalani (Part 2)

In the last issue, I listed several of the stressors that can become precursors to a cancerous condition . \(request your copy\) Here are several things to avoid in terms of lifestyle and consumer products, to keep your internal environment healthy, and significantly reduce the possibility that you will have this dis-ease:

1. Quit smoking. Smokers have 30 times the rate of cancer of the lung, larynx, esophagus, mouth and bladder than non-smokers.
2. Avoid alcohol - Increases cancer of throat, esophagus, mouth. Alcohol with smoke combined is - even more lethal.
3. Don't smoke? Don't start.
4. Demand clean air in your work place--you are entitled to it.
5. Eat Organic foods -This way you are sure to get better quality, more nutritive value, and less toxicity in your body, and you'll avoid ingesting synthetic chemicals directly added to food for flavor-enhancement and eye appeal; they too have been linked to cancer.
6. Eat more raw, organic fruits and vegetables than cooked foods.
7. Avoid food dyes, trans fats and hydrogenated oils.
8. Read labels; teach children to do the same; they should be made aware of the importance of avoiding foods with the following known carcinogens:
  - a) FD& C Food Drug and Cosmetic "US certified colors"
  - b) Smoked fish & meat, sandwich meat, franks, bacon, - They all contain nitrites and are highly carcinogenic
  - c) Baby pacifiers, rubber bottle nipples, plastic bottles, tobacco and most cosmetics are sources of nitrates and nitrites.
  - d) "Flavor enhancers" and "natural flavors" are terms used for Petroleum proteins & other toxins.
  - e) "Torutein" = high protein yeast culture grown on ethanol, which is derived from hydrocarbons that are isolated from crude oil. You'll find Torutein in meat products and most baked goods.
9. Boycott carcinogenic products. You have a right to know every ingredient of what you ingest. California's 1996 proposition 65 requires public disclosure of carcinogenic and toxic reproductive chemicals,--not only of consumer products, but also in the workplace.
10. Carpets - often contain carcinogenic chemicals.
11. Talc- (baby powder, etc) has been linked to ovarian cancer; affects the nervous system; can be carcinogenic when inhaled.
12. Non-organic baby products.

13. Avoid refined sugar - It creates an overload of free radicals in the bloodstream, causes a reduction in Human Growth Hormone (HGH), can cause the pancreas to enlarge, and it actually "feeds" cancer by blocking the oxygen uptake into the cells.

14. Be careful in your choice of condoms; many have been linked to ovarian cancer (due to the use of talc, and the toxic quality of Latex rubber).

After noticing all these unhealthy items to watch out for, be sure to read the next issue for simple, yet powerful, positive preventative steps you can take to protect yourself against the risk of cancer. These will go a long way in supporting your internal defenses, and maintaining good health and well being.

"Your health is in YOUR hands"

"I don't care to belong to a club that accepts people like me as members."

Groucho Marx (1890-1977)

Celestial Correspondence

Are We Prepared?

The times always have and always will be in a state of alteration, variance or modification. The problem comes when our collective and individual states of being and/or movement are incongruent with said changes. Part of the problem is our historical understanding in conjunction with our general comprehension of time.

Time, in the modern sense of the word, is seen as an abstract plane where things may exist, but where the existence of such things are not essential to the existence or time or space. Whereas from our ancient understanding, Time was related to concrete entities as a measure of change and the sequence of events!

From the latter perspective a wiser outlook of life can be acquired. Societal structures today have lost this understanding and all the importance it overlays, which has brought us collectively unprepared to the current shift.

Now of course we want to know about our individual horoscopes, but there is a greater concern to focus on; that of a pending global shift. However, our purpose here is to examine what appears to be within our collective reach at this time: The United States.

The U.S. is about to face an enemy that its abuse and overuse of armed force and technological weaponry will be unable to match! It has already taken a severe hit by this enemy and has begun to undergo the changes that will not only alter, but totally reduce its viability to exist as it has thus far.

To make it clear, let's compare it to an individual, natural person who is about to be hospitalized and may not walk out again. This individual is subject to complex surgery resulting in an iron lung, a pacemaker or some other vital life support. The prognosis is dire, nearly fatal.

To see the big picture , it's necessary to observe what has already occurred. We do that by defining what the United States is; for what purpose was it created; and what brought about its creation. We will revisit these vital questions in my following article. But first, for priority sake let us ask:

What is subject to this big change?

That would be you and me my brothers and sisters, and a big portion of all we have come to rely upon. Many entities are examining this pending shift. The examination we need to undertake is of ourselves, the common folk, our physical bodies, life and livelihood; of the land mass and the general state of our affairs, the innovation of things and their completion and growth; our commerce, selling and purchasing; and the use of our logic and speech.

This is the essential power or spark or life that is the pulse of this nation... and it is without a doubt heading for irreparable damage.

Who then is the enemy of the nation? Perhaps I should ask not who but what? Answer; The Economy! While economics are essential to the vitality of nations in general, it also serves as the energetic instrument of a nation's self-destruction.

A brief follow up on time: Although 2008 has arrived via the Julian Calendar, in our Astrological system it is still 2007 or more accurately, the annual solar window which commenced March 20th 2007 is not over until March 19 2008.

If you did not hear the 2007 Forecast last year, I reported that the Fertility (e.g. the measure of Fruitfulness verses Bareness ) of the U.S. was absent; that it was shown to be extremely Barren . This infertility of the nation signified that the economy would be unable to produce, ending the year in severe times.

"The first quarter spoke of a shock to the economy that would diminish over time but that there would still be a rough road to follow. There was indication of very high prices of commodities and lands and a return to inflation. The third quarter showed an economic upswing but not a profitable one for the common people where we are still afflicted. The last quarter showed a serious impediment to the economy that could signify the Death of the U.S. economy or in the least a serious collapse where the economy does survive."

Prediction Watch:

Since Christmas 2007 the market (S&P 500) has dropped 185 points!

Oil which was $11+ /barrel in 1998, $56.21 as of March 20 2007, has crossed the all time historic high of $100/barrel on Jan 2 2008!

Jan 2008 The President (on cover of NY Times) admits to Recession (which was old news).

Gold has reached record a historic high touching $913 /oz and is set to go much higher!

Worst of it lies with the failing Housing market that has already set off a global crisis, as of July 2007. -"Credit Suisse projects 775,000 homes with $143 billion of mortgage debt will go into foreclosure in the next two years."

The U.S. Dollar is in its poorest shape ever against many world currencies and its getting worse!

We also reported that the Zodiacal rulers of the present times are the same rulers of the times during the year 1929...and you do know what happened in 1929?? For those who forgot, were too young to know, or simply uninformed, 1929 was the Big Stock Market Crash that precipitated the Great Depression of the United States that spread around the globe!

The difficult times have returned!

We are expecting a major economic event between now and March 19th, one that happens in increments. This past week appears to be the beginning. Know that whatever stimulus package is offered by the president, or rate cut brought by the Fed, would be like putting a band-aid on a septic wound that has reached the bone. IT GIVES FALSE HOPE AND IT WONT WORK!

If you still don't realize the impact of what I am saying there is plenty to research on the web, starting here:

<http://www.commodityonline.com/newnews.php?id=4974>

Have I spelled it out? We are teetering on the precipice of a dark space and time within this nation. Are we prepared family? Our comforts and way of life are about to take a major turn this year. It is high time we prepare!! Off the top, the most important thing is:

GET YOUR SPIRIT RIGHT!

Gain stillness and control over your Mind, Speech and Actions. Let go of negative Mind states (you know what they are). Learn consideration and care for others at a time when more than ever selfishness will seem to be the only way to live.

All emotional, physical and economic preparation follow this primary importance. Attachments of all sort will soon show the intensity of their reality in our lives. Waste no more time!

Stay tuned for Part II: "United Snakes of America: The Prequel"

Your Astrologer,
Heru

We are interested in your feedback - feel free to email your comments.

- "In nature's infinite book of secrets, a little WE can read"

Contact for Readings and Consultations:
info@celestialcorrespondence.com
web address

---

The University of Kemetian Sciences Welcomes YOU!

Join Our Mailing List!

---

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

| 24612|2008-01-24 13:53:58|Tafari khumbaka|martial arts|

click below

<http://ropersmartialarts.com/aboutus.html>

this is my teachers teacher,, we have not been in touch with him for several years,, it is so cool to find him,, well the sails of seth (internet) is a great means of travel lol,,lol.....

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24613|2008-01-24 13:54:19|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)| dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24614|2008-01-25 12:45:25|yvette moore|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of thruth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.
Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24615|2008-01-25 18:51:55|Alex van Deelen|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
Posted by: "Tafari khumbaka" tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com tafari_sudra
Thu Jan 24, 2008 1:54 pm (PST)

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

> dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat)
> something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

As long as they keep talking about Nubia, I don't care.

You can't expect them all to 'see the light' at the same time.

And besides, the more Nubia is explored, the clearer the connection to Egypt is going to be. Even the egyptologists themselves are now looking at Nubia as the origin or pre-dynastic Egypt.

That is why they have a need to pretend that Nubia is white too. :)

The wheels of Egyptology do turn slowly, but they do turn.

Alex

| 24616|2008-01-26 10:58:53|cristofori whitakara|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of thruth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.
Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24617|2008-01-26 16:28:48|Terry Howcott|Toward Teaching a Love and the Protection of Ancient Rock Art|

Toward Teaching a Love and the Protection of Ancient Indigenous Rock Art

At terryhowcott.com

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24618|2008-01-26 16:28:48|Terry Howcott|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

Thank you Alex,

But, are these comments here your point or the point of Tafari khumbaka? I'm going to post this at the site, and I'd like to include this comment there too.

Thanks,

Terry

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24619|2008-01-26 16:30:11|yvette moore|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

I am in total agreement here. I also belong to a Paranormal yahoo group, and a particular person decided he wanted to post a link, which is classified as white supremacy and racism. He did this to justify the view that Ancient Egypt was ruled by "whites" long before blacks. This comes about with an National Geographic newsletter, that stated only Nubians ruled for 75 yrs in Egypt. The spell is broken, and the Truth has been told.

Let them continue to talk, they are jealous and they wanted what we have, so back then, came the Hyksos Dynasty through invasion, thus the fall of Egypt as it was. When we ruled our world.

This is what was said:

"

Subject: Re: [TheParanormalResearchSociety] : Black Pharaohs of Egypt, Bull-Size Rodent,

That is propaganda. Only near the fall of Egypt were nubians there. In fact, this is why Egypt crumbled. One has to examine Egyptian culture to realize this. The sculptures resemble that of the white rulers, nubian sculpture appeared only near the end. The pyramids were built during white rule, thousands of years before nubian appeared in sculpture. This is true for the Mesopotamia as well. Indo-Europeans ruled much of the ancient world. These civilizations were vastly superior to non-whites. In fact, the migration of nonwhites into the civilized white empires brought the very end, Rome, Egypt, Greece, Europe, America. "

www.whitehistory.com

Only their dream is their reality

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Posted by: "Tafari khumbaka" tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com tafari_sudra
Thu Jan 24, 2008 1:54 pm (PST)

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

> dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat)
> something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

As long as they keep talking about Nubia, I don't care.

You can't expect them all to 'see the light' at the same time.

And besides, the more Nubia is explored, the clearer the connection to Egypt is going to be. Even the egyptologists themselves are now looking at Nubia as the origin or pre-dynastic Egypt.

That is why they have a need to pretend that Nubia is white too. :)

The wheels of Egyptology do turn slowly, but they do turn.

Alex

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24620|2008-01-26 18:03:44|sincere1906|Re: "Black Pharaohs" (National Geographic)|

Nice article by NG. But what a back-handed compliment. It seems to have become ritual now for outfits like NG to trot out the Napatan dynasties as Egypt's "Black Pharaohs." It is with irony that mainstream Egyptology, which had for so long denied Nubia's importance (some even questioned whether Nubians were really "black"), now use Nubia's reign over Egypt as yet another reason to attack any African-centered approach. So, as you rightly note Paul, now that we have three black pharaohs, by default no one else in Egypt's dynastic history (by then some 2500+ yrs old) was "black."

NG is so blatant about this tactic, they state it as much on pg. 3:

[Revisiting that golden age in the African desert does little to advance the case of Afrocentric Egyptologists, who argue that all ancient Egyptians, from King Tut to Cleopatra, were black Africans. Nonetheless, the saga of the Nubians proves that a civilization from deep in Africa not only thrived but briefly dominated in ancient times, intermingling and sometimes intermarrying with their Egyptian neighbors to the north. (King Tut's own grandmother, the 18th-dynasty Queen Tiye, is claimed by some to be of Nubian heritage.)]

Of course, in reality, "Afrocentric Egyptologists" are a wide group to expect any singular mode of thought. As for the idea that they seek to claim "all ancient Egyptians...were black Africans," in the case of Cleopatra VII there are more than a few of them who readily state the last pharaoh queen of Ptolemaic Egypt was either Greek or of multi-ethnic heritage. And in doing so, they assert something that mainstream Egyptology took forever to come to terms with--that pharaonic Egypt's lengthy history was diverse, with room enough for everyone from Greeks to Persians to take the mantle of pharaoh---especially during the Late Kingdom. As for whether Tutankhamun was black, I suppose that after NG's earlier recreation of Tut as a French Mediterranean, they have declared the matter settled.

But it gets even better. Note the following photo on this page and the caption beneath:

<http://ngm.nationalgeographic.com/ngm/2008-02/black-pharaohs/garrett-photography.html>

[Did the powerful Queen Tiye, King Tut's grandmother, have Nubian ancestry? This bust, made of wood that has darkened with age, has inspired claims that she did.]

So now our eyes are playing tricks on us. And the bust of Tiye, depicted above, just *looks* "black" because the wood is darkened--and not because of the facial features. NG also fails to point out, that this is hardly the only bust of Tiye. I suppose this follows in the same vein that asserts Akhenaten's "black" features are really a trick produced by a deformative disease and that Tutankhamun's many depictions (down to his funerary mask) also only *look* "black" while he in reality is some type of French-Mediterranean type. Gee, maybe if so many pharaonic Egyptians weren't so obviously obsessed with trying to make themselves *look* black (when goodness knows none of them were), we all wouldn't be so confused. And incidentally, as far as I know, there is nothing that asserts Tiye is of "Nubian ancestry." More than likely, she could simply be an indigenous Egyptian. But according to NG, that was impossible, because some seemingly magical line existed along the borders of Lower Nubia that for near 3,000 years kept any "black" Africans from moving up the Nile. Wonder how Narmer and company pulled it off?

Not completely dismissing the article. There are some good points to it--from discussing the roles of Piye, Shabaka and Taharka to a rich photo gallery, including some great depictions. Still, before we applaud NG, we should see this for what it is...in part yet another attempt to keep pharaonic Egypt walled off from the rest of Africa, even if the Nubian presence is finally acknowledged. It makes this piece at once both uplifting and insulting.

mho

Sin

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Paul Kekai Manansala" wrote:

>

> The title "Black Pharaohs" of course incorrectly implies that the > non-Nubian Pharaohs were non-Black.

>

> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala

> ---

> National Geographic

>

> [Photo: Black Pharaohs - National Geographic Magazine]

> By Robert Draper

> Photographs by Kenneth Garrett

> For 75 years Nubian kings ruled over ancient Egypt, reunifying the > country and building an empire. Until recently, theirs was a chapter of > history lost in the shadows.

> [0]
> In the year 730 B.C., a man by the name of Piye decided the only way to > save Egypt from itself was to invade it. Things would get bloody before > the salvation came.
>
> "Harness the best steeds of your stable," he ordered his > commanders. The magnificent civilization that had built the great > pyramids had lost its way, torn apart by petty warlords. For two decades > Piye had ruled over his own kingdom in Nubia, a swath of Africa located > mostly in present-day Sudan. But he considered himself the true ruler of > Egypt as well, the rightful heir to the spiritual traditions practiced > by pharaohs such as Ramses II and Thutmose III. Since Piye had probably > never actually visited Lower Egypt, some did not take his boast > seriously. Now Piye would witness the subjugation of decadent Egypt > firsthand?"I shall let Lower Egypt taste the taste of my > fingers," he would later write.
>
> North on the Nile River his soldiers sailed. At Thebes, the capital of > Upper Egypt, they disembarked. Believing there was a proper way to wage > holy wars, Piye instructed his soldiers to purify themselves before > combat by bathing in the Nile, dressing themselves in fine linen, and > sprinkling their bodies with water from the temple at Karnak, a site > holy to the ram-headed sun god Amun, whom Piye identified as his own > personal deity. Piye himself feasted and offered sacrifices to Amun.
> Thus sanctified, the commander and his men commenced to do battle with > every army in their path.
>
> By the end of a yearlong campaign, every leader in Egypt had > capitulated?including the powerful delta warlord Tefnakht, who sent > a messenger to tell Piye, "Be gracious! I cannot see your face in > the days of shame; I cannot stand before your flame, I dread your > grandeur." In exchange for their lives, the vanquished urged Piye to > worship at their temples, pocket their finest jewels, and claim their > best horses. He obliged them. And then, with his vassals trembling > before him, the newly anointed Lord of the Two Lands did something > extraordinary: He loaded up his army and his war booty, and sailed > southward to his home in Nubia, never to return to Egypt again.
>
> When Piye died at the end of his 35-year reign in 715 B.C., his subjects > honored his wishes by burying him in an Egyptian-style pyramid, with > four of his beloved horses nearby. He was the first pharaoh to receive > such entombment in more than 500 years. A pity, then, that the great > Nubian who accomplished these feats is literally faceless to us. Images > of Piye on the elaborate granite slabs, or stelae, memorializing his > conquest of Egypt have long since been chiseled away. On a relief in the > temple at the Nubian capital of Napata, only Piye's legs remain. We > are left with a single physical detail of the man?namely, that his > skin was dark.

 >
 > Piye was the first of the so-called black pharaohs?a series of > Nubian kings who ruled over all of Egypt for three-quarters of a century > as that country's 25th dynasty. Through inscriptions carved on > stelae by both the Nubians and their enemies, it is possible to map out > these rulers' vast footprint on the continent. The black pharaohs > reunified a tattered Egypt and filled its landscape with glorious > monuments, creating an empire that stretched from the southern border at > present-day Khartoum all the way north to the Mediterranean Sea. They > stood up to the bloodthirsty Assyrians, perhaps saving Jerusalem in the > process.
 >
 > (1 of 5) Next >> > > t-p2.html>
 >

| 24621|2008-01-26 19:49:47|shaimesh@aol.com|WHITES ADMIT THAT ANCIENT EGYPT WAS BLACK....AND PURE AFRICAN!!!

From:beywatch7@optonline.net

ATTENTION ALL BLACKTOWN CITIZENS AND FRIENDS:

Here is a link to an astounding National Geographic article the admits that ancient Egyptians were black Africans, and not necessarily mixed with northern Europeans who descended from the thawing Ice Age.

This article is astounding in its' honesty.

Thanks to all the blacktown citizens who sent the article to me.

Keep up the good research. God is with us!!!

<http://ngm.nationalgeographic.com/ngm/2008-02/black-pharaohs/draper-text.html>

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24622|2008-01-26 20:08:05|shaimesh@aol.com|Mercury Retrograde What does it mean and how does it impact you?|

<http://www.alphalifetrends.com/mercuryretrograde.html>

Mercury retrograde provides the opportunity to adjust our thoughts, attitudes and decisions about our issues and adjust our new direction as 2008 evolves. The adjustments of Mercury retrograde occurs three times a year and become similar to a course correction during the flight from one destination to another. The adjustments that occur during Mercury retrograde typically have a theme that occurs all year long, shown by the elements of the signs affected. In 2008 the adjustments that are slated to occur during the retrogrades are in Air signs. Thus these Mercury retrogrades will impact our thoughts, ideas, decisions and attitudes about specific events and choices we are reviewing.

The purpose of Mercury retrograde is to review and revise our life and our connection with reality. The timing of this universe is geared toward the Sun as it moves through the zodiac. Mercury has an orbit that at times gets ahead of the Sun allowing us to look into the future toward new and innovative ideas. However, we cannot continue in that vein until we come back to the present designated by the Sun and put our new ideas into manifestation. During the time that Mercury jumps ahead, we ultimately have to bring the ideas back into the present to test and evaluate to see how they fit into our life. As Mercury retrogrades back into the present, the connection with the Sun happens as we test drive our ideas and re-align with reality and the natural timing of the universe.

The Mercury retrogrades that are occurring this year (2008) provide the opportunities for us to make mental adjustments about decisions we have as our goals, aspirations that are our focus during the ONE year of 2008. Because we are making decisions about our NEW journey, new endeavors, new goals, the events during the Mercury retrograde time frames help us to veer away from the past and take bold steps into our new future. . These adjustments will be very necessary as they allow us to make major changes, emphasizing our bold and innovative choices.

Mercury Retrogrades for 2008

In 2008, Mercury retrogrades three times, all in air signs, which means that we will be changing and adjusting our thinking and thought process. Because 2008 is universally a ONE year (in numerology), this Mercury retrograde process becomes important in the major adjustments as we move into our new beginnings and shift into our new outer journey toward. Mercury retrograde provides the opportunity to adjust our thoughts, attitudes and communications about our direction. The adjustments that are slated to occur in 2008 are in air signs, Aquarius (in Jan/Feb), Gemini (in May/June), and Libra (in Sept/Oct).

These air signs of the zodiac and relates to our mental status and the inner attitude we carry with us. With all air signs, ruling thoughts, attitudes and communication, we are focused on being social, as Aquarius rules humanity, Libra rules partnership and Gemini rules day to day encounters with others. This energy will impact our new beginnings and the different people we are aligning with and moving forward with. We can begin to see how we share our ideas with others and that during a Mercury retrograde, and especially in 2008, we will be communicating with others as if we are at some social gala during each of these mercury retrograde times.

The Mercury retrogrades that are occurring this year provide the opportunities for us to bring forward new and different ideas and talk with others that are also interested in pursuing these new directions. With 2008 being a ONE year, we can bet that the mercury retrograde in air signs will have a huge impact on different ideas, different forms of communication and a whole new innovative movement turning our world into a new and different direction. Inventions, innovative designs and major idea changes will come about to make major adjustments during this time. The changes, revisions and adjustments that occur during these Mercury retrograde time frames will have a major impact in events of humanity, relationships with others and strong, bold new ideas being born.

Because Mercury itself rules AIR signs, especially Gemini, (and the analytical part of Virgo) we will be adjusting everything related to thoughts, concepts, ideas, and communication. When Mercury retrogrades, we find that many parts of our life are being revised. Often these revisions can be a surprise or throw us back a step. However, these revisions which occur during a Mercury retrograde, are a "course correction" and provide a stop gap measure until we can review situations. During this time of revision, change is compounded and confusion is created by our reactions to the ever-changing situations. Thus anything started during this time will ultimately be taken back or even revised further, making for a high-frustration time. This will be especially true with changing our minds, reviewing new ideas and our communication being improved and honed so not to be mis-understood.

The best mode to be in during a Mercury retrograde is one of "non-reaction", and with air signs being impacts, things will be changing continually during a Mercury retrograde. Treat the time period as a time of gathering information, yet because the information will be in constant change it would be like trying to comb your hair in a wind storm. Best to wait until the changes stop before attempting to make things orderly. Therefore, just let the winds of situations blow around you without reacting. Once Mercury turns direct, take a look at the information that is still around at that time and go about putting everything in order, while maintaining the fine art of flexibility.

How the different Mercury retrogrades will impact you, can be viewed by the different graphics below (soon to come) that summarize and list the details for Mercury Retrogrades coming up in 2008. The detailed look at each of the Mercury Retrogrades occurring in 2008, will provide the impact on each individual.

Mercury turns retrograde January 28th at 24 Aquarius Mercury turns direct February 19th at 8 Aquarius

Mercury turns retrograde May 26th at 21 Gemini Mercury turns direct June 19th at 12 Gemini

Mercury turns retrograde September 24th at 22 Libra Mercury turns direct October 15th at 7 Libra

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24623|2008-01-26 20:40:02|shaimesh@aol.com|Kemet T-shirts|

From: Khonsugo@aol.com

331 Gear T-shirts

"When there is a choice between thinking of failure and pushing forward, push forward. Exercise a higher resolve."- 331 Gear

The symbol of 331 are three Khepra(beetle) joined together.

Each Khepra(beetle) is facing a sun. Khepra is the NTCHR of transformation. One must bury their self deep in the mud and stay there until they are ready to become. Once they emerge they shine throughout the world until they are ready to return back to the mud to re-collect their energy for their next emergence. 331 Gear is here to stimulate the mind, body and soul. With the thoughts and words of Kemet from the hearts of the their contemporary children.

Explore your culture with us at <http://gear.spreadshirt.com/us/US/Shop/>

Shm em htp, 331 Gear

Jaja N Medjay Nkht-Htp

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24624|2008-01-27 00:02:31|asar_imhotep|OT - African mothers see baby strollers as abhorrent fad|

This is a bit off topic, but I think it speaks to the issue of a central African cultural theme and method when it comes to parent relations with children. Also it speaks about tradition vs. "modernization." Interesting none the less.

===

African mothers see baby strollers as abhorrent fad

Tradition of carrying children upheld; 'they can't sit like lumps'

Emily Wax, Washington Post

Thursday, May 20, 2004

(05-20) 04:00 PST Nairobi , Kenya -- Irene Wambui can't imagine why anyone would buy a baby stroller. She says she sees it as a cold cage filled with useless rattles, cup holders and mirrored headlights. Imagine children being stuffed into such a contraption and pushed around town like some kind of pet.

Yet here she is in the middle-class Westlands shopping district, trying to sell her store's newest merchandise, the four-wheeled plastic and metal tool of modern motherhood. But so far, strollers have been a flop in Nairobi, an affront to tradition.

Across Africa, women can be seen carrying sleeping or sometimes giggly babies on their backs, swathed in cloth. The babies move to the sway of their mothers' hips, synchronized throughout the day, bending with them as they collect water or sweep the floor and rising again when the women stop to rest. They hang on as their mothers sell food in the market or pray at a church or mosque.

The introduction of strollers and baby carriages, both known here by the British word "pram," horrifies traditionalists, even someone such as Wambui, who sells them. The stroller is appearing in major cities around Africa, but so far it has not been a hit.

"It's not so wonderful. In Africa, we just carry our children or let them roam. They can't sit like lumps," said Wambui, 24. "Besides, our roads aren't even good enough for these devices. If everyone had a pram, it would cause jam-ups in traffic. Then we would be bad to our children and bad to our roads."

Wambui's boss and manager, Zara Esmail, was pacing back and forth in front of the strollers one recent day. She said the store had sold only one baby stroller in two months, and that was to a visiting U.N. worker from Britain who complained later that she had been disappointed by the small selection.

"In general, I thought they would sell far better," Esmail said. Perhaps, she added, it's a question of directing more advertising toward middle-class, working moms. "We thought these modern ones would be a hit."

The stroller has sparked debate among African pediatricians who think the device -- first crafted as a labor-saving tool for the European middle class -- may damage the relationship between a mother and a child.

"The pram is the ultimate in pushing the baby away from you," said Frank Njenga, a child psychiatrist in Nairobi, Kenya's bustling capital. "The baby on the back is actually following the mother in warmth and comfort. The baby feels safer, and safer people are happier people."

In the United States and Europe, strollers have long been controversial. Recently, some doctors and child psychologists have blamed them for everything from pediatric obesity to low self-esteem later in life.

Jane Clark, professor of kinesiology at the University of Maryland, said there was concern that Americans were overusing strollers for older children, causing toddlers to be less physically active. A growing movement among child advocates promotes the idea of carrying babies more and getting them out of their strollers.

At the same time, Web sites and magazines in the United States and Europe dedicate a lot of space to the subject of choosing a style of stroller or carriage -- front-to-back or side-by-side, a jogger or a sleeper, with or without a lightweight titanium frame, pneumatic tires, rear suspension, mud flaps and/or battery-operated blinkers. Some European-made antique carriages are status symbols for celebrities such as Madonna and Celine Dion, who spent $2,600 on the classic Balmoral Pram, described by some Web reviewers as a tiny Humvee.

Africans consider the traditional method of toting their children the only true version of day care. When it's time for feeding, the food is right there as a mother shifts her child to the front of her body, nestling the infant to her breast. The baby stroller could change all of that. But many people in Nairobi said they thought the devices would be just another instance of Africans adopting the worst habits of industrialization.

"There are customs from a hundred years ago that are not relevant today for Africans," said Carol Mandi, managing editor of EVE, an East African women's magazine. "Our challenge is to pick the good from the bad. But carrying on your back, well, that is just a wonderful custom that keeps the baby emotionally stable and lets the mother feel bonded. We can't stop being African women just because we are suddenly thrust into the modern world. What next? They will tell us to stop breast feeding in public? No way."

Washington Post Special Correspondent Candice Miranda contributed to this report.

<http://sfgate.com/cgi-bin/article.cgi?f=/c/a/2004/05/20/MNG6Q6O4LI1.DTL>

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24625|2008-01-27 04:03:15|Peter Gray|Re: "Black Pharaohs" (National Geographic)|
The link to the photo of Tiye (out of "darkened" wood) was a link to the same cover page showing Piye.

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: sincere1906@yahoo.com
Date: Sun, 27 Jan 2008 02:03:39 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: "Black Pharaohs" (National Geographic)

Nice article by NG. But what a back-handed compliment. It seems to have become ritual now for outfits like NG to trot out the Napatan dynasties as Egypt's "Black Pharaohs." It is with irony that mainstream Egyptology, which had for so long denied Nubia's importance (some even questioned whether Nubians were really "black"), now use Nubia's reign over Egypt as yet another reason to attack any African-centered approach. So, as you rightly note Paul, now that we have three black pharaohs, by default no one else in Egypt's dynastic history (by then some 2500+ yrs old) was "black."

NG is so blatant about this tactic, they state it as much on pg. 3:

[Revisiting that golden age in the African desert does little to advance the case of Afrocentric Egyptologists, who argue that all ancient Egyptians, from King Tut to Cleopatra, were black Africans. Nonetheless, the saga of the Nubians proves that a civilization from deep in Africa not only thrived but briefly dominated in ancient times, intermingling and sometimes intermarrying with their Egyptian neighbors to the north. (King Tut's own grandmother, the 18th-dynasty Queen Tiye, is claimed by some to be of Nubian heritage.)]

Of course, in reality, "Afrocentric Egyptologists" are a wide group to expect any singular mode of thought. As for the idea that they seek to claim "all ancient Egyptians... were black Africans," in the case of Cleopatra VII there are more than a few of them who readily state the last pharaoh queen of Ptolemaic Egypt was either Greek or of multi-ethnic heritage. And in doing so, they assert something that mainstream Egyptology took forever to come to terms with--that pharaonic Egypt's lengthy history was diverse, with room enough for everyone from Greeks to Persians to take the mantle of pharaoh---especiall y during the Late Kingdom. As for whether Tutankhamun was black, I suppose that after NG's earlier recreation of Tut as a French Mediterranean, they have declared the matter settled.

But it gets even better. Note the following photo on this page and the caption beneath:

<http://ngm.nationalgeographic.com/ngm/2008-02/black-pharaohs/garrett-photography.html>

[Did the powerful Queen Tiye, King Tut's grandmother, have Nubian ancestry? This bust, made of wood that has darkened with age, has inspired claims that she did.]

So now our eyes are playing tricks on us. And the bust of Tiye, depicted above, just *looks* "black" because the wood is darkened--and not because of the facial features. NG also fails to point out, that this is hardly the only bust of Tiye. I suppose this follows in the same vein that asserts Akhenaten's "black" features are really a trick produced by a deformative disease and that Tutankhamun's many depictions (down to his funerary mask) also only *look* "black" while he in reality is some type of French-Mediterranean type. Gee, maybe if so many pharaonic Egyptians weren't so obviously obsessed with trying to make themselves *look* black (when goodness knows none of them were), we all wouldn't be so confused. And incidentally, as far as I know, there is nothing that asserts Tiye is of "Nubian ancestry." More than likely, she could simply be an indigenous Egyptian. But according to NG, that was impossible, because some seemingly magical line existed along the borders of Lower Nubia that for near 3,000 years kept any "black" Africans from moving up the Nile. Wonder how Narmer and company pulled it off?

Not completely dismissing the article. There are some good points to it--from discussing the roles of Piye, Shabaka and Taharka to a rich photo gallery, including some great depictions. Still, before we applaud NG, we should see this for what it is...in part yet another attempt to keep pharaonic Egypt walled off from the rest of Africa, even if the Nubian presence is finally acknowledged. It makes this piece at once both uplifting and insulting.

mho
Sin

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com, "Paul Kekai Manansala" wrote:

>

> The title "Black Pharaohs" of course incorrectly implies that the > non-Nubian Pharaohs were non-Black.

>

> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala

> ---

> National Geographic

>

> [Photo: Black Pharaohs - National Geographic Magazine]

> By Robert Draper

> Photographs by Kenneth Garrett

> For 75 years Nubian kings ruled over ancient Egypt, reunifying the > country and building an empire. Until recently, theirs was a chapter of > history lost in the shadows.

> [0]

> In the year 730 B.C., a man by the name of Piye decided the only way to > save Egypt from itself was to invade it. Things would get bloody before > the salvation came.

>

> "Harness the best steeds of your stable," he ordered his > commanders. The magnificent civilization that had built the great > pyramids had lost its way, torn apart by petty warlords. For two decades > Piye had ruled over his own kingdom in Nubia, a swath of Africa located > mostly in present-day Sudan. But he considered himself the true ruler of > Egypt as well, the rightful heir to the spiritual traditions practiced > by pharaohs such as Ramses II and Thutmose III. Since Piye had probably > never actually visited Lower Egypt, some did not take his boast > seriously. Now Piye would witness the subjugation of decadent Egypt > firsthand "I shall let Lower Egypt taste the taste of my > fingers," he would later write.

>

> North on the Nile River his soldiers sailed. At Thebes, the capital of > Upper Egypt, they disembarked. Believing there was a proper way to wage > holy wars, Piye instructed his soldiers to purify themselves before > combat by bathing in the Nile, dressing themselves in fine linen, and > sprinkling their bodies with water from the temple at Karnak, a site > holy to the ram-headed sun god Amun, whom Piye identified as his own > personal deity. Piye himself feasted and offered sacrifices to Amun.

> Thus sanctified, the commander and his men commenced to do battle with > every army in their path.
 >
 > By the end of a yearlong campaign, every leader in Egypt had > capitulated including the powerful delta warlord Tefnakht, who sent > a messenger to tell Piye, "Be gracious! I cannot see your face in > the days of shame; I cannot stand before your flame, I dread your > grandeur." In exchange for their lives, the vanquished urged Piye to > worship at their temples, pocket their finest jewels, and claim their > best horses. He obliged them. And then, with his vassals trembling > before him, the newly anointed Lord of the Two Lands did something > extraordinary: He loaded up his army and his war booty, and sailed > southward to his home in Nubia, never to return to Egypt again.
 >
 > When Piye died at the end of his 35-year reign in 715 B.C., his subjects > honored his wishes by burying him in an Egyptian-style pyramid, with > four of his beloved horses nearby. He was the first pharaoh to receive > such entombment in more than 500 years. A pity, then, that the great > Nubian who accomplished these feats is literally faceless to us. Images > of Piye on the elaborate granite slabs, or stelae, memorializing his > conquest of Egypt have long since been chiseled away. On a relief in the > temple at the Nubian capital of Napata, only Piye's legs remain. We > are left with a single physical detail of the man namely, that his > skin was dark.
 >
 > Piye was the first of the so-called black pharaohs a series of > Nubian kings who ruled over all of Egypt for three-quarters of a century > as that country's 25th dynasty. Through inscriptions carved on > stelae by both the Nubians and their enemies, it is possible to map out > these rulers' vast footprint on the continent. The black pharaohs > reunified a tattered Egypt and filled its landscape with glorious > monuments, creating an empire that stretched from the southern border at > present-day Khartoum all the way north to the Mediterranean Sea. They > stood up to the bloodthirsty Assyrians, perhaps saving Jerusalem in the > process.
 >
 > (1 of 5) Next >> > > t-p2.html>
 >

Even though I have received a lot of the negative feed back on my measures of law and government, it is the positive feed back that has kept me dedicated to the current and future Moorish American National Sovereigns of the United States of America (The Moorish Science Temple of America). It is my hopes that the information, documentation, and education of my research and study will enlighten all that view them, I also hope that my work will accomplish a better understanding and knowledge of how important the "reclaiming process" of your sovereignty is. You once had your sovereignty, at your natural birth, and soon after the expos facto or de facto U.S. Government stole/expatriated it away from you by way of your registered birth certificate (not your Record of Live Birth - which is your real birth certificate), SOCIAL SECURITY number and other government departmental registrations enslaving you for commercial reasons, such as Department of the Census, Department of Commerce, IRS, Etc. All Americans, the People must STAND UP, the people must BE COUNTED, and the people must BE HEARD. We THE PEOPLE must ACT! Terrorism is one of the Peoples' greatest fears, not only globally, but mainly right here at home. If you open your eyes you will find that the BIGGEST Terrorist groups and the biggest threat to your security are found right here in your back yard. Regain your Sovereignty and take back what was once yours! Most do not understand this, but the Prophet Noble Drew Ali stood proudly to offer his services to the PEOPLE who wanted to reclaim their Sovereignty. This is done for so called black people, when they proclaim their Nationality and let go of the Federal Government.

Answer some of these very important questions of yourself.

1. Who are you in this World?
2. Are you/we truly free people?
3. Are you a citizen of the United States?
4. What is our Government?
5. Do you live in a "Divine" and man-made lawful world?
6. Do you live in the United States -or- the United States of America? Hmm?
7. What truly is "Identity Theft" ?
8. Am I "JOHN DOE" or am I, "John Doe" ?
9. Am I a "Person" or an "Artificial Person" ?
10. What Exactly is mail fraud?

You have taken the first step towards answering these questions and regaining your SOVEREIGNTY by reading this measure. After viewing this measure, I encourage all to do your own investigating so to further educate yourself on what sovereignty truly is.

Some have asked me why am I even doing all of this in the first place. Well I am doing all of this research and study and sharing it with all for a number of reasons. To protect, preserve and return the unalienable rights, liberties and sovereignty back to the people. To teach people that under the current system of government the people are considered Federal Citizens with granted privileges and duties, not Sovereign State Citizens with unalienable rights. To help people become better informed about the history and meaning of every provision of the Constitution and Bill of Rights. To illustrate the facts that Federal Citizenship is Statutory Slavery, that the political structure was design by the founding fathers to be a ?Great Republic? not a ?Democracy? and that the ?United States? is foreign to the ?United States of America? and lastly, to regain the sovereign rights stolen by the United States government from the people and to illustrate to the people how to recover these rights through Discovery, Realization, and Proper Assertion. So I have taken on the mission to protect, preserve and enhance the unalienable rights, liberties and freedoms of the people, to teach the people that under this system of governance all power comes from "the people" and all government is limited by the written constitutions of the people, to help the people become better informed about the history and meaning of every provision of the Declaration of Independence and their state and federal constitutions, to help the people become better informed about what is really going on in our government, to help the people become better informed about how to confront unconstitutional and illegal behavior by those wielding power in government at all levels, to reclaim the sovereignty of "the people" as you had it upon your natural birth.

The Bills Of Rights are the first ten (10) Amendments to the Constitution. The First Amendment guarantees the people certain rights respecting "Free Speech" and petitioning the government for redress of grievances. Amendment 1- Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

SOVEREIGNTY, MOORISH AMERICAN NATIONAL STATUS documentation processing from my understanding is completed when you join a Lawfully State Chartered Temple of the MST of A. Some have said it consists of the completion of your "Act of State and Reaffirmation" declaration, which must be witnessed and notarized, and filed with the Secretary of State for attaining an Apostille, but from my understanding this process is done when the Grand Sheik of that Lawfully State Chartered Temple of the MST of A gives you your tribal name and the Secretary of that Lawfully State Chartered Temple of the MST of A notarizes your ID card and gives it to you and files you as a member of that Lawfully State Chartered Temple of the MST of A, it is witnessed by the Grand Sheik, the Secretary and all those in that Lawfully State Chartered Temple at that time. Your Nationality Card is truly for your Salvation.

What is an Act of State? An Act of State is a "Reaffirmation of Character and Renunciation of Attempted Expatriations". If reaffirms/reclaims your Sovereignty under the Constitution, your religion, your republic State in which you live, and you renounce and declare "VOID" any and all fictions that have been created by the government. (The ALL CAPS NAME). This gives you ABSOLUTE SOVEREIGNTY and you become the MASTER not the SLAVE (Servant). Yes, this gives you Sovereign Immunity under current United States Treaties. (23 U.S.T. 3227)

Act of State defined; "An act done by the sovereign power of a country, or by its delegate, within the limits of the power vested in him. An act of state cannot be questioned or made the subject of legal proceedings in a court of law." Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Ed., pgs 34-35

Act of State Doctrine defined; "The judicially created act of state doctrine precludes the courts of this country from inquiring into the validity of governmental acts of a recognized foreign sovereign committed within its own territory". Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Ed., pg 35

Sovereign defined; "A person, body, or state in which independent and supreme authority is vested; a chief ruler with supreme power;" Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Ed., pg 1395

Apostille defined; "A Standard certification provided under the Hague Convention of 1961 for purpose of authenticating documents for use in foreign countries." Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Ed., pg 96

Most do not even know that their Nationality and Identification Cards of the Moorish Science Temple of America (A Nation State) is a Moorish American National ID Card and a Sovereign Badge. So this card is truly your reclaiming Common Law Sovereignty ID, because under true law (de jure) you should not have to be subject to any licensing laws, with the exception for Truck Drivers or Delivery Drivers that are employed under commercial law travel, but for private there should be NO REQUIREMENT! Some have said that for expansion and Notices

you will file your Act of State and Apostille with the U.S. District Court using general evidence records or open a Private Citizen file. Many have said that it is also recommended that you file it with your states Attorney General's office and your County Sheriff's office, but from my understanding your Act of State is done once you join a Lawfully State Chartered Temple of the MST of A. All you need to do from that point on is do all of your business in your tribal name of El or Bey and put down your Nationality or make it known when and where it is called for. So that means do everything from now on in your Free National Name. Your Nationality Card is truly for your Salvation.

Please also check out this very informative site that shows you the difference between the Original and the Corporate Government System:

<http://usavsus.info/>

Breaking the chains! Below are educational links that have been compiled from the very popular site known as YouTube. Please Feel free to watch these eye opening videos:

14th Amendment Citizenship:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=QLpzLkrPe7o>

The Preamble:

http://youtube.com/watch?v=Q\_TXJRZ4CFc

The Philosophy of Liberty:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=muHg86Mys7I>

No More Kings:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=ofYmhlclqr4>

The Decline of All Democracies:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=3kysnwwdhAs>

One World Government:

http://youtube.com/watch?v=3qBK\_NhT-LM

America: Freedom to Fascism:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=SV05FFXUOH0>

Why the Federal Reserve?

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=5232639329002339531&q=FIAT+EMPIRE&hl=en>

America Freedom to Fascism Directors Authorized Version:

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-1656880303867390173&q=freedom+to+fascism&total=1193&start=0&num=10&so=0&type=search&plindex=0>

The Federal Reserve, I.R.S. & Communism:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=T3Z7orioQYM&mode=related&search=>

The War on Democracy 2007:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=fuqppBKM0QA>

Want to learn how to legally Destroy the Constitution?

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=eIbNymjsDvA>

The National ID Card:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=SbgiM7rhsmc>

"The Constitution is just a piece of paper"

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=Wmc60JmaLbE>

Bush is Using 9/11 to Destroy OUR Constitution:

http://youtube.com/watch?v=wyv9JQ4Or\_U&mode=related&search=

Bill of Rights -vs- The Patriot Act:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=GeU8KvJcDpY>

End of Democracy (1 of 2)

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=lzMAYR9MXgQ&mode=related&search=democracy%20republic%20government%20america%20j0eg0d>

End of Democracy (2 of 2)

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=RyWAYd9MVis>

The Republic is off the Table:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=WPnCR8uKAx8>

Fascism comes to America: Who are the Nazis now?

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=ovU-Y-4-JL4>

Fascism USA:

http://youtube.com/watch?v=pT\_ZqCH8TW4&mode=related&search=

The Signs of Fascism:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=bKnJTkGsnhI&mode=related&search=>

How a bill becomes a law:

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=mEJL2Uuv-oQ>

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

Moorish American / Missourian; Moslem; Private, Sentient, Civilian, Sovereign Citizen: United States of America, a Republic; The State of Missouri, a Republic: County of Maplewood: Township ?Within?.

| 24627|2008-01-27 06:13:16|MILTON MOORE|The National Sovereignty of The MSTA|
Islam Moors,

When it comes to understanding how the MSTA is a nation state, one needs to study and research The Smith Hurd Illinois Annotated Statutes, Chapter 32 Section 164 and The Illinois Religious Corporation Act (805 Illinois Compiled Statutes 110). The MSTA is a part and partial of the government of the State of Illinois, every state we function in. The MSTA is a lawfully founded organization. The MSTA is a Divine (religious) and National (political) Movement. So that means we teach the divine laws and laws of the land. So we are long past those who can not speak on both planes of LAW. The MSTA is Chartered to carry out the Prophet's teachings as stated in our affidavit titled "OUR AUTHORITY", which is on the back of the Moorish Questionnaire (101's).

Sovereign People- the political body, consisting of the entire number of citizens and qualified elector, who in their collective capacity, posses the powers of sovereignty and exercise them through their chose representatives. See Dred Scott v. Sandford, 19 How. 404, 15 L. Ed. 691 Black's Law Dictionary rev. 4th Ed. p.1568

The Moorish Science Temple of America is the Sovereignty- The supreme, absolute, and uncontrollable power by which any independent state is governed: supreme political authority: paramount control of the constitution and frame of government and its administration: the self-sufficient source of political power, from which all specific political powers are derived: the international independence of a state, combined with the right and power of regulating its internal affairs without foreign dictation: also a political society, or state which is Sovereign and independent. Chisholm v. Georgia 2 Dall. 455,1 l. ed. 440; Black's Law Dictionary rev. 4th Ed. p.1568

The MSTA is a Religious Corporation and a Political Organization which is a public or municipal corporation; one created for political and religious purposes and having for its object the administration of governmental powers of a subordinate or local nature. Auryansen v. Hackensack Imp. Com'n, 45 N.J.L. 115; Curry v. District Tp. 62 Iowa 102, 17N.W. 191. Black's Law Dictionary rev. 4th Ed. p.1319

Smith Hurd Illinois Annotated Statutes, Chapter 32 Section 164 - Religious Corporation - Organization. Any church, congregation or society formed for the purposes of religious worship, may become incorporated in the manner following, to wit: By electing or appointing, according to its usages of customs, at any meeting held for that purpose, two or more of its members as trustees, wardens and vestrymen (or such other officers whose powers and duties are similar to those of trustees, as shall be agreeable to the usages and customs, rules or regulations of such congregation, church or society), and may adopt a corporate name; and upon the filing of the affidavit, as hereinafter provided, it shall be and remain a body politic and corporate, by the name so adopted. - Laws 1871-72, p.296, s 35,eff. July 1, 1872. Amended by Laws 1943, vol. 1, p. 515, s 1, eff. July 17, 1943.

Please also look up the Illinois Religious Corporation Act (805 Illinois Compiled Statutes 110). Body Politic or Corporate- A social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that shall be governed by certain laws for the common good, Urich v. Kolesar, 54 Ohio App. 309, 7 N.E. 2d 413, 414. Black's Law Dictionary, rev. 4th Ed. p.222

Political- pertaining or relating to the policy or the administration of government, state or national. Politics- The science of government; the art or practice of administering public affairs. Black's Law Dictionary rev. 4th Ed. p.1319 Polity- The form of government; civil constitution. Black's Law Dictionary rev. 4th Ed.p.1319

Nationality- That quality or character, which arise from the fact of a person's belonging to a nation or state? Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while domicile determines his civil status. Black's Law Dictionary; revised fourth edition p.1176

The true manifest purpose of the birth of our Prophet, being a holy mission was to break the United States certified shackles of Negroes, thus freeing us to live a clean and pure life. No more are we under the forced application of the 14th, and 15th Amendments. Our Prophet proclaimed his birthright to the nationality of our forefathers, both ancient and those who worked here as slaves. Proclaiming his free national name, "Moorish American". Our Prophet was the first of our people to break the judicial bonds of Negro which holds the ex-slaves as hostages. Our Prophet was free and the first of the clean and pure nation of Moorish Americans to present his own constitution of Manumission, so because of our Prophet we can not be lawfully denied. Black's Law Dictionary rev. 4th Ed. p. 1159

The Prophet Noble Drew Ali is the representative of the Moorish Nation. The Prophet registered the Moorish Americans as a New Nation and Sovereign power at the 1928 Pan American Conference For Indigenous Nations. The international affair was hosted by Cuba in its City of Havana. Bro. Charles Kirkman-Bey, Master Polyglot (speaking 92 languages), was the Chief Interpreter for The Holy Prophet and His national cabinet. Also in attendance was several Tribal Chiefs of Continental Nations and the United States were represented by Secretary of State Hughes who was in awe of the well-established Constitution of the Moorish American Delegates. There were Free National Delegates from Central and South Americas and other Islands. During the Conference Noble Drew Ali was given The Mandate for the Land, which the United States had been occupying on an expired Mandate since 1871. The Prophet showed the Mandate to many Officials of the Adept Chamber of The MSTA. At the first National Conference the Prophet represented us by our one free National Name of "Moorish American." This marks the first time that our proper status has been truly represented since the abolishment of US Slavery. This event is a reflection of one of the many miracles illustrated by Prophet Noble Drew Ali during his brief 16-year Ministry. While in Havana Cuba, the Prophet was given the gift of a Panama. The hat on the head of Drew Ali was presented to him by the Cuban Government. This great national representation occurred about one year before He left His body. This is how "He began to uplift the Moorish Americans by teaching them to be themselves." This event marked the first time the so called Negro was duly recognized as being a new nation according to their one true free national name of Moorish American. The last time was through the National Grand Sheikh Jerry Lewis Bey with the Moroccan government. Noble Drew Ali declared, "This is a new era of time now and all men now must proclaim their free national name to be recognized by the government and the nations of the earth." With this international proclamation of Independence, Drew Ali paved the way which would demonstrate the inevitability of freedom for the Moorish Americans, etc. But they must finish freeing themselves in order to assure the immutableness which rest in true freedom. At this First Convention in 1928, Prophet Noble Drew Ali said, "The garment that I have on represents power and if you obey my voice, you will have power with me. I am going to free you, though it's hard, because of your mixture, which brings about many different spirits. "This is no social organization; it is a divine and national movement. By you being born here don't make you a citizen (one must proclaim his nationality before his Government to be recognized as a citizen). Look what I have on, now this was handed to me by the government. It represents the royal prince." (The Holy Prophet wore a mantle of power.) Black's Law Dictionary rev. 4th Ed. p. 1159

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

I AM A CITIZEN OF THE U.S. of A.

(M.S.T. of A.)

| 24628|2008-01-27 07:11:27|MILTON MOORE|The King of Morocco|

Islam Moors,

The Moorish Science Temple of America is a Sovereign Body Politic acknowledged by the King of Morocco.

http://www.blackplanet.com/Jerry\_Lewis-Bey/

King Mohammad VI speech on seventh anniversary of Throne day. Excerpts from the King's Throne Day Speech July 31, 2006:

"I reiterate my pledge to the close, everlasting bond uniting the throne and the people."

"I am anxious to enable our expatriate community living abroad to participate in the nation's political, economic and cultural affairs."

"My decision to grant our fellow countrymen who live abroad the right to be represented in parliament."

"I have decided that we shall start next year (2007) by setting up the supreme council of the Moroccan community living abroad, making sure its members are competent, creditable and representative."

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

| 24629|2008-01-27 11:38:55|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

Uauat( nubia) yes , was always the flower of egypt,,only when despots or invaders were in charge in the north did Uauat have to go up north and sit things straight,,,,and arabs and europeans call taking care of home, and keeping khamit for the khamu ;invasion ,not so! the south seth zeti sud ua-uat was the mother and father of hapi !!,,,we must tell our own history

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of thruth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24630|2008-01-27 11:39:19|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

maybe some will see,,,,,,,,,

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Posted by: "Tafari khumbaka" tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com tafari_sudra
Thu Jan 24, 2008 1:54 pm (PST)

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

> dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat)
> something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

As long as they keep talking about Nubia, I don't care.

You can't expect them all to 'see the light' at the same time.

And besides, the more Nubia is explored, the clearer the connection to Egypt is going to be. Even the egyptologists themselves are now looking at Nubia as the origin or pre-dynastic Egypt.

That is why they have a need to pretend that Nubia is white too. :)

The wheels of Egyptology do turn slowly, but they do turn.

Alex

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24631|2008-01-27 11:39:22|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of thruth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24632|2008-01-27 11:39:54|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Tantric master breaks ice record in NYC - Y|

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 27 Jan 2008 10:08:14 -0800

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: maatcollective@yahooogroups.com

CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Subject: Yahoo! News Story - Tantric master breaks ice record in NYC - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

Tantric master breaks ice record in NYC - Yahoo! News

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080127/ap\_on\_fe\_st/odd\_tantric\_ice\_man\_3

=====

Yahoo! News

<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24633|2008-01-27 11:40:19|Tafari khumbaka|looking for jewish slaves| in all ancient world most people died in youth and most people did not live pass 35 too 45 yrs of age,,, this is part of a proganda movement to villanized the history of khamit
click below

<http://news.bbc.co.uk/1/hi/sci/tech/7209472.stm>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24634|2008-01-27 11:43:24|Paul Kekai Manansala|Grim secrets of Pharaoh's city|
Grim secrets of Pharaoh's city
By John Hayes-Fisher
BBC Timewatch

---

Evidence of the brutal lives endured by some ancient Egyptians to build the monuments of the Pharaohs has been uncovered by archaeologists.

Skeletal remains from a lost city in the middle of Egypt suggest many ordinary people died in their teenage years and lived a punishing lifestyle.

Many suffered from spinal injuries, poor nutrition and stunted growth.

The remains were found at Amarna, a new capital built on the orders of the Pharaoh Akhenaten, 3,500 years ago.

Hieroglyphs written at the time record that the Pharaoh, who was father of Tutankhamun, was driven to create a new city in honour of his favoured god, the Aten, with elaborate temples, palaces and tombs.

Along with his wife Nefertiti, he abandoned the capital Thebes, leaving the old gods and their priests behind and marched his people 200 miles (320km) north to an inhospitable desert plain beside the River Nile.

The city, housing up to 50,000 people, was built in 15 years; but within a few years of the Pharaoh's death, the city was abandoned, left to the wind and the sand.

For more than a century archaeologists looked in vain for any trace of Amarna's dead.

But recently archaeologists from a British-based team made a breakthrough when they found human bones in the desert, which had been washed out by floods.

These were the first bones clearly identifiable as the workers who lived in the city; and they reveal the terrible price they paid to fulfil the Pharaoh's dream.

"The bones reveal a darker side to life, a striking reversal of the image that Akhenaten promoted, of an escape to sunlight and nature" says Professor Barry Kemp who is leading the excavations.

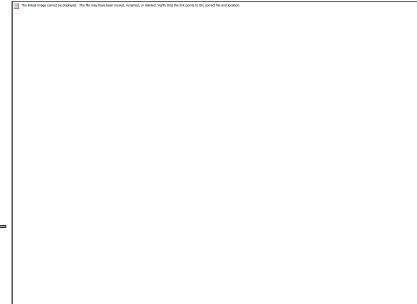

Painted murals found in the tombs of high officials from the time show offering-tables piled high with food. But the bones of the ordinary people who lived in the city reveal a different picture.

"The skeletons that we see are certainly not participating in that form of life," says Professor Jerry Rose, of the University of Arkansas, US, whose anthropological team has been analysing the Amarna bones.

"Food is not abundant and certainly food is not of high nutritional quality. This is not the city of being-taken-care-of."

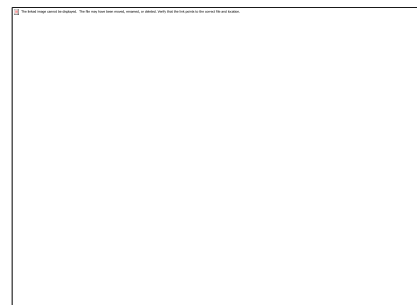

The population of Amarna had the shortest stature ever recorded from Egypt's past, but they would also have been worked hard on the Pharaoh's ambitious plans for his new capital.

The temples and palaces required thousands of large stone blocks. Working in summer temperatures of 40C (104F), the workers would have had to chisel these out of the rock and transport them 1.5 miles (2.5 km) from the quarries to the city.

Bones reveal the darker side to building Ancient Egypt

Bone discovery

The bones reveal a darker side to life, a striking reversal of the image that Akhenaten promoted

Professor Barry Kemp

Disease found

The bone remains show many workers suffered spinal and other injuries. "These people were working very hard at very young ages, carrying heavy loads," says Professor Rose.

"The incidence of youthful death amongst the Amarna population was shockingly high by any standard." Not many lived beyond 35. Two-thirds were dead by 20.

But even this backbreaking schedule may not be enough to explain the extreme death pattern at Amarna.

Even Akhanaten's son, Tutankhamen, died aged just 20; and archaeologists are now beginning to believe that there might also have been an epidemic here.

This corroborates the historical records of Egypt's principal enemy, the Hittites, which tell of the devastation of an epidemic caught from Egyptians captured in battle around the time of Tutankhamen's reign. It appears this epidemic may also have been the final blow to the people of Amarna.

Timewatch: The Pharaoh's Lost City is on BBC Two on Saturday, 26 January at 2010 GMT

| 24635|2008-01-27 11:44:47|Paul Kekai Manansala|Man-Made Changes Bring About New Epoch in Earth's History|

25 January 2008 Man-Made Changes Bring About New Epoch in Earth's History

"*"

Geologists from the University of Leicester propose that humankind has so altered the Earth that it has brought about an end to one epoch of Earth's history and marked the start of a new epoch.

Jan Zalasiewicz and Mark Williams at the University of Leicester and their colleagues on the Stratigraphy Commission of the Geological Society of London have presented their research in the journal GSA Today.

In it, they suggest humans have so changed the Earth that on the planet the Holocene epoch has ended and we have entered a new epoch - the Anthropocene.

They have identified human impact through phenomena such as:

Transformed patterns of sediment erosion and deposition worldwide

Major disturbances to the carbon cycle and global temperature

Wholesale changes to the world's plants and animals

Ocean acidification

The scientists analysed a proposal made by Nobel Prize-winning chemist Paul Crutzen in 2002. He suggested the Earth had left the Holocene and started the Anthropocene era because of the global environmental Reconstruction of Amarna which was six miles (10km) across

City scale revealed

effects of increased human population and economic development.

The researchers argue that the dominance of humans has so physically changed Earth that there is increasingly less justification for linking pre- and post-industrialized Earth within the same epoch - the Holocene.

The scientists said their findings present the scholarly groundwork for consideration by the International Commission on Stratigraphy for formal adoption of the Anthropocene as the youngest epoch of, and most recent addition to, the Earth's geological timescale.

They state: "Sufficient evidence has emerged of stratigraphically significant change (both elapsed and imminent) for recognition of the Anthropocene?currently a vivid yet informal metaphor of global environmental change?as a new geological epoch to be considered for formalization by international discussion."

| 24636|2008-01-27 17:19:06|Alex van Deelen|WHITES ADMIT THAT ANCIENT EGYPT WAS BLACK....AND PURE AFRICAN!!!|

- > ATTENTION ALL BLACKTOWN CITIZENS
- > AND FRIENDS:
- >
- > Here is a link to an astounding National Geographic
- > article the admits that ancient Egyptians were black
- > Africans, and not necessarily mixed with northern
- > Europeans who descended from the thawing Ice Age.

Actually the article is all about the Nubian rulers of Egypt.
Which even the National Geographic admits to.

Alex

| 24637|2008-01-27 18:44:40|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [Ta_Seti] Grim secrets of Pharaoh's city|
Attachments :

AkhuNUadonae (akenaton) was the person of Moses in the bible , if the work of Ahmed Osman is correct, and he makes a very convincing argument in his book moes and akhenaton, in light of that what is too be made armana and judaeo-christianity 🤔

David was Tehuti-mes and solomon amen-htp the III, digging up the truth of one of our renegade shekhem UR shekhem-u there in amarna is going to bring up alot of truths , amarna is diffentately a valley of the dry bones

Note: forwarded message attached.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24638|2008-01-27 19:09:29|Alex van Deelen|Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

Hi Yvette,

- > This comes about with an National Geographic newsletter,
- > that stated only Nubians ruled for 75 yrs in Egypt. The
- > spell is broken, and the Truth has been told.

And not only were the 25th Dynasty Nubian and Black, egyptologists are admitting the Nubian origin of pre-dynastic Egypt as well. That is what is much more interesting - that mainstream academics for ages have linked the Pre-Dynastic Egyptians with Nubia and 'Sub-Saharan' Africa. Even C. Loring Brace (see link below).

This is an article I came across. I don't like any article that starts out with a blanket condemnation of Afrocentrists - such a blanket condemnation is neither objective nor scientific. However, it does mention the misstatements of for instance Zahi Hawass, who claimed that Tut was 'Caucasoid'. (Which in my book alone would disqualify him from holding any position to do with egyptology.)

This article also makes the mistake of trying to link Ancient Egyptians with 'Tropical Africans', whatever that may mean. Instead, they should have looked to link Ancient Egyptians with ancient Nubians, who after all are their neighbors.

Find out about volunteering to AllExperts

Controversy over racial characteristics of Ancient Egyptians: Encyclopedia

BETA

http://en.allexperts.com/e/c/co/controversy\_over\_racial\_characteristics\_of\_ancient\_egyptians.htm

In another article, in the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form

C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A.

Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/modern ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

Interesting overview of Pre-Dynastic Egypt at Wikipedia:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Predynastic\_Egypt#Precursors\_to\_the\_Predynastic

| 24639|2008-01-27 23:42:21|MILTON MOORE|On Barack Obama|

--- In abpsn@yahoo.com, "Milton E. Moore Bey"

wrote:

Islam,

I agree that now is the time for us to unite but I need more than just Barack Obama being more than a so called black man for me to put him in office. I never had any illusions about Bill Clinton, I knew what he was, a wolf in sheep's clothing so I do not expect anything different from Hillary. At least Bush tells you straight out that he is the Devil's advocate. Obama is my brother from another mother, but I need more than just that to want to put him in office. I do agree that together we stand and divided we fall, but I need to know where Obama stands on some very important issues. I do not care if he does not share our Islamic faith, but I do care that if he is a Christian that he follows the same Divine Principles that Jesus lived by, which is Love, Truth, Peace, Freedom and Justice or not. Only if he lives by these Divine Principles will I believe that he is a good man. They all can talk a good game. What I want to know is will Obama live by what he speaks. I agree with you that there must be no more Satanic politics of the Bush administration and the corruption of the Clinton administration, but I need more than Obama being my brother for me to make Barack Obama the nominee in the 2008 presidential election. As I said I need to know where he stands on these very important issues:

What about getting rid of the income tax and getting rid of the inflation tax, it's a tax that nobody talks about. We live way beyond our means, with a foreign policy we can't afford and an entitlement system that we have encouraged. Money is printed for it, the value of the money goes down, and poor people pay higher prices. That is a tax. It's a transfer of wealth from the poor and the middle class to Wall Street. Wall Street's doing quite well, but the inflation tax is eating away at the middle class of this country. We need to get rid of the inflation tax with sound money.

When the federal government spends more each year than it collects in tax revenues, it has three choices: It can raise taxes, print money, or borrow money. While these actions may benefit politicians, all three options are bad for average Americans. Deficits mean future tax increases, pure and simple. Deficit spending should be viewed as a tax on future generations, and politicians who create deficits should be exposed as tax hikers.

The greatest threat facing America today is not terrorism, or foreign economic competition, or illegal immigration. The greatest threat facing America today is the disastrous fiscal policies of our own government, marked by shameless deficit spending and Federal Reserve currency devaluation. It is this one-two punch-- Congress spending more than it can tax or borrow, and the Fed printing money to make up the difference-- that threatens to impoverish us by further destroying the value of our dollars.

The role of the president as Commander in Chief is to direct our armed forces in carrying out policies established by the American people through their representatives in Congress. He is not authorized to make those policies. He is an administrator, not a policy maker. Foreign policy, like all federal policy, must be made by Congress. To allow otherwise is to act in contravention of the Constitution.

The 2nd Amendment: Tortured interpretations of the Second amendment cannot change the fact that both the letter of the amendment itself and the legislative history conclusively show that the Founders intended ordinary citizens to be armed. The notion that the Second amendment confers rights only upon organized state-run militias is preposterous; the amendment is meaningless unless it protects the gun rights of individuals.

Today the conventional wisdom is well we have to have a president to run things. Well I disagree, for what we need is a president that doesn't even have a goal of running your life, running the economy, or running the world!

It's time to rethink the whole system. The rise of HMOs has created a harmful collusion between politicians, drug companies, and organized medicine that raises the price of health care by stifling competition between providers.

I believe strongly that patients are better served by having an element of choice in the matter, which is why I support letting the free-market determine health care costs. This won't happen, however, until we unravel the HMO web and change the tax code to allow individuals to fully deduct health care costs from their taxes, as employers can.

Most often, the messing around and meddling in the affairs of other countries have unintended consequences. Sometimes just over in those countries that the US messes with. The US might support one faction, and it doesn't work, and it's used against America. But there's the blowback effect, that the CIA talks about, that it comes back to haunt America later on. For instance, a good example of this is what happened in 1953 when the US government overthrew the Mossadegh government and the US installed the Shah, in Iran. And for 25 years the US had an authoritarian friend over there, and the people hated him, they finally overthrew him, and they've resented America ever since. That had a lot to do with the taking of the hostages in 1979, and for the US to ignore that is to ignore history... Also the US has antagonized the Iranians by supporting Saddam Hussein, encouraging him to invade Iran. Why wouldn't they be angry at the US? But the on again off again thing is what bothers me the most. First the US is an ally with Osama bin Laden, then he's the US's archenemy. The CIA set up the madrasah schools, and paid money, to train radicals in Saudi Arabia, to fight communism... But now they've turned on the US... Arabs and others of the east have long memories, the US government, unfortunately, have very short memories, and they don't remember their foreign policy that may have antagonized... The founders were absolutely right: stay out of the internal affairs of foreign nations, mind our own business, bring our troops home, and have a strong defense. I think our defense is weaker now than ever. Please tell me if you can where does Obama stand on these very important issues.

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

--- In abpsn@yahoogroups.com, "IQRA BILAL IDREES" wrote:

Now is the time for us to unite and put Barack Obama in office. Any illusions that any of you (I never did) about Bill Clinton being "the first Black President" should be erased by now if only you follow the news. Bill and Hillary tried to smear the man and play the race card . They tried to divide us as a people and to discredit our brother. Although Obama does not share our Islamic faith he is a good man. He has represented me (I live in Chicago, Illinois) for the last 12 years in both our state government and now as a U.S. senator. He has done well. He is not perfect but he has done well.

The message that it would send by him winning the nomination and especially the Presidency to our youth is extremely powerful. I am a father and I can't tell you what it means to me to have my children see a man who looks like us not only be eloquent in speech and honest in character but to have the support of so many who are NOT of our race or nationality to achieve the most powerful political office on Earth.

There is a disease of hopelessness among us. There has been too long in our communities a stereotype that educated brothers are acting white or that we can only get so far because the white man won't let us beyond a certain threshold.

We need to smash that type of thinking because it leads so many of us to not even try.

I have some disagreements with the MSTA but our basic policy is the same. We are trying to uplift fallen humanity and we believe that our people have a great potential if we would only work together. We understand that it is the strength of our roots that allows our tree to bear fruit and we long for the day when it is no longer a surprise(to some)to see our people achieving and when our race is no longer seen by ANYBODY as something that disqualifies us from holding office or qualifying for loans etc.

The world is also ready for a change from the politics of the Bushadministration and the corruption of the Clinton administration. The Clinton scandals racked up some 64 criminal charges and 40 convictions. They netted the murder/mysterious deaths of Ron Brown Vince Foster, James McDougal and more than 55 others. The Clintons pardoned terrorists even though during Bill's term the World Trade center was bombed, The USS Cole was bombed, The Oklahoma City was bombed, our embassies in Kenya and Tanzania were bombed, Black/Moorish churches were burned across the south and Waco for which Bill was responsible because he authorized the invasion of innocent U.S. citizens with tanks.

We cannot afford to have this happen again. We cannot afford another Whitewater, another Chinagate, more renting out of the Lincoln bedroom(some 938 times in 5 years according to CLINTON records) insider trading in cattle futures, another Travelgate or another 4 years of backbitin , smear and scandal.

Wherever you are from or wherever you are VOTE in your states primary. Send a message that we have had enough. Support our brother. Let's make Barack Obama the nominee in the 2008 presidential election. Peace be unto you all.

--- End forwarded message ---

| 24640|2008-01-28 07:48:52|Vernessa McVay|Re: WHITES ADMIT THAT ANCIENT EGYPT WAS BLACK....AND PURE AFRICAN!!!!

Where's the link?

--- Alex van Deelen <avdeelen@wanadoo.nl> wrote:

> > ATTENTION ALL BLACKTOWN CITIZENS > > AND FRIENDS:
> >
> > Here is a link to an astounding National > > Geographic > > article the admits that ancient Egyptians were
> > black
> > Africans, and not necessarily mixed with northern > > Europeans who descended from the thawing Ice Age.
> >
> > Actually the article is all about the Nubian rulers > > of Egypt.
> > Which even the National Geographic admits to.
> >
> > Alex
> >
> >
> >

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

| 24641|2008-01-28 11:33:50|MILTON MOORE|Re: [1-Nation-under-5] Re:

[Unite_and_Resist_Campaign] On Barack Oba|

Islam Moors,

The Type of Leadership That America Needs!

Here are 11 very important questions to ask any one who is running for the office of President of the United States of America, if he or she answers no to numbers 1-10 and yes to number 11, then he or she lives by the Divine Principles of Love, Truth, Peace, Freedom and Justice and deserving of the seat of President of the Great Country:

1. Have you ever voted to raise taxes?
2. Have you ever voted for an unbalanced budget?
3. Have you ever voted for a federal restriction on gun ownership?
4. Have you ever voted to raise congressional pay?
5. Have you ever taken a government-paid junket?
6. Have you ever voted to increase the power of the executive branch?
7. Did you vote in support of the Patriot Act?

8. Did you vote in support of regulating the Internet?
9. Did you vote in support of the Iraq war?
10. Do you participate in the lucrative congressional pension program?
11. Do you return a portion of your annual congressional office budget to the U.S. treasury every year?

America needs a President that is a leading advocate for freedom in our nation's capital.

America needs some one who will work tirelessly for limited constitutional government, low taxes, free markets, and a return to sound monetary policies. Even though limited-government ideals are not popular in Washington, it is what America needs to be the Great Country that the Prophet Noble Drew Ali speaks about.

America needs a leader that is a strong advocate for sound monetary policy and one who is an outspoken critic of the Federal Reserve's inflationary measures. He or She must be an unwavering advocate of pro-life and pro-family values. He or she must be one that will consistently voted to lower or abolish federal taxes, spending and regulation, and used his seat of power to actively promote the return of government to its proper constitutional levels.

I can not express it enough that America's new leader must be one who continues to advocate a dramatic reduction in the size of the federal government and a return to constitutional principles. He or she must be one that personifies the Founding Fathers' ideal of the citizen-statesman. He or she must be one that makes it clear that his or her principles will never be compromised. He or she must be one that through thick and thin, rain or shine, stick to their principles.

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

Pearl Jr wrote:

Well Well Well,if I agree with Obama on 75 perent of the issues that is a majority of my concerns, which is fantastic! The reason for the 25 percent allowance of disagreement is because I, as a layman, may not understand the innner workings of each criteria that makes up a certain decision.

I know Obama is what this country needs and yes, I am so very proud that he is a Black man with a Black wife and Black children. I don't fall for the "White opinion" that tells me that I should negate his Blackness so to prove to non-Blacks that I'm not favoring him because he is Black.

I will never apologize for loving Blackness, because the trickery in this "support because he is Black like me" trick is due to White HAVING ONLY VOTED FOR WHITES BECAUSE THEY WERE WHITE LIKE THEM.

I don't have to prove I'm not a racist, White people do!

So let's not get this twisted and continue to fall for this diversionary manipulation that aims to make us AGAIN and AGAIN apologize for loving and supporting a people that look like our own children.

"BARACK OBAMA AIN'T NO FLAVA FLAV" if I can borrow a quote from Arsenio Hall.

Mr. Obama is qualified, highly educated, experienced as an elected official since 1997 (Hillary only since 2000), and upon graduation from Harvard Law School (just as with Michelle Obama), Barack went to work for $13,000 a year on the southside of Chicago instead of taking offers from prestigious law firms for more $100,000 annually.

If you'd like to see my interview with Hill Harper (attended Harvard with Barack) and Tyson Beckford, go to youtube.com and search for Pearl Jr and Hill Harper or Pearl Jr and Tyson Beckford.

Black folks stop with allowing mainstream America distance his Blackness from ours. He is Black, but he has to be a President for all of America and I ain't mad at him for that.

TOGETHER WE MUST CHANGE THE WORLD.

Much love for my beloved people,
Pearl Jr.

MILTON MOORE wrote:

--- In abpsn@yahoogroups.com, "Milton E. Moore Bey" wrote:
Islam,
I agree that now is the time for us to unite but I need more than just Barack Obama being more than a so called black man for me to put him in office. I never had any illusions about Bill Clinton, I knew what he was, a wolf in sheep's clothing so I do not expect anything different from Hillary. At least Bush tells you straight out that he is the Devil's addvocate. Obama is my brother from another mother,
but I need more than just that to want to put him in office.
I do agree that together we stand and divided we fall, but I need to know where Obama stands on some very important issues. I do not care if he does not share our Islamic faith, but I do care that if he is a Christian that he follows the same Divine Principles that Jesus lived by, which is Love, Truth, Peace, Freedom and Justice or not. Only if he lives by these Divine Principles will I beleive that he is a good man. They all can talk a good game. What I want to know is will Obama live by what he speaks. I agree with you that there must be no more Satanic politics of the Bush administration and the corruption of the Clinton administration, but I need more than Obama being my brother for me to make Barack Obama the nominee in the 2008 presidential election. As I said I need to know where he stands on these very important issues: What about getting rid of the income tax and getting rid of the inflation tax, it's a tax that nobody talks about. We live way beyond our means, with a foreign policy we can't afford and an entitlement system that we have encouraged. Money is printed for it, the value of the money goes down, and poor people pay higher prices. That is a tax. It's a transfer of wealth from the poor and the middle class to Wall Street. Wall Street's doing quite well, but the inflation tax is eating away at the middle class of this country. We need to get rid of the inflation tax with sound money. When the federal government spends more each year than it collects in tax revenues, it has three choices: It can raise taxes, print money, or borrow money. While these actions may benefit politicians, all three options are bad for average Americans. Deficits mean future tax increases, pure and simple. Deficit spending should be viewed as a tax on future generations, and politicians who create deficits should be exposed as tax hikers. The greatest threat facing America today is not terrorism, or foreign economic competition, or illegal immigration. The greatest threat facing America today is the disastrous fiscal policies of our own government, marked by shameless deficit spending and Federal Reserve currency devaluation. It is this one-two punch-- Congress spending more than it can tax or borrow, and the Fed printing money to make up the difference-- that threatens to impoverish us by further destroying the value of our dollars.

The role of the president as Commander in Chief is to direct our armed forces in carrying out policies established by the American people through their representatives in Congress. He is not authorized to make those policies. He is an administrator, not a policy maker. Foreign policy, like all federal policy, must be made by Congress. To allow otherwise is to act in contravention of the Constitution.

The 2nd Amendment: Tortured interpretations of the Second amendment cannot change the fact that both the letter of the amendment itself and the legislative history conclusively show that the Founders intended ordinary citizens to be armed. The notion that the Second amendment confers rights only upon organized state-run militias is preposterous; the amendment is meaningless unless it protects the gun rights of individuals.

Today the conventional wisdom is well we have to have a president to run things. Well I disagree, for what we need is a president that doesn't even have a goal of running your life, running the economy, or running the world!

It's time to rethink the whole system. The rise of HMOs has created a harmful collusion between politicians, drug companies, and organized medicine that raises the price of health care by stifling competition between providers.

I believe strongly that patients are better served by having an element of choice in the matter, which is why I support letting the free-market determine health care costs. This won't happen, however, until we unravel the HMO web and change the tax code to allow individuals to fully deduct health care costs from their taxes, as employers can.

Most often, the messing around and meddling in the affairs of other countries have unintended consequences. Sometimes just over in those countries that the US messes with. The US might support one faction, and it doesn't work, and it's used against America. But there's the blowback effect, that the CIA talks about, that it comes back to haunt America later on. For instance, a good example of this is what happened in 1953 when the US government overthrew the Mossadegh government and the US installed the Shah, in Iran. And for 25 years the US had an authoritarian friend over there, and the people hated him, they finally overthrew him, and they've resented America ever since. That had a lot to do with the taking of the hostages in 1979, and for the US to ignore that is to ignore history... Also the US has antagonized the Iranians by supporting Saddam Hussein, encouraging him to invade Iran. Why wouldn't they be angry at the US? But the on again off again thing is what bothers me the most. First the US is an ally with Osama bin Laden, then he's the US's archenemy. The CIA set up the madrasah schools, and paid money, to train radicals in Saudi Arabia, to fight communism... But now they've turned on the US...

Arabs and others of the east have long memories, the US government, unfortunately, have very short memories, and they don't remember their foreign policy that may have antagonized. .. The founders were absolutely right: stay out of the internal affairs of foreign nations, mind our own business, bring our troops home, and have a strong defense. I think our defense is weaker now than ever.

Please tell me if you can where does Obama stand on these very important issues.

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

--- In abpsn@yahoogroups.com, "IQRA BILAL IDREES" wrote:

Now is the time for us to unite and put Barack Obama in office. Any illusions that any of you (I never did) about Bill Clinton being "the first Black President" should be erased by now if only you follow the news. Bill and Hillary tried to smear the man and play the race card .

They tried to divide us as a people and to discredit our brother.

Although Obama does not share our Islamic faith he is a good man. He has represented me(I live in Chicago, Illinois) for the last 12 years in both our state government and now as a U.S. senator.

He has done well. He is not perfect but he has done well.

The message that it would send by him winning the nomination and especially the Presidency to our youth is extremely powerful. I am a father and I can't tell you what it means to me to have my children

see a man who looks like us not only be eloquent in speech and honest in character but to have the support of so many who are NOT of our race or nationality to achieve the most powerful political office on Earth.

There is a disease of hopelessness among us. There has been too long in our communities a stereotype that educated brothers are acting white or that we can only get so far because the white man won't let us beyond a certain threshold.

We need to smash that type of thinking because it leads so many of us to not even try.

I have some disagreements with the MSTA but our basic policy is the same.

We are trying to uplift fallen humanity and we believe that our people have a great potential if we would only work together. We understand that it is the strength of our roots that allows our tree to bear fruit and we long for the day when it is no longer a surprise (to some) to see our people achieving and when our race is no longer seen by ANYBODY as something that disqualifies us from holding office or qualifying for loans etc.

The world is also ready for a change from the politics of the Bush administration and the corruption of the Clinton administration.

The Clinton scandals racked up some 64 criminal charges and 40 convictions. They netted the murder/mysterious deaths of Ron Brown

Vince Foster, James McDougal and more than 55 others.

The Clintons

pardoned terrorists even though during Bill's term the World Trade center was bombed, The USS Cole was bombed, The Oklahoma City was bombed, our embassies in Kenya and Tanzania were bombed,

Black/Moorish churches were burned across the south and Waco for which

Bill was responsible because he authorized the invasion of innocent

U.S. citizens with tanks.
We cannot afford to have this happen again. We cannot afford another Whitewater, another Chinagate, more renting out of the Lincoln bedroom(some 938 times in 5 years according to CLINTON records) insider trading in cattle futures, another Travelgate or another 4
years of backbitin , smear and scandal.
Wherever you are from or wherever you are VOTE in your states primary.
Send a message that we have had enough. Support our brother.
Let's make Barack Obama the nominee in the 2008 presidential election.
Peace be unto you all.
--- End forwarded message ---

www.BlackWomenNeedLoveToo.com

| 24642|2008-01-28 11:50:44|MILTON MOORE|Re: [1-Nation-under-5] Re:
[Unite_and_Resist_Campaign] On Barack Oba|
Islam Moors,

The Type of Leadership That America Needs!

Here are 11 very important questions to ask any one who is running for the office of President of the United States of America, if he or she answers no to numbers 1-10 and yes to number 11, then he or she lives by the Divine Principles of Love, Truth, Peace, Freedom and Justice and deserving of the seat of President of the Great Country:

1. Have you ever voted to raise taxes?
2. Have you ever voted for an unbalanced budget?
3. Have you ever voted for a federal restriction on gun ownership?
4. Have you ever voted to raise congressional pay?
5. Have you ever taken a government-paid junket?
6. Have you ever voted to increase the power of the executive branch?
7. Did you vote in support of the Patriot Act?
8. Did you vote in support of regulating the Internet?
9. Did you vote in support of the Iraq war?
10. Do you participate in the lucrative congressional pension program?

11. Do you return a portion of your annual congressional office budget to the U.S. treasury every year?

America needs a President that is a leading advocate for freedom in our nation's capital.

America needs some one who will work tirelessly for limited constitutional government, low taxes, free markets, and a return to sound monetary policies. Even though limited-government ideals are not popular in Washington, it is what America needs to be the Great Country that the Prophet Noble Drew Ali speaks about.

America needs a leader that is a strong advocate for sound monetary policy and one who is an outspoken critic of the Federal Reserve's inflationary measures. He or She must be an unwavering advocate of pro-life and pro-family values. He or she must be one that will consistently voted to lower or abolish federal taxes, spending and regulation, and used his seat of power to actively promote the return of government to its proper constitutional levels.

I can not express it enough that America's new leader must be one who continues to advocate a dramatic reduction in the size of the federal government and a return to constitutional principles.

He or she must be one that personifies the Founding Fathers' ideal of the citizen-statesman. He or she must be one that makes it clear that his or her principles will never be compromised. He or she must be one that through thick and thin, rain or shine, stick to their principles.

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

Pearl Jr wrote:

Well Well Well, if I agree with Obama on 75 percent of the issues that is a majority of my concerns, which is fantastic! The reason for the 25 percent allowance of disagreement is because I, as a layman, may not understand the inner workings of each criteria that makes up a certain decision.

I know Obama is what this country needs and yes, I am so very proud that he is a Black man with a Black wife and Black children. I don't fall for the "White opinion" that tells me that I should negate his Blackness so to prove to non-Blacks that I'm not favoring him because he is Black.

I will never apologize for loving Blackness, because the trickery in this "support because he is Black like me" trick is due to White HAVING ONLY VOTED FOR WHITES BECAUSE THEY WERE WHITE LIKE THEM.

I don't have to prove I'm not a racist, White people do!

So let's not get this twisted and continue to fall for this diversionary manipulation that aims to make us AGAIN and AGAIN apologize for loving and supporting a people that look like our own children.

"BARACK OBAMA AIN'T NO FLAVA FLAV" if I can borrow a quote from Arsenio Hall.

Mr. Obama is qualified, highly educated, experienced as an elected official since 1997 (Hillary only since 2000), and upon graduation from Harvard Law School (just as with Michelle Obama), Barack went to work for $13,000 a year on the southside of Chicago instead of taking offers from prestigious law firms for more $100,000 annually.

If you'd like to see my interview with Hill Harper (attended Harvard with Barack) and Tyson Beckford, go to youtube.com and search for Pearl Jr and Hill Harper or Pearl Jr and Tyson Beckford.

Black folks stop with allowing mainstream America distance his Blackness from ours. He is Black, but he has to be a President for all of America and I ain't mad at him for that.

TOGETHER WE MUST CHANGE THE WORLD.

Much love for my beloved people,
Pearl Jr.

MILTON MOORE wrote:

--- In abpsn@yahoo.com, "Milton E. Moore Bey" wrote:
Islam,
I agree that now is the time for us to unite but I need more than just Barack Obama being more than a so called black man for me to put him in office. I never had any illusions about Bill Clinton, I knew what he was, a wolf in sheep's clothing so I do not expect anything different from Hillary. At least Bush tells you straight out that he is the Devil's advocate. Obama is my brother from another mother, but I need more than just that to want to put him in office. I do agree that together we stand and divided we fall, but I need to know where Obama stands on some very important issues. I do not care if he does not share our Islamic faith, but I do care that if he is a Christian that he follows the same Divine Principles that Jesus lived by, which is Love, Truth, Peace, Freedom and Justice or not. Only if he lives by these Divine Principles will I believe that he is a good man. They all can talk a good game. What I want to know is will Obama live by what he speaks. I agree with you that there must be no more Satanic politics of the Bush administration and the corruption of the Clinton administration, but I need more than Obama being my brother for me to make Barack Obama the nominee in the 2008 presidential election. As I said I need to know where he stands on these very important issues:

What about getting rid of the income tax and getting rid of
the inflation tax, it's a tax that nobody talks about. We live way beyond our means, with a foreign policy we can't afford and an entitlement system that we have encouraged. Money is printed for it, the value of the money goes down, and poor people pay higher prices.
That is a tax. It's a transfer of wealth from the poor and the middle class to Wall Street. Wall Street's doing quite well, but the inflation tax is eating away at the middle class of this country. We need to get rid of the inflation tax with sound money.
When the federal government spends more each year than it collects in tax revenues, it has three choices: It can raise taxes, print money, or borrow money. While these actions may benefit politicians, all three options are bad for average Americans. Deficits mean future tax increases, pure and simple. Deficit spending should be viewed as a tax on future generations, and politicians who create deficits should be exposed as tax hikers.
The greatest threat facing America today is not terrorism, or foreign economic competition, or illegal immigration. The greatest threat facing America today is the disastrous fiscal policies of our own government, marked by shameless deficit spending and Federal Reserve
currency devaluation. It is this one-two punch-- Congress spending

more than it can tax or borrow, and the Fed printing money to make up the difference-- that threatens to impoverish us by further destroying the value of our dollars.

The role of the president as Commander in Chief is to direct our armed forces in carrying out policies established by the American people through their representatives in Congress. He is not authorized to make those policies. He is an administrator, not a policy maker. Foreign policy, like all federal policy, must be made by Congress. To allow otherwise is to act in contravention of the Constitution.

The 2nd Amendment: Tortured interpretations of the Second amendment cannot change the fact that both the letter of the amendment itself and the legislative history conclusively show that the Founders intended ordinary citizens to be armed. The notion that the Second amendment confers rights only upon organized state-run militias is preposterous; the amendment is meaningless unless it protects the gun rights of individuals.

Today the conventional wisdom is well we have to have a president to run things. Well I disagree, for what we need is a president that doesn't even have a goal of running your life, running the economy, or running the world!

It's time to rethink the whole system. The rise of HMOs has created a harmful collusion between politicians, drug companies, and organized medicine that raises the price of health care by stifling competition between providers.

I believe strongly that patients are better served by having an element of choice in the matter, which is why I support letting the free-market determine health care costs. This won't happen, however, until we unravel the HMO web and change the tax code to allow individuals to fully deduct health care costs from their taxes, as employers can.

Most often, the messing around and meddling in the affairs of other countries have unintended consequences. Sometimes just over in those countries that the US messes with. The US might support one faction, and it doesn't work, and it's used against America. But there's the blowback effect, that the CIA talks about, that it comes back to haunt America later on. For instance, a good example of this is what happened in 1953 when the US government overthrew the Mossadegh government and the US installed the Shah, in Iran. And for 25 years the US had an authoritarian friend over there, and the people hated him, they finally overthrew him, and they've resented America ever since. That had a lot to do with the taking of the hostages in 1979, and for the US to ignore that is to ignore history... Also the US has antagonized the Iranians by supporting Saddam Hussein, encouraging him to invade Iran. Why wouldn't they be angry at the US? But the on again off again thing is what bothers me the most. First the US is an ally with Osama bin Laden, then he's the US's archenemy. The CIA set up the madrasah schools, and paid money, to train radicals in Saudi Arabia, to fight communism... But now they've turned on the US... Arabs and others of the east have long memories, the US government, unfortunately, have very short memories, and they don't remember their foreign policy that may have antagonized. .. The founders were absolutely right: stay out of the internal affairs of foreign nations, mind our own business, bring our troops home, and have a strong defense. I think our defense is weaker now than ever.

Please tell me if you can where does Obama stand on these very important issues.

Peace

Bro. M. Moore Bey

--- In abpsn@yahoogroups.com, "IQRA BILAL IDREES" wrote:

Now is the time for us to unite and put Barack Obama in office. Any illusions that any of you (I never did) about Bill Clinton being "the first Black President" should be erased by now if only you follow the news. Bill and Hillary tried to smear the man and play the race card .

They tried to divide us as a people and to discredit our brother.

Although Obama does not share our Islamic faith he is a good man. He has represented me(I live in Chicago, Illinois) for the last 12 years in both our state government and now as a U.S. senator. He has done well. He is not perfect but he has done well.

The message that it would send by him winning the nomination and especially the Presidency to our youth is extremely powerful. I am a father and I can't tell you what it means to me to have my children see a man who looks like us not only be eloquent in speech and honest in character but to have the support of so many who are NOT of our race or nationality to achieve the most powerful political office on Earth.

There is a disease of hopelessness among us. There has been too long in our communities a stereotype that educated brothers are acting white or that we can only get so far because the white man won't let us beyond a certain threshold. We need to smash that type of thinking because it leads so many of us to not even try. I have some disagreements with the MSTA but our basic policy is the same. We are trying to uplift fallen humanity and we believe that our people have a great potential if we would only work together. We understand that it is the strength of our roots that allows our tree to bear fruit and we long for the day when it is no longer a surprise(to some)to see our people achieving and when our race is no longer seen by ANYBODY as something that disqualifies us from holding office or qualifying for loans etc. The world is also ready for a change from the politics of the Bushadministration and the corruption of the Clinton administration. The Clinton scandals racked up some 64 criminal charges and 40 convictions. They netted the murder/mysterious deaths of Ron Brown Vince Foster, James McDougal and more than 55 others. The Clintons pardoned terrorists even though during Bill's term the World Trade center was bombed, The USS Cole was bombed, The Oklahoma City was bombed, our embassies in Kenya and Tanzania were bombed, Black/Moorish churches were burned across the south and Waco for which Bill was responsible because he authorized the invasion of innocent U.S. citizens with tanks.

We cannot afford to have this happen again. We cannot afford another Whitewater, another Chinagate, more renting out of the Lincoln bedroom(some 938 times in 5 years according to CLINTON records) insider trading in cattle futures, another Travelgate or another 4 years of backbitin , smear and scandal. Wherever you are from or wherever you are VOTE in your states primary. Send a message that we have had enough. Support our brother. Let's make Barack Obama the nominee in the 2008 presidential election. Peace be unto you all. --- End forwarded message ---

www.BlackWomenNeedLoveToo.com

| 24643|2008-01-28 17:22:10|sincere1906|Re: "Black Pharaohs" (National Geographic)|

The link is to the main page it seems, as the photo of Tiye is done in Flash. But you can simply scroll thru the gallery to find it.

Here's another gem from the site:

Test Your Knowledge of Race in Ancient Egypt

Click through ten multiple-choice questions to find out how much you know about race and ethnicity in Ancient Egypt.

<http://ngm.nationalgeographic.com/ngm/2008-02/black-pharaohs/black-pharaohs-quiz.html>

Now does the page go into Egypt's diversity? Umm...not really. Does it perhaps question old ideas of "blonde" Egyptians? Nope. So maybe this quiz is about the Hamitic hypothesis? No again.

Rather the quiz, which starts off first with a question about the meaning of the word Kemet, is a direct assault on African-centered perspectives. By choosing to quibble on more popularized claims like the meaning of Kemet (which was always, imho, prone to debate) or nhsu or the color of the afterlife, etc., rather than approaching concrete analyses of history, archaeology, physical anthropology, etc., NG is having the Egypt "race" debate--but on set terms of their creation.

But this brings me full circle to a criticism I have long had of the African-centered perspective--- that not only does it need to be pre-emptive in situations like these, but that allowing each and every claim (often no matter how fringe or possibly erroneous) to be lumped under the "Afrocentric" umbrella, only opened it up to easier attack from mainstream outfits like NG.

Sin

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> The link to the photo of Tiye (out of "darkened" wood) was a link to the same cover page showing Piye.

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: sincere1906@...: Sun, 27 Jan 2008 02:03:39 +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: "Black Pharaohs" (National Geographic)

>

>

>

>

>

> Nice article by NG. But what a back-handed compliment. It seems to have become ritual now for outfits like NG to trot out the Napatan dynasties as Egypt's "Black Pharaohs." It is with irony that mainstream Egyptology, which had for so long denied Nubia's importance (some even questioned whether Nubians were really "black"), now use Nubia's reign over Egypt as yet another reason to attack any African-centered approach. So, as you rightly note Paul, now that we have three black pharaohs, by default no one else in Egypt's dynastic history (by then some 2500+ yrs old) was "black."

> NG is so blatant about this tactic, they state it as much on pg. 3:

> [Revisiting that golden age in the African desert does little to advance the case of Afrocentric Egyptologists, who argue that all ancient Egyptians, from King Tut to Cleopatra, were black Africans. Nonetheless, the saga of the Nubians proves that a civilization from deep in Africa not only thrived but briefly dominated in ancient times, intermingling and sometimes intermarrying with their Egyptian neighbors to the north. (King Tut's own grandmother, the 18th-dynasty Queen Tiye, is claimed by some to be of Nubian heritage.)]

> Of course, in reality, "Afrocentric Egyptologists" are a wide group to expect any singular mode of thought. As for the idea that they seek to claim "all ancient Egyptians...were black Africans," in the case of Cleopatra VII there are more than a few of them who readily state the last pharaoh queen of Ptolemaic Egypt was either Greek or of multi-ethnic heritage. And in doing so, they assert something that mainstream Egyptology took forever to come to terms with--that pharaonic Egypt's lengthy history was diverse, with room enough for everyone from Greeks to Persians to take the mantle of pharaoh---especially during the Late Kingdom.

As for whether Tutankhamun was black, I suppose that after NG's earlier recreation of Tut as a French Mediterranean, they have declared the matter settled.

> But it gets even better. Note the following photo on this page and the caption beneath:

> <http://ngm.nationalgeographic.com/ngm/2008-02/black-pharaohs/garrett-photography.html>

> [Did the powerful Queen Tiye, King Tut's grandmother, have Nubian ancestry? This bust, made of wood that has darkened with age, has inspired claims that she did.]

> So now our eyes are playing tricks on us. And the bust of Tiye, depicted above, just *looks* "black" because the wood is darkened--and not because of the facial features. NG also fails to point out, that this is hardly the only bust of Tiye. I suppose this follows in the same vein that asserts Akhenaten's "black" features are really a trick produced by a deformative disease and that Tutankhamun's many depictions (down to his funerary mask) also only *look* "black" while he in reality is some type of French-Mediterranean type. Gee, maybe if so many pharaonic Egyptians weren't so obviously obsessed with trying to make themselves *look* black (when goodness knows none of them were), we all wouldn't be so confused. And incidentally, as far as I know, there is nothing that asserts Tiye is of "Nubian ancestry." More than likely, she could simply be an indigenous Egyptian. But according to NG, that was impossible, because some seemingly magical line existed along the borders of Lower Nubia that for near 3,000 years kept any "black" Africans from moving up the Nile. Wonder how Narmer and company pulled it off?

> Not completely dismissing the article. There are some good points to it--from discussing the roles of Piye, Shabaka and Taharka to a rich photo gallery, including some great depictions. Still, before we applaud NG, we should see this for what it is...in part yet another attempt to keep pharaonic Egypt walled off from the rest of Africa, even if the Nubian presence is finally acknowledged. It makes this piece at once both uplifting and insulting.

> mho

> Sin

>

>

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Paul Kekai Manansala" pmanansala@ wrote:>> The title "Black Pharaohs" of course incorrectly implies that the> non-Nubian Pharaohs were non-Black.> > Regards,> Paul Kekai Manansala> ---> National Geographic> > [Photo: Black Pharaohs - National Geographic Magazine]> By Robert Draper> Photographs by Kenneth Garrett> For 75 years Nubian kings ruled over ancient Egypt, reunifying the> country and building an empire. Until recently, theirs was a chapter of> history lost in the shadows.> [0]> In the year 730 B.C., a man by the name of Piye decided the only way to> save

Egypt from itself was to invade it. Things would get bloody before the salvation came. > > "Harness the best steeds of your stable," he ordered his commanders. The magnificent civilization that had built the great pyramids had lost its way, torn apart by petty warlords. For two decades Piye had ruled over his own kingdom in Nubia, a swath of Africa located mostly in present-day Sudan. But he considered himself the true ruler of Egypt as well, the rightful heir to the spiritual traditions practiced by pharaohs such as Ramses II and Thutmose III. Since Piye had probably never actually visited Lower Egypt, some did not take his boast seriously. Now Piye would witness the subjugation of decadent Egypt firsthand? "I shall let Lower Egypt taste the taste of my fingers," he would later write. > > North on the Nile River his soldiers sailed. At Thebes, the capital of Upper Egypt, they disembarked. Believing there was a proper way to wage holy wars, Piye instructed his soldiers to purify themselves before combat by bathing in the Nile, dressing themselves in fine linen, and sprinkling their bodies with water from the temple at Karnak, a site holy to the ram-headed sun god Amun, whom Piye identified as his own personal deity. Piye himself feasted and offered sacrifices to Amun. > Thus sanctified, the commander and his men commenced to do battle with every army in their path. > > By the end of a yearlong campaign, every leader in Egypt had capitulated?including the powerful delta warlord Tefnakht, who sent a messenger to tell Piye, "Be gracious! I cannot see your face in the days of shame; I cannot stand before your flame, I dread your grandeur." In exchange for their lives, the vanquished urged Piye to worship at their temples, pocket their finest jewels, and claim their best horses. He obliged them. And then, with his vassals trembling before him, the newly anointed Lord of the Two Lands did something extraordinary: He loaded up his army and his war booty, and sailed southward to his home in Nubia, never to return to Egypt again. > > When Piye died at the end of his 35-year reign in 715 B.C., his subjects honored his wishes by burying him in an Egyptian-style pyramid, with four of his beloved horses nearby. He was the first pharaoh to receive such entombment in more than 500 years. A pity, then, that the great Nubian who accomplished these feats is literally faceless to us. Images of Piye on the elaborate granite slabs, or stelae, memorializing his conquest of Egypt have long since been chiseled away. On a relief in the temple at the Nubian capital of Napata, only Piye's legs remain. We are left with a single physical detail of the man?namely, that his skin was dark. > > Piye was the first of the so-called black pharaohs?a series of Nubian kings who ruled over all of Egypt for three-quarters of a century> as that country's 25th dynasty. Through inscriptions carved on stelae by both the Nubians and their enemies, it is possible to map out these rulers' vast footprint on the continent. The black pharaohs reunified a tattered Egypt and filled its landscape with glorious monuments, creating an empire that stretched from the southern border at present-day Khartoum all the way north to the Mediterranean Sea. They stood up to the bloodthirsty Assyrians, perhaps saving Jerusalem in the process. > > (1 of 5) Next >>> t-p2.html>>

>

>

>

>
>
>
>
>
>

---

> Shed those extra pounds with MSN and The Biggest Loser!
> <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>
>

| 24644|2008-01-28 21:29:59|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Yout|
read some of 1st article,,, very interesting!

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Hi Yvette,

> This comes about with an National Geographic newsletter, > that stated only Nubians ruled for 75 yrs in Egypt. The > spell is broken, and the Truth has been told.

And not only were the 25th Dynasty Nubian and Black, egyptologists are admitting the Nubian origin of pre-dynastic Egypt as well. That is what is much more interesting - that mainstream academics for ages have linked the Pre-Dynastic Egyptians with Nubia and 'Sub-Saharan' Africa. Even C. Loring Brace (see link below).

This is an article I came across. I don't like any article that starts out with a blanket condemnation of Afrocentrists - such a blanket condemnation is neither objective nor scientific. However, it does mention the misstatements of for instance Zahi Hawass, who claimed that Tut was 'Caucasoid'. (Which in my book alone would disqualify him from holding any position to do with egyptology.)

This article also makes the mistake of trying to link Ancient Egyptians with 'Tropical Africans', whatever that may mean. Instead, they should have looked to link Ancient Egyptians with ancient Nubians, who after all are their neighbors.

Find out about volunteering to AllExperts
Controversy over racial characteristics of Ancient Egyptians: Encyclopedia BETA

http://en.allexperts.com/e/c/co/controversy\_over\_racial\_characteristics\_of\_ancient\_egyptians.htm

In another article, in the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form

C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A. Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/ modern ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

Interesting overview of Pre-Dynastic Egypt at Wikipedia:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Predynastic\_Egypt#Precursors\_to\_the\_Predynastic

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24645|2008-01-28 21:31:15|Pearl Jr|Proud of Barack as a Black Man!|

Well Well Well,if I agree with Obama on 75 percent of the issues that is a majority of my concerns, which is fantastic! The reason for the 25 percent allowance of disagreement is because I, as a layman, may not understand the inner workings of each criteria that makes up a certain decision.

I know Obama is what this country needs and yes, I am so very proud that he is a Black man with a Black wife and Black children. I don't fall for the "White opinion" that tells me that I should negate his Blackness so to prove to non-Blacks that I'm not favoring him because he is Black.

I will never apologize for loving Blackness, because the trickery in this "support because he is Black like me" trick is due to White HAVING ONLY VOTED FOR WHITES BECAUSE THEY WERE WHITE LIKE THEM.

I don't have to prove I'm not a racist, White people do!

So let's not get this twisted and continue to fall for this diversionary manipulation that aims to make us AGAIN and AGAIN apologize for loving and supporting a people that look like our own children.

"BARACK OBAMA AIN'T NO FLAVA FLAV" if I can borrow a quote from Arsenio Hall.

Mr. Obama is qualified, highly educated, experienced as an elected official since 1997 (Hillary only since 2000), and upon graduation from Harvard Law School (just as with Michelle Obama), Barack went to work for $13,000 a year on the southside of Chicago instead of taking offers from prestigious law firms for more $100,000 annually.

If you'd like to see my interview with Hill Harper (attended Harvard with Barack) and Tyson Beckford, go to youtube.com and search for Pearl Jr and Hill Harper or Pearl Jr and Tyson Beckford.

Black folks stop with allowing mainstream America distance his Blackness from ours. He is Black, but he has to be a President for all of America and I ain't mad at him for that.

TOGETHER WE MUST CHANGE THE WORLD.

Much love for my beloved people,
Pearl Jr.

www.BlackWomenNeedLoveToo.com

| 24646|2008-01-28 21:31:35|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: AN FYI: From The Paut Neteru Collective
Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Te|

i live in the southern u.s., so i know many black people who want to keep their bible and want the hebrews to be black people, maybe one day there will be proof of the hebrews being black,,i think at different epochs they were mostly many(black white inbetween)things ,,the ibri-habiru-hapiru-apiri-sagasa- saria-sara,, were all a hodge-podge a confederate of many types of people.... and the language of the people of Ua-Uat (nubia) , is unique and is not hebrew ,, hebrew is a created language like africaner or norleans creole,,, it is not to be found before 1500 or 1600 bc,, and that's being nice with late dates, the language of taseti, Ua-Uat is ancient, and many languages have their antecedents in it but that does not make all those languages black or hebrew or yis-ra-el , the hebrew alphabet comes from the caanite ,, i have no problem with the hebrews being black nubians but there's not proof of that, there is much in evidence though that the people of armana left there to populate zaru-kha and finally may have integrated into the Isralite-babylonian and persian peoples and later became the hebrew-isralites of history

To: the_paut_neteru@yahoogroups.com

From: "Osa Kwa"

Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 18:53:03 -0000

Subject: AN FYI: From The Paut Neteru Collective Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

dear Ta fari they wher discusing the same thing on the medical forum but they may actually right because different tribes were worshiping the same dieties in there language,look at the scrpt in the documentry if you freeze it and look at it you will see that those are hebrew(heberu) alphabet letters Those people were hebrew and they were using letters from different hebrew tribes which could have suggested integration of the tribes under one group,due tto the attemp to wip them out I will find that post,it was the nubians who were the true biblical hebrews not the jews or ... with long beards they were the invader who learnt some of their doctine

In the\_paut\_neteru@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>

> dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

>

> Alex van Deelen wrote: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

>

> <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

>

> Alex

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

>

>

> -----

> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24647|2008-01-28 21:31:48|cristofori whitakara|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24648|2008-01-29 06:56:53|Peter Gray|Re: Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Yout|

In the article about "Controversy ....., the argument is made that modern Egyptians bear great genetic resemblance to European and/or Asian phenotypes than sub-Saharan/tropical African peoples. So what's new?!! The modern (Arab) Egyptians, like Zahi H., arrived around 711 AD as part of Mohammed's invading hordes, so who would expect them to resemble black Africans?

Unless you read the article carefully, you might think they are arguing against the Afrocentric claim that dynastic Egypt was a black African civilisation.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoo.com

From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Date: Sun, 27 Jan 2008 20:53:02 -0800

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube))

read some of 1st article,,, very interesting!

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Hi Yvette,

> This comes about with an National Geographic newsletter, > that stated only Nubians ruled for 75 yrs in Egypt. The > spell is broken, and the Truth has been told.

And not only were the 25th Dynasty Nubian and Black, egyptologists are admitting the Nubian origin of pre-dynastic Egypt as well. That is what is much more interesting - that mainstream academics for ages have linked the Pre-Dynastic Egyptians with Nubia and 'Sub-Saharan' Africa. Even C. Loring Brace (see link below).

This is an article I came across. I don't like any article that starts out with a blanket condemnation of Afrocentrists - such a blanket condemnation is neither objective nor scientific. However, it does mention the misstatements of for instance Zahi Hawass, who claimed that Tut was 'Caucasoid'. (Which in my book alone would disqualify him from holding any position to do with egyptology.)

This article also makes the mistake of trying to link Ancient Egyptians with 'Tropical Africans', whatever that may mean. Instead, they should have looked to link Ancient Egyptians with ancient Nubians, who after all are their neighbors.

Find out about volunteering to AllExperts

Controversy over racial characteristics of Ancient Egyptians: Encyclopedia BETA

http://en.allexperts.com/e/c/co/controversy\_over\_racial\_characteristics\_of\_ancient\_egyptians.htm

In another article, in the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form

C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A. Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/ modern ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

Interesting overview of Pre-Dynastic Egypt at Wikipedia:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Predynastic\_Egypt#Precursors\_to\_the\_Predynastic

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.
| 24649|2008-01-29 08:13:53|shaimesh@aol.com|Re: DO IT!!!!!!!!!!|

From: Khonsugo@aol.com

Ee em htp,

I just was thinking. I want to send an email out to everybody to boycott everything that is not of our culture for at least one month. Commit to one month, if you make a mistake here and there keep going, however failure is not an option. The purpose is to slowly start to retrain our minds for our natural paradigm. Go the mom and pops stores and get your clothing, buy black(not conglomerate owned), go to places like uptown juice bar, raw soul, patty shops or cook, leave fast food chains alone. Watch as many black films as possible, one good film is called Kirikou. Retrain your thought!

Our culture is not lost we just have to utilize it. Please send this email to all your melanite people or should I say Khemetyu (Black People). If you have any questions, need advice or have comments on how to make this work please feel free to email me.

Do not treat this email like them little cherub I love you inspiration emails or chain mail. We want to break the chain and reconnect to the circle.

Ankh Udja Seneb
Life Vitality Health

Jaja N Medjay Nkht-Htp

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24650|2008-01-29 09:02:27|Milton E. Moore Bey|Re: Proud of Barack as a Black Man!|

Islam Moors,

The Type of Leadership That America Needs!

Here are 11 very important questions to ask any one who is running for the office of President of the United States of America, if he or she answers no to numbers 1-10 and yes to number 11, then he or she lives by the Divine Principles of Love, Truth, Peace, Freedom and Justice and deserving of the seat of President of the Great Country:

1. Have you ever voted to raise taxes?
2. Have you ever voted for an unbalanced budget?
3. Have you ever voted for a federal restriction on gun ownership?
4. Have you ever voted to raise congressional pay?
5. Have you ever taken a government-paid junket?
6. Have you ever voted to increase the power of the executive branch?
7. Did you vote in support of the Patriot Act?
8. Did you vote in support of regulating the Internet?
9. Did you vote in support of the Iraq war?
10. Do you participate in the lucrative congressional pension program?
11. Do you return a portion of your annual congressional office budget to the U.S. treasury every year?

America needs a President that is a leading advocate for freedom in our nation's capital. America needs some one who will work tirelessly for limited constitutional government, low taxes, free markets, and a return to sound monetary policies. Even though limited-government ideals are not popular in Washington, it is what America needs to be the Great Country that the Prophet Noble Drew Ali speaks about.

America needs a leader that is a strong advocate for sound monetary policy and one who is an outspoken critic of the Federal Reserve's inflationary measures. He or She must be an unwavering advocate of pro-life and pro-family values. He or she must be one that will consistently voted to lower or abolish federal taxes, spending and regulation, and used his seat of power to actively promote the return of government to its proper constitutional levels.

I can not express it enough that America's new leader must be one who continues to advocate a dramatic reduction in the size of the federal government and a return to constitutional principles. He or she must be one that personifies the Founding Fathers' ideal of the citizen-statesman. He or she must be one that makes it clear that his or her principles will never be compromised. He or she must be one that through thick and thin, rain or shine, stick to their principles.

Peace
Bro. M. Moore Bey

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Pearl Jr wrote:

>

> Well Well Well, if I agree with Obama on 75 percent of the issues that is a majority of my concerns, which is fantastic! The reason for the 25 percent allowance of disagreement is because I, as a layman, may not understand the inner workings of each criteria that makes up a certain decision.

>

> I know Obama is what this country needs and yes, I am so very proud that he is a Black man with a Black wife and Black children. I don't fall for the "White opinion" that tells me that I should negate his Blackness so to prove to non-Blacks that I'm not favoring him because he is Black.

>

> I will never apologize for loving Blackness, because the trickery in this "support because he is Black like me" trick is due to White HAVING ONLY VOTED FOR WHITES BECAUSE THEY WERE WHITE LIKE THEM.

>

> I don't have to prove I'm not a racist, White people do!

>

> So let's not get this twisted and continue to fall for this diversionary manipulation that aims to make us AGAIN and AGAIN apologize for loving and supporting a people that look like our own children.

>

> "BARACK OBAMA AIN'T NO FLAVA FLAV" if I can borrow a quote from Arsenio Hall.

>

> Mr. Obama is qualified, highly educated, experienced as an elected official since 1997 (Hillary only since 2000), and upon graduation from Harvard Law School (just as with Michelle Obama), Barack went to work for $13,000 a year on the southside of Chicago instead of taking offers from prestigious law firms for more $100,000 annually.

>

> If you'd like to see my interview with Hill Harper (attended Harvard with Barack) and Tyson Beckford, go to youtube.com and search for Pearl Jr and Hill Harper or Pearl Jr and Tyson Beckford.

>

> Black folks stop with allowing mainstream America distance his Blackness from ours. He is Black, but he has to be a President for all of America and I ain't mad at him for that.

>
> TOGETHER WE MUST CHANGE THE WORLD.
>
> Much love for my beloved people,
>
> Pearl Jr.
>
>
> www.BlackWomenNeedLoveToo.com
>

| 24651|2008-01-29 09:05:31|clyde winters|Re: Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Yout|

Good Observation Peter.

Clyde

--- Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com> wrote:

>
> In the article about "Controversy .....", the argument > is made that modern Egyptians bear great genetic > resemblance to European and/or Asian phenotypes > than sub-Saharan/tropical African peoples. So > what's new?!! Thw modern (Arab) Egyptians, like Zahi > H., arrived around 711 AD as part of Mohammed's > invading hordes, so who would expect them to > resemble black Africans?
>
> Unless you read the article carefully, you might > think they are arguing against the Afrocentric claim > that dynastic Egypt was a black African > civilisation.
>
> Peter
>
>
>
> To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com From:
> tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com Date: Sun, 27 Jan 2008
> 20:53:02 -0800 Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Pre-Dynastic > Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil > (Youtube))
>
>
>

>
 > read some of 1st article,,, very interesting!Alex > van Deelen <avdeelen@wanadoo.nl> wrote:
 >
 >
 > Hi Yvette,> This comes about with an National > Geographic newsletter,> that stated only Nubians > ruled for 75 yrs in Egypt. The> spell is broken, and > the Truth has been told.And not only were the 25th > Dynasty Nubian and Black,egyptologists are admitting > the Nubian origin ofpre-dynastic Egypt as well. That > is what is much moreinteresting - that mainstream > academics for ages have linked the Pre-Dynastic > Egyptians with Nubia and'Sub-Saharan' Africa. Even > C. Loring Brace (see link below).This is an article
 > I came across. I don't like any articlethat starts > out with a blanket condemnation ofAfrocentrists - > such a blanket condemnation is neitherobjective nor > scientific. However, it does mention > themisstatements of for instance Zahi Hawass, who > claimedthat Tut was 'Caucasoid'. (Which in my book > alone woulddisqualify him from holding any position > to do withegyptology.)This article also makes the > mistake of trying to linkAncient Egyptians with > 'Tropical Africans', whateverthat may mean. Instead, > they should have lookedto link Ancient Egyptians > with ancient Nubians, whoafter all are their > neighbors.Find out about volunteering to > AllExpertsControversy over racial characteristics of > Ancient Egyptians:
 >

EncyclopediaBETAhttp://en.allexperts.com/e/c/co/controversy\_over\_racial\_characteristics\_of\_ancient\_egyptians.htmIn > another article, in the words of C. Loring Brace, "

 > It is a furthersurprise that the Epipalaeolithic > Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithicrealm was > assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan > Africa. "The questionable contribution of the > Neolithic and the Bronze Age toEuropean craniofacial > formC. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B.
 > Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A.Russell Nelson,? Sotiris > K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??Many human > craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral > adaptivesignificance, and an analysis of their

- > variation can serve as an indication of the extent to
- > which any given population is genetically related to
- > or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial
- > measurements of a series of human populations are
- > used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it
- > is no surprise that all modern European groups,
- > ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern
- > Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the - > Middle East, show that they are closely related to
- > each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic
- > peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors
- > are not closely related to the modern inhabitants,
- > although the prehistoric/modernities are somewhat
- > more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further
- > surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel
- > from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise
- > has a clear link to Sub-Saharan
- >

Africa. <http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007> Interesting

- > overview of Pre-Dynastic Egypt at
- >

Wikipedia: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Predynastic\_Egypt#Precursors\_to\_the\_Predynastic

- >
- >
- > Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
- >
- >
- > Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
- >
- >
- >
- >
- >
- >
- >
- >

---

- > Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need
- > your Hotmail-get your "fix".
- > <http://www.msnmobilefix.com/Default.aspx>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

| 24652|2008-01-29 10:47:55|cristofori whitakara|runoko rashidi in australia|

the articles reminds me of chavez, when the black people of australia ask the brother do u want our help.

LIVENEWS.com.au Ch'z urges 'anti-imperialist' military alliance

SmaiTawi@yahoogroups.com wrote:

Smai Tawi (UNITY)

Messages In This Digest (1 Message)

1.

INTERACTIONS WITH ABORIGINAL AUSTRALIANS From: Runoko Rashidi

View All Topics | Create New Topic

Message

1.

---

INTERACTIONS WITH ABORIGINAL AUSTRALIANS

Posted by: "Runoko Rashidi" Runoko@yahoo.com runoko
Tue Jan29,2008 6:16am (PST)

THE GLOBAL AFRICAN COMMUNITY

TRAVELNOTES

HANGING WITH THE BLACKFELLAS DOWN UNDER

By RUNOKO RASHIDI
DEDICATED TO DR. GRACELYN SMALLWOOD

PART 1

A FEW BRIEF COMMENTS

On 19 November 1998 I boarded a Qantas airlines flight from Los Angeles to Sydney, Australia. It was to be my first trip to Australia and the flight lasted fourteen hours. Thirty minutes after going through customs in Sydney I boarded a connecting flight to Darwin, Northern Territory in Australia's 'top end.'

My interest in the Black people of Australia (known generally as "Aborigines" ) began as a young college student in the early 1970s when I chanced to read an article in the Los Angeles Times about the brutal treatment meted out to Australia's aboriginal people by the English convicts, administrators, soldiers and missionaries who landed in Sydney's Botany Bay beginning in January 1788. The article told of scores of Black people tossed to their deaths from high cliffs, and rewards being offered for the scalps of Black men, women and children. All of this and more I was later to confirm for myself. During the nineteenth century, for example, it was not uncommon for Whites to shoot Black people for use as dog food. Indeed, during certain periods of marshal law it was not a crime to murder a Black man. Sometimes an entire family of Black people would be rounded up by Whites. In front of his family the Black man would be handcuffed and then castrated. His head would then be cut off and strung around the widow's neck who would then be brutally gang-raped. Following this the children would be buried in the earth up to their heads. White men would then, with the mother of the children forced to watch, kick and club their heads off. Black people were given blankets infected with small pox virus. Their waterholes were poisoned. They were infected, women and children, with venereal diseases. It was only in 1967 that Aboriginal people in Australia were considered human. Today, the Black people of Australia constitute 1.6% of the total population but Black men make up 70% of the prison population. Black women make up 50% of the total prison population. The life expectancy for a Black man in Australia is forty-five years. The infant mortality rate is among the highest in the world.

PART 2

THE STOLEN GENERATIONS

On Saturday afternoon, November 21 1998 I landed in Darwin at the far top end of Australia's Northern Territory. Darwin, named after Charles Darwin and with a tropical climate, is a city of 70,000 people about 25% of which are Black. Darwin was to be the initial leg of my Australian travel adventure and it was here that I met Aboriginal people in Australia for the first time. The first Black people I saw were sitting in several groups on the floor of the airport's lower level. They were very dark with straight to wavy black hair and paid me not the slightest attention. I was later told that I shouldn't take their seeming indifference personally; that it was "a cultural thing."

I was met at the airport by two Black women whose job was "to take care of all of my needs." These sisters were Ms. Jacqui Katona and Ms. Christine Christophoson- -two hard core activists who more or less introduced me to Black Australia. They checked me into a local hotel, fed me and introduced me to their families. After a relatively uneventful night in Darwin on Sunday morning Christine drove me to Jabiru in Kakadu National Park. Kakadu is on Aboriginal land and it was here that I learned that Aboriginal people regard themselves as "the custodians of the land." Kakadu is magnificent country and quite rightly regarded by many Australians as a national treasure. It was also in Jabiru where I became acquainted for the first time with the "Stolen Generations. "

The "Stolen Generations" refers to those Black people who were abducted by White Christian missionaries beginning about 1905. By 1911 virtually all Australian states had legislated for the removal of Aboriginal children from their families. Tasmania was the exception, denying it actually had an indigenous population. An estimated 40,000 Aboriginal children, particularly the lighter-skinned children, were removed from their families this century. Under this legislation government officials acting under the authority of the Chief Protector or the relevant Welfare Board had absolute power over Aboriginal children and could simply order the removal of an Aboriginal child from their family without having to prove to a court that the child was neglected. In many cases this legislation permitted the removal of Aboriginal children on the grounds of race alone. The children were taken from their families and brought up largely as slaves in White foster homes and on Christian missions. The dominant ethos was that there was nothing of value in Aboriginal culture--all the value lay in European culture. Once removed the children were forbidden any contact with their families. Removed children were not allowed to know anything about their origins or their Aboriginal heritage. Any violation of this rule was met with severe floggings. Black children were told that their families had died or had abandoned them. Their names were changed. They were forbidden to speak their indigenous languages. They were forced to wear European clothes and adopt European diets. They were actually forced to wear dog tags for purposes of identification and were daily humiliated. Black families lived in constant fear for the children who might be taken away--and constant grief for those already gone.

There is not a single Black family in Australia that has not been affected by the Stolen Generations. In Kakadu I actually met many of the victims of this cruel government policy and heard their stories first hand. Unfortunately this extremely cruel process continues even now.

PART 3

ALICE SPRINGS

At noon on 24 November 1998 I left Darwin and flew to Alice Springs--a relatively small city in the very center of Australia. This part of Australia is sometimes called "the red center" and I must say that the soil itself has a dull orange-reddish hue with sparse vegetation and strange rock formations.

In Alice Springs I was met by representatives of the Central Land Council. They were extremely polite but seemed a little uncertain as to how to act towards me. Very few of the Aboriginal people of Australia that I met on the trip had had much experience with Black folk from America and they knew almost nothing of me personally. They only knew that "an African professor from the United States was coming to Australia and wanted to visit them." The "African professor" will be eternally grateful to them for I must say that it seems that every brother and sister that I met in Australia looked after me, and once they knew something about me became very anxious to talk with me. With two sisters I toured the city of Alice Springs; visiting every institution and facility directly affiliated with or run by Blackfellas.

Perhaps the highlight of my visit to Alice Springs was a tour of a women's Center. The center was for Aboriginal women, many of whom had been the victims of domestic abuse. Domestic abuse is a major problem in Aboriginal communities in Australia and much of it stems from massive alcohol and drug abuse. Such is the degree of despair and hopelessness among them that many Aboriginal people seemed determined to drink and drug themselves into a state of complete of oblivion. In the women's center I was introduced to many sisters, including two women of about fifty, although they looked much older. Life had not been very kind to them. Through a translator I asked them many questions. Questions like where they were born, their life stories, their goals, etc. At first they patiently answered my questions, but all at once they began to ask me all the questions! Basically they wanted to know who I was, what I was, what I wanted and why! It soon became extremely obvious to me that these sisters, who probably spoke for most of the Black people in Australia, knew almost nothing of their brethren in America. So I told them our story. I talked to them at length of mighty African empires and how we came to America. I talked to them of our enslavement and the door of no return. I told them how our families were separated and how our names were changed and how we were forbidden to speak our own languages. These sisters became more and more agitated and told me that they had never heard anything of what I was telling them. It was a very emotional experience. I told them of our struggle for justice and some of our great leaders. I then told the sisters in some detail about lynchings in America and they started to become visibly disturbed. It was at that time that one of them stopped my narrative and questioned me in a sad and plaintive way. She asked, "do you want us to help you?" It was my turn to wipe away the tears.

ULURU NATIONAL PARK

Of all the international trips that I've taken, my visit to Australia during November and December 1998 is very hard to top. It was a unique experience. Indeed, there were times on the trip that I momentarily thought that I was in another world. Rather than the primitive people that the Blackfellas are often portrayed to be, they turned out to be for me the most complex and spiritually profound brothers and sisters that I've ever encountered or read about. Truly, Australia was both a delightful and vividly insightful experience. I felt continually that the ancestors were with me--guiding and protecting me, keeping me safe and strong. I prayed regularly and passionately and had few worries along the way.

On 26 November I flew from Alice Springs to Uluru. White folks commonly call Uluru "Ayers Rock." Uluru was one of the places on the trip that was not on my original itinerary but, certainly, I had hoped to travel there from the very beginning and I was prepared for it. Uluru is 273 miles from Alice Springs and I was the last person to board the plane. Naturally, I was the only Black man on the flight. That was the norm for the trip.

After a very short Qantas flight I departed the plane with the hope that someone would be at the airport to meet me. After about an hour sister Joann Wilmot, accompanied by a another lady, swooped me up. It didn't take me long to realize that the brothers and sisters in Australia, apparently like brothers and sisters everywhere, had their own sense of time!

Because I had no idea as to where I would be lodging Joann, who was a kind of Aboriginal director for Uluru and the designated person to escort me around, invited me, if I had no problem with the idea, "to stay with a Blackfella." It sounded good to me. Once again, I was in the company of two Black women. And because I'm a brother who happens to adore African females I was quite content and felt in good company.

Aboriginal people attach great spiritual significance to Uluru. It is one of the world's largest monoliths and rises more than 1,100 feet from the flatness of the surrounding plain. More impressive than its size, though, is its color--a brown to bright glowing red that changes throughout the day. About forty miles from Uluru lies another fascinating rock formation--Kata Tjuta. Indeed, some view Kata Tjuta as even more spectacular than Uluru. Uluru, however, as it was my understanding, is viewed by at least by many Aboriginal people, as the "navel of the world" and the center of creation. Although many visitors climb on top of Uluru I was forbidden to even touch it! With Ms. Wilmot I drove around Uluru and heard "dreamtime stories" of the beginning of the world.

Within a couple hundred yards of Uluru lies an Aboriginal community forbidden to non-Aboriginal people. Signs warning trespassers to stay out were liberally posted. Well, I didn't see myself as a tourist, and quite naturally, it was the place where I most wanted to go, and sister Joann was only too happy to take me there. Indeed, she was the person in charge and was gently deferred to within the community.

Although I ached to be with my brothers and sisters I had found in Kakadu National Park that an Aboriginal community, for me, wasn't always the most pleasant place to be. Squalor, disease and poverty were the rule. I have to say that Black children running around dirty and naked with mucous running down their faces is not a endearing sight but it is reality.

After touring the community Joann invited me to dinner. She asked me if I had any preferences and because I felt lucky to even be there naturally I said, "well sister, anything that you cook will be just fine for me." And then she told me that we'd have kangaroo tail and a whole host of second thoughts ran through my mind! She was determined to treat me to a real delicacy and all the polite excuses from me about her not going to any trouble were fruitless. As a result three large kangaroo tales (which she called "whippers") were purchased from the company store. She even shut down her office a little early--just for me! She then picked up her "skin mother" and granddaughter. We were going to have a feast.

To cook the kangaroo tails she accumulated quite a bit of dry wood and started a fire. As the fire began to blaze the whippers were tossed on top. They were purchased frozen and the fire would warm them up and burn the hair off. Suddenly I was not hungry, but, again, my protests that I didn't want to be the source of so much fuss got me nowhere. After about fifteen minutes on the fire the whippers were taken off the fire and the hair scrapped off with a knife. Where the fire had been a hole was dug, the whippers placed in the hole, the burning wood put on top of the hole and an hour later dinner was ready.

Uluru National Park is wonderful place and the Blackfellas were extremely friendly to me. In July 2000 I plan to take a group of brothers and sisters there to see Uluru and Kata Tjuta and the Aboriginal community. And while I will remain forever grateful to sister Joann Wilmot for her hospitality, the next time the dinner menu will be decidedly different.

POSTSCRIPT

THE BLACKFELLAS DOWN UNDER

The above article was written in December 1998. I had just returned to the United States from Australia and I was still very much floating on something of a cloud. Australia was such a phenomenal experience for me that I was determined to put at least some aspects of the trip down on the record for posterity. As it turned out I only told a part of the story. There was just so much, for varying reasons, that I left out. I wrote four sections covering about two thirds of the trip and then ran completely out of steam.

Since my return from Australia in 1998 I have journeyed to an additional two-dozen countries and in July 2000 returned to Australia in our ongoing global search for African people and African connections. From this experience, I am happy to say, has come a great deal of personal growth and development. And so now, in July 2001, as I prepare for my next big trip and with an extra bit of time on my hands it seems like a golden opportunity to engage in some additional reflection about my Australian adventure, supplement some of this current travel narrative, and add a more fitting conclusion to one of my favorite travel notes.

Besides my life long interest in the Black people of Australia, the major reason for my 1998 travel there was to attend the Second World Indigenous Pathways Conference. This was a historic event sponsored by the Kumbari/Ngurpai Lag Higher Education Center at the University of Southern Queensland, Toowoomba, Australia, and was held from November 28 to December 4, 1998. My participation in the Conference came after having met Dr. Gracelyn Smallwood. Sister Gracelyn, from Queensland, Australia, is a wonderful woman, a good friend, and perhaps the most dedicated and dynamic of all of the Indigenous Australians that I have met. To me, she is the absolute Queen of Australia and she was certainly the driving force behind the Conference.

The Second World Indigenous Pathways Conference was designed to present the opportunity for Indigenous and non-Indigenous people from around the world to engage in discourse about such issues as identity, culture, reconciliation, multiculturalism and social activism. The previous conference, in 1996 (to which I was also invited but could not attend because of a major scheduling conflict), drew together a cross-section of high profile participants from Australia's Indigenous peoples and oppressed groups from around the world.

The theme of the 1998 Conference was "Pathways: Journeys of Discovery within Diversity." The program was dedicated to identifying the topics: what it means to be Australian, civil rights and social activism in the struggle for a socially just society, Indigenous universities, ancient cultures, the identification of oppressed groups, reconciliation, youth perceptions of the struggle for justice, and wisdom and knowledge of the Elders. Rather than call for papers the Conference organizers decided to invite speakers to address the topics and follow the presentations with discussion panels. For reasons that I never did quite fully understand I was invited to speak on the U.S. civil rights movement. For me, however, it didn't really matter so much the topic that I was to speak on but that I was finally getting to go to Australia. That is what I was happy about. All I knew is that a wish of a lifetime was about to be fulfilled.

Well, suffice to say, I gave a very good speech. It was about forty minutes in length and, for once, I did not use any visual aids. As a matter of fact, the majority of the speech only touched on civil rights in a peripheral manner. I began by talking about the origins of humanity (Black people), the spread of these early Black people around the world (including Australia), the rise of classical African civilizations, the coming of the white man, and the international subjugation and forced dispersal of Black people. Only then did I talk about the U.S. civil rights and Black power movements. I judged the audience and decided that this was what most needed to be heard. I was totally uncompromising, I was extremely well received, and I was most satisfied with my presentation. I believe that you would have been proud.

The Second Pathways Conference was definitely an international event. There were contingents from southern Sudan, Hawaii, New Zealand, Canada, Barbados, and four African-Americans, including myself and the great Dr. Tony Martin from Wellesley College, Massachusetts. One sister came from Drexel University, while another came from Harvard. There was also a high-powered delegation from South Africa, including Rev. Makhenkesi Stofile (Premier of Eastern Cape Province) and the two youngest sons (Samora and Hlumelo) of Steven Biko. They were all interesting and engaging and a great pleasure to be around. Most interesting, though, were the Blackfellas themselves. I was particularly impressed with brother Murandoo Yanner (a dedicated young activist from northern Queensland), Charles Perkins (a pioneer Black Australian civil rights activist and now an Ancestor), Gary Foley (a Koori activist in Victoria), Errol West (a Black Tasmanian and a noted poet), and, of course, Dr. Smallwood herself. The most poignant part of the Conference were the stories of actual survivors of the Stolen Generations, white supremacy and police brutality. Accounts of Black deaths in police custody in many parts of Australia aroused great anger and fierce indignation. On the other hand, there was hardly a dry eye in the auditorium when the life stories of Stolen Generations survivors were recited and relayed. These were heart-rending narratives of children being torn from Aboriginal parents and never united again. Their stories haunt me still. The Conference, altogether, was an experience never to be forgotten.

Following the Second World Indigenous Pathways Conference I left Queensland and journeyed south to New South Wales to the cities of Sydney and Canberra. The Sydney visit was highlighted by multiple visits to Redfern--the downtrodden but heroic Black community sometimes called the "Harlem of Australia." In Canberra I visited the Aboriginal Embassy and paid more respect to the traditional owners of the land. In both cases I was guided and accompanied by another impressive sister--Isabel Coe. Sister Isabel (like Dr. Smallwood and several of the women that I met in Australia) is a wonderful and dedicated Aboriginal activist. Being in the presence of these sisters was a great honor and I shall never forget their warmth, dedication, commitment and hospitality.

I left Australia with the distinct impression that the Blackfellas were a very special people, a highly spiritual people and real survivors of the storm. In spite of all the setbacks that they have suffered at the hands of Europeans they refuse to accept the concept of final defeat. They believe that they have been fighting an unrelenting war of survival for more than two centuries against the white invaders of the land down under. I will never forget a conversation I had towards the end of my trip with several sisters and brothers in Redfern. I was a real curiosity and a bona fide celebrity during my visit, and was treated with great respect and courtesy. I asked them what they knew of Black folk outside of Australia. They told me that most of their knowledge of African-Americans was derived via the television. They said that they saw us on TV or from afar but most of them had never had the opportunity to actually interact with one close up and intimate. We all learned a lot from the interaction and enjoyed the opportunity. At one point I halted the conversation and told them that I did not believe that Africans in America had been captured and enslaved and taken away from home for no reason. I told them that I believe that we have a special mission and purpose. I then paused and looked around the room and asked them collectively "do you believe that you a have a mission and destiny in life" "Yes," they told me, "to have one last dust up with the white man to get our land back." I couldn't help but let go a broad smile of great satisfaction. These, indeed, were truly my sisters and brothers.

Return to the GLOBAL AFRICAN PRESENCE Home Page

Copyright 1998 Runoko Rashidi. All rights reserved.

Revised: October 19, 2001.

Webpage design: Kenneth Ritchards

Back to top

Reply to sender | Reply to group | Reply via web post

Messages in this topic (1)

RECENT ACTIVITY

• 5

New Members

• 5

New Links

• 3

New Files

Visit Your Group

Special K Group

on Yahoo! Groups

Join the challenge and lose weight.

Connect w/Parents

on Yahoo! Groups

Get support and share information.

Y! Groups blog

the best source

for the latest scoop on Groups.

Need to Reply?

Click one of the "Reply" links to respond to a specific message in the Daily Digest.

Create New Topic | Visit Your Group on the Web

Messages | Files | Photos | Links | Polls | Calendar

MARKETPLACE

Earn your degree in as few as 2 years - Advance your career with an AS, BS, MS degree - College-Finder.net.

YAHOO! GROUPS

Change settings via the Web (Yahoo! ID required)

Change settings via email: Switch delivery to Individual | Switch format to Traditional

Visit Your Group | Yahoo! Groups Terms of Use | Unsubscribe

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24653|2008-01-29 14:40:40|shaimesh@aol.com|Welcome To The Black Liberation Radio
"Live" Chat Rooms (Dr. Ray Hag|
From:truthcenter@aol.com

Hotep Sisters & Brothers,

Everyday that I awaken, I give thanks and praises to the Almighty for allowing methe privilege of being an instrument in the liberation, resurrection and empowerment of our people. Our stats for the month of January showed that we had over 35,000 log ons for the month of January!!! All I can say to that isthe Mother/Father Creative Force of the universe is AWESOME (and even thatword is so inadequate to express what I really want to say).

Sisters & Brothers, this email comes as an announcement about our "LIVE CHAT ROOMS" that are now available for you to use anytime you wish. Chat rooms are a very powerful tool because they provide "real-time" interaction with others in a safe, clean environmentwith others of like mind. It's a great place to share your views, have discussions, schedule meetings, and get to know one another in a "real-time" format. THAT'S RIGHT...IN REAL TIME!
That means that you don't have to wait for someone to reply to an email because they are actually talkingwith you as you type (or speak if you havethat capability).

Black Liberation Radio has THOUSANDS of listeners and I am convinced that we are being used by the Almighty to return us back to the awareness and empowerment of our-Afrikan-selves. Since we have such a vast audience, I felt that it would be a great asset to our WBLR community if we could have access to communicate with each other 24 hours a day, 7 days a week (from anywhere in the world). And for this purpose, I have created a list of chat rooms for your interests.

Now, I need to appoint moderators for these various rooms. The responsibility of the moderators will be to help maintain balance, harmony and order in our chat rooms so that we will constantly reflect the standards and principles of Black Liberation Radio & The Afrikan Village at all times.

So, if you are knowledgeable in the area of a particular chat room(s) and would like to serve as a "Moderator," please forward an email to me with a short bio of yourself and why you would like to be a moderator of a particular chat room(s). Sisters & Brothers, I really do need your help at this point. This ministry/movement is much larger than me, and I can only do but so much. So, those of you who have been listening to WBLR for a while now, come on and share your growth with others.

If you would like to serve as a chat room "Moderator," send me an email at: liberationradio@aol.com and I will reply ASAP. Also, if you think that we should add a chat room for a particular interest, please let me know that as well.

In addition to this, if you will take notice of the tabs across the top of the website, you will see that we are building a WBLR "Business Directory." In order for us to establish and maintain reputable, Black owned businesses, we MUST put in place a vehicle that will make our businesses accessible to our people without the high costs of overhead expenses for them.

Our sisters and brothers who are regular listeners and supporters of WBLR, and have products and services that will help to enhance the quality of life for our people, need to have a platform that will expose their products and services to the thousands of our people at a glance. It's time for us to stop talking about supporting Black Businesses and doing it...but it's hard to do it if our people don't know about your business.

Therefore, we are going to begin to populate the WBLR Business Directory within the next couple of weeks. I hope that you can see the vision...elevate in 2008!

For our liberation,
Dr. Ray Hagins

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24654|2008-01-29 18:49:26|shaimesh@aol.com|LECTURE THIS SUNDAY IN NEWARK NJ
@ 12pm sharp - Hem Ntr Ra Sankhu Kh|

Attachments :

From:resurrectedsun@gmail.com

E EM HETEPU MER KEMAU ( I come offering you all peace and satisfaction to you beloved black people) This is the monent you all been waiting for. A chance to hear Jersey's own Kemetic Master Teacher, Hem NTR Ra Sankhu Kheper. We are located at the legendary Waset Kommuniversitry South 9th.st. Newark, NJ. Please be on time!! You don't want to miss this lecture. Shem em Hetep Musaa r Kheper

*** Donations Welcome***

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24655|2008-01-30 00:47:11|Asar Imhotep|Update on the Aryan Invasion Debate by Koenraad Elst|

I thought this would be interesting given the recent discussion on Nagas and snake worship among ancient civilizations.

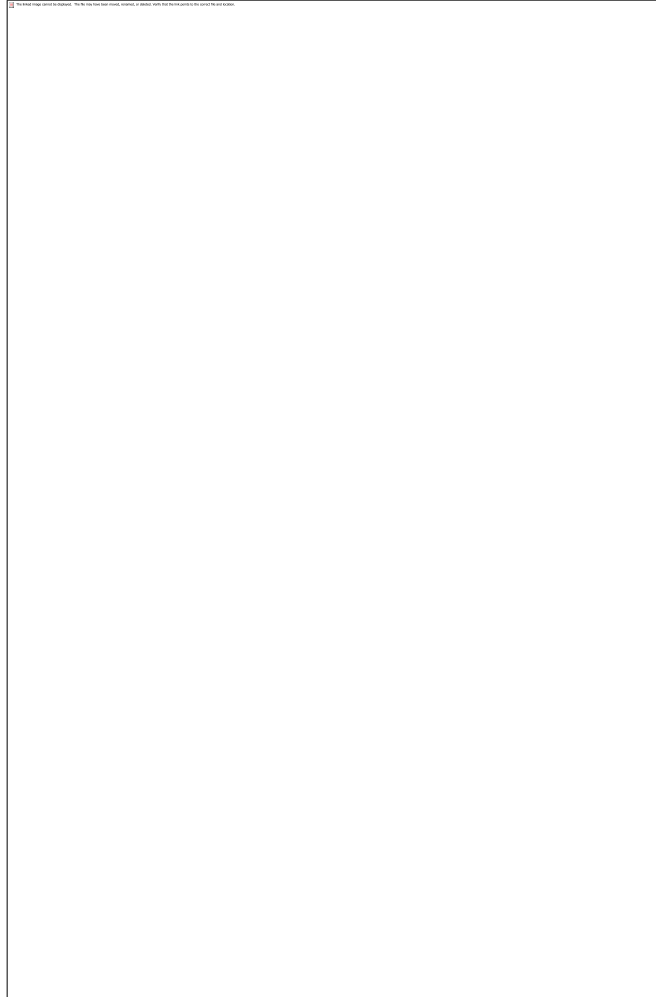

=====

<http://www.bharatvani.org/books/ait/ch54.htm>

UPDATE ON THE ARYAN INVASION DEBATE

by KOENRAAD ELST
Aditya Prakashan, New Delhi

---

5. Some new arguments

5.4. LINGUISTIC ARGUMENTS

5.4.1. East-Asian influences

Bernard Sergent traces practically all Indian language families to foreign origins. He confirms the East-Asian origins of both the Tibeto-Burmese languages (Lepcha, Naga, Mizo etc.) and the Austro-Asiatic languages (Santal, Munda, Khasi etc.). Though many tribals in central and southern India are the biological progeny of India's oldest human inhabitants, their adopted languages are all of foreign origin. To Sergent, this is true of not only Austro-Asiatic and Indo-Aryan, but also of Dravidian.

The Himalayan branch of the Sino-Tibetan language family, distinct from Tibetan, already has a very long but inconspicuous presence in northern India. Originating in China, this group of now very small languages once embraced parts of the northern plains. Of greater historical importance is the Austro-Asiatic family, which Sergent describes as once the predominant one in a continuous area from Central India to Vietnam, but now reduced to a series of pockets in between the riverine population centres dominated by the immigrant Thai and Tibeto-Burmese languages (originating in western and ultimately in northern China) and in India by the Indo-Aryan languages.

He follows those scholars who consider the Central-Indian language isolate Nahali (assumed by its few students to be the original language of the western-Indian Bhils) as also belonging to the Austro-Asiatic family.<sup>86</sup> This view is emphatically not shared by F.B.J. Kuiper, who lists 123 items of core vocabulary not reducible to Austro-Asiatic, Dravidian or IE roots, and calculates that ?about 24 per cent of the Nahali vocabulary has no correspondence whatever in India?.<sup>87</sup> If Kuiper is wrong, it would mean that as per the prevalent theories, not a single living language in the subcontinent (except for the peripheral languages Burushaski and Andamanese, at least for now) is indigenous.

Sergent is merely following in others' footsteps when he assumes that mayUra, 'peacock?', gaja, 'elephant?', karpAsa, 'cotton?', and other Sanskrit fauna or flora terms are loans from Austro-Asiatic.<sup>88</sup> In most such cases, the only ground for this assumption is that similar-sounding words exist in the Munda languages of Chotanagpur, languages which have not been committed to writing before the 19th century. Chances are that in the intervening millennia, when these words were attested in Sanskrit but not necessarily in Munda, they were borrowed from Indo-Aryan into Munda, or from an extinct language into both. At any rate, the hypothesis of an Austro-Asiatic origin should only be accepted in case the term is also attested in non-Indian branches such as Khmer.

The alleged loans only start appearing in the 10th and youngest book of the Rg-Veda and really break through in the Brahmanas. Sergent follows the classical interpretation, viz. that this shows how the Vedic Aryans gradually moved east, encountering the Austro-Asiatic speakers in the Ganga basin. While I am not convinced of the existence of more than a few Munda terms in Sanskrit (more in the adjoining Indo-Aryan Prakrits: Hindi, Bengali, Oriya), I would agree that there are other Munda influences, notably in mythology, as we shall discuss separately. Non-invasionists will have to account for this Munda contribution.

Here too, I suggest that chronology is all-important. It is quite possible that Munda had not arrived in India at the time of the Rg-Veda. When the Harappans migrated eastward (as demographically expansive populations do), or when the post-Harappans fled eastward from the disaster area which the Indus-Saraswati basin had become, the Munda-speaking people they encountered in eastern Uttar Pradesh and Bihar may have been re-cent immigrants. All the same, it remains possible that for local flora and fauna, the Indo-Aryans did adopt some Munda terminology.

Broadly, the Austro-Asiatic expansion from the agricultural civilization of Thailand can be compared with the gradual spread of the Old European Neolithic from Anatolia and the Balkans to the far corners of Europe, and with the spread of India's Northwestern Neolithic to the rest of the subcontinent. In that case, the Munda-speaking farmers in the eastern Ganga basin must have assimilated into the Indo-Aryan population, with only the peripheral populations in the hills retaining their imported languages. This Munda contribution is by no means incompatible with a native status of IE, and even Hindu nationalists should welcome it as a factor of national integration across linguistic frontiers.

5.4.2. Is Dravidian native to India?

In one of his most innovative chapters, Sergent reviews all the evidence of Dravido-African and Dravido-Uralic kinship. In African languages spoken in the entire Sahel belt, from Sudan to Senegal, numerous semantic and grammatical elements are found which also exist in Dravidian. The similarity with the Uralic languages (Finnish, Hungarian, Samoyedic) is equally pronounced. Sergent offers the hypothesis that at the dawn of the Neolithic Revolution (start of agriculture, some 10,000 years ago), the Dravidians left the Sudan, one band splitting off in Iran to head north to the Urals, the others entering India and moving south.

Within this scenario of a Dravidian immigration, it is tempting to speculate that upon entering India, the Dravidians first of all founded the Indus civilization. Surprisingly, Sergent rejects this otherwise popular hypothesis, on the impeccably rational ground that there is no evidence for it. Thus, except in coastal Sindh and Gujarat, geographical terms in the Indus-Saraswati area are never of Dravidian origin. There is also no continuity in material culture between Harappan culture and the oldest known Dravidian settlements.

True to scholarly norms, Sergent pleads for a provisional acceptance of our ignorance about the identity of the Harappans. However, as a concession to impatient readers who insist on having some theory at least, he gives one or two very slender indications that the Burushos (who preserve their Burushaski language till today in Hunza, Pak-Occupied Kashmir) may have played a role in it.<sup>89</sup> However, he finds no Burushaski lexical influence on Indo-Aryan except possibly the word sinda, 'river?', connected in one direction or the other with Sanskrit Sindhu, 'river, Indus?', not otherwise attested in IE.<sup>90</sup> He is also skeptical of David MacAlpin's thesis of an 'Elamo-Dravidian' language family: what isoglosses there are between Elamite and Dravidian can be explained sufficiently through contact rather than common origin. Like many others, Sergent suggests that the early Dravidians can be equated with the 'southern Neolithic' of 2500-1600 BC. Their round huts with wooden framework are the direct precursors of contemporary rural Dravidian housing. Two types of Hindu vessel have been discovered in southern Neolithic sites, including a beaked copper recipient still used in Vedic fire ceremonies.<sup>91</sup>

Though the prehistory of the southern Neolithic is difficult to trace, it can be stated with confidence that the best candidate is the Northwestern Neolithic, which started in Mehrgarh in the 8th millennium BC. It is, by contrast, very unlikely that it originated as an outpost of the Southeast-Asian Neolithic, which expanded into India at a rather late date, bringing the Austro-Asiatic languages. According to Sergent, a link with the mature Harappan civilization is equally unlikely: neither in material culture nor in physical type is such a link indicated by the evidence. The Dravidians were certainly already in the Deccan when the mature Harappan civilization started. Sergent suggests that the Dravidians formed a pre-Harappan population in Sindh and Gujarat, and that they were overwhelmed and assimilated, not by the invading Aryans, but by the mature-Harappan population.<sup>92</sup>

The picture which emerges is that of a multi-lingual Indus-Saraswati civilization with Dravidian as the minor partner (possibly preserved or at least leaving its mark in the southern metropolis of Mohenjo Daro) who ended up getting assimilated by the major partner, a non-Dravidian population whom we may venture to identify as Indo-Iranian and ultimately Indo-Aryan.

5.4.3. Afro-Dravidian kinship

One of the most remarkable findings related in some detail by Bernard Sergent, on the basis of three independent studies (by Lilius Homburger, by Tidiane Ndiaye, and by U.P. Upadhyaya and Mrs. S.P. Upadhyaya) reaching similar conclusions, is the multifarious kinship of the Dravidian language family with African languages of the Sahel belt, from Somalia to Senegal (Peul, Wolof, Mandinka, Dyola). As Sergent notes, all Melano-African languages have been credibly argued to be related, with the exception of the Khoi-San and Korama languages of southern Africa and the Afro-Asiatic family of northern Africa; so the kinship of Dravidian would be with that entire Melano-African superfamily, though it would be more conspicuous with some of its members.

Thus, between Dravidian and Bantu, we find the same verbal endings for the infinitive, the subjunctive, the perfect, the active participle or nomen agentis, related postpositions or nominal case endings, and many others. In over-all structure, Dravidian and the Melano-African languages (as distinct from North-African and Khoi-San languages) form a pair when compared with other language families: ?The tendency to agglutination, the absence of grammatical gender, the absence of internal vowel change, the use of pre- or postpositions instead of flexion are some of the main traits which set the Negro-African and Dravidian languages jointly apart from the Indo-European and Hamito-Semitic groups.<sup>93</sup> Here I would say that this doesn't prove much: the first trait is shared with some more, and the other ones are shared with most language families on earth; it is IE and Semito-Hamitic which stand out jointly by not having these traits.<sup>94</sup>

But there are more specific similarities: ?A simple system of five basic vowels with an opposition short/long, vocalic harmony, absence of consonant clusters in initial position, abundance of geminated consonants, distinction between inclusive and exclusive pronoun in the first person plural, absence of the comparative degree in adjectives, absence of adjectives and adverbs acting as distinct morphological categories, alternation of consonants or augmentation of nouns noted among the nouns of different classes, distinction between accomplished and unaccomplished action in the verbal paradigms as opposed to the distinction of time-specific tenses, separate sets of paradigms for the affirmative and negative forms of verbs, the use of reduplicated forms for the emphatic mode, etc.<sup>95</sup> Sergent himself adds more isoglosses: ?Preference for open syllables (i.e. those ending in vowels), the rejection of clusters of non-identical consonants, the generally initial position of the word accent in Dravidian and in the languages of Senegal.<sup>96</sup> The similarity in the demonstrative affixes is among the most striking: proximity is indicated by [i], initial in Dravidian but terminal in Wolof; distance by [a], intermediate distance by [u].

Knowing little of Dravidian and nothing at all of African languages, I don't feel qualified to discuss this evidence. However, I do note that we have several separate studies by unrelated researchers, using different samples of languages in their observations, and that each of them lists large numbers of similarities, not just in vocabulary, but also in linguistic structure, even in its most intimate features. Thus, ?the preposed demonstratives of Dravidian allow us to comprehend the genesis of the nominal classes, the fundamental trait of the Negro-African languages.<sup>97</sup>

To quite an extent, this evidence suggests that Dravidian and some of the African languages (the case has been made in most detail for the Senegalo-Guinean languages such as Wolof) have a common origin. At the distance involved, it is unlikely that the isoglosses noted are the effects of borrowing. Either way, Proto-Dravidian must have been geographically close to the ancestor-language of the Negro-African languages. Did it come from Africa, as Sergent concludes? Should we think of a lost Saharan culture which disappeared before the conquests of the desert? Note that earlier outspoken fans of Dravidian culture didn't mind describing the Dravidians as immigrants: unlike the Aryans, they were bringers rather than destroyers of civilization, but they were immigrants nonetheless.<sup>98</sup> Or should we follow Tamil chauvinists in assuming that the Dravidians came from Tamil Nadu and the now-submerged lands to its South, and took their language and civilization to Africa?

5.4.4. Additional indications for Afro-Dravidian

Bernard Sergent argues against the Indian origin of Dravidian. One element to consider is that the members of the Dravidian family have not diverged very much from one another. The relative closeness of its members suggests that they started growing apart only fairly recently: a thousand years for Tamil and Malayalam (well-attested), perhaps three thousand for the divergence of North- from South-Dravidian. This would indicate that Dravidian was still a single language covering a small area in the early Harappan period, after having entered the country from the West.

That the 'genealogical tree' of the Dravidian family seems to have its trunk in the coastal West of India, i.e. to the northwest of the main Dravidian area, has long been recognized by scholars of Dravidian.<sup>99</sup> It also fits in with the old Brahminical nomenclature, which includes Gujarat and Maharashtra in the Pañ-DraviDa, the 'five Dravida areas of Brahminical settlement' (as contrasted with Pañ-GauDa, the five North-Indian ones). The northwestern coast was the first part of India to be dravidianized, the wellspring of Dravidian migration to the south, but also an area where Dravidian was gradually displaced by Indo-Aryan though not without influencing it.

Another indication for the Dravidian presence in Gujarat is the attestation in Gujarati Jain texts of inter-cousin marriage, typically South-Indian and quite non-Indo-European.<sup>100</sup> The IE norm was very strict in prohibiting even distant forms of incest, a norm adopted by both Hinduism and Christianity.<sup>101</sup> Linguists had already pointed out, and Sergent confirms, that Dravidian has left its mark on the Sindhi, Gujarati and Marathi languages (as with the distinction between inclusive and exclusive first person plural) and toponymy. So, it is fairly well-established that Dravidian culture had a presence in Gujarat while spreading to South India.

It is possible that Gujarat was a waystation in a longer Dravidian migration from further west. Whether the itinerary of Dravidian can ultimately be traced to Sudan or thereabouts, remains to be confirmed, but Sergent already has some interesting data to offer in support. Africans and Dravidians had common types of round hut, common music instruments, common forms of snake worship and tree worship. Thus, a South-Indian board game pallankuli closely resembles the African game mancala; varieties of the game are attested in Pharaonic Egypt and in a pre-Christian monastery in Sri Lanka.<sup>102</sup>

A point which I do not find entirely convincing is the distinction, based on Mircea Eliade's research, between two types of Shamanism, one best known from Siberia and in evidence among all people originating in North and East Asia including the Native Americans and the Indian Munda-speaking tribes, another best known from Africa but also attested among some South-Indian tribes.<sup>103</sup> This is a distinction between Shamanism properly speaking, in which the Shaman makes spirit journeys, despatches one of his multiple souls to the spirit world to help the soul of a sick person, etc.; and the religion of ghost-possession, in which the sorcerer allows the ghost to take him over but at the same time makes him obey. The latter is perhaps best known to outsiders through the Afro-Caribbean Voodoo religion, but is also in evidence among South-Indian tribals such as the Saora and the Pramalai Kallar.

If anthropologists have observed these two distinct types, I will not disbelieve them. It does not follow that there must be a link between Africa and South India: Sergent himself notes that the same religion of ghost-possession is attested among the Australian aborigines, who are related with the Veddoid substratum in India's population.<sup>104</sup> On the other hand, this theme of ghost-possession is but one of Sergent's numerous linguistic and anthropological data which all point in the same direction of Afro-Dravidian kinship.

5.4.5. Uralic-Dravidian kinship

If Dravidian migrated from Africa to India through the Middle East, it could have left traces in Egypt and countries under Egyptian influence as well, explaining the data which led earlier researchers to the thesis of a Dravidian 'Indo-Mediterranean' culture.<sup>105</sup> Sergent links Indian forms of phallus worship with Sahel-African, Ethiopian, Egyptian and Mediterranean varieties of the same. The Egyptian uraeus ('cobra?'), the snake symbol on the pharaonic regalia, has been linked in detail with Dravidian forms of snake worship, including a priest's possession by the snake's spirit. Dravidian cremation rituals for dead snakes recall the ceremonial burial of snakes in parts of Africa.<sup>106</sup> Others have added the similarity between the Dravidian naga-kal (Tamil: 'snake-stone', a rectangular stone featuring two snakes facing one another, their bodies intertwined) and the intertwined snakes in the caduceus, the Greek symbol of science and medicine.

It has consequently been suggested that some Dravidian words may also have penetrated into the European languages. Thus, Dravidian kal, 'stone?', resembles Latin calculus, 'pebble?', and Dravidian malai, 'mountain?', resembles an Albanian and Rumanian word mal, 'rock, rocky riverside?'.<sup>107</sup> But this hypothesis is a long shot and we need not pursue it here.

Far more substantial is the Dravidian impact on another language family far removed from the recent Dravidian speech area, viz. Uralic. The influence pertains to a very sizable vocabulary, including core terms for hand, fire, house (Finnish kota, Tamil kudi), talk, cold, bathe, die, water, pure, see, knock, be mistaken, exit, fear, bright, behind, turn, sick, dirty, ant, strong, little, seed, cut, wait, tongue, laugh, moist, break, chest, tree; some pronouns, several numerals and dozens of terms for body parts.<sup>108</sup> But it goes deeper than that. Thus, both language families exclude voiced and aspirated consonants and all consonant clusters at the beginning of words. They have in common several suffixes, expressions and the phonological principle of vocalic harmony.

As the Dravidian influence, like that of IE, is more pronounced in the Finno-Ugric than in the Samoyedic branch, we may surmise that the contact took place after the separation of the Samoyedic branch. But the main question here is how Dravidian could have influenced Uralic given their actual distance. Sergent suggests that a lost branch of Dravidians on the way from Africa strayed into Central Asia and got assimilated but not without influencing their new language.

He also rejects the theory that Dravidian forms one family along with Uralic, Turkic, Mongolian and Tunguz. The latter three are often grouped as 'Altaic?', a partly genetic and partly areal group which may also include Korean and Japanese, and all the said languages have at one time or another been claimed as relatives of Dravidian, with which they do present some isoglosses. However, the isoglosses are fragmentary and mostly different ones for every language group concerned. Moreover, some Dravidian influences are also discernible in Tokharic, or Arshi-Kuchi (Tokharic A c.q. Tokharic B) as Sergent appropriately calls it, which is obviously a matter of influence through contact. So Sergent concludes that this is a matter of areal influence rather than genetic kinship: Dravidian was a foreign language entering Central Asia at some point in time to briefly exert an influence on the local languages before disappearing.<sup>109</sup>

I am not sure this will convince everyone: if Dravidian is not genetically linked with all the said language groups, it might still be so with one of them, viz. Uralic, at least on the strength of the data Sergent offers. Tamil chauvinists may well be tempted to complete the picture by claiming that before the Indo-Europeans from India colonized Central Asia and Europe, it was the turn of the Dravidians to colonize Central Asia and, after mixing genetically and linguistically with the natives, to develop the Uralic languages. At a time when subtropical Neolithic cultures had a tremendous technological and demographical edge over the hunter-gatherers in the inhospitable northern countries, it would not even be so far-fetched to imagine that a small wayward group of Dravidians could enter the vast expanse of Central Asia and completely change the linguistic landscape there.

At any rate, Sergent's observations represent a clean break with earlier theories which had the Dravidians originate in the Uralic speech area and preceding the Indo-Aryans in an invasion of India from Central Asia.

5.4.5. Geographical distribution of IE languages

Since Bernard Sergent doesn't take the Indocentric case for IE seriously, he doesn't bring out all the linguistic data which to him support the Kurgan scenario. One classical argument from linguistics is nonetheless developed at some length: 'In Europe one finds the most numerous and geographically most concentrated IE language groups. Such a situation is not unique, and invariably denotes the direction of history: the Indo-Iranian languages represent a branch extended to the east and south, starting from Europe and not the other way around. It is obviously not the IE languages of Europe which have come from India?'.<sup>110</sup>

Thus early in his book (p.30 of 584 pp.), he is already so sure that 'obviously' the central question of the Urheimat has been decided to the disadvantage of India. That is a great pity, for it is the reason why he has not applied himself to really developing the argument against the Indian Urheimat. If anyone is capable of proving the AIT, it must be Sergent. Yet, because he assumes no proof is necessary, he gives the question much less attention than e.g. the much less contentious (though more original) question 'of the geographical origins of Dravidian.

To be sure, the pattern of language distribution invoked by Sergent as 'not unique?', is indeed well-attested, e.g. in sub-Saharan West Africa, there are about 15 language families, while in the much larger region of sub-equatorial Africa, a very large majority of the people speaks languages belonging to only one family, Bantu. Though it is only a branch of a subfamily of the Niger-Kordofanian language family, Bantu easily outnumbers all the other branches of this family combined: 'Africanists conclude that Bantu originated in a small area, on the border between Nigeria and Cameroon.'<sup>111</sup>

But in fact, India is in this respect more akin to West Africa, and Europe more to sub-equatorial Africa. India has more language families: Nahali, Andamanese, Burushaski, Dravidian, Austro-Asiatic (Munda and Mon-Khmer), Sino-Tibetan (Himalayan, Tibetic and Burmese) and IE (Iranian, Kafir, Dardic, Indo-Aryan, and possibly proto-Bangani). Europe is almost entirely IE-speaking, with Basque serving as the European counterpart to the Khoi-San languages in subequatorial Africa, a left-over of the original linguistic landscape largely replaced with the conquering newcomer, IE c.q. Bantu; and Uralic (Finnish, Estonian, Hungarian) a fellow if perhaps slightly later intruder in the European landscape, vaguely comparable to the intrusion of an Austronesian language in a part (viz. Madagascar) of southern Africa. Therefore, I reject the argument from the geographical distribution. I have already pointed out another objection against it: if the spread of the IE languages to Europe was often a matter of assimilating divergent native populations, this process promoted the speedy diverging of the IE dialects into distinct language groups. Though this is not a conclusive argument against the possibility of IE settlement in India being younger than in Europe, it at least terminates the impression that there was a compelling case in favour of that possibility. So, even under Bernard Sergent's hands, the fabled 'linguistic evidence' has failed to decide the IE Urheimat question once and for all.

Footnotes:

<sup>86</sup>Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.31. The precarious situation of Nahali is described as follows by K.S. Nagaraja, reviewing Robert Parkin. A Guide to Austro-Asiatic Speakers and Their Languages, University of Hawaii Press, Honolulu 1991, in Bulletin of the Deccan College 1996-97, p.342: 'On the basis of my observation after visiting Tembi (Teli) village in November 1996, I can say that the Nahals there no longer speak Nahali language at all. (?) in the districts of Buldana in Maharashtra, in the village called Jamud, there is a big concentration of Nahals who actually speak this language (?) there are many settlements in the nearby villages where the language is still spoken. The total number of speakers seems to be over three to four thousand.'

<sup>87</sup>F.B.J. Kuiper: Nahali, a Comparative Study, Amsterdam 1962, p.49.

<sup>88</sup>Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.370.

<sup>89</sup>Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p. 138.

<sup>90</sup>Remark that the Iranian name Hindu for 'Indus', hence also for 'India', indicates that the Iranians have lived near the Indus. If they had not, then Sindhu would have been a foreign term which they would have left intact, just as they kept the Elamite city name Susa intact (rather than evolving it to Huha or something like that). But because Sindhu was part of their own vocabulary, it followed the evolution of Iranian phonetics to become Hindu.

<sup>91</sup>Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.48, with reference to Bridget and Raymond Allchin and to Dharma Pal Agrawal.

<sup>92</sup>Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.52.

<sup>93</sup>Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.55, quoting from U.P. and S.P. Upadhyaya: 'Dravidian and Negro-African?', International Journal of Dravidian Linguistics, 1976/5.1, p.32-64; my quotation is retranslated from the French translation (as quoted by Sergent), 'Affinités ethno-linguistiques entre les Dravidiens et les Négro-Africains?', Bulletin de l'Institut Français d'Afrique Noire 38.1, p. 127-157.

<sup>94</sup>That Hamito-Semitic (Afro-Asiatic) and IE stand jointly apart and may have a common origin in Mesopotamia, has been argued by B. Sergent: Les Indo-Européens, p.431-434. Critics (such as the reviewer in Antaios 10, Brussels 1996) have suggested that with this position, he is playing a political game. This much is true, that by design or by accident, he is pulling the leg of far-rightist adepts of IE studies who consider the reduction of IE to sisterhood with Semitic as sacrilege. All the same, Sergent's position is quite sound linguistically.

<sup>95</sup>Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.55, quoting from U.P. and S.P. Upadhyaya: 'Dravidian and Negro-African?', International Journal of Dravidian Linguistics, 1976/5.1, p.32-64, retranslated from the French translation, 'Affinités ethno-linguistiques entre les Dravidiens et les Néo-Africains?', Bulletin de l'Institut Français d'Afrique Noire 38.1, p.127-157.

<sup>96</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.56.

<sup>97</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.53.

<sup>98</sup> E.g. Father H. Heras: Studies in Proto-Indo-Mediterranean Culture (1953), and Alain Daniélou: Histoire de l'Inde (1983).

<sup>99</sup> A map showing this 'tree' is given in G. John Samuel, ed.: Encyclopedia of Tamil Literature, Institute of Asian Studies, Madras 1990, p.45, with reference to Kamil Zvelebil, who locates the Proto-Dravidians in Iran as late as 3500 BC.

<sup>100</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.51.

<sup>101</sup> This in contrast with Biblical Judaism and especially with Islam: Hindu converts to Islam were often required to prove their conversion by eating beef and, if possible, marrying a cousin or niece; half of the marriages in rural Pakistan are between cousins. Note, however, that the Zoroastrians deviated from the IE standard by also practising marriage within the family.

<sup>102</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.59.

<sup>103</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.62.

<sup>104</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.62.

<sup>105</sup> E.g. Father H. Heras: Studies in Proto-Indo-Mediterranean Culture, Indian Historical Research Institute, Bombay 1953.

<sup>106</sup> For all Sergent's details about Dravidian snake-worship, which fits in well with the classical picture of snake-worship as an 'aboriginal' or at least non-Aryan element in Hinduism, it is interesting to note that he (Genèse de l'Inde, p.482, n.607) deviates from the mainstream in his etymology of nAga, 'snake'. With reference to Manfred Mayrhofer, he links it quite regularly to Germanic s-nake; the prosthetic s- is quasi-onomatopoeic. Personally, I suggest an even more regular link with Germanic naked (from PIE **nogwos/nogwodhos*), which reveals the basic meaning: the snake is unhairy, sheds its skin, and exposes itself more deeply to its environment by not having limbs with which to keep objects or the ground at a distance, all forms of exposure or nakedness. NAgA SAdhUs are those Hindu godmen who walk naked.

<sup>107</sup> Mentioned in a long enumeration of pre-IE loans, but without reference to the Dravidian counterparts, in Sorin Paliga: 'Proto-Indo-European, Pre-Indo-European, Old European Archaeological Evidence and Linguistic Investigation?', Journal of Indo-European Studies, Fall 1989, p.309-334.

<sup>108</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.66-67.

<sup>109</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.71-76.

<sup>110</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.29-30.

<sup>111</sup> Bernard Sergent: Genèse de l'Inde, p.30.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24656|2008-01-30 01:25:11|Asar Imhotep|Re: [Meroe] Re: Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas|

Here is an interesting observation from the footnotes of the article I recently just sent to the list.
Here is the information

<http://www.bharatvani.org/books/ait/ch54.htm>

<sup>106</sup> For all Sergent's details about Dravidian snake-worship, which fits in well with the classical picture of snake-worship as an 'aboriginal' or at least non-Aryan element in Hinduism, it is interesting to note that he (Genèse de l'Inde, p.482, n.607) deviates from the mainstream in his etymology of nAga, 'snake'. With reference to Manfred Mayrhofer, he links it quite regularly to Germanic s-nake; the prosthetic s- is quasi-onomatopoeic. Personally, I suggest an even more regular link with Germanic naked (from PIE **nogwos/nogwodhos*), which reveals the basic meaning: the snake is unhairy, sheds its skin, and exposes itself more deeply to its environment by not having limbs with which to keep objects or the ground at a distance, all forms of exposure or nakedness. NAGa SAdhUs are those Hindu godmen who walk naked.

Asar Imhotep
http://www.mochasuite.com

Ferg wrote:

An interesting observation.

I did not connect the English word 'S-NAKE with NYOKA or NAGA. The word for 'snake' or 'serpent' in the Ancient Egyptian language is derived from Proto-Bantu-OKA with the correct formative of the word as may be seen below.

NIK  Serpent

|                                   |                                         |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| Ancient Egyptian           | NIK, Serpent                     |
| Proto-Bantu root           | -OKA, Snake, Serpent             |
| Kiswahili-Bantu, formative | NI-OKA or NY-OKA, Snake, Serpent |

On further researching the word NYOKA a possible explanation might lie in the Kiswahili-Bantu language. The word Nyoka as a noun means a snake. Nyoka may also be used as a verb and has the following meanings: uncoil as a snake, become straight, be straightened, be straightforward, be honest, be upright. Further meanings are: be set right, to be led aright, be converted, be reformed, prosper, be outspoken. Closely related to the word describes an upright person or a person who has the role to lead.

I wonder if these definitions of NYOKA could add to the discussion and could they reflect on some of the ideas examined between speech (be outspoken) and the ability to lead?
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: adin.kachisi

To: Meroe@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thursday, January 17, 2008 9:30 PM

Subject: [Meroe] Re: Meroe and Brahmi - Nagas

--- In Meroe@yahoogroups.com, "Ferg" wrote:

>

> However as you have mentioned, the word 'Naga' in Ge'ez means speech. Is there a connection between the word 'Naga' and the term for a snake 'Noga' or, 'Nyoka'?

>

Two other sources I can think of where the connection between "speech" and "snake" is the Judeo mythology and well as Zulu mythology.

Hebrew Mythology

Nahash /Nakash

Nahash (Hebrew) [from nahash- to whisper, hiss, prognosticate, practice divination]

Serpent; a constellation -- the serpent or dragon in the northern quarter of the heavens;

In Hebrew this word is associated with magic and enchantment. It is related to and pronounced almost the same as the Sanskrit word naga.

Zulu Mythology

In Shona the word for snake is Nyoka, but the word for speak is "Taura".

According to Credo Mutwa in Zulu mythology the ancient reptile/snake people were called "Chitauri" meaning 'speaker'. So here again the snake kings are called 'speakers'

Hebrew - Nakash

Sumerian - Naku

Sanskrit - Naga

English - S-Nake

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24657|2008-01-30 05:53:09|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [blackkemeticsoul] Re: DO IT!!!!!!!|
shaimesh@aol.com wrote:

To: smaitawi@yahoogroups.com

CC: ThePhenomenalWomen@yahoogroups.com,

ThePhenomenalWomen_NORTHEAST@yahoogroups.com,

Luv4self_Network@yahoogroups.com, Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, blackkemeticsoul@yahoogroups.com

From: shaimesh@aol.com

Date: Tue, 29 Jan 2008 11:13:41 EST

Subject: [blackkemeticsoul] Re: DO IT!!!!!!!

From: Khonsugo@aol.com

Ee em htp,

I just was thinking. I want to send an email out to everybody to boycott everything that is not of our culture for at least one month. Commit to one month, if you make a mistake here and there keep going, however failure is not an option. The purpose is to slowly start to retrain our minds for our natural paradigm. Go the mom and pops stores and get your clothing, buy black(not conglomerate owned), go to places like uptown juice bar, raw soul, patty shops or cook, leave fast food chains alone. Watch as many black films as possible, one good film is called Kirikou. Retrain your thought!

Our culture is not lost we just have to utilize it. Please send this email to all your melanite people or should I say Khemetyu (Black People). If you have any questions, need advice or have comments on how to make this work please feel free to email me.

Do not treat this email like them little cherub I love you inspiration emails or chain mail. We want to break the chain and reconnect to the circle.

Ankh Udja Seneb
Life Vitality Health

Jaja N Medjay Nkht-Htp

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24658|2008-01-30 05:53:27|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [Ta_Seti] runoko rashidi in australia|
cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: ta seti
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Tue, 29 Jan 2008 10:47:53 -0800 (PST)
Subject: [Ta_Seti] runoko rashidi in australia

the articles reminds me of chavez, when the black people of australia ask the brother do u want our help.

LIVENEWS.com.au Ch'z urges 'anti-imperialist' military alliance

SmaiTawi@yahoogroup s.com wrote:
Smai Tawi \(UNITY\)

Messages In This Digest (1 Message)

1. INTERACTIONS WITH ABORIGINAL AUSTRALIANS From: Runoko Rashidi
View All Topics | Create New Topic

Message

1.

INTERACTIONS WITH ABORIGINAL AUSTRALIANS

Posted by: "Runoko Rashidi" Runoko@yahoo.com runoko

Tue Jan29,2008 6:16am (PST)

THE GLOBAL AFRICAN COMMUNITY

TRAVELNOTES

HANGING WITH THE BLACKFELLAS DOWN UNDER

By RUNOKO RASHIDI
DEDICATED TO DR. GRACELYN SMALLWOOD

PART 1

A FEW BRIEF COMMENTS

On 19 November 1998 I boarded a Qantas airlines flight from Los Angeles to Sydney, Australia. It was to be my first trip to Australia and the flight lasted fourteen hours. Thirty minutes after going through customs in Sydney I boarded a connecting flight to Darwin, Northern Territory in Australia's `top end.'

My interest in the Black people of Australia (known generally as "Aborigines" ) began as a young college student in the early 1970s when I chanced to read an article in the Los Angeles Times about the brutal treatment meted out to Australia's aboriginal people by the English convicts, administrators, soldiers and missionaries who landed in Sydney's Botany Bay beginning in January 1788. The article told of scores of Black people tossed to their deaths from high cliffs, and rewards being offered for the scalps of Black men, women and children. All of this and more I was later to confirm for myself. During the nineteenth century, for example, it was not uncommon for Whites to shoot Black people for use as dog food.

Indeed, during certain periods of marshal law it was not a crime to murder a Black man. Sometimes an entire family of Black people would be rounded up by Whites. In front of his family the Black man would be handcuffed and then castrated. His head would then be cut off and strung around the widow's neck who would then be brutally gang-raped. Following this the children would be buried in the earth up to their heads. White men would then, with the mother of the children forced to watch, kick and club their heads off. Black people were given blankets infected with small pox virus. Their waterholes were poisoned. They were infected, women and children, with venereal diseases. It was only in 1967 that Aboriginal people in Australia were considered human. Today, the Black people of Australia constitute 1.6% of the total population but Black men make up 70% of the prison population. Black women make up 50% of the total prison population. The life expectancy for a Black man in Australia is forty-five years. The infant mortality rate is among the highest in the world.

PART 2

THE STOLEN GENERATIONS

On Saturday afternoon, November 21 1998 I landed in Darwin at the far top end of Australia's Northern Territory. Darwin, named after Charles Darwin and with a tropical climate, is a city of 70,000 people about 25% of which are Black. Darwin was to be the initial leg of my Australian travel adventure and it was here that I met Aboriginal people in Australia for the first time. The first Black people I saw were sitting in several groups on the floor of the airport's lower level. They were very dark with straight to wavy black hair and paid me not the slightest attention. I was later told that I shouldn't take their seeming indifference personally; that it was "a cultural thing."

I was met at the airport by two Black women whose job was "to take care of all of my needs." These sisters were Ms. Jacqui Katona and Ms. Christine Christophoson- -two hard core activists- who more or less introduced me to Black Australia. They checked me into a local hotel, fed me and introduced me to their families. After a relatively uneventful night in Darwin on Sunday morning Christine drove me to Jabiru in Kakadu National Park. Kakadu is on Aboriginal land and it was here that I learned that Aboriginal people regard themselves as "the custodians of the land." Kakadu is magnificent country and quite rightly regarded by many Australians as a national treasure. It was also in Jabiru where I became acquainted for the first time with the "Stolen Generations. "

The "Stolen Generations" refers to those Black people who were abducted by White Christian missionaries beginning about 1905. By 1911 virtually all Australian states had legislated for the removal of Aboriginal children from their families. Tasmania was the exception, denying it actually had an indigenous population. An estimated 40,000 Aboriginal children, particularly the lighter-skinned children, were removed from their families this century. Under this legislation government officials acting under the authority of the Chief Protector or the relevant Welfare Board had absolute power over Aboriginal children and could simply order the removal of an Aboriginal child from their family without having to prove to a court that the child was neglected. In many cases this legislation permitted the removal of Aboriginal children on the grounds of race alone. The children were taken from their families and brought up largely as slaves in White foster homes and on Christian missions. The dominant ethos was that there was nothing of value in Aboriginal culture--all the value lay in European culture. Once removed the children were forbidden any contact with their families. Removed children were not allowed to know anything about their origins or their Aboriginal heritage. Any violation of this rule was met with severe floggings. Black children were told that their families had died or had abandoned them. Their names were changed. They were forbidden to speak their indigenous languages. They were forced to wear European clothes and adopt European diets. They were actually forced to wear dog tags for purposes of identification and were daily humiliated. Black families lived in constant fear for the children who might be taken away--and constant grief for those already gone.

There is not a single Black family in Australia that has not been affected by the Stolen Generations. In Kakadu I actually met many of the victims of this cruel government policy and heard their stories first hand. Unfortunately this extremely cruel process continues even now.

PART 3

ALICE SPRINGS

At noon on 24 November 1998 I left Darwin and flew to Alice Springs--a relatively small city in the very center of Australia. This part of Australia is sometimes called "the red center" and I must say that the soil itself has a dull orange-reddish hue with sparse vegetation and strange rock formations.

In Alice Springs I was met by representatives of the Central Land Council. They were extremely polite but seemed a little uncertain as to how to act towards me. Very few of the Aboriginal people of Australia that I met on the trip had had much experience with Black folk from America and they knew almost nothing of me personally. They only knew that "an African professor from the United States was coming to Australia and wanted to visit them." The "African professor" will be eternally grateful to them for I must say that it seems that every brother and sister that I met in Australia looked after me, and once they knew something about me became very anxious to talk with me. With two sisters I toured the city of Alice Springs; visiting every institution and facility directly affiliated with or run by Blackfellas.

Perhaps the highlight of my visit to Alice Springs was a tour of a women's Center. The center was for Aboriginal women, many of whom had been the victims of domestic abuse. Domestic abuse is a major problem in Aboriginal communities in Australia and much of it stems from massive alcohol and drug abuse. Such is the degree of despair and hopelessness among them that many Aboriginal people seemed determined to drink and drug themselves into a state of complete of oblivion.

In the women's center I was introduced to many sisters, including two women of about fifty, although they looked much older. Life had not been very kind to them. Through a translator I asked them many questions. Questions like where they were born, their life stories, their goals, etc. At first they patiently answered my questions, but all at once they began to ask me all the questions! Basically they wanted to know who I was, what I was, what I wanted and why! It soon became extremely obvious to me that these sisters, who probably spoke for most of the Black people in Australia, knew almost nothing of their brethren in America. So I told them our story. I talked to them at length of mighty African empires and how we came to America. I talked to them of our enslavement and the door of no return. I told them how our families were separated and how our names were changed and how we were forbidden to speak our own languages. These sisters became more and more agitated and told me that they had never heard anything of what I was telling them. It was a very emotional experience. I told them of our struggle for justice and some of our great leaders. I then told the sisters in some detail about lynchings in America and they started to become visibly disturbed. It was at that time that one of them stopped my narrative and questioned me in a sad and plaintive way. She asked, "do you want us to help you?" It was my turn to wipe away the tears.

PART 4

ULURU NATIONAL PARK

Of all the international trips that I've taken, my visit to Australia during November and December 1998 is very hard to top. It was a unique experience. Indeed, there were times on the trip that I momentarily thought that I was in another world. Rather than the primitive people that the Blackfellas are often portrayed to be, they turned out to be for me the most complex and spiritually profound brothers and sisters that I've ever encountered or read about. Truly, Australia was both a delightful and vividly insightful experience. I felt continually that the ancestors were with me--guiding and protecting me, keeping me safe and strong. I prayed regularly and passionately and had few worries along the way.

On 26 November I flew from Alice Springs to Uluru. White folks commonly call Uluru "Ayers Rock." Uluru was one of the places on the trip that was not on my original itinerary but, certainly, I had hoped to travel there from the very beginning and I was prepared for it. Uluru is 273 miles from Alice Springs and I was the last person to board the plane. Naturally, I was the only Black man on the flight. That was the norm for the trip.

After a very short Qantas flight I departed the plane with the hope that someone would be at the airport to meet me. After about an hour sister Joann Wilmot, accompanied by another lady, swooped me up. It didn't take me long to realize that the brothers and sisters in Australia, apparently like brothers and sisters everywhere, had their own sense of time!

Because I had no idea as to where I would be lodging Joann, who was a kind of Aboriginal director for Uluru and the designated person to escort me around, invited me, if I had no problem with the idea, "to stay with a Blackfella." It sounded good to me. Once again, I was in the company of two Black women. And because I'm a brother who happens to adore African females I was quite content and felt in good company.

Aboriginal people attach great spiritual significance to Uluru. It is one of the world's largest monoliths and rises more than 1,100 feet from the flatness of the surrounding plain. More impressive than its size, though, is its color--a brown to bright glowing red that changes throughout the day. About forty miles from Uluru lies another fascinating rock formation--Kata Tjuta. Indeed, some view Kata Tjuta as even more spectacular than Uluru. Uluru, however, as it was my understanding, is viewed by at least by many Aboriginal people, as the "navel of the world" and the center of creation. Although many visitors climb on top of Uluru I was forbidden to even touch it! With Ms. Wilmot I drove around Uluru and heard "dreamtime stories" of the beginning of the world.

Within a couple hundred yards of Uluru lies an Aboriginal community forbidden to non-Aboriginal people. Signs warning trespassers to stay out were liberally posted. Well, I didn't see myself as a tourist, and quite naturally, it was the place where I most wanted to go, and sister Joann was only too happy to take me there. Indeed, she was the person in charge and was gently deferred to within the community.

Although I ached to be with my brothers and sisters I had found in Kakadu National Park that an Aboriginal community, for me, wasn't always the most pleasant place to be. Squalor, disease and poverty were the rule. I have to say that Black children running around dirty and naked with mucous running down their faces is not an endearing sight but it is reality.

After touring the community Joann invited me to dinner. She asked me if I had any preferences and because I felt lucky to even be there naturally I said, "well sister, anything that you cook will be just fine for me." And then she told me that we'd have kangaroo tail and a whole host of second thoughts ran through my mind! She was determined to treat me to a real delicacy and all the polite excuses from me about her not going to any trouble were fruitless. As a result three large kangaroo tails (which she called "whippers") were purchased from the company store. She even shut down her office a little early--just for me! She then picked up her "skin mother" and granddaughter. We were going to have a feast.

To cook the kangaroo tails she accumulated quite a bit of dry wood and started a fire. As the fire began to blaze the whippers were tossed on top. They were purchased frozen and the fire would warm them up and burn the hair off. Suddenly I was not hungry, but, again, my protests that I didn't want to be the source of so much fuss got me nowhere. After about fifteen minutes on the fire the whippers were taken off the fire and the hair scrapped off with a knife. Where the fire had been a hole was dug, the whippers placed in the hole, the burning wood put on top of the hole and an hour later dinner was ready.

Uluru National Park is wonderful place and the Blackfellas were extremely friendly to me. In July 2000 I plan to take a group of brothers and sisters there to see Uluru and Kata Tjuta and the Aboriginal community. And while I will remain forever grateful to sister Joann Wilmot for her hospitality, the next time the dinner menu will be decidedly different.

POSTSCRIPT

THE BLACKFELLAS DOWN UNDER

The above article was written in December 1998. I had just returned to the United States from Australia and I was still very much floating on something of a cloud. Australia was such a phenomenal experience for me that I was determined to put at least some aspects of the trip down on the record for posterity. As it turned out I only told a part of the story. There was just so much, for varying reasons, that I left out. I wrote four sections covering about two thirds of the trip and then ran completely out of steam.

Since my return from Australia in 1998 I have journeyed to an additional two-dozen countries and in July 2000 returned to Australia in our ongoing global search for African people and African connections. From this experience, I am happy to say, has come a great deal of personal growth and development. And so now, in July 2001, as I prepare for my next big trip and with an extra bit of time on my hands it seems like a golden opportunity to engage in some additional reflection about my Australian adventure, supplement some of this current travel narrative, and add a more fitting conclusion to one of my favorite travel notes.

Besides my life long interest in the Black people of Australia, the major reason for my 1998 travel there was to attend the Second World Indigenous Pathways Conference. This was a historic event sponsored by the Kumbari/Ngurpai Lag Higher Education Center at the University of Southern Queensland, Toowoomba, Australia, and was held from November 28 to December 4, 1998. My participation in the Conference came after having met Dr. Gracelyn Smallwood. Sister Gracelyn, from Queensland, Australia, is a wonderful woman, a good friend, and perhaps the most dedicated and dynamic of all of the Indigenous Australians that I have met. To me, she is the absolute Queen of Australia and she was certainly the driving force behind the Conference.

The Second World Indigenous Pathways Conference was designed to present the opportunity for Indigenous and non-Indigenous people from around the world to engage in discourse about such issues as identity, culture, reconciliation, multiculturalism and social activism. The previous conference, in 1996 (to which I was also invited but could not attend because of a major scheduling conflict), drew together a cross-section of high profile participants from Australia's Indigenous peoples and oppressed groups from around the world.

The theme of the 1998 Conference was "Pathways: Journeys of Discovery within Diversity." The program was dedicated to identifying the topics: what it means to be Australian, civil rights and social activism in the struggle for a socially just society, Indigenous universities, ancient cultures, the identification of oppressed groups, reconciliation, youth perceptions of the struggle for justice, and wisdom and knowledge of the Elders. Rather than call for papers the Conference organizers decided to invite speakers to address the topics and follow the presentations with discussion panels. For reasons that I never did quite fully understand I was invited to speak on the U.S. civil rights movement. For me, however, it didn't really matter so much the topic that I was to speak on but that I was finally getting to go to Australia. That is what I was happy about. All I knew is that a wish of a lifetime was about to be fulfilled.

Well, suffice to say, I gave a very good speech. It was about forty minutes in length and, for once, I did not use any visual aids. As a matter of a fact, the majority of the speech only touched on civil rights in a peripheral manner. I began by talking about the origins of humanity (Black people), the spread of these early Black people around the world (including Australia), the rise of classical African civilizations, the coming of the white man, and the international subjugation and forced dispersal of Black people. Only then did I talk about the U.S. civil rights and Black power movements. I judged the audience and decided that this was what most needed to be heard. I was totally uncompromising, I was extremely well received, and I was most satisfied with my presentation. I believe that you would have been proud.

The Second Pathways Conference was definitely an international event. There were contingents from southern Sudan, Hawaii, New Zealand, Canada, Barbados, and four African-Americans, including myself and the great Dr. Tony Martin from Wellesley College, Massachusetts. One sister came from Drexel University, while another came from Harvard. There was also a high-powered delegation from South Africa, including Rev. Makhenkesi Stofile (Premier of Eastern Cape Province) and the two youngest sons (Samora and Hlumelo) of Steven Biko. They were all interesting and engaging and a great pleasure to be around. Most interesting, though, were the Blackfellas themselves. I was particularly impressed with brother Murandoo Yanner (a dedicated young activist from northern Queensland), Charles Perkins (a pioneer Black Australian civil rights activist and now an Ancestor), Gary Foley (a Koori activist in Victoria), Errol West (a Black Tasmanian and a noted poet), and, of course, Dr. Smallwood herself. The most poignant part of the Conference were the stories of actual survivors of the Stolen Generations, white supremacy and police brutality. Accounts of Black deaths in police custody in many parts of Australia aroused great anger and fierce indignation. On the other hand, there was hardly a dry eye in the auditorium when the life stories of Stolen Generations survivors were recited and relayed. These were heart-rending narratives of children being torn from Aboriginal parents and never united again. Their stories haunt me still. The Conference, altogether, was an experience never to be forgotten.

Following the Second World Indigenous Pathways

Conference I left Queensland and journeyed south to New South Wales to the cities of Sydney and Canberra. The Sydney visit was highlighted by multiple visits to Redfern--the downtrodden but heroic Black community sometimes called the "Harlem of Australia." In Canberra I visited the Aboriginal Embassy and paid more respect to the traditional owners of the land. In both cases I was guided and accompanied by another impressive sister--Isabel Coe. Sister Isabel (like Dr. Smallwood and several of the women that I met in Australia) is a wonderful and dedicated Aboriginal activist. Being in the presence of these sisters was a great honor and I shall never forget their warmth, dedication, commitment and hospitality.

I left Australia with the distinct impression that the Blackfellas were a very special people, a highly spiritual people and real survivors of the storm. In spite of all the setbacks that they have suffered at the hands of Europeans they refuse to accept the concept of final defeat. They believe that they have been fighting an unrelenting war of survival for more than two centuries against the white invaders of the land down under. I will never forget a conversation I had towards the end of my trip with several sisters and brothers in Redfern. I was a real curiosity and a bona fide celebrity during my visit, and was treated with great respect and courtesy. I asked them what they knew of Black folk outside of Australia. They told me that most of their knowledge of African-Americans was derived via the television. They said that they saw us on TV or from afar but most of them had never had the opportunity to actually interact with one close up and intimate. We all learned a lot from the interaction and enjoyed the opportunity. At one point I halted the conversation and told them that I did not believe that Africans in America had been captured and enslaved and taken away from home for no reason. I told them that I believe that we have a special mission and purpose. I then paused and looked around the room and asked them collectively "do you believe that you have a mission and destiny in life" "Yes," they told me, "to have one last dust up with the white man to get our land back." I couldn't help but let go a broad smile of great satisfaction. These, indeed, were truly my sisters and brothers.

Return to the GLOBAL AFRICAN PRESENCE Home Page

Copyright 1998 Runoko Rashidi. All rights reserved.

Revised: October 19, 2001.

Webpage design: Kenneth Ritchards

Back to top

Reply to sender | Reply to group | Reply via web post

Messages in this topic (1)

Recent Activity

- 5

New Members

- 5

New Links

- 3

New Files

Visit Your Group

Special K Group

on Yahoo! Groups

Join the challenge and lose weight.

Connect w/Parents

on Yahoo! Groups

Get support and share information.

Y! Groups blog

the best source

for the latest

scoop on Groups.

Need to Reply?

Click one of the "Reply" links to respond to a specific message in the Daily Digest.

Create New Topic | Visit Your Group on the Web

Messages | Files | Photos | Links | Polls | Calendar

MARKETPLACE

---

Earn your degree in as few as 2 years - Advance your career with an AS, BS, MS degree

- College-Finder. net.

YAHOO! GROUPS

Change settings via the Web (Yahoo! ID required)

Change settings via email: Switch delivery to Individual | Switch format to Traditional

Visit Your Group | Yahoo! Groups Terms of Use | Unsubscribe

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24659|2008-01-30 05:54:24|Marc Taylor|Re: DO IT!!!!!!!!!!|

Ankh Udja Seneb

In reference to this statement, boycott everything that is not of our culture , PLEASE DEFINE TO ME (OR THE GROUP) THE DEFINITION OF OUR CULTURE! Black people as a whole in America dont have the foggiest idea on what is our culture. And just because you know what our culture is does that mean that the other 40 million know. Moreover, and even if the other 40 million knew what their culture is- is it the same culture that you know or are. To me this is our dilemma- we are not a homogenous group, with a homogenous culture- in my opinion, we are about 40 million so called black folks running around in America with about 20 million different cultures. On a day to day basis, I seldom and rarely meet any African Americans or black folks that are the same culture as me. For sake of vividness, I have a Booker T. Washington culture and mentality. I am a vivid follower of Booker Ts theoris and ideologies. I feel that our culture should have been based on what he was laying down- I feel that if we had followed Booker T. Washingtons guidance, we would have been on top now and also a well respected people around the world with a common culture.

In my neighborhood, there is a very racist Indian (the ones from india ) that has a corner store. I tell the youngsters to stay out of his store but THEIR CULTURE is driven by materialism and obtainment they could care less of how racist he is as long as they get their little Doritos, honeybuns, candy and soda. I say all of this in reference to your email to say dont be surprised if you see black people doing things that you think is not their culture because in fact to them it IS their culture.

A little while ago, I agreed to assist an older gentleman with passing out some flyers concerning coming to a meeting that concerns black and white power struggle in my neighborhood. His goal was to get all the black people to come out to this very important meeting. To make a long story short, only 1 or 2 black folks came to the meeting. He was really upset at the black attendance to this meeting, he asked me why did I think that the black folks didnt show. I told him because he used the terminology black residents on the flyer. I told him that next time just use the terminology residents on the flyer instead of black residents. He did, and at the next meeting, there were close to 30 or 40 black residents. Terrible story, just thought id share it with you.

---

From: Ta_Seti@yahooogroups.com [mailto: Ta_Seti@yahooogroups.com ] On Behalf Of shaimesh@aol.com
Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 10:14 AM
To: smaitawi@yahooogroups.com
Cc: ThePhenomenalWomen@yahooogroups.com;
ThePhenomenalWomen_NORTHEAST@yahooogroups.com; Luv4self_Network@yahooogroups.com;
Ta_Seti@yahooogroups.com ; blackkemeticsoul@yahooogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: DO IT!!!!!!!

From: Khonsugo@aol.com

Ee em htp,

I just was thinking. I want to send an email out to everybody to boycott everything that is not of our culture for at least one month. Commit to one month, if you make a mistake here and there keep going, however failure is not an option. The purpose is to slowly start to retrain our minds for our natural paradigm. Go the mom and pops stores and get your clothing, buy black(not conglomerate owned), go to places like uptown juice bar, raw soul, patty shops or cook, leave fast food chains alone. Watch as many black films as possible, one good film is called Kirikou. Retrain your thought!

Our culture is not lost we just have to utilize it. Please send this email to all your melanite people or should I say Khemetyu (Black People). If you have any questions, need advice or have comments on how to make this work please feel free to email me.

Do not treat this email like them little cherub I love you inspiration emails or chain mail. We want to break the chain and reconnect to the circle.

Ankh Udja Seneb
Life Vitality Health

Jaja N Medjay Nkht-Htp

---

Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape in the new year.

| 24660|2008-01-30 05:55:20|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - In hungry Haiti, dirt is food - Yahoo! News|

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 29 Jan 2008 14:22:58 -0800
From: Tafari khumbaka
To: ma-a-kherw-owner@yahooogroups.com
CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Subject: Yahoo! News Story - In hungry Haiti, dirt is food - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----

Personal message:

this in large part s americas fault,, for kidnapping a elected president and sinking an economy.....

In hungry Haiti, dirt is food - Yahoo! News
click below:

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080129/ap\_on\_re\_la\_am\_ca/haiti\_eating\_dirt

=====
Yahoo! News
<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24661|2008-01-30 05:55:34|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: AN FYI: From The Paut Neteru Collective
Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Te|

finding the heberu before 1700 bc is information that i donot have; any1 can say anything what one person says is true must be accountable to all who wish to research said "truth" or its just hearsay and gossip

Osa Kwa wrote:

To: the_paut_neteru@yahoogroups.com

From: "Osa Kwa"

Date: Tue, 29 Jan 2008 23:01:25 -0000

Subject: Fwd: AN FYI: From The Paut Neteru Collective Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Dear tafari i understand what you are say expecially about the hebrew as I also expressed ,and I am aware that kpa which the greeks called hieroglyphics is a different geometric concept of expression .A writing system is a type of symbolic system used to represent elements or statements expressible in language.so kpa is also a form of writing the bottom line is that these are information systems and information is eneryg , the sumerians may say Osi the egyptions Asaru ,the Egiptions my say Hapi the water diety while the Gen (Ga) call the same diety Afi eyie and the ewe call the same diety Oshun the egiptions are africans practicing african religion,the key with the egptions is their record keeping system was so large much servive . I just want you to no that those symbols can be traced back to tribes that I associated with, studied with, when studying among the tribes, the ewe, Gen, kwa, igbo you learn that Nobatia is a name their ancestors gave to predynasty nubia which goes back to kwa ba, tefunu and their descendants are the Heberu (not Hebrew). It is not the nobatae which you describe, and that ta mari was a name that was not confined to Egypt or Misr but to Africa the Egyptians were African so they were Tamarians at one time Africa was Tamre, Akebulkon, Ethiopia it is by going among the tribes and elders that much secret will also be revealed. There is also much information that is passed down in oral tradition, initiations etc that will rarely surface in books I do relate to your conversation and appreciate it very much, etc. In the\_paut\_neteru@yahoogroups.com, Tafari Khumbaka wrote:

>

> the nobatae the blacks the English fought and called the fuzzy-wuzzies are in history books and are spoke of by the ancient Egyptians these nomadic peoples of the eastern desert of Khamit are still to be found and have an oral history,,, perhaps they do have a contingent of people who intermingled with them that were Hebrew or perhaps they are the Hebrews who fled from Kom-Ombo with the rise of Shekhem Seti the 1st who drove out the last Hebrews who had sanctuary in Kom-Ombo, but the Nubians are not the Hebrews ;. Nubians may have at times been a large part of the people we call Hebrews, but the Hebrews are a created people who did not exist prior to 1700 BC, the Nubians the southern Africans of the Nile (Hapi) valley developed the hieroglyphics of the whole Hapi valley,,, and did not develop a writing system until late in their history their writing system is not as old as the Egyptian (2 lands ta-meri upper and lower) it was formulated late as was their pyramids > near the fall of ancient Egypt,,,,, ((( hieroglyphics and writing is usually considered two different systems)))

> do I think I'm right and you are wrong NO!,,, but I will say if people have facts different then what is available in the archaeological and Egyptological books then put it on the table, the facts change as they should when new evidence is provided, and new ways of thinking are explored; I want to know the truth and as best as I can see the Hebrews did not invent writing at no time

>

> Osa Kwa wrote:

> I do understand what you are saying.

> I understand that it the Ha ibri -ibri Heberu and how the word

> Heberw is use the symbol looking like 4 is related to Shelomone

> Nigus an name the Ethiopian (Axumite) gave to the person call Solomon

- > then there is the U symbol in it reference to the book of
- > yahweh urim turim ancient mystic order of melchizedek with the
- > stones then there is the ancient pre mozambic symbol related to
- > the qwai or kwa which name was changed to lamed whoes original
- > value was 50, and represent a constellation in ewe under a different
- > name, the U turned side ways is also an ewe symbols that is
- > pronounced as an (o) and the ewe are heberu nubians children of kwa
- > ba there are many heberu symbols on it and these tribes have
- > records of living in nobatia(which was an older name for nubia iI
- > understand that the nomads and invaders peddler passing though and
- > the germanic people who come to nubatia adapted much of their costum
- > I coined themselves hebrew. but those hieroglyphs found in that temple
- > of yahweh elroi (amun) are not Egyption you must understand that
- > the name kemete was given to egypt by the heberu after the divnities
- > ke me and Te and before the predynastic egypt(Har) the temple of
- > amun was the temples of orphma by those nubian coming there from
- > syria who were dealing with the Isis(mami wata tradition )which
- > predates egyption tradition many of these records are still
- > available via shango and ewe and the Gen people.
- > name Tafari khumbaka wrote:
- > >
- > > i live in the the southern u.s., so i know many black people who
- > want to keep their bible and want the hebrews to be black people,
- > maybe one day there will be proof of the hebrews being black,,i
- > think at different epochs they were mostly many(black white
- > inbetween) things ,,the ibri-habiru- hapiru-apiri- sagasa- saria-
- > sara,, were all a hodge-podge a confederate of many types of
- > people.... and the language of the people of Ua-Uat (nubia) , is
- > unique and is not hebrew ,, hebrew is a created language like
- > africaner or norleans creole,,,, it is not to be found before 1500
- > or 1600 bc,, and thats being nice with late dates, the language of
- > taseti, Ua-Uat is ancient, and many languages have their antecednts
- > in it but that does not make all those languages black or hebrew or
- > yis-ra-el , the hebrew alphabet comes from the caanite ,, i have
- > no problem with the hebrews being black nubians but theres not proof
- > of that, there is much in evidence though that the people of armana

[illegible]

>>>
>>>
>>> -----
>>> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
>> Mobile. Try it now.
>>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>>
>>
>> -----
>> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
> Mobile. Try it now.
>>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24662|2008-01-30 05:55:40|Tafari khumbaka|african beads|

http://www.nj.com/entertainment/arts/index.ssf/2008/01/glass\_beads\_of\_ghana\_arrive\_i.html

click on above if u like african beads

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24663|2008-01-30 05:56:11|Peter Gray|Re: Proud of Barack as a Black Man!|
Thank you, Pearl Jr.

Isn't it a shame some blacks can't see the "diversionary tactic" as you call it of making African Americans demand more of Obama than they would of a Walter Mondale? Shame on the old "civil rights" vanguard too for its hesitancy at a time when people like Andrew Young, etc. should be voicing their unequivocal support. Thanks again.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: pearljr123@yahoo.com
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:56:58 -0800
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Proud of Barack as a Black Man!

Well Well Well,if I agree with Obama on 75 perent of the issues that is a majority of my concerns, which is fantastic! The reason for the 25 percent allowance of disagreement is because I, as a layman, may not understand the innner workings of each criteria that makes up a certain decision.

I know Obama is what this country needs and yes, I am so very proud that he is a Black man with a Black wife and Black children. I don't fall for the "White opinion" that tells me that I should negate his Blackness so to prove to non-Blacks that I'm not favoring him because he is Black.

I will never apologize for loving Blackness, because the trickery in this "support because he is Black like me" trick is due to White HAVING ONLY VOTED FOR WHITES BECAUSE THEY WERE WHITE LIKE THEM.

I don't have to prove I'm not a racist, White people do!

So let's not get this twistedand continue to fall for this diversionary manipulation that aims to make us AGAIN and AGAIN apologize for loving and supporting a people that look like our own children.

"BARACK OBAMA AIN'T NO FLAVA FLAV" if I can borrow a quote from Arsenio Hall.

Mr. Obama is qualified, highly educated, experienced as an elected official since 1997 (Hillary only since 2000), and upon graduation from Harvard Law School (just as with Michelle Obama), Barack went to work for $13,000 a year on the southside of Chicago instead of taking offers from prestigious law firms for more $100,000 annually.

If you'd like to see my interview with Hill Harper (attended Harvard with Barack) and Tyson Beckford, go to youtube.com and search for Pearl Jr and Hill Harper or Pearl Jr and Tyson Beckford.

Black folks stop with allowing mainstream America distance his Blackness from ours. He is Black, but he has to be a President for all of America and I ain't mad at him for that.

TOGETHER WE MUST CHANGE THE WORLD.

Much love for my beloved people,

Pearl Jr.

www.BlackWomenNeedLoveToo.com

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!
| 24664|2008-01-30 05:56:19|cristofori whitakara|Re: Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Yout|
according to the book of the glory of the black race over the whites by al jahiz the prophet muhammad was a black african.

AL-JAHIZ AND THE BOOK OF THE GLORY OF THE BLACKS OVER THE WHITES

By RUNOKO RASHIDI

DEDICATED TO DR. TARIQ AL-MANSOUR & DR. M. EJAZ ALI

---

"The Ethiopians, the Berbers, the Copts, the Nubians, the Zaghawa, the Moors, the people of Sind, the Hindus, the Qamar, the Dabila, the Chinese, and those beyond them...the islands in the seas...are full of blacks...up to Hindustan and China."

--Al-Jahiz, Book of the Glory of the Blacks Over the Whites

Abu 'Uthman' Amr Ibn Bahr al-Kinani al-Fuqaimi al-Basri, an outstanding African scholar known to posterity as al-Jahiz (ca. 776-869), has been described by Bernard Lewis as "one of the greatest prose writers in classical Arabic literature." On this issue all of the major authorities agree. According to Christopher Dawson, "Al-Jahiz was the greatest scholar and stylist of the ninth century." Philip K. Hitti wrote that al-Jahiz "was one of the most productive and frequently quoted scholars in Arabic literature. His originality, wit, satire, and learning, made him widely known."

Born in Basra, in southern Iraq, al-Jahiz "studied philology, philosophy, and science there," and became a brilliant scholar, prolific writer and chronicler of the deeds of African people. Al-Jahiz lived during an era marked by a visible increase in overt racial hostility directed by Arabs against Africans in the Islamic world. One of the most extreme reactions to this was the massive slave insurrection in 868 (around the time of Al-Jahiz's death), known in Arab histories as the "Revolt of the Blacks."

Al-Jahiz was the author of the Book of the Glory of the Blacks Over the Whites--a special essay in which the global history of African people and the subject of Blackness itself was discussed. During the 1980s, through the efforts of Mr. William Preston, the work was finally translated and published in English. It was long overdue. The Book of the Glory of the Blacks Over the Whites is a remarkable document. It includes penetrating commentaries on great African heroes such as Antarah the Lion, Lokman--the celebrated sage of the East--and the African ancestry of the Prophet Muhammad himself. According to Al-Jahiz, Abd al-Muttalib, the guardian of the sacred Kaaba, "fathered ten Lords, Black as the night and magnificent." One of these men was Abdallah, the father of the Prophet Muhammad.

SOURCES:

The African Presence in Early Asia, edited by Runoko Rashidi & Ivan Van Sertima

History of the Arabs, by Philip Hitti

Peter Gray wrote:

In the article about "Controversy .....", the argument is made that modern Egyptians bear great genetic resemblance to European and/or Asian phenotypes than sub-Saharan/ tropical African peoples. So what's new?!
The modern (Arab) Egyptians, like Zahi H., arrived around 711 AD as part of Mohammed's invading hordes, so who would expect them to resemble black Africans?

Unless you read the article carefully, you might think they are arguing against the Afrocentric claim that dynastic Egypt was a black African civilisation.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com

From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Date: Sun, 27 Jan 2008 20:53:02 -0800

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube))

read some of 1st article,,, very interesting!

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Hi Yvette,

> This comes about with an National Geographic newsletter, > that stated only Nubians ruled for 75 yrs in Egypt. The > spell is broken, and the Truth has been told.

And not only were the 25th Dynasty Nubian and Black, egyptologists are admitting the Nubian origin of pre-dynastic Egypt as well. That is what is much more interesting - that mainstream academics for ages have linked the Pre-Dynastic Egyptians with Nubia and 'Sub-Saharan' Africa. Even C. Loring Brace (see link below).

This is an article I came across. I don't like any article that starts out with a blanket condemnation of Afrocentrists - such a blanket condemnation is neither objective nor scientific. However, it does mention the misstatements of for instance Zahi Hawass, who claimed that Tut was 'Caucasoid'. (Which in my book alone would disqualify him from holding any position to do with egyptology.)

This article also makes the mistake of trying to link Ancient Egyptians with 'Tropical Africans', whatever that may mean. Instead, they should have looked to link Ancient Egyptians with ancient Nubians, who after all are their neighbors.

Find out about volunteering to AllExperts
Controversy over racial characteristics of Ancient Egyptians: Encyclopedia
BETA

http://en.allexperts.com/e/c/co/controversy\_over\_racial\_characteristics\_of\_ancient\_egyptians.htm

In another article, in the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form

C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A.

Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/modern ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

Interesting overview of Pre-Dynastic Egypt at Wikipedia:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Predynastic\_Egypt#Precursors to the Predynastic

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24665|2008-01-30 05:56:29|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have someradically different cultural expressions,,like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have onUauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglyphs(metu neter)and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,, which leadsme to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat=Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule ofNarmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset( thebes=Waset=Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands ( punt never to beunder the gov. of Khami) Nub=Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people developpe the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
 From: cristofori whitakara
 Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:27:51 -0800 (PST)
 Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us. Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24666|2008-01-30 05:56:36|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Yout|
have not read article ,,but love what u have here to say!

Peter Gray wrote:

In the article about "Controversy ....., the argument is made that modern Egyptians bear great genetic resemblance to European and/or Asian phenotypes than sub-Saharan/tropical African peoples. So what's new?!! Thw modern (Arab) Egyptians, like Zahi H.,arrivedaround 711 ADas part of Mohammed's invading hordes, so who would expect them to resemble black Africans?

Unless you read the article carefully, youmightthink they are arguing against the Afrocentric claim that dynastic Egypt was a black African civilisation.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com
Date: Sun, 27 Jan 2008 20:53:02 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Pre-Dynastic Egypt And Nubia (Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube))

read some of 1st article,,, very interesting!

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Hi Yvette,

> This comes about with an National Geographic newsletter, > that stated only Nubians ruled for 75 yrs in Egypt. The > spell is broken, and the Truth has been told.

And not only were the 25th Dynasty Nubian and Black, egyptologists are admitting the Nubian origin of pre-dynastic Egypt as well. That is what is much more interesting - that mainstream academics for ages have linked the Pre-Dynastic Egyptians with Nubia and 'Sub-Saharan' Africa. Even C. Loring Brace (see link below).

This is an article I came across. I don't like any article that starts out with a blanket condemnation of Afrocentrists - such a blanket condemnation is neither objective nor scientific. However, it does mention the misstatements of for instance Zahi Hawass, who claimed that Tut was 'Caucasoid'. (Which in my book alone would disqualify him from holding any position to do with egyptology.)

This article also makes the mistake of trying to link Ancient Egyptians with 'Tropical Africans', whatever that may mean. Instead, they should have looked to link Ancient Egyptians with ancient Nubians, who after all are their neighbors.

Find out about volunteering to AllExperts
Controversy over racial characteristics of Ancient Egyptians: Encyclopedia BETA

http://en.allexperts.com/e/c/co/controversy\_over\_racial\_characteristics\_of\_ancient\_egyptians.htm

In another article, in the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form
C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A. Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/ modern ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

Interesting overview of Pre-Dynastic Egypt at Wikipedia:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Predynastic\_Egypt#Precursors\_to\_the\_Predynastic

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24667|2008-01-30 06:40:38|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - In hungry Haiti, dirt is food - Yahoo! |

What we can say is America's fault is that in the first place they invaded Haiti in the early 20th. century (1915?), and furthermore that they later installed Papa Doc as their puppet leader.

Peter

---

To: isosceles@comcast.net

From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Date: Tue, 29 Jan 2008 14:27:25 -0800

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - In hungry Haiti, dirt is food - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 29 Jan 2008 14:22:58 -0800
From: Tafari khumbaka
To: ma-a-kherw-owner@ yahoogroups. com
CC: tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com
Subject: Yahoo! News Story - In hungry Haiti, dirt is food - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

this in large part s americas fault,, for kidnapping a elected president and sinking an economy..... ..

In hungry Haiti, dirt is food - Yahoo! News
click below:

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080129/ap\_on\_re\_la\_am\_ca/haiti\_eating\_dirt

=====

Yahoo! News
<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!
| 24668|2008-01-30 14:23:19|shaimesh@aol.com|"Masters of the Martial Arts Exhibition" 2/3/08
- National Black Th|
From: sacredliving@bww.com

info has sent you a message about "Masters of the Martial Arts Exhibition."

View the event

Message from info:

Grand Master Mfundishi Jhutyms along with count less other Masters of the Martial Arts of Afrakan Heritage will be given tribute at this grand event. He will also do a matial arts demonstration with Abut Seshatms, his wife and martial arts student. Black Gold Sacred Living will be featuring new Kemet artifacts at the Afrakan Market place. We invite you to support your elders and community. Dua (Praises) Ankh (Life) Udja (Prosperity) Seneb (Health)

Location: National Black Theatre - Harlem, NYC
<http://www.nationalblacktheatre.org/about.htm>

---

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

| 24669|2008-01-30 19:45:16|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Yahoo! News Story - Australia to apologize to Aborigines - Yaho|

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

Date: 30 Jan 2008 13:07:22 -0800
From: Tafari khumbaka
To: maatcollective@yahoogroups.com
CC: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Subject: Yahoo! News Story - Australia to apologize to Aborigines - Yahoo! News

Tafari khumbaka (tafari_sudra@yahoo.com) has sent you a news article.
(Email address has not been verified.)

-----
Personal message:

click below

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20080130/ap\_on\_re\_au\_an/australia\_aborigines

=====

Yahoo! News
<http://news.yahoo.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24670|2008-01-30 19:45:18|ANGELINE BANDON-BIBUM|An Eye Opening Experience in Cameroon|

HelloEveryone!

I'm back from Africa!

My*Literary Dreaming* blog has beenupdated with a new article. I have included an article that I wrote, sharing some of the experiencesof my three weektrip to Africa over the holidays. I invite you to read my article, "An Eye Opening Experience in Cameroon".

Click here to readmy article:

<http://angelinebandonbibum.blogspot.com/>

Peace and blessings to you.

Angeline Bandon-Bibum, Author of Sojourner's Dream

Check out my websites:

<http://www.authorsden.com/msangelinebandonbibum>

<http://angelinebandonbibum.blogspot.com>

<http://sojournersdreamanovel.blogspot.com>

<http://sojournersdreamlamentationsofawarrior.blogspot.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24671|2008-01-30 19:45:30|Ferg|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speakig system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shownthat a linguisticrelationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have someradically different cultural expressions, ,like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have onUauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglphs(metu neter)and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,, which leadsme to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat= Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule of Narmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset( thebes=Waset= Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands ( punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub= Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people develope the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:27:51 -0800 (PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of thruth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

[http://www.youtube.com/watch?
v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related](http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related)

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

| Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24672|2008-01-30 21:56:10|Divine Ruler Equality Allah|Ruins of 7,000-year-old city found in Egypt oasis|

So not only did the Hpy valley society beat "sumeria" in writing, but CITIES as well

---

http://news.yahoo.com/s/afp/20080129/wl\_mideast\_afp/egyptarchaeology\_080129202632;\_ylt=Agm67ZOfdgv\_rC0zlBc9kUibOrgF

CAIRO (AFP) - A team of US archaeologists has discovered the ruins of a city dating back to the period of the first farmers 7,000 years ago in Egypt's Fayyum oasis, the supreme council of antiquities said on Tuesday.

ADVERTISEMENT

"An electromagnetic survey revealed the existence in the Karanis region of a network of walls and roads similar to those constructed during the Greco-Roman period," the council's chief Zahi Hawwas said.

The remnants of the city are "still buried beneath the sand and the details of this discovery will be revealed in due course," Hawwas said.

"The artefacts consist of the remains of walls and houses in terracotta or dressed limestone as well as a large quantity of pottery and the foundations of ovens and grain stores," he added.

The remains date back to the Neolithic period between 5,200 and 4,500 BC.

The local director of antiquities, Ahmed Abdel Alim, said the site was just seven kilometres (four miles) from Fayyum lake and would probably have lain at the water's edge at the time it was inhabited.

| 24673|2008-01-31 14:01:21|cristofori whitakara|Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|

Attachments :

if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

Note: forwarded message attached.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24674|2008-01-31 14:21:11|John Everette|Pictures of Senator Barack Obama and his family.
Here are some wonderful pictures of Senator Barack Obama and his family. It appears (from the pictures) that he had a loving childhood.

<http://www.chicagotribune.com/news/politics/070323obama-early-photogallery,0,5458360.photogallery>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24675|2008-01-31 14:21:40|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypt's) customs and language a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologists the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

http://books.google.com/books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarers+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=-7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language, the shona, the ethiopians, that's indigenous to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english, seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to an indigenous nation and it has a lot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speaking system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have some radically different cultural expressions, like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression, also note that the information we have on Uauat (nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in their history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglyphs (metu neter) and although meager there's a little evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,but

the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,,, which leadsme to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat=Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule ofNarmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset( thebes=Waset=Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands ( punt never to beunder the gov. of Khami) Nub=Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people developpe the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:27:51 -0800
(PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

crisofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil,
1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend,
newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?
Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?
Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24676|2008-01-31 14:22:56|Paul Kekai Manansala|UN vandals spray graffiti on Sahara?s
prehistoric art|

Graffiti on the rock at Lajuad

Dalya Alberge, Arts Correspondent

Spectacular prehistoric depictions of animal and human figures created up to 6,000 years ago on Western Saharan rocks have been vandalised by United Nations peacekeepers, The Times has learnt.

Archaeological sites boasting ancient paintings and engravings of giraffes, buffalo and elephants have been defaced within the past two years by personnel attached to the UN mission, known by its French acronym, Minurso.

Graffiti, some of it more than a metre high and sprayed with paint meant for use for marking routes, now blights the rock art at Lajuad, an isolated site known as Devil Mountain, which is regarded by the local Sahrawi population as a mystical place of great cultural significance.

Many of the UN "graffiti artists" signed and dated their work, revealing their identities and where they are from. Minurso personnel stationed in Western Sahara come from almost 30 countries. They are monitoring a ceasefire between the occupying Moroccan forces and the Polisario Front, which is seeking independence.

One Croatian peacekeeper scrawled "Petar CroArmy" across a rock face. Extensive traces of pigment from rock painting are visible underneath. Another left behind Cyrillic graffiti, and "Evgeny" from Russia scribbled AUI, the code for the Minurso base at Aguanit. "Mahmoud" from Egypt left his mark at Rekeiz Lemgasem, and "Ibrahim" wrote his name and number over a prehistoric painting of a giraffe. "Issa", a Kenyan major who signed his name and wrote the date, had just completed a UN course, Ethics in Peacekeeping, documents show.

Julian J. Harston, the UN's representative of the Secretary-General for Western Sahara and head of Minurso, said that he had been shocked by the scale of the vandalism. After visiting two of the sites, including Devil Mountain, this week, he said: "I was appalled. You'd think some of them would know better. These are officers, not squaddies." The UN would take action against any officers "kind enough to leave their calling card. We will report it to the troop-contributing countries. We can move them."

The extent of the damage is revealed in a report by Nick Brooks, of the University of East Anglia, and Joaquim Soler, of the University of Gerona, Spain, which was passed to The Times yesterday. It outlines the "severe vandalism", saying that it "now appears to be an essentially universal practice when Minurso staff visit rock art sites . . . Minurso staff have felt entitled to destroy elements of Western Sahara's and the Sahrawis' cultural heritage, despite being aware of UN ethics in peacekeeping, and in breach of legislation enshrined in the 1954 Convention for the Protection of Cultural Property in the Event of Armed Conflict."

It concludes: "Minurso personnel have played a major role in damaging archaeological sites, and such staff are engaged in the systematic defacement of valuable archaeological sites over a large area . . . the recent damage at Lajuad is unprecedented."

The vandalism will reignite the debate about the conduct of UN peacekeepers after a series of scandals. Last January the UN admitted that more than 200 of its troops had been disciplined for sex offences, including rape and child abuse, in the preceding three years; in May it emerged that Pakistani peacekeepers had been trading weapons with Congolese militia.

| 24677|2008-01-31 14:26:09|Paul Kekai Manansala|Ruins of 7,000-year-old city found in Egypt oasis|

Tue Jan 29, 3:26 PM ET

AFP/EAD-HO Photo: This undated picture released by the Egyptian Council of Antiquities shows archaeologists doing excavation work...

CAIRO (AFP) - A team of US archaeologists has discovered the ruins of a city dating back to the period of the first farmers 7,000 years ago in Egypt's Fayyum oasis, the supreme council of antiquities said on Tuesday.

"An electromagnetic survey revealed the existence in the Karanis region of a network of walls and roads similar to those constructed during the Greco-Roman period," the council's chief Zahi Hawwas said.

The remnants of the city are "still buried beneath the sand and the details of this discovery will be revealed in due course," Hawwas said.

"The artefacts consist of the remains of walls and houses in terracotta or dressed limestone as well as a large quantity of pottery and the foundations of ovens and grain stores," he added.

The remains date back to the Neolithic period between 5,200 and 4,500 BC.

The local director of antiquities, Ahmed Abdel Alim, said the site was just seven kilometres (four miles) from Fayyum lake and would probably have lain at the water's edge at the time it was inhabited.

| 24678|2008-01-31 19:31:35|Djehuti Sundaka|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|
If Santa Claus is a myth, are the children who claim him to be real liars?

Djehuti Sundaka

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>
> if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?
>
> Note: forwarded message attached.
>
> -----
> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!

Search.

> boogie213 wants to share a video with you:
> <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7XbxeEgCNtY>
>
> Video Description
>
> As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean ether a slave or a minister as Moses was called.

>
>
> To accept my friend request, click here:

http://www.youtube.com/signup\_login?u=afYMpsnuZK4&ci=8D9B17819A876157

>
> To respond to boogie213, click on the following link:

http://www.youtube.com/outbox?to\_user=boogie213

>

> Thanks,

> boogie213

>

| 24679|2008-01-31 19:42:50|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [maatcollective] Upcoming Events (CD Release Show, Poetry, Musi|

Afrikan Liberation wrote:

To: maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

From: "Afrikan Liberation"

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 15:19:52 -0500

Subject: [maatcollective] Upcoming Events (CD Release Show, Poetry, Music, Community)

Greetings family!

BREAKING NEWS??..this just in????.

We have just confirmed that Brothas Keepa has wrapped up production on their 2nd CD! That's right folks ? the dynamic spoken word duo is at it again!! Their sophomore CD is entitled ?The Re-education of the Negro?, and you are formally invited to the CD release show:

When: Saturday, March 8th, 2008

Where: HBCU LeMoyne Owen Little Theatre

Time: 7:30 PM

Cost: $15 (free CD with admission)

The CD release show will also feature Powwah tha Poet, HardFace, Phu?Cha, Jasira, Prophecy, and the band Prime Cut.

Don?t forget to check them out on YouTube as well paying homage to those murdered during Hurricane Katrina/FEMA.

Part 1: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aWBUDHkutXU>

Part 2: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dYWcYMPIIhU>

Also ....

-----

LIBERATION POETRY NIGHT!!!

When: Saturday, February 2nd

Where: Marcus Garvey Institute

565 Parkway (the corner of South Parkway & Lauderdale)

Time: 8 PM

Free admission!!! If you're a singer, rapper, poet, musician ? the mic is open and all yours! Call (901) 859-4051 for more info.

---

FEED THE PEOPLE!!!

When: Sunday, February 3rd

Where: The corner of Poplar & High Street

Time: 12 PM

If we eat, they eat! Join us to feed those less fortunate! We're always in need of any food, drinks, and if you have any clothes that you can donate ? we are in need of that as well. If all you can donate is your time ? that'll work too!!! Come on out and help us feed our folks! Call (901) 229-8104 or (901) 859-4051 for more info.

---

Rebirth of Soul ? Donny Hathaway Tribute

We proudly present to you "A Donny Hathaway Tribute" featuring artists Karen Brown, Tonya Rogers, Chris J, and Will Graves.

Come and celebrate the life and music of one of our greats "Donny Hathaway" February 16th @ 8:00pm at the New Daisy Theatre on Beale Street.

Tickets are $15 in advance/$20 at the door, RSVP seating will available.

Tickets can be purchased @ www.MemphisRebirth.com, call for satellite vendors throughout the city.

Thanks and Look forward to seeing you there.

--

Corey D. Davis

Rebirth Entertainment, Inc

(901) 340-9297

www.MemphisRebirth.com

"If It's Not Soul, It's Not Music"

---

Don't see us there ; beat us there! Feel free to forward this email to any other interested parties.

Peace&Blessings.....

-----
Afrikan Liberation sent this email to maatcollective@yahoogroups.com Questions? Contact rbg_liberation@yahoo.com or Afrikan Liberation, RBG 4 Life, Memphis, Tennessee 38116, United States

Privacy Policy - <http://www.FanBridge.com/learn/privacy.php>

Unsubscribe -

<http://www.FanBridge.com/unsubscribe/immed.php?userid=14544&email=maatcollective@yahoogroups.com&confCode=54cPc2hX6XXe5PPhBc4PeBcFPc>

Update Your Information:

<http://www.FanBridge.com/signup/fanupdate.php?userid=14544&email=maatcollective@yahoogroups.com&confCode=54cPc2hX6XXe5PPhBc4PeBcFPc>

Forward to a friend:

<http://brothaskeepa.fanbridge.com/signup/forward.php?userid=14544&sid=6121486&cid=452516&cc=54cPc2hX6XXe5PPhBc4PeBcFPc>

This email message is powered by Fanbridge:

<http://www.FanBridge.com/b.php?id=14544>

Free Email and Mobile fan list management for bands.

Yahoo! Groups Links

To visit your group on the web, go to:

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/maatcollective/>

Your email settings:

Individual Email | Traditional

To change settings online go to:

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/maatcollective/join>
(Yahoo! ID required)

To change settings via email:

<mailto:maatcollective-digest@yahoogroups.com>

<mailto:maatcollective-fullfeatured@yahoogroups.com>

To unsubscribe from this group, send an email to:

maatcollective-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com

Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to:

<http://docs.yahoo.com/info/terms/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24680|2008-01-31 19:43:03|Tafari khumbaka|Re: UN vandals spray graffiti on Saharas
prehistoric art|

Paul Kekai Manansala wrote:

Graffiti on the rock at Lajuad

http://entertainment.timesonline.co.uk/tol/arts\_and\_entertainment/visual\_arts/article3280058.ece

Dalya Alberge, Arts Correspondent

Spectacular prehistoric depictions of animal and human figures created up to 6,000 years ago on Western Saharan rocks have been vandalised by United Nations peacekeepers, The Times has learnt.

Archaeological sites boasting ancient paintings and engravings of giraffes, buffalo and elephants have been defaced within the past two years by personnel attached to the UN mission, known by its French acronym, Minurso.

Graffiti, some of it more than a metre high and sprayed with paint meant for use for marking routes, now blights the rock art at Lajuad, an isolated site known as Devil Mountain, which is regarded by the local Sahrawi population as a mystical place of great cultural significance.

Many of the UN "graffiti artists" signed and dated their work, revealing their identities and where they are from. Minurso personnel stationed in Western Sahara come from almost 30 countries. They are monitoring a ceasefire between the occupying Moroccan forces and the Polisario Front, which is seeking independence.

One Croatian peacekeeper scrawled "Petar CroArmy" across a rock face. Extensive traces of pigment from rock painting are visible underneath. Another left behind Cyrillic graffiti, and "Evgeny" from Russia scribbled AUI, the code for the Minurso base at Aguanit. "Mahmoud" from Egypt left his mark at Rekeiz Lemgasem, and "Ibrahim" wrote his name and number over a prehistoric painting of a giraffe. "Issa", a Kenyan major who signed his name and wrote the date, had just completed a UN course, Ethics in Peacekeeping, documents show.

Julian J. Harston, the UN's representative of the Secretary-General for Western Sahara and head of Minurso, said that he had been shocked by the scale of the vandalism. After visiting two of the sites, including Devil Mountain, this week, he said: "I was appalled. You'd think some of them would know better. These are officers, not squaddies." The UN would take action against any officers "kind enough to leave their calling card. We will report it to the troop-contributing countries. We can move them."

The extent of the damage is revealed in a report by Nick Brooks, of the University of East Anglia, and Joaquim Soler, of the University of Gerona, Spain, which was passed to The Times yesterday. It outlines the "severe vandalism", saying that it "now appears to be an essentially universal practice when Minurso staff visit rock art sites . . . Minurso staff have felt entitled to destroy elements of Western Sahara's and the Sahrawis' cultural heritage, despite being aware of UN ethics in peacekeeping, and in breach of legislation enshrined in the 1954 Convention for the Protection of Cultural Property in the Event of Armed Conflict."

It concludes: "Minurso personnel have played a major role in damaging archaeological sites, and such staff are engaged in the systematic defacement of valuable archaeological sites over a large area . . . the recent damage at Lajuad is unprecedented. "

The vandalism will reignite the debate about the conduct of UN peacekeepers after a series of scandals. Last January the UN admitted that more than 200 of its troops had been disciplined for sex offences, including rape and child abuse, in the preceding three years; in May it emerged that Paki-stani peacekeepers had been trading weapons with Congolese militia.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24681|2008-01-31 19:43:12|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!!
liars about what?

cristofori whitakara wrote:

if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

Note: forwarded message attached.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Subject: boogie213 sent you a video!

From: YouTube Service

To: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 14:00:04 -0800 (PST)

YouTube Broadcast Yourself?

boogie213 wants to share a video with you

watch video

Video Description

As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean either a slave or a minister as Moses was called.

To accept my friend request, click here.

To respond to boogie213, click here.

Thanks,

boogie213

2008 YouTube, Inc.

Using YouTube

YouTube Help

Check the Help Center for answers to common questions.

Your Account Settings

To change your preferences, settings, or personal info, go to the 'My Account' section.

Email Notifications

To change or cancel email notifications from YouTube, go to the Email Options section of your Profile.

Report Spam Email

If this is a spam email, please report it.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24682|2008-01-31 19:49:44|kungfuhustle|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|

If someone tells you a lie, and you know it is a lie, are you a liar for willingly propagating it?

The one thing the world teaches children at an early age, is to accept living in contradiction, even embracing it.

Praise Juan Jesus

meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Djehuti Sundaka <Djehuti\_Sundaka@hotmail.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!

Date: Fri, 01 Feb 2008 03:31:31 -0000

Mailer: Yahoo Groups Message Poster

If Santa Claus is a myth, are the children who claim him to be real liars?

Djehuti Sundaka

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

> if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

>

> Note: forwarded message attached.

>

> -----

> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!

Search.

> boogie213 wants to share a video with you:

> <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7XbxeEgCNtY>

>

> Video Description

>

> As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land,

descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa.

Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean ether a slave or a minister as Moses was called.

>

>

> To accept my friend request, click here:

http://www.youtube.com/signup\_login?u=afYMpsnuZK4&ci=8D9B17819A876157

>

> To respond to boogie213, click on the following link:

http://www.youtube.com/outbox?to\_user=boogie213

>

> Thanks,

> boogie213

>

| 24683|2008-02-01 06:01:48|Peter Gray|RE: [Ta_Seti] UN vandals spray graffiti on Saharas prehistoric ar|

I wonder what the appropriate punishment should be for descrating or destroying (as these UN trained vandals have erased forever) a historic treasure like the Colisseum in Rome, or a Biblical scroll thought to be afundamental thesis of Hebrew origins/ancestry? Life in prison? Execution?

As for flooding ancient Nubian historyunder the artificially created Lke "Nasser", obliterating that chapter of African history? Regime change?

Peter

the

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 19:26:40 -0800

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] UN vandals spray graffiti on Saharas prehistoric art

Paul Kekai Manansala wrote:

Graffiti on the rock at Lajuad

http://entertainment.timesonline.co.uk/tol/arts\_and\_entertainment/visual\_arts/article3280058.ece

Dalya Alberge, Arts Correspondent

Spectacular prehistoric depictions of animal and human figures created up to 6,000 years ago on Western Saharan rocks have been vandalised by United Nations peacekeepers, The Times has learnt.

Archaeological sites boasting ancient paintings and engravings of giraffes, buffalo and elephants have been defaced within the past two years by personnel attached to the UN mission, known by its French acronym, Minurso.

Graffiti, some of it more than a metre high and sprayed with paint meant for use for marking routes, now blights the rock art at Lajuad, an isolated site known as Devil Mountain, which is regarded by the local Sahrawi population as a mystical place of great cultural significance.

Many of the UN "graffiti artists" signed and dated their work, revealing their identities and where they are from. Minurso personnel stationed in Western Sahara come from almost 30 countries. They are monitoring a ceasefire between the occupying Moroccan forces and the Polisario Front, which is seeking independence.

One Croatian peacekeeper scrawled "Petar CroArmy" across a rock face. Extensive traces of pigment from rock painting are visible underneath. Another left behind Cyrillic graffiti, and "Evgeny" from Russia scribbled AUI, the code for the Minurso base at Aguanit. "Mahmoud" from Egypt left his mark at Rekeiz Lemgasem, and "Ibrahim" wrote his name and number over a prehistoric painting of a giraffe. "Issa", a Kenyan major who signed his name and wrote the date, had just completed a UN course, Ethics in Peacekeeping, documents show.

Julian J. Harston, the UN's representative of the Secretary-General for Western Sahara and head of Minurso, said that he had been shocked by the scale of the vandalism. After visiting two of the sites, including Devil Mountain, this week, he said: "I was appalled. You'd think some of them would know better. These are officers, not squaddies." The UN would take action against any officers "kind enough to leave their calling card. We will report it to the troop-contributing countries. We can move them."

The extent of the damage is revealed in a report by Nick Brooks, of the University of East Anglia, and Joaquim Soler, of the University of Gerona, Spain, which was passed to The Times yesterday. It outlines the "severe vandalism", saying that it "now appears to be an essentially universal practice when Minurso staff visit rock art sites . . . Minurso staff have felt entitled to destroy elements of Western Sahara's and the Sahrawis' cultural heritage, despite being aware of UN ethics in peacekeeping, and in breach of legislation enshrined in the 1954 Convention for the Protection of Cultural Property in the Event of Armed Conflict."

It concludes: "Minurso personnel have played a major role in damaging archaeological sites, and such staff are engaged in the systematic defacement of valuable archaeological sites over a large area . . . the recent damage at Lajuad is unprecedented. "

The vandalism will reignite the debate about the conduct of UN peacekeepers after a series of scandals. Last January the UN admitted that more than 200 of its troops had been disciplined for sex offences, including rape and child abuse, in the preceding three years; in May it emerged that Paki-stani peacekeepers had been trading weapons with Congolese militia.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Helping your favorite cause is as easy as instant messaging. You IM, we give. Learn more.
| 24684|2008-02-01 06:31:11|Peter Gray|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
Justa couple points:

1. Kiswahili is spoken (and understood) all the way from Mozambique to Somalia. The "capital" of Sawhili civilization , Kilwa, was destroyed by Vasco da Gama in 1502?), at which time. yes. ther was esignificant trade between East Africa and the East (China, India). So we knjow the language is at least 500 years old.

2. The Persians who conquered Egypt were in turn conquered by the marauding hordes of the great Khan, aka the Mongol Hordes,who subsequently became accustomed to the sedentary lifestyle and fused many of their own traditions with those the preceeding Persians, e.g. , the use of blue tiles (Persian) on their domed temples (which had as their blueprint/motif the traditional Mongolian hut-like abode).

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 09:54:11 -0800
Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has it inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language

a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologistthe chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

[http://www.atlastou rs.net/jordan/ aqaba\_history.html](http://www.atlastou rs.net/jordan/ aqaba_history.html)

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

http://books.google.com/books?id=

E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer
s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=\_U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language , the shona , the ethiopians , thats indegious to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english,

seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to aindegenous nation and it has alot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speakig system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shownthat a linguisticrelationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have some radically different cultural expressions, like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression, also note that the information we have on Uauat (nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglyphs (metu neter) and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,, but the writing ; the egyptian hieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat (nub) writing,, which leads me to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat=Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping, the same as khamit-u hieratic (which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very own records, perhaps many do not understand that Uauat was a separate government they broke off from khamit (upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1st government under Shekhem ur Shekhem (king of kings) Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule of Narmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset (thebes=Waset=Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti, Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands (punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub=Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-

meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people develop the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:27:51 -
0800 (PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness.

A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat)
something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen

wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1 of 5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend,
newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

| 24685|2008-02-01 07:46:25|Manu Ampim|Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Greetings Ta-Seti,

I saw that a couple members have already addressed the National Geographic distortions in its current Feb. '08 issue, but I thought that I would also forward my comments on this so-called "black pharaohs" issue. My comments are below.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Jan. 27, 2008

Greetings All,

This brief note is in response to several emails and inquiries that I have received about the current issue of National Geographic.

I already have a copy of the National Geographic (NG) February 2008 article on the "Black Pharaohs: Conquerors of Ancient Egypt" and it is the usual NG *propaganda.*

First, NG continues to discuss Kush and Nubia as the land with the "Black Pharaohs" in order to distinguish them from the allegedly "non-Black Pharaohs" in Kemet (Egypt). This propaganda began in 1996 with the book of Robert Morkot on "The Black Pharaohs." This nonsense has nothing to do with scholarship, as the Africoid identity of the founders and rulers of Kemet has been well-established (despite Eurocentric denial) since the work of Dr. Cheikh Anta Diop in 1974.

Second, NG and mainstream Western writers only discuss Kush and Nubia in terms of warfare against the Egyptians, and the Egyptian influence on these civilizations. For example, on the first page (p. 35) of the NG article the caption under the picture states, "...an Egyptian-style pyramid...in Sudan" in reference to the pyramid field at Nuri, Sudan. There is no pyramid field in Egypt similar to Nuri, and yet the readers of this statement are led to falsely believe that the ancient Sudanese simply copied and imitated Egypt. Mainstream Western publications, scholars, and writers rarely discuss any monuments or accomplishments in the Sudan without them being in the "Egyptian style" or "influenced" by Egypt.

The problem with the mainstream studies on the Kushite and Nubian civilizations in the Sudan is that the Western scholars writing about these cultures are basically Egyptologists who have a narrow and distorted understanding of the advanced civilizations in the Sudan. They write from the point of view of narrow-minded and arrogant Egyptologists who have little concern of becoming legitimate Sudanologists.

Beware of these mainstream Western writers whenever they comment on ancient Kush and Nubia because their propaganda is relentless.

Advancing the work,

Prof. Manu Ampim

www.ManuAmpim.com

"Primary research is the greatest weapon against the distortion of African culture & history." - MA

| 24686|2008-02-01 08:13:27|cristofori whitakara|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|
being descendants of the biblical cannanites

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

liars about what?

cristofori whitakara wrote:

if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

Note: forwarded message attached.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Subject: boogie213 sent you a video!

From: YouTube Service

To: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 14:00:04 -0800 (PST)

YouTube Broadcast Yourself?

boogie213 wants to share a video with you

watch video

Video Description

As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean either a slave or a minister as Moses was called. To accept my friend request, click here. To respond to boogie213, click here.
Thanks,
boogie213

2008 YouTube, Inc.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24687|2008-02-01 08:14:09|cristofori whitakara|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|

Using YouTube

YouTube Help

Check the Help Center for answers to common questions.

Your Account Settings

To change your preferences, settings, or personal info, go to the 'My Account' section.

Email Notifications

To change or cancel email notifications from YouTube, go to the Email Options section of your Profile.

Report Spam Email

If this is a spam email, please report it.

this maybe harsh but to me, yes, because saint nicholas was a real asian monk.

Djehuti Sundaka wrote:

If Santa Claus is a myth, are the children who claim him to be real liars?

Djehuti Sundaka

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups .com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

> if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

>

> Note: forwarded message attached.

>

> -----

> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

> boogie213 wants to share a video with you:

> <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7XbxeEgCNtY>

>

> Video Description

>

> As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean ether a slave or a minister as Moses was called.

>

>

> To accept my friend request, click here:

> [http://www.youtube.com/signup\_login?u=afYMpsnu ZK4&ci=8D9B17819 A876157](http://www.youtube.com/signup_login?u=afYMpsnu ZK4&ci=8D9B17819 A876157)

>

> To respond to boogie213, click on the following link:

> http://www.youtube.com/outbox?to\_user=boogie213

>

> Thanks,

> boogie213

>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24688|2008-02-01 12:36:43|Sancho Campbell Friday Young|Imhotep: Posted by Professor Runoko Rashidi|
IMHOTEP

POSTED BY RUNOKO RASHIDI

Imhotep is one of the great geniuses in the history of mankind. Architect, magician, philosopher, so great a doctor that the Greeks identified him with Asclepius their god of medicine, he was without doubt the author of a Book of Knowledge which, however, has been entirely lost. Imhotep followed the family tradition: his father was Kanofer whom the pharaoh personally appointed to be in charge of all the kingdom's building. He learned his trade in his father's workshop, probably in Memphis, firstly carving stone vases, then becoming a sculptor and architect and subsequently rising to assume the highest offices of the state, both religious and administrative. The high priest of Heliopolis as grand vizier, on the base of a statue erected in honor of Djoser an engraving describes him as "first after the king."

On becoming a deity, Imhotep--whose names means "he comes in peace"--joins the triad of Ptah, to whom he is his son, and Sekhemkhet. He is represented seated, dressed in a long tunic, his head shaved and a papyrus scroll on his lap. According to Manetho, it was Imhotep who "discovered how to cut stone for the building of monuments", yet also introduced the new techniques extensively, bringing about an unprecedented artistic revolution.

Source:

Saqqara: The Pyramid, The Mastabas and the Archaeological Site by Carla Editrice Bonet
(Florence, 2006)

--

<http://descendantsofsancho.hi5.com>

<http://descendantsofsancho.blogspot.com> <http://www.myspace.com/baobabspirittree>

Golden Grove - This village in which I reside was perfectly quiet. The Portuguese shop was untouched and kept open during the whole excitement; and have great pleasure in reporting that the 100 members we have here were all prepared and ready under the leader Mr. Bentick Sancho, well known to the honourable Mr. Porter, to turn out, not to destroy, but to protect the Portuguese shop had the rioters from the other villages attempted to come here on Monday night. The village was so quiet on Tuesday night that Mr. Bentick Sancho who has considerable influence with the people of Victoria went with his minister to that village to aid him in allaying the excitement.

| 24689|2008-02-01 12:36:50|Sancho Campbell Friday Young|Story About Petition-Drive To Charge Bush, Cheney With War Crimes Ge|

Southern Vermont

Story about petition-drive to charge Bush, Cheney with war crimes generates flame war

January 29, 2008

By Susan Smallheer Herald Staff

Brattleboro to vote on arresting Bush, Cheney

BRATTLEBORO Kurt Daims was a little taken aback Monday at the fierce response outside Brattleboro and Vermont to the successful petition drive he worked on that will let the town vote at Town Meeting on whether President George Bush and Vice President Dick Cheney should be charged with war crimes.

The Brattleboro town office was swamped with calls, e-mails and faxes on Monday, according to town officials, practically all of it negative, said Town Clerk Annette Cappy, who fielded some of the calls.

Cappy said most of the calls went to Town Manager Barbara Sondag, and that the sheer "nastiness" of the calls prompted the town office to stop answering the telephone Monday afternoon and let the calls go to voice mail instead.

"We're getting e-mails and phone calls, nasty, nasty e-mails. I've only a gotten a few," said Cappy said. "You couldn't repeat most of those calls. They are nasty and nasty."

Daims, who has an unlisted telephone number, was immune to most of the outpouring of political vitriol that was largely prompted by a posting on the Internet site, www.drudgereport.com a conservative-leaning Web site based in Washington, D.C., which is most famous for breaking the Monica Lewinsky scandal.

"I don't think I'm a hero and I'm not a slime bag, either. It is largely symbolic," said Daims, 54, who moved to Brattleboro several years ago from San Francisco. Daims has been working with other people on the petition drive, including other activists who have been pushing for a Vermont resolution in favor of the impeachment of Bush and Cheney.

Daims said he had received about a half dozen "hate e-mails" about the issue that the Brattleboro Select Board voted 3-2 to put on the town meeting warning. The issue will be voted on during all-day secret balloting on March 4.

"I know most people out there are tired of Mr. Bush. The people who are scared are more noisy about it," said Daims, who described himself as an independent, and not affiliated with any political party.

The Brattleboro story prompted the Republican National Committee press office to issue a statement in defense of Bush, despite the advisory or symbolic nature of the vote.

"Any time there's an attack on the president, we send a response," said spokeswoman Blair Latoff.

"It appears that the left wing knows no bounds in their willingness to waste taxpayer dollars to make a futile counterproductive partisan political point. Town people would be much better served by elected officials who sought to solve problems rather than create them," she added.

A story about the controversy, published on the Herald's Web site, quadrupled normal traffic, according to New Media Director Russell Glitman.

Glitman said that the story produced the most hits in the paper's Web site history, outdistancing the story about the "Nor'icane" storm in April 2007, which devastated the city of Rutland.

He said normally there are 10 comments at most posted after a story; in the case of the Brattleboro Bush/Cheney vote, there were more than 475 comments.

And the Web traffic came from all over the country, with Texas and California leading the way, and shrinking the normal Vermont share of Web traffic to a fraction, he said.

The hundreds of e-mails sent to the paper ranged from the obscene and vulgar to the curious and supportive. But the majority of the e-mails questioned the sanity of the residents of Brattleboro and Daims in particular and the legality of the proposal.

More than one e-mailer proposed that Brattleboro, not Bush and Cheney, be tried for treason, and that the state secede or be kicked out of the country.

And many promised they would never step foot on Vermont soil again, canceling vacations or deciding not to buy Vermont maple syrup, Vermont cheddar cheese or Vermont ice cream ever again.

And the epithets: jackasses, moonbeams, looney tunes, stupid and "moonbats."

"I'll make note not to visit Vermont too many moonbats!" wrote Bob Bogart of Chattanooga, Tenn.

"I LOVE your story and HOPE it gets more and more and MORE press!!! If I didn't live in Texas, owned by the Republicans and Bush.....I get one started here also!!!!!! They SHOULD be indicted. Counting the reasons why, takes too much time to type," wrote "Renee."

"You're an (blank) for write this asinine article any ways YOU ARE A DUMB (blank)!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! wrote someone named Mark Praus, address unknown.

"Any state that elects a socialist to congress and then a town plans a vote to impeach the President will never get any support from me. For the past several years, I have not knowingly bought anything the was made in of distributed through Vermont. I will continue this small protest until your state comes to it senses," wrote John D. Dooley of Henderson, Nev.

Jason Gibbs, spokesman for Gov. James Douglas, said that the controversy was nothing compared to the firestorm surrounding Judge Edward Cashman, whose decision in a child sex abuse case two years ago created an enormous response of condemnation.

Gibbs said that the governor's hotline Monday produced about a half-dozen out of state calls, while "thousands and thousands" of calls were received after conservative television commentator Bill O'Reilly sharply criticized Cashman and the state for what they viewed was being soft on pedophiles.

"It ranks very low on the interest meter," Gibbs said of the Brattleboro town meeting item.

Cindy Maguire, chief of the criminal division at the Vermont Attorney General's office, said she doubted that the vote was anything but a political protest, Vermont-style.

Towns do not have the right to file affidavits charging people with crimes, unless they violate some local ordinance, she pointed out.

Maguire, who said she hadn't really researched the matter, said it was unusual, to say the least.

"I've never seen, in my 20 years of practicing criminal law, a town get an arrest warrant for felonious conduct and I'm not even sure what state laws would be at play here," Maguire said. "I don't have enough information."

Contact Susan Smallheer at susan.smallheer@rutlandherald.com.

--

<http://descendantsofsancho.hi5.com>

<http://descendantsofsancho.blogspot.com>

<http://www.myspace.com/baobabspirittree>

Golden Grove - This village in which I reside was perfectly quiet. The Portuguese shop was untouched and kept open during the whole excitement; and have great pleasure in reporting that the 100 members we have here were all prepared and ready under the leader Mr. Bentick Sancho, well known to the honourable Mr. Porter, to turn out, not to destroy, but to protect the Portuguese shop had the rioters from the other villages attempted to come here on Monday night. The village was so quiet on Tuesday night that Mr. Bentick Sancho who has considerable influence with the people of Victoria went with his minister to that village to aid him in allaying the excitement.

| 24690|2008-02-01 12:36:59|Ferg|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

Thanks for the links and your thoughts.

Must get the google book.

However here is another link of interest:

<http://www.njas.helsinki.fi/pdf-files/vol4num1/amidu.pdf>

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2008 5:54 PM

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language

a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologist the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

<http://books.google.com/books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer>

s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language, the shona, the ethiopians, that's indigenous to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english,

seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to an indigenous nation and it has a lot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

| Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speaking system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists. Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences between andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the Germans and French yet they have some radically different cultural expressions, like the difference between the Inca and Apache, same two people yet different cultural expression, also note that the information we have on Uauat (nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in their history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place you can find Egyptian hieroglyphs (metu neter) and although meager there's a little evidence that Punt had the same hieroglyph system,,but the writing; the Egyptian hieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat (nub) writing,, which leads me to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat=Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping, the same as khamit-u hieratic (which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very own records, perhaps many do not understand that Uauat was a separate government they broke off from khamit (upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1st government under Shekhem ur Shekhem (king of kings) Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule of Narmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset (thebes=Waset=Karnak) and the Africans of kom-ombo and taSeti, Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands (Punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub=Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so-called Gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of Shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties their great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Tameri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people develope the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:27:51 - 0800 (PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of thruth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us. Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how
they wanna make nubia (Uauat)
something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen

wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil, 1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend,
newshound, and
know-it-all with

Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24691|2008-02-01 12:41:28|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: UN vandals spray graffiti on Sahara?s prehistoric art|

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> As for flooding ancient Nubian history under the artificially created like "Nasser", obliterating that chapter of African history?

Regime change?

>

>

They know that the origins of ancient Egypt lie in Nubia.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24692|2008-02-01 13:12:36|Asar Imhotep|Re: Black Pharaohs & National Geographic|

Good commentary

I still say that we are not going to have a fighting chance until we get these types of discussion on film, in a manner comparable to What the Bleep Do We Know and The Secret.

If I can just get $3500 for this HD Camera, you better believe we will have our say and it will be done in a manner that will force modern "scholars" to deal with the subject matter on our terms.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Manu Ampim wrote:

Greetings Ta-Seti,

I saw that a couple members have already addressed the National Geographic distortions in its current Feb. '08 issue, but I thought that I would also forward my comments on this so-called "black pharaohs" issue. My comments are below.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Jan. 27, 2008

Greetings All,

This brief note is in response to several emails and inquiries that I have received about the current issue of National Geographic.

I already have a copy of the National Geographic (NG) February 2008 article on the "Black Pharaohs: Conquerors of Ancient Egypt" and it is the usual NG *propaganda.* First, NG continues to discuss Kush and Nubia as the land with the "Black Pharaohs" in order to distinguish them from the allegedly "non-Black Pharaohs" in Kemet (Egypt). This propaganda began in 1996 with the book of Robert Morkot on "The Black Pharaohs." This nonsense has nothing to do with scholarship, as the Africoid identity of the founders and rulers of Kemet has been well-established (despite Eurocentric denial) since the work of Dr. Cheikh Anta Diop in 1974.

Second, NG and mainstream Western writers only discuss Kush and Nubia in terms of warfare against the Egyptians, and the Egyptian influence on these civilizations. For example, on the first page (p. 35) of the NG article the caption under the picture states, "...an Egyptian-style pyramid...in Sudan" in reference to the pyramid field at Nuri, Sudan. There is no pyramid field in Egypt similar to Nuri, and yet the readers of this statement are led to falsely believe that the ancient Sudanese simply copied and imitated Egypt. Mainstream Western publications, scholars, and writers rarely discuss any monuments or accomplishments in the Sudan without them being in the "Egyptian style" or "influenced" by Egypt.

The problem with the mainstream studies on the Kushite and Nubian civilizations in the Sudan is that the Western scholars writing about these cultures are basically Egyptologists who have a narrow and distorted understanding of the advanced civilizations in the Sudan. They write from the point of view of narrow-minded and arrogant Egyptologists who have little concern of becoming legitimate Sudanologists. Beware of these mainstream Western writers whenever they comment on ancient Kush and Nubia because their propaganda is relentless.

Advancing the work,

Prof. Manu Ampim

www.ManuAmpim.com

"Primary research is the greatest weapon against the distortion of African culture & history." - MA

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuited.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24693|2008-02-02 07:55:50|Ferg|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube) revised hiero|

Attachments :

Here is the corrected hieroglyphics version. Sorry about the mistake earlier on.

Somo

| 24694|2008-02-02 13:32:43|shaimesh@aol.com|LECTURE THIS SUNDAY IN NEWARK NJ IS POSTPONED TIL FURTHER NOTICE !!!|

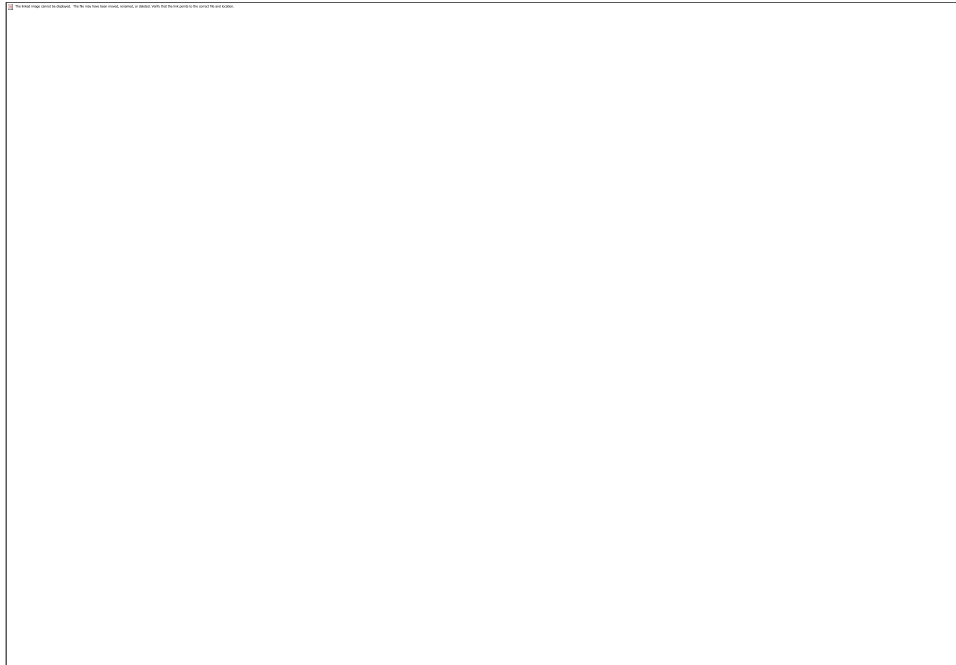

Attachments :

LECTURE THIS SUNDAY IN NEWARK NJ IS POSTPONED TIL FURTHER NOTICE !!!

From: resurrectedsun@gmail.com

E EM HETEP MER KEMAU ( I come offering you all peace and satisfaction to you beloved black people) This is the moment you all been waiting for. A chance to hear Jersey's own Kemetic Master Teacher, Hem NTR Ra Sankhu Kheper. We are located at the legendary Waset Kommuniversit South 9th.st. Newark, NJ. Please be on time!! You don't want to miss this lecture. Shem em Hetep Musaa r Kheper

*** Donations Welcome***

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24695|2008-02-03 07:03:48|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Asar,

I certainly hope you can get that HD camera -- as you suggest, the key is to frame the information/discussion in non-Eurocentric terms.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: asar_imhotep@yahoo.com
Date: Fri, 1 Feb 2008 13:12:27 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Good commentary

I still say that we are not going to have a fighting chance until we get these types of discussion on film, in a manner comparable to What the Bleep Do We Know and The Secret.

If I can just get $3500 for this HD Camera, you better believe we will have our say and it will be done in a manner that will force modern "scholars" to deal with the subject matter on our terms.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Manu Ampim wrote:

Greetings Ta-Seti,

I saw that a couple members have already addressed the National Geographic distortions in its current Feb. '08 issue, but I thought that I would also forward my comments on this so-called "black pharaohs" issue. My comments are below.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Jan. 27, 2008

Greetings All,

This brief note is in response to several emails and inquiries that I have received about the current issue of National Geographic.

I already have a copy of the National Geographic (NG) February 2008 article on the "Black Pharaohs: Conquerors of Ancient Egypt" and it is the usual NG *propaganda. *

First, NG continues to discuss Kush and Nubia as the land with the "Black Pharaohs" in order to distinguish them from the allegedly "non-Black Pharaohs" in Kemet (Egypt). This propaganda began in 1996 with the book of Robert Morkot on "The Black Pharaohs." This nonsense has nothing to do with scholarship, as the Africoid identity of the founders and rulers of Kemet has been well-established (despite Eurocentric denial) since the work of Dr. Cheikh Anta Diop in 1974.

Second, NG and mainstream Western writers only discuss Kush and Nubia in terms of warfare against the Egyptians, and the Egyptian influence on these civilizations. For example, on the first page (p. 35) of the NG article the caption under the picture states, "...an Egyptian-style pyramid...in Sudan" in reference to the pyramid field at Nuri, Sudan. There is no pyramid field in Egypt similar to Nuri, and yet the readers of this statement are led to falsely believe that the ancient Sudanese simply copied and imitated Egypt. Mainstream Western publications, scholars, and writers rarely discuss any monuments or accomplishments in the Sudan without them being in the "Egyptian style" or "influenced" by Egypt.

The problem with the mainstream studies on the Kushite and Nubian civilizations in the Sudan is that the Western scholars writing about these cultures are basically Egyptologists who have a narrow and distorted understanding of the advanced civilizations in the Sudan. They write from the point of view of narrow-minded and arrogant Egyptologists who have little concern of becoming legitimate Sudanologists.

Beware of these mainstream Western writers whenever they comment on ancient Kush and Nubia because their propaganda is relentless.

Advancing the work,

Prof. Manu Ampim
www.ManuAmpim.com

"Primary research is the greatest weapon against the distortion of African culture & history." - MA

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now! | 24696|2008-02-03 07:48:52|shaimesh@aol.com|Sunday Night "Live" with Dr. Ray - The Council On Foreign Relations|
From: truthcenter@aol.com

This Sunday Night's Topic is:
The Council on Foreign Relations & the Trilateral Commission:
The Two Organizations That Run The United States

There are two groups of elite men and women in particular that most people in America do not know about, but which are a clear threat and danger to the freedom of the people in America . These are the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) and the Trilateral Commission (TC).

Right now the United States is completely under the control of those who run these two organizations. It is therefore important to understand these organizations if we wish to understand what has been taking place in the United States since the early 1900s.

Join Dr. Hagins Every Sunday Night
8:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight (EST)
(7:00 p.m.to 11:00 p.m. Central Time)

For "LIVE" talk radio and Q&A Log onto: www.wblr.com
Call-in lines: 1-877-454-1900 (Long Distance) & (314) 741-9507
(St. Louis area)

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24697|2008-02-03 09:43:10|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|

the caanites ,the old city states of sumer eridu, nippur, lagash, ur and also susa and elam were in their golden period and infancy black ( dark brown -black melinated ) people, and their are still blacks in those areas from 10,000 b.c. until now ,;the work of biologist are proving the archaeology to be correct ( pictures and right brain culture) that those people call caanan, Ca-annu were black,,,

cristofori whitakara wrote:

being descendants of the biblical kannanites

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

liars about what?

cristofori whitakara wrote:

if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

Note: forwarded message attached.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Subject: boogie213 sent you a video!
From: YouTube Service
To: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 14:00:04 -0800 (PST)

YouTube Broadcast Yourself?

boogie213 wants to share a video with you

watch video

Video Description

As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean either a slave or a minister as Moses was called. To accept my friend request, click here. To respond to boogie213, click here.

Thanks,
boogie213

2008 YouTube, Inc.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Using YouTube

YouTube Help

Check the Help Center for answers to common questions.

Your Account Settings

To change your preferences, settings, or personal info, go to the 'My Account' section.

Email Notifications

To change or cancel email notifications from YouTube, go to the Email Options section of your Profile.

Report Spam Email

If this is a spam email, please report it.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24698|2008-02-03 09:43:25|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|
who flew thru the sky in a red suit ? 🤪 asian?

cristofori whitakara wrote:

this maybe harsh but to me, yes, because saint nicholas was a real asian monk.

Djehuti Sundaka wrote:

If Santa Claus is a myth, are the children who claim him to be real liars?

Djehuti Sundaka

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, cristofori whitakara wrote:

>

> if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

>

> Note: forwarded message attached.

>

> -----

> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

> boogie213 wants to share a video with you:

> <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7XbxegCNtY>

>

> Video Description

>

> As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean either a slave or a minister as Moses was called.

>

>

> To accept my friend request, click here:

[http://www.youtube.com/signup\_login?u=afYMpsnu ZK4&ci=8D9B17819 A876157](http://www.youtube.com/signup_login?u=afYMpsnu ZK4&ci=8D9B17819 A876157)

>

> To respond to boogie213, click on the following link:

http://www.youtube.com/outbox?to\_user=boogie213

>

> Thanks,

> boogie213

>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24699|2008-02-03 09:43:34|Tafari khumbaka|Re: UN vandals spray graffiti on Saharas prehistoric art|

wonderful that places like ausar-auset and african village are beginning to bring back the ancient way 🙏

Paul Kekai Manansala wrote:

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> As for flooding ancient Nubian history under the artificially created Lke "Nasser", obliterating that chapter of African history? Regime change?

>

>

They know that the origins of ancient Egypt lie in Nubia.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24700|2008-02-03 09:43:39|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube) revised hiero|

i say that ki-swahili is both african and arab,,, and the african words will go back in time too deepest africa,,,,, and the arab words that came about due to islam and arab merchants using their native language and learning and using the languages of east africa brought about ki-swahili and made it the lingua-de franca of alot of east and central africa,, and on the coast of africa where native indigenous africans became islamic and gave up their african heritage to become wanna-be arabs is where u will find ki-swahilli less an influence and arabic a preferred manner of speech or at least a liturgical language

Ferg wrote:

Here is the corrected hieroglyphics version. Sorry about the mistake earlier on.
Somo

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24701|2008-02-03 09:44:08|yvette moore|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

I hope that he does, too. We need to tell our stories, our way, from our facts. No more listening to "his-story or her-story." They only tell it to make themselves look good. No more blind information, must utilize facts and give our next generation what is needed. proper outformation. Think outside of the Box at all times, but remain on your Square

Peter Gray wrote:

Asar,

I certainly hope you can get that HD camera -- as you suggest, the key is to frame the information/ discussion in non-Eurocentric terms.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com

From: asar_imhotep@ yahoo.com

Date: Fri, 1 Feb 2008 13:12:27 -0800

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Good commentary

I still say that we are not going to have a fighting chance until we get these types of discussion on film, in a manner comparable to What the Bleep Do We Know and The Secret.

If I can just get $3500 for this HD Camera, you better believe we will have our say and it will be done in a manner that will force modern "scholars" to deal with the subject matter on our terms.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Manu Ampim wrote:

Greetings Ta-Seti,

I saw that a couple members have already addressed the National Geographic distortions in its current Feb. '08 issue, but I thought that I would also forward my comments on this so-called "black pharaohs" issue. My comments are below.

Advancing the work,
Manu Ampim

---

Jan. 27, 2008

Greetings All,

This brief note is in response to several emails and inquiries that I have received about the current issue of National Geographic.

I already have a copy of the National Geographic (NG) February 2008 article on the "Black Pharaohs: Conquerors of Ancient Egypt" and it is the usual NG *propaganda. *

First, NG continues to discuss Kush and Nubia as the land with the "Black Pharaohs" in order to distinguish them from the allegedly "non-Black Pharaohs" in Kemet (Egypt). This propaganda began in 1996 with the book of Robert Morkot on "The Black Pharaohs." This nonsense has nothing to do with scholarship, as the Africoid identity of the founders and rulers of Kemet has been well-established (despite Eurocentric denial) since the work of Dr. Cheikh Anta Diop in 1974.

Second, NG and mainstream Western writers only discuss Kush and Nubia in terms of warfare against the Egyptians, and the Egyptian influence on these civilizations. For example, on the first page (p. 35) of the NG article the caption under the picture states, "...an Egyptian-style pyramid...in Sudan" in reference to the pyramid field at Nuri, Sudan. There is no pyramid field in Egypt similar to Nuri, and yet the readers of this statement are led to falsely believe that the ancient Sudanese simply copied and imitated Egypt. Mainstream Western publications, scholars, and writers rarely discuss any monuments or accomplishments in the Sudan without them being in the "Egyptian style" or "influenced" by Egypt.

The problem with the mainstream studies on the Kushite and Nubian civilizations in the Sudan is that the Western scholars writing about these cultures are basically Egyptologists who have a narrow and distorted understanding of the advanced civilizations in the Sudan. They write from the point of view of narrow-minded and arrogant Egyptologists who have little concern of becoming legitimate Sudanologists.

Beware of these mainstream Western writers whenever they comment on ancient Kush and Nubia because their propaganda is relentless.

Advancing the work,

Prof. Manu Ampim

www.ManuAmpim.com

"Primary research is the greatest weapon against the distortion of African culture & history." - MA

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24702|2008-02-03 09:44:17|Ferg|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

Attachments :

Actually the language is much older than you think.

Here is the conundrum:

How do these typically four Kiswahili-Bantu word forms give exact matches in the Ancient Egyptian vocabulary?

(1)  Ancient Egyptian: KM, bring to an end, finish
Kiswahili-Bantu KM = KOMA, bring to an end, finish

(2)  Ancient Egyptian: SKH, hold, grasp Kiswahili-Bantu: SHIKA, hold, grasp

(3)  Ancient Egyptian: TM, to cut, to engrave
Kiswahili-Bantu: TEMA, to cut, slash

(4)  Ancient Egyptian: NTCHM: pleasant, sweet, nice

Kiswahili-Bantu: NJEMA, good, fine, nice
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Peter Gray

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Friday, February 01, 2008 2:31 PM

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Justa couple points:

1. Kiswahili is spoken (and understood) all the way from Mozambique to Somalia. The "capital" of Sawhili civilization , Kilwa, was destroyed by Vasco da Gama in 1502?), at which time. yes. ther was esignificant trade between East Africa and the East (China, India). So we knjow the language is at least 500 years old.
2. The Persians who conquered Egypt were in turn conquered by the marauding hordes of the great Khan, aka the Mongol Hordes,who subsequently became accustomed to the sedentary lifestyle and fused many of their own traditions with those the preceeding Persians, e.g. , the use of blue tiles (Persian) on their domed temples (which had as their blueprint/motif the tradtional Mongolian hut-like abode).

Peter

---

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups .com

From: tafari\_sudra@ yahoo.com

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 09:54:11 -0800

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has it inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obeviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language
a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologistthe chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))
http://books.google.com/books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer+s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language , the shona , the ethiopians , thats indegious to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english, seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to aindegenous nation and it has alot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speakig system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have someradically different cultural expressions, like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have on Uauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglphs(metu meter)and although meager there's a

lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,,, which leadsme to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat= Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule ofNarmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset(thebes=Waset= Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal goverment of the two lands ( punt never to beunder the gov. of Khami) Nub= Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued

commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia)
people develop the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To:
Ta_Seti@yahoo
ps .com
From: cristofori
whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan
2008 10:27:51 -0800
(PST)
Subject: Re:
[Ta_Seti] Nubia,
Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian
hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same
people?

Tafari khumbaka

wrote:
the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different

than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara

wrote:

why would one need
a rashid (rosetta)
stone to decipher
nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time,
and all of thruth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/
Tamare's greatness.
A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world.
They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.
Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka

wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make

nubia (Uaua
t) somet hing differe nt
from egypt,
, its repug nant
and disgra ceful

Alex
van Deele
n

wrote:
Nubia
,
Templ e of Dange
il,
1of5

[http:// www.
youtu be.
com/watch
?
v=dX
Uwy9
y5heY
&
featur e=rela ted](http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related)

Alex

Tafari

-

sudra, Khum
baka

Be a better
friend, newsh
ound,
and know-it-all
with Yahoo
!
Mobil e. [Try it
now.](#)

Looking for last minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

Looking for last
minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

Never miss a thing.
Make Yahoo your homepage.

Never miss a thing.
Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile. Try it now.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

| 24703|2008-02-03 09:44:21|Ferg|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
Sorry about the mess in the previous hieroglyphics. Trying to sort it out
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Peter Gray

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Friday, February 01, 2008 2:31 PM

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Justa couple points:

1. Kiswahili is spoken (and understood) all the way from Mozambique to Somalia. The "capital" of Sawhili civilization , Kilwa, was destroyed by Vasco da Gama in 1502?), at which time. yes. ther was esignificant trade between East Africa and the East (China, India). So we know the language is at least 500 years old.

2. The Persians who conquered Egypt were in turn conquered by the marauding hordes of the great Khan, aka the Mongol Hordes, who subsequently became accustomed to the sedentary lifestyle and fused many of their own traditions with those the preceding Persians, e.g. , the use of blue tiles (Persian) on their domed temples (which had as their blueprint/motif the traditional Mongolian hut-like abode).

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 09:54:11 -0800
Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language

a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologist the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

http://books.google.com/books?id=

E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarers+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language , the shona , the ethiopians , thats indigenous to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english, seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to an indigenous nation and it has alot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speaking system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have some radically different cultural expressions, like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression, also note that the information we have on Uauat (nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglyphs (metu neter) and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,, but the writing ;the egyptian hieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat (nub) writing,, which leads me to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat=Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping, the same as khamit-u hieratic (which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very own records, perhaps

many do not understand that Uauat was a separate government they broke off from Khamit (upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1st government under Shekhem ur Shekhem (king of kings) Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule of Narmeri was from Khami in the north down to Uaset (Thebes=Waset=Karnak) and the Africans of Kom-ombo and TaSeti, Punt, Abu-simbi were a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands (Punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub=Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so-called Gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of Shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties their great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2 lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2 lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the 6th cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern Africans built the city states of Meroe and Axum and Napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khami, commerce in the south and across the Red Sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum (later to be known as Ethiopia) it is during this time that we find the use of the Meroitic script, later in this same area and extending deep into South Africa (Mozambique) due to continued commerce with Hapi-Araby (Arabia)

people develop the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To:
Ta_Seti@yahoo.com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:27:51 -0800 (PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka

wrote:
the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara

wrote:
why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/Tamare's greatness.

A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us. Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

don't just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uaua
t)
some thing different from egypt,
, its repug nant
and disgraceful

Alex
van Deele
n

wrote:
Nubia

,
Temple of Dangil,
1 of 5

[http:// www.
youtu
be.
com/watch
?
v=dX
Uwy9
y5heY
&
featur e=rela ted](http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related)

Alex

Tafari
-
sudra,
Khum
baka

Be a better
friend, newsh
ound,
and know-it-all
with Yahoo
!
Mobil e. [Try
it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing.
[Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Never miss a thing.
[Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

| 24704|2008-02-03 09:45:04|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
the mongol hordes in africa???

Peter Gray wrote:

Justa couple points:

1. Kiswahili is spoken (and understood) all the way from Mozambique to Somalia. The "capital" of Sawhili civilization , Kilwa, was destroyed by Vasco da Gama in 1502?), at which time. yes. ther was esignificant trade between East Africa and the East (China, India). So we knjow the language is at least 500 years old.
2. The Persians who conquered Egypt were in turn conquered by the marauding hordes of the great Khan, aka the Mongol Hordes,who subsequently became accustomed to the sedentary lifestyle and fused many of their own traditions with those the preceeding Persians, e.g. , the use of blue tiles (Persian) on their domed temples (which had as their blueprint/motif the tradtional Mongolian hut-like abode).

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 09:54:11 -0800
Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has it inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam

obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologisthe chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

<http://books.google.com/books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer>

s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language , the shona , the ethiopians , thats indegious to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english, seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to aindegenous nation and it has alot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speakig system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shownthat a linguisticrelationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have someradically different cultural expressions, ,like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have onUauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglyphs(metu neter)and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,but

the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,,, which leadsme to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat=Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule ofNarmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset( thebes=Waset=Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands ( punt never to beunder the gov. of Khami) Nub=Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people developpe the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008 10:27:51 -0800
(PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

crisofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat) something different from egypt,, its repugnant and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil,
1of5

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related>

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend,
newshound, and know-it-all
with Yahoo! Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?
Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?
Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24705|2008-02-03 09:45:08|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
very interesting thanks,,from what i think i understand of what this article is saying i would agree with all except i see greater arab influence then they do,,i believe the language of the swahili peoples is an essential part of kiswahili i see a amalgamation of swahili and arabic,,, not just from a.d. times but from the persian and estrangelo aramic also in b.c. times on into the rise of islam,,, perhaps the language of east africa has always influenced arabia and once there was a very dynamic arab-islamic culture along the east coast the swahili language was the substratum of merchants dealing with the arab merchants and islamic fundamentalist

-----

-----
a piece from the article below

these and similiar statements made in the article not knowing specifically their idea of the words negro, asian, black, asian-black, non-negro african,etcetcetc. 🤪, means i have no precise understanding of what they are saying appen to be black. Many of these negro people are clearly visible on the East Coast of Africa. This is as far as our interest in the subject of the race question and Kiswahili within linguistics should extend and no further. For, the alternative would be to say that if the protestors against the term Negro African as a cover term for all negro languages were strictly linguistic-empirical, then the term Afroasian is clearly inappropriate since it is clearly racialistic. It excludes speakers who may be negroid or black, but are certainly not asiatic stock. To be an African does not necessarily imply to be a Negro African. But an African-Asian or Afro-Asian is still an Asian in Africa, historically speaking.

1.2 S

OME FEATURES OF KISWAHILI AS A BANTU LANGUAGE

Ferg wrote:

Thanks for the links and your thoughts.

Must get the google book.

However here is another link of interest:

<http://www.njas.helsinki.fi/pdf-files/vol4num1/amidu.pdf>

Somo

|----- Original Message -----

|From: Tafari khumbaka

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2008 5:54 PM

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language

a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologist the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

<http://books.google.com/books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer>

s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=-7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language, the shona, the ethiopians, that's indigenous to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english,

seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to an indigenous nation and it has a lot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speaking system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have someradically different cultural expressions, ,like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have onUauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglyphs(metu neter)and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,,, which leadsme to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat= Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule ofNarmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset( thebes=Waset= Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal goverment of the two lands ( punt never to beunder the gov. of Khami) Nub= Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people develop the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008
10:27:51 -0800 (PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti]
Nubia, Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian
hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you.
Even after this day and time,
and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness.
A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.
Thinking outside the box,
looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and
our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat)
something different from egypt,, its repugnant
and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen

wrote:
Nubia,
Temple of Dangeil, 1 of 5

[http://www.y outube.
com/watch?
v=dXUwy9y
5heY&](http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&)

feature=related

Alex

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

---

Be a better
friend,
newshound,
and know-it-
all with
Yahoo!
Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute
shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute
shopping deals? [Find them
fast with Yahoo! Search.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. [Make
Yahoo your homepage.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24706|2008-02-03 16:50:29|Asar Imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

I appreciate it. I am making the final changes to my MOCHA-Versity website and also creating my personal website as we speak. I think I will put a page on there for donations or investment opportunities to create such films. It's a shame as long as our Africana Studies Departments have been in existence, no one has thought to do something like this (or at least put the wheels in motion).

Anyone with a corporate investment background, I would really appreciate their feedback and an approach on how to get this done. I know there is a market to where anyone who invested would get their shares back and then some.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

yvette moore wrote:

I hope that he does, too. We need to tell our stories, our way, from our facts. No more listening to "his-story or her-story." They only tell it to make themselves look good. No more blind information, must utilize facts and give our next generation what is needed. proper outformation. Think outside of the Box at all times, but remain on your Square

Peter Gray wrote:

Asar,

I certainly hope you can get that HD camera -- as you suggest, the key is to frame the information/ discussion in non-Eurocentric terms.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: asar_imhotep@ yahoo.com
Date: Fri, 1 Feb 2008 13:12:27 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharaohs & National Geographic

Good commentary

I still say that we are not going to have a fighting chance until we get these types of discussion on film, in a manner comparable to What the Bleep Do We Know and The Secret.

If I can just get $3500 for this HD Camera, you better believe we will have our say and it will be done in a manner that will force modern "scholars" to deal with the subject matter on our terms.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Manu Ampim wrote:
Greetings Ta-Seti,
I saw that a couple members have already addressed the National Geographic distortions in its current Feb. '08 issue, but I thought that I would also forward my comments on this so-called "black pharaohs" issue. My comments are below.
Advancing the work,
Manu Ampim

---

Jan. 27, 2008
Greetings All,
This brief note is in response to several emails and inquiries that I have received about the current issue of National Geographic.
I already have a copy of the National Geographic (NG) February 2008 article on the "Black Pharaohs: Conquerors of Ancient Egypt" and it is the usual NG *propaganda. *

First, NG continues to discuss Kush and Nubia as the land with the "Black Pharaohs" in order to distinguish them from the allegedly "non-Black Pharaohs" in Kemet (Egypt). This propaganda began in 1996 with the book of Robert Morkot on "The Black Pharaohs." This nonsense has nothing to do with scholarship, as the Africoid identity of the founders and rulers of Kemet has been well-established (despite Eurocentric denial) since the work of Dr. Cheikh Anta Diop in 1974.

Second, NG and mainstream Western writers only discuss Kush and Nubia in terms of warfare against the Egyptians, and the Egyptian influence on these civilizations. For example, on the first page (p. 35) of the NG article the caption under the picture states, "...an Egyptian-style pyramid...in Sudan" in reference to the pyramid field at Nuri, Sudan. There is no pyramid field in Egypt similar to Nuri, and yet the readers of this statement are led to falsely believe that the ancient Sudanese simply copied and imitated Egypt. Mainstream Western publications, scholars, and writers rarely discuss any monuments or accomplishments in the Sudan without them being in the "Egyptian style" or "influenced" by Egypt.

The problem with the mainstream studies on the Kushite and Nubian civilizations in the Sudan is that the Western scholars writing about these cultures are basically Egyptologists who have a narrow and distorted understanding of the advanced civilizations in the Sudan. They write from the point of view of narrow-minded and arrogant Egyptologists who have little concern of becoming legitimate Sudanologists.

Beware of these mainstream Western writers whenever they comment on ancient Kush and Nubia because their propaganda is relentless.

Advancing the work,

Prof. Manu Ampim

www.ManuAmpim.com

"Primary research is the greatest weapon against the distortion of African culture & history." - MA

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24707|2008-02-04 06:28:18|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Asar

You must structure your company properly and determine the best way to receive these funds.

According to SEC rules, a unaccredited investor is disallowed from investing in non-SEC approved ventures, and the venture is disallowed from taking investments from multiple investors.

One way around this rule is to establish an off-shore account in a country like Panama or Costa Rica.

Another is to start not-for-profit entity (foundation) and take the investment as a tax deductible donation.

Knowing your focus on the spiritual, you might be interested in looking at a Corporation Sole-like structure.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Corporation\_sole

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Asar Imhotep <asar\_imhotep@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Sun, 3 Feb 2008 16:50:28 -0800 (PST)

I appreciate it. I am making the final changes to my MOCHA-Versity website and also creating my personal website as we speak. I think I will put a page on there for donations or investment opportunities to create such films. It's a shame as long as our Africana Studies Departments have been in existence, no one has thought to do something like this (or at least put the wheels in motion).

Anyone with a corporate investment background, I would really appreciate their feedback and an approach on how to get this done. I know there is a market to where anyone who invested would get their shares back and then some.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

yvette moore <iqtraveler@yahoo.com> wrote:

I hope that he does, too. We need to tell our stories, our way, from our facts. No more listening to "his-story or her-story." They only tell it to make themselves look good. No more blind information, must utilize facts and give our next generation what is needed. proper outformation. Think outside of the Box at all times, but remain on your Square

Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com> wrote:
Asar,

I certainly hope you can get that HD camera -- as you suggest, the key is to frame the information/discussion in non-Eurocentric terms.

Peter

---

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: asar\_imhotep@yahoo.com
Date: Fri, 1 Feb 2008 13:12:27 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Good commentary

I still say that we are not going to have a fighting chance until we get these types of discussion on film, in a manner comparable to What the Bleep Do We Know and The Secret.

If I can just get $3500 for this HD Camera, you better believe we will have our say and it will be done in a manner that will force modern "scholars" to deal with the subject matter on our terms.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net> wrote:

Greetings Ta-Seti,

I saw that a couple members have already addressed the National Geographic distortions in its current Feb. '08 issue, but I thought that I would also forward my comments on this so-called "black pharaohs" issue. My comments are below.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Jan. 27, 2008

Greetings All,

This brief note is in response to several emails and inquiries that I have received about the current issue of National Geographic.

I already have a copy of the National Geographic (NG) February 2008 article on the "Black Pharaohs: Conquerors of Ancient Egypt" and it is the usual NG *propaganda.*

First, NG continues to discuss Kush and Nubia as the land with the "Black Pharaohs" in order to distinguish them from the allegedly "non-Black Pharaohs" in Kemet (Egypt). This propaganda began in 1996 with the book of Robert Morkot on "The Black Pharaohs." This nonsense has nothing to do with scholarship, as the Africoid identity of the founders and rulers of Kemet has been well-established (despite Eurocentric denial) since the work of Dr. Cheikh Anta Diop in 1974.

Second, NG and mainstream Western writers only discuss Kush and Nubia in terms of warfare against the Egyptians, and the Egyptian influence on these civilizations. For example, on the first page (p. 35) of the NG article the caption under the picture states, "...an Egyptian-style pyramid...in Sudan" in reference to the pyramid field at Nuri, Sudan. There is no pyramid field in Egypt similar to Nuri, and yet the readers of this statement are led to falsely believe that the ancient Sudanese simply copied and imitated Egypt. Mainstream Western publications, scholars, and writers rarely discuss any monuments or accomplishments in the Sudan without them being in the "Egyptian style" or "influenced" by Egypt.

The problem with the mainstream studies on the Kushite and Nubian civilizations in the Sudan is that the Western scholars writing about these cultures are basically Egyptologists who have a narrow and distorted understanding of the advanced civilizations in the Sudan. They write from the point of view of narrow-minded and arrogant Egyptologists who have little concern of becoming legitimate Sudanologists.

Beware of these mainstream Western writers whenever they comment on ancient Kush and Nubia because their propaganda is relentless.

Advancing the work,

Prof. Manu Ampim
www.ManuAmpim.com

"Primary research is the greatest weapon against the distortion of African culture & history." - MA

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24708|2008-02-04 08:06:06|Alex van Deelen|C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

In the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

Just to remind everyone, it takes a lot for C. Loring Brace to classify a specimen as Black. Remember that in the Lefkowitz debates and books, he classified Ethiopians and Somalis as White, because of their cranial shape.

However, here he is acknowledging that one of the founding cultures of Egypt, as far north as modern Palestine, the Natufian, was Black.

Doesn't it make sense that Semitic started off as an African culture, as subset of Ancient Egypt, Cushitic, Beja, Omotic, Hausa and Berber?

It would underline again Afroasiatic as an African language family.

Alex

The entire excerpt of the article:

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form

C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A. Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/modern ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

| 24709|2008-02-04 08:26:06|kungfuhustle|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

"Doesn't it make sense that Semitic started off as an African culture, as subset of Ancient Egypt, Cushitic, Beja, Omotic, Hausa and Berber?"

Makes sense to me.

I never put any credence to claims the Ethiopian were black skinned White people.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Alex van Deelen <avdeelen@wanadoo.nl>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: [Ta_Seti] C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black

Date: Mon, 4 Feb 2008 17:03:17 +0100

Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2800.1409

In the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

Just to remind everyone, it takes a lot for C. Loring Brace to classify a specimen as Black. Remember that in the Lefkowitz debates and books, he classified Ethiopians and Somalis as White, because of their cranial shape.

However, here he is acknowledging that one of the founding cultures of Egypt, as far north as modern Palestine, the Natufian, was Black.

Doesn't it make sense that Semitic started off as an African culture, as subset of Ancient Egypt, Cushitic, Beja, Omotic, Hausa and Berber?

It would underline again Afroasiatic as an African language family.

Alex

The entire excerpt of the article:

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form

C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A.

Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/modern ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

| 24710|2008-02-04 10:52:33|Asar Imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic| Meninarmer

Thanks for the advice. I will definitely look into that. I know when it comes to major films, they go about financing it the same way. What they do is announce the project and let the public invest on that project, not necessarily the company. So I think this would be a feasible approach to handling such projects. Of course we would need a detailed budget, marketing and distribution plan for investors. The first question would be, what would be the focus for the first film?

kungfuhustle wrote:

| Asar

| You must structure your company properly and determine the best way to receive these funds.

According to SEC rules, a unaccredited investor is disallowed from investing in non-SEC approved ventures, and the venture is disallowed from taking investments from multiple investors.

One way around this rule is to establish an off-shore account in a country like Panama or Costa Rica.

Another is to start not-for-profit entity (foundation) and take the investment as a tax deductible donation.

Knowing your focus on the spiritual, you might be interested in looking at a Corporation Sole-like structure.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Corporation\_sole

Meninarmer

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24711|2008-02-04 18:48:09|OyaShango|THE LOST AND HIDDEN HISTORY OF THE AFRICAN SIBYL PROPHETESS: A PICTO|

FW:

THE LOST AND HIDDEN HISTORY OF THE AFRICAN SIBYL PROPHETESS: A PICTORIAL HISTORY

<http://www.amengansie.com/Sybils.html>

In the continuation of our spiritual education and recovery process MWHs has created a slide-show on some very interesting history regarding the African prophetesses the Sibyls. In taking some quotes from Mama Zogbe:

"The state of African religions in Africa and in the Diaspora today is what remains of a long, glorious and fantastical journey. Most lost to the ages, but most stolen, strayed and suppressed or assimilated by other cultures. The Gods of Africa and the priesthoods once ruled the entire world. It is that history that we must resurrect and reconnect with in order to better contextualize and appreciate what we are being blessed with today."

"In the West, African people are consciously written out of history, world prophecy and even their place in the human race. We hope that the information that we are presenting will de-balkanize us from our comfortable niches of believing that our particular corner of the ATR nook is the only place we need look to learn about ourselves."

"If African people want to learn their true history, they must follow the Gods of Africa. Only then will they find it, and understand what is really taking place in the world today."

THE LOST AND HIDDEN HISTORY OF THE AFRICAN SIBYL PROPHETESS

<http://www.amengansie.com/Sybils.html>

P.S. It is a large file. Please be patient as it loads on the website. We think you will find that it was well worth the wait. If you do not see the video or hear the music please let us know.

Akpeleo!

Mother Dvan

| 24712|2008-02-05 06:43:25|shaimesh@aol.com|Melanin Lecture: PROF. KABA HIAWATHA KAMENE a.k.a. Professor BOOKER |
From: shakuwra@vcreate.info

Know Thyself Presents
PROF. KABA HIAWATHA KAMENE a.k.a. Professor BOOKER T. COLEMAN

TEACHER, SCHOLAR, RESEARCHER &
An Introduction to

MELANIN

HONOR YOUR ESSENCE FOR BLACK HISTORY MONTH

What is Melanin?

Who Has It?

Where Does It Come From?

How Does It Affect Us?

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 17th, 2008

2:00 PM TO 6:00 PM

Long Island University Brooklyn Campus

Lecture Hall H.S. 107

(at Flatbush Ave & Dekalb Ave )

SEATS ARE LIMITED!!!

TICKETS $20 in ADVANCE

STUDENTS w/ I.D. $15

$25 at the door

V CREATE

Victor 347-782-7564 / 347-522-8622

v_create@optonline.net * www.vcreate.info

Pick up tickets at the office of:

CAROL McCRAE, CPA

196 Flatbush Ave , 2nd Fl. (at Dean St.)

You can access the attached flyer by clicking link below:

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/SmaiTawi/files/Know%20thysself%20-%20Booker%20T.Coleman.pdf>

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24713|2008-02-05 14:06:00|Manu Ampim|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Greetings Asar,

Film is only one method and by itself it will not make any meaningful difference in the gross misrepresentation of African history & culture. One or two films in an international multi-billion film industry would hardly influence many people, including irrational and dishonest Eurocentric propagandists. Far more people are influenced by the major network TV stations, History Channel, Discovery Channel, and Learning Channel, K-12 and college textbooks, museum collections around the Western World, and National Geographic and other well-financed propaganda publications. The cost of $3500 is not very much money and even with a high quality camera the real costs will be related to marketing and distribution.

Lastly, Black people have always made a major impact in shifting mainstream racist America with powerful mass-based movements, such as the Abolitionist Movement in the 19th century to end slavery, the Civil Rights/Human Rights Movement in the 1950s-1960s that ended the Jim Crow and racial segregation era, and more recently the African-centered Movement in the 1980s-1990s which made an impact in reclaiming Kemet as an African civilization and revising academic textbooks across North America. Thus, it is mass movements and not individual projects which have forced America and its writers, "scholars," politicians, and institutions to make meaningful changes.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

http://manuampim.com/kmt\_08.doc

---

Good commentary

I still say that we are not going to have a fighting chance until we get these types of discussion on film, in a manner comparable to What the Bleep Do We Know and The Secret.

If I can just get $3500 for this HD Camera, you better believe we will have our say and it will be done in a manner that will force modern "scholars" to deal with the subject matter on our terms.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net> wrote:

Greetings Ta-Seti,

I saw that a couple members have already addressed the National Geographic distortions in its current Feb. '08 issue, but I thought that I would also forward my comments on this so-called "black pharaohs" issue. My comments are below.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Jan. 27, 2008

Greetings All,

This brief note is in response to several emails and inquiries that I have received about the current issue of National Geographic.

I already have a copy of the National Geographic (NG) February 2008 article on the "Black Pharaohs: Conquerors of Ancient Egypt" and it is the usual NG *propaganda. *

First, NG continues to discuss Kush and Nubia as the land with the "Black Pharaohs" in order to distinguish them from the allegedly "non-Black Pharaohs" in Kemet (Egypt). This propaganda began in 1996 with the book of Robert Morkot on "The Black Pharaohs." This nonsense has nothing to do with scholarship, as the Africoid identity of the founders and rulers of Kemet has been well-established (despite Eurocentric denial) since the work of Dr. Cheikh Anta Diop in 1974.

Second, NG and mainstream Western writers only discuss Kush and Nubia in terms of warfare against the Egyptians, and the Egyptian influence on these civilizations. For example, on the first page (p. 35) of the NG article the caption under the picture states, "...an Egyptian-style pyramid...in Sudan" in reference to the pyramid field at Nuri, Sudan. There is no pyramid field in Egypt similar to Nuri, and yet the readers of this statement are led to falsely believe that the ancient Sudanese simply copied and imitated Egypt. Mainstream Western publications, scholars, and writers rarely discuss any monuments or accomplishments in the Sudan without them being in the "Egyptian style" or "influenced" by Egypt.

The problem with the mainstream studies on the Kushite and Nubian civilizations in the Sudan is that the Western scholars writing about these cultures are basically Egyptologists who have a narrow and distorted understanding of the advanced civilizations in the Sudan.

They write from the point of view of narrow-minded and arrogant Egyptologists who have little concern of becoming legitimate Sudanologists.

Beware of these mainstream Western writers whenever they comment on ancient Kush and Nubia because their propaganda is relentless.

Advancing the work,

Prof. Manu Ampim

http://manuampim.com/kmt\_08.doc

"Primary research is the greatest weapon against the distortion of African culture & history." - MA

| 24714|2008-02-05 15:28:36|Alex van Deelen|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

Posted by: "kungfuhustle" shalomic@nc.rr.com druidpark
Mon Feb 4, 2008 8:26 am (PST)

> "Doesn't it make sense that Semitic started off as > an African culture, as subset of Ancient Egypt, > Cushitic, Beja, Omotic, Haussa and Berber?"
>
> Makes sense to me.
> I never put any credence to claims the Ethiopian were > black skinned White people.

Brace did, and as far as I know, still does.

And still, he classified the one Natufian sample as Black.

Those are the people who moved into the Nile Valley, to form the pre-dynastic Ancient Egyptians.

I think even Terence McKenna believed the same thing, not that he is a historian or linguist, but the idea had filtrated into popular culture.

Looking at cultures like the Natufian is the best way of guesstimating the original population of Ancient Egypt.

On Semitic, the idea was that although all Afroasiatic languages except Semitic are exclusively spoken in Africa, and there is a huge concentration of AA languages in the Ethiopia/Somalia region, Semitic was originally from Mesopotamia, and that the Semitic spoken in Ethiopia was the result of back-migration.

I don't know if that issue has been resolved yet.

Alex

| 24715|2008-02-05 16:32:58|shaimesh@aol.com|Dr. Llaila Afrika's Beginner/Advance Naturopath Course in NY Jun to |

---

Attachments :

---

<http://www.communityconsciousculturalevents.com/events - ny 12>

Hotep Family,

Dr. Afrika will be in NY conducting his 6-Week Naturopath Certification & Advance Courses. The class dates are not sequential, so do have a look at the flyer. (Attached) The location is Clinton Hill, Brooklyn.

Attached is the flyer & registration Form. Dr. Afrika is quite serious about the well-being of our people. Therefore, he expects you to take this course very serious. There are nine exams, 15 health assessments which must be completed before a certification will be granted. He does frown upon lateness & absenteeism.

So do think long and hard regarding this undertaking. The class will be organized in study groups so all will succeed if we help one another.

IF ONE FAILS, THE ENTIRE CLASS FAILS !!!

That's his moto.

Do give me a call if you are interested. Believe me, your life will never be the same after taking this course.

In my own words, I see Dr. Afrika as Moorpheus from the Matrix:

YOU COULD TAKE THE BLUE PILL ???

OR

YOU COULD TAKE THE RED PILL ???

He will definitely show you how far the rabbit hole will go.....

Look forward to hearing from you.

Sista Shai (Shy-ee)

Cultural Events Planner

African Holistic Health - NY Chapter

347-432-1597 or 718-529-2010

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24716|2008-02-05 17:08:08|shaimesh@aol.com|EGYPT/AFRICA APRIL,18 AND AUGUST,16 $1,785.00|

From: shutefnut@yahoo.com

Hotep. EGYPT/AFRICA APRIL,18 AND AUGUST,16 2008 STARTING AT $1,785.00 P.P. IN DOUBLE ROOM Single person $190.00 Join us on our annual tour, as we return to the motherland. Lets experience the greatworks and wonders of our ancestors, who were the builders of the Great Pyramids, Sphinx,and many temples. You will enjoy the historical sites from Nubia to the Giza Plateau.

Experience the beginning of world civilization which was influenced by ancient Egypt. Experience Nubia, which is the foundation and beginning of the Nile Valley civilization which is called Ancient Egypt. We will visit the Nubian Museum which boasts the antiquity of Ancient Egypt with artifacts going back 90,000 years. You will witness and see stone pictographs, tools made of metal (copper) and ancient sites, before there was an Egyptian Dynasty. Learn the history of Egypt and come back to the beginning of knowledge with Bro. Heru Bennu Amen Ra. (aka George Bennett M.F.A.) African Art historian, Researcher/Lecturer, From Paleolithic (Kush) to (kemet) Egypt.Contact: Tel. 1(347) 495-4289 Or EGYPTIAN CONNECTION AT 1(800) 334-4477. My e-mail (shutefnut@mac.com) or (shutefnut@yahoo.com) www.EgyptOntheWeb.com Go to link: AFRICAN HERITAGE.

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24717|2008-02-06 02:43:39|asar_imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Hutuapo Manu Ampim (and sorry guys for the length)

While on some level I agree, I'm going to have to disagree with the implied overall thesis of your statements. When evaluating social phenomena, we always have to keep in mind locality and the time period in which such phenomena occurs. What undergirds this discussion is really the difference in generational thinking and what each generation thinks is possible.

The major difference between the masses of our elders in the civil rights movement on backwards, is that they were attempting to change the social consciousness of a people who have no social conscience. That is not the aim of my generation (I'm 28 years old). We have the benefit of hindsight and looking back at our situation, we see the major flaw of the movements of old. People miss the most valuable lesson from Dr. Chancellor Williams' book The Destruction of Black Civilizations, and that is European culture and ideology has been in place for a good 6000 years and no movement is going to change that mind set. Power only respects Power. My generation is not about trying to convince Europeans about anything. It is a fruitless effort. That was our fathers begging Europeans to view us as human beings and acknowledge us. My generation thinks about forward movement whether you acknowledge us or not.

As the case with the current Democratic and Republican primary elections, the movement now is "change." This is not limited to the election, but in old methods of liberation and struggle. The English language, capitalism and Christianity are going to guarantee that you will be dealing with the worst of European culture for generations to come. What the elders are saying is impossible, the younger people are already doing. What the elders are saying won't have an impact, the younger generation is already having a far greater impact than what most give credit (good or bad).

No one implied that making films alone would bring about the most change. And also, no one is talking about just one or two films. We are talking about our own industry of film makers challenging the status quo in a method that is engaging, thought provoking and entertaining at the same time: something an academician can't do.

One thing academicians always fail to realize is that any movement starts with the arts first. All movements are fueled by the arts; this is the psychological aspect of identity Diop expressed and why the movement spread so fast in France (because of the likes of Aime Cesaire and Negritude). While the details are handled by a few individuals, the word gets spread by artists (actors, film makers, musicians, poets, etc.). While the basis of the African-Centered movement was rooted in scholarship, it spread by means of Hip Hop artists and researchers putting their lectures on film and selling them.

The majority of the people on this list (probably) came into "consciousness" (if a child of the 80's and 90's) through groups like Africa Baambada, KRS-1, Rakim, Rass Kass, Killah Priest, Wu-Tang, Brand Nubian, Queen Latifah, the Jungle Brothers and more. They got deeper into their consciousness by watching video lectures by Dr. Ben, Ashra Kwesi, Marimba Ani, Ivan Van Sertima, Ronoko Rashidi, Naim Akbar, Asa Hilliard and John G. Jackson. All of them used film and music to bring people into the fold.

What I am talking about is taking what we've already been doing, and the only methods proven to work outside of academia, and take it to the next level and do what they couldn't do. All endeavors start off small, but with diligence, organization, creativity and knowing how to use the tools of your time, it will grow into an institution. The Source Magazine was a one page yellow piece of paper to start off with. I bet someone told him that it would not have a great impact in the magazine or Hip Hop world. Master P sold his albums out of his trunk and went platinum with no radio play. His method changed how artists dealt with labels forever. Someone told Michael Dell when he dropped out of the University of Texas in Austin the first semester that his idea and method of building computers (from out of his garage) wasn't going to take off, but now he is the largest producer of PC's in the world.

The younger generation is doing more because the technology allows for them to do more. Things won't have a great impact if we continue to have self defeating attitudes of what is possible. That's the politics of old. One camera in the hands of an ordinary person will yield little results. But that same camera in the hands of a socially and historically conscious individual who is creative, driven and knows how to use his tools (as he is a software programmer by day in new media) is history in the making.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24718|2008-02-06 08:15:58|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Women in Power Movement|

Attachments :

---

Note: forwarded message attached.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24719|2008-02-06 08:16:16|Tafari khumbaka|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black| great stuff, afroasiactic is a term thats very illusive, since no asians are in asiaminor 🤔

perhaps african language is a proper term

Alex van Deelen wrote:

In the words of C. Loring Brace, " It is a further surprise that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa. "

Just to remind everyone, it takes a lot for C. Loring Brace to classify a specimen as Black. Remember that in the Lefkowitz debates and books, he classified Ethiopians and Somalis as White, because of their cranial shape.

However, here he is acknowledging that one of the founding cultures of Egypt, as far north as modern Palestine, the Natufian, was Black.

Doesn't it make sense that Semitic started off as an African culture, as subset of Ancient Egypt, Cushitic, Beja, Omotic, Haussa and Berber?

It would underline again Afroasiatic as an African language family.

Alex

The entire excerpt of the article:

The questionable contribution of the Neolithic and the Bronze Age to European craniofacial form

C. Loring Brace,*? Noriko Seguchi,? Conrad B. Quintyn, Sherry C. Fox, A.

Russell Nelson,? Sotiris K. Manolis,** and Pan Qifeng??

Many human craniofacial dimensions are largely of neutral adaptive significance, and an analysis of their variation can serve as an indication of the extent to which any given population is genetically related to or differs from any other. When 24 craniofacial measurements of a series of human populations are used to generate neighbor-joining dendrograms, it is no surprise that all modern European groups, ranging all of the way from Scandinavia to eastern Europe and throughout the Mediterranean to the Middle East, show that they are closely related to each other. The surprise is that the Neolithic peoples of Europe and their Bronze Age successors are not closely related to the modern inhabitants, although the prehistoric/modern

ties are somewhat more apparent in southern Europe. It is a further surprise

that the Epipalaeolithic Natufian of Israel from whom the Neolithic realm was assumed to arise has a clear link to Sub-Saharan Africa.

<http://www.pubmedcentral.nih.gov/articlerender.fcgi?artid=1325007>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24720|2008-02-06 08:16:33|Ronn|Truly The Greatest Story Never Told|
Take Your Pick. It's All The Same Story

I too enjoy the carols, the mystique of Christmas and Santa Claus and all the rest.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STORY

But there is the Greatest Story Never Told. That story is the one I wish to bring to you to today.

The true story of Christmas. The story that has been told and has endured since the beginning of recorded history.

THE ORIGINS OF OUR TRADITIONS

Where did all of the stories come from that have formed so much of our traditional lives. Christmas, Easter .

What is the origin of these stories?

Who wrote them?

What impact are they supposed to have on life on planet earth?

IT'S ALL ABOUT THE SUN, THE GIVER OF LIFE

The story is of God's Sun. It's birth, it's crucifixion, it's three days and three nights in the tomb, its resurrection in December and its ascension to sit at the right hand of God in June.

Born of the virgin.

Crucifixion on the Cross.

Resurrection and ascension.

It is the story of the Sun of God. It has always been the story of the Sun of God.

THIS IS GOD'S SON/SUN

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

The Sun is the giver of life.

The sun is the light of the world.

The sun , the giver of life, the light of the world moves through the great circle of the 12. That fact forms the basis of every belief that so many cherish as Gods Holy Word, as doctrine, as the foundation of their faith.

THE SUN/SON OF GOD SURROUNDED BY THE TWELVE

The combination of the Sun and the 12 signs of the zodiac is the foundation for the stories of Christmas and Easter that we have totally misunderstood because they were interpreted for us by superstitious people from the Dark Ages who controlled the minds and activities of the people of that time.

OUR RELIGIOUS TEACHERS FROM THE DARK AGES

These were the kind of people who believed that the earth was flat, that the earth was the center of the universe .

Totally ignorant people who formed the beliefs of generation after generation for hundreds upon hundreds of years even up to this very time.

The trust placed in the leadership of these superstitious religious people has led to the wars and chaos that has plagued the earth from its beginning.

THE SUN AND THE TWELVE

What is the true basis of the sun and the 12?

Where did that come from and when?

Who wrote all of this stuff that now passes off as religious truth and doctrine?

THEY CALL IT FAITH

BUT IT IS FAITH IN THEM

When you blindly follow strong leaders, who have their own plans in place, you wind up believing nonsense which eventually has a negative impact on your life.

WHEN THE BLIND FOLLOW THE BLIND

THEY BOTH WIND UP IN A DITCH

CONSIDER IRAQ

Remember Iraq had no weapons of mass destruction, they were not aligned with Al Queda, and they had nothing to do with 911.

But our leaders showed us documentation and proof that they did and we all believed them. Our government was totally wrong about that as our religion has been totally wrong about this.

If we had not invaded Iraq our government would still be telling us these stories and we would still be believing them and would live in fear of something that absolutely did not exist.

Such is the nature of government and religion.

TRADITION

We are pathetically conditioned to follow the leader.

Wherever that leader leads. No matter how wrong it may be, as soon as it becomes tradition by being repeated over and over and over, then no one dare challenge it.

PETER PAN

There is a line from a song in the musical Peter Pan which sums up the problem with the human condition and why we have been prevented from understanding truth that would have totally changed the world and life upon it for the better.

It goes like this.

I won't grow up, I don't want to go to school, just to learn to be a parrot and repeat some silly rule.

TWELVE DISCIPLES--TWELVE SIGNS

The Sun and the 12 is portrayed to us as Jesus and his 12 disciples. But in reality it is the Sun and the 12 signs of the zodiac.

The great circle called the ecliptic through which the Sun passes and touches the 12 constellations.

The Zodiac ("Circle of Animals") is the name given to the band of the ecliptic encircling the earth. It is like a belt in space, about 15 degrees wide, across which the planets move and form their geometrical relationships.

The Zodiac forms the stellar backdrop for the apparent path of the Sun, called the plane of the ecliptic.

THE TWELVE PARTS BECOME PART OF THE STORY

Astrologers divide the circle of the ecliptic into twelve parts, each subdivided into 30 degrees, making 360 degrees in all. The twelve divisions are called the Signs of the Zodiac.

Virgo, the Virgin (august/sept.) The Virgin who conceives

?Libra, the Scales (sept./oct.)

?Scorpio, the Scorpion (oct./nov.)

?Sagittarius, the Centaur (nov./dec.) The stable horse

?Capricorn, the Sea-Goat (dec./jan.) The stable goat

?Aquarius, the Water-Bearer (jan./feb.) The man with the pitcher of water

Pisces, the Fishes (feb./mar) The fishermen

?Aries, the Ram (march/april) The lamb of God

?Taurus, the Bull (april/may)

?Gemini, the Twins (may/june) Castor and Pollux

?Cancer, the Crab (june/july)

Leo, the Lion (july/august) The lion of Judah

We see some of the central figures of our belief system here.

The virgin, the man with the pitcher of water, the fish, the lamb of God, Castor and Pollux the twins associated with the Apostle Pauls boat, and the Lion of Judah.

The characters found in the Zodiac are found in the Bible for a purpose.

IN THE COSMOS AND IN OUR HEADS

The Sun the light of the world. The giver of life and the 12 disciples, the 12 tribes, and as we shall see as we go along, the 12 within each of us known as the 12 cranial nerves of the brain.

You see, the scientific principle here which has been completely obscured by traditions of superstitions is that the human brain mind duplicates the universal or cosmic brain mind and once we understand that we can flow in a harmony with nature or what we refer to as God.

Even the word God is nothing more then a play on words.

Good=God

Evil=Devil

WHERE DID THE ZODIAC COME FROM ?

This depends on who you wish to listen to.

Some say that the Zodiac dates back 6000 years to Mesopotamia but others suggest that there is no evidence that the Greek scheme of 12 zodiacal constellations existed anywhere prior to its evolution in Greece circa 500 BCE.

THE NUMBER 12

The number 12 figures prominently in the origin of the Zodiac. The three major stages in the development of the zodiac were:

- (1) the establishment of 12 unequal constellations along the ecliptic
- (2) the division of the ecliptic into 12 equal segments based on the 12 constellations
- (3) the division of the 12 equal segments into 12 equal tropical signs.

THE BIBLE AND THE ZODIAC

The zodiac we have inherited is from the Greeks.

This is a very important fact to be considered since the Bible which includes information relative to the Zodiac as well as an emphasis on the number 12 was also written by the Greeks

So we have the Zodiac in basically the form we know it today from the Greeks, but what about the Bible.

BIBLICAL MYTH

In this early flowering of civilization, many religious myths abounded, seeking to explain what was then unexplainable.

From this context comes the oldest complete literary work we have, the age of which we are certain, dating back at least 7,000 years.

The Epic of Gilgamesh is a lengthy narrative of heroic mythology that incorporates many of the religious myths of Mesopotamia, and it is the earliest complete literary work that has survived.

Many of the stories in that epic were eventually incorporated into the book of Genesis.

Borrowed from the Epic of Gilgamesh are stories of the creation of man in a wondrous garden, the introduction of evil into a naive world, and the story of a great flood brought on by the wickedness of man, that flooded the whole world.

For religious leaders to ignore the involvement of ancient mythology in the Bible is deliberate deception.

The Gilgamesh mythology of 7000 years ago is the basis of the creation story as well as the Noah's ark story.

THE BIBLE, ZEUS, AND CHRISTMAS

We come now to the creation of the Bible as we know it and the part that the worship of the Greek God Zeus plays in the Christmas Story that we know and celebrate now.

THE BIBLE WAS WRITTEN IN EGYPT

The Bible both Old and New Testament were written in 300 BCE. BCE meaning before the Christian Era.

The writings were done in the town of Alexandria Egypt.

Alexander The Great

Alexandria was not always known as Alexandria. It became Alexandria when it was invaded and conquered by the great Greek warrior Alexander the Great.

JESUS CAME FROM ZEUS ?

We have the Jesus nativity story now because Alexander the Great was a devout worshipper of the God Zeus and turned Alexandria into a place which honored the Greek Gods and brought together Greek and Egyptian mythologies.

THEN CAME THE HELLENISTS

As the classic Greek myths and writings were being written, and as the great library of Alexandria was being formed, many people who were enamored with the Greek culture and way of writings and myths etc. migrated into Alexandria.

Among them were people called Hellenists.

These were people who had come from the area of Palestine which we know as the Jewish culture. They favored the Greek writings and brought the history of the early Hebrew or Habiru with them.

HOW DID OUR CHRISTMAS STORY ORIGINATE ?

Now let us see how the Jesus nativity and life story originated out of the combination of cultures and mainly the Zeus worship which was such a strong point with Alexander.

WE MUST CONSIDER THREE PERSONS

We are going to consider three persons here as we look to develop the origins of our Christmas story.

We must consider Zeus , Krishna, and Jesus.

WHICH ONE CAME FIRST ?

The story of the nativity had to originate with one of them.

Did Zeus and Krishna copy the story from Jesus?

Did Jesus copy the story from Zeus and Krishna ?

Did Zeus copy from Krishna or Krishna from Zeus.

In other words where did the nativity story come from? Who was first?

ZEUS AND KRISHNA WERE MUCH EARLIER THEN JESUS

Well one thing is for certain both the Zeus story and the Krishna story were significantly earlier then the Jesus story.

The Jesus story comes to us from about 2000 years ago. But what about the Zeus story and the Krishna story?

Jesus 1 AD Zeus 500-400 BCE Krishna 1200 BCE

KRISHNA WAS FIRST, THEN ZEUS, THEN JESUS

So there we have Krishna 1200 years before Jesus.

Zeus 500 to 400 years before Jesus.

Now Alexander was a worshipper of Zeus.

But since Zeus appeared about 700 years after Krishna it would seem reasonable to suggest that it was the Krishna nativity that came first.

LET'S EXPLORE THE FIRST "NOEL"

This is the Christmas season and the focus is on the Birth of Jesus.

The little child born in a manger to Mary with Joseph have to flee to Egypt to escape the wicked King Herod.

BUT THERE WAS ANOTHER COUPLE AND A NEW BORN BABY

There is another couple we explore whose story dates approximately 800 to 1200 years before the story of the birth of Jesus.

This involves a woman by the name of Davaki and a man by the name of Vasudeva.

In their story the woman is about to give birth to a baby though strangely she had not had sexual intercourse.

She had had seven children before this one but this one was different.

THE ANGELS PRAY FOR THE BABY IN DAVAKI'S WOMB

As you look at this most ancient story you will find many parallels to the Christmas Story we have all celebrated year after year as our special Christian Christmas nativity story.

THE KRISHNA NATIVITY STORY

A long time ago in ancient India, there lived King Ugrasen. He had two children, prince Kansa and princess Devaki. Prince Kansa was evil by nature.

When Kansa grew up, he imprisoned his own father Ugrasen and made himself king.

Soon, his sister Devaki was married to King Vasudev. However, after the wedding, Kansa heard a divine warning from the sky, "O King! Your sister's eighth son will grow up to kill you."

After Kansa heard this, he was afraid. Immediately he imprisoned his own sister Devaki and her husband king Vasudev, and kept them under continuous watch.

So we have the introduction of good vs evil and that evil is brought to us in the person of a King, namely King Kansa.

King Kansa

The story line is that King Kansa heard in a dream that the 8th son of Devaki would overthrow and kill him.

Kansa places Devaki and her husband Vasudev in prison under constant watch. There in prison the 8th son is born to Devaki. This is the 8th incarnation of Vishnu (God) who is Krishna.

There is something very interesting that we see in this birth which is the birth of Krishna. It also reveals zodiacal influences as does the birth of Jesus.

Janmashtami

On the eighth day of the black half of Bhadra (August - September) was born Shri Krishna, the eighth Avtar or incarnation of Vishnu...

August-September is the month of Virgo the virgin.

THE GOD MAN IS BORN

And so this son of God is born in a prison.

There is however no way to escape the wicked King who will kill him because of the warning he received in his dream.

And how do the ancient stories say that this child was conceived?

The nativity painting of Davaki and Vesudeva is very close to that we are used to seeing of Joseph and Mary.

This painting shows Davaki with Vesudeva and the Lord Vishnu with Krishna at his feet.

THE NIGHT KRISHNA WAS BORN

We are all enamored with the nativity story.

The shepherds, the wise men, the heavenly hosts singing Glory to God in the highest. Let us look at what was written about the night Krishna was born.

Everyone was very happy and blissful. It was as if all of Gokul, Vrajabhumi had drowned in an ocean of blissfulness. All the gopas and gopis came running to see the newly born son.

The demigods were dancing in the heavenly planets, beating drums and singing, "Hari Hari! Haribol! Haribol! Haribol! Haribol!"

The fourteen planetary systems resounded with the sound of "Haribol!"

In the heavenly planets the deva-naris, the wives of the demigods, were showering flowers. All of the gopas and gopis were dancing blissfully.

Embracing one another with love and affection, they were all drowning in an ocean of happiness.

And how did the wise men figure into this story.

In our Nativity Story the wise men were the Magi which is the root of the word magic. They were astrologers.

After eight months of pregnancy an astrologer told them, "On the eighth day of the dark fortnight of this month of Bhadra the child will take birth on a most auspicious tithi.

When this bhadra-krsnastami, the eighth day of the dark fortnight of the month of Bhadra came, the nurse said, "The child will be born today," Immediately a maternity home was prepared and decorated nicely.

Flower garlands were hung all over. Gates were also made out of various flowers. Nurses came to take care of the mother and the child.

In the heavenly planets all of the demigods became joyful. Indradeva was showering rain. On that day everyone was drowning in an ocean of happiness, for the Supreme Lord was about to take birth.

So we have the Magi astrologers in the Jesus story and the astrologer in the Krishna story.

And now the child must be taken away so that the wicked King cannot kill him.

THE CHILD MUST BE SAVED FROM THE WICKED KING

The eighth child, Lord Krishna, was born to queen Devaki at midnight in the prison.

As soon as the child was born, Lord Vishnu appeared in divine form and the prison was filled with a dazzling light. Both Devaki and Vasudev prayed to Lord Vishnu.

A divine message came to Vasudev soon after the birth of Lord Krishna

Take this child across the Yamuna River to Gokul and exchange him with Yashoda's daughter. You will return to the prison before anyone comes to know about the birth of this child."

THE CHILD IS TAKEN AWAY FROM THE EVIL KING

Here we see Vasudeva carrying Krishna across the river to safety away from the wicked king Kansa.

GODS ANGELS OPENED THE PRISON DOORS

But of course we know that Davaki and Vasudeva were both in prison and under guard. How could Vasudeva manage to get Krishna out of the prison.

Vasudeva was very, very happy.

By the wonderful will of Lord Hari, those who were guarding the prison all fell asleep. All of the strong iron doors and shackles opened and Vasudeva was free to leave.

This event of the guards falling asleep and the prison doors opening became the source of a very similar story in the New Testament.

ONLY THE NAMES HAVE BEEN CHANGED

Well there we have our nativity story. Only it's Hare Krishna and not Jesus Christ.

But it contains all of the elements of the story about Jesus that came to the world about 700 years later, complete with the virgin birth, the wicked king, the heavenly hosts singing,

The taking of the child away to safety from the wicked king.

Here is the child of promise

Jesus Krishna

Here is the mother and father

Joseph and
Mary Davaki and Vasudeva

Here are the mothers

Mary Davaki

The wicked kings who tried to kill the child

King Kansa King Herod

Taking the child to safety from the wicked King

Krishna Jesus

So there we have two saviors of the world. Jesus and Krishna. Both born to women who had not conceived via sexual intercourse.

Both had to be taken away because of the wicked Kings who wanted to kill them.

WHAT PROMPTED THE KINGS TO WANT TO KILL THE BABY ?

The last comment I would like to make on both of these nativities is the writings that surround the reasons why the two evil kings Herod and Kansa wanted to kill the babies Jesus and Krishna.

After the wedding, Kansa heard a divine warning from the sky, "O King! Your sister's eighth son will grow up to kill you."

In the time of King Herod, after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem, asking, "Where is the child who has been born king of the Jews?"

So here we have the two kings hearing messages about the baby.

Herod heard that the baby would be born King of the Jews and so he had to deal with that, and Kansa heard that the baby would grow up to kill him and he had to deal with that.

THE SAME STORY

DIFFERENT NAMES FOR DIFFERENT TIMES

So we have the same story, with variations on the theme , concerning the birth of two babies who are divinely born God men sent to save the world.

Krishna's story 700 to 1200 years before the Jesus story.

HOLD ON

THERE'S ANOTHER STORY

Another nativity story and this story is written sometime between the period of the Krishna story and the Jesus story. About 300 to 500 BC.

Another baby is born.

Another God man is born, another child of promise is born.

Another woman will give birth to the God Man and her name is Rhea

Rhea

THE GOD MAN BORN TO RHEA IS ZEUS

This is the birth as a child of the God Zeus.

BUT THE EVIL KING WANTED TO KILL THE CHILD

(WHERE HAVE I HEARD THAT BEFORE ?)

Alas there was an evil force about at the time of the birth of Zeus.

This force was known as King Cronus of the Golden Age.

King Cronus

This is what the ancient story says of Cronus and Zeus.

He was married to Rhea who had borne him children. But he was afraid of the children because he had been told that one of them would overthrow him.

Not all was well for Cronus, as it was fated that he would be overthrown by one of his own children.

To prevent this from happening he began to swallow his newborn, taking them at birth then swallowing them whole, retaining them inside his own body where they could do him no harm.

ANOTHER CHILD OF PROMISE AND ANOTHER WICKED KING

So here we have another God man coming to the world as a baby who must be saved from a wicked King.

Rhea did not like the thoughts of losing all her children, and with the help of Gaia she saved Zeus from this fate.

Rhea wrapped a stone in Zeus' swaddling clothes which Cronus took and immediately swallowed thinking it was the child.

THE BABY ZEUS IS TAKEN AWAY FROM THE EVIL KING

Gaia and Rhea's plan worked well and the baby Zeus was taken to Crete, and there, in a cave on Mount Dicte, the divine goat Amaltheia suckled and raised the infant Zeus.

Three mothers, Mary, Davaki, Rhea

Three evil kings, Herod, Kansa, Cronus

Three God men born to the earth as babies, Jesus, Krishna, Zeus

Three escapes from the evil king.

Krishna across the raging river, Jesus to Egypt, Zeus to Crete

A VARIATION ON THE THEME FOR EVERYONE

In no way am I suggesting that one story was copied from the other thought that was obviously what happened .

One main theme and then variations on the theme.

People will fight and scream over whom they believe is the true incarnation. Which nativity they feel is true.

Here the nativity of Jesus is proclaimed.

THEY'RE ALL THE SAME PERSON

But the truth is that Jesus is Krishna, Jesus is Zeus. And Zeus and Krishna are Jesus.

The stories tell a very simple truth.

DECODING THE MYTH OF ALL THREE

THE CHILD WITHIN YOU

The child of promise will be born of the virgin. That child will be destroyed by the system unless he is taken away from the place of the evil.

That child within you must be taken to the place of meditation on the right side where there is no human thought. Where the evil of the system does not exist.

THE POWER OF THE LOWER MIND

The wicked king is the power of the lower mind which will try and destroy this new life inside of you. Whether this be religion, government, family or friends. They must bow to the religion or they must bow to the system.

They cannot deal with the child born within you. The system is Herod, Kansa and Cronus.

WHAT PART DOES THE ZODIAC PLAY IN ALL OF THIS ?

We talked earlier concerning these stories being authored in Alexandria by Greek mythologists and Hellenists.

A very important part of the story centers around the Zodiac.

Krishna is born in the time of August September. The 9th month. Why?

Because it is the time of the virgin Virgo. Jesus is born of the Virgin. It is the 9th month.

THE MYTHICAL SUN GOD

The Jesus theme as the mythical sun god (888) uses the Zodiac to mythologically present the Christ or Sun God, Jesus.

Born of a Virgin in the 9th month Aug-Sept. The same time that Krishna was born. Keep in mind the birth is of a virgin because it is the time of Virgo as was the birth of Krishna.

THE CHILD IS BORN IN A STABLE AMONG THE ANIMALS

The Jesus Story then has him born in a stable which is appropriate between November and December, the horse and the goat, Sagittarius and Capricorn.

DECEMBER 25TH MEANS MUCH MORE AS WELL

There is something very interesting about Jesus birth being celebrated on Dec 25th.

The reason for that is of course the nativity and the horse and goat manger etc. But mainly it is because Dec 25th is the end of the winter solstice.

THE PLACE OF CRUCIFIXION

The Sun moves through the area of the constellation Crux in the Southern Hemisphere at this time of the year.

Crux is the Southern Cross.

That is the crucifixion.

Then the Sun is in the bowels of the earth in the Southern Hemisphere 3 days and 3 nights in the solstice which is Jesus three days and 3 nights in the tomb.

On Dec 25th the Sun comes out of the tomb of the solstice and begins the right ascension where it sits at the right hand .

Thus December 25th which we celebrate as the birth of Christ is also the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus which we observe in March and April.

THE ZODIAC WHEEL THEN MOVES TO AQUARIUS

THE WATER MAN

The next part of Jesus life is fixed on the astrological sign of Aquarius.

Jesus is baptized by the waterman John

The great zodiacal wheel continues to turn and the Bible stays in sync with it.

THE NEXT IS PISCES THE FISH

The Zodiac turns to Pisces the fish.

Jesus selects his disciples from among fishermen and tells them, I will make you fishers of men.

NEXT ARIES, GOD'S LAMB

The Zodiac then moves to Aries.

The time of the spring.

The Lamb of God that takes away the cold of the winter. The lamb of God that takes away the sins of the world.

LEO, THE LION OF JUDAH . THE FINAL POINT

Finally the Biblical trip around the great wheel of the Zodiac concludes in Leo.

The Lion and the Book of Revelation provides the final title to Jesus as the Lion of Judah.

TRULY THE GREATEST STORY NEVER TOLD

The most beautiful story of life within and without that has been told in various ways with names changed to accommodate cultures all over the world.

The story of the child who is to be born within each one of us that that child may grow to overcome the violent systems of government and religion that has caused such pain, suffering, death and destruction on this most beautiful creation of God, planet earth,.

MERRY CHRISTMAS MERRY KRISHMAS MERRY ZEUSMAS

Whichever you wish, let it be.

But keep the child within you connected to the cosmic light and away from the control of the systems of the world.

| 24721|2008-02-06 08:16:37|Tafari khumbaka|ausar-auset sites|

Attachments :

<http://www.aasmilwaukee.org/Events/Events.html>

<http://www.aasorlando.org/>

<http://www.aasatlanta.org/>

<http://www.aaschicago.org/>

<http://www.tauenterprises.com/>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24722|2008-02-06 08:16:44|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: Akan Akom Honoring Nana Yao Opare Dinizulu I|

Onipa Abusia wrote:

From: "Onipa Abusia"

Subject: FW: Akan Akom Honoring Nana Yao Opare Dinizulu I

Date: Tue, 05 Feb 2008 15:48:36 -0500

---

From: "Onipa Abusia"

To: onipaabusia@hotmail.com

Subject: Akan Akom Honoring Nana Yao Opare Dinizulu I

Date: Tue, 05 Feb 2008 15:41:52 -0500

Akan Akom Honoring Nana Yao Opare Dinizulu I

Sunday, February 10, 2008 11am

Onipa Abusia

92-15 172nd Street

Jamaica, New York

All are welcome to attend an Akan Akom Honoring Nana Yao Opare Dinizulu I hosted by Onipa Abusia, an Akan religious and cultural organization. The Akom is a collective religious service where the community comes together to offer praise through song, dance, and the drum. The Akom provides the opportunity to celebrate and praise and also receive spiritual blessings and guidance.

Food will be served following the Akom. No pork or cola products permitted in the building.

Public transportation

Take LIRR to Jamaica Station (buy $3 "City ticket" from Flatbush or Penn Stations); take Q30/Q31 bus on Archer Avenue or Q54/Q56 bus on Jamaica Avenue to 170th. Cabs are also available at the station.

"E" or "J" train to Parsons & Archer; then take the Jamaica Avenue Q54, Q56 or Q110 busto 170th or 172nd Street.

"F" train to 169th Street; walk to Jamaica Avenue.

Driving directions

Go to www.mapquest.com

For further information call 718-658-2600 or 718-525-4633 or 202-529-3635 email us onipaabusia@hotmail.com. Or visit our website at www.onipaabusia.org

Onipa Abusia maintains and preserves the traditional culture and spiritual practice of the Akan people of Ghana, West Africa established in the U.S by the late Nana Yao Opare Dinizulu I, founder of the Dinizulu African Dancers, Drummers and Singers.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24723|2008-02-06 08:16:56|cristofori whitakara|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|

thank you for your answer. it takes me back to my original question. is the bible myth then if in modern times we have descendants of the biblical canaanites?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the caanites ,the old city states of sumer eridu, nippur, lagash, ur and also susa and elam were in their golden period and infancy black ( dark brown -black melinated ) people, and their are still blacks in those areas from 10,000 b.c. until now ,;the work of biologist are proving the archaeology to be correct ( pictures and right brain culture) that those people call caanan, Ca-annu were black,,,

cristofori whitakara wrote:

being descendants of the biblical cannanites

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

liars about what?

cristofori whitakara wrote:

if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

Note: forwarded message attached.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Subject: boogie213 sent you a video!
From: YouTube Service
To: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 14:00:04 -0800 (PST)

YouTube Broadcast Yourself?

boogie213 wants to share a video with you

watch video

Video Description

As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean either a slave or a minister as Moses was called. To accept my friend request, click here. To respond to boogie213, click here.

Thanks,
boogie213

2008 YouTube, Inc.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Using YouTube

YouTube Help

Check the Help Center for answers to common questions.

Your Account Settings

To change your preferences, settings, or personal info, go to the 'My Account' section.

Email Notifications

To change or cancel email notifications from YouTube, go to the Email Options section of your Profile.

Report Spam Email

If this is a spam email, please report it.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24724|2008-02-06 08:17:36|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

i dont think the mongol hordes entered africa 🤔, and i am open for a greater interpretation of kiswahilli inception, seems the history books show its use as early as 500 yrs ago , i think it was a merchant language in the 8th century a.d. it is a african language with arab influence i think

Ferg wrote:

To:

From: "Ferg"

Date: Sat, 2 Feb 2008 15:35:15 -0000

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Sorry about the mess in the previous hieroglyphics. Trying to sort it out
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Peter Gray

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Friday, February 01, 2008 2:31 PM

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Justa couple points:

1. Kiswahili is spoken (and understood) all the way from Mozambique to Somalia. The "capital" of Sawhili civilization , Kilwa, was destroyed by Vasco da Gama in 1502?), at which time. yes. ther was esignificant trade between East Africa and the East (China, India). So we knjow the language is at least 500 years old.

2. The Persians who conquered Egypt were in turn conquered by the marauding hordes of the great Khan, aka the Mongol Hordes,who subsequently became accustomed to the sedentary lifestyle and fused many of their own traditions with those the preceeding Persians, e.g. , the use of blue tiles (Persian) on their domed temples (which had as their blueprint/motif the tradtional Mongolian hut-like abode).

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com
From: tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com
Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 09:54:11 -0800
Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language

a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologist the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

[http://www.atlastou rs.net/jordan/ aqaba\_history.html](http://www.atlastou rs.net/jordan/ aqaba_history.html)

[http://en.wikipedia .org/wiki/ History\_of Sudan \(Coming\_of Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\)](http://en.wikipedia .org/wiki/ History_of Sudan (Coming_of Islam_to_the_Turkiyah))

[http://books.google.com/ books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer+s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M](http://books.google.com/ books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer+s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M)

the swahili people have their own language , the shona , the ethiopians , thats indegious to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english,

seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to aindigenous nation and it has alot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speakig system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have some radically different cultural expressions, like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have on Uauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglyphs(metu neter)and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,,, which leads me to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat= Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very own records,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule ofNarmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset( thebes=Waset= Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal goverment of the two lands ( punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub= Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made

Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people develop the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups
.com
From: cristofori whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan 2008
10:27:51 -0800 (PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti]
Nubia, Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same people?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori whitakara wrote:

why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when
ancient egyptian
hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you.
Even after this day and time,
and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/ Tamare's greatness.
A time when Nubians were
in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance over us.
Thinking outside the box,
looking past the matrix, and
you will never see life and
our past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat)
something different from egypt,, its repugnant
and disgraceful

Alex van Deelen

wrote:
Nubia,
Temple of Dangeil, 1 of 5

[http://www.y outube.
com/watch?
v=dXUwy9y
5heY&](http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&)

feature=related

Alex

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

---

Be a better
friend,
newshound,
and know-it-
all with
Yahoo!
Mobile. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute
shopping deals? [Find them
fast with Yahoo! Search.](#)

---

Looking for last minute
shopping deals? [Find them
fast with Yahoo! Search.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Never miss a thing. [Make
Yahoo your homepage.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24725|2008-02-06 08:18:00|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: ***De Conch-Black History/African Heritage Month 2008 Editi|

Attachments :

Alandas Dobbins wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"
To: "'Sadio Arnett'",
"'Alandas Dobbins \ (Men Ra\)'",
"Andre Dillon",
"'Bastet Ankh Re'",
"'Curtis Carter'",
"'Felicia Carroll'",
"'Fredrick Jones'",
"'LaSaunders Hunders'",
"'Michael Harrell'",
"'Muata Muse'",
"Nesby Blanchard",
"'Nia Glenn-Lopez'",
"Obike",
"'Patrick Harris'",
"'Stephanie Williams'",
"Tafari khumbaka",
"'Tena Wheat Crump'",

"Toni Brittenum" ,

"Tonya Dyson-Jerry"

Subject: FW: ***De Conch-Black History/African Heritage Month 2008 Edition

Date: Mon, 4 Feb 2008 17:23:41 -0600

---

From: GullGeeCo@aol.com [mailto:GullGeeCo@aol.com]

Sent: Monday, February 04, 2008 9:27 AM

To: undisclosed-recipients:

Subject: ***De Conch-Black History/African Heritage Month 2008 Edition Peace All!

Attached is your February .pdf of "De Conch."

I pray that you gain more knowledge of the global African story this month. This can be gained even through a dialogue and an open mind. There are some excellent films on PBS this month beginning on the 4th of the month with the film, "Prince Among Slaves." This depicts the story of an African prince that was enslaved in Natchez . MS which is another area where many Gullah/Geechees ended up residing. So, please tune in and support these types of films throughout the month so that more will be made.

Also, come out to the Sea Island Scenes Film Screenings in Charleston , SC , Brunswick , GA , and Yulee , FL this month and next month. Discussions will follow each film. Fellowship is the center of all these opportunities of connection.

Finally, if you are participating in any of the things listed in De Conch and/or tuning in to the Gullah/Geechee Gwine On Podcast, please send us feedback. We would like to share these comments in the ezine from time to time. We also will know if it is worthwhile continuing to share information with all of you.

You will be receiving a special issue of De Conch later in the month, but we wanted to launch this month simply saying, "Have a POWER FULL Black History/African Heritage Month!"

Peace,

Queen Quet

Chieftess of the Gullah/Geechee Nation

Founder, Gullah/Geechee Sea Island Coalition

The Gullah/Geechee Sea Island Coalition appreciates your continued support in keeping our native culture alive and our people on our land. However, if you do not wish to receive further e-mails, please write us at GullGeeCo@aol.com and request to be removed from our mailing list. If you are staying with us, tenk hunnuh fa disya!

www.officialgullahgeechee.info

*****

Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.
(<http://music.aol.com/grammys/pictures/never-won-a-grammy?NCID=aolcmp00300000002548>)

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24726|2008-02-06 08:18:20|Ferg|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

Thanks.

I wonder if these links fit in with your analysis.

<http://www.nabataea.net/tanz.html>

<http://66.102.9.104/search?q=cache:EPvmAXpTlagJ:www.nabataea.net/index2.html+chami+nabatean+n et&hl=en&ct=clnk&cd=2&gl=uk>

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com ; maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Saturday, February 02, 2008 10:11 PM

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

very interesting thanks,,from what i think i understand of what this article is saying i would agree with all except i see greater arab influence then they do,,i believe the language of the swahili peoples is an essential part of kiswahili i see a amalgamation of swahili and arabic,,,, not just from a.d. times but from the persian and estrangelo aramic also in b.c. times on into the rise of islam,, perhaps the language of east africa has always influenced arabia and once there was a very dynamic arab-islamic culture along the east coast the swahili language was the substratum of merchants dealing with the arab merchants and islamic fundamentalist

-----
a piece from the article below

these and similiar statements made in the article not knowing specifically their idea of the words negro, asian, black, asian-black, non-negro african,etcetcetc. 🤔, means i have no precise understanding of what they are saying appen to be black. Many of these negro people are clearly visible on the East Coast of Africa. This is as far as our interest in the subject of the race question and Kiswahili within linguistics should extend and no further. For, the alternative would be to say that if the protestors against the term Negro African as a cover term for all negro languages were strictly linguistic-empirica l, then the term Afroasian is clearly inappropriate since it is clearly racialistic. It excludes speakers who may be negroid or black, but are certainly not asiatic stock. To be an African does not necessarily imply to be a Negro African. But an African-Asian or Afro-Asian is still an Asian in Africa, historically speaking.

1.2 S

OME FEATURES OF KISWAHILI AS A BANTU LANGUAGE

Ferg wrote:

Thanks for the links and your thoughts.

Must get the google book.

However here is another link of interest:

<http://www.njas.helsinki.fi/pdf-files/vol4num1/amidu.pdf>

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2008 5:54 PM

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language

a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologist the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

http://books.google.com/books?id=

E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer
s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language, the shona, the ethiopians, that is indigenous to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english,

seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to aindegenous nation and it has alot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speakig system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shownthat a linguisticrelationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the germans and french yet they have someradically different cultural expressions, ,like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have onUauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglphs(metu meter)and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph system,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,, which leadsme to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat= Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very own records, perhaps many do not understand that Uauat was a separate government they broke off from khamit (upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1st government under Shekhem ur Shekhem (king of kings) Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule of Narmeri was from khami in the north down to Uaset (thebes=Waset= Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti, Punt, Abu-simbi were a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands (Punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub= Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so called gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties their great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2 lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2 lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the 6th cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of Meroe and Axum and Napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khami, commerce in the south and across the Red Sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum (later to be known as Ethiopia) it is during this time that we find the use of the Meriotic script, later in this same area and

extending deep into south africa
(monomatapa) due to continued
commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia)
people develop the writing and
speaking system of ki-swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To:
Ta_Seti@yahoo.com
From: cristofori
whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan
2008 10:27:51 -0800
(PST)
Subject: Re:
[Ta_Seti] Nubia,
Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian
hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian
hieroglyphics? how
is that possible when they are the same
people?

Tafari khumbaka
wrote:

the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french
different than german

cristofori whitakara
wrote:
why would one need
a rashid (rosetta)

stone to decipher
nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time,
and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/
Tamare's greatness.

A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and
we ruled the world.
They still try to hold
that spell of
ignorance over us.
Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our
past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka

wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uaua
t) somet hing differe nt
from
egypt,
, its repug nant

and disgra ceful

Alex
van Deele
n

wrote:
Nubia
,
Templ e of Dange
il,
1of5

[http:// www.
youtu
be.
com/watch
?
v=dX
Uwy9
y5heY
&
featur e=rela ted](http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related)

Alex

Tafari
-
sudra,

Khum
baka

Be a better
friend, newsh
ound,
and know-it-all
with Yahoo
!
Mobil e. [Try
it
now.](#)

Looking for last minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

Looking for last
minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

Never miss a thing.
[Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

Never miss a thing.
Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24727|2008-02-06 08:18:27|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: A TRIBUTE TO DR. IVAN VAN SERTIMA|

Alandas Dobbins <wrote:

From: "Alandas Dobbins"

To: "Tafari khumbaka"

Subject: FW: A TRIBUTE TO DR. IVAN VAN SERTIMA

Date: Tue, 5 Feb 2008 11:37:29 -0600

A TRIBUTE TO DR. IVAN VAN SERTIMA

Greetings All! Dr. Ivan Van Sertima is just one of the many African centered scholars my person was fortunate enough to have learned from during our "Black Conscience Movement" that moved so many of us then young adults beyond the United States modern civil rights pursuit. This movement helped my person transcend the "MIS-education of Negro" mentality as the founder of "Black History Week" now "Black History Month" Dr. Carter G. Woodson termed. Ser Seshs Ab Heter-CM Boxley

Posted by: "Runoko Rashidi" Runoko@yahoo.com runoko

Mon Feb4,2008 7:14pm (PST)

THE GLOBAL AFRICAN COMMUNITY

HISTORY NOTES

A TRIBUTE TO DR. IVAN VAN SERTIMA

By RUNOKO RASHIDI

<http://www.cwo.com/~lucumi/runoko.html>

-----

"We have come to reclaim the house of history. We are dedicated to the revision of the role of the African in the world's great civilizations, the contribution of Africa to the achievement of man in the arts and sciences. We shall emphasize what Africa has given to the world, not what it has lost."

--Ivan Van Sertima

With absolute certainty it can be stated that, due to his consistent and unrelenting scholarship over the past twenty-five years in the rewriting of African history and the reconstruction of the African's place in world history, particularly in the field of the African presence in ancient America, Ivan Van Sertima has cemented his position as one of our greatest living scholars. Indeed, during this turbulent and exciting period, he has been in the vanguard of those scholars fighting to place African history in a new light. Simply put, Van Sertima's clarion call has been: "We shall follow the trail of the African in Europe, in Asia, and in every corner of the New World, seeking to set the record straight. This is no romantic exploration of antiquities. It is a search for roots."

Ivan Van Sertima was born in Kitty Village, Guyana, South America on January 26, 1935. He was educated at the School of Oriental and African Studies at London University where he graduated with honors. From 1957 to 1959, he served as a Press and Broadcasting Officer in the Guyana Information Services. During the decade of the 1960s, he broadcasted weekly from Britain to both Africa and the Caribbean. He came to the United States in 1970, where he completed his post graduate studies at Rutgers University in New Jersey. Dr. Van Sertima began his teaching career as an instructor at Rutgers in 1972, and remained Professor of African studies in the Department of African Studies until recently.

Van Sertima is a literary critic, a linguist, and an anthropologist, and has made a name for himself in all three fields. As a linguist, he is the compiler of the Swahili Dictionary of Legal Terms, based on his field work in Tanzania , East Africa in 1967. As a literary critic, he is the author of Caribbean Writers, a collection of critical essays on the Caribbean novel. He is also the author of several major literary reviews published in Denmark , India , Britain , and the United States . He was recognized for his work in this field by being requested by the Nobel Committee of the Swedish Academy to nominate candidates for the Nobel Prize in Literature from 1976 to 1980.

The cornerstone of Dr. Van Sertima's legacy will probably be his authorship of They Came Before Columbus : The African Presence in Ancient America . According to Van Sertima:

"The African presence in America before Columbus is of importance not only to African and American history, but to the history of world civilizations. The African presence is proven by stone heads, terra cottas, skeletons, artifacts, techniques and inscriptions, by oral traditions and documented history, by botanical, linguistic and cultural data."

They Came Before Columbus is a groundbreaking historical work and a literary hallmark. The ideas and themes presented in They Came Before Columbus were not novel. Indeed, many people had written on the African presence in pre-Columbian America before Van Sertima, notably Leo Wiener, Kofi Wangara, R.A. Jairazbhoy, Legrand H. Clegg II, and Floyd W. Hayes III, but Van Sertima's book was the first such work of its type written by an African to comprehensively address the subject. In his own words, Van Sertima notes that:

"What I have sought to do in this book, therefore, is to present the whole picture emerging from these disciplines, all the facts that are now known about the links between Africa and America in pre-Columbian times."

They Came Before Columbus has now gone through more than twenty printings. It was published in French in 1981, and in the same year was awarded the Clarence L. Holt Prize, a prize awarded every two years "for a work of excellence in literature and the humanities relating to the the cultural heritage of Africa and the African diaspora." In 1979 Dr. Chancellor Williams received the Clarence L. Holte prize for the Destruction of Black Civilization.

Following upon the publication of They Came Before Columbus , and equally momentous, in 1979 Dr. Van Sertima founded the Journal of African Civilizations which quickly gained "a reputation for excellence and uniqueness among historical and anthropological journals. It is recognized as a valuable information source for both the layman and student." The late St. Clair Drake described the Journal of African Civilizations as "one of the most important events in the development of research and publication from the perspective of Pan-African scholarship. " Van Sertima set the tone early on when he stated that:

"The destruction of African high-cultures after the massive and continuous invasions of Europe left many Africans surviving on the periphery or outer ring of what constituted the best in African civilizations. New facts that challenge this image create such consternation and incredulity that an extraordinarily emotional campaign is mounted by some of the most respected voices in the scientific establishment to explain away the new data.

That drift of dynastic Egypt from Africa has now dramatically slowed. Recent archeological finds have caught up with the mythmakers. More and more the history of Africa is being reconstructed upon the basis of hard, objective data rather than upon the self-serving speculations and racist theories about the black barbarians."

From 1979 the Journal of African Civilizations published works by and about many of the world's finest Africanist scholars in a series of magnificent anthologies. These works include Blacks in Science, Nile Valley Civilizations, African Presence in Early America , Black Women in Antiquity, Egypt Revisited, Egypt : Child of Africa , African Presence in Early Europe , Golden Age of the Moor, African Presence in the Art of the Americas , Great Black Leaders, Great African Thinkers (coedited with Larry Obadele Williams), and African Presence in Early Asia (coedited with Runoko Rashidi). In 1998 Transaction Press produced Van Sertima's newest text--Early America Revisited--the definitive statement on the subject.

On July 7, 1987 Dr. Van Sertima appeared before a Congressional Committee to challenge the Columbus myth. In November 1991 he defended his thesis in an address to the Smithsonian Institute. In this arena Ivan Van Sertima has emerged as an undefeated champion.

SOURCES:

They Came Before Columbus and Early Early America Revisited, by Ivan Van Sertima

---

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24728|2008-02-06 15:19:53|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Truly The Greatest Story Never Told| zeitgeist hit the nail on the head

Ronn wrote:

Take Your Pick. It's All The Same Story

I too enjoy the carols, the mystique of Christmas and Santa Claus and all the rest.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STORY

But there is the Greatest Story Never Told. That story is the one I wish to bring to you to today.

The true story of Christmas. The story that has been told and has endured since the beginning of recorded history.

THE ORIGINS OF OUR TRADITIONS

Where did all of the stories come from that have formed so much of our traditional lives. Christmas, Easter .

What is the origin of these stories?

Who wrote them?

What impact are they supposed to have on life on planet earth?

IT'S ALL ABOUT THE SUN, THE GIVER OF LIFE

The story is of God's Sun. It's birth, it's crucifixion, it's three days and three nights in the tomb, its resurrection in December and its ascension to sit at the right hand of God in June.

Born of the virgin.

Crucifixion on the Cross.

Resurrection and ascension.

It is the story of the Sun of God. It has always been the story of the Sun of God.

THIS IS GOD'S SON/SUN

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

The Sun is the giver of life.

The sun is the light of the world.

The sun , the giver of life, the light of the world moves through the great circle of the 12. That fact forms the basis of every belief that so many cherish as Gods Holy Word, as doctrine, as the foundation of their faith.

THE SUN/SON OF GOD SURROUNDED BY THE TWELVE

The combination of the Sun and the 12 signs of the zodiac is the foundation for the stories of Christmas and Easter that we have totally misunderstood because they were interpreted for us by superstitious people from the Dark Ages who controlled the minds and activities of the people of that time.

OUR RELIGIOUS TEACHERS FROM THE DARK AGES

These were the kind of people who believed that the earth was flat, that the earth was the center of the universe .

Totally ignorant people who formed the beliefs of generation after generation for hundreds upon hundreds of years even up to this very time.

The trust placed in the leadership of these superstitious religious people has led to the wars and chaos that has plagued the earth from its beginning.

THE SUN AND THE TWELVE

What is the true basis of the sun and the 12?

Where did that come from and when?

Who wrote all of this stuff that now passes off as religious truth and doctrine?

THEY CALL IT FAITH

BUT IT IS FAITH IN THEM

When you blindly follow strong leaders, who have their own plans in place, you wind up believing nonsense which eventually has a negative impact on your life.

WHEN THE BLIND FOLLOW THE BLIND

THEY BOTH WIND UP IN A DITCH

CONSIDER IRAQ

Remember Iraq had no weapons of mass destruction, they were not aligned with Al Queda, and they had nothing to do with 911.

But our leaders showed us documentation and proof that they did and we all believed them. Our government was totally wrong about that as our religion has been totally wrong about this.

If we had not invaded Iraq our government would still be telling us these stories and we would still be believing them and would live in fear of something that absolutely did not exist.

Such is the nature of government and religion.

TRADITION

We are pathetically conditioned to follow the leader.

Wherever that leader leads. No matter how wrong it may be, as soon as it becomes tradition by being repeated over and over and over, then no one dare challenge it.

PETER PAN

There is a line from a song in the musical Peter Pan which sums up the problem with the human condition and why we have been prevented from understanding truth that would have totally changed the world and life upon it for the better.

It goes like this.

I won't grow up, I don't want to go to school, just to learn to be a parrot and repeat some silly rule.

TWELVE DISCIPLES--TWELVE SIGNS

The Sun and the 12 is portrayed to us as Jesus and his 12 disciples. But in reality it is the Sun and the 12 signs of the zodiac.

The great circle called the ecliptic through which the Sun passes and touches the 12 constellations.

The Zodiac ("Circle of Animals") is the name given to the band of the ecliptic encircling the earth. It is like a belt in space, about 15 degrees wide, across which the planets move and form their geometrical relationships.

The Zodiac forms the stellar backdrop for the apparent path of the Sun, called the plane of the ecliptic.

THE TWELVE PARTS BECOME PART OF THE STORY

Astrologers divide the circle of the ecliptic into twelve parts, each subdivided into 30 degrees, making 360 degrees in all. The twelve divisions are called the Signs of the Zodiac.

Virgo, the Virgin (august/sept. ) The Virgin who conceives

?Libra, the Scales (sept./oct.)

?Scorpio, the Scorpion (oct./nov.)

?Sagittarius, the Centaur (nov./dec.) The stable horse

?Capricorn, the Sea-Goat (dec./jan.) The stable goat

?Aquarius, the Water-Bearer (jan./feb.) The man with the pitcher of water

Pisces, the Fishes (feb./mar) The fishermen

?Aries, the Ram (march/april) The lamb of God

?Taurus, the Bull (april/may)

?Gemini, the Twins (may/june) Castor and Pollux

?Cancer, the Crab (june/july)

Leo, the Lion (july/august) The lion of Judah

We see some of the central figures of our belief system here.

The virgin, the man with the pitcher of water, the fish, the lamb of God, Castor and Pollux the twins associated with the Apostle Pauls boat, and the Lion of Judah.

The characters found in the Zodiac are found in the Bible for a purpose.

IN THE COSMOS AND IN OUR HEADS

The Sun the light of the world. The giver of life and the 12 disciples, the 12 tribes, and as we shall see as we go along, the 12 within each of us known as the 12 cranial nerves of the brain.

You see, the scientific principle here which has been completely obscured by traditions of superstitions is that the human brain mind duplicates the universal or cosmic brain mind and once we understand that we can flow in a harmony with nature or what we refer to as God.

Even the word God is nothing more then a play on words.

Good=God

Evil=Devil

WHERE DID THE ZODIAC COME FROM ?

This depends on who you wish to listen to.

Some say that the Zodiac dates back 6000 years to Mesopotamia but others suggest that there is no evidence that the Greek scheme of 12 zodiacal constellations existed anywhere prior to its evolvement in Greece circa 500 BCE.

THE NUMBER 12

The number 12 figures prominently in the origin of the Zodiac. The three major stages in the development of the zodiac were:

- (1) the establishment of 12 unequal constellations along the ecliptic
- (2) the division of the ecliptic into 12 equal segments based on the 12 constellations
- (3) the division of the 12 equal segments into 12 equal tropical signs.

THE BIBLE AND THE ZODIAC

The zodiac we have inherited is from the Greeks.

This is a very important fact to be considered since the Bible which includes information relative to the Zodiac as well as an emphasis on the number 12 was also written by the Greeks

So we have the Zodiac in basically the form we know it today from the Greeks, but what about the Bible.

BIBLICAL MYTH

In this early flowering of civilization, many religious myths abounded, seeking to explain what was then unexplainable.

From this context comes the oldest complete literary work we have, the age of which we are certain, dating back at least 7,000 years.

The Epic of Gilgamesh is a lengthy narrative of heroic mythology that incorporates many of the religious myths of Mesopotamia, and it is the earliest complete literary work that has survived.

Many of the stories in that epic were eventually incorporated into the book of Genesis.

Borrowed from the Epic of Gilgamesh are stories of the creation of man in a wondrous garden, the introduction of evil into a naive world, and the story of a great flood brought on by the wickedness of man, that flooded the whole world.

For religious leaders to ignore the involvement of ancient mythology in the Bible is deliberate deception.

The Gilgamesh mythology of 7000 years ago is the basis of the creation story as well as the Noahs ark story.

THE BIBLE, ZEUS, AND CHRISTMAS

We come now to the creation of the Bible as we know it and the part that the worship of the Greek God Zeus plays in the Christmas Story that we know and celebrate now.

THE BIBLE WAS WRITTEN IN EGYPT

The Bible both Old and New Testament were written in 300 BCE. BCE meaning before the Christian Era.

The writings were done in the town of Alexandria Egypt.

Alexander The Great

Alexandria was not always known as Alexandria. It became Alexandria when it was invaded and conquered by the great Greek warrior Alexander the Great.

JESUS CAME FROM ZEUS ?

We have the Jesus nativity story now because Alexander the Great was a devout worshipper of the God Zeus and turned Alexandria into a place which honored the Greek Gods and brought together Greek and Egyptian mythologies.

THEN CAME THE HELLENISTS

As the classic Greek myths and writings were being written, and as the great library of Alexandria was being formed, many people who were enamored with the Greek culture and way of writings and myths etc. migrated into Alexandria.

Among them were people called Hellenists.

These were people who had come from the area of Palestine which we know as the Jewish culture. They favored the Greek writings and brought the history of the early Hebrew or Habiru with them.

HOW DID OUR CHRISTMAS STORY ORIGINATE ?

Now let us see how the Jesus nativity and life story originated out of the combination of cultures and mainly the Zeus worship which was such a strong point with Alexander.

WE MUST CONSIDER THREE PERSONS

We are going to consider three persons here as we look to develop the origins of our Christmas story.

We must consider Zeus , Krishna, and Jesus.

WHICH ONE CAME FIRST ?

The story of the nativity had to originate with one of them.

Did Zeus and Krishna copy the story from Jesus?

Did Jesus copy the story from Zeus and Krishna ?

Did Zeus copy from Krishna or Krishna from Zeus.

In other words where did the nativity story come from? Who was first?

ZEUS AND KRISHNA WERE MUCH EARLIER THEN JESUS

Well one thing is for certain both the Zeus story and the Krishna story were significantly earlier then the Jesus story.

The Jesus story comes to us from about 2000 years ago. But what about the Zeus story and the Krishna story?

Jesus 1 AD Zeus 500-400 BCE Krishna 1200 BCE

KRISHNA WAS FIRST, THEN ZEUS, THEN JESUS

So there we have Krishna 1200 years before Jesus.

Zeus 500 to 400 years before Jesus.

Now Alexander was a worshipper of Zeus.

But since Zeus appeared about 700 years after Krishna it would seem reasonable to suggest that it was the Krishna nativity that came first.

LET'S EXPLORE THE FIRST "NOEL"

This is the Christmas season and the focus is on the Birth of Jesus.

The little child born in a manger to Mary with Joseph have to flee to Egypt to escape the wicked King Herod.

BUT THERE WAS ANOTHER COUPLE AND A NEW BORN BABY

There is another couple we explore whose story dates approximately 800 to 1200 years before the story of the birth of Jesus.

This involves a woman by the name of Davaki and a man by the name of Vasudeva.

In their story the woman is about to give birth to a baby though strangely she had not had sexual intercourse.

She had had seven children before this one but this one was different.

THE ANGELS PRAY FOR THE BABY IN DAVAKI'S WOMB

As you look at this most ancient story you will find many parallels to the Christmas Story we have all celebrated year after year as our special Christian Christmas nativity story.

THE KRISHNA NATIVITY STORY

A long time ago in ancient India, there lived King Ugrasen. He had two children, prince Kansa and princess Devaki. Prince Kansa was evil by nature.

When Kansa grew up, he imprisoned his own father Ugrasen and made himself king.

Soon, his sister Devaki was married to King Vasudev. However, after the wedding, Kansa heard a divine warning from the sky, "O King! Your sister's eighth son will grow up to kill you."

After Kansa heard this, he was afraid. Immediately he imprisoned his own sister Devaki and her husband king Vasudev, and kept them under continuous watch.

So we have the introduction of good vs evil and that evil is brought to us in the person of a King, namely King Kansa.

King Kansa

The story line is that King Kansa heard in a dream that the 8th son of Davaki would overthrow and kill him.

Kansa places Davaki and her husband Vasudev in prison under constant watch. There in prison the 8th son is born to Devaki. This is the 8th incarnation of Vishnu (God) who is Krishna.

There is something very interesting that we see in this birth which is the birth of Krishna. It also reveals zodiacal influences as does the birth of Jesus.

Janmashtami

On the eighth day of the black half of Bhadra (August - September) was born Shri Krishna, the eighth Avtar or incarnation of Vishnu...

August-September is the month of Virgo the virgin.

THE GOD MAN IS BORN

And so this son of God is born in a prison.

There is however no way to escape the wicked King who will kill him because of the warning he received in his dream.

And how do the ancient stories say that this child was conceived?

The nativity painting of Davaki and Vesudeva is very close to that we are used to seeing of Joseph and Mary.

This painting shows Davaki with Vesudeva and the Lord Vishnu with Krishna at his feet.

THE NIGHT KRISHNA WAS BORN

We are all enamored with the nativity story.

The shepherds, the wise men, the heavenly hosts singing Glory to God in the highest. Let us look at what was written about the night Krishna was born.

Everyone was very happy and blissful. It was as if all of Gokul, Vrajabhumi had drowned in an ocean of blissfulness. All the gopas and gopis came running to see the newly born son.

The demigods were dancing in the heavenly planets, beating drums and singing, "Hari Hari! Haribol! Haribol! Haribol! Haribol!"

The fourteen planetary systems resounded with the sound of "Haribol!"

In the heavenly planets the deva-naris, the wives of the demigods, were showering flowers. All of the gopas and gopis were dancing blissfully.

Embracing one another with love and affection, they were all drowning in an ocean of happiness.

And how did the wise men figure into this story.

In our Nativity Story the wise men were the Magi which is the root of the word magic. They were astrologers.

After eight months of pregnancy an astrologer told them, "On the eighth day of the dark fortnight of this month of Bhadra the child will take birth on a most auspicious tithi.

When this bhadra-krsnastami, the eighth day of the dark fortnight of the month of Bhadra came, the nurse said, "The child will be born today," Immediately a maternity home was prepared and decorated nicely.

Flower garlands were hung all over. Gates were also made out of various flowers. Nurses came to take care of the mother and the child.

In the heavenly planets all of the demigods became joyful. Indradeva was showering rain. On that day everyone was drowning in an ocean of happiness, for the Supreme Lord was about to take birth.

So we have the Magi astrologers in the Jesus story and the astrologer in the Krishna story.

And now the child must be taken away so that the wicked King cannot kill him.

THE CHILD MUST BE SAVED FROM THE WICKED KING

The eighth child, Lord Krishna, was born to queen Devaki at midnight in the prison.

As soon as the child was born, Lord Vishnu appeared in divine form and the prison was filled with a dazzling light. Both Devaki and Vasudev prayed to Lord Vishnu.

A divine message came to Vasudev soon after the birth of Lord Krishna

Take this child across the Yamuna River to Gokul and exchange him with Yashoda's daughter. You will return to the prison before anyone comes to know about the birth of this child."

THE CHILD IS TAKEN AWAY FROM THE EVIL KING

Here we see Vasudeva carrying Krishna across the river to safety away from the wicked king Kansa.

GODS ANGELS OPENED THE PRISON DOORS

But of course we know that Davaki and Vasudeva were both in prison and under guard. How could Vasudeva manage to get Krishna out of the prison.

Vasudeva was very, very happy.

By the wonderful will of Lord Hari, those who were guarding the prison all fell asleep. All of the strong iron doors and shackles opened and Vasudeva was free to leave.

This event of the guards falling asleep and the prison doors opening became the source of a very similar story in the New Testament.

ONLY THE NAMES HAVE BEEN CHANGED

Well there we have our nativity story. Only it's Hare Krishna and not Jesus Christ.

But it contains all of the elements of the story about Jesus that came to the world about 700 years later, complete with the virgin birth, the wicked king, the heavenly hosts singing,

The taking of the child away to safety from the wicked king.

Here is the child of promise

Jesus Krishna

Here is the mother and father

Joseph and
Mary Davaki and Vasudeva

Here are the mothers

Mary Davaki

The wicked kings who tried to kill the child

King Kansa King Herod

Taking the child to safety from the wicked King

Krishna Jesus

So there we have two saviors of the world. Jesus and Krishna. Both born to women who had not conceived via sexual intercourse.

Both had to be taken away because of the wicked Kings who wanted to kill them.

WHAT PROMPTED THE KINGS TO WANT TO KILL THE BABY ?

The last comment I would like to make on both of these nativities is the writings that surround the reasons why the two evil kings Herod and Kansa wanted to kill the babies Jesus and Krishna.

After the wedding, Kansa heard a divine warning from the sky, "O King! Your sister's eighth son will grow up to kill you."

In the time of King Herod, after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem, asking, "Where is the child who has been born king of the Jews?"

So here we have the two kings hearing messages about the baby.

Herod heard that the baby would be born King of the Jews and so he had to deal with that, and Kansa heard that the baby would grow up to kill him and he had to deal with that.

THE SAME STORY

DIFFERENT NAMES FOR DIFFERENT TIMES

So we have the same story, with variations on the theme , concerning the birth of two babies who are divinely born God men sent to save the world.

Krishna's story 700 to 1200 years before the Jesus story.

HOLD ON

THERE'S ANOTHER STORY

Another nativity story and this story is written sometime between the period of the Krishna story and the Jesus story. About 300 to 500 BC.

Another baby is born.

Another God man is born, another child of promise is born.

Another woman will give birth to the God Man and her name is Rhea

Rhea

THE GOD MAN BORN TO RHEA IS ZEUS

This is the birth as a child of the God Zeus.

BUT THE EVIL KING WANTED TO KILL THE CHILD

(WHERE HAVE I HEARD THAT BEFORE ?)

Alas there was an evil force about at the time of the birth of Zeus.

This force was known as King Cronus of the Golden Age.

King Cronus

This is what the ancient story says of Cronus and Zeus.

He was married to Rhea who had borne him children. But he was afraid of the children because he had been told that one of them would overthrow him.

Not all was well for Cronus, as it was fated that he would be overthrown by one of his own children.

To prevent this from happening he began to swallow his newborn, taking them at birth then swallowing them whole, retaining them inside his own body where they could do him no harm.

ANOTHER CHILD OF PROMISE AND ANOTHER WICKED KING

So here we have another God man coming to the world as a baby who must be saved from a wicked King.

Rhea did not like the thoughts of losing all her children, and with the help of Gaia she saved Zeus from this fate.

Rhea wrapped a stone in Zeus' swaddling clothes which Cronus took and immediately swallowed thinking it was the child.

THE BABY ZEUS IS TAKEN AWAY FROM THE EVIL KING

Gaia and Rhea's plan worked well and the baby Zeus was taken to Crete, and there, in a cave on Mount Dicte, the divine goat Amaltheia suckled and raised the infant Zeus.

Three mothers, Mary, Davaki, Rhea

Three evil kings, Herod, Kansa, Cronus

Three God men born to the earth as babies, Jesus, Krishna, Zeus

Three escapes from the evil king.

Krishna across the raging river, Jesus to Egypt, Zeus to Crete

A VARIATION ON THE THEME FOR EVERYONE

In no way am I suggesting that one story was copied from the other thought that was obviously what happened .

One main theme and then variations on the theme.

People will fight and scream over whom they believe is the true incarnation. Which nativity they feel is true.

Here the nativity of Jesus is proclaimed.

THEY'RE ALL THE SAME PERSON

But the truth is that Jesus is Krishna, Jesus is Zeus. And Zeus and Krishna are Jesus.

The stories tell a very simple truth.

DECODING THE MYTH OF ALL THREE

THE CHILD WITHIN YOU

The child of promise will be born of the virgin. That child will be destroyed by the system unless he is taken away from the place of the evil.

That child within you must be taken to the place of meditation on the right side where there is no human thought. Where the evil of the system does not exist.

THE POWER OF THE LOWER MIND

The wicked king is the power of the lower mind which will try and destroy this new life inside of you. Whether this be religion, government, family or friends. They must bow to the religion or they must bow to the system.

They cannot deal with the child born within you. The system is Herod, Kansa and Cronus.

WHAT PART DOES THE ZODIAC PLAY IN ALL OF THIS ?

We talked earlier concerning these stories being authored in Alexandria by Greek mythologists and Hellenists.

A very important part of the story centers around the Zodiac.

Krishna is born in the time of August September. The 9th month. Why?

Because it is the time of the virgin Virgo. Jesus is born of the Virgin. It is the 9th month.

THE MYTHICAL SUN GOD

The Jesus theme as the mythical sun god (888) uses the Zodiac to mythologically present the Christ or Sun God, Jesus.

Born of a Virgin in the 9th month Aug-Sept. The same time that Krishna was born. Keep in mind the birth is of a virgin because it is the time of Virgo as was the birth of Krishna.

THE CHILD IS BORN IN A STABLE AMONG THE ANIMALS

The Jesus Story then has him born in a stable which is appropriate between November and December, the horse and the goat, Sagittarius and Capricorn.

DECEMBER 25TH MEANS MUCH MORE AS WELL

There is something very interesting about Jesus birth being celebrated on Dec 25th.

The reason for that is of course the nativity and the horse and goat manger etc. But mainly it is because Dec 25th is the end of the winter solstice.

THE PLACE OF CRUCIFIXION

The Sun moves through the area of the constellation Crux in the Southern Hemisphere at this time of the year.

Crux is the Southern Cross.

That is the crucifixion.

Then the Sun is in the bowels of the earth in the Southern Hemisphere 3 days and 3 nights in the solstice which is Jesus three days and 3 nights in the tomb.

On Dec 25th the Sun comes out of the tomb of the solstice and begins the right ascension where it sits at the right hand .

Thus December 25th which we celebrate as the birth of Christ is also the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus which we observe in March and April.

THE ZODIAC WHEEL THEN MOVES TO AQUARIUS

THE WATER MAN

The next part of Jesus life is fixed on the astrological sign of Aquarius.

Jesus is baptized by the waterman John

The great zodiacal wheel continues to turn and the Bible stays in sync with it.

THE NEXT IS PISCES THE FISH

The Zodiac turns to Pisces the fish.

Jesus selects his disciples from among fishermen and tells them, I will make you fishers of men.

NEXT ARIES, GOD'S LAMB

The Zodiac then moves to Aries.

The time of the spring.

The Lamb of God that takes away the cold of the winter. The lamb of God that takes away the sins of the world.

LEO, THE LION OF JUDAH . THE FINAL POINT

Finally the Biblical trip around the great wheel of the Zodiac concludes in Leo.

The Lion and the Book of Revelation provides the final title to Jesus as the Lion of Judah.

TRULY THE GREATEST STORY NEVER TOLD

The most beautiful story of life within and without that has been told in various ways with names changed to accommodate cultures all over the world.

The story of the child who is to be born within each one of us that that child may grow to overcome the violent systems of government and religion that has caused such pain, suffering, death and destruction on this most beautiful creation of God, planet earth,.

MERRY CHRISTMAS MERRY KRISHMAS MERRY ZEUSMAS

Whichever you wish, let it be.

But keep the child within you connected to the cosmic light and away from the control of the systems of the world.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24729|2008-02-06 15:20:12|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!|
myth like the illyad , where troy was actually found or the other world myths that are based on historical facts,,,,, ramayana or popul voh etc.

its a way of writing that ancient masters used and only knew .
 yes the bible is definately myth one of the worser written mythological works,fraught with contradictions from writers who have added to it over millenia, writers who in some cases knew little of the allegories and orientalism and timelines of their predecessors, the power of human-socio dynamics is n the myth , the myth is were u truly learn lessons for life is the ramayana myth ? the bhaga-vad-gita ? , what about the the tale of two brothers yes yes yes,,,are they also history lessons yes!;
 people in india may fight u about their holy books and the people belonging too islam may kill u same with the jews when one is in a religion its like having on horse peripheral blinders, i think my thang is actually real and how can some1 believe in a elephant headed boy yet i believe in a flying god-man or talking snakes! or a world flood and all the creatures of the world in a boat.....;;
 check out :
 mircea eliade
 joseph campbell
 gary greenberg
 ahmed osman
 remember the dreaded dysyus are still in india also, but that does not make the GREAT WILD SPECTACular tales and stories of indra and krishnaa literally historical fact.
 the Dogon of west africa gave us the secret to unlocking all ancient writing and marimba ani in yurugu explains it all, also dieterlin in conversations with Ogotomelli and also in his book the pale fox, they show us how to use the 4 words benne-so ,,giri-so ,, etc.etc.....
 🍌🍌
 tafari

cristofori whitakara wrote:

thank you for your answer. it takes me back to my original question. is the bible myth then if in modern times we have descendants of the biblical canaanites?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the caanites ,the old city states of sumer eridu, nippur, lagash, ur and also susa and elam were in their golden period and infancy black ( dark brown -black melinated ) people, and their are still blacks in those areas from 10,000 b.c. until now ,;the work of biologist are proving the archaeology to be correct ( pictures and right brain culture) that those people call caanan, Ca-annu were black,,,

cristofori whitakara wrote:

being descendants of the biblical cannanites

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

liars about what?

cristofori whitakara wrote:

if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

Note: forwarded message attached.

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Subject: boogie213 sent you a video!

From: YouTube Service

To: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 14:00:04 -0800 (PST)

YouTube Broadcast Yourself?

boogie213 wants to share a video with you

watch video

Video Description

As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean either a slave or a minister as Moses was called.

To accept my friend request, click here.

To respond to boogie213, click here.

Thanks,

boogie213

2008 YouTube, Inc.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Using YouTube

YouTube Help

Check the Help Center for answers to common questions.

Your Account Settings

To change your preferences, settings, or personal info, go to the 'My Account' section.

Email Notifications

To change or cancel email notifications from YouTube, go to the Email Options section of your Profile.

Report Spam Email

If this is a spam email, please report it.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

| 24730|2008-02-06 15:20:26|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

lot of info: too digest

Ferg wrote:

Thanks.

I wonder if these links fit in with your analysis.

<http://www.nabataea.net/tanz.html>

<http://66.102.9.104/search?q=cache:EPvmAXpTlagJ:www.nabataea.net/index2.html+chami+nabatean+net&hl=en&ct=clnk&cd=2&gl=uk>

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com ; maatcollective@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Saturday, February 02, 2008 10:11 PM

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

very interesting thanks,,from what i think i understand of what this article is saying i would agree with all except i see greater arab influence then they do,,i believe the language of the swahili peoples is an essential part of kiswahili i see a amalgamation of swahili and arabic,,, not just from a.d. times but from the persian and estrangelo aramic also in b.c. times on into the rise of islam,,, perhaps the language of east africa has always influenced arabia and once there was a very dynamic arab-islamic culture along the east coast the swahili language was the substratum of merchants dealing with the arab merchants and islamic fundamentalist

---

a piece from the article below

these and similiar statements made in the article not knowing specifically their idea of the words negro, asian, black, asian-black, non-negro african,etcetcetc. 🤔, means i have no precise understanding of what they are saying

appen to be black. Many of these negro people are clearly visible on the East Coast of Africa. This is as far as our interest in the subject of the race question and Kiswahili within linguistics should extend and no further. For, the alternative would be to say that if the protestors against the term Negro African as a cover term for all negro languages were strictly linguistic-empirica l, then the term Afroasian is clearly inappropriate since it is clearly racialistic. It excludes speakers who may be negroid or black, but are certainly not asiatic stock. To be an African does not necessarily imply to be a Negro African. But an African-Asian or Afro-Asian is still an Asian in Africa, historically speaking.

1.2 S

OME FEATURES OF KISWAHILI AS A BANTU LANGUAGE

Ferg wrote:

Thanks for the links and your thoughts.

Must get the google book.

However here is another link of interest:

<http://www.njas.helsinki.fi/pdf-files/vol4num1/amidu.pdf>

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2008 5:54 PM

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has it inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam oviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologistthe chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

[http://www.atlastou rs.net/jordan/ aqaba\_history. html](http://www.atlastou rs.net/jordan/ aqaba_history. html)

[http://en.wikipedia .org/wiki/ History\_of Sudan \(Coming\_of Islam\_to the Turkiyah\)](http://en.wikipedia .org/wiki/ History_of Sudan (Coming_of Islam_to the Turkiyah))

<http://books. google.com/ books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer>

[http://books. google.com/ books?id=s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots= U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY- LLgMa8wFXokqL6M](http://books. google.com/ books?id=s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots= U_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY- LLgMa8wFXokqL6M)

the swahili people have their own language , the shona , the ethiopians , thats indegious to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english, seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to aindegenous nation and it has alot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speakig system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shownthat a linguisticrelationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti]

Nubia, Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the same as the differences
btwn andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side
the germans and french yet
they have someradically different cultural expressions, ,like the difference between the inca and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have onUauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place u can find egyptian hieroglphs(metu neter)and although meager there's a lil evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph
system,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic
is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,,
which leadsme to consider
nub=taSeti=Wawat=
Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is the source of caanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand thatUauat was a seperate
government they broke off from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1 government under Shekhem ur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule of Narmeri was from Khami in the north down to Uaset (Thebes=Waset=Karnak) and the Africans of Kom-ombo and Ta-Seti, Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands (Punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub=Ta-Seti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so-called Gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of Shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties their great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern Africans built the city states of Meroe and Axum and Napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the Red Sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum (later to be known as Ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the Meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south Africa (Monomatapa) due to

continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people develope the writing and speaking system of kiswahili

crisofori whitakara wrote:

To:
Ta_Seti@yah
oogroups
.com
From:
crisofori
whitakara
Date: Mon,
28 Jan 2008
10:27:51 -
0800 (PST)
Subject: Re:
[Ta_Seti]
Nubia,
Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics
are completely different than the nubian
hieroglyphics
? how is that possible when they are the same people?

*Tafari
khumbaka*
wrote:
the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

crisofori
whitakara
wrote:
why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore
wrote:
Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day
and time, and all of truth
be told, they still hate to admit Ancient
Egypt/
Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell

of ignorance
over us.
Thinking
outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our past
the same
again.

Tafari
khumbaka
wrote:

d o n
t

y
a

j
u s t

h
a t e

h
o
w

t
h ey

y
w
a n
n
a m
a k
e n
u
b
i
a
(
U
a u
a t
)
s o
m e t
h
i n g
d
i f
f
e r e n

t
f r
o
m e g
y p
t
,
,
i t
s r
e p u g
n
a n
t
a n
d
d
i s g
r
a c
e
f
u l

Alexvan

Deelen

wrote:
:

Nubia,

Temple

of

Dangei

1
,
1
o
f 5

h
t
t
p
:
/
/
w
w
w
.
y
o
u t
u
b e
:
c o
m
/
w
a t c
h
?
v
=
d
X
U
w

y 9
y
5
h
e
Y
&

f
e
a t
u
r
e
=
r
e l
a t
e
d

A l
e x

T
a f
a r
i

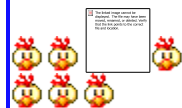

-
s u
d r
a
,
K
h
u m b
a k
a B e
a b e t
t
e r
f r
i e n
d
,
n
e
w
s
h
o
u n
d

,
a n
d

k
n
o
w
-
i t
-
a l
l

w
i t
h

Y
a h
o
o
!

M
o b
i l
e
.

T
r
y
i t
n

o
w
:

Looking for last minute shopping deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo!
Search.](#)

Looking for last minute
shopping deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo!
Search.](#)

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24731|2008-02-06 21:59:11|asar_imhotep|Launching soon my African research website|

Hotep Phamily

I am announcing the almost completion of the new MOCHA Urban Hang Suite called MOCHA-Versity. MOCHA-Versity is an Africana research depository specifically designed for those wanting a central location to find information related to Africana Studies. Currently the site is broken down as follows:

- Africology
  - General
  - History
  - Anthropology
    - Paleoanthropology
  - Linguistics
  - Culture
  - Great African Thinkers
  - Philosophy
- Spirituality
- Business

- Conferences
  - Submission of Papers
- MOCHA-Forum (messageboard forum broken down into different concentrations related to African studies)
- And Links

Features

What makes this site unique is the ability to make a detailed search of the content submitted to the website. This site is database driven, so it will be updated frequently. We also have a messageboard for registered users to discuss various aspects related to Africology. And it also has a MySpace like feature where you can add friends once you register. You can also submit content for review to be added to the website. We also have the ability to add video. I still have to install the events calendar so people can post events as well.

I in the near future plan to add an image depository so we can store African related images and make these searchable as well. I also plan to integrate an eCommerce aspect to it so those who have books or lecture DVD 's have a platform to advertise them as well. We also plan to add a blogtalkradio.com segment to the site as soon as we can find rotating host for the program.

What I am in need of right now

I am looking for moderators that can add content to the site in the relevant sections, who are competent and has a good background for solid research and information. I do not want this website to have a bunch of irrelevant and questionable information. This is a solid reference for those wanting information on the African cultural, spiritual, historical and philosophical experience. I'd like some professors as well as enthusiasts to contribute. This is an online "communiversy" and it is going to take a collective effort to make this site a great experience for all.

As of now

Right now there is some content to give you an idea of how it will work. I am letting everyone on this list to access the website so we can test and look for known bugs while we continue to add content and features. So when you visit, please register. I am also looking for suggestions on how to improve the site, so your feedback is very valuable.

I appreciate your time and hope this website becomes a hub of valuable information for you in your future research endeavors.

The website can be accessed at <http://www.mochaversity.com>

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

| 24732|2008-02-07 01:54:51|Manu Ampim|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Greetings,

There are several issues here that you need to consider.

You have to carefully study the primary sources of the movement in the 1960s, and if so you will find that after 1965 the main focus of the African American liberation movement was not concerned with changing the mindset of Europeans as you state. In fact, it is incorrect to call the period after 1965 the "Civil Rights Movement." The central focus of the Black struggle during this period was the acquisition of power and owning and controlling our community, and very few people were "begging" Europeans to do anything. This is a total misconception. Black people engaged in direct confrontation with the U.S. government in the streets across America and our people set hundreds of cities on fire in the 1960s. Most so-called conscious young people in the hip hop generation know almost nothing about our struggle in the recent past and thus they falsely think they are doing something "new." The fact is that the great Charles Houston did far more political work with his camera in the 1930s than anyone in the hip hop generation.

>No one implied that making films alone would bring about the most >change. And also, no one is talking about just one or two films.

We

>are talking about our own industry of film makers challenging
the >status quo in a method that is engaging, thought provoking

and

>entertaining at the same time

This is exactly what you implied in your statement. No where in your comment did you state or suggest anything about creating a film "industry." You simply mentioned two isolated films and stated that you hope to purchase a single $3500 camera. If you now want to change your comment and suggest a new film industry, then where is your business plan?

>One camera in the hands of an ordinary person will yield >little results. But that same camera in the hands of a socially and >historically

conscious individual who is creative, driven and knows >how to use his tools (as he is a software programmer by day in new >media) is history in the making.

You assume that film makers and activists have not done what you are talking about. You should check out Dr. Ben's powerful CD-Rom from about 15 years. Also, I have met numerous people who have the social and historical awareness that you mention and they have high quality equipment that has allowed them to influence numerous people, so your ideas are not new.

>One thing academicians always fail to realize is that any movement

>starts with the arts first.

This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.

Advancing the work,
Manu Ampim

---

Hutuapo Manu Ampim (and sorry guys for the length)

While on some level I agree, I'm going to have to disagree with the implied overall thesis of your statements. When evaluating social phenomena, we always have to keep in mind locality and the time period in which such phenomena occurs. What undergirds this discussion is really the difference in generational thinking and what each generation thinks is possible.

The major difference between the masses of our elders in the civil rights movement on backwards, is that they were attempting to change the social consciousness of a people who have no social conscience. That is not the aim of my generation (I'm 28 years old). We have the benefit of hindsight and looking back at our situation, we see the major flaw of the movements of old. People miss the most valuable lesson from Dr. Chancellor Williams' book The Destruction of Black Civilizations, and that is European culture and ideology has been in place for a good 6000 years and no movement is going to change that mind set. Power only respects Power. My generation is not about trying to convince Europeans about anything. It is a fruitless effort. That was our fathers begging Europeans to view us as human beings and acknowledge us. My generation thinks about forward movement whether you acknowledge us or not.

As the case with the current Democratic and Republican primary elections, the movement now is "change." This is not limited to the election, but in old methods of liberation and struggle. The English language, capitalism and Christianity are going to guarantee that you will be dealing with the worst of European culture for generations to come. What the elders are saying is impossible, the younger people are already doing. What the elders are saying won't have an impact, the younger generation is already having a far greater impact than what most give credit (good or bad).

No one implied that making films alone would bring about the most change. And also, no one is talking about just one or two films. We are talking about our own industry of film makers challenging the status quo in a method that is engaging, thought provoking and entertaining at the same time: something an academician can't do.

One thing academicians always fail to realize is that any movement starts with the arts first. All movements are fueled by the arts; this is the psychological aspect of identity Diop expressed and why the movement spread so fast in France (because of the likes of Aime Cesaire and Negritude). While the details are handled by a few individuals, the word gets spread by artists (actors, film makers, musicians, poets, etc.). While the basis of the African-Centered movement was rooted in scholarship, it spread by means of Hip Hop artists and researchers putting their lectures on film and selling them.

The majority of the people on this list (probably) came into "consciousness" (if a child of the 80's and 90's) through groups like Africa Baambada, KRS-1, Rakim, Razaan, Killah Priest, Wu-Tang, Brand Nubian, Queen Latifah, the Jungle Brothers and more. They got deeper into their consciousness by watching video lectures by Dr. Ben, Ashra Kwesi, Marimba Ani, Ivan Van Sertima, Ronoko Rashidi, Naim Akbar, Asa Hilliard and John G. Jackson. All of them used film and music to bring people into the fold.

What I am talking about is taking what we've already been doing, and the only methods proven to work outside of academia, and take it to the next level and do what they couldn't do. All endeavors start off small, but with diligence, organization, creativity and knowing how to use the tools of your time, it will grow into an institution. The Source Magazine was a one page yellow piece of paper to start off with. I bet someone told him that it would not have a great impact in the magazine or Hip Hop world. Master P sold his albums out of his trunk and went platinum with no radio play. His method changed how artists dealt with labels forever. Someone told Michael Dell when he dropped out of the University of Texas in Austin the first semester that his idea and method of building computers (from out of his garage) wasn't going to take off, but now he is the largest producer of PC's in the world.

The younger generation is doing more because the technology allows for them to do more. Things won't have a great impact if we continue to have self defeating attitudes of what is possible. That's the politics of old. One camera in the hands of an ordinary person will yield little results. But that same camera in the hands of a socially and historically conscious individual who is creative, driven and knows how to use his tools (as he is a software programmer by day in new media) is history in the making.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24733|2008-02-07 04:42:13|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Manu

You are correct.

The 1960s movements involved much more than just the King Civil rights movement.

It also included the Black Panther movement, the Nation Of Islam, and many other grassroots activities whose aim coined the phrase, "Power To The People", "Black is beautiful", and especially the Panther movement which promoted taking up arms in self defense.

Of them all, the King movement was the most conventional and least threatening to the mainstream. Mainly due to its goals being integration.

The NOI movement was considered to be the most radical (threatening) to whites, due to its goals being complete isolation and separation from whites, and building a complete black economic ecosystem and way of life.

All momentum for these movements was defused by flooding black communities with drugs, AIDS, and BET which had the effect of reversing the closeness of the African-American community, replacing it with Extreme Individualism, Fear, Uncertainty, and Doubt.

What these 1960s movements offered which is a key missing element in today's activities is, organization and planning. Today, I see many small random activities lacking any cohesion or consistent planning. I think that many today still believe they can work to change the system from the inside such as a vote for Obama, or intermarrying a white. This is nothing new. This, "if you can't beat them, join them" reaction has been done since the 1800s.

Also, bear in mind, a standard film can be converted to HDTV with computer enhancement.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 01:53:38 -0800

Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138

Greetings,

There are several issues here that you need to consider.

You have to carefully study the primary sources of the movement in the 1960s, and if so you will find that after 1965 the main focus of the African American liberation movement was not concerned with changing the mindset of Europeans as you state. In fact, it is incorrect to call the period after 1965 the "Civil Rights Movement." The central focus of the Black struggle during this period was the acquisition of power and owning and controlling our community, and very few people were "begging" Europeans to do anything. This is a total misconception. Black people engaged in direct confrontation with the U.S. government in the streets across America and our people set hundreds of cities on fire in the 1960s. Most so-called conscious young people in the hip hop generation know almost nothing about our struggle in the recent past and thus they falsely think they are doing something "new." The fact is that the great Charles Houston did far more political work with his camera in the 1930s than anyone in the hip hop generation.

>No one implied that making films alone would bring about the most >change. And also, no one is talking about just one or two films. We >are talking about our own industry of film makers challenging the >status quo in a method that is engaging, thought provoking and >entertaining at the same time

This is exactly what you implied in your statement. No where in your comment did you state or suggest anything about creating a film "industry." You simply mentioned two isolated films and stated that you hope to purchase a single $3500 camera. If you now want to change your comment and suggest a new film industry, then where is your business plan?

>One camera in the hands of an ordinary person will yield >little results. But that same camera in the hands of a socially and >historically conscious individual who is creative, driven and knows >how to use his tools (as he is a software programmer by day in new >media) is history in the making.

You assume that film makers and activists have not done what you are talking about. You should check out Dr. Ben's powerful CD-Rom from about 15 years. Also, I have met numerous people who have the social and historical awareness that you mention and they have high quality equipment that has allowed them to influence numerous people, so your ideas are not new.

>One thing academicians always fail to realize is that any movement >starts with the arts first.

This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Hutuapo Manu Ampim (and sorry guys for the length)

While on some level I agree, I'm going to have to disagree with the implied overall thesis of your statements. When evaluating social phenomena, we always have to keep in mind locality and the time period in which such phenomena occurs. What undergirds this discussion is really the difference in generational thinking and what each generation thinks is possible.

The major difference between the masses of our elders in the civil rights movement on backwards, is that they were attempting to change the social consciousness of a people who have no social conscience. That is not the aim of my generation (I'm 28 years old). We have the benefit of hindsight and looking back at our situation, we see the major flaw of the movements of old. People miss the most valuable lesson from Dr. Chancellor Williams' book The Destruction of Black Civilizations, and that is European culture and ideology has been in place for a good 6000 years and no movement is going to change that mind set. Power only respects Power. My generation is not about trying to convince Europeans about anything. It is a fruitless effort. That was our fathers begging Europeans to view us as human beings and acknowledge us. My generation thinks about forward movement whether you acknowledge us or not.

As the case with the current Democratic and Republican primary elections, the movement now is "change." This is not limited to the election, but in old methods of liberation and struggle. The English language, capitalism and Christianity are going to guarantee that you will be dealing with the worst of European culture for generations to come. What the elders are saying is impossible, the younger people are already doing. What the elders are saying won't have an impact, the younger generation is already having a far greater impact than what most give credit (good or bad).

No one implied that making films alone would bring about the most change. And also, no one is talking about just one or two films. We are talking about our own industry of film makers challenging the status quo in a method that is engaging, thought provoking and entertaining at the same time: something an academician can't do.

One thing academicians always fail to realize is that any movement starts with the arts first. All movements are fueled by the arts; this is the psychological aspect of identity Diop expressed and why the movement spread so fast in France (because of the likes of Aime Cesaire and Negritude). While the details are handled by a few individuals, the word gets spread by artists (actors, film makers, musicians, poets, etc.). While the basis of the African-Centered movement was rooted in scholarship, it spread by means of Hip Hop artists and researchers putting their lectures on film and selling them.

The majority of the people on this list (probably) came into "consciousness" (if a child of the 80's and 90's) through groups like Africa Baambada, KRS-1, Rakim, Rass Kass, Killah Priest, Wu-Tang, Brand Nubian, Queen Latifah, the Jungle Brothers and more. They got deeper into their consciousness by watching video lectures by Dr. Ben, Ashra Kwesi, Marimba Ani, Ivan Van Sertima, Ronoko Rashidi, Naim Akbar, Asa Hilliard and John G. Jackson. All of them used film and music to bring people into the fold.

What I am talking about is taking what we've already been doing, and the only methods proven to work outside of academia, and take it to the next level and do what they couldn't do. All endeavors start off small, but with diligence, organization, creativity and knowing how to use the tools of your time, it will grow into an institution. The Source Magazine was a one page yellow piece of paper to start off with. I bet someone told him that it would not have a great impact in the magazine or Hip Hop world. Master P sold his albums out of his trunk and went platinum with no radio play. His method changed how artists dealt with labels forever. Someone told Michael Dell when he dropped out of the University of Texas in Austin the first semester that his idea and method of building computers (from out of his garage) wasn't going to take off, but now he is the largest producer of PC's in the world.

The younger generation is doing more because the technology allows for them to do more. Things won't have a great impact if we continue to have self defeating attitudes of what is possible. That's the politics of old. One camera in the hands of an ordinary person will yield little results. But that same camera in the hands of a socially and historically conscious individual who is creative, driven and knows how to use his tools (as he is a software programmer by day in new media) is history in the making.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24734|2008-02-07 08:29:55|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, kungfuhustle wrote:

>

>

> The NOI movement was considered to be the most radical (threatening) to > whites, due to it's goals being complete isolation and separation from > whites, and building a complete black economic ecosystem and way of > life.
>
>

The NOI, of course, is a lot older than the 60s. They were causing trouble back before WWII at a time when there were still about 10 lynchings a year (1930s) with mostly black victims.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24735|2008-02-07 08:38:47|Alex van Deelen|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

Posted by: "Tafari khumbaka" tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com tafari_sudra

Wed Feb 6, 2008 8:16 am (PST)

> great stuff, afroasiatic is a term thats very illusive, > since no asians are in asiaminor perhaps african > language is a proper term

I have proposed before, that Bantu could be thought of as either West African or Central African.

Perhaps a better conception of and name for Afroasiatic is East African.

Alex

| 24736|2008-02-07 09:14:51|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>

> great stuff, afroasiatic is a term thats very illusive, since no

asians are in asiaminor

> perhaps african language is a proper term

>

>

I think "asiatic" here is a geographical reference.

Even if they named it "African," they could and many possibly would insist that the language has genesis in "white Africans."

The whole "Nostratic" theory is based on the idea of a "Caucasoid" superlanguage family that according to some proponents includes Afro-Asiatic as one of its branches.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24737|2008-02-07 09:24:38|clyde winters|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

--- Paul Kekai Manansala <pmanansala@sbcglobal.net>

wrote:

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, kungfuhustle

> wrote:

> >

> >

>

> > The NOI movement was considered to be the most > radical (threatening) to > > whites, due to it's goals being complete isolation

> and separation from > > whites, and building a complete black economic > ecosystem and way of > > life.

> >

> >

>

> The NOI, of course, is a lot older than the 60s.

> They were causing > trouble back before WWII at a time when there were > still about 10

> lynchings a year (1930s) with mostly black victims.

>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>

Hi Paul

Great information. It is interesting that you brought up WWII. During the War the Japanese made a concerted effort to get support from Afro-American Muslim groups in addition to the NOI. This is one of the little known facts relating to WWII.

Clyde

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24738|2008-02-07 09:26:27|clyde winters|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

Hi

Good point, the Levant was also referred to as West Asia in many text.

Clyde

--- Paul Kekai Manansala <pmanansala@sbcglobal.net>
wrote:

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka

> wrote:

> >

> > great stuff, afroasiatic is a term that's very > illusive, since no

> asians are in asiaminor

> > perhaps african language is a proper term

> >

> >

>

> I think "asiatic" here is a geographical reference.

>

> Even if they named it "African," they could and many > possibly would > insist that the language has genesis in "white > Africans."

>
> The whole "Nostratic" theory is based on the idea of > a "Caucasoid" > superlanguage family that according to some > proponents includes > Afro-Asiatic as one of its branches.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>
>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24739|2008-02-07 09:32:02|clyde winters|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

--- Alex van Deelen <avdeelen@wanadoo.nl> wrote:

> Posted by: "Tafari khumbaka" tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com
> tafari_sudra
> Wed Feb 6, 2008 8:16 am (PST)
>
> > great stuff, afroasiatic is a term thats very > illusive,
> > since no asians are in asiaminor perhaps african > > language is a proper term
>
> I have proposed before, that Bantu could be thought > of as either West African or Central African.
>
> Perhaps a better conception of and name for > Afroasiatic is East African.
>
> Alex

Hi

Good idea Alex. In my writings I leave out the Berber group and refer to the speakers of these languages as Puntites, since may of the speakers of these languages live in the area some people claim was Punt.

Like Diop I believe that the Berber languages should be classified as an isolate language . The Taurag language, on the otherhand, given its cognition with the Songhay family suggest to me that it belongs in the Nilo-Saharan group.

Clyde

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?

Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

| 24740|2008-02-07 09:40:30|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Hi Clyde,

I've read from quite a few sources that Fard Muhammad (aka Wali Fard), the founder or inspirer of the NOI movement, had some Asian and Pacific island connections.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

clyde winters wrote:

--- Paul Kekai Manansala <pmanansala@sbcglobal.net>
wrote:

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, kungfuhustle
> wrote:
> >
> >
>
> > The NOI movement was considered to be the most > radical (threatening) to > > whites, due to it's goals being complete isolation
> and separation from > > whites, and building a complete black economic > ecosystem and way of > > life.

> >
> >
>
> The NOI, of course, is a lot older than the 60s.
> They were causing > trouble back before WWII at a time when there were > still about 10
> lynchings a year (1930s) with mostly black victims.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>

Hi Paul

Great information. It is interesting that you brought up WWII. During the War the Japanese made a concerted effort to get support from Afro-American Muslim groups in addition to the NOI. This is one of the little known facts relating to WWII.

Clyde

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24741|2008-02-07 09:57:15|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Yes, this is true of most all of the black rights movements. Most are older than the 60s period.

The 40s Booker T. Washington and Carver silver half dollars were supposedly minted and distributed in black communities to fight the growth of communism within the communities.

Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 09:24:37 -0800 (PST)

--- Paul Kekai Manansala <pmanansala@sbcglobal.net>
wrote:

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, kungfuhustle
> wrote:
> >
> >
> >
> > The NOI movement was considered to be the most > radical (threatening) to > > whites, due to it's goals being complete isolation
> and separation from > > whites, and building a complete black economic > ecosystem and way of > > life.
> >
> >
> >
> The NOI, of course, is a lot older than the 60s.
> They were causing > trouble back before WWII at a time when there were > still about 10
> lynchings a year (1930s) with mostly black victims.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>

Hi Paul

Great information. It is interesting that you brought up WWII. During the War the Japanese made a concerted effort to get support from Afro-American Muslim groups in addition to the NOI. This is one of the little know facts relating to WWII.

Clyde

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24742|2008-02-07 10:04:57|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
kungfuhustle wrote:

>Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case.>

The Garveyite movement was very popular, bigger percentage-wise than the NAACP, but they could not maintain the momentum after Garvey died. Joining the NOI or Moorish movements also requires adoption of religious ideology.

Of course, even the NOI knows how to work from the "inside" as well. After all they're members, most of them, pay income and sales tax. As long as you get good return on investment (ROI), there's nothing wrong with working within the system imo.

I've seen NOI involved in some progressive election campaigns here far from Chicago, discreetly of course.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24743|2008-02-07 10:40:40|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
The Garvey movement didn't simply not maintain momentum. Garvey was framed, with full complicity of people like W.E.B. Dubois. Furthermore, the movement has in fact survived in Jamaica and in Ghana.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: p.manansala@sbcglobal.net
Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 10:04:56 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

kungfuhustle wrote:

>Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case.>

The Garveyite movement was very popular, bigger percentage-wise than the NAACP, but they could not maintain the momentum after Garvey died. Joining the NOI or Moorish movements also requires adoption of religious ideology.

Of course, even the NOI knows how to work from the "inside" as well. After all they're members, most of them, pay income and sales tax. As long as you get good return on investment (ROI), there's nothing wrong with working within the system imo.

I've seen NOI involved in some progressive election campaigns here far from Chicago, discreetly of course.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!
| 24744|2008-02-07 11:11:58|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
I suppose working from within the system is acceptable depending on what your goals are, or in the case of many black Christians, for those who have no long term goals of their own creation.

As whites are fond of saying, equality will become real, when we all look the same. Meaning, once they have succeeded in integrating blackness into their own, and their offspring look like Barack Obama. Many blacks seem to embrace this goal and have made the decision to assist this plan along. They seem not to have so much a problem with the goal, but with how the plan is being executed.

The Garvey movement was large, but perhaps 1/5th or 1/10th the size of King's civil rights movement or the NAACP which had/has 10s of millions. Also, Garvey's goals were well defined (back to Africa) and in opposition to the civil rights movement (integration) and any other significantly large movement of today.

Interestingly, the civil rights movement and the NAACP are not enacting plans of black leaders so much as the vehicles to meet the long term social goals of the Jews.

It's also interesting that both DuBois and King, in the end, came to regret their manipulation by this element.

Unfortunately for DuBois, he carried on in the name of the master until the end, and for King, who was silenced before he had a chance to correct the momentum he'd begun, thus locking his message to the Jewish agenda.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Paul Kekai Manansala <p.manansala@sbcglobal.net>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 10:04:56 -0800 (PST)

kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

>Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks

(African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case.>

The Garveyite movement was very popular, bigger percentage-wise than the NAACP, but they could not maintain the momentum after Garvey died.

Joining the NOI or Moorish movements also requires adoption of religious ideology.

Of course, even the NOI knows how to work from the "inside" as well. After all they're members, most of them, pay income and sales tax. As long as you get good return on investment (ROI), there's nothing wrong with working within the system imo.

I've seen NOI involved in some progressive election campaigns here far from Chicago, discreetly of course.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24745|2008-02-07 11:17:07|Peter Gray|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

You're probably right. Modern Kenyans do think that Kiswahili is an indigenous African language influenced by the Arab traders. In fact, in 1987 while on a visit there, I was surprised to learn that they even regarded the "mixed language" with some disdain.

Peter

---

To: isosceles@comcast.net

From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Date: Mon, 4 Feb 2008 17:46:05 -0800

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

i don't think the mongol hordes entered africa 🌍, and i am open for a greater interpretation of kiswahili inception, seems the history books show its use as early as 500 yrs ago, i think it was a merchant language in the 8th century a.d. it is an african language with arab influence i think

Ferg wrote:

To:

From: "Ferg"

Date: Sat, 2 Feb 2008 15:35:15 -0000

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Sorry about the mess in the previous hieroglyphics. Trying to sort it out
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Peter Gray

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Friday, February 01, 2008 2:31 PM

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Just a couple points:

1. Kiswahili is spoken (and understood) all the way from Mozambique to Somalia. The "capital" of Swahili civilization, Kilwa, was destroyed by Vasco da Gama in 1502?), at which time, yes, there was significant trade between East Africa and the East (China, India). So we know the language is at least 500 years old.

2. The Persians who conquered Egypt were in turn conquered by the marauding hordes of the great Khan, aka the Mongol Hordes, who subsequently became accustomed to the sedentary lifestyle and fused many of their own traditions with those the preceding Persians, e.g. , the use of blue tiles (Persian) on their domed temples (which had as their blueprint/motif the traditional Mongolian hut-like abode).

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com

From: tafari_sudra@ yahoo.com

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 09:54:11 -0800

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab sea-farers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language

a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologist the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

http://books.google.com/books?id=

E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarers+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language , the shona , the ethiopians , that's indigenous to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english,

seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to an indigenous nation and it has a lot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speaking system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.
Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the same as the differences between andinkra and shona hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side the Germans and French yet they have some radically different cultural expressions, like the difference between the Inca and Apache, same two people yet different cultural expression, also note that the information we have on Uauat (nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in their history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st place you can find Egyptian hieroglyphs (metu neter) and although meager there's a little evidence that Punt had the same hieroglyph system, but the writing; the Egyptian hieratic and demotic is very different than Uauat (nub) writing, which leads me to consider nub=taSeti=Wawat=Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping, the same as Khamit-u hieratic (which is the source of Canaanite=Ka-ntu alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very own records, perhaps

many do not understand that Uauat was a separate government they broke off from Khamit (upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1st government under Shekhem ur Shekhem (king of kings) Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule of Narmeri was from Khami in the north down to Uaset (Thebes=Waset= Karnak) and the Africans of Kom-ombo and Ta-Seti, Punt, Abu-simbi were a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands (Punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub= Ta-Seti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so-called Gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of Shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties their great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2 lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2 lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the 6th cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern Africans built the city states of Meroe and Axum and Napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,,, commerce in the south and across the Red Sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum (later to be known as Ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the Meroitic script, later in this same area and extending deep into South Africa (Monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-Araby (Arabia) people developed the writing and speaking system of ki-

swahili

cristofori whitakara wrote:

To:
Ta_Seti@yahoogroup
s .com
From: cristofori
whitakara
Date: Mon, 28 Jan
2008 10:27:51 -0800
(PST)
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti]
Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian
hieroglyphics are completely different than the nubian
hieroglyphics? how is that possible when they are the same
people?

Tafari khumbaka

wrote:
the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french
different than german

cristofori whitakara

wrote:
why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher nubian script when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore wrote:

Yes, I totally agree with you. Even after this day and time, and all of truth be told, they still hate to admit Ancient Egypt/Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell of ignorance
over us.

Thinking outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life and our
past the same again.

Tafari khumbaka
wrote:

dont ya just hate how they wanna make nubia (Uauat
)
someth ing differe nt from egypt.,
its repugn ant and disgrac eful

Alex
van

Deelen

wrote:
Nubia,
Templ e of Dangei
l, 1 of 5

[http:// www.y outube.
com/w atch?
v=dX
Uwy9y
5heY& feature =relate d](http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dXUwy9y5heY&feature=related)

Alex

Tafari-sudra,
Khumb
aka

---

Be a better
friend, newsh
ound,
and know-it-all
with Yahoo!
Mobile
. [Try it
now.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

---

Looking for last minute shopping
deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo! Search.](#)

---

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing.
[Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Never miss a thing.
[Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo!
Mobile. Try it now.

---

|Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!
| 24746|2008-02-07 11:25:34|clyde winters|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

- > Yes, this is true of most all of the black rights
- > movements. Most are
- > older then the 60s period.
- > The 40s Booker T. Washington and Carver silver half
- > dollars were
- > supposedly minted and distributed in black
- > communities to fight the
- > growth of communism within the communities.
- >
- > Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of
- > blacks (African &
- > American) would much prefer to live under white rule
- > allowing whites to
- > dictate their futures? Is integration the preference
- > over true social
- > and economic independence? From the size of King's
- > movement versus the
- > NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be
- > the case.
- >
- > Meninarmer
- >

Hi Meninarmer

Blacks have never allowed whites to dictate their future. If we had we would still all be living on the plantation share-cropping down South.

What Afro-Americans have done is act pragmatically. We learned at an early age to study Europeans to see what we have to do to get what we want. We cooperate to get ahead.

This did not mean you had to be an uncle tom. What it meant was that you took advantage of opportunity and if a white person wanted to help you get ahead--you let them help.

Clyde

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24747|2008-02-07 11:29:26|clyde winters|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

--- Paul Kekai Manansala <p.manansala@sbcglobal.net>

wrote:

> Hi Clyde,

>

> I've read from quite a few sources that Fard

> Muhammad (aka Wali Fard), the founder or inspirer of > the NOI movement, had some Asian and Pacific island > connections.

>

> Regards,

> Paul Kekai Manansala

>

>

Hi

This is not impossible because back then "colored" people from Asia often lived in the same communities as Blacks.

Clyde

>

>

>

> clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com> wrote:

>

> --- Paul Kekai Manansala <pmanansala@sbcglobal.net>

> wrote:

>
> > --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, kungfuhustle
> > wrote:
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
> > > The NOI movement was considered to be the most > > radical (threatening) to > > > whites, due to it's goals being complete > isolation
> > and separation from > > > whites, and building a complete black economic > > ecosystem and way of > > > life.
> > >
> > >
> >
> > The NOI, of course, is a lot older than the 60s.
> > They were causing > > trouble back before WWII at a time when there > were > > still about 10
> > lynchings a year (1930s) with mostly black > victims.
> >
> > Regards,
> > Paul Kekai Manansala
> >
>
> Hi Paul
>
> Great information. It is interesting that you > brought > up WWII. During the War the Japanese made a > concerted > effort to get support from Afro-American Muslim > groups > in addition to the NOI. This is one of the little > know
> facts relating to WWII.
>
> Clyde
>
>
>

---

> Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

> <http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

>

>

>

>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?

Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

| 24748|2008-02-07 12:06:43|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Hi Clyde

>From my understanding, slavery was abolished due to international influence rather than from any efforts from the slaves themselves.

America would not be recognized as a power until they caught up with their European counterparts in respect to civil rights. That began with abolishing slavery.

The price of cooperation is a dual edged sword. We cooperated by holding the whip and laying it across the backs of our brothers and sisters, to get ahead? Likewise, today we cooperate by being instruments that enforces racist laws, than seek the guilty verdict, than lead them into the cell, than enforce the lose of rights due to felony conviction.

What we will do for money and acceptance.

Interesting the current mortgage situation stealing wealth from black home equity is being implemented by whites, but instrumented by blacks/latinos on the front line.

With the exception of a few non-mainstream, small organizations such as the Panthers, the NOI, for the majority, Blacks have ALWAYS allowed whites to dictate to them.

The largest black organization in the US is the NAACP. An organization created and led by whites (Jews), even to this day.

The same is true for the National Urban League, and all other major mainstream so-called black organizations.

Even black college fraternities and sororities continue to follow the GREEK imitation.

The black masons, the Prince Hall masons sought and obtained their charter from England and follow the Scottish Rites.

Whites dictated to Robert Johnson and the BET format, and they dominate the board and dictate the radio and television formats of Radio-One as well.

Whites write, direct, and produce the entire Oprah Show.

When they disagreed with Arsenio Hall having Farrakhan on air, they had the show removed. Where is Arsenio today, and where was the black outrage.

The format of RAP is dictated by whites. They promote gangsta rap, and to the detriment of their own, this is what blacks create. Sounds like dictation to me.

Yes, blacks will shoot, incarcerate, and prosecute their own because it's their job and that's how they get paid. This is what's called, getting ahead or taking advantage of opportunity, but is it really? There is another name for it. It's called, selling out and for good reason.

Garvey understood this contradiction. Unfortunately, the intellect, DuBois did not.

Today, there are many more DuBois's and far too few Garvey's. To many of these blacks, the Uncle Tom label is a honorable thing and carries no shame.

meninarmner

-----Original Message-----

From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 11:25:32 -0800 (PST)

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

- > Yes, this is true of most all of the black rights
- > movements. Most are
- > older then the 60s period.
- > The 40s Booker T. Washington and Carver silver half
- > dollars were
- > supposedly minted and distributed in black
- > communities to fight the
- > growth of communism within the communities.

>
> Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of > blacks (African & > American) would much prefer to live under white rule
> allowing whites to > dictate their futures? Is integration the preference
> over true social > and economic independence? From the size of King's > movement versus the > NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be > the case.
>
> Meninarmer
>

Hi Meninarmer

Blacks have never allowed whites to dictate their future. If we had we would still all be living on the plantation share-cropping down South.

What Afro-Americans have done is act pragmatically. We learned at an early age to study Europeans to see what we have to do to get what we want. We cooperate to get ahead.

This did not mean you had to be an uncle tom. What it meant was that you took advantage of opportunity and if a white person wanted to help you get ahead--you let them help.

Clyde

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24749|2008-02-07 12:07:55|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Please consult Tony Williuams about the Garvey movement -- it was 10 times the size of the NAACP.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: shalomic@nc.rr.com
Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 14:11:56 -0500
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

I suppose working from within the system is acceptable depending on what your goals are, or in the case of many black Christians, for those who have no long term goals of their own creation.

As whites are fond of saying, equality will become real, when we all look the same. Meaning, once they have succeeded in integrating blackness into their own, and their offspring look like Barack Obama. Many blacks seem to embrace this goal and have made the decision to assist this plan along. They seem not to have so much a problem with the goal, but with how the plan is being executed.

The Garvey movement was large, but perhaps 1/5th or 1/10th the size of King's civil rights movement or the NAACP which had/has 10s of millions. Also, Garvey's goals were well defined (back to Africa) and in opposition to the civil rights movement (integration) and any other significantly large movement of today.

Interestingly, the civil rights movement and the NAACP are not enacting plans of black leaders so much as the vehicles to meet the long term social goals of the Jews.

It's also interesting that both DuBois and King, in the end, came to regret their manipulation by this element.

Unfortunately for DuBois, he carried on in the name of the master until the end, and for King, who was silenced before he had a chance to correct the momentum he'd begun, thus locking his message to the Jewish agenda.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Paul Kekai Manansala <p.manansala@sbcglobal.net>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 10:04:56 -0800 (PST)

kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

>Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks
(African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case.>

The Garveyite movement was very popular, bigger percentage-wise than the NAACP, but they could not maintain the momentum after Garvey died.

Joining the NOI or Moorish movements also requires adoption of religious ideology.

Of course, even the NOI knows how to work from the "inside" as well. After all they're members, most of them, pay income and sales tax. As long as you get good return on investment (ROI), there's nothing wrong with working within the system imo.

I've seen NOI involved in some progressive election campaigns here far from Chicago, discreetly of course.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.
| 24750|2008-02-07 12:08:01|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Please consult Tony Williams about the Garvey movement -- it was 10 times the size of the NAACP (see Listervelt Middleton's interview with Williams).

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: shalomic@nc.rr.com
Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 14:11:56 -0500
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

I suppose working from within the system is acceptable depending on what your goals are, or in the case of many black Christians, for those who have no long term goals of their own creation.

As whites are fond of saying, equality will become real, when we all look the same. Meaning, once they have succeeded in integrating blackness into their own, and their offspring look like Barack Obama. Many blacks seem to embrace this goal and have made the decision to assist this plan along. They seem not to have so much a problem with the goal, but with how the plan is being executed.

The Garvey movement was large, but perhaps 1/5th or 1/10th the size of King's civil rights movement or the NAACP which had/has 10s of millions. Also, Garvey's goals were well defined (back to Africa) and in opposition to the civil rights movement (integration) and any other significantly large movement of today.

Interestingly, the civil rights movement and the NAACP are not enacting plans of black leaders so much as the vehicles to meet the long term social goals of the Jews.

It's also interesting that both DuBois and King, in the end, came to regret their manipulation by this element.

Unfortunately for DuBois, he carried on in the name of the master until the end, and for King, who was silenced before he had a chance to correct the momentum he'd begun, thus locking his message to the Jewish agenda.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Paul Kekai Manansala <p.manansala@sbcglobal.net>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 10:04:56 -0800 (PST)

kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

>Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the

NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case.>

The Garveyite movement was very popular, bigger percentage-wise than the NAACP, but they could not maintain the momentum after Garvey died.

Joining the NOI or Moorish movements also requires adoption of religious ideology.

Of course, even the NOI knows how to work from the "inside" as well. After all they're members, most of them, pay income and sales tax. As long as you get good return on investment (ROI), there's nothing wrong with working within the system imo.

I've seen NOI involved in some progressive election campaigns here far from Chicago, discreetly of course.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

---

Shed those extra pounds with MSN and The Biggest Loser! Learn more.
| 24751|2008-02-07 12:15:33|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic| Correct, Shalomic. The abolition of slavery is very well documented in detail in Adam Hochschild's book, Bury The Chains, which reveals that many whites (as well as blacks) in fact helped to promote the eventual abolition.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: shalomic@nc.rr.com
Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 15:06:41 -0500
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Hi Clyde

>From my understanding, slavery was abolished due to international influence rather than from any efforts from the slaves themselves. America would not be recognized as a power until they caught up with their European counterparts in respect to civil rights. That began with abolishing slavery.

The price of cooperation is a dual edged sword. We cooperated by holding the whip and laying it across the backs of our brothers and sisters, to get ahead? Likewise, today we cooperate by being instruments that enforces racist laws, than seek the guilty verdict, than lead them into the cell, than enforce the lose of rights due to felony conviction. What we will do for money and acceptance. Interesting the current mortgage situation stealing wealth from black home equity is being implemented by whites, but instrumented by blacks/latinos on the front line.

With the exception of a few non-mainstream, small organizations such as the Panthers, the NOI, for the majority, Blacks have ALWAYS allowed whites to dictate to them.

The largest black organization in the US is the NAACP. An organization created and led by whites (Jews), even to this day. The same is true for the National Urban League, and all other major mainstream so-called black organizations. Even black college fraternities and sororities continue to follow the GREEK imitation.

The black masons, the Prince Hall masons sought and obtained their charter from England and follow the Scottish Rites.

Whites dictated to Robert Johnson and the BET format, and they dominate the board and dictate the radio and television formats of Radio-One as well.

Whites write, direct, and produce the entire Oprah Show.

When they disagreed with Arsenio Hall having Farrakhan on air, they had the show removed. Where is Arsenio today, and where was the black outrage.

The format of RAP is dictated by whites. They promote gangsta rap, and to the detriment of their own, this is what blacks create. Sounds like dictation to me.

Yes, blacks will shoot, incarcerate, and prosecute their own because it's their job and that's how they get paid. This is what's called, getting ahead or taking advantage of opportunity, but is it really? There is another name for it. It's called, selling out and for good reason.

Garvey understood this contradiction. Unfortunately, the intellect, DuBois did not.
Today, there are many more DuBois's and far too few Garvey's.
To many of these blacks, the Uncle Tom label is a honorable thing and carries no shame.

meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 11:25:32 -0800 (PST)

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

- > Yes, this is true of most all of the black rights
- > movements. Most are
- > older then the 60s period.
- > The 40s Booker T. Washington and Carver silver half
- > dollars were
- > supposedly minted and distributed in black
- > communities to fight the
- > growth of communism within the communities.
- >
- > Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of
- > blacks (African &
- > American) would much prefer to live under white rule
- > allowing whites to
- > dictate their futures? Is integration the preference
- > over true social
- > and economic independence? From the size of King's
- > movement versus the
- > NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be
- > the case.
- >
- > Meninarmer
- >

Hi Meninarmer

Blacks have never allowed whites to dictate their future. If we had we would still all be living on the plantation share-cropping down South.

What Afro-Americans have done is act pragmatically. We learned at an early age to study Europeans to see what we have to do to get what we want. We cooperate to get ahead.

This did not mean you had to be an uncle tom. What it meant was that you took advantage of opportunity and if a white person wanted to help you get ahead--you let them help.

Clyde

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.

| 24752|2008-02-07 12:32:02|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Peter

This would explain why the Garvey movement presented so much threat to DuBois and his Jewish handlers.

Garvey's movement was in opposition to the goals of the Jews, integration.

If in fact, in it's peak, the Garvey movement was that much larger then the NAACP, it reflects that blacks of the time were more interested in true independence and separation then they were in integrating with whites.

Today, with the deportation of Garvey and the manipulation of King and the NAACP, it seems that Jews have succeeded in overwhelmingly reversing this past black mindset.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 15:06:48 -0500

Please consult Tony Williuams about the Garvey movement -- it was 10 times the size of the NAACP.

Peter

---

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: shalomic@nc.rr.com
Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 14:11:56 -0500
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

I suppose working from within the system is acceptable depending on what your goals are, or in the case of many black Christians, for those who have no long term goals of their own creation.

As whites are fond of saying, equality will become real, when we all look the same. Meaning, once they have succeeded in integrating blackness into their own, and their offspring look like Barack Obama. Many blacks seem to embraced this goal and have made the decision to assist this plan along. They seem not to have so much a problem with the goal, but with how the plan is being executed.

The Garvey movement was large, but perhaps 1/5th ot 1/10th the size of King's civil rights movement or the NAACP which had/has 10s of millions. Also, Garvey's goals were well defined (back to Africa) and in opposition to the civil rights movement (integration) and any other significantly large movement of today.

Interestingly, the civil rights movement and the NAACP are not enacting plans of black leaders so much as the vehicles to meet the long term social goals of the Jews.

It's also interesting that both DuBois and King, in the end, came to regret their manipulation by this element. Unfortunately for DuBois, he carried on in the name of the master until the end, and for King, who was silenced before he had a chance to correct the momentum he'd begun, thus locking his message to the Jewish agenda.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Paul Kekai Manansala <p.manansala@sbcglobal.net>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 10:04:56 -0800 (PST)

kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

>Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks

(African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case.>

The Garveyite movement was very popular, bigger percentage-wise than the NAACP, but they could not maintain the momentum after Garvey died.

Joining the NOI or Moorish movements also requires adoption of religious ideology.

Of course, even the NOI knows how to work from the "inside" as well. After all they're members, most of them, pay income and sales tax. As long as you get good return on investment (ROI), there's nothing wrong with working within the system imo.

I've seen NOI involved in some progressive election campaigns here far from Chicago, discreetly of course.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.

| 24753|2008-02-07 18:44:34|shaimesh@grouply.com|Dr. Nalani's Healing Dance Experience!|

From:drnalani@healbytouch.com

You're receiving this email because of your relationship with University of Kemetian Sciences. Please confirm your continued interest in receiving email from us.

You may unsubscribe if you no longer wish to receive our emails.

a Heal by Touch Event

Dr. Nalani's Healing Dance Experience!

Ladies, Daughters, Dancers, Mothers, Sisters

In these days of stress and concern, it's important to take time out to nurture and care for yourself, as the constant care-giver

*I cordially invite you to participate in my first annual East Coast Healing Dance Event...

Heal by Dance is coming to New York!

This will be a special 4-hour day of meditative, healing, rhythmic movement, where your senses will be soothed by Aromatherapy with Therapeutic Essential Oils and Shamanic music, as you silently flow through Tai Chi, Yoga, Cultural Dances, Chakra Balancing, Reiki and Massage, relieving your total being of physical and emotional STRESS Using the principles of 7 Steps to Healing & Wellness, Healing Dance will take place after a WHOLE WEEK of nutritional, physical and meditative preparation, all specially formulated to jump-start your healing process!

Saturday, March 29th, 2008

12:00pm - 4:00pm

Discounted Price - $75

(Please bring a suggested $15 donation for the Therapists)
Senior citizens (65 and older) $50, with a $5 donation for Therapists

At the Theodore Young Community Center

32 Manhattan Avenue, White Plains (914) 989-3600

In Preparation for your truly Wholistic

Heal by Dance Experience, when you pre-register, a comprehensive health questionnaire will be emailed to you.

When completed, you will receive a special preparational packet that will take you through the 7 Steps, including

- Pre-event nutritional guidelines
- Daily meditations for strength and healing
- Essential Oils suggestions
- Preparatory exercises and stretches
- Specific Yoga moves

The preparation week will also include

- Intestinal cleansing
- 1 (24hr) day of water-only fasting (Tues-Weds)
- Nutritional Juicing AND
- Total Silence from 12 noon Friday til 4PM Saturday!

P.S. You DON'T have to be a dancer to participate
--just one who likes to dance:)

Please Note:

Due to the necessary Physical and Mental Preparation time period, everyone MUST complete pre-registration for the program by March 18, 2008

No one will be accented at the door

Sorry, we cannot make exceptions
Down payment installments are accepted

Ancient Wisdom - Essential Oils - The Kybalion

Order your personal copy today, so you'll be well prepared for this special experience!

Bring it with you on March 29th, 2008

Dr. Nalani will sign it for you Space is limited. Register early to secure your space at the East Coast Heal by Dance Experience

You Don't Want To Miss This One!

Dr. Nalani is available for lectures and workshops on wholistic Health, Healing and Wellness. Contact info@healbytouch.com to bring her and the Heal by Dance Experience to YOUR city!

Save 20%

Complete your registration and receive an additional 20% discount when you pay in full before February 12th, 2008!

Offer Expires: Feb 12, 2008

Who's never won? Biggest Grammy Award surprises of all time on AOL Music.

| 24754|2008-02-07 20:46:57|clyde winters|Re: Parallel Mutation as an Explanation for African influence on Ind|

Hi

There is considerable evidence that the Dravidians originated in Africa and that they carried the M haplogroup to India given the large number of M1 mutations in Indian M haplogroups. Researchers claim that these mutations are the result of a parallel mutation.

In the paper below I explain how this theory can not account for the African M1 mutations found within and among Indian M haplogroups.

Winters C. Can parallel mutation and neutral genome selection explain Eastern African M1 consensus HVS-I motifs in Indian M haplogroups. Indian J Hum Genet [serial online] 2007 [cited 2008 Feb 7];13:93-6.

Available from:

<http://www.ijhg.com/text.asp?2007/13/3/93/38982>

Clyde Winters

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

| 24755|2008-02-07 21:15:24|olmec982000|Possible Recent African Influences in Oceania|

Hi

Friedlaender et al recently advanced the idea that the Polynesian people recently migrated to outer Oceania from Taiwan.

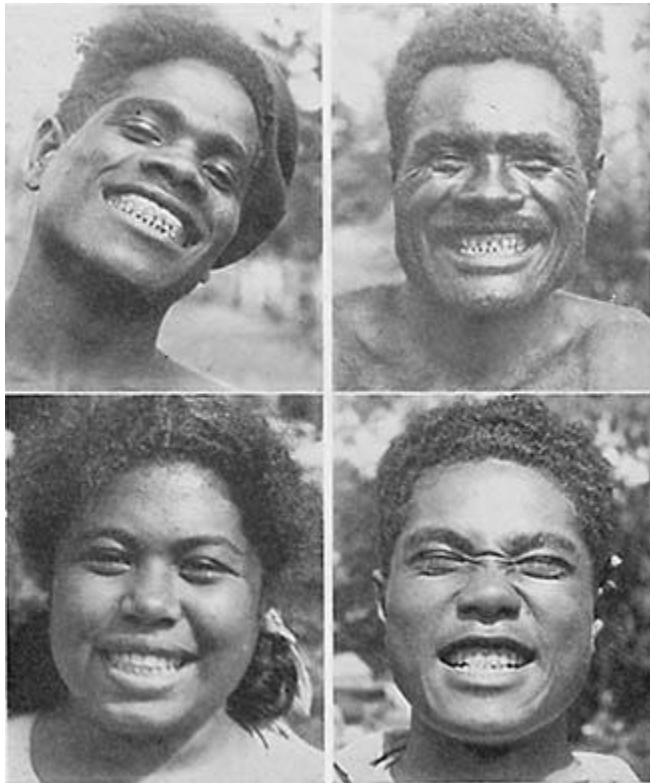

In a recent commentary published in PLoS Genetics I discuss the skeletal evidence of a recent African migration to Oceania from East Asia, where the skeletal evidence indicates that Proto-Polynesians and Melanoid people were already in contact before the migration of Polynesians into outer Oceania.

The coastal and hill Melanesians show diverse mtDNA signatures. I suggest that these differences may result from the recent migration of Melanoid people from East Asia who settled along the coast. If you are interested in the short piece you will find it at the site below:

<http://genetics.plosjournals.org/perlserv/?request=read-response&doi=10.1371/journal.pgen.0040019#r2089>

Enjoy.

Clyde

Diferent types of Melanesians.

| 24756|2008-02-07 21:51:21|Manu Ampim|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Greetings Meninarmer,

From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted extensive research on Dr. King in various archives (including the FBI headquarters) concerning the evolution of his political ideas and agenda.

It is clear that Dr. King's political work and philosophy has been completely misrepresented by the media, biographers, historians, and the general public. King's political goals evolved in the '50s and '60s just like all the other progressive activists. The vast majority of people have not read *one* single speech or book by King and thus they repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted popular version of King created by mainstream America. Most people have no idea that both J. Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan (FBI asst. director) by 1963 considered King to be the "most dangerous" Black man in America, and not the NOI or Moorish movement as you state. King still remains the most watched and surveillanced man in the history of the FBI, because this organization knew that King's program was not focused on "integration."

King often stated that he had no interest "integrating" into a racist America. He also made it clear that with the passage of the 1965 Voting Rights Bill that Congress had signed the "civil rights movement out of existence." King even stopped using the term "civil rights" after 1965 and he called for and worked towards human rights and acquisition of power. You should read his long essay on "Black Power Defined" to learn about his work and advocacy within the Black Power Movement. The great Black Power leader Kwame Ture (Stokely Carmichael) and I had several detailed discussions in the 1980s about King's political work and support of Carmichael and other Black Power advocates.

You have to make a distinction between civil rights and integration, these are two separate issues. For example, conservative civil rights organizations (e.g. NAACP and Urban League) and their leaders such as A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins, Bayard Rustin, etc. were advocating for integrating with white people, and some in this group even argued the goal of racial amalgamation. However, the young activists in CORE, SNCC, and SCLC (under the leadership of Dr. King) clearly distanced themselves from this integration goal. In the early years, they were agitating for Black people to have basic civil rights but they never defined their ultimate goal to simply "integrate" with white people. In June 1966, these young activists caused a major split among civil rights groups when they embraced the concept of black power. The Black Power Movement emerged from this split and challenged the old civil rights leadership and its more conservative goal of "integration." King, SCLC, and the new young CORE and SNCC leaders split with the NAACP and Urban League and its conservative leadership, and moved to embrace a black power program. This major rift in June 1966 in the movement between the civil rights leaders and the black power leaders is well known and thoroughly documented.

Dr. King's Support of Black Power

http://www.manuampim.com/king\_bp.html

King stated that 1966 marked the beginning of the "second phase" ("human rights era") of the Black struggle, and to ignore this fact is to grossly misrepresent King's work and ideas. The record is clear that from June 1966 the Black Power/human rights groups were in fundamental opposition to the integration/civil rights groups and leaders. In October 1966 King called the mainstream civil rights leaders "mickey mouse negroes" who he did not want to be associated with because their goals were different from his, and thus to lump King in with the civil rights/integration groups and organizations has no basis in fact.

Dr. King divided the black liberation movement into two phases: the Civil Rights Phase (1954-1965) and the Human Rights Phase (1966- ). Anyone who believes that King's goal was "integration" has *never* studied his philosophy, his political program laid out in this last book, or his personal life. Every major aspect of King's life was all-black and had nothing to do with integration. For example:

- 1) King's family was all-black
- 2) His organization SCLC was all-black
- 3) His neighborhood on Auburn Ave. in Atlanta was all-black
- 4) His Ebenezer Baptist Church was all-black

If King was an "integrationist" he certainly had every opportunity to integrate his organization with white people, move to a mixed white and black neighborhood, and attend an integrated church, yet he never considered such actions. The primary sources clearly indicate that King saw civil rights as a phase in the Black struggle that was replaced in 1966 by the human rights and power acquisition phase, and he never developed a plan of "integration." On the other hand, the conservative civil rights leaders in the NAACP and Urban League continued to argue for civil rights, with integration as their goal. Anyone who has studied King's position will understand why the mainstream civil rights leaders became the leading opponents and critics of King in 1966-67.

Finally, Clyde is right that the majority of Black people never allowed white people to dictate their future. Likewise, nobody dictated anything to King and this is why J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI decided that the only other option was to assassinate him.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Meninamer stated,

"Of them all, the King movement was the most conventional and least threatening to the mainstream. Mainly due to its goals being integration."

"Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case."

| 24757|2008-02-08 01:32:29|Peter Kaiza|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|

---

She said what? About who? Shameful celebrity quotes on Search Star!

| 24758|2008-02-08 03:19:24|asar_imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Manu|

Peace

I see that the topic has gotten off course and I apologize to the group for shifting it in that direction. Now I will address directly the statements in the previous reply.

As to this quote:

> You assume that film makers and activists have not done what you are talking about. You should check out Dr. Ben's powerful CD-Rom from about 15 years. Also, I have met numerous people who have the social and historical awareness that you mention and they have high quality equipment that has allowed them to influence numerous people, so your ideas are not new.

>

This is exactly why in my post I said the following:

>

> The majority of the people on this list (probably) came into
> "consciousness" (if a child of the 80's and 90's) through groups like > Africa Baambada, KRS-1, Rakim, Rass Kass, Killah Priest, Wu-Tang, > Brand Nubian, Queen Latifah, the Jungle Brothers and more. They got > deeper into their consciousness by watching video lectures by Dr. Ben,
> Ashra Kwesi, Marimba Ani, Ivan Van Sertima, Ronoko Rashidi, Naim > Akbar, Asa Hilliard and John G. Jackson. All of them used film and > music to bring people into the fold.
>
> What I am talking about is taking what we've already been doing, and the only methods proven to work outside of academia, and take it to the next level and do what they couldn't do.

I clearly state that this has already been done and it is nothing new, but am advocating taking that process of film (and any other art medium) and enhance what they did but more so on the level of The Secret and What the Bleep Do We Know. There has NOT been any African centered documentaries done aesthetically and as comprehensive on this level: PERIOD!

When I speak about movements starting with the artists, this is what I mean:

"In 1926 the Krigwa Players of Harlem declared that plays about Negro life "must be written by Negro authors who understand from birth and continual association just what it means to be a Negro today." Years later, protesting against the distorted interpretations of Negro life by white playwrights, Langston Hughes declared that someday someone would write honestly about Negroes, and he predicted: "It'll be me myself!" Over the years many writers, white as well as black, have reached the conclusion that Negroes themselves will give us the true picture of the Negro reality. "No white man, "an English critic stated recently, "however brave and well ?intentioned, can ever sing the Negro song." (Abramson: vii)

Is this not, in essence, Afrocentricity before Afrocentricity and the African-Centered movement? This is during the Harlem Renaissance in the 1920's. Although everyone didn't necessarily identify with " Africa ," they clearly were "Black" centered and this drive was started by artists way before the 1970's and 80's.

As Diop (Van Sertima: 263) is quoted saying,

"The cultural personality of Africa is inseparable from the restoration of our collective historical consciousness?.After all, what is our objective if it is not that of recovering and promoting the creativity of our peoples? Man's mission is creation. African renaissance, black renaissance, is inseparable from the restoration of the black world creativity."

When Diop speaks about what fueled the movement in France , he clearly speaks of an artistic movement that rallied the intellectuals and political activists to action. When we talk about the start of the Negritude movement, Diop (Van Sertima: 266) states,

"[Aime] Cesaire was practically the only one to have played a decisive and personal role in the mobilization of the black students who were in France during the colonial period. He summoned us up to our feet in the struggle against the colonial oppressors."

This flies in the face of the comment that one person (or film) would not have a significant impact. We know that Cesaire was a poet and was known of his fiery poetry and literature that inspired a movement in France (which eventually spread throughout Africa - although with much deserved criticism) . When we talk about mass movements, we are talking about a philosophy in which the general masses, outside of academia can follow. This is why the arts are so important to any "movement." So much so that Diop (Van Sertima: 263) mentions in regard to the disconnect between the masses and academia:

"At the time there were other black intellectuals in Paris who were defending the colonial status quo with philosophical arguments. Their writings were indigestible to the mass of black students in Paris at the time."

This is because the message wasn't put in a matter that resonated with the public. The public could care less about conceptual frameworks, epistemology, and ontology. Africa 's struggles have always been tied to the expressive arts. And because Césaire's message was tied into a medium in which so many African people can connect with (art), he was very effective in mobilizing and affecting social consciousness. The same can be said of Civil Rights movement whose rally cries were that of the songs during the marches and in the churches (art).

You stated:

>

> This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.

>

This I have to disagree with this again. The book Culture and African American Politics by Charles P. Henry is dedicated to disproving that whole statement. Movements start in the heart of the people. This is expressed through their culture. Culture is simply the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative capacities of a given population. We know this academic definition as ART .

The first spark of collective resistance and solidarity for slaves were through the Negro spirituals (music). This later was transferred into the blues (music). The message was further expanded during the Harlem Renaissance (various arts). The Black Arts movement runs parallel to the Civil Rights movement. The African Centered movement runs parallel with the Hip Hop movement. You can't name a movement in African-American history that does not correspond with an artistic movement.

Currently I am shooting a documentary film titled Poet-Trees & Grass-Roots: The unSpoken Word in Poetry, and when I interviewed Dr. Patrica Reed-Smith (Theatre), Dr Amiri Baraka (literature), The Last Poets (spoken word poetry), they all mentioned that during the civil rights era and the black power period, that what got the masses motivated in their neighborhoods was the arts. It was the arts, just like in the case with Aime Césaire in France , that got people to action.

I speak about issues like this frequently at universities because this method of teaching is the heart of African culture. We teach through arts and anyone attempting to teach African history, without at some point invoking this aspect African epistemology, does not believe in African culture and that its methods is of any value for us. You can't name (outside of Diop) any major intellectual that did not have an artistic side. Whether it is Asante , Karenga, Dr. Ben, Marcus Garvey, Clarke, or Césaire.

A matter of fact, most people don't know this, but Dr. Ben used to be a comedian and was in a band who used to play at the Apollo theater in Harlem . Can anyone guess who his band mates were? Maya Angelou and Babatunde Olatunji. Although he was an academician, he connected to the people through the arts and this is before the Civil Rights movement.

All I am saying is this, the old ways of trying to disseminate information about our historical legacy is outdated. The method I propose is the same method the ancient Nile Valley peoples did with the open Asarian drama plays in Ta-Meri. They used art to teach. The Dogon still uses this method to teach science. The game has changed now. We have a medium our ancestors did not have to convey their cultural and historical world view and that is through film. What you can do with a JVC HD Pro Camcorder, Adobe Premiere and Adobe After Effects can tell our story in a whole new light and can be used as a tool to bring the "masses" to the books written about our story. I know this works because it worked for the Matrix, 300, What the Bleep Do We Know, and The Secret. Each one of these works brought more attention to European history and philosophy than any collection of books written or message board discussions.

Here are some ways "white people" are getting their point across:

Zeitgeist

<http://zeitgeistmovie.com/>

The Corporation

<http://www.thecorporation.com/>

Beyond - The Animatrix

What the bleep do we know

<http://www.whatthebleep.com/>

The Secret

<http://www.thesecret.tv>

Each one of these "films" has study groups across the country and study guides and material to go along with the films. When we talk about "reintroducing" African civilization to the masses, we have to come just like they are coming. It is a movement, not just a set of films. I will address your other statements in another email.

References:

Abramson, Doris E. (1969). Negro Playwrights in the American Theatre, 1925-1959. Columbia University Press. New York and London

Henry, Charles P. (1990). Culture and African American Politics. Indiana University Press. Bloomington and Indianapolis

Van Sertima, Ivan. (1992). Great African Thinkers, Vol.1: Cheikh Anta Diop. Journal of African Civilizations.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24759|2008-02-08 06:09:24|Peter Gray|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)|
What is his post about? The link had nothing (unless I'm doing something wrong).

Peter

---

To: ta_seti@yahooogroups.com
From: prweza@hotmail.co.uk
Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 09:32:17 +0000
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

---

She said what? About who? Shameful celebrity quotes on Search Star!

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.
| 24760|2008-02-08 06:23:04|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Manu

Thank you for the detailed surface level expose on King.
Dr. King's (Michael King) legacy should be celebrated, and also critiqued constructively. It should not be falsified or stretched to accommodate a different agenda today, but like many things in America, it have been.

The balancing act Dr. King's maintained with Zionists was a unique and particularly fragile political coalition. King had the voice, while zionists had the money, and legal personel. Same arrangement they held

with Dr. W.E.B. DuBois to control the NAACP.

The one main issue (and most important) you neglected to mention are the groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr. King's organizations. The same groups that maintained positions as President and filled seats on the board of directors of each group. In fact, from its inception, up to 1970, every president of the NAACP was Jewish.

Hasia Dinner wrote a PhD thesis about the way that "Jewish support for black causes was a way for Jews to broaden their own rights without becoming conspicuous by advocating their group interests."

The public heard the names of Dr. King, Roy Wilkins (NAACP secretary), and A. Philip Randolph, but they rarely heard the names of the men (Jewish) who held the highest positions and called the shots in these organizations.

Names such as, -Arthur & Noel Spingarn, Henry Moskowitz and Kivie Kaplan - NAACP Founders & Presidents.

the NAACP, was conceived at the estate of Joel Spingarn who became its Board Chairman in 1915. He served in this position until 1929 when he became, the president, until 1939. He was succeeded by his brother Arthur until 1966, when another Jew, Kivie Kaplan, took over. By 1968, leadership of Kaplan and other Jews in the civil rights movement was coming under increasingly sharp attack. Activists called for his resignation; Kaplan refused. Only with Kaplan's death in 1975 did the NAACP get a black president when Benjamin Hooks took the position. King's adviser, Stanley Levinson is said to have written many of King's speeches, including the, I Have A Dream speech.

The demand for cash and the Jews dominance of these organization forced its black leaders to sign annually, a declaration called, "Black Americans in Support of Israel". If unwilling to sign, they had little chance of being in a leading position in either organization.

This sounds like dictation to me.

The National Urban League, was greatly funded by the Sears-Roebuck millionaire, Julius Rosenwald. Edwin Seligman, was the first chairman of the organization. Its first Executive Board included Abraham Lefkowitz and Felix Adler, and Seligman's brother and sister-in-law, George and Ella Sachs Plotz. In 1932, six Jews "served as officials" at the Urban League's Chicago branch.

By the mid-1960s, Jewish contributions made up three-quarters of the money raised by SNCC [Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee], CORE, and SCLC.

It is said that even though W. E. Du Bois, received a full salary from the Association for his services, he frequently was obliged to solicit personal loans from Spingarn.

Marcus Garvey stormed out of the NAACP's headquarters in 1917, after discovering the organization's domination by whites. These included Board Chairman Joel Spingarn, his brother Arthur who was pro bono counsel, Herbert Lehman of the Executive Committee, Arthur Sachs, Herbert Seligmann - director of public relations, and his secretary Martha Gruening.

To say that blacks have never been dictated to by whites is absolutely absurd.

Since slavery when a white commanded a black to pick up a whip and bare open the flesh on his brother's back, that black complied. Sometimes eagerly.

Today, when a DA commands a black prosecutor to prosecute a black to the full extent of a drug racist law, that black eagerly complies.

The Tuskegee experiment would not have been possible without the compliance and full cooperation of the institute itself, and the many black doctors, nurses, and many associated black institutes who followed the DICTATIONS from their white masters.

As Clyde correctly points out, these "professionals" saw opportunity whites were giving them and took it. Still, they were being dictated to and they allowed it without reprise.

Although Eunice Rivers is shown as the central figure, she was dictated to by the many black doctors, who themselves were dictated to by their whites superiors.

No one talks about this aspect of the experiment, preferring instead to blame it all on whites. Fact is, blacks cooperated fully and this is why the experiment happened and was able to proceed on course as planned. Because blacks allowed themselves to be dictated to, self justified in the name of, professional and financial opportunity.

Today, we have the same example at Howard University who currently is assisting the Department Of Defense in their development of ethnic biological weapons targeting people of color. The good black doctors of Howard U, actively wrote and won a proposal to gain the award. This is willing dictation, or as Clyde states in more palatable terms, taking advantage of an opportunity when the white man gives you something.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net>
Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic
Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 21:50:09 -0800
Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138

Greetings Meninarmer,

>From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted extensive research on Dr.

King in various archives (including the FBI headquarters) concerning the evolution of his political ideas and agenda.

It is clear that Dr. King's political work and philosophy has been completely misrepresented by the media, biographers, historians, and the general public. King's political goals evolved in the '50s and '60s just like all the other progressive activists. The vast majority of people have not read *one* single speech or book by King and thus they repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted popular version of King created by mainstream America. Most people have no idea that both J. Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan (FBI asst. director) by 1963 considered King to be the "most dangerous" Black man in America, and not the NOI or Moorish movement as you state. King still remains the most watched and surveillanced man in the history of the FBI, because this organization knew that King's program was not focused on "integration."

King often stated that he had no interest "integrating" into a racist America. He also made it clear that with the passage of the 1965 Voting Rights Bill that Congress had signed the "civil rights movement out of existence." King even stopped using the term "civil rights" after 1965 and he called for and worked towards human rights and acquisition of power. You should read his long essay on "Black Power Defined" to learn about his work and advocacy within the Black Power Movement. The great Black Power leader Kwame Ture (Stokely Carmichael) and I had several detailed discussions in the 1980s about King's political work and support of Carmichael and other Black Power advocates.

You have to make a distinction between civil rights and integration, these are two separate issues. For example, conservative civil rights organizations (e.g. NAACP and Urban League) and their leaders such as A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins, Bayard Rustin, etc. were advocating for integrating with white people, and some in this group even argued the goal of racial amalgamation. However, the young activists in CORE, SNCC, and SCLC (under the leadership of Dr. King) clearly distanced themselves from this integration goal. In the early years, they were agitating for Black people to have basic civil rights but they never defined their ultimate goal to simply "integrate" with white people. In June 1966, these young activists caused a major split among civil rights groups when they embraced the concept of black power. The Black Power Movement emerged from this split and challenged the old civil rights leadership and its more conservative goal of "integration." King, SCLC, and the new young CORE and SNCC leaders split with the NAACP and Urban League and its conservative leadership, and moved to embrace a black power program. This major rift in June 1966 in the movement between the civil rights leaders and the black power leaders is well known and thoroughly documented.

Dr. King's Support of Black Power

http://www.manuampim.com/king\_bp.html

King stated that 1966 marked the beginning of the "second phase" ("human rights era") of the Black struggle, and to ignore this fact is to grossly misrepresent King's work and ideas. The record is clear that from June 1966 the Black Power/human rights groups were in fundamental opposition to the integration/civil rights groups and leaders. In October 1966 King called the mainstream civil rights leaders "mickey mouse negroes" who he did not want to be associated with because their goals were different from his, and thus to lump King in with the civil rights/integration groups and organizations has no basis in fact.

Dr. King divided the black liberation movement into two phases: the Civil Rights Phase (1954-1965) and the Human Rights Phase (1966- ). Anyone who believes that King's goal was "integration" has **never** studied his philosophy, his political program laid out in this last book, or his personal life. Every major aspect of King's life was all-black and had nothing to do with integration. For example:

- 1) King's family was all-black
- 2) His organization SCLC was all-black
- 3) His neighborhood on Auburn Ave. in Atlanta was all-black
- 4) His Ebenezer Baptist Church was all-black

If King was an "integrationist" he certainly had every opportunity to integrate his organization with white people, move to a mixed white and black neighborhood, and attend an integrated church, yet he never considered such actions. The primary sources clearly indicate that King saw civil rights as a phase in the Black struggle that was replaced in 1966 by the human rights and power acquisition phase, and he never developed a plan of "integration." On the other hand, the conservative civil rights leaders in the NAACP and Urban League continued to argue for civil rights, with integration as their goal. Anyone who has studied King's position will understand why the mainstream civil rights leaders became the leading opponents and critics of King in 1966-67.

Finally, Clyde is right that the majority of Black people never allowed white people to dictate their future. Likewise, nobody dictated anything to King and this is why J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI decided that the only other option was to assassinate him.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Meninarmer stated,

"Of them all, the King movement was the most conventional and least threatening to the mainstream. Mainly due to its goals being integration."

"Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case."

| 24761|2008-02-08 08:36:33|Manu Ampim|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Meninarmer,

Thank you for your response.

You have to read the records, interview living SCLC leaders from the '60s, and study the documentary footage to get a full understanding of King and the SCLC. First, the SCLC constantly did grassroots fundraising throughout the country with the help of such artists as Harry Belafonte, etc. and this organization received support for its small budget from people and groups from various segments of the country. King was willing to work with all people of "good will" who were genuine in supporting his efforts, and if not he openly criticized them and organized economic boycotts in every city where he worked if the white business establishment supported Jim Crow racism. No Jewish organization ever directed or controlled King or the SCLC.

You stated:

"The one main issue (and most important) you neglected to mention are the groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr. King's organizations. The same groups that maintained positions as President and filled seats on the board of directors of each group.

In fact, from its inception, up to 1970, every president of the NAACP was Jewish."

The problem with your comments is that you fail to understand that the SCLC was founded in 1957 because it did not have the same goals as groups such as the NAACP. The NAACP's budget and leadership had nothing to do with the SCLC, these are two different organizations. The SCLC has NEVER had a white or Jewish president or officer in the King era, and the Jewish groups have never dominated the SCLC budget, so your above comment on the NAACP is misleading and completely irrelevant. Let's be serious, what does the NAACP Spingarn Award has to do with King?

You should also know that Stanley Levison was only one of several King advisors and Levison *never* held any position in the SCLC, nor told King what to do. Levison was an experienced fundraiser and organizer and King utilized his experience and advice to help make his own decisions. Are you aware that King also had African American advisors? If so, do you understand how King utilized his different advisors? These questions have to be answered before the role of Levison is overstated and taken out of context.

Please, my brother, you have to get the facts...King stayed awake late at night on Aug. 27, 1963 in the Willard Hotel(Wash, DC) to write his "I Have A Dream" speech for the next day, thus your statement about Levison writing this speech is totally wrong.

When King was asked why he continued to take unpopular stands on political issues, he stated, "I do not determine what is right or wrong by looking at the budget of my organization." One last comment on the Zionist/Jewish "influence" is that in January 1966 the Jewish leadership across America began to publicly attack King when he moved his operation to Chicago to deal with (what he called) "human rights" and the "structural problem" in America. The Jewish attack on King continued in 1967 when King said that "Congress is running amok with racism" and he began to consistently criticize America's foreign policy in Africa, Vietnam, and Latin America. To understand King you must know that the same Jewish leadership that helped King in the civil rights phase, attacked him in the human rights phase because King's direction and program threatened the Jewish political and economic hegemony over the Black community.

You cannot continue to lump King with the NAACP, etc. if you want an accurate understanding of King. I see that you choose not to address my comments on King not focusing on "integration," and his embracing of "black power."

I stated that "the majority of Black people never allowed white people to dictate their future" and this continues to be a fact since we have been here. I am speaking about socio-political movements and not isolated situations. The 250 organized slave rebellions documented by Herbert Aptheker and the political movements since slavery clearly prove the statement. White people never dictated to the majority of Black activists in the '50s-'60s.

Advancing the work,
Manu Ampim

---

Manu

Thank you for the detailed surface level expose on King.

Dr. King's (Michael King) legacy should be celebrated, and also critiqued constructively. It should not be falsified or stretched to accommodate a different agenda today, but like many things in America, it has been.

The balancing act Dr. King maintained with Zionists was a unique and particularly fragile political coalition. King had the voice, while Zionists had the money, and legal personnel. Same arrangement they held

with Dr. W.E.B. DuBois to control the NAACP.

The one main issue (and most important) you neglected to mention are the groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr. King's organizations. The same groups that maintained positions as President and filled seats on the board of directors of each group. In fact, from its inception, up to 1970, every president of the NAACP was Jewish.

Hasia Dinner wrote a PhD thesis about the way that "Jewish support for black causes was a way for Jews to broaden their own rights without becoming conspicuous by advocating their group interests."

The public heard the names of Dr. King, Roy Wilkins (NAACP secretary), and A. Philip Randolph, but they rarely heard the names of the men (Jewish) who held the highest positions and called the shots in these organizations.

Names such as, -Arthur & Noel Spingarn, Henry Moskowitz and Kivie Kaplan - NAACP Founders & Presidents.

the NAACP, was conceived at the estate of Joel Spingarn who became its Board Chairman in 1915. He served in this position until 1929 when he became, the president, until 1939. He was succeeded by his brother Arthur until 1966, when another Jew, Kivie Kaplan, took over. By 1968, leadership of Kaplan and other Jews in the civil rights movement was coming under increasingly sharp attack. Activists called for his resignation; Kaplan refused. Only with Kaplan's death in 1975 did the NAACP get a black president when Benjamin Hooks took the position. King's adviser, Stanley Levinson is said to have written many of King's speeches, including the, I Have A Dream speech.

The demand for cash and the Jews dominance of these organization forced its black leaders to sign annually, a declaration called, "Black Americans in Support of Israel". If unwilling to sign, they had little chance of being in a leading position in either organization.

This sounds like dictation to me.

The National Urban League, was greatly funded by the Sears-Roebuck millionaire, Julius Rosenwald. Edwin Seligman, was the first chairman of the organization. Its first Executive Board included Abraham Lefkowitz and Felix Adler, and Seligman's brother and sister-in-law, George and Ella Sachs Plotz. In 1932, six Jews "served as officials" at the Urban League's Chicago branch.

By the mid-1960s, Jewish contributions made up three-quarters of the money raised by SNCC [Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee], CORE, and SCLC.

It is said that even though W. E. Du Bois, received a full salary from the Association for his services, he frequently was obliged to solicit personal loans from Spingarn.

Marcus Garvey stormed out of the NAACP's headquarters in 1917, after discovering the organization's domination by whites. These included Board Chairman Joel Spingarn, his brother Arthur who was pro bono counsel, Herbert Lehman of the Executive Committee, Arthur Sachs, Herbert Seligmann - director of public relations, and his secretary Martha Gruening.

To say that blacks have never been dictated to by whites is absolutely absurd.

Since slavery when a white commanded a black to pick up a whip and bare open the flesh on his brother's back, that black complied. Sometimes eagerly.

Today, when a DA commands a black prosecutor to prosecute a black to the full extent of a drug racist law, that black eagerly complies.

The Tuskegee experiment would not have been possible without the compliance and full cooperation of the institute itself, and the many black doctors, nurses, and many associated black institutes who followed the DICTATIONS from their white masters.

As Clyde correctly points out, these "professionals" saw opportunity whites were giving them and took it. Still, they were being dictated to and they allowed it without reprise.

Although Eunice Rivers is shown as the central figure, she was dictated to by the many black doctors, who themselves were dictated to by their whites superiors.

No one talks about this aspect of the experiment, preferring instead to blame it all on whites. Fact is, blacks cooperated fully and this is why the experiment happened and was able to proceed on course as planned. Because blacks allowed themselves to be dictated to, self justified in the name of, professional and financial opportunity.

Today, we have the same example at Howard University who currently is assisting the Department Of Defense in their development of ethnic biological weapons targeting people of color. The good black doctors of Howard U, actively wrote and won a proposal to gain the award. This is willing dictation, or as Clyde states in more palatable terms, taking advantage of an opportunity when the white man gives you something.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@...>
Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic
Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 21:50:09 -0800
Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138

Greetings Meninarmer,

>From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted extensive research on Dr. King in various archives (including the FBI headquarters) concerning the evolution of his political ideas and agenda.

It is clear that Dr. King's political work and philosophy has been completely misrepresented by the media, biographers, historians, and the general public. King's political goals evolved in the '50s and '60s just like all the other progressive activists. The vast majority of people have not read *one* single speech or book by King and thus they repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted popular version of King created by mainstream America. Most people have no idea that both J. Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan (FBI asst. director) by 1963 considered King to be the "most dangerous" Black man in America, and not the NOI or Moorish movement as you state. King still remains the most watched and surveillanced man in the history of the FBI, because this organization knew that King's program was not focused on "integration."

King often stated that he had no interest "integrating" into a racist America. He also made it clear that with the passage of the 1965 Voting Rights Bill that Congress had signed the "civil rights movement out of existence." King even stopped using the term "civil rights" after 1965 and he called for and worked towards human rights and acquisition of power. You should read his long essay on "Black Power Defined" to learn about his work and advocacy within the Black Power Movement. The great Black Power leader Kwame Ture (Stokely Carmichael) and I had several detailed discussions in the 1980s about King's political work and support of Carmichael and other Black Power advocates.

You have to make a distinction between civil rights and integration, these are two separate issues. For example, conservative civil rights organizations (e.g. NAACP and Urban League) and their leaders such as A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins, Bayard Rustin, etc. were advocating for integrating with white people, and some in this group even argued the goal of racial amalgamation. However, the young activists in CORE, SNCC, and SCLC (under the leadership of Dr. King) clearly distanced themselves from this integration goal. In the early years, they were agitating for Black people to have basic civil rights but they never defined their ultimate goal to simply "integrate" with white people. In June 1966, these young activists caused a major split among civil rights groups when they embraced the concept of black power. The Black Power Movement emerged from this split and challenged the old civil rights leadership and its more conservative goal of "integration." King, SCLC, and the new young CORE and SNCC leaders split with the NAACP and Urban League and its conservative leadership, and moved to embrace a black power program. This major rift in June 1966 in the movement between the civil rights leaders and the black power leaders is well known and thoroughly documented.

Dr. King's Support of Black Power

http://www.manuampim.com/king\_bp.html

King stated that 1966 marked the beginning of the "second phase" ("human rights era") of the Black struggle, and to ignore this fact is to grossly misrepresent King's work and ideas. The record is clear that from June 1966 the Black Power/human rights groups were in fundamental opposition to the integration/civil rights groups and leaders. In October 1966 King called the mainstream civil rights leaders "mickey mouse negroes" who he did not want to be associated with because their goals were different from his, and thus to lump King in with the civil rights/integration groups and organizations has no basis in fact.

Dr. King divided the black liberation movement into two phases: the Civil Rights Phase (1954-1965) and the Human Rights Phase (1966- ). Anyone who believes that King's goal was "integration" has **never** studied his philosophy, his political program laid out in this last book, or his personal life. Every major aspect of King's life was all-black and had nothing to do with integration. For example:

- 1) King's family was all-black
- 2) His organization SCLC was all-black
- 3) His neighborhood on Auburn Ave. in Atlanta was all-black
- 4) His Ebenezer Baptist Church was all-black

If King was an "integrationist" he certainly had every opportunity to integrate his organization with white people, move to a mixed white and black neighborhood, and attend an integrated church, yet he never considered such actions. The primary sources clearly indicate that King saw civil rights as a phase in the Black struggle that was replaced in 1966 by the human rights and power acquisition phase, and he never developed a plan of "integration." On the other hand, the conservative civil rights leaders in the NAACP and Urban League continued to argue for civil rights, with integration as their goal. Anyone who has studied King's position will understand why the mainstream civil rights leaders became the leading opponents and critics of King in 1966-67.

Finally, Clyde is right that the majority of Black people never allowed white people to dictate their future. Likewise, nobody dictated anything to King and this is why J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI decided that the only other option was to assassinate him.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Meninarmer stated,

"Of them all, the King movement was the most conventional and least threatening to the mainstream. Mainly due to its goals being integration."

"Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case."

| 24762|2008-02-08 08:57:04|clyde winters|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Meninarmer

You have misrepresented my mention of the term "opportunity". I never said that a person should act as an uncle tom.

What I meant by opportunity was the ability to get help from whites to better your condition.

In your statement you imply that people should not perform their job. If you are a prosecutor, you prosecute. Are you claiming that a Black prosecutor should allow a person who is a murderer to remain free to kill someone else?

Like you I felt the criminal justice system was anti-Afro-American. Then I went to work at Cook County Jail as a teacher. At County Jail, I saw many young drug dealers get a break.

They eventually went to Jail though, because by the time their court date came up (i.e., it takes a year or more before you get a trial date) some of the young men had been arrested one or two additional times so the judge had no choice but to send them to jail. You see, these young men got a chance but they felt they were slick and they suffered the consequences.

I raised five sons luckily none are in jail (thank God). From day one I taught my sons that I was not going to let them be slick. Like my Father, if you messed up you got punished. If I even thought you were trying to be slick your .....was mine.

In addition, I taught my sons , and told them that I loved them. If I was wrong I gave them an apology.

I taught them that if necessary you had the right to cry, and show affection to your brothers and me. And above all I taught them to have faith in a Supreme Being, because I might fail them but the Creator would not.

I am not with my sons or daughter every moment of the day, so I can not claim that one may not be serving (selling) drugs, but I have tried my best to raise my sons with the full knowledge that as a Black man they can go to jail --if they don't watch out.

If you want to blame someone for the large number of young men in jail, don't blame the criminal justice system blame the young men. You be slick-you get in trouble.

Secondly, you claim that the Jews ran the Civil Rights Movement. This is totally untrue, most Jews stopped supporting the Civil Rights Movement after 1967, because Black leaders gave support to the Palestinians. It was Afro-American support of the Palestinians that led many Jews to become Neo-Conservatives and supporters of the Republican Party.

You have a warped sense of history. Your comments betray your ignorance of the field of Afro-American history.

Your comments indicate a young man who learned history from talking to the brothers while passing around reefers or at the barber shop. Study. Learn your history then you might not hold good men and women in disrepute.

People like King and Malcolm died for what they believed in. You can not imagine how many Afro-Americans felt in the late 1960's. In 1968, many of us were ready to die fighting for our rights. Our struggle was so significant, that Ho chi minh of the Viet Cong modeled his Tet Offensive out our urban struggles (riots). If not for Pres. Johnson opening up the Universities, trade schools and government jobs to Afro-Americans, American cities would have burned and there would have been great loss of life.

You see few of us had more than a shot gun or a zip gun (home made gun of wood, long nail, a pipe and strong rubber bands) but we were ready to die. You can not imagine the satisfying feeling you can get from believing you will die fighting for a just cause. It was this desire to save our people that nurtured us as teenagers.

Granted people say look at the cities .See how they are worst off from the riots. Bull.

Due to the riots I went to University, housing opened up throughout the United States and there is a significant Afro-American Middle Class. Granted, the powers that be began to allow Indians/Pakistanis, Asians, Africans and etc., into the country to diminish our gains, but we still have progressed and other minority folk have prospered due to our struggles.

If you grew up in America you should know that Europeans give nothing away without fear of a struggle. They "gave" us government jobs, university grants and loans, etc., to keep us from f**king this country up. Even today, our anger lies below the surface--presently we exact our anger on each other--but I guarantee that if push come to shove it could be directed in another direction.

I know you will say,f*** a middle class. But it is your middle class status that allow you to sit at your computer and misrepresent the history of Afro-Americans, just so you can sit high and mighty and denigrate your ancestors who bodies you stepped on to get where you're at today.

Too many Afro-Americans died to get us where we are today to allow some "arm-chair revolutionary" like you to misrepresent our history to the world. You dare claim DuBois was controlled by whites, when even Diop acknowledges that it was DuBois who gave him the courage to write a true history of our people- Black/African people.

Yes you can get opportunities working with whites to better yourself, without being an uncle tom. People have free will, if they choose to hurt their fellow man its their own decision.

I love all mankind. But I love my people just a little bit more. Wearing braids, listening to rap music (or smooth Jazz)and smoking reefers does not make you a down brother. (In fact it is the desire of many brothers to be down and smoking reefers that are keeping them from getting a job in the first place.)

A real brother respects his people and himself, and has the compassion to feel for his people, warts and all, recognizing that we do what we must to survive. Granted Washington attacked, DuBois, and DuBois attacked Garvey. They had their disagreements but all three men fought to get Afro-Americans their rights.

I thank God, this time I came on this plane Afro-American. Being Afro allows me to be a part of a tradition of struggle.

A struggle by men and women who had nothing more than their pens or their voices to declare truth--and fight for our rights. A people who had members willing to suffer for the good of us all, may they be Black Power or Integrationist, they all wanted us to have better lives and I am sure my ancestors who died on the plantations, hung on trees, or just murdered for being

Black are shouting in my ears and yours keep up the struggle Baby--the job ain't done.

Clyde

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

- > Manu
- >
- > Thank you for the detailed surface level expose on
- > King.
- > Dr. King's (Michael King) legacy should be
- > celebrated, and also
- > critiqued constructively. It should not be falsified
- > or stretched to
- > accommodate a different agenda today, but like many
- > things in America,
- > it have been.
- > The balancing act Dr. King's maintained with
- > Zionists was a unique and
- > particularly fragile political coalition. King had
- > the voice, while
- > zionists had the money, and legal personel. Same
- > arrangement they held
- > with Dr. W.E.B. DuBois to control the NAACP.
- >
- > The one main issue (and most important) you
- > neglected to mention are the
- > groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr.
- > King's organizations.
- > The same groups that maintained positions as
- > President and filled seats
- > on the board of directors of each group.
- > In fact, from it's inception, up to 1970, every
- > president of the NAACP
- > was Jewish.
- >
- > Hasia Dinner wrote a PhD thesis about the way that
- > "Jewish support for
- > black causes was a way for Jews to broaden their own
- > rights without
- > becoming conspicuous by advocating their group
- > interests."
- >
- > The public heard the names of Dr. King, Roy Wilkins
- > (NAACP secretary),

- > and A. Philip Randolph, but they rarely heard the
- > names of the men
- > (Jewish) who held the highest positions and called
- > the shots in these
- > organizations.
- > Names such as, -Arthur & Noel Spingarn, Henry
- > Moskowitz and Kivie Kaplan
- > - NAACP Founders & Presidents.
- >
- > the NAACP, was conceived at the estate of Joel
- > Spingarn who became its
- > Board Chairman in 1915. He served in this position
- > until 1929 when he
- > became, the president, until 1939. He was succeeded
- > by his brother
- > Arthur until 1966, when another Jew, Kivie Kaplan,
- > took over. By 1968,
- > leadership of Kaplan and other Jews in the civil
- > rights movement was
- > coming under increasingly sharp attack. Activists
- > called for his
- > resignation; Kaplan refused. Only with Kaplan's
- > death in 1975 did the
- > NAACP get a black president when Benjamin Hooks took
- > the position.
- > King's adviser, Stanley Levinson is said to have
- > written many of King's
- > speeches, including the, I Have A Dream speech.
- > The demand for cash and the Jews dominance of these
- > organization forced
- > it's black leaders to sign annually, a declaration
- > called, "Black
- > Americans in Support of Israel". If unwilling to
- > sign, they had little
- > chance of being in a leading position in either
- > organization.
- > This sounds like dictation to me.
- >
- > The National Urban League, was greatly funded by the
- > Sears-Roebuck
- > millionaire, Julius Rosenwald. Edwin Seligman, was
- > the first chairman of
- > the organization. Its first Executive Board included
- > Abraham Lefkowitz
- > and Felix Adler, and Seligman's brother and
- > sister-in-law, George and

- > Ella Sachs Plotz. In 1932, six Jews "served as
- > officials" at the Urban
- > League's Chicago branch.
- > By the mid-1960s, Jewish contributions made up
- > three-quarters of the
- > money raised by SNCC [Student Nonviolent
- > Coordinating Committee], CORE,
- > and SCLC.
- >
- > It is said that even though W. E. Du Bois, received
- > a full salary from
- > the Association for his services, he frequently was
- > obliged to solicit
- > personal loans from Spingarn.
- > Marcus Garvey stormed out of the NAACP's
- > headquarters in 1917, after
- > discovering the organization's domination by whites.
- > These included
- > Board Chairman Joel Spingarn, his brother Arthur who
- > was pro bono
- > counsel, Herbert Lehman of the Executive Committee,
- > Arthur Sachs,
- > Herbert Seligmann - director of public relations,
- > and his secretary
- > Martha Gruening.
- >
- > To say that blacks have never been dictated to by
- > whites is absolutely
- > absurd.
- > Since slavery when a white commanded a black to pick
- > up a whip and bare
- > open the flesh on his brother's back, that black
- > complied. Sometimes
- > eagerly.
- > Today, when a DA commands a black prosecutor to
- > prosecute a black to the
- > full extent of a drug racist law, that black eagerly
- > complies.
- >
- > The Tuskegee experiment would not have been possible
- > without the
- > compliance and full cooperation of the institute
- > itself, and the many
- > black doctors, nurses, and many associated black
- > institutes who followed
- > the DICTATIONS from their white masters.

> As Clyde correctly points out, these "professionals"
> saw opportunity > whites were giving them and took it. Still, they > were being dictated to
> and they allowed it without reprise.
> Although Eunice Rivers is shown as the central
> figure, she was dictated
> to by the many black doctors, who themselves were > dictated to by their > whites superiors.
> No one talks about this aspect of the experiment,
> preferring instead to > blame it all on whites. Fact is, blacks cooperated > fully and this is why
> the experiment happened and was able to proceed on > course as planned.
> Because blacks allowed themselves to be dictated to,
> self justified in > the name of, professional and financial opportunity.
>
> Today, we have the same example at Howard University
> who currently is > assisting the Department Of Defense in their > development of ethnic > biological weapons targeting people of color. The > good black doctors of > Howard U, actively wrote and won a proposal to gain
> the award. This is > willing dictation, or as Clyde states in more > palatable terms, taking > advantage of an opportunity when the white man gives > you something.
>
> Meninarmer
>
>
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net>
> Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National > Geographic
> Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 21:50:09 -0800
> Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138
>

> Greetings Meninarmer,
>
> > From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted > extensive research on Dr.
> King in various archives (including the FBI > headquarters) concerning the > evolution of his political ideas and agenda.
>
> It is clear that Dr. King's political work and > philosophy has been > completely misrepresented by the media, biographers,
> historians, and the > general public. King's political goals evolved in > the '50s and '60s
> just like all the other progressive activists. The > vast majority of > people have not read *one* single speech or book by > King and thus they > repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted > popular version of King > created by mainstream America. Most people have no > idea that both J.
> Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan > (FBI asst. director) by
>

=== message truncated ===

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24763|2008-02-08 10:05:43|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Clyde

Please don't take offense that King had been manipulated by the Jewish element.

Like Malcohm, King EVOLVED his movement into something larger then where it began.

I am not alone in this views of events. Tony Martin does a very good job of laying out the facts in his book, Blacks and Jews.

I take no offense of your statement concerning me, reefer, and the brothers with dialog in the hood. If, as you state, you too are from the hood, no doubt you've burnt the finger tips while puffing on a roach while jamming to Kool And The Gang, or Earth, Wind, And Fire. However, that was long ago and my comments are hardly smoke induced, but rather well documented public record.

Our history is not so bland as to be easily separated into Black against white.

My premise is, blacks are more to fault to our own condition by not taking accountability for our part of our destruction. Manu, contends that these are "isolated" incidents. I do not.

The FBI employed black informants to willingly report on King and Malcom X. Blacks assisted in the Tuskegee experiment, and blacks assisted in today's 1 million black incarceration rate.

Should a prosecutor "do his job", support and implement racist drug laws? No, IMHO he should not. No more then a black soldier should assist in pulling the trigger on Africans the US sends him/her to eliminate to meet their objectives.

The drug laws are racist and assigns disproportional jail sentences to blacks. It is obviously meant to destroy the black community (and has) and those who justify their cooperation assist in it's destruction as surely as those who choose to sell Cocaine and Heroin to their own. The only difference I see between the two is, one is legit (recognized by whites), while the other is not. in the end, both assist the destruction.

Why is this relevant to this forum?

We see the same thing in Africa. Cooperation, and likely this is what became and lead to the demise of the Ancient Egyptian, and finally, the ancient Hebrew. They cooperated in their own destruction.

I am very pleased to hear of your success with your children.

Of the ~100 black kids I grew up with in the city, perhaps 25 of us are alive today. Statistically, I should have lost one of my three sons.

However, because I have taught them of the many tricks and traps, so far they all survived. None of them have positioned themselves where they need to compromise their integrity to accept a "loaded" opportunity from whites. They are all self reliant proprietors.

Over the years, I have mentored many young blacks in the city, and still continue to do so. With some I've had great success, with others I have failed. My mission is to make them accountable for their own actions and futures.

A few I would call, "slick", but most I would label as "conditioned" and "influenced". The same goes for the officers and jailers on the other side of the coin. The plantation structure was not so much different.

To believe that blacks are not dictated to is akin to believing black doctors are not subject to the AMA, lawyers to the bar association, or CEOs to the Board of Directors. Likewise, to believe a foundation or organization figurehead is not accountable to its board and sponsors is denial and nothing more.

As I stated, the major black radio and TV stations we view and listen to are run by whites. Radio-One, BET, Oprah, they all are.

Don't take my word for it, each of their S.E.C. reports are freely available for download and review. Why? Because whites have dictated that it be so.

meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 08:57:00 -0800 (PST)

Meninarmer

You have misrepresented my mention of the term "opportunity". I never said that a person should act as an uncle tom.

What I meant by opportunity was the ability to get help from whites to better your condition.

In your statement you imply that people should not perform their job. If you are a prosecutor, you prosecute. Are you claiming that a Black procecutor should allow a person who is a murderer to remain free to kill someone else?

Like you I felt the criminal justice system was anti-Afro-American. Then I went to work at Cook County Jail as a teacher. At County Jail, I saw many young drug dealers get a break.

They eventually went to Jail though, because by the time their court date came up (i.e., it takes a year or more before you get a trial date) some of the young men had been arrested one or two additional times so the judge had no choice but to send them to jail. You see, these young men got a chance but they felt they were slick and they suffered the consequences.

I raised five sons luckily none are in jail (thank God). From day one I taught my sons that I was not going to let them be slick. Like my Father, if you messed up you got punished. If I even thought you were trying to be slick your .....was mine.

In addition, I taught my sons , and told them that I loved them. If I was wrong I gave them an apology.

I taught them that if necessary you had the right to cry, and show affection to your brothers and me. And above all I taught them to have faith in a Supreme Being, because I might fail them but the Creator would not.

I am not with my sons or daughter every moment of the day, so I can not claim that one may not be serving (selling) drugs, but I have tried my best to raise my sons with the full knowledge that as a Black man they can go to jail --if they don't watch out.

If you want to blame someone for the large number of young men in jail, don't blame the criminal justice system blame the young men. You be slick-you get in trouble.

Secondly, you claim that the Jews ran the Civil Rights Movement. This is totally untrue, most Jews stopped supporting the Civil Rights Movement after 1967, because Black leaders gave support to the Palestinians. It was Afro-American support of the Palestinians that led many Jews to become Neo-Conservatives and supporters of the Republican Party.

You have a warped sense of history. Your comments betray your ignorance of the field of Afro-American history.

Your comments indicate a young man who learned history from talking to the brothers while passing around reefers or at the barber shop. Study. Learn your history then you might not hold good men and women in disrepute.

People like King and Malcolm died for what they believed in. You can not imagine how many Afro-Americans felt in the late 1960's. In 1968, many of us were ready to die fighting for our rights. Our struggle was so significant, that Ho chi minh of the Viet Cong modeled his Tet Offensive out our urban struggles (riots). If not for Pres. Johnson opening up the Universities, trade schools and government jobs to Afro-Americans, American cities would have burned and there would have been great loss of life.

You see few of us had more than a shot gun or a zip gun (home made gun of wood, long nail, a pipe and strong rubber bands) but we were ready to die. You can not imagine the satisfying feeling you can get from believing you will die fighting for a just cause. It was this desire to save our people that nurtured us as teenagers.

Granted people say look at the cities .See how they are worst off from the riots. Bull.

Due to the riots I went to University, housing opened up throughout the United States and there is a significant Afro-American Middle Class. Granted, the powers that be began to allow Indians/Pakistanis, Asians, Africans and etc., into the country to diminish our gains, but we still have progressed and other minority folk have prospered due to our struggles.

If you grew up in America you should know that Europeans give nothing away without fear of a struggle. They "gave" us government jobs, university grants and loans, etc., to keep us from f**king this country up. Even today, our anger lies below the surface--presently we exact our anger on each other--but I guarantee that if push come to shove it could be directed in another direction.

I know you will say,f*** a middle class. But it is your middle class status that allow you to sit at your computer and misrepresent the history of Afro-Americans, just so you can sit high and mighty and denigrate your ancestors who bodies you stepped on to get where you're at today.

Too many Afro-Americans died to get us where we are today to allow some "arm-chair revolutionary" like you to misrepresent our history to the world. You dare claim DuBois was controlled by whites, when even Diop acknowledges that it was DuBois who gave him the courage to write a true history of our people- Black/African people.

Yes you can get opportunities working with whites to better yourself, without being an uncle tom. People have free will, if they choose to hurt their fellow man its their own decision.

I love all mankind. But I love my people just a little bit more. Wearing braids, listening to rap music (or smooth Jazz)and smoking reefers does not make you a down brother. (In fact it is the desire of many brothers to be down and smoking reefers that are keeping them from getting a job in the first place.)

A real brother respects his people and himself, and has the compassion to feel for his people, warts and all, recognizing that we do what we must to survive. Granted Washington attacked, DuBois, and DuBois attacked Garvey. They had their disagreements but all three men fought to get Afro-Americans their rights.

I thank God, this time I came on this plane Afro-American. Being Afro allows me to be a part of a tradition of struggle.

A struggle by men and women who had nothing more than their pens or their voices to declare truth--and fight for our rights. A people who had members willing to suffer for the good of us all, may they be Black Power or Integrationist, they all wanted us to have better lives and I am sure my ancestors who died on the plantations, hung on trees, or just murdered for being Black are shouting in my ears and yours keep up the struggle Baby--the job ain't done.

Clyde

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

> Manu
>
> Thank you for the detailed surface level expose on
> King.
> Dr. King's (Michael King) legacy should be > celebrated, and also > critiqued constructively. It should not be falsified
> or stretched to > accommodate a different agenda today, but like many > things in America,
> it have been.
> The balancing act Dr. King's maintained with > Zionists was a unique and > particularly fragile political coalition. King had
> the voice, while > zionists had the money, and legal personel. Same > arrangement they held
> with Dr. W.E.B. DuBois to control the NAACP.
>
> The one main issue (and most important) you > neglected to mention are the
> groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr.
> King's organizations.
> The same groups that maintained positions as > President and filled seats
> on the board of directors of each group.
> In fact, from it's inception, up to 1970, every
> president of the NAACP
> was Jewish.
>
> Hasia Dinner wrote a PhD thesis about the way that
> "Jewish support for > black causes was a way for Jews to broaden their own
> rights without > becoming conspicuous by advocating their group > interests."
>
> The public heard the names of Dr. King, Roy Wilkins > (NAACP secretary),
> and A. Philip Randolph, but they rarely heard the > names of the men

- > (Jewish) who held the highest positions and called
- > the shots in these
- > organizations.
- > Names such as, -Arthur & Noel Spingarn, Henry
- > Moskowitz and Kivie Kaplan
- > - NAACP Founders & Presidents.
- >
- > the NAACP, was conceived at the estate of Joel
- > Spingarn who became its
- > Board Chairman in 1915. He served in this position
- > until 1929 when he
- > became, the president, until 1939. He was succeeded
- > by his brother
- > Arthur until 1966, when another Jew, Kivie Kaplan,
- > took over. By 1968,
- > leadership of Kaplan and other Jews in the civil
- > rights movement was
- > coming under increasingly sharp attack. Activists
- > called for his
- > resignation; Kaplan refused. Only with Kaplan's
- > death in 1975 did the
- > NAACP get a black president when Benjamin Hooks took
- > the position.
- > King's adviser, Stanley Levinson is said to have
- > written many of King's
- > speeches, including the, I Have A Dream speech.
- > The demand for cash and the Jews dominance of these
- > organization forced
- > it's black leaders to sign annually, a declaration
- > called, "Black
- > Americans in Support of Israel". If unwilling to
- > sign, they had little
- > chance of being in a leading position in either
- > organization.
- > This sounds like dictation to me.
- >
- > The National Urban League, was greatly funded by the
- > Sears-Roebuck
- > millionaire, Julius Rosenwald. Edwin Seligman, was
- > the first chairman of
- > the organization. Its first Executive Board included
- > Abraham Lefkowitz
- > and Felix Adler, and Seligman's brother and
- > sister-in-law, George and
- > Ella Sachs Plotz. In 1932, six Jews "served as
- > officials" at the Urban

- > League's Chicago branch.
- > By the mid-1960s, Jewish contributions made up
- > three-quarters of the
- > money raised by SNCC [Student Nonviolent
- > Coordinating Committee], CORE,
- > and SCLC.
- >
- > It is said that even though W. E. Du Bois, received
- > a full salary from
- > the Association for his services, he frequently was
- > obliged to solicit
- > personal loans from Spingarn.
- > Marcus Garvey stormed out of the NAACP's
- > headquarters in 1917, after
- > discovering the organization's domination by whites.
- > These included
- > Board Chairman Joel Spingarn, his brother Arthur who
- > was pro bono
- > counsel, Herbert Lehman of the Executive Committee,
- > Arthur Sachs,
- > Herbert Seligmann - director of public relations,
- > and his secretary
- > Martha Gruening.
- >
- > To say that blacks have never been dictated to by
- > whites is absolutely
- > absurd.
- > Since slavery when a white commanded a black to pick
- > up a whip and bare
- > open the flesh on his brother's back, that black
- > complied. Sometimes
- > eagerly.
- > Today, when a DA commands a black prosecutor to
- > prosecute a black to the
- > full extent of a drug racist law, that black eagerly
- > complies.
- >
- > The Tuskegee experiment would not have been possible
- > without the
- > compliance and full cooperation of the institute
- > itself, and the many
- > black doctors, nurses, and many associated black
- > institutes who followed
- > the DICTATIONS from their white masters.
- > As Clyde correctly points out, these "professionals"
- > saw opportunity

> whites were giving them and took it. Still, they > were being dictated to
> and they allowed it without reprise.
> Although Eunice Rivers is shown as the central
> figure, she was dictated
> to by the many black doctors, who themselves were > dictated to by their
> whites superiors.
> No one talks about this aspect of the experiment,
> preferring instead to > blame it all on whites. Fact is, blacks cooperated
> fully and this is why
> the experiment happened and was able to proceed on
> course as planned.
> Because blacks allowed themselves to be dictated to,
> self justified in
> the name of, professional and financial opportunity.
>
> Today, we have the same example at Howard University
> who currently is > assisting the Department Of Defense in their > development of ethnic > biological weapons targeting people of color. The > good black doctors of > Howard U, actively wrote and won a proposal to gain
> the award. This is > willing dictation, or as Clyde states in more > palatable terms, taking > advantage of an opportunity when the white man gives > you something.

>
> Meninarmer

>
>
>
>

> -----Original Message-----

> From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net>

> Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

> To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

> Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National > Geographic

> Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 21:50:09 -0800

> Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138

>

> Greetings Meninarmer,

>

> > From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted
> extensive research on Dr.
> King in various archives (including the FBI
> headquarters) concerning the > evolution of his political ideas and agenda.
>
> It is clear that Dr. King's political work and > philosophy has been > completely misrepresented by the media, biographers,
> historians, and the > general public. King's political goals evolved in
> the '50s and '60s
> just like all the other progressive activists. The > vast majority of > people have not read *one* single speech or book by > King and thus they > repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted
> popular version of King
> created by mainstream America. Most people have no > idea that both J.
> Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan > (FBI asst. director) by
>

==== message truncated ====

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24764|2008-02-08 10:38:06|clyde winters|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Meninarmer

Cudos to raising your sons. Its hard to be a Black man and to teach Black boys to be men is a great accomplishment.

Free will reigns supreme. A persons character can not be determined by his racial heritage or even his upbringing. You are who you are because you made the decision to be you. So people who mistreat their fellow man only hurt themselves.

Granted the media is controlled by Europeans. But that does not mean they dictate to us what we belief.
People have free Will.

Lets look at Rap. This medium was controlled by Blacks until, the Black owners of this genre let Europeans buy into their companies after Tupac and Biggie Smalls were murdered.

I loved the early new York style rap because of the messages of KRS-1 and etc. Today rap has changed and not for the better in my opinion. The rap has changed but it can not be blamed on Europeans--since Black music has always had some underpinnings of sex i.e., Let's Get it On, by Marvin Gay.

Clyde

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

> Clyde
>
> Please don't take offense that King had been > manipulated by the Jewish > element.
> Like Malcohm, King EVOLVED his movement into > something larger then where
> it began.
> I am not alone in this views of events. Tony Martin > does a very good job > of laying out the facts in his book, Blacks and > Jews.
>
> I take no offense of your statement concerning me,
> reefer, and the > brothers with dialog in the hood. If, as you state, > you too are from the > hood, no doubt you've burnt the finger tips while > puffing on a roach > while jamming to Kool And The Gang, or Earth, Wind,
> And Fire. However,
> that was long ago and my comments are hardly smoke > induced, but rather > well documented public record.
>
> Our history is not so bland as to be easily > separated into Black against
> white.
> My premise is, blacks are more to fault to our own > condition by not

- > taking accountability for our part of our
- > destruction. Manu, contends
- > that these are "isolated" incidents. I do not.
- > The FBI employed black informants to willingly
- > report on King and
- > Malcolm X. Blacks assisted in the Tuskegee
- > experiment, and blacks
- > assisted in today's 1 million black incarceration
- > rate.
- >
- > Should a prosecutor "do his job", support and
- > implement racist drug
- > laws? No, IMHO he should not. No more than a black
- > soldier should assist
- > in pulling the trigger on Africans the US sends
- > him/her to eliminate to
- > meet their objectives.
- > The drug laws are racist and assigns disproportional
- > jail sentences to
- > blacks. It is obviously meant to destroy the black
- > community (and has)
- > and those who justify their cooperation assist in
- > it's destruction as
- > surely as those who choose to sell Cocaine and
- > Heroin to their own. The
- > only difference I see between the two is, one is
- > legit (recognized by
- > whites), while the other is not. in the end, both
- > assist the
- > destruction.
- >
- > Why is this relevant to this forum?
- > We see the same thing in Africa. Cooperation, and
- > likely this is what
- > became and lead to the demise of the Ancient
- > Egyptian, and finally, the
- > ancient Hebrew. They cooperated in their own
- > destruction.
- >
- > I am very pleased to hear of your success with your
- > children.
- > Of the ~100 black kids I grew up with in the city,
- > perhaps 25 of us are
- > alive today. Statistically, I should have lost one
- > of my three sons.
- > However, because I have taught them of the many > tricks and traps, so far > they all survived. None of them have positioned > themselves where they > need to compromise their integrity to accept a

> "loaded" opportunity from > whites. They are all self reliant proprietors.
> Over the years,I have mentored many young blacks in > the city, and still > continue to do so. With some I've had great success, > with others I have > failed. My mission is to make them accountable for > their own actions and > futures.
> A few I would call, "slick", but most I would label
> as "conditioned" and
> "influenced". The same goes for the officers and > jailers on the other > side of the coin. The plantation structure was not > so much different.
>
> To believe that blacks are not dictated to is akin > to believing black > doctors are not subject to the AMA, lawyers to the > bar association, or > CEOs to the Board of Directors. Likewise, to believe > a foundation or > organization figurehead is not accountable to it's > board and sponsors is > denial and nothing more.
> As I stated, the major black radio and TV stations
> we view and listen to > are run by whites. Radio-One, BET, Oprah, they all
> are.
> Don't take my word for it, each of their S.E.C.
> reports are freely > available for download and review. Why? Because > whites have dictated > that it be so.
>
> meninarmer
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> -----Original Message-----
> From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>
> Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National > Geographic
> Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 08:57:00 -0800 (PST)
>
> Meninarmer
>
> You have misrepresented my mention of the term
> "opportunity". I never said that a person should act
> as an uncle tom.
>
> What I meant by opportunity was the ability to get > help from whites to better your condition.
>
> In your statement you imply that people should not > perform their job. If you are a prosecutor, you > prosecute. Are you claiming that a Black procecutor > should allow a person who is a murderer to remain
> free
> to kill someone else?
>
> Like you I felt the criminal justice system was > anti-Afro-American. Then I went to work at Cook > County
> Jail as a teacher. At County Jail, I saw many young > drug dealers get a break.
>
> They eventually went to Jail though, because by the > time their court date came up (i.e., it takes a year > or more before you get a trail date) some of the > young > men had been arrested one or two additional times so > the judge had no choice but to send them to jail. You > see, these young men got a chance but they felt they > were slick and they suffered the consequences.
>
> I raised five sons luckly none are in jail (thank > God). From day one I taught my sons that I was not > going to let them be slick. Like my Father, if you > messed up you got punished. If I even thought you > were > trying to be slick your .....was mine.
>

> In addition, I taught my sons , and told them that I > loved them. If I was wrong I gave them an apology.
>
> I taught them that if necessary you had the right to > cry, and show affection to your brothers and me. And > above all I taught them to have faith in a Supreme > Being, because I might fail them but the Creator > would
> not.
>
> I am not with my sons or daughter every moment of
> the > day, so I can not claim that one may not be serving > (selling) drugs, but I have tried my best to raise
> my > sons with the full knowledge that as a Black man
> they > can go to jail --if they don't watch out.
>
> If you want to blame someone for the large number of > young men in jail, don't blame the criminal justice > system blame the young men. You be slick-you get in > trouble.
>
> Secondly, you claim that the Jews ran the Civil > Rights
> Movement. This is totally untrue, most Jews stopped > supporting the Civil Rights Movement after 1967,
> because Black leaders gave support to the > Palestinians. It was Afro-American support of the > Palestinians that led many Jews to become > Neo-Conservatives and supporters of the Republican > Party.
>

=== message truncated ===

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24765|2008-02-08 11:22:55|kungfuhustle|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Clyde

Thanks, you are right about rearing young black men. This should be our number 1 job. We all need our young intelligent black men to be responsible. Perhaps, one day our sons will meet and make a difference.

In my youth, I played with many local New York/Baltimore bands. Perhaps you may recognize some of them. They became, Black Ivory, Cameo, Brass Construction, Pockets, and finally my last band played backup for Kurtis Blow. That's us on, The Breaks.

My brother's band, The Junction used to open for The Jackson-5, and Sly And The Family Stone. He was signed with Motown during the time the Jewish mob forced Gordy to sell. Gordy was pretty smart about setting up another entity and transferring a number of old hit songs to it. The Jews ended up buying Motown, but without many of the old hits from Stevie Wonder, the Temptations, ect.

Jews took control and changed the format of rap. The rap of Afrika Bambaataa era was the real deal.

This is also who purchased B.E.T.

There are many black rap labels, producers, and directors. Ultimately, they all have to go to the Jews for something.

People do have free will. Unfortunately, too often, that will can be purchased. To justify actions, this is where the hip-hop phrases, "Get Paid" and "Hater" began.

Stay strong

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 10:38:04 -0800 (PST)

Meninarmer

Cudos to raising your sons. Its hard to be a Black man and to teach Black boys to be men is a great accomplishment.

Free will reigns supreme. A persons character can not be determined by his racial heritage or even his upbringing. You are who you are because you made the decision to be you. So people who mistreat their fellow man only hurt themselves.

Granted the media is controlled by Europeans. But that does not mean they dictate to us what we believe. People have free Will.

Lets look at Rap. This medium was controlled by Blacks until, the Black owners of this genre let Europeans buy into their companies after Tupac and Biggie Smalls were murdered.

I loved the early new York style rap because of the messages of KRS-1 and etc. Today rap has changed and not for the better in my opinion. The rap has changed but it can not be blamed on Europeans--since Black music has always had some underpinnings of sex i.e., Let's Get it On, by Marvin Gay.

Clyde

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

> Clyde
>
> Please don't take offense that King had been > manipulated by the Jewish > element.
> Like Malcom, King EVOLVED his movement into > something larger than where
> it began.
> I am not alone in this view of events. Tony Martin
> does a very good job > of laying out the facts in his book, Blacks and > Jews.
>
> I take no offense of your statement concerning me,
> reefer, and the > brothers with dialog in the hood. If, as you state,
> you too are from the > hood, no doubt you've burnt the finger tips while > puffing on a roach
> while jamming to Kool And The Gang, or Earth, Wind,
> And Fire. However,
> that was long ago and my comments are hardly smoke
> induced, but rather

> well documented public record.
>
> Our history is not so bland as to be easily > separated into Black against
> white.
> My premise is, blacks are more to fault to our own > condition by not > taking accountability for our part of our > destruction. Manu, contends > that these are "isolated" incidents. I do not.
> The FBI employed black informants to willingly
> report on King and > Malcolm X. Blacks assisted in the Tuskegee > experiment, and blacks > assisted in today's 1 million black incarceration > rate.
>
> Should a prosecutor "do his job", support and > implement racist drug > laws? No, IMHO he should not. No more than a black > soldier should assist > in pulling the trigger on Africans the US sends > him/her to eliminate to > meet their objectives.
> The drug laws are racist and assigns disproportional
> jail sentences to > blacks. It is obviously meant to destroy the black > community (and has)
> and those who justify their cooperation assist in
> it's destruction as > surely as those who choose to sell Cocaine and > Heroin to their own. The > only difference I see between the two is, one is > legit (recognized by > whites), while the other is not. in the end, both > assist the > destruction.
>
> Why is this relevant to this forum?
> We see the same thing in Africa. Cooperation, and > likely this is what > became and lead to the demise of the Ancient > Egyptian, and finally, the > ancient Hebrew. They cooperated in their own > destruction.
>

> I am very pleased to hear of your success with your
> children.
> Of the ~100 black kids I grew up with in the city,
> perhaps 25 of us are > alive today. Statistically, I should have lost one > of my three sons.
> However, because I have taught them of the many > tricks and traps, so far > they all survived. None of them have positioned > themselves where they > need to compromise their integrity to accept a
> "loaded" opportunity from > whites. They are all self reliant proprietors.
> Over the years,I have mentored many young blacks in > the city, and still > continue to do so. With some I've had great success, > with others I have > failed. My mission is to make them accountable for > their own actions and > futures.
> A few I would call, "slick", but most I would label
> as "conditioned" and
> "influenced". The same goes for the officers and > jailers on the other > side of the coin. The plantation structure was not > so much different.
>
> To believe that blacks are not dictated to is akin
> to believing black > doctors are not subject to the AMA, lawyers to the > bar association, or > CEOs to the Board of Directors. Likewise, to believe > a foundation or > organization figurehead is not accountable to it's > board and sponsors is > denial and nothing more.
> As I stated, the major black radio and TV stations
> we view and listen to > are run by whites. Radio-One, BET, Oprah, they all
> are.
> Don't take my word for it, each of their S.E.C.
> reports are freely > available for download and review. Why? Because > whites have dictated
> that it be so.
>

> meninarmer

>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> -----Original Message-----

> From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

> Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

> To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

> Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National > Geographic

> Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 08:57:00 -0800 (PST)

>
> Meninarmer

>
> You have misrepresented my mention of the term
> "opportunity". I never said that a person should act
> as an uncle tom.

>
> What I meant by opportunity was the ability to get > help from whites to better your condition.

>
> In your statement you imply that people should not > perform their job. If you are a prosecutor, you > prosecute. Are you claiming that a Black procecutor > should allow a person who is a murderer to remain
> free
> to kill someone else?

>
> Like you I felt the criminal justice system was > anti-Afro-American. Then I went to work at Cook > County
> Jail as a teacher. At County Jail, I saw many young > drug dealers get a break.

>
> They eventually went to Jail though, because by the > time their court date came up (i.e., it takes a year > or more before you get a trail date) some of the > young
> men had been arrested one or two additional times so > the judge had no choice but to send them to jail. You > see, these young men got a chance but they felt they > were slick and they suffered the consequences.

>

> I raised five sons luckily none are in jail (thank > God). From day one I taught my sons that I was not > going to let them be slick. Like my Father, if you > messed up you got punished. If I even thought you > were > trying to be slick your .....was mine.
>
> In addition, I taught my sons , and told them that I > loved them. If I was wrong I gave them an apology.
>
> I taught them that if necessary you had the right to > cry, and show affection to your brothers and me. And > above all I taught them to have faith in a Supreme > Being, because I might fail them but the Creator > would
> not.
>
> I am not with my sons or daughter every moment of
> the
> day, so I can not claim that one may not be serving > (selling) drugs, but I have tried my best to raise
> my > sons with the full knowledge that as a Black man
> they > can go to jail --if they don't watch out.
>
> If you want to blame someone for the large number of > young men in jail, don't blame the criminal justice > system blame the young men. You be slick-you get in > trouble.
>
> Secondly, you claim that the Jews ran the Civil > Rights
> Movement. This is totally untrue, most Jews stopped > supporting the Civil Rights Movement after 1967,
> because Black leaders gave support to the > Palestinians. It was Afro-American support of the > Palestinians that led many Jews to become > Neo-Conservatives and supporters of the Republican > Party.
>

=== message truncated ===

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

| 24766|2008-02-08 15:35:56|Manu Ampim|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|

Merimer wrote:

"My premise is, blacks are more to fault to our own condition by not taking accountability for our part of our destruction. Manu, contends that these are 'isolated' incidents. I do not."

This is a ridiculous distortion of what I said. I stated that "themajority of Black peoplenever allowed white people to dictate their future." This have been the case since the English settlers and enslavers arrived in 1607. All of our movements have been in the face of great opposition to the white power structure, and we had to fight, struggle, shed blood, and die for everything that we now have in this country, and for you to disrespect this tradition with false ideasis absurd. Let's look at one of your isolated examples. You must not know that the Tuskegee SyphilisExperiment was a 40-year (1932-1972)*secret* and the African American public was not aware of it until 1972, so yourexample of Tuskegee as "proof" of Black people being dictated to by whites shows that you are more focused on presenting an *ideology* and rhetoric than the actual *evidence*. You claim that your comments are part of the "well documented public record," yet you have not even read James Jones' _Bad Blood_ which is the first definitive book onthis experiment. If you had read this public document you would know that most Black people knew nothing about this criminal experiment and were shocked when they found out about this story in 1972. Anybody can read the book's "Epilogue"and the public's reaction to see that your Tuskegee example shows gross ignorance of this case.

Everybody in the country who has read my book, Towards Black Community Development: Moving Beyond the Limitations of the Lecture Model (1993), knows that this is a pioneering work that challenged us to solve our problems by creating an accountability system and instituting what I call the Workshop Model to correct our internal contradictions. Thus, your above comment shows that you are grossly uninformed in misrepresenting my position.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

| 24767|2008-02-08 19:09:27|m_ampim|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to

Manu|

Greetings,

You falsely stated, "One thing academicians always fail to realize is that *any* movement starts with the arts first" (emphasis added).

At 28 years old you have much to learn. I will give you the advice that one of my grad professors aggressively told me when I was in my 20s and I stated that I disagreed with his comments in class. He said, "Young man, don't you ever disagree with something until you have done your homework." Young brother, you can either learn as I did or you can take an arrogant position and continue to make false and illogical statements.

You stated:

"There has NOT been any African centered documentaries done aesthetically and as comprehensive on this level: PERIOD!"

This is another false statement. The independent film "500 Years Later" (2005) is a recent powerful African centered documentary that is aesthetic, professional, comprehensive, filmed in 20 countries and 5 continents, and has received international attention and awards. It is used as a teaching tool and discussion piece in countries around the world, and for you to dismiss this great work is absurd and shows either gross ignorance or extreme arrogance. If you are serious about your project, then you can learn much from this excellent film project.
<http://www.500yearslater.com/>

I stated:

> This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.<

You replied:

>This I have to disagree with this again. The book Culture and

African American Politics by Charles P. Henry is dedicated to disproving that whole statement. Movements start in the heart of the people. This is expressed through their culture. Culture is simply the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative capacities of a given population. We know this academic definition as ART.>

You are presenting nothing but rhetoric and smoke and mirrors. A tiny 140 page book can hardly deal with the origins of all of the movements I mentioned. Since you boldly claim that the book disproves my statement, then I challenge you to give any specific *first-hand evidence* presented in the book that documents the Garvey Movement and the anti-lynching movement championed by the NAACP, Tuskegee Institute, and the great Ida B. Wells began "with the arts first." Why do you waste your time and give examples of the Harlem Renaissance and the Negritude Movement when I did not mention either of these movements? Apparently, you must falsely believe that because you heard about one or two movements then all of them must be the same.

Unfortunately, your arguments and logic are contradictory and fall under the category of fallacious reasoning. For example, you first say that all movements start with the arts, and when I challenged this false statement you then illogically shift to say that "The Black Arts movement runs parallel to the Civil Rights movement. The African Centered movement runs parallel with the Hip Hop movement." Also, "Africa's struggles have always been tied to the expressive arts." "Starting" versus "tied to" or "running parallel" are two different issues and it is fallacious reasoning 101 to say otherwise. You have created an imaginary strawman position that has nothing to do with what I stated. First, you falsely claimed that "any" movement starts with the arts, and I mentioned movements that clearly did not start with art as the catalyst. Then you created a different argument about "running parallel" and "tied to," and even mentioned movements that were not included in my statement.

If you knew anything about the '50s-'70s then you would know that the Civil Rights Movement began in the mid 1950s and had already declined and faded before the Black Arts Movement (BAM) emerged in the late 1960s. The BAM was a cultural expression that later grew out of the Black Power Movement in the 60s. Also, if you learned to humble yourself and talked to any of the elders involved in the origins of the African Centered Movement in 1984 and also read my book on this subject, then you would know that this movement did not start with "art." Of course, art is *associated* with socio-political movements, but when you make an absurd sweeping statement that "all" movements begin "with arts first" then it is clear that the little information that you have is unorganized and causes you to make false generalizations.

Let me help you out. If you simply state that art is often a critical component of various movements, then informed people and scholars would take your comment serious because it would be accurate. Your problem, however, is that you make statements like "always," "any," "all" or "there has NOT been" when you have not done your homework and don't know what you are talking about. I learned decades ago that it is better to be silent than to make wild statements.

If you want to advance your project and truly be of use to our people, then you should heed the advice of the moral teacher from Kemet, Ankhsheshonqi when he says, "Examine every matter that you may understand it. Do not say I am learned but rather set yourself to become wise, be gentle and patient and your character will be beautiful. It is in the development of character that instruction succeeds."

I will not spend any more of my time on this matter because I have given you enough sound advice. Young brother, the rest is up to you!

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

-----

Peace

I see that the topic has gotten off course and I apologize to the group for shifting it in that direction. Now I will address directly the statements in the previous reply.

As to this quote:

> You assume that film makers and activists have not done what you are talking about. You should check out Dr. Ben's powerful CD-Rom from about 15 years. Also, I have met numerous people who have the social and historical awareness that you mention and they have high quality equipment that has allowed them to influence numerous people, so your ideas are not new.

>

This is exactly why in my post I said the following:

>

> The majority of the people on this list (probably) came into > "consciousness" (if a child of the 80's and 90's) through groups

like

> Africa Baambada, KRS-1, Rakim, Rass Kass, Killah Priest, Wu-Tang, > Brand Nubian, Queen Latifah, the Jungle Brothers and more. They got > deeper into their consciousness by watching video lectures by Dr.

Ben,

> Ashra Kwesi, Marimba Ani, Ivan Van Sertima, Ronoko Rashidi, Naim > Akbar, Asa Hilliard and John G. Jackson. All of them used film and > music to bring people into the fold.
>

> What I am talking about is taking what we've already been doing, and the only methods proven to work outside of academia, and take it to the next level and do what they couldn't do.

I clearly state that this has already been done and it is nothing new, but am advocating taking that process of film (and any other art medium) and enhance what they did but more so on the level of The Secret and What the Bleep Do We Know. There has NOT been any African centered documentaries done aesthetically and as comprehensive on this level: PERIOD!

When I speak about movements starting with the artists, this is what I mean:

"In 1926 the Krigwa Players of Harlem declared that plays about Negro life "must be written by Negro authors who understand from birth and continual association just what it means to be a Negro today." Years later, protesting against the distorted interpretations of Negro life by white playwrights, Langston Hughes declared that someday someone would write honestly about Negroes, and he predicted: "It'll be me myself!" Over the years many writers, white as well as black, have reached the conclusion that Negroes themselves will give us the true picture of the Negro reality. "No white man, "an English critic stated recently, "however brave and well ?intentioned, can ever sing the Negro song." (Abramson: vii)

Is this not, in essence, Afrocentricity before Afrocentricity and the African-Centered movement? This is during the Harlem Renaissance in the 1920's. Although everyone didn't necessarily identify with "Africa," they clearly were "Black" centered and this drive was started by artists way before the 1970's and 80's.

As Diop (Van Sertima: 263) is quoted saying,

"The cultural personality of Africa is inseparable from the restoration of our collective historical consciousness?.After all, what is our objective if it is not that of recovering and promoting the creativity of our peoples? Man's mission is creation. African renaissance, black renaissance, is inseparable from the restoration of the black world creativity."

When Diop speaks about what fueled the movement in France, he clearly speaks of an artistic movement that rallied the intellectuals and political activists to action. When we talk about the start of the Negritude movement, Diop (Van Sertima: 266) states,

"[Aime] Césaire was practically the only one to have played a decisive and personal role in the mobilization of the black students who were in France during the colonial period. He summoned us up to our feet in the struggle against the colonial oppressors."

This flies in the face of the comment that one person (or film) would not have a significant impact. We know that Césaire was a poet and was known of his fiery poetry and literature that inspired a movement in France (which eventually spread throughout Africa - although with much deserved criticism). When we talk about mass movements, we are talking about a philosophy in which the general masses, outside of academia can follow. This is why the arts are so important to any "movement." So much so that Diop (Van Sertima: 263) mentions in regard to the disconnect between the masses and academia:

"At the time there were other black intellectuals in Paris who were defending the colonial status quo with philosophical arguments. Their writings were indigestible to the mass of black students in Paris at the time."

This is because the message wasn't put in a matter that resonated with the public. The public could care less about conceptual frameworks, epistemology, and ontology. Africa's struggles have always been tied to the expressive arts. And because Césaire's message was tied into a medium in which so many African people can connect with (art), he was very effective in mobilizing and affecting social consciousness. The same can be said of Civil Rights movement whose rally cries were that of the songs during the marches and in the churches (art).

You stated:

>

> This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.

>

This I have to disagree with this again. The book Culture and African American Politics by Charles P. Henry is dedicated to disproving that whole statement. Movements start in the heart of the people. This is expressed through their culture. Culture is simply the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative capacities of a given population. We know this academic definition as ART.

The first spark of collective resistance and solidarity for slaves were through the Negro spirituals (music). This later was transferred into the blues (music). The message was further expanded during the Harlem Renaissance (various arts). The Black Arts movement runs parallel to the Civil Rights movement. The African Centered movement runs parallel with the Hip Hop movement. You can't name a movement in African-American history that does not correspond with an artistic movement.

Currently I am shooting a documentary film titled Poet-Trees & Grass-Roots: The unSpoken Word in Poetry, and when I interviewed Dr. Patrica Reed-Smith (Theatre), Dr Amiri Baraka (literature), The Last Poets (spoken word poetry), they all mentioned that during the civil rights era and the black power period, that what got the masses motivated in their neighborhoods was the arts. It was the arts, just like in the case with Aime Cesaire in France, that got people to action.

I speak about issues like this frequently at universities because this method of teaching is the heart of African culture. We teach through arts and anyone attempting to teach African history, without at some point invoking this aspect African epistemology, does not believe in African culture and that its methods is of any value for us. You can't name (outside of Diop) any major intellectual that did not have an artistic side. Whether it is Asante, Karenga, Dr. Ben, Marcus Garvey, Clarke, or Cesaire.

A matter of fact, most people don't know this, but Dr. Ben used to be a comedian and was in a band who used to play at the Apollo theater in Harlem. Can anyone guess who his band mates were? Maya Angelou and Babatunde Olatunji. Although he was an academician, he connected to the people through the arts and this is before the Civil Rights movement.

All I am saying is this, the old ways of trying to disseminate information about our historical legacy is outdated. The method I propose is the same method the ancient Nile Valley peoples did with the open Asarian drama plays in Ta-Meri. They used art to teach. The Dogon still uses this method to teach science. The game has changed now. We have a medium our ancestors did not have to convey their cultural and historical world view and that is through film. What you can do with a JVC HD Pro Camcorder, Adobe Premiere and Adobe After Effects can tell our story in a whole new light and can be used as a tool to bring the "masses" to the books written about our story. I know this works because it worked for the Matrix, 300, What the Bleep Do We Know, and The Secret. Each one of these works brought more attention to European history and philosophy than any collection of books written or message board discussions.

Here are some ways "white people" are getting their point across:

Zeitgeist

<http://zeitgeistmovie.com/>

The Corporation

<http://www.thecorporation.com/>

Beyond - The Animatrix

What the bleep do we know

<http://www.whatthebleep.com/>

The Secret

<http://www.thesecret.tv>

Each one of these "films" has study groups across the country and study guides and material to go along with the films. When we talk about "reintroducing" African civilization to the masses, we have to come just like they are coming. It is a movement, not just a set of films. I will address your other statements in another email.

References:

Abramson, Doris E. (1969). Negro Playwrights in the American Theatre, 1925-1959. Columbia University Press. New York and London

Henry, Charles P. (1990). Culture and African American Politics. Indiana University Press. Bloomington and Indianapolis

Van Sertima, Ivan. (1992). Great African Thinkers, Vol.1: Cheikh Anta Diop. Journal of African Civilizations.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24768|2008-02-08 21:59:07|KAMAU|Journal of Black StudiesOnline--FREE ACCESS UNTIL FEB 29TH|

I stumbled upon this & I am getting some good stuff.

For researchers, readers of Pro-Black & Afrikan Centered Thought and others, Sage Pub--the publishers of The Journal of Black Studies is offering FREE access to their entire journal database UNTIL THE END OF FEBRUARY!!!!

go to

<http://online.sagepub.com/cgi/freetrial>

and click on the SOCIOLOGY FREE ONLINE TRIAL link

There are articles on Garvey, marxism as it pertains to Pan Africanism, the Panthers, Black Self-Identity...Molefi even did a piece on obama...heck they did an entire journal to the obama phenomena. I am sure whatever you are researching, there should be something there. As with anything, all the articles are not Afrikan Centered, & there are probably other issues, but THERE ARE SOME GEMS. (gibreel kamara's piece on Traditional African Spirituality is MAGNIFICENT!!!, for example)

Sage Pub are also giving free access to their other journals as well, but Journal of Black Studies is the only one I know about.

go to

<http://online.sagepub.com/cgi/freetrial>

and click on the SOCIOLOGY FREE ONLINE TRIAL link

Just create a username & password and in about 5-7 minutes, bam that's it.
It ends Feb. 29th

Passing on the info,

Kamau Makesi-Tehuti

| 24769|2008-02-09 12:24:18|Djehuti Sundaka|The Democrats' Class War|

The Democrats' Class War

<http://www.creators.com/opinion/david-sirota/the-democrats-class-war.html>

By David Sirota

Creators Syndicate

Thursday 07 February 2008

For all the hype about generational and gender wars in the 2008 Democratic presidential primary, we have a class war on our hands. And incredibly, corporate America's preferred candidate is winning the poorer "us" versus the wealthier "them" - a potentially decisive trend with the contest now moving to working-class bastions like Ohio and Pennsylvania.

In most states, polls show Hillary Clinton is beating Barack Obama among voters making $50,000 a year or less - many of whom say the economy is their top concern. Yes, the New York senator who appeared on the cover of Fortune magazine as Big Business's candidate is winning economically insecure, lower-income communities over the Illinois senator who grew up as an organizer helping those communities combat unemployment. This absurd phenomenon is a product of both message and bias.

Obama has let Clinton characterize the 1990s as a nirvana, rather than a time that sowed the seeds of our current troubles. He barely criticizes the Clinton administration for championing job-killing trade agreements. He does not question that same administration's role in deregulating the financial industry and thereby intensifying today's boom-bust catastrophes. And he rarely points out what McClatchy Newspapers reported this week: that Clinton spent most of her career at a law firm "where she represented big companies and served on corporate boards," including Wal-Mart's.

Obama hasn't touched any of this for two reasons.

First, his campaign relies on corporate donations. Though Obama certainly is less industry-owned than Clinton, the Washington Post noted last spring that he was the top recipient of Wall Street contributions. That cash is hush money, contingent on candidates silencing their populist rhetoric.

But while this pressure to keep quiet affects all politicians, it is especially intense against black leaders.

"If Obama started talking like John Edwards and tapped into working-class, blue-collar proletarian rage, suddenly all of those white voters who are viewing him within the lens of transcendence would start seeing him differently," says Charles Ellison of the University of Denver's Center for African American Policy.

That's because once Obama parroted Edwards' attacks on greed and inequality, he would "be stigmatized as a candidate mobilizing race," says Manning Marable, a Columbia University history professor.

That is, the media would immediately portray him as another Jesse Jackson - a figure whose progressivism has been (unfairly) depicted as racial politics anathema to white swing voters.

Remember, this is always how power-challenging African-Americans are marginalized. The establishment cites a black leader's race- and class-unifying populism as supposed proof of his or her radical, race-centric views. An extreme example of this came from the FBI, which labeled Martin Luther King Jr. "the most dangerous man in America" for talking about poverty. More typical is the attitude exemplified by Joe Klein's 2006 Time magazine column. He called progressive Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., "an African American of a certain age and ideology, easily stereotyped" and "one of the ancient band of left-liberals who grew up in the angry hothouse of inner-city, racial-preference politics."

The Clintons are only too happy to navigate this ugly cultural topography. After a rare Obama attack on Hillary Clinton for supporting policies that eliminated jobs, Bill Clinton quickly likened Obama's campaign to Jackson's, and the Clinton campaign told the Associated Press Obama was "the black candidate." These were deliberate statements telling Obama that if he talks about class, they'll talk about race.

And so, as Marable says, Obama's pitch includes "no mention of the class struggle or class conflict." It is "hope" instead of an economic case, bromide instead of critique. The result is an oxymoronic dynamic.

Obama, the person who fought blue-collar joblessness in the shadows of shuttered factories, is winning wealthy enclaves. But Clinton, the person whose globalization policies helped shutter those factories, is winning blue-collar strongholds.

Obama, who was schooled by the same organizing networks as Cesar Chavez, is being endorsed by hedge fund managers. But Clinton, business's favorite, is being endorsed by the United Farm Workers - the union that Chavez created.

Obama, the candidate from Chicago's impoverished South Side, is finding support on Connecticut's gilded south coast. But Hillary Clinton, the candidate representing Big Money, is finding support from those with relatively little money.

As the campaign heads to the struggling Rust Belt under banners promising "change," this bizarre class war may end up guaranteeing no real transformation at all.

---

David Sirota is a bestselling author whose newest book, "The Uprising," will be released in June of 2008. He is a fellow at the Campaign for America's Future and a board member of the Progressive States Network - both nonpartisan organizations. His blog is at www.credoaction.com/sirota.

-----

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!
| 24770|2008-02-10 19:02:56|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

thanx great info!!!

Men Sa Hai Neru wrote:

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)
From: Men Sa Hai Neru
To: soverykerrie tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite as Clinton and the rest.

Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor

Austan Goolsbee(Skull&Bones-1991)-Economic Advisor

David Cutler- Economic Adviser

Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser

Here's what these guys stand for: <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24771|2008-02-10 19:03:01|Tafari khumbaka|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic
Natufian/Palestinian was Black| white africans,,,,lol

Paul Kekai Manansala wrote:

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:
>
> great stuff, afroasiatic is a term thats very illusive, since no
asians are in asiaminor
> perhaps african language is a proper term

>
>

I think "asiatic" here is a geographical reference.

Even if they named it "African," they could and many possibly would insist that the language has genesis in "white Africans."

The whole "Nostratic" theory is based on the idea of a "Caucasoid" superlanguage family that according to some proponents includes Afro-Asiatic as one of its branches.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24772|2008-02-10 19:04:34|Tafari khumbaka|its new yrs day!!!! feb7 2008| today is chinese new yr!!!!!! 🐼 🐼

<http://astrology.yahoo.com/chinese>

<http://www.chineseastrology.com/wu/index1.php>

click above sites for good real astrology

🐼 tafari-sudra

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24773|2008-02-10 19:04:45|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Parallel Mutation as an Explanation for African influence on Ind|

i dont feel smart at all, after scanning thru that 🐼, scientific bio-chemical talk is way above my head, so i skipped to the conclusion,,,,,sounds good to me 🐼

clyde winters wrote:

Hi

There is considerable evidence that the Dravidians originated in Africa and that they carried the M haplogroup to Indian given the large number of M1

mutations in Indian M haplogroups. Researchers claim that these mutations are the result of a parallel mutation.

In the paper below I explain how this theory can not account for the African M1 mutations found within and among Indian M haplogroups.

Winters C. Can parallel mutation and neutral genome selection explain Eastern African M1 consensus HVS-I motifs in Indian M haplogroups. Indian J Hum Genet [serial online] 2007 [cited 2008 Feb 7];13:93-6. Available from:
<http://www.ijhg.com/text.asp?2007/13/3/93/38982>

Clyde Winters

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tA\_cJ

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
| 24774|2008-02-10 19:04:55|Terry Howcott|Inja|

Inja \("Boss, We Sick?"\)

At terryhowcott.com

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. | 24775|2008-02-10 19:05:01|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic| interesting article
tafari 🧡

Manu Ampim wrote:

Greetings Meninarmer,

From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted extensive research on Dr. King in various archives (including the FBI headquarters) concerning the evolution of his political ideas and agenda.

It is clear that Dr. King's political work and philosophy has been completely misrepresented by the media, biographers, historians, and the general public. King's political goals evolved in the '50s and '60s just like all the other progressive activists. The vast majority of people have not read *one* single speech or book by King and thus they repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted popular version of King created by mainstream America. Most people have no idea that both J. Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan (FBI asst. director) by 1963 considered King to be the "most dangerous" Black man in America, and not the NOI or Moorish movement as you state. King still remains the most watched and surveillanced man in the history of the FBI, because this organization knew that King's program was not focused on "integration. "

King often stated that he had no interest "integrating" into a racist America. He also made it clear that with the passage of the 1965 Voting Rights Bill that Congress had signed the "civil rights movement out of existence." King even stopped using the term "civil rights" after 1965 and he called for and worked towards human rights and acquisition of power. You should read his long essay on "Black Power Defined" to learn about his work and advocacy within the Black Power Movement. The great Black Power leader Kwame Ture (Stokely Carmichael) and I had several detailed discussions in the 1980s about King's political work and support of Carmichael and other Black Power advocates. You have to make a distinction between civil rights and integration, these are two separate issues. For example, conservative civil rights organizations (e.g. NAACP and Urban League) and their leaders such as A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins, Bayard Rustin, etc. were advocating for integrating with white people, and some in this group even argued the goal of racial amalgamation. However, the young activists in CORE, SNCC, and SCLC (under the leadership of Dr. King) clearly distanced themselves from this integration goal. In the early years, they were agitating for Black people to have basic civil rights but they never defined their ultimate goal to simply "integrate" with white people. In June 1966, these young activists caused a major split among civil rights groups when they embraced the concept of black power. The Black Power Movement emerged from this split and challenged the old civil rights leadership and its more conservative goal of "integration." King, SCLC, and the new young CORE and SNCC leaders split with the NAACP and Urban League and its conservative leadership, and moved to embrace a black power program. This major rift in June 1966 in the movement between the civil rights leaders and the black power leaders is well known and thoroughly documented.

Dr. King's Support of Black Power

http://www.manuampim.com/king\_bp.html

King stated that 1966 marked the beginning of the "second phase" ("human rights era") of the Black struggle, and to ignore this fact is to grossly misrepresent King's work and ideas. The record is clear that from June 1966 the Black Power/human rights groups were in fundamental opposition to the integration/ civil rights groups and leaders. In October 1966 King called the mainstream civil rights leaders "mickey mouse negroes" who he did not want to be associated with because their goals were different from his, and thus to lump King in with the civil rights/integration groups and organizations has no basis in fact.

Dr. King divided the black liberation movement into two phases: the Civil Rights Phase (1954-1965) and the Human Rights Phase (1966-). Anyone who believes that King's goal was "integration" has *never* studied his philosophy, his political program laid out in this last book, or his personal life. Every major aspect of King's life was all-black and had nothing to do with integration. For example:

- 1) King's family was all-black
- 2) His organization SCLC was all-black
- 3) His neighborhood on Auburn Ave. in Atlanta was all-black
- 4) His Ebenezer Baptist Church was all-black

If King was an "integrationist" he certainly had every opportunity to integrate his organization with white people, move to a mixed white and black neighborhood, and attend an integrated church, yet he never considered such actions. The primary sources clearly indicate that King saw civil rights as a phase in the Black struggle that was replaced in 1966 by the human rights and power acquisition phase, and he never developed a plan of "integration." On the other hand, the conservative civil rights leaders in the NAACP and Urban League continued to argue for civil rights, with integration as their goal. Anyone who has studied King's position will understand why the mainstream civil rights leaders became the leading opponents and critics of King in 1966-67.

Finally, Clyde is right that the majority of Black people never allowed white people to dictate their future. Likewise, nobody dictated anything to King and this is why J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI decided that the only other option was to assassinate him.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Meninarmar stated,

"Of them all, the King movement was the most conventional and least threatening to the mainstream. Mainly due to its goals being integration. "

"Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case."

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24776|2008-02-10 19:05:11|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic| he who has the gold makes the rules
tafari 🌸

kungfuhustle wrote:

Manu

Thank you for the detailed surface level expose on King.
Dr. King's (Michael King) legacy should be celebrated, and also critiqued constructively. It should not be falsified or stretched to accommodate a different agenda today, but like many things in America, it have been.

The balancing act Dr. King's maintained with Zionists was a unique and particularly fragile political coalition. King had the voice, while Zionists had the money, and legal personnel. Same arrangement they held with Dr. W.E.B. DuBois to control the NAACP.

The one main issue (and most important) you neglected to mention are the groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr. King's organizations.

The same groups that maintained positions as President and filled seats on the board of directors of each group.

In fact, from its inception, up to 1970, every president of the NAACP was Jewish.

Hasia Dinner wrote a PhD thesis about the way that "Jewish support for black causes was a way for Jews to broaden their own rights without becoming conspicuous by advocating their group interests."

The public heard the names of Dr. King, Roy Wilkins (NAACP secretary), and A. Philip Randolph, but they rarely heard the names of the men (Jewish) who held the highest positions and called the shots in these organizations.

Names such as, -Arthur & Noel Spingarn, Henry Moskowitz and Kivie Kaplan

- NAACP Founders & Presidents.

the NAACP, was conceived at the estate of Joel Spingarn who became its Board Chairman in 1915. He served in this position until 1929 when he became, the president, until 1939. He was succeeded by his brother Arthur until 1966, when another Jew, Kivie Kaplan, took over. By 1968, leadership of Kaplan and other Jews in the civil rights movement was coming under increasingly sharp attack. Activists called for his resignation; Kaplan refused. Only with Kaplan's death in 1975 did the NAACP get a black president when Benjamin Hooks took the position. King's adviser, Stanley Levinson is said to have written many of King's speeches, including the, I Have A Dream speech.

The demand for cash and the Jews dominance of these organization forced its black leaders to sign annually, a declaration called, "Black Americans in Support of Israel". If unwilling to sign, they had little chance of being in a leading position in either organization.

This sounds like dictation to me.

The National Urban League, was greatly funded by the Sears-Roebuck millionaire, Julius Rosenwald. Edwin Seligman, was the first chairman of the organization. Its first Executive Board included Abraham Lefkowitz and Felix Adler, and Seligman's brother and sister-in-law, George and Ella Sachs Plotz. In 1932, six Jews "served as officials" at the Urban League's Chicago branch.

By the mid-1960s, Jewish contributions made up three-quarters of the money raised by SNCC [Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee], CORE,

and SCLC.

It is said that even though W. E. Du Bois, received a full salary from the Association for his services, he frequently was obliged to solicit personal loans from Spingarn.

Marcus Garvey stormed out of the NAACP's headquarters in 1917, after discovering the organization's domination by whites. These included Board Chairman Joel Spingarn, his brother Arthur who was pro bono counsel, Herbert Lehman of the Executive Committee, Arthur Sachs, Herbert Seligmann - director of public relations, and his secretary Martha Gruening.

To say that blacks have never been dictated to by whites is absolutely absurd.

Since slavery when a white commanded a black to pick up a whip and bare open the flesh on his brother's back, that black complied. Sometimes eagerly.

Today, when a DA commands a black prosecutor to prosecute a black to the full extent of a drug racist law, that black eagerly complies.

The Tuskegee experiment would not have been possible without the compliance and full cooperation of the institute itself, and the many black doctors, nurses, and many associated black institutes who followed the DICTATIONS from their white masters.

As Clyde correctly points out, these "professionals" saw opportunity whites were giving them and took it. Still, they were being dictated to and they allowed it without reprise.

Although Eunice Rivers is shown as the central figure, she was dictated to by the many black doctors, who themselves were dictated to by their whites superiors.

No one talks about this aspect of the experiment, preferring instead to blame it all on whites. Fact is, blacks cooperated fully and this is why the experiment happened and was able to proceed on course as planned. Because blacks allowed themselves to be dictated to, self justified in the name of, professional and financial opportunity.

Today, we have the same example at Howard University who currently is assisting the Department Of Defense in their development of ethnic biological weapons targeting people of color. The good black doctors of Howard U, actively wrote and won a proposal to gain the award. This is willing dictation, or as Clyde states in more palatable terms, taking advantage of an opportunity when the white man gives you something.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 21:50:09 -0800

Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138

Greetings Meninarmer,

>From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted extensive research on Dr.

King in various archives (including the FBI headquarters) concerning the evolution of his political ideas and agenda.

It is clear that Dr. King's political work and philosophy has been completely misrepresented by the media, biographers, historians, and the general public. King's political goals evolved in the '50s and '60s just like all the other progressive activists. The vast majority of people have not read *one* single speech or book by King and thus they repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted popular version of King created by mainstream America. Most people have no idea that both J. Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan (FBI asst. director) by 1963 considered King to be the "most dangerous" Black man in America, and not the NOI or Moorish movement as you state. King still remains the most watched and surveillanced man in the history of the FBI, because this organization knew that King's program was not focused on "integration. "

King often stated that he had no interest "integrating" into a racist America. He also made it clear that with the passage of the 1965 Voting Rights Bill that Congress had signed the "civil rights movement out of existence." King even stopped using the term "civil rights" after 1965 and he called for and worked towards human rights and acquisition of power. You should read his long essay on "Black Power Defined" to learn about his work and advocacy within the Black Power Movement. The great Black Power leader Kwame Ture (Stokely Carmichael) and I had several detailed discussions in the 1980s about King's political work and support of Carmichael and other Black Power advocates.

You have to make a distinction between civil rights and integration, these are two separate issues. For example, conservative civil rights organizations (e.g. NAACP and Urban League) and their leaders such as A.

Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins, Bayard Rustin, etc. were advocating for integrating with white people, and some in this group even argued the goal of racial amalgamation. However, the young activists in CORE, SNCC, and SCLC (under the leadership of Dr. King) clearly distanced themselves from this integration goal. In the early years, they were agitating for Black people to have basic civil rights but they never defined their ultimate goal to simply "integrate" with white people. In June 1966, these young activists caused a major split among civil rights groups when they embraced the concept of black power. The Black Power Movement emerged from this split and challenged the old civil rights leadership and its more conservative goal of "integration." King, SCLC, and the new young CORE and SNCC leaders split with the NAACP and Urban League and its conservative leadership, and moved to embrace a black power program. This major rift in June 1966 in the movement between the civil rights leaders and the black power leaders is well known and thoroughly documented.

Dr. King's Support of Black Power

http://www.manuampim.com/king\_bp.html

King stated that 1966 marked the beginning of the "second phase" ("human rights era") of the Black struggle, and to ignore this fact is to grossly misrepresent King's work and ideas. The record is clear that from June 1966 the Black Power/human rights groups were in fundamental opposition to the integration/ civil rights groups and leaders. In October 1966 King called the mainstream civil rights leaders "mickey mouse negroes" who he did not want to be associated with because their goals were different from his, and thus to lump King in with the civil rights/integration groups and organizations has no basis in fact.

Dr. King divided the black liberation movement into two phases: the Civil Rights Phase (1954-1965) and the Human Rights Phase (1966- ). Anyone who believes that King's goal was "integration" has *never* studied his philosophy, his political program laid out in this last book, or his personal life. Every major aspect of King's life was all-black and had nothing to do with integration. For example:

- 1) King's family was all-black
- 2) His organization SCLC was all-black
- 3) His neighborhood on Auburn Ave. in Atlanta was all-black
- 4) His Ebenezer Baptist Church was all-black

If King was an "integrationist" he certainly had every opportunity to integrate his organization with white people, move to a mixed white and black neighborhood, and attend an integrated church, yet he never considered such actions. The primary sources clearly indicate that King saw civil rights as a phase in the Black struggle that was replaced in 1966 by the human rights and power acquisition phase, and he never developed a plan of "integration. " On the other hand, the conservative civil rights leaders in the NAACP and Urban League continued to argue for civil rights, with integration as their goal. Anyone who has studied King's position will understand why the mainstream civil rights leaders became the leading opponents and critics of King in 1966-67.

Finally, Clyde is right that the majority of Black people never allowed white people to dictate their future. Likewise, nobody dictated anything to King and this is why J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI decided that the only other option was to assassinate him.

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

---

Meninarmer stated,

"Of them all, the King movement was the most conventional and least threatening to the mainstream. Mainly due to its goals being integration. "

"Is it a fair assumption to believe the majority of blacks (African & American) would much prefer to live under white rule allowing whites to dictate their futures? Is integration the preference over true social and economic independence? From the size of King's movement versus the NOI or Moorish movements, this indeed appears to be the case."

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24777|2008-02-10 19:05:35|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: Give the EPA the "communication and transparency" they're askin|

Date: Sat, 9 Feb 2008 07:11:16 -0800 (PST)
From:
To: tafari

Note: forwarded message attached.

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
Date: Thu, 07 Feb 2008 22:48:30 GMT
From: "Union of Concerned Scientists"
To:
Subject: Give the EPA the "communication and transparency" they're asking for!

Give the EPA the "Communication and Transparency" They're Asking For!

Dear Linda,

 Over the last five years, the number of states that have adopted clean car standards to reduce global warming pollution from vehicles has risen to thirteen, but Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Administrator Stephen Johnson has blocked their legal right to implement these important standards. A January 24 Senate hearing produced yet more conclusive evidence that, in rejecting the waiver these states needed to implement their laws, Administrator Johnson ignored both his own scientists' and lawyers' recommendations. While Johnson censors documents and silences scientists at the EPA, his deputy administrator, Marcus Peacock, is trying to improve communication and transparency in government through the use of an EPA blog. In his Washington Post column last week, "Enough About Pollution Regulations; Here's a Riff on Amy Winehouse," Al Kamen takes Peacock to task for glossing over the key issues such

Take Action!

Instructions:

Click here to take action on this issue. When you've commented, click here to send us a copy.

Tell-A-Friend:

Visit the web address below to tell your friends about this.

Tell-a-Friend!

Quick Tips on creating a personalized blog comment:

- It's easy: All you'll need to do is put in your name and email address (and your email address won't be shown with your comment). Then write as the clean car standards. Peacock responded opaquely, noting that his blog is itself a risk, then added:

I?m pretty senior and will be gone in a year. A good question is how do we encourage, rather than discourage, the rank and file in government to take risks and test innovative ideas?

Please head over to the EPA?s blog and explain to Deputy Administrator Peacock that ignoring EPA scientists and analysts on an issue as central as global warming pollution from vehicles is not a way to ?encourage risks and test innovative ideas.?

By clicking Take Action below, you?ll be taken directly to the EPA?s blog, where you can voice your opinion directly to Peacock.

After you?ve commented on the EPA blog, click on the Report Back button below and send a copy of your comment to us. By giving us copies of your comments, we can make sure that the EPA is allowing open online debate, and we can post any great comments that get rejected by the EPA on UCS?s own HybridBlog.org!

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)?s blog is one of the few channels currently open for citizens to express themselves directly, and openly, to high-ranking EPA officials. Please take advantage of this opportunity to keep the pressure on the EPA for their dubious decision on cleaner cars.

Sincerely,

Scott Nathanson
National Field Organizer Clean Vehicles Program

away.

- Keep it clean: Angry and frustrated?That?s fine, but please resist use of profanity or name-calling.No need to give the blog moderators an excuse for not posting your comment.
- Personalize it: Whether you are a scientist or lawyer angry at Johnson?s ignoring of his own staff, a parent in a state that has adopted the clean car standards looking to do your part to tackle global warming pollution, or a state employee concerned with what Johnson?s actions could mean for states? rights under the Clean Air Act, try and note why this means so much to you.
- Copy and paste: Remember to copy the comment you write, then paste it back into our action response form so we can keep record of what you?ve written and post some of them on our own HybridBlog.org.

More . . .

If you received this message from a friend, you can sign up for the Union of Concerned Scientists.

This message was sent to patchouliwindz@yahoo.com. Visit your subscription management page to update your personal profile. From this page you can change your email address, mailing address, name, congressional districts, email format preference, or add or remove yourself from various UCS newsletters, networks, and mailing lists. To stop receiving UCS Action Network emails, click to unsubscribe.

The Union of Concerned Scientists relies on individuals like you to support our research and advocacy.
Join us to promote practical, science-based environmental and security solutions.

To ensure you continue to receive emails from UCS,
be sure to add action@ucsusa.org to your address book.
If you have general questions, comments or concerns about this action, send email to ucsaction@ucsusa.org
We are committed to protecting your privacy, your email address will NEVER be sold or exchanged.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24778|2008-02-10 19:05:47|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [SmaiTawi] Today's Moorish American Show|

Moorish American Show wrote:

To: naasiraameneh@yahoo.com
From: "Moorish American Show"
Date: Sat, 9 Feb 2008 12:11:12 -0500
Subject: [SmaiTawi] Today's Moorish American Show

Islam!

This is a final reminder to tune in to the Moorish American Show at 5PM EST today, Saturday February 9, 2008. This is a show that you do not want to miss, we will be discussing The Democrats and Republicans and which political affiliation we as a people should have and why? Call us up to answer the question of why our people continue voting for a party that wishes to keep and put them into physical slavery again?

To listen live log on to www.blogtalkradio.com/moorishameri\_canshow and to call in dial 646-595-3541. We trust to hear all of your answers and opinions tonight on the Moorish American Show.

Peace!

--

Sheik Charles Brown-EL, Grand Sheik
Moorish Science Temple of America, Inc.
706 W. Brookland Park Blvd.

Richmond, VA 23222
(804) 228-1146

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24779|2008-02-10 19:06:01|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [SmaiTawi] PAN-AFRICANISM IN SOUTH ASIA|

Runoko Rashidi wrote:

To: TravelwithRunoko@yahoogroups.com, Runoko@yahoo.com,
GlobalAfricanPresence@yahoogroups.com, SOA@yahoogroups.com, SmaiTawi@yahoogroups.com, TheBlackList@lists.riseup.net, luv4self_network@yahoogroups.com, young_Black_intellectuals@yahoogroups.com, Unionews@yahoogroups.com, ChatAfrik@yahoogroups.com,
Mwananchi@yahoogroups.com, SonsofAfrika@yahoogroups.com,
HappilyNaturalDay@yahoogroups.com, ChatAfrique@yahoogroups.com, TheBlackList@yahoogroups.com, Openyourthirdeye@yahoogroups.com, camnetwork@yahoogroups.com, BuildingAfricanLibraries@yahoogroups.com, PAOC-USA@yahoogroups.com, UnityisKey@yahoogroups.com, goldengrovenabaclis@yahoogroups.com, TrueBlackness@yahoogroups.com
From: Runoko Rashidi
Date: Sat, 9 Feb 2008 04:34:39 -0800 (PST)
Subject: [SmaiTawi] PAN-AFRICANISM IN SOUTH ASIA

PAN-AFRICANISM IN SOUTH ASIA

By HOREN TUDU*

Posted by RUNOKO RASHIDI

Pan-Africanism: A new beginning for South Asia

The early stages of human civilization in South Asia marked a glorious era in which African people practiced sustainable development, lived in peaceful, close-knit kinship societies virtually without conflict. As the barbaric Indo-European rose from the depths of his shallow burrows, he knew only those actions that were innate to his cold environment in the Caucasus, namely murder, war, rape, torture, genocide, conflict and destruction, the proceedings having been documented in the celebrated Hindu text, the Rig Veda. However, history has taught us that this is not a unique circumstance of South Asia, wherever the Aryan has encountered African human beings; the end result has been tragedy beyond the comprehension of the human mind.

India has maintained the stability of its social order through race-based fascism. Literally meaning skin color, the "Varna" system of racial apartheid was imposed upon the native Africoid inhabitants with the utmost brutality centuries ago in Northwestern India. Most characteristic of Modern Hinduism is the sheer hatred and contempt for black African people. As clearly stated in widely read Hindu scriptures such as the Rig-Veda section II.12.4, "Black Skin is Impious and Lowly". Citing section I.130.8, "Indra protected in battle the Aryan worshipper, he subdued the lawless for Manu, and he conquered the black skin." In section IX.73.5 "The black skin, the hatred of Indra, were swept out of heaven." Moreover, along with the disdain for blacks Indo-Aryan white supremacy is endorsed, as section I.100.18 states, "The thunderer bestowed on his white friends the fields, bestowed the sun, and bestowed the waters."

The invading Aryans enforced the caste system on the Black population with a merciless and bigoted spiritual philosophy, having whites occupy the top echelons of society, mixed races in the middle and the mass of the conquered Blacks at the bottom, today known as Dalits and Dravidians. The physical differences between the black-skinned Dravidian races of southern and eastern India, Bangladesh, and Sri Lanka and the Caucasoid Aryan races mainly comprising of upper caste Hindus and Sikhs is not the mere design of European colonialist historians, but a fact of human existence in the apartheid state of India. The indigenous people of the Indian Sub-Continent are the descendents of the Dravidian tribes that founded the celebrated Indus Valley civilization. Recent genetic evidence has confirmed what anthropologists have known all along, that the Dravidians, tribals, and lower caste Hindus belong to the greater African Diaspora. As affirmed in the pioneering mitochondria DNA studies published in Human Biology vol. 68 (1996) p.1, "The caste populations of Andhra Pradesh cluster more often with Africans than with Asians and Europeans".

Additionally, another study performed by the Department of Medical Genetics in Umea University, Sweden discovered that "significant ethnic differences in single polymorphisms were found between all groups except for African Blacks-Dravidian Indians, who differed only in their MspI7-16-bp duplication haplotype distribution" .

The early stages of Pan-Africanism in the western hemisphere focused on the principles and rhetoric of the great Jamaican born leader, Marcus Garvey. In recent times, global Negroland movements have sprouted all over the Indian Sub-Continent and are undergoing exponential growth in support. These movements comprise of all constituents of the Asiatic black race(Sudroids) , from the Santhal insurgents of Bangladesh, to the tribal Gond militants of Madhya Pradesh and the Dalit Panthers of Bombay, Chennai, and Kerala. Furthermore, it must be made abundantly clear that these populations are by no means marginal, it totals over 350 million people, exceeding the combined populations of several western European countries.

Apparently, the foundation and direct inspiration for these political and social movements come from the literature of great African-American intellectuals such as Booker T. Washington, W.E.B. DuBois, Frederick Douglass and many others. In search for their true identity and history, the Dalits and Dravidians are making great efforts to expand on their African ancestry, making connections with their black brothers and sisters around the globe. As stated by the great historian and lecturer Runoko Rashidi, "They (Dalits) seem particularly enamored with African-Americans. African-Americans, in general, seem almost idolized by the Dalit, and the Black Panther Party, in particular, is virtually revered." In 1972, taking inspiration from the Black Panther Party, the Dalit Panther party was fashioned with circulating myths of actual Black Panthers being transplanted to India to fight Aryan fascist regimes such as the RSS(Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh) and the Ranvir Sena. Particularly in South India, several universities and political establishments have made African-American literature required reading and continue to promote a "black is beautiful" type philosophy that empowers the next generation of Dravidians.

In the spirit of Marcus Garvey and John Henrik Clarke, Pan Africanism has become the need of the hour in South Asia. Based on genetic, cultural, and historical relatedness it was only natural for Dravidians and Africans to tie up struggles. History is in the making, and many prominent Dravidian intellectuals as we speak are exploring the call for an independent black "Dravidistan" nation. That day is heavily anticipated.

*Horen Tudu is a Bangladeshi- Santhal born and raised in the United States. He is a staunch Pan-Africanist and research specialist. His work emphasizes on the Dalit and tribal historical/political situation of Bangladesh and India. He may be contacted at horentudu@yahoo.com

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24780|2008-02-10 19:06:36|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)| glad to know kenyans are investigating the issue,,and feel whats specifically not them is too be examined thoroughly

 tafari

Peter Gray wrote:

You're probably right. Modern Kenyans do think that Kiswahili is an indigenous African language influenced by the Arab traders. In fact, in 1987 while on a visit there, I was surprised to learn that they even regarded the "mixed language" with some disdain.

Peter

---

To: isosceles@comcast.net

From: tafari_sudra@yahoo.com

Date: Mon, 4 Feb 2008 17:46:05 -0800

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

i dont think the mongol hordes entered africa 🤔, and i am open for a greater interpretation of kiswahili inception, seems the history books show its use as early as 500 yrs ago , i think it was a merchant language in the 8th century a.d. it is a african language with arab influence i think

Ferg wrote:

To:

From: "Ferg"

Date: Sat, 2 Feb 2008 15:35:15 -0000

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Sorry about the mess in the previous hieroglyphics. Trying to sort it out Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Peter Gray

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Friday, February 01, 2008 2:31 PM

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

Justa couple points:

1. Kiswahili is spoken (and understood) all the way from Mozambique to Somalia. The "capital" of Sawhili civilization , Kilwa, was destroyed by Vasco da Gama in (1502?), at which time. yes. ther was esignificant trade between East Africa and the East (China, India). So we knjow the language is at least 500 years old.

2. The Persians who conquered Egypt were in turn conquered by the marauding hordes of the great Khan, aka the Mongol Hordes,who subsequently became accustomed to the sedentary lifestyle and fused many of their own traditions with those the preceeding Persians, e.g. , the use of blue tiles (Persian) on their domed temples (which had as their blueprint/motif the tradtional Mongolian hut-like abode).

Peter

---

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

From: tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 09:54:11 -0800

Subject: Re: Re: [Ta_Seti] Nubia, Temple of Dangeil (Youtube)

it seems that it has its inception with the rise of arab seafarers sitting up castle and ports along the east coast, taking over small villages and finally building castles up and down the east african coastline; its rise looks like it may be parallel to the rise of islam obviously all the languages of peoples living close to ancient egypt were affected by its language like all people living close to the u.s. are affected by english; its easy to find egyptian words in arabic which makes sense since a.d. times they have flooded egypt and since their language is a continuation of the languages of persia, which conquered egypt in 525 b.c. and accepted her (egypts) customs and language a couple documentaries on monopatapa and the trade items found by archaeologist the chinese and arabian items and routes of trade used by africans of that era and the port cities and arab castles makes me consider the 8 century a.d. where ki-swahili became the lingua de franca of east africa

http://www.atlastours.net/jordan/aqaba\_history.html

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History\_of\_Sudan\_\(Coming\_of\_Islam\_to\_the\_Turkiyah\))

<http://books.google.com/books?id=E78JtHvhaH0C&pg=PA151&lpg=PA151&dq=arabian+seafarer>

http://books.google.com/books?id=s+ki+swahili&source=web&ots=U\_Kra6f4H&sig=--7y7EnBQYY-LLgMa8wFXokqL6M

the swahili people have their own language, the shona, the ethiopians, that is indigenous to them, like the zulu have theirs but have learned to speak africaner and english, seems that ki-swahili rose up from among many east africans and that it is not a b.c. language specific to an indigenous nation and it has a lot of arabic words, it is a common language of the peoples

Ferg wrote:

Interesting analysis.

Could you elaborate on how you think the speaking system of Ki-Swahili might have developed during those days and how old do you think the language might be since I have shown that a linguistic relationship between the Kiswahili-Bantu language and Ancient Egyptian exists.

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Tafari khumbaka

To: isosceles woody

Sent: Tuesday, January 29,
2008 5:05 PM

Subject: Fwd: Re: [Ta_Seti]
Nubia, Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the same as the differences
btwn andinkra and shona
hieroglyphs, or the same two people living side by side
the germans and french yet
they have someradically
different cultural expressions, ,like the difference between the inca
and apache, same two people yet different cultural expression , also note that the information we have onUauat( nub=wawat) at this time shows ""writing to be late in they're history"" they have the exact same hieroglyph TaSeti is the 1st
place u can find egyptian
hieroglphs(metu neter)and
although meager there's a lil
evidence that punt had the same hieroglyph
system,,,but the writing ;the egyptianhieratic and demotic
is very different than Uauat(nub) writing,,, which leadsme to consider
nub=taSeti=Wawat=
Uaat=Uauat writing to be specifically for their own record keeping , the same as khamit-u hieratic ( which is
the source of caanite=Ka-ntu
alphabetic writing) was for the upper Ta-meri for their very ownrecords,perhaps many do not understand
thatUauat was a seperate
government they broke off
from khamit(upper and lower Ta-meri) as early as the formation of the 1st government under Shekhemur Shekhem(king of kings)Narmeri, the establishment of upper and lower Tameri under the rule ofNarmeri was from khami in the north down too Uaset(thebes=Waset= Karnak) and the africans of kom-ombo and taSeti , Punt, Abu-simbi where a loose confederate of city states who at later times became part of the formal government of the two lands (punt never to be under the gov. of Khami) Nub= Taseti, Uauat was the rule of the north in pre-dynastic Khamit during so call gerzean times, it fell away before the rise of shekhem Narmeri and the commerce that gave the 1st dynasties thier great wealth dealing with the northern lands made Khamy=the 2lands the wealthiest nation on the planet eventually the city-states in the south were incorporated into the 2lands upper and lower Ta-meri or Khami all the way from the 3rd to the six cataracts, late in dynastic history the southern africans built the city states of meroe and Axum and napata many from all the surrounding lands, and many coming from southern Khamit,, commerce in the south and across the red sea seems to have increased bringing great wealth too Axum( later to be known as ethiopia) its during this time that we find the use of the meriotic script, later in this same area and extending deep into south africa (monomatapa) due to continued commerce with Hapi-araby(arabia) people develop the writing and speaking system of ki-swahili

crisofori whitakara wrote:

To:
Ta_Seti@yahoo
groups
.com
From:
crisofori
whitakara
Date: Mon,
28 Jan 2008
10:27:51 -
0800 (PST)
Subject: Re:
[Ta_Seti]
Nubia,
Temple of Dangeil
(Youtube)

the characters used in egyptian hieroglyphics
are completely different than the nubian
hieroglyphics
? how is that possible when they are the same
people?

Tafari

khumbaka

wrote:
the language of the last cataracts of egypt and deep into Punt was different than the lower cataracts, like irish is different than scottish and french different than german

cristofori

whitakara

wrote:
why would one need a rashid (rosetta) stone to decipher
nubian script
when ancient egyptian hieroglyphics could be used?

yvette moore

wrote:
Yes, I totally agree with
you. Even after this day
and time, and all of truth
be told, they still hate to admit Ancient

Egypt/
Tamare's greatness. A time when Nubians were in their prime greatness, and we ruled the world. They still try to hold that spell
of ignorance
over us.
Thinking
outside the box, looking past the matrix, and you will never see life
and our past
the same
again.

Tafari
khumbaka
wrote:

d o n
t

y
a

j
u s t

h
a t
e

h ow

w

t
h e
y

w
a n
n
a

m
a k
e

n
u
b
i
a

(
U
a u
a t
)

s o
m e t
h
i n
g

d
i f

f
e r e n
t
f r
o
m e g
y
p
t
,
,
i t
s r
e p u g
n
a n
t
a n
d
d
i s g
r
a c
e ful

Alle ex

van

De ee le en

wrote:

Nubia,

Temple
of

D

a n
g
e
i l
,
1
o
f 5

h
t
t
p
:
/
/
w
w
w
:
y
o
u t
u
b e
:
c o
m
/
w
a t c
h
?
v

≡
d
X
U
w
y 9
y
5
h
e
Y
&

f
e
a t
u
r
e
≡
r
e l
a t
e
d

A l
e x

T
a f
a r
i
-
s u
d r
a
,

K
h
u m b
a k
a

B e
a b e t

t
e
r

f r
i e n
d
,

n
e
w

s
h
o
u n
d
,
a n
d
k
n
o
w
-
i t
-
a l l
w
i t
h
Y
a h
o
o
!
M
o b
i l
e
.
T
r

[y
i t
n
o
w
.](#)

---

Looking for last minute
shopping deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo!
Search.](#)

---

Looking for last minute
shopping deals? [Find them fast
with Yahoo!
Search.](#)

Tafari-sudra,
Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

---

Never miss a thing. [Make Yahoo your
homepage.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. [Make
Yahoo your homepage.](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. [Get it
now!](#)

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24781|2008-02-10 19:06:44|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [SmaiTawi] DR. LEONARD PERCIVAL
HOWELL - Father of Rastafarian |
theblacklist@hotmail.com wrote:

To: "1TheBlackList"
CC:

From:

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 18:21:36 -0500

Subject: [SmaiTawi] DR. LEONARD PERCIVAL HOWELL - Father of Rastafarian movement

=//=

Posted by TheBlackList - <http://TheBlackList.net>
Creating A New Future Now.

LEONARD PERCIVAL HOWELL

<http://www.lphfoundation.org/about.html>

(Father of Rastafari)

L?..Long may you live to guide us the people of our race.

P?..Press onward to the victory our cause is no disgrace.

H?..Haile Selassie guide you , his voice you will obey.

O?..Omega is the watchword, we sure shall win the day.

W?..With you to lead us forward our sorrows soon shall cease.

E?..Ethiopia?s children shall dwell at home in peace.

L?..Long may you live to guide us to Ethiopia?s shore.

L?..Long live the Lion of Judah foes tremble at this roar...

By T. C. Telars

Leonard Percival Howell was born in the Parish of Clarendon, Jamaica. W.I. On June 16th, 1898. He died in Kingston, Jamaica. W.I. In 1981. He was born a hero, a scholar and beyond the shadow of a doubt died a hero defending his race. His parents Thomas and Clementina Howell, who were independent farmers and business owners, motivated their son Leonard to travel. In the 1920?s he left Jamaica on a ship to the United States of America, where he advanced his intellect and academic skills.

During the 1920?s, black men and women were living in an era of racial discrimination, bigotry, oppression, segregation and encountered brutality and endless violence. It was not easy for Howell who had fallen victim to hatred, bigotry and oppression to stand aside and look. He was convinced it was his responsibility that he committed his life by taking a personal stand against the forces of hatred, oppression and injustice. He traveled to many cities and countries, preached among all groups of people to help raise the conscience of the public. He encouraged Black Leaders so that every individual would work and create a world in which genocide will not occur again. He had the support of many African Leaders and Head of states like Kwame Nkrumah, Dr. W.E. Dubois, Bishop Johnson of Lagos, Benito Sylvain of Ethiopia and Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya and black revolutionaries like Marcus Garvey and his UNIA, added to his political and spiritual development in the United States.

Howell became a member and participant of the Pan African movement. After the death of Howell?s father, Charles Howell, he returned to Jamaica in 1932. It was an emotional and demanding experience but it was also critical for anyone who believes in the dignity and value of human lives to understand that Howell was a messenger sent from the Divine Creator to deliver the messages and no time could be set aside for mourning.

Relentlessly, he traveled throughout the City of Kingston, St Thomas and other parts of Jamaica preaching. He performed the role of catalytic agent in teaching the radical millenarian consciousness that based itself on the doctrine of the divine kingship of Ethiopia?s Ras Tafari. He preached the Ivinity of Haile Selassie 1 as a MAN- GOD ( the concept of God being in a man or human form was very prevalent during ancient times, especially in Africa and Eastern spiritual practices) In the Rastafarian philosophy, the re-incarnation of Haile Selassie as God transformed in the flesh is the pillar of the belief systems and doctrine.

? We as Negroes have found a new ideal, whilst our god has no color yet it is human to see everything through one?s own spectacles. And since the whites people have seen their god through white spectacles we have only now started out late thought it be, to see our god through our spectacles?.We shall worship Him through the Spectacles of Ethiopia? (The Philosophy and Opinions of Marcus Garvey. page 41)

Howell became the most successful teacher of Rastafari doctrine. He enjoined black people to be PROUD of heritage and culture, to have their own ?Money? Banks, be self-motivated, strong self-sufficient, where black economies would triumph and to hold high the value of education. Furthermore, he preached to show respect, love and honor. He said, ?The white mans doctrine has forced the black man to forsake silver and gold and seek heaven after death. It has brought us to live in disgrace and die in dishonor?

King Ras Tafari of Ethiopia was sent as the Messiah, to free the minds of Africans who have been enslaved mentally and physically. King Ras Tafari taught us to go beyond the height of consciousness and accept that the black man too have a GOD that is made in the image of a BLACK man, same as the White GOD is made in the image of a white man, an Indian GOD is made in the image of Indian man, an Oriental GOD made in the image of a Oriental man etc.

Howell?s favorite song:

? We are not divided all one family

One in hope and justice

One in charity

We are going to a land where milk and honey flow

We are not divided - All one family.?

Despite the fact that Howell became the most persecuted man in the history of Jamaica, he must be credited for purchasing over 500 acres of Land at Sligoville, in St. Catherine became known as PINNACLE. It was the center of the Rastafarian Movement, the first free slave, self sufficient and economically empowered African village in Jamaica (an historical move) Many generation of African slaves , in the thousand , came from rural and urban Jamaica settled on the land and made their vision a reality. They lived a natural way of life, in harmony with the universe, showed love and peace to all race and color, lived in unity worked collectively , uphold culture, heritage, freedom and justice, Many who were farmers planted organic food ,other who were skilled in arts and craft made household items. In addition, herbal medicine, roots, tonics and other produces were supplies and sold to the local government, private and public sectors.

Howell was a man of great vision, and mystic spirituality. He created codes and principles based on the teaching of His Imperial Majesty, Haile Selassie 1 and developed the Nyahbinghi Order (a mystical religious order) that defined ?death? by the Divine Creator to the blacks and white oppressors. Years later Howell formed ?The Ethiopian Salvation Society? Before his death in 1981 Howell once said:

" I am convinced that the children we are teaching today, will become vanguards and guardians to our freedom tomorrow and better citizens to defend our democracy and to ensure that generations to come will learn from the Holocaust of slavery, and keep the flame of remembrance burning. Help them to understand more about the past, that our history NEVER repeats itself so that we can create a better future for all human race.?

By Catherine Howell

<http://www.lphfoundation.org/about.html>

---

=//=

Posted by TheBlackList - <http://TheBlackList.net>

Creating A New Future Now.

---

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
| 24782|2008-02-10 19:06:51|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic| Excellent child rearing guidelines, Clyde. And I would reiterate that simply raising your children to see the truth and to be respectful of past struggles is revolutionary in and of itself.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: olmec982000@yahoo.com
Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 08:57:00 -0800
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Meninarmer

You have misrepresented my mention of the term
"opportunity". I never said that a person should act
as an uncle tom.

What I meant by opportunity was the ability to get help from whites to better your condition.

In your statement you imply that people should not perform their job. If you are a prosecutor, you prosecute. Are you claiming that a Black prosecutor should allow a person who is a murderer to remain free
to kill someone else?

Like you I felt the criminal justice system was anti-Afro-American. Then I went to work at Cook County Jail as a teacher. At County Jail, I saw many young
drug dealers get a break.

They eventually went to Jail though, because by the time their court date came up (i.e., it takes a year or more before you get a trial date) some of the young men had been arrested one or two additional times so the judge had no choice but to send them to jail. You see, these young men got a chance but they felt they were slick and they suffered the consequences.

I raised five sons luckily none are in jail (thank God). From day one I taught my sons that I was not going to let them be slick. Like my Father, if you messed up you got punished. If I even thought you were trying to be slick your .....was mine.

In addition, I taught my sons , and told them that I loved them. If I was wrong I gave them an apology.

I taught them that if necessary you had the right to cry, and show affection to your brothers and me. And above all I taught them to have faith in a Supreme Being, because I might fail them but the Creator would not.

I am not with my sons or daughter every moment of the day, so I can not claim that one may not be serving (selling) drugs, but I have tried my best to raise my sons with the full knowledge that as a Black man they can go to jail --if they don't watch out.

If you want to blame someone for the large number of young men in jail, don't blame the criminal justice system blame the young men. You be slick-you get in trouble.

Secondly, you claim that the Jews ran the Civil Rights Movement. This is totally untrue, most Jews stopped supporting the Civil Rights Movement after 1967, because Black leaders gave support to the Palestinians. It was Afro-American support of the Palestinians that led many Jews to become Neo-Conservatives and supporters of the Republican Party.

You have a warped sense of history. Your comments betray your ignorance of the field of Afro-American history.

Your comments indicate a young man who learned history from talikng to the brothers while passing around reefers or at the barber shop. Study. Learn your history then you might not hold good men and women in disrepute.

People like King and Malcolm died for what they believed in. You can not imagine how many Afro-Americans felt in the late 1960's. In 1968, many of us were ready to die fighting for our rights. Our struggle was so significant, that Ho chi minh of the Viet Cong modeled his Tet Offensive out our urban struggles (riots). If not for Pres. Johnson opening up the Universities, trade schools and government jobs to Afro-Americans, American cities would have burned and there would have been great loss of life.

You see few of us had more than a shot gun or a zip gun (home made gun of wood, long nail, a pipe and strong rubber bands) but we were ready to die. You can not imagine the satisfying feeling you can get from believing you will die fighting for a just cause. It was this desire to save our people that nurtured us as teenagers.

Granted people say look at the cities .See how they are worst off from the riots. Bull.

Due to the riots I went to University, housing opened up throughout the United States and there is a significant Afro-American Middle Class. Granted, the powers that be began to allow Indians/Pakistanis, Asians, Africans and etc., into the country to deminish our gains, but we still have progressed and other minority folk have prospered due to our struggles.

If you grew up in America you should know that Europeans give nothing away without fear of a struggle. They "gave" us government jobs, university grants and loans, etc., to keep us from f**king this country up. Even today, our anger lies below the surface--presently we exact our anger on each other--but I guarantee that if push come to shove it could be directed in another direction.

I know you will say, f*** a middle class. But it is your middle class status that allow you to sit at your computer and misrepresent the history of Afro-Americans, just so you can sit high and mighty and denigrate your ancestors who bodies you stepped on to get where you're at today.

Too many Afro-Americans died to get us where we are today to allow some "arm-chair revolutionary" like you to misrepresent our history to the world. You dare claim DuBois was controlled by whites, when even Diop acknowledges that it was DuBois who gave him the courage to write a true history of our people-Black/African people.

Yes you can get opportunities working with whites to better yourself, without being an uncle tom. People have free will, if they choose to hurt their fellow man its their own decision.

I love all mankind. But I love my people just a little bit more. Wearing braids, listening to rap music (or smooth Jazz)and smoking reefers does not make you a down brother. (In fact it is the desire of many brothers to be down and smoking reefers that are keeping them from getting a job in the first place.)

A real brother respects his people and himself, and has the compassion to feel for his people, warts and all, recognizing that we do what we must to survive. Granted Washington attacked, DuBois, and DuBois attacked Garvey. They had their disagreements but all three men fought to get Afro-Americans their rights.

I thank God, this time I came on this plane Afro-American. Being Afro allows me to be a part of a tradition of struggle.

A struggle by men and women who had nothing more than their pens or their voices to declare truth--and fight for our rights. A people who had members willing to suffer for the good of us all, may they be Black Power or Integrationist, they all wanted us to have better lives and I am sure my ancestors who died on the plantations, hung on trees, or just murdered for being Black are shouting in my ears and yours keep up the struggle Baby--the job ain't done.

Clyde

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

> Manu

>

> Thank you for the detailed surface level expose on

> King.

- > Dr. King's (Michael King) legacy should be
- > celebrated, and also
- > critiqued constructively. It should not be falsified
- > or stretched to
- > accommodate a different agenda today, but like many
- > things in America,
- > it have been.
- > The balancing act Dr. King's maintained with
- > Zionists was a unique and
- > particularly fragile political coalition. King had
- > the voice, while
- > zionists had the money, and legal personel. Same
- > arrangement they held
- > with Dr. W.E.B. DuBois to control the NAACP.
- >
- > The one main issue (and most important) you
- > neglected to mention are the
- > groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr.
- > King's organizations.
- > The same groups that maintained positions as
- > President and filled seats
- > on the board of directors of each group.
- > In fact, from it's inception, up to 1970, every
- > president of the NAACP
- > was Jewish.
- >
- > Hasia Dinner wrote a PhD thesis about the way that
- > "Jewish support for
- > black causes was a way for Jews to broaden their own
- > rights without
- > becoming conspicuous by advocating their group
- > interests."
- >
- > The public heard the names of Dr. King, Roy Wilkins
- > (NAACP secretary),
- > and A. Philip Randolph, but they rarely heard the
- > names of the men
- > (Jewish) who held the highest positions and called
- > the shots in these
- > organizations.
- > Names such as, -Arthur & Noel Spingarn, Henry
- > Moskowitz and Kivie Kaplan
- > - NAACP Founders & Presidents.
- >
- > the NAACP, was conceived at the estate of Joel
- > Spingarn who became its

- > Board Chairman in 1915. He served in this position
- > until 1929 when he
- > became, the president, until 1939. He was succeeded
- > by his brother
- > Arthur until 1966, when another Jew, Kivie Kaplan,
- > took over. By 1968,
- > leadership of Kaplan and other Jews in the civil
- > rights movement was
- > coming under increasingly sharp attack. Activists
- > called for his
- > resignation; Kaplan refused. Only with Kaplan's
- > death in 1975 did the
- > NAACP get a black president when Benjamin Hooks took
- > the position.
- > King's adviser, Stanley Levinson is said to have
- > written many of King's
- > speeches, including the, I Have A Dream speech.
- > The demand for cash and the Jews dominance of these
- > organization forced
- > it's black leaders to sign annually, a declaration
- > called, "Black
- > Americans in Support of Israel". If unwilling to
- > sign, they had little
- > chance of being in a leading position in either
- > organization.
- > This sounds like dictation to me.
- >
- > The National Urban League, was greatly funded by the
- > Sears-Roebuck
- > millionaire, Julius Rosenwald. Edwin Seligman, was
- > the first chairman of
- > the organization. Its first Executive Board included
- > Abraham Lefkowitz
- > and Felix Adler, and Seligman's brother and
- > sister-in-law, George and
- > Ella Sachs Plotz. In 1932, six Jews "served as
- > officials" at the Urban
- > League's Chicago branch.
- > By the mid-1960s, Jewish contributions made up
- > three-quarters of the
- > money raised by SNCC [Student Nonviolent
- > Coordinating Committee], CORE,
- > and SCLC.
- >
- > It is said that even though W. E. Du Bois, received
- > a full salary from

- > the Association for his services, he frequently was
- > obliged to solicit
- > personal loans from Spingarn.
- > Marcus Garvey stormed out of the NAACP's
- > headquarters in 1917, after
- > discovering the organization's domination by whites.
- > These included
- > Board Chairman Joel Spingarn, his brother Arthur who
- > was pro bono
- > counsel, Herbert Lehman of the Executive Committee,
- > Arthur Sachs,
- > Herbert Seligmann - director of public relations,
- > and his secretary
- > Martha Gruening.
- >
- > To say that blacks have never been dictated to by
- > whites is absolutely
- > absurd.
- > Since slavery when a white commanded a black to pick
- > up a whip and bare
- > open the flesh on his brother's back, that black
- > complied. Sometimes
- > eagerly.
- > Today, when a DA commands a black prosecutor to
- > prosecute a black to the
- > full extent of a drug racist law, that black eagerly
- > complies.
- >
- > The Tuskegee experiment would not have been possible
- > without the
- > compliance and full cooperation of the institute
- > itself, and the many
- > black doctors, nurses, and many associated black
- > institutes who followed
- > the DICTATIONS from their white masters.
- > As Clyde correctly points out, these "professionals"
- > saw opportunity
- > whites were giving them and took it. Still, they
- > were being dictated to
- > and they allowed it without reprise.
- > Although Eunice Rivers is shown as the central
- > figure, she was dictated
- > to by the many black doctors, who themselves were
- > dictated to by their
- > whites superiors.
- > No one talks about this aspect of the experiment,

- > preferring instead to
- > blame it all on whites. Fact is, blacks cooperated
- > fully and this is why
- > the experiment happened and was able to proceed on
- > course as planned.
- > Because blacks allowed themselves to be dictated to,
- > self justified in
- > the name of, professional and financial opportunity.
- >
- > Today, we have the same example at Howard University
- > who currently is
- > assisting the Department Of Defense in their
- > development of ethnic
- > biological weapons targeting people of color. The
- > good black doctors of
- > Howard U, actively wrote and won a proposal to gain
- > the award. This is
- > willing dictation, or as Clyde states in more
- > palatable terms, taking
- > advantage of an opportunity when the white man gives
- > you something.
- >
- > Meninarmer
- >
- >
- >
- >
- > -----Original Message-----
- > From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net>
- > Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
- > To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
- > Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National
- > Geographic
- > Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 21:50:09 -0800
- > Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138
- >
- > Greetings Meninarmer,
- >
- > >From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted
- > extensive research on Dr.
- > King in various archives (including the FBI
- > headquarters) concerning the
- > evolution of his political ideas and agenda.
- >
- > It is clear that Dr. King's political work and
- > philosophy has been
- > completely misrepresented by the media, biographers,

> historians, and the > general public. King's political goals evolved in
> the '50s and '60s
> just like all the other progressive activists. The > vast majority of > people have not read *one* single speech or book by > King and thus they > repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted
> popular version of King
> created by mainstream America. Most people have no > idea that both J.
> Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan > (FBI asst. director) by
>
==== message truncated ====

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.
| 24783|2008-02-10 19:06:55|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic|
Well, Meninarnar, I agree with the part about blacks not doing their job if their job is to attack African soldiers or any soldier on foreign soil. In fact, during the Vietnam war, which my friend and I followed closely via short wave radio, the only way I wanted to see a black man return to America was in a bodybag.

I'm not so sure you can extend such an extreme position to ordinary postal workers or "prosecutors" you accuse of implementing racist drug laws, however. Just my 2 cents on the matter.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: shalomic@nc.rr.com
Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 13:05:40 -0500
Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Clyde

Please don't take offense that King had been manipulated by the Jewish element.

Like Malcohm, King EVOLVED his movement into something larger then where it began.

I am not alone in this views of events. Tony Martin does a very good job of laying out the facts in his book, Blacks and Jews.

I take no offense of your statement concerning me, reefer, and the brothers with dialog in the hood. If, as you state, you too are from the hood, no doubt you've burnt the finger tips while puffing on a roach while jamming to Kool And The Gang, or Earth, Wind, And Fire. However, that was long ago and my comments are hardly smoke induced, but rather well documented public record.

Our history is not so bland as to be easily separated into Black against white.

My premise is, blacks are more to fault to our own condition by not taking accountability for our part of our destruction. Manu, contends that these are "isolated" incidents. I do not.

The FBI employed black informants to willingly report on King and Malcohm X. Blacks assisted in the Tuskegee experiment, and blacks assisted in today's 1 million black incarceration rate.

Should a prosecutor "do his job", support and implement racist drug laws? No, IMHO he should not. No more then a black soldier should assist in pulling the trigger on Africans the US sends him/her to eliminate to meet their objectives.

The drug laws are racist and assigns disproportional jail sentences to blacks. It is obviously meant to destroy the black community (and has) and those who justify their cooperation assist in it's destruction as surely as those who choose to sell Cocaine and Heroin to their own. The only difference I see between the two is, one is legit (recognized by whites), while the other is not. in the end, both assist the destruction.

Why is this relevant to this forum?

We see the same thing in Africa. Cooperation, and likely this is what became and lead to the demise of the Ancient Egyptian, and finally, the ancient Hebrew. They cooperated in their own destruction.

I am very pleased to hear of your success with your children.

Of the ~100 black kids I grew up with in the city, perhaps 25 of us are alive today. Statistically, I should have lost one of my three sons.

However, because I have taught them of the many tricks and traps, so far they all survived. None of them have positioned themselves where they need to compromise their integrity to accept a "loaded" opportunity from whites. They are all self reliant proprietors.

Over the years,I have mentored many young blacks in the city, and still continue to do so. With some I've had great success, with others I have failed. My mission is to make them accountable for their own actions and futures.

A few I would call, "slick", but most I would label as "conditioned" and "influenced". The same goes for the officers and jailers on the other side of the coin. The plantation structure was not so much different.

To believe that blacks are not dictated to is akin to believing black doctors are not subject to the AMA, lawyers to the bar association, or CEOs to the Board of Directors. Likewise, to believe a foundation or organization figurehead is not accountable to its board and sponsors is denial and nothing more.

As I stated, the major black radio and TV stations we view and listen to are run by whites. Radio-One, BET, Oprah, they all are.

Don't take my word for it, each of their S.E.C. reports are freely available for download and review. Why? Because whites have dictated that it be so.

meninarmarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National Geographic

Date: Fri, 8 Feb 2008 08:57:00 -0800 (PST)

Meninarmer

You have misrepresented my mention of the term "opportunity". I never said that a person should act as an uncle tom.

What I meant by opportunity was the ability to get help from whites to better your condition.

In your statement you imply that people should not perform their job. If you are a prosecutor, you prosecute. Are you claiming that a Black procecutor should allow a person who is a murderer to remain free to kill someone else?

Like you I felt the criminal justice system was anti-Afro-American. Then I went to work at Cook County Jail as a teacher. At County Jail, I saw many young drug dealers get a break.

They eventually went to Jail though, because by the time their court date came up (i.e., it takes a year or more before you get a trial date) some of the young men had been arrested one or two additional times so the judge had no choice but to send them to jail. You see, these young men got a chance but they felt they were slick and they suffered the consequences.

I raised five sons luckily none are in jail (thank God). From day one I taught my sons that I was not going to let them be slick. Like my Father, if you messed up you got punished. If I even thought you were trying to be slick your .....was mine.

In addition, I taught my sons , and told them that I loved them. If I was wrong I gave them an apology.

I taught them that if necessary you had the right to cry, and show affection to your brothers and me. And above all I taught them to have faith in a Supreme Being, because I might fail them but the Creator would not.

I am not with my sons or daughter every moment of the day, so I can not claim that one may not be serving (selling) drugs, but I have tried my best to raise my sons with the full knowledge that as a Black man they can go to jail --if they don't watch out.

If you want to blame someone for the large number of young men in jail, don't blame the criminal justice system blame the young men. You be slick-you get in trouble.

Secondly, you claim that the Jews ran the Civil Rights Movement. This is totally untrue, most Jews stopped supporting the Civil Rights Movement after 1967, because Black leaders gave support to the Palestinians. It was Afro-American support of the Palestinians that led many Jews to become Neo-Conservatives and supporters of the Republican Party.

You have a warped sense of history. Your comments betray your ignorance of the field of Afro-American history.

Your comments indicate a young man who learned history from talking to the brothers while passing around reefers or at the barber shop. Study. Learn your history then you might not hold good men and women in disrepute.

People like King and Malcolm died for what they believed in. You can not imagine how many Afro-Americans felt in the late 1960's. In 1968, many of us were ready to die fighting for our rights. Our struggle was so significant, that Ho chi minh of the Viet Cong modeled his Tet Offensive out our urban struggles (riots). If not for Pres. Johnson opening up the Universities, trade schools and government jobs to Afro-Americans, American cities would have burned and there would have been great loss of life.

You see few of us had more than a shot gun or a zip gun (home made gun of wood, long nail, a pipe and strong rubber bands) but we were ready to die. You can not imagine the satisfying feeling you can get from believing you will die fighting for a just cause. It was this desire to save our people that nurtured us as teenagers.

Granted people say look at the cities .See how they are worst off from the riots. Bull.

Due to the riots I went to University, housing opened up throughout the United States and there is a significant Afro-American Middle Class. Granted, the powers that be began to allow Indians/Pakistanis, Asians, Africans and etc., into the country to diminish our gains, but we still have progressed and other minority folk have prospered due to our struggles.

If you grew up in America you should know that Europeans give nothing away without fear of a struggle. They "gave" us government jobs, university grants and loans, etc., to keep us from f**king this country up. Even today, our anger lies below the surface--presently we exact our anger on each other--but I guarantee that if push come to shove it could be directed in another direction.

I know you will say,f*** a middle class. But it is your middle class status that allow you to sit at your computer and misrepresent the history of Afro-Americans, just so you can sit high and mighty and denigrate your ancestors who bodies you stepped on to get where you're at today.

Too many Afro-Americans died to get us where we are today to allow some "arm-chair revolutionary" like you to misrepresent our history to the world. You dare claim DuBois was controlled by whites, when even Diop acknowledges that it was DuBois who gave him the courage to write a true history of our people- Black/African people.

Yes you can get opportunities working with whites to better yourself, without being an uncle tom. People have free will, if they choose to hurt their fellow man its their own decision.

I love all mankind. But I love my people just a little bit more. Wearing braids, listening to rap music (or smooth Jazz)and smoking reefers does not make you a down brother. (In fact it is the desire of many brothers to be down and smoking reefers that are keeping them from getting a job in the first place.)

A real brother respects his people and himself, and has the compassion to feel for his people, warts and all, recognizing that we do what we must to survive. Granted Washington attacked, DuBois, and DuBois attacked Garvey. They had their disagreements but all three men fought to get Afro-Americans their rights.

I thank God, this time I came on this plane Afro-American. Being Afro allows me to be a part of a tradition of struggle.

A struggle by men and women who had nothing more than their pens or their voices to declare truth--and fight for our rights. A people who had members willing to suffer for the good of us all, may they be Black Power or Integrationist, they all wanted us to have better lives and I am sure my ancestors who died on the plantations, hung on trees, or just murdered for being Black are shouting in my ears and yours keep up the struggle Baby--the job ain't done.

Clyde

--- kungfuhustle <shalomic@nc.rr.com> wrote:

- > Manu
- >
- > Thank you for the detailed surface level expose on
- > King.
- > Dr. King's (Michael King) legacy should be
- > celebrated, and also
- > critiqued constructively. It should not be falsified
- > or stretched to
- > accommodate a different agenda today, but like many
- > things in America,
- > it have been.
- > The balancing act Dr. King's maintained with
- > Zionists was a unique and
- > particularly fragile political coalition. King had
- > the voice, while
- > zionists had the money, and legal personel. Same
- > arrangement they held
- > with Dr. W.E.B. DuBois to control the NAACP.
- >
- > The one main issue (and most important) you
- > neglected to mention are the
- > groups that funded the NAACP, CORE, SCLC, and Dr.
- > King's organizations.
- > The same groups that maintained positions as
- > President and filled seats
- > on the board of directors of each group.
- > In fact, from it's inception, up to 1970, every
- > president of the NAACP
- > was Jewish.
- >
- > Hasia Dinner wrote a PhD thesis about the way that
- > "Jewish support for
- > black causes was a way for Jews to broaden their own
- > rights without
- > becoming conspicuous by advocating their group
- > interests."
- >
- > The public heard the names of Dr. King, Roy Wilkins

- > (NAACP secretary),
- > and A. Philip Randolph, but they rarely heard the
- > names of the men
- > (Jewish) who held the highest positions and called
- > the shots in these
- > organizations.
- > Names such as, -Arthur & Noel Spingarn, Henry
- > Moskowitz and Kivie Kaplan
- > - NAACP Founders & Presidents.
- >
- > the NAACP, was conceived at the estate of Joel
- > Spingarn who became its
- > Board Chairman in 1915. He served in this position
- > until 1929 when he
- > became, the president, until 1939. He was succeeded
- > by his brother
- > Arthur until 1966, when another Jew, Kivie Kaplan,
- > took over. By 1968,
- > leadership of Kaplan and other Jews in the civil
- > rights movement was
- > coming under increasingly sharp attack. Activists
- > called for his
- > resignation; Kaplan refused. Only with Kaplan's
- > death in 1975 did the
- > NAACP get a black president when Benjamin Hooks took
- > the position.
- > King's adviser, Stanley Levinson is said to have
- > written many of King's
- > speeches, including the, I Have A Dream speech.
- > The demand for cash and the Jews dominance of these
- > organization forced
- > it's black leaders to sign annually, a declaration
- > called, "Black
- > Americans in Support of Israel". If unwilling to
- > sign, they had little
- > chance of being in a leading position in either
- > organization.
- > This sounds like dictation to me.
- >
- > The National Urban League, was greatly funded by the
- > Sears-Roebuck
- > millionaire, Julius Rosenwald. Edwin Seligman, was
- > the first chairman of
- > the organization. Its first Executive Board included
- > Abraham Lefkowitz
- > and Felix Adler, and Seligman's brother and

- > sister-in-law, George and
- > Ella Sachs Plotz. In 1932, six Jews "served as
- > officials" at the Urban
- > League's Chicago branch.
- > By the mid-1960s, Jewish contributions made up
- > three-quarters of the
- > money raised by SNCC [Student Nonviolent
- > Coordinating Committee], CORE,
- > and SCLC.
- >
- > It is said that even though W. E. Du Bois, received
- > a full salary from
- > the Association for his services, he frequently was
- > obliged to solicit
- > personal loans from Spingarn.
- > Marcus Garvey stormed out of the NAACP's
- > headquarters in 1917, after
- > discovering the organization's domination by whites.
- > These included
- > Board Chairman Joel Spingarn, his brother Arthur who
- > was pro bono
- > counsel, Herbert Lehman of the Executive Committee,
- > Arthur Sachs,
- > Herbert Seligmann - director of public relations,
- > and his secretary
- > Martha Gruening.
- >
- > To say that blacks have never been dictated to by
- > whites is absolutely
- > absurd.
- > Since slavery when a white commanded a black to pick
- > up a whip and bare
- > open the flesh on his brother's back, that black
- > complied. Sometimes
- > eagerly.
- > Today, when a DA commands a black prosecutor to
- > prosecute a black to the
- > full extent of a drug racist law, that black eagerly
- > complies.
- >
- > The Tuskegee experiment would not have been possible
- > without the
- > compliance and full cooperation of the institute
- > itself, and the many
- > black doctors, nurses, and many associated black
- > institutes who followed

> the DICTATIONS from their white masters.
> As Clyde correctly points out, these "professionals"
> saw opportunity > whites were giving them and took it. Still, they > were being dictated to
> and they allowed it without reprise.
> Although Eunice Rivers is shown as the central
> figure, she was dictated
> to by the many black doctors, who themselves were > dictated to by their
> whites superiors.
> No one talks about this aspect of the experiment,
> preferring instead to > blame it all on whites. Fact is, blacks cooperated
> fully and this is why
> the experiment happened and was able to proceed on
> course as planned.
> Because blacks allowed themselves to be dictated to,
> self justified in
> the name of, professional and financial opportunity.
>
> Today, we have the same example at Howard University
> who currently is > assisting the Department Of Defense in their > development of ethnic > biological weapons targeting people of color. The > good black doctors of > Howard U, actively wrote and won a proposal to gain
> the award. This is > willing dictation, or as Clyde states in more > palatable terms, taking > advantage of an opportunity when the white man gives > you something.
>
> Meninarmer
>
>
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: Manu Ampim <Profmanu@acninc.net>
> Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> To: ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Black Pharoahs & National > Geographic
> Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 21:50:09 -0800
> Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 6.00.2900.3138

>
> Greetings Meninarmer,
>
> > From 1987-1989 for my M.A. thesis, I conducted
> extensive research on Dr.
> King in various archives (including the FBI
> headquarters) concerning the > evolution of his political ideas and agenda.
>
> It is clear that Dr. King's political work and > philosophy has been > completely misrepresented by the media, biographers,
> historians, and the > general public. King's political goals evolved in
> the '50s and '60s
> just like all the other progressive activists. The > vast majority of > people have not read *one* single speech or book by > King and thus they > repeat the false sanitized and grossly distorted
> popular version of King
> created by mainstream America. Most people have no > idea that both J.
> Edgar Hoover (FBI director) and William Sullivan > (FBI asst. director) by
>
==== message truncated ====

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your home page.

<http://www.yahoo.com/r/hs>

---

Helping your favorite cause is as easy as instant messaging. You IM, we give. Learn more.

| 24784|2008-02-10 19:07:04|Manu Ampim|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Manu|

Greetings,

You falsely stated, "One thing academicians always fail to realize is that *any* movement starts with the arts first" (emphasis added).

At 28 years old you have much to learn. I will give you the advice that one of my grad professors aggressively told me when I was in my 20s and I stated that I disagreed with his comments in class. He said, "Young man, don't you ever disagree with something until you have done your homework." Young brother, you can either learn as I did or you can take an arrogant position and continue to make false and illogical statements.

You stated:

"There has NOT been any African centered documentaries done aesthetically and as comprehensive on this level: PERIOD!"

This is another false statement. The independent film "500 Years Later" (2005) is a recent powerful African centered documentary that is aesthetic, professional, comprehensive, filmed in 20 countries and 5 continents, and has received international attention and awards. It is used as a teaching tool and discussion piece in countries around the world, and for you to dismiss this great work is absurd and shows either gross ignorance or extreme arrogance. If you are serious about your project, then you can learn much from this excellent film project.

<http://www.500yearslater.com/>

I stated:

> This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.<

You replied:

>This I have to disagree with this again. The book

Culture and African American Politics by Charles P. Henry is dedicated to disproving that whole statement. Movements start in the heart of the people. This is expressed through their culture. Culture is simply the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative capacities of a given population. We know this academic definition as ART .>

You are presenting nothing but rhetoric and smoke and mirrors. A tiny 140 page book can hardly deal with the origins of all of the movements I mentioned. Since you boldly claim that the book disproves my statement, then I challenge you to give any specific *first-hand evidence* presented in the book that documents the Garvey Movement and the anti-lynching movement championed by the NAACP, Tuskegee Institute, and the great Ida B. Wells began "with the arts first." Why do you waste your time and give examples of the Harlem Renaissance and the Negritude Movement when I did not mention either of these movements? Apparently, you must falsely believe that because you heard about one or two movements then all of them must be the same.

Unfortunately, your arguments and logic are contradictory and fall under the category of fallacious reasoning. For example, you first say that all movements start with the arts, and when I challenged this false statement you then illogically shift to say that "The Black Arts movement runs parallel to the Civil Rights movement. The African Centered movement runs parallel with the Hip Hop movement." Also, "Africa's struggles have always been tied to the expressive arts." "Starting" versus "tied to" or "running parallel" are two different issues and it is fallacious reasoning 101 to say otherwise. You have created an imaginary strawman position that has nothing to do with what I stated. First, you falsely claimed that "any" movement starts with the arts, and I mentioned movements that clearly did not start with art as the catalyst. Then you created a different argument about "running parallel" and "tied to," and even mentioned movements that were not included in my statement.

If you knew anything about the '50s-'70s then you would know that the Civil Rights Movement began in the mid 1950s and had already declined and faded before the Black Arts Movement (BAM) emerged in the late 1960s. The BAM was a cultural expression that later grew out of the Black Power Movement in the 60s. Also, if you learned to humble yourself and talked to any of the elders involved in the origins of the African Centered Movement in 1984 and also read my book on this subject, then you would know that this movement did not start with "art." Of course, art is *associated* with socio-political movements, but when you make an absurd sweeping statement that "all" movements begin "with arts first" then it is clear that the little information that you have is unorganized and causes you to make false generalizations. Let me help you out. If you simply state that art is often a critical component of various movements, then informed people and scholars would take your comment serious because it would be accurate. Your problem, however, is that you make statements like "always," "any," "all" or "there has NOT been" when you have not done your homework and don't know what you are talking about. I learned decades ago that it is better to be silent than to make wild statements. If you want to advance your project and truly be of use to our people, then you should heed the advice of the moral teacher from Kemet, Ankhsheshonqi when he says, "Examine every matter that you may understand it. Do not say I am learned but rather set yourself to become wise, be gentle and patient and your character will be beautiful. It is in the development of character that instruction succeeds."

I will not spend any more of my time on this matter because I have given you enough sound advice. Young brother, the rest is up to you!

Advancing the work,
Manu Ampim

---

Peace

I see that the topic has gotten off course and I apologize to the group for shifting it in that direction. Now I will address directly the statements in the previous reply.

As to this quote:

> You assume that film makers and activists have not done what you are talking about. You should check out Dr. Ben's powerful CD-Rom from about 15 years. Also, I have met numerous people who have the social and historical awareness that you mention and they have high quality equipment that has allowed them to influence numerous people, so your ideas are not new.

>

This is exactly why in my post I said the following:

>

> The majority of the people on this list (probably) came into
> "consciousness" (if a child of the 80's and 90's) through groups like > Africa Baambada, KRS-1, Rakim, Rast Kass, Killah Priest, Wu-Tang, > Brand Nubian, Queen Latifah, the Jungle Brothers and more. They got

- > deeper into their consciousness by watching video lectures by Dr. Ben,
- > Ashra Kwesi, Marimba Ani, Ivan Van Sertima, Ronoko Rashidi, Naim
- > Akbar, Asa Hilliard and John G. Jackson. All of them used film and
- > music to bring people into the fold.
- >
- > What I am talking about is taking what we've already been doing, and the only methods proven to work outside of academia, and take it to the next level and do what they couldn't do.

I clearly state that this has already been done and it is nothing new, but am advocating taking that process of film (and any other art medium) and enhance what they did but more so on the level of The Secret and What the Bleep Do We Know. There has NOT been any African centered documentaries done aesthetically and as comprehensive on this level: PERIOD!

When I speak about movements starting with the artists, this is what I mean:

"In 1926 the Krigwa Players of Harlem declared that plays about Negro life "must be written by Negro authors who understand from birth and continual association just what it means to be a Negro today." Years later, protesting against the distorted interpretations of Negro life by white playwrights, Langston Hughes declared that someday someone would write honestly about Negroes, and he predicted: "It'll be me myself!" Over the years many writers, white as well as black, have reached the conclusion that Negroes themselves will give us the true picture of the Negro reality. "No white man, "an English critic stated recently, "however brave and well ?intentioned, can ever sing the Negro song." (Abramson: vii)

Is this not, in essence, Afrocentricity before Afrocentricity and the African-Centered movement? This is during the Harlem Renaissance in the 1920's. Although everyone didn't necessarily identify with " Africa ," they clearly were "Black" centered and this drive was started by artists way before the 1970's and 80's.

As Diop (Van Sertima: 263) is quoted saying,

"The cultural personality of Africa is inseparable from the restoration of our collective historical consciousness?.After all, what is our objective if it is not that of recovering and promoting the creativity of our peoples? Man's mission is creation. African renaissance, black renaissance, is inseparable from the restoration of the black world creativity."

When Diop speaks about what fueled the movement in France , he clearly speaks of an artistic movement that rallied the intellectuals and political activists to action. When we talk about the start of the Negritude movement, Diop (Van Sertima: 266) states,

"[Aime] Cesaire was practically the only one to have played a decisive and personal role in the mobilization of the black students who were in France during the colonial period. He summoned us up to our feet in the struggle against the colonial oppressors."

This flies in the face of the comment that one person (or film) would not have a significant impact. We know that Cesaire was a poet and was known for his fiery poetry and literature that inspired a movement in France (which eventually spread throughout Africa - although with much deserved criticism) . When we talk about mass movements, we are talking about a philosophy in which the general masses, outside of academia can follow. This is why the arts are so important to any "movement." So much so that Diop (Van Sertima: 263) mentions in regard to the disconnect between the masses and academia:

"At the time there were other black intellectuals in Paris who were defending the colonial status quo with philosophical arguments. Their writings were indigestible to the mass of black students in Paris at the time."

This is because the message wasn't put in a matter that resonated with the public. The public could care less about conceptual frameworks, epistemology, and ontology. Africa's struggles have always been tied to the expressive arts. And because Cesaire's message was tied into a medium in which so many African people can connect with (art), he was very effective in mobilizing and affecting social consciousness. The same can be said of Civil Rights movement whose rally cries were that of the songs during the marches and in the churches (art).

You stated:

>

> This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.

>

This I have to disagree with this again. The book Culture and African American Politics by Charles P. Henry is dedicated to disproving that whole statement. Movements start in the heart of the people. This is expressed through their culture. Culture is simply the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative capacities of a given population. We know this academic definition as ART .

The first spark of collective resistance and solidarity for slaves were through the Negro spirituals (music). This later was transferred into the blues (music). The message was further expanded during the Harlem Renaissance (various arts). The Black Arts movement runs parallel to the Civil Rights movement. The African Centered movement runs parallel with the Hip Hop movement. You can't name a movement in African-American history that does not correspond with an artistic movement.

Currently I am shooting a documentary film titled Poet-Trees & Grass-Roots: The unSpoken Word in Poetry, and when I interviewed Dr. Patrica Reed-Smith (Theatre), Dr Amiri Baraka (literature), The Last Poets (spoken word poetry), they all mentioned that during the civil rights era and the black power period, that what got the masses motivated in their neighborhoods was the arts. It was the arts, just like in the case with Aime Cesaire in France , that got people to action.

I speak about issues like this frequently at universities because this method of teaching is the heart of African culture. We teach through arts and anyone attempting to teach African history, without at some point invoking this aspect African epistemology, does not believe in African culture and that its methods is of any value for us. You can't name (outside of Diop) any major intellectual that did not have an artistic side. Whether it is Asante , Karenga, Dr. Ben, Marcus Garvey, Clarke, or Cesaire.

A matter of fact, most people don't know this, but Dr. Ben used to be a comedian and was in a band who used to play at the Apollo theater in Harlem . Can anyone guess who his band mates were? Maya Angelou and Babatunde Olatunji. Although he was an academician, he connected to the people through the arts and this is before the Civil Rights movement.

All I am saying is this, the old ways of trying to disseminate information about our historical legacy is outdated. The method I propose is the same method the ancient Nile Valley peoples did with the open Asarian drama plays in Ta-Meri. They used art to teach. The Dogon still uses this method to teach science. The game has changed now. We have a medium our ancestors did not have to convey their cultural and historical world view and that is through film. What you can do with a JVC HD Pro Camcorder, Adobe Premiere and Adobe After Effects can tell our story in a whole new light and can be used as a tool to bring the "masses" to the books written about our story. I know this works because it worked for the Matrix, 300, What the Bleep Do We Know, and The Secret. Each one of these works brought more attention to European history and philosophy than any collection of books written or message board discussions.

Here are some ways "white people" are getting their point across:

Zeitgeist

<http://zeitgeistmovie.com/>

The Corporation
<http://www.thecorporation.com/>

Beyond - The Animatrix

What the bleep do we know
<http://www.whatthebleep.com/>

The Secret
<http://www.thesecret.tv>

Each one of these "films" has study groups across the country and study guides and material to go along with the films. When we talk about "reintroducing" African civilization to the masses, we have to come just like they are coming. It is a movement, not just a set of films. I will address your other statements in another email.

References:

Abramson, Doris E. (1969). Negro Playwrights in the American Theatre, 1925-1959. Columbia University Press. New York and London

Henry, Charles P. (1990). Culture and African American Politics. Indiana University Press. Bloomington and Indianapolis

Van Sertima, Ivan. (1992). Great African Thinkers, Vol.1: Cheikh Anta Diop. Journal of African Civilizations.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24785|2008-02-10 19:07:22|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Manu|

Can I add that two recent films that are highly instructive for black people are:

1. The Great Debaters [Denzel W., Forrest Whitaker] and
2. AMANDLA [the South African documentary prepared with support from the Truth and Reconciliation Committee about the history of the struggle against apartheid]

Regards,

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: Profmanu@acninc.net
Date: Sat, 9 Feb 2008 03:09:10 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Manu

Greetings,

You falsely stated, "One thing academicians always fail to realize is that *any* movement starts with the arts first" (emphasis added).

At 28 years old you have much to learn. I will give you the advice that one of my grad professors aggressively told me when I was in my 20s and I stated that I disagreed with his comments in class. He said, "Young man, don't you ever disagree with something until you have done your homework." Young brother, you can either learn as I did or you can take an arrogant position and continue to make false and illogical statements.

You stated:

"There has NOT been any African centered documentaries done aesthetically and as comprehensive on this level: PERIOD!"

This is another false statement. The independent film "500 Years Later" (2005) is a recent powerful African centered documentary that is aesthetic, professional, comprehensive, filmed in 20 countries and 5 continents, and has received international attention and awards. It is used as a teaching tool and discussion piece in countries around the world, and for you to dismiss this great work is absurd and shows either gross ignorance or extreme arrogance. If you are serious about your project, then you can learn much from this excellent film project.

<http://www.500years later.com/>

I stated:

> This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.<

You replied:

>This I have to disagree with this again. The book Culture and

African American Politics by Charles P. Henry is dedicated to disproving that whole statement. Movements start in the heart of the people. This is expressed through their culture. Culture is simply the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative capacities of a given population. We know this academic definition as ART.>

You are presenting nothing but rhetoric and smoke and mirrors. A tiny 140 page book can hardly deal with the origins of all of the movements I mentioned. Since you boldly claim that the book disproves my statement, then I challenge you to give any specific *first-hand evidence* presented in the book that documents the Garvey Movement and the anti-lynching movement championed by the NAACP, Tuskegee Institute, and the great Ida B. Wells began "with the arts first." Why do you waste your time and give examples of the Harlem Renaissance and the Negritude Movement when I did not mention either of these movements? Apparently, you must falsely believe that because you heard about one or two movements then all of them must be the same.

Unfortunately, your arguments and logic are contradictory and fall under the category of fallacious reasoning. For example, you first say that all movements start with the arts, and when I challenged this false statement you then illogically shift to say that "The Black Arts movement runs parallel to the Civil Rights movement. The African Centered movement runs parallel with the Hip Hop movement." Also, "Africa's struggles have always been tied to the expressive arts." "Starting" versus "tied to" or "running parallel" are two different issues and it is fallacious reasoning 101 to say otherwise. You have created an imaginary strawman position that has nothing to do with what I stated. First, you falsely claimed that "any" movement starts with the arts, and I mentioned movements that clearly did not start with art as the catalyst. Then you created a different argument about "running parallel" and "tied to," and even mentioned movements that were not included in my statement.

If you knew anything about the '50s-'70s then you would know that the Civil Rights Movement began in the mid 1950s and had already declined and faded before the Black Arts Movement (BAM) emerged in the late 1960s. The BAM was a cultural expression that later grew out of the Black Power Movement in the 60s. Also, if you learned to humble yourself and talked to any of the elders involved in the origins of the African Centered Movement in 1984 and also read my book on this subject, then you would know that this movement did not start with "art." Of course, art is *associated* with socio-political movements, but when you make an absurd sweeping statement that "all" movements begin "with arts first" then it is clear that the little information that you have is unorganized and causes you to make false generalizations.

Let me help you out. If you simply state that art is often a critical component of various movements, then informed people and scholars would take your comment serious because it would be accurate. Your problem, however, is that you make statements like "always," "any," "all" or "there has NOT been" when you have not done your homework and don't know what you are talking about. I learned decades ago that it is better to be silent than to make wild statements.

If you want to advance your project and truly be of use to our people, then you should heed the advice of the moral teacher from Kemet, Ankhsheshonqi when he says, "Examine every matter that you may understand it. Do not say I am learned but rather set yourself to become wise, be gentle and patient and your character will be beautiful. It is in the development of character that instruction succeeds."

I will not spend any more of my time on this matter because I have given you enough sound advice. Young brother, the rest is up to you!

Advancing the work,

Manu Ampim

-----

Peace

I see that the topic has gotten off course and I apologize to the group for shifting it in that direction. Now I will address directly the statements in the previous reply.

As to this quote:

> You assume that film makers and activists have not done what you are talking about. You should check out Dr. Ben's powerful CD-Rom from about 15 years. Also, I have met numerous people who have the social and historical awareness that you mention and they have high quality equipment that has allowed them to influence numerous people, so your ideas are not new.

>

This is exactly why in my post I said the following:

>

- > The majority of the people on this list (probably) came into
- > "consciousness" (if a child of the 80's and 90's) through groups like
- > Africa Baambada, KRS-1, Rakim, Rase Kass, Killah Priest, Wu-Tang,
- > Brand Nubian, Queen Latifah, the Jungle Brothers and more. They got
- > deeper into their consciousness by watching video lectures by Dr. Ben,
- > Ashra Kwesi, Marimba Ani, Ivan Van Sertima, Ronoko Rashidi, Naim
- > Akbar, Asa Hilliard and John G. Jackson. All of them used film and
- > music to bring people into the fold.
- >
- > What I am talking about is taking what we've already been doing, and the only methods proven to work outside of academia, and take it to the next level and do what they couldn't do.

I clearly state that this has already been done and it is nothing new, but am advocating taking that process of film (and any other art medium) and enhance what they did but more so on the level of The Secret and What the Bleep Do We Know. There has NOT been any African centered documentaries done aesthetically and as comprehensive on this level: PERIOD!

When I speak about movements starting with the artists, this is what I mean:

"In 1926 the Krigwa Players of Harlem declared that plays about Negro life "must be written by Negro authors who understand from birth and continual association just what it means to be a Negro today." Years later, protesting against the distorted interpretations of Negro life by white playwrights, Langston Hughes declared that someday someone would write honestly about Negroes, and he predicted: "It'll be me myself!" Over the years many writers, white as well as black, have reached the conclusion that Negroes themselves will give us the true picture of the Negro reality. "No white man, "an English critic stated recently, "however brave and well intentioned, can ever sing the Negro song." (Abramson: vii)

Is this not, in essence, Afrocentricity before Afrocentricity and the African-Centered movement? This is during the Harlem Renaissance in the 1920's. Although everyone didn't necessarily identify with "Africa," they clearly were "Black" centered and this drive was started by artists way before the 1970's and 80's.

As Diop (Van Sertima: 263) is quoted saying,

"The cultural personality of Africa is inseparable from the restoration of our collective historical consciousness .After all, what is our objective if it is not that of recovering and promoting the creativity of our peoples? Man's mission is creation. African renaissance, black renaissance, is inseparable from the restoration of the black world creativity."

When Diop speaks about what fueled the movement in France, he clearly speaks of an artistic movement that rallied the intellectuals and political activists to action. When we talk about the start of the Negritude movement, Diop (Van Sertima: 266) states,

"[Aime] Cesaire was practically the only one to have played a decisive and personal role in the mobilization of the black students who were in France during the colonial period. He summoned us up to our feet in the struggle against the colonial oppressors."

This flies in the face of the comment that one person (or film) would not have a significant impact. We know that Cesaire was a poet and was known of his fiery poetry and literature that inspired a movement in France (which eventually spread throughout Africa - although with much deserved criticism). When we talk about mass movements, we are talking about a philosophy in which the general masses, outside of academia can follow. This is why the arts are so important to any "movement." So much so that Diop (Van Sertima: 263) mentions in regard to the disconnect between the masses and academia:

"At the time there were other black intellectuals in Paris who were defending the colonial status quo with philosophical arguments. Their writings were indigestible to the mass of black students in Paris at the time."

This is because the message wasn't put in a matter that resonated with the public. The public could care less about conceptual frameworks, epistemology, and ontology. Africa's struggles have always been tied to the expressive arts. And because Cesaire's message was tied into a medium in which so many African people can connect with (art), he was very effective in mobilizing and affecting social consciousness. The same can be said of Civil Rights movement whose rally cries were that of the songs during the marches and in the churches (art).

You stated:

>

> This statement is false. None of the following 20th century movements began "with the arts first": the Garvey Movement did not start "with the arts first" and nor did the anti-lynching movement, Civil Rights movement, or Black Power Movement.

>

This I have to disagree with this again. The book Culture and African American Politics by Charles P. Henry is dedicated to disproving that whole statement. Movements start in the heart of the people. This is expressed through their culture. Culture is simply the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative capacities of a given population. We know this academic definition as ART.

The first spark of collective resistance and solidarity for slaves were through the Negro spirituals (music). This later was transferred into the blues (music). The message was further expanded during the Harlem Renaissance (various arts). The Black Arts movement runs parallel to the Civil Rights movement. The African Centered movement runs parallel with the Hip Hop movement. You can't name a movement in African-American history that does not correspond with an artistic movement.

Currently I am shooting a documentary film titled Poet-Trees & Grass-Roots: The unSpoken Word in Poetry, and when I interviewed Dr. Patrica Reed-Smith (Theatre), Dr Amiri Baraka (literature) , The Last Poets (spoken word poetry), they all mentioned that during the civil rights era and the black power period, that what got the masses motivated in their neighborhoods was the arts. It was the arts, just like in the case with Aime Cesaire in France, that got people to action.

I speak about issues like this frequently at universities because this method of teaching is the heart of African culture. We teach through arts and anyone attempting to teach African history, without at some point invoking this aspect African epistemology, does not believe in African culture and that its methods is of any value for us. You can't name (outside of Diop) any major intellectual that did not have an artistic side. Whether it is Asante, Karenga, Dr. Ben, Marcus Garvey, Clarke, or Cesaire.

A matter of fact, most people don't know this, but Dr. Ben used to be a comedian and was in a band who used to play at the Apollo theater in Harlem. Can anyone guess who his band mates were? Maya Angelou and Babatunde Olatunji. Although he was an academician, he connected to the people through the arts and this is before the Civil Rights movement.

All I am saying is this, the old ways of trying to disseminate information about our historical legacy is outdated. The method I propose is the same method the ancient Nile Valley peoples did with the open Asarian drama plays in Ta-Meri. They used art to teach. The Dogon still uses this method to teach science. The game has changed now. We have a medium our ancestors did not have to convey their cultural and historical world view and that is through film. What you can do with a JVC HD Pro Camcorder, Adobe Premiere and Adobe After Effects can tell our story in a whole new light and can be used as a tool to bring the "masses" to the books written about our story. I know this works because it worked for the Matrix, 300, What the Bleep Do We Know, and The Secret. Each one of these works brought more attention to European history and philosophy than any collection of books written or message board discussions.

Here are some ways "white people" are getting their point across:

Zeitgeist

<http://zeitgeistmov ie.com/>

The Corporation

<http://www.thecorpo ration.com/>

Beyond - The Animatrix

What the bleep do we know

<http://www.whattheb leep.com/>

The Secret

<http://www.these cre t.tv>

Each one of these "films" has study groups across the country and study guides and material to go along with the films. When we talk about "reintroducing" African civilization to the masses, we have to come just like they are coming. It is a movement, not just a set of films. I will address your other statements in another email.

References:

Abramson, Doris E. (1969). Negro Playwrights in the American Theatre, 1925-1959. Columbia University Press. New York and London

Henry, Charles P. (1990). Culture and African American Politics. Indiana University Press. Bloomington and Indianapolis

Van Sertima, Ivan. (1992). Great African Thinkers, Vol.1: Cheikh Anta Diop. Journal of African Civilizations.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.
| 24786|2008-02-10 19:07:36|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [SmaiTawi] Two Conferences on Africa
Diaspora Spiritual Beliefs|
khadijah kee wrote:

To: black capoeira
CC: Luv 4 Self network ,
Smai Tawi
From: khadijah kee
Date: Sat, 9 Feb 2008 13:57:23 -0800 (PST)
Subject: [SmaiTawi] Two Conferences on Africa Diaspora Spiritual Beliefs... please circulate

Alafia,
There is a wind blowing in the nation, as dialogs concerning Black religion in the African Diaspora. Two conferences are on the horizon. Yale, New Haven in April 3-5, '08 & Kalamazoo , Michigan in May 22-25, '08

You may already know about this conference.

I am forwarding to you a link to the announcement of a conference at Yale University, April 3-5 entitled

MIDDLE PASSAGE CONVERSATIONS ON BLACK RELIGION IN THE AFRICAN DIASPORA at YALE

The conference is free and you must register before March 17

The link address is: www.middlepassage@yale.edu

and /or go to the Divinity school events calendar

contact: Christina Peppard; Staff assistant

Middle Passage Conversations Conference

404 Prospect Street

New Haven , Ct 06511

USA

Religion & Religious Identities in Africa and the African Diaspora. May 22 -25, 2008

From: Onaiwu W. Ogbomo <onaiwu.ogbomo@wmich.edu>

Conference on Religion & Religious Identities in Africa and the African Diaspora. Kalamazoo, Michigan, May 22-25, 2008.

Religious beliefs and identities have among other things shaped the Nature of human experience in Africa and the African Diaspora. It is also a known fact that religious beliefs and identities have influenced human behavior in both religious and non-religious ways in different societies. These influences have included positive and negative consequences in the ordering of society in Africa and the African Diaspora. Another critical aspect in trying to explore the concept of religion is what constitutes religion and religious beliefs? To date, scholars of religion have divergent views on this issue. To what extent is this applicable to Africans and peoples of African descent? What roles have religion and religious identities played in nation-building efforts in Africa and the African Diaspora? This conference will explore these and other related issues. In addition, participants are invited to explore other topics such as, but not limited to the following:

- * Religion, gender and sexuality issues
- * Religion and conflicts
- * Religion, health and wellbeing
- * Religion, State and political participation
- * Religious denominations and community development
- * Current scholarship on religion and religious Identities
- * African religious identities in the Diaspora
- * Religious identities in immigrant communities
- * Pentecostalism in Africa and the African Diaspora
- * Inter-religious encounters in Africa and the African Diaspora - Islam, Christianity and * African Traditional Religions
- * Religion, Education and the making of the nation.

Conference participants are encouraged to submit abstracts (300 words At most) on any aspect of the broad themes identified above.

The deadline for submitting paper proposals is April 15, 2008.

All abstracts should include title, the author's name, institutional Affiliation, address, telephone number, and email address.

Please submit all abstracts by e-mail to:
Onaiwu W. Ogbomo, Western Michigan University
Kalamazoo, e-mail: <onaiwu.ogbomo@wmich.edu>

Joseph Banguara, Kalamazoo College, e-mail:
<bangura@kzoo. edu>

Here are two other important websites:

www.storyofstuff.org

www.africawrites.com

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24787|2008-02-10 19:11:46|Alex van Deelen|The Democrats' Class War|

- > David Sirota is a bestselling author whose newest book, "The Uprising,"
- > will be released in June of 2008.

Davis Sirota is a center right commentator, who is always invited on mainstream media programs.

Count on a lot of attacks on Obama from the Clinton camp - even when they don't identify themselves as the Clinton camp.

Alex

| 24788|2008-02-10 19:22:46|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Attachments :

Oh my!

GE

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Tafari khumbaka

Sent: Thu 2/7/2008 1:21 PM

To: isosceles woody

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

thanx great info!!!

Men Sa Hai Neru wrote:

Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)

From: Men Sa Hai Neru

To: soverykerrie tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com

Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite as Clinton and the rest.

Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor

Austan Goolsbee(Skull&Bones-1991)-Economic Advisor

David Cutler- Economic Adviser

Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser

Here's what these guys stand for: <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

<http://us.rd.yahoo.com/evt=51733/\*http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ>

| 24789|2008-02-10 20:34:48|OyaShango|EGYPTIAN PHAROAH IN ROME BLACK SOCRATES AND MORE!|

Just got this in the mail on black women and more. A MUST SEE!

<http://www.amengansie.com/Sybils2.html>

| 24790|2008-02-11 06:46:33|Asar Imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Manu|

Manu

Before you further distort my words based on your erroneous assumptions, let's make some things clear.

1). In the case of 500 Years Later, I have no qualms with this film. I have seen the film several times. So much so, that we've invited him to the University of Houston and he will be here on February 25th to show and discuss the film. As deep as the film is, it is not free of critique (which me and brother Asante have already discussed). The major critique is that this is another film on slavery. Every time we have a chance to tell our history in film fashion, all we can talk about is slavery and civil rights. Is there anything inherently wrong with that? No.

But if you are trying to teach the MASSES about our history and inspire them to greater heights, we have to go beyond our lives in relation to European people. If not, all our people can relate to is slavery and civil rights. Is this not the basis of the Afrocentric movement? How can we talk about black Pharaohs if we are stuck on slavery? Is 500 Years a good film? Yes. Does it aesthetically compare to The Secret and What the Bleep Do We Know? No. Saying that it is not graphically appealing as other movies is NOT the same as saying that it is not, 'aesthetic, professional, [or] comprehensive' at ALL. That's your personal interjection and not mine.

The aesthetics are so important because it is that (the artistic part) that draws the layman to go see such work (this is a law of nature). 500 Years Later will not appeal to the 'masses' of our people because 'our' people aren't drawn to documentaries such as this. For people who are already on this level of thinking, it won't matter to them: they'll see it anyway. But the layman who is used to Tyler Perry? you have to address them differently. If you are looking for examples of new age aesthetics, then I offer these examples: The Kingdom., The Secret, What The Bleep?, 10000 BC, 300. I want you to take some time out and look at these trailers and films and tell me 500 Years Later compares to that.

These movies were attractive to Blacks, Whites, Indian and Asians for a reason. You can argue that they are Eurocentric and that is my point. They can continue to lie to the public because they know the ART of aesthetics and how to use it to their advantage. I develop new media and marketing material for companies everyday. I know this all too well. I know what makes people buy and what doesn't (depending on product). And please, learn my background in media before making erroneous comments. To address your other comments, we will first go through a series of definitions so we can (hopefully) be on the same page. I really didn't want to turn this discussion into an 'essay,' but some things have to be addressed and can't be made with brief commentary.

What is Art?

According to www.etymonline.com, one of the many definitions of art(s) says, "those which appeal to the mind and the imagination" According to www.dictionary.com, art is, 'the quality, production, expression, or realm, according to aesthetic principles, of what is beautiful, appealing, or of more than ordinary significance.' My definition (as an artist) is, 'the outward expression of the values, philosophies and creative faculties which is characterized by its stylistic attributes, in order to bring attention to the inherent meaning disguised by its form.'

What is an artist

According to www.etymonline.com, '1581, "one who cultivates one of the fine arts," from M.Fr. artiste, from It. artista, from M.L. artista, from L. ars (see art). Originally used especially of the arts presided over by the Muses (history, poetry, comedy, tragedy, music, dancing, astronomy), but also used 17c. for "one skilled in any art or craft" (including professors, surgeons, craftsmen, cooks). Now especially of "one who practices the arts of design or visual arts" (a sense first attested 1747). Artistic first recorded 1753; artistry 1868.'

Characteristics of a social movement

To quote Wikipedia

Many social movements are created around some charismatic leader, i.e. one possessing charismatic authority. After the social movement is created, there are two likely phases of recruitment. The first phase will gather the people deeply interested in the primary goal and ideal of the movement. The second phase, which will usually come after the given movement had some successes and is trendy; it would look good on a The key here \(especially among African people\) is the 'charismatic leader'. Social movements attempt to change social policy or social consciousness. The initial definition given is, Social movements are a type of group action. They are large informal groupings of individuals and/or organizations focused on specific political or social issues, in other words, on carrying out, resisting or undoing a social change.

Art, the arts, the artist ? the basis of any movement

For some reason you seem to not be clear on what art or the arts are. Neither do you seem to be clear on what is necessary to have a movement. Keep in mind there is a difference between the initial organizing efforts of an organization and the characteristics which make those efforts a 'movement'. A movement is the shift in consciousness of a mass of people to mobilize their energy to change social policy or the social consciousness of a given group of people. The organizing of the bus boycott was handled by a few people in private. The mobilizing and convincing the people to participate happened in the churches. This was achieved by the 'charismatic' preaching style of Church pastors (an art form, part of the arts). Any and everyone I've interviewed across this country considers a preacher as an artist, and black preaching part of the 'arts'. Great orator is the basis of African history itself (Jele, Halo poets, Griots, Bards.) This usage of the 'arts' is what motivates the 'masses' to form a movement. The importance of this form of art cannot be overstated. For in the ancient Egyptian educational system, the first 3 out of the 7 liberal ARTS (James 1992: 135), that you had to master dealt with speech & language (rhetoric, grammar, and dialectics). Why would the majority of the liberal ARTS have to deal with speeches? Charles P. Henry states in Culture and African American Politics (1990: 70) that:

Drawing on their skill as communicators, Garvey and King were able to build mass movements precisely because they appealed to the black religious tradition.

What is the black religious tradition? Is it not characterized by the ART of preaching? He goes on further to state on page 72,

In fact it is a testament to King's power as a charismatic moral leader and black preacher that he was able to convince so many blacks to follow a doctrine that ran counter to much of the black tradition from the Old Testament heroes to secular demands for justice.

There is no movement unless you appeal to the artistic nature of the people. Dr. Maulana Karenga supports this notion when he states,

'Language and imagery must come from the people and be returned to the people in a beautiful language which everybody can easily understand.' (Black Theater, pg 10).

Using this form of communication is how we get the movement started. Charles P. Henry again reemphasizes this notion on page 78 when he talks about Jesse Jackson and his run for presidency when he states,

He has risen at precisely that point in American politics when a strong personality commands media attention that can be translated into votes.

The whole chapter is dedicated to Jesse Jackson and his campaign for president. He used his preaching style to get votes, just like any preacher or leader used their 'preaching' style to gain members in the movement. He used the art to get votes. This particular quote is under the subtitle, 'Jackson Style and the King Legacy.' The whole chapter touches on the black sermon preaching style and how it's used to start movements. To reiterate this notion of the spoken word art-form as the catalyst for social change, Willner describes four core factors in charismatic leadership (Willner 1984: 61):

1. the assimilation of a leader to one or more of the dominant myths of his or her society and culture
2. the performance of what appears to be an extraordinary or heroic feat
3. the projection of the possession of qualities with an uncanny or powerful aura
4. and the possession of outstanding rhetorical ability

Maulana Karenga is quoted as saying, "for we begin to build on [a] traditional foundation, but it is out of movement, that is experience, that we complete our creation" (Black Theater pg 9). Here again he emphasizes that the movement is secondary but comes out of the traditions. It is the artist that reminds the people of the traditions. You can't start a movement until you connect to the emotions of the people. This point was emphasized here when it states:

In the true ideology of cultural nationalists, [Larry] Neal insinuates that black history is not something known or learned through the head, but that it is something felt through the heart.

There is no separation of art, politics and the secular

<http://www.umich.edu/~eng499/concepts/blaes.html>

Likewise, the Black aesthetic reflects the need for change. One of the primary reasons for the use of drama and performance in the BAM, is that it emphasizes change as its very lifeblood [IS THIS NOT THE VERY NATURE OF THE BLACK CHURCH AESTHETIC?]

<http://www.umich.edu/~eng499/concepts/triple.html>

The triple front is a term derived from Harold Cruse's notion that any effort to empower the Black community must simultaneously focus on cultural, economic and political matters. In essence these three separate "fronts" must all be assessed in order to have a successful movement. In Crisis, Cruse explains his theories for the prevention of the failure of the BAM and all the revolutionary movements of the time. Cruse writes, "No social movement of a protest nature in Harlem can be successful or have any positive meaning unless it is at one and the same time a political, economic movement."

<http://www.umich.edu/~eng499/concepts/artist.html>

Such communities weren't only about making art, but about getting black people to recognize, celebrate and transform themselves. Moreover, this wasn't merely "artistic." Such recognition, celebration and transformation was oriented toward concrete political projects. These kinds of artistic communities/institutions almost always had workshops dedicated to apparently non-artistic issues, such as home economics, political theory, martial arts, etc. The idea was to recognize art as one component in a wide range of activities.

Conclusion

It is apparent that you and I are working off two totally different definitions of what is art, who is an artist and what is the arts and its role in a movement. You also seem to be under the illusion that I have no knowledge of past movements, what our ancestors have accomplished and by what means. You also seem to be unclear of exactly when a movement has begun and what motivating factors need to be in place to accomplish such a task.

I mentioned the other movements because they were MOVEMENTS period which this discussion isn't relegated to your chosen movements and yet you still did not address those movements. I could have also started by using Khomeini, Hitler and Mussolini as examples as their movements relied on the same characteristics that the Garvey, Civil Rights or African Centered movements relied on: the charismatic leader who has mastered rhetoric, grammar and dialectics (3 of the 7 liberal ARTS). We know that these movements relied heavily on the charismatic leader because as soon as the leaders were removed, so died the movement. This was one of the major topics at a recent Tavis Smiley State of the Black Union forums.

You can mince words and use your age to skate around the issues all you want. None of your ad hominem and illogical assumptions can magically whisk away the fact that movements are started because artists inspire and encourage people to take action. It doesn't matter if it's done through speech, poetry, film, painting, sculpting or theatre, it is because someone used the arts to appeal to the spirit of the individual. This is a basic known fact all around the world and this man reiterates this very concept in the film Amandla (which can be seen at the following link 28 seconds into the trailer)

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=H52-6d92lHs>.

For some reason you are implying that the arts is limited to poetry, painting or theater. That is an outsiders assumption. As has already been proven, the arts encompass so much more and has been quoted several times in this reply, it is through these art forms which transpire into mass movements. There is not mass movement with out that component (as was quoted in the film Amandla above).

To reiterate my point from the very beginning of this discussion, until we start telling our own stories using new media, in a manner that is aesthetically pleasing and entertaining, we can never expect to penetrate the minds of the mass of our people. This is not something new as this is the very practice of ALL of our ancient African societies. You can't expect the masses of people to jump on board any ideology unless you appeal to their artistic senses. This is the law of marketing. There is a kongo proverb that says "hearing is seeing." This means something doesn't register in people's minds unless they see it. In regards to this discussion Maulana Karenga states:

We say inspiration is the real basis of education. In a word, images inspire us, academic assertions bore us.

Once again, he is reemphasizing the fact that it is the arts that move us to action, not intellectual masturbation. As I quoted before, I shall quote him again:

"The cultural personality of Africa is inseparable from the restoration of our collective historical consciousness? .After all, what is our objective if it is not that of recovering and promoting the creativity of our peoples? Man's mission is creation. African renaissance, black renaissance, is inseparable from the restoration of the black world creativity." - Cheikh Anta Diop

References

Abramson, Doris E. (1969). Negro Playwrights in the American Theatre, 1925-1959. Columbia University Press. New York and London

Gayle, Addison (1971). The Black Aesthetic. Garden City, NY: Doubleday Publishers

Henry, Charles P. (1990). Culture and African American Politics. Indiana University Press. Bloomington and Indianapolis

James, George (1992). Stolen Legacy. Africa World Press, New Jersey

Karenga, Ron (1969). On Black Art, A Rhythmic Reality of Revolution.

Neal, Larry (1989). Visions of a Liberated Future. St. Paul, MN: Thunder's Mouth Press

Van Sertima, Ivan. (1992). Great African Thinkers, Vol.1: Cheikh Anta Diop. Journal of African Civilizations.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24791|2008-02-11 06:53:57|Asar Imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter|
Peter

Keep in mind we are talking about films that are created by Black people. Amandla cannot be considered in this discussion as it is written, directed and produced by someone who, in our folk taxonomic designations, would be considered ?white.?  Although I really have no qualms with the film, which is excellent, it is still someone else telling our story. This is the primary issue: us telling OUR story like WHITE people tell OUR story.

Another good film that just recently came out is Prince Among Slaves, but we can't claim this film either because it again is written and directed by ?white? people.

The issue I have with the Great Debaters is it is another film that focuses on our relationship with Europeans (also they took a lot of creative license when telling the story). Too many of our films have to deal with our relationship to "white" people. European people have films with not one Black person in it (Lord of the Rings). This is how we need to approach our films. Every story we tell doesn't have to be about the struggle between us and Europeans. If the art of dialectics started with ancient Ta-Meri, couldn't we have started there?

Peter Gray wrote:

Can I add that two recent films that are highly instructive for black people are:

1. The Great Debaters [Denzel W., Forrest Whitaker] and
2. AMANDLA [the South African documentary prepared with support from the Truth and Reconciliation Committee about the history of the struggle against apartheid]

Regards,

Peter

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24792|2008-02-11 07:06:56|Peter Gray|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter|
Asar,

We are in the present predicament precisely because of our relationship with/to white people. Who cares who writes the story if the truth is being written? A film (or a book) is either instructive or not.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: asar_imhotep@yahoo.com
Date: Mon, 11 Feb 2008 06:53:56 -0800
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter

Peter

Keep in mind we are talking about films that are created by Black people. Amandla cannot be considered in this discussion as it is written, directed and produced by someone who, in our folk taxonomic designations, would be considered white. Although I really have no qualms with the film, which is excellent, it is still someone else telling our story. This is the primary issue: us telling OUR story like WHITE people tell OUR story. Another good film that just recently came out is Prince Among Slaves, but we cant claim this film either because it again is written and directed by white people. The issue I have with the Great Debators is it is another film that focuses on our relationship with Europeans (also they took a lot of creative license when telling the story). Too many of our films have to deal with our relationship to "white" people. European people have films with not one Black person in it (Lord of the Rings). This is how we need to approach our films. Every story we tell doesn't have to be about the struggle between us and Europeans. If the art of dialectics started with ancient Ta-Meri, couldn't we have started there?

Peter Gray wrote:

Can I add that two recent films that are highly instructive for black people are:

1. The Great Debaters [Denzel W., Forrest Whitaker] and
2. AMANDLA [the South African documentary prepared with support from the Truth and Reconciliation Committee about the history of the struggle against apartheid]

Regards,

Peter

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Helping your favorite cause is as easy as instant messaging. You IM, we give. Learn more.
| 24793|2008-02-11 07:21:13|Asar Imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter|

If the discussion was about films just being instructive, your point would be valid. But we're not talking about simply having "instructive" films. We are talking about us gathering the resources to tell our story in a manner that is based on our special cultural truths (as Dr. Karenga would say).

You can't rely on European people to tell your story because 9 times out of 10 they are going to distort it. For instance, the film Catch-a-Fire was the worst piece of crap I ever seen. They tried to make it seem like all of the indigenous South Africans were willing to forgive the European for the atrocities they committed during the Apartheid era, when the people wanted reparations. That story is not told and it won't be told unless Black documentarians tell the story. Of course the European is going to focus on the "forgiveness" angle of it all.

The Prince of Slaves focuses on the fact that the prince was a Muslim, but doesn't deal with the Islamic Jihads which wrecked havoc on the west coast of Africa and is why 10-15 percent of the Africans transported became Muslim. This is why we tell our story. We've been fighting this battle since the early 1920's.

"In 1926 the Krigwa Players of Harlem declared that plays about Negro life "must be written by Negro authors who understand from birth and continual association just what it means to be a Negro today." Years later, protesting against the distorted interpretations of Negro life by white playwrights, Langston Hughes declared that someday someone would write honestly about Negroes, and he predicted: "It'll be me myself!" Over the years many writers, white as well as black, have reached the conclusion that Negroes themselves will give us the true picture of the Negro reality. "No white man," an English critic stated recently, "however brave and well ?intentioned, can ever sing the Negro song." (Abramson: vii)

Abramson, Doris E. (1969). Negro Playwrights in the American Theatre, 1925-1959. Columbia University Press. New York and London

Peter Gray wrote:

Asar,

We are in the present predicament precisely because of our relationship with/to white people. Who cares who writes the story if the truth is being written? A film (or a book) is either instructive or not.

Peter

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24794|2008-02-11 07:44:26|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter|

Islamic Jihads which wrecked havoc on the west coast of Africa and is why 10-15 percent of the Africans transported became Muslim.

Bringing about the end of the slave trade was on the agenda of several jihadists, including Usman dan Fodio. It is more complicated than you suggest.

I agree with you ,though, on your analysis of Catch-a-Fire.

GE

---

From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com [mailto: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com ] On Behalf Of Asar Imhotep
Sent: Monday, February 11, 2008 10:21 AM
To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter

If the discussion was about films just being instructive, your point would be valid. But we're not talking about simply having "instructive" films. We are talking about us gathering the resources to tell our story in a manner that is based on our special cultural truths (as Dr. Karenga would say).

You can't rely on European people to tell your story because 9 times out of 10 they are going to distort it. For instance, the film Catch-a-Fire was the worst piece of crap I ever seen. They tried to make it seem like all of the indigenous South Africans were willing to forgive the European for the atrocities they committed during the Apartheid era, when the people wanted reparations. That story is not told and it won't be told unless Black documentarians tell the story. Of course the European is going to focus on the "forgiveness" angle of it all.

The Prince of Slaves focuses on the fact that the prince was a Muslim, but doesn't deal with the Islamic Jihads which wrecked havoc on the west coast of Africa and is why 10-15 percent of the Africans transported became Muslim. This is why we tell our story. We've been fighting this battle since the early 1920's.

"In 1926 the Krigwa Players of Harlem declared that plays about Negro life "must be written by Negro authors who understand from birth and continual association just what it means to be a Negro today." Years later, protesting against the distorted interpretations of Negro life by white playwrights, Langston Hughes declared that someday someone would write honestly about Negroes, and he predicted: "It'll be me myself!" Over the years many writers, white as well as black, have reached the conclusion that Negroes themselves will give us the true picture of the Negro reality. "No white man," an English critic stated recently, "however brave and well intentioned, can ever sing the Negro song." (Abramson: vii)

Abramson, Doris E. (1969). Negro Playwrights in the American Theatre, 1925-1959. Columbia University Press. New York and London

Peter Gray wrote:

Asar,

We are in the present predicament precisely because of our relationship with/to white people. Who cares who writes the story if the truth is being written? A film (or a book) is either instructive or not.

Peter

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24795|2008-02-11 12:10:27|Vernessa McVay|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
I'd heard about Brezinski. Oh well.

--- Tafari khumbaka <tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com> wrote:

> thanx great info!!!
>
> Men Sa Hai Neru wrote: Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008
> 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)
> From: Men Sa Hai Neru
> To: soverykerrie tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com
> Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
> Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some > sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be > careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the > hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite
> as Clinton and the rest.
>
> Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral > Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor
>
> Austan Goolsbee(Skull&Bones-1991)-Economic Advisor
>
> David Cutler- Economic Adviser
>
> Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser
>
> Here's what these guys stand for:
> <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with > Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

| 24796|2008-02-11 12:26:15|Asar Imhotep|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter|

I agree. But we know it was the Arab slave trade that weakened Africa for the European version. Another movie that deserves a backlash is The Last King of Scotland. It is seeing The Last King of Scotland, Catch-a-Fire, Tsotsi and a host of bad American films that finally motivated me to fully get into film myself. We have to stop letting European people tell our story. Nothing wrong with being European. But we can't afford to keep having them tell a quarter of our story. African history spans 4.2 million years and all we can talk about is slavery and interacting with Europeans.

"Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

???Islamic Jihads which wrecked havoc on the west coast of Africa and is why 10-15 percent of the Africans transported became Muslim.?

Bringing about the end of the slave trade was on the agenda of several jihadists, including Usman dan Fodio. It is more complicated than you suggest.

I agree with you ,though, on your analysis of Catch-a-Fire.

GE

---

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24797|2008-02-11 13:07:41|Vernessa McVay|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

So it's the same ol same...it doesn't matter who the president is.

--- "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"

<emeagwali@mail.ccsu.edu> wrote:

> Oh my!

> GE

>
>
> _____
>
> From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Tafari
> khumbaka
> Sent: Thu 2/7/2008 1:21 PM
> To: isosceles woody
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
>
> thanx great info!!!
>
> Men Sa Hai Neru wrote:
>
> Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)
> From: Men Sa Hai Neru
> To: soverykerrie tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com
> Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
> Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some > sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be > careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the > hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite
> as Clinton and the rest.
>
> Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral > Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor
>
> Austan Goolsbee(Skull&Bones-1991)-Economic Advisor
>
> David Cutler- Economic Adviser
>
> Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser
>
> Here's what these guys stand for:
> <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

>

> _____

>

> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with

> Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

>

<http://us.rd.yahoo.com/evt=51733/\*http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ>

>

>

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

| 24798|2008-02-11 13:18:24|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter|

I wonder why the Turks always get off the hook. In fact a lot of Turkish human trafficking activities get blamed on the Arabs.

In fact the Arabs had to fight their way to get rid of Turkish domination ( in the so-called Middle East-located somewhere in the middle of the British empire , I guess.)

The Arabs cant be taken completely off the global hall of shame but they should not be asked to carry a disproportionate share. In most cases the British and French colluded with the Turks against them.

(We really must stop calling this phenomenon a trade. The term dehumanizes the victims and turns them into some lifeless objects lying on a beach somewhere. I suspect the term was invented for that purpose.)

GE

www.africahistory.net

---

From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com [mailto: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com ] On Behalf Of Asar Imhotep
Sent: Monday, February 11, 2008 3:26 PM
To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Black Pharoahs & National Geographic - reply to Peter

I agree. But we know it was the Arab slave trade that weakened Africa for the European version. Another movie that deserves a backlash is The Last King of Scotland. It is seeing The Last King of Scotland, Catch-a-Fire, Tsotsi and a host of bad American films that finally motivated me to fully get into film myself. We have to stop letting European people tell our story. Nothing wrong with being European. But we can't afford to keep having them tell a quarter of our story. African history spans 4.2 million years and all we can talk about is slavery and interacting with Europeans.

"Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

Islamic Jihads which wrecked havoc on the west coast of Africa and is why 10-15 percent of the Africans transported became Muslim.

Bringing about the end of the slave trade was on the agenda of several jihadists, including Usman dan Fodio. It is more complicated than you suggest.

I agree with you ,though, on your analysis of Catch-a-Fire.

GE

---

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24799|2008-02-11 13:48:38|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is not derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have to fight.

They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of his magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.

After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I came to the conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.

God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.

Gloria Emeagwali

-----Original Message-----

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com mailto:[Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Vernessa McVay

Sent: Monday, February 11, 2008 4:08 PM

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

So it's the same ol same...it doesn't matter who the president is.

--- "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"

<emeagwali@mail.ccsu.edu> wrote:

> Oh my!

> GE

>

>

> _____

>

> From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Tafari

> khumbaka

> Sent: Thu 2/7/2008 1:21 PM

> To: isosceles woody

> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

> thanx great info!!!

>

> Men Sa Hai Neru wrote:

>

> Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)

> From: Men Sa Hai Neru

> To: soverykerrie tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com

> Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

> Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some > sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be > careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the > hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite
> as Clinton and the rest.
>
> Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral > Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor
>
> Austan Goolsbee(Skull&Bones-1991)-Economic Advisor
>
> David Cutler- Economic Adviser
>
> Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser
>
> Here's what these guys stand for:
> <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka
>
> _____
>
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with > Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
>
<http://us.rd.yahoo.com/evt=51733/\*http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ>
>
>

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

Ta_Seti Repository
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

Yahoo! Groups Links
| 24800|2008-02-11 14:44:03|Alex van Deelen|Clinton's Advisers (Re:Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...)|
Any of Obama's advisers are better than Hillary Clinton's:

Madeleine Albright

Albright called the half a million dead children from sanctions in Iraq a 'an acceptable sacrifice'. She called the President a Haiti 'a disappointment' as if she was talking about her son in law, and after he had been removed from the country by his American 'bodyguards' and replaced by the leader of the death squads and the local drug trafficker.

- Richard Holbrooke

Both were ardent supporters of the war in Iraq.

Do you really think they are going to be the key individuals in ending it?

If you want to attack Obama for having corporate ties, you should do the same, even more so, in the case of Hillary.

Hillary has taken PAC money, and has close ties to AIPAC.

Obama has not and does not.

Alex
| 24801|2008-02-11 14:44:03|Alex van Deelen|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic Natufian/Palestinian was Black|
Paul,

> Even if they named it "African," they could and many > possibly would insist that the language has genesis in > "white Africans."

Well that burdon of proof would be on them.

However, the facts are that if 8 out of 9 Afroasiatic languages occur in Africa, and the language family itself originates in East Africa, it makes sense to call it East African.

But it is important to know that the origin of the Semitic language family is in Africa.

Alex

| 24802|2008-02-11 17:14:44|Tafari khumbaka|martial arts|

hetep-u (that is too say the blessings of peace) please check out my teachers site, im a student under herukthi-ra men maat and our teacher is opening a new school in jonesboro ga. please go to his site and leave a message AND BUY SUMTEN 🙏🙏

tua(thanx)

tafari

<http://ropersmartialarts.com/aboutus.html>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24803|2008-02-11 17:15:07|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [SmaiTawi] Fwd: Fw:

[MOORISHAMERICANNEWS] "Let's Find Jewell St|

Moorish American Show wrote:

From: "Moorish American Show"

Date: Sun, 10 Feb 2008 19:37:21 -0500

Subject: [SmaiTawi] Fwd: Fw: [MOORISHAMERICANNEWS] "Let's Find Jewell Strong"

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Sheik Charles Brown-EL <naasiraameneh@yahoo.com>

Date: Feb 10, 2008 7:34 PM

Subject: Fw: [MOORISHAMERICANNEWS S] "Let's Find Jewell Strong"

To: moorishamericanshow@gmail.com

----- Forwarded Message -----

From: Yumnah El <yumnahzuel@yahoo.com>

To: MOORISHAMERICANNEWS@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Sunday, February 10, 2008 7:14:46 PM

Subject: [MOORISHAMERICANNEWS S] "Let's Find Jewell Strong"

<http://www.letsfindjewelstrong.com/>

Note: forwarded message attached.

Attached Message

From: Marie Lair <ms\_flair@yahoo.com>

To: Marie Franklin-Lair <ms\_flair@yahoo.com>

Subject: If this was your daughter, you would forward it.

Date: Wed, 6 Feb 2008 17:11:08 -0800 (PST)

If this was your daughter you would forward it.

Missing 3 year Old Girl - You never know, who knows whom

Hi guys, Here's another child missing.
Please forward to everyone you know.
She's too precious to be absent from her family.

This is really sad that the family of this young girl has to do this, but others can get the attention of mass media. Please pass this along and say a pray for the Strong Family.

PLEASE HELP US BY FORWARDING THIS EMAIL UNTIL THIS REACHES A WORLD-WIDE AUDIENCE AND JEWEL IS RETURNED HOME SAFELY

Racharel Strong (father) - 404-357-1881
Simona Strong (mother) - 404-313-4255
Tiesa Locklear (aunt) - 678-234-4902
Tramesa Locklear (aunt) 678-480-1635
Ursala Williams (aunt) 678-362-5246
GOD FIRST, PEOPLE ALWAYS

<http://www.letsfindjewelstrong.com/>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

More new features than ever. Check out the new AOL Mail!

--

Sheik Charles Brown-EL, Grand Sheik
Moorish Science Temple of America, Inc.
706 W. Brookland Park Blvd.
Richmond, VA 23222
(804) 228-1146

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24804|2008-02-11 17:15:19|Everett Prewitt|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

That's interesting since Brezinski endorsed Obama late last year.

<http://howlinglatina.blogspot.com/2007/08/zbigniew-brzezinskiendorses-obama>.

html

<http://www.thewashingtonnote.com/archives/002294.php>

-----Original Message-----

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com mailto:[Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Vernessa McVay

Sent: Monday, February 11, 2008 3:10 PM

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

I'd heard about Brezinski. Oh well.

--- Tafari khumbaka <tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com> wrote:

> thanx great info!!!

>

> Men Sa Hai Neru wrote: Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008

> 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)

> From: Men Sa Hai Neru

> To: soverykerrie tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com

> Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

> Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some

> sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be > careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the

> hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite

> as Clinton and the rest.

>

> Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral

> Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor

>

> Austan Goolsbee(Skull&Bones-1991)-Economic Advisor

>

> David Cutler- Economic Adviser

>

> Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser

>

> Here's what these guys stand for:

> <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>
> Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with > Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

Ta_Seti Repository
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
Yahoo! Groups Links
| 24805|2008-02-11 17:19:08|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic
Natufian/Palestinian was Black|
--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Alex van Deelen" wrote:
>

> But it is important to know that the origin of the > Semitic language family is in Africa.
>

Thus, the scriptural languages of Judaism, Christianity and Islam are all of African origin.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala
| 24806|2008-02-11 17:26:36|Paul Kekai Manansala|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
wrote:
>
> Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is not > derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have to fight.

- > They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of his
- > magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.
- >
- > After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I came to the
- > conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.
- >
- > God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.
- >

I agree. Things are rarely clear-cut especially at this level.

Obama has potential but he could also go bad. It depends on the totality of influences, advice and support that he's getting from all sides.

Reading "Dreams of My Father" is good idea before judging Obama.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24807|2008-02-11 18:28:10|asar_imhotep|Asar Imhotep website & book launch|

Peace Phamily

I am happy to announce the completion of the official Asar Imhotep (The Black Lotus) website at <http://www.asarimhotep.com>. Here you will find the latest information regarding upcoming literature, lectures, poetry shows or music from Asar Imhotep (The Black Lotus). You will find on the website some of my articles and notes in Africana history and philosophy, as well as some social commentary.

I am also proud to announce the start of my new blog talk radio program titled Simba Simbi. Simba Simbi is a Bantu KiKongo term that means, "hold up that which holds you up." On this show we will do interviews and talk about relevant and up-to-date issues concerning Africana studies, politics, spirituality, philosophy and culture. This Thursday, February 14, at 9pm Central Standard time - will be our first show. Our special guest is brother Lasana Hotep (www.lasanahotep.com), and he currently serves as a Student Success Coordinator in the Multicultural Student Center at Arizona State University in Tempe, Arizona. Thursday's topic of discussion is called: HOT.GHETTO.MESS or VISIONARY.GLOBAL.LEADER. The presentation addresses the role the Civil Rights Movement, Black Power Movement, the COINTELPRO, the Reagan Revolution and American Consumerism play in producing the current Ghetto Fabulous depiction of African people. You do not want to miss this.

<http://www.blogtalkradio.com/simbasimbi>

So make sure you visit <http://www.asarimhotep.com> and pick up a copy of Esodus: Internal Reflections & Conversations with the SUN. A synopsis is below.

Sincerely,

Asar Imhotep (The Black Lotus)

---

Esodus: Internal Reflections and Conversations with the Sun is a personal anthology that speaks to the heart of contemporary African ontological philosophy.

Inspired by classical African meta-physics, Asar Imhotep (aka The Black Lotus) has compiled a compelling collection of essays and poetry that reflects his insights and perspectives on various issues, including the relevance of Satan, the error in obtaining freedom, the conceptual conductivity of the human body, the importance of emotions during a rite of passage, and the self-destructive nature of allowing your enemy to become your deity.

Asar introduces to us a poetic discourse that is deeply rooted in an ethnopoetics whose tradition has heavily influenced the art of our time, such as Hip Hop. The themes range widely from the metaphysical (I am that I am), to the bliss of love (Let me love you), to the power of self-affirmation (I'm so Black), to the pure indulgence in classic word wizardry (Still not convinced). Esodus: Internal Reflections and Conversations with the Sun is sure to inspire you to think big, think often, think critically, and expand the boundaries of your imagination.

| 24808|2008-02-11 19:02:39|shaimesh@grouply.com|M'TAM Khamitik Initiation Classes: Metu
Ntr, Meditation & Tradition|

Attachments :

From: baheru37@gmail.com

Hotep Everyone,

The Earth Center Presents

M'TAM

Initiation Classes

Today, humanity is controlled by politics. Those who speak the loudest, tell the best lies or create the most fear, become those who lead the people.

When stupidity is rewarded, wisdom become useless (The Prophet Ptah Hotep)

Just in time, the M'TAM schools of the Earth Center emerge in the traditions of the powerful institutions of The Nile & Niger Valleys, Founded & Directed by Master Naba Lamoussa Morodenibig, a Dogon High Priest of the Mystery Schools. The M'TAM schools should not be compared with modern research and educational facilities.

The Classes, Workshops & Initiationsoffered in M'TAMare as follows:

Medu Myeet - Living Language of Kemet Ka'at Ibi - Meditation & the self Traditional Healing

Classes start 3/15/08 @ 2:30pm contact 347-529-1399

visit the website at www.theearthcenter.com

Smai Tawi subscribers, you can access the attachment by clicking the link below:

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/SmaiTawi/files/M%27TAM%20Khamitik%20Initiation%20Classes.pdf>

---

The year's hottest artists on the red carpet at the Grammy Awards. AOL Music takes you there.

| 24809|2008-02-12 07:26:09|Manu Ampim|9th Annual 4-A's Conference (Feb. 23 - Oakland, CA)|

?

FYI

MA

---

Gye Nyame - Fear No One Except God.

ASSOCIATION OF AFRICANS AND AFRICAN-AMERICANS
Unity for Development of African Descendants Worldwide

presents our 9th Annual HIV/AIDS in Africa Conference:

THE REAWAKENING OF THE AFRICAN MIND

IN TRIBUTE TO DR. ASA G. HILLIARD III
renown educator, historian, and psychologist

Sunrise - August 22, 1933 Sunset - August 13, 2007

This conference includes:

EGYPT, THE BLACK CIVILIZATION: REVIVING AFRICAN HISTORICAL MEMORY

presented by Manu Ampim, historian, primary researcher, author, and Professor of Africana Studies at Merritt College and at Contra Costa College.

"FREE YOUR MIND": SURVIVAL OF THE HIP HOP GENERATION

presented by youth activists and scholars:

Ronald C. Williams II, Ph.D. student, African-American studies, UC Berkeley;

Shantina Jackson, Ph.D. student, Graduate School of Education, UC Berkeley; and

Frederick Tatum, Epidemiologist, student, Masters Entry Program in Nursing, UC San Francisco.

Refreshments!!! FREE - All ages welcomed!

TALENT CONTEST, $750 in PRIZES

Please note, this contest is open to ages 12 to 18

Saturday, February 23, 2008 - 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Acorn Town Center 1143 10th Street - Oakland, CA 94607

For information, contact Karen Aboiralor 510-465-5722 or Queen Thurston 510-452-4180

| 24810|2008-02-12 07:48:23|Manu Ampim|LAST CALL - KEMET TOUR ORIENTATION (March 1)|

CLASSICAL AFRICA EDUCATIONAL TOUR IX ANCIENT EGYPT (KEMET) - 2008

Personally escorted by

PROF. MANU AMPIM

(experienced tour guide & historian of Africana Studies)

*FREE TOUR INFORMATION SESSION - 1 hour

DATE: Saturday, March 1, 2008

PLACE: MERRITT COLLEGE, 12500 Campus Dr. , Bldg. A-218

Oakland , CA

(Go up 35th Ave. which turns into Redwood Rd., make right on Campus Dr.)

TIME: 2:45 pm (sharp)

*Must call to reserveseat

510.482.5791 or Profmanu@acninc.net

Tour itinerary

http://manuampim.com/kmt\_08.doc

Tour schedule: May 31 - June 14, 2008 - $3299 (all inclusive)

---

http://manuampim.com/kmt\_08.doc

CLASSICAL AFRICA EDUCATIONAL TOUR IX ANCIENT EGYPT (KEMET)

TRIP INCLUDES:

- All tips, taxes, and domestic travel in Egypt
- Deluxe hotel accommodations& two meals per day
- Entrance fees to over 40 sites & monuments
- CD on "Documenting Your Travel Experiences"
- On-site and evening presentations by Prof. Ampim
- Field research training
- Optional 5 units college credit

TOUR HIGHLIGHTS (LAND OF THE PHARAOHS):

We will visit...

- The great pyramids of Giza & the Great Sphinx (Heru-em-akhet), which is the most well-known statue in the world.
- The ancient capital city of Memphis and the extensive monuments of Sakkara , including the Tomb of Ptah-Hotep, author of the oldest surviving book in the world.
- The massive Dahshure & Meidum pyramids, and the Mastaba of Ra-Hotep & Nofret, whose famous statues in the Cairo Museum are forgeries according to Prof. Ampim in his book, "Modern Fraud".
- The Egyptian Museum with its renowned collection of well-preserved Pharaonic antiquities.
- The temples of Luxor and Karnak , which constitute one of the largest open-air museums in the world.
- The famous Valley of the Kings/Queens and Noble Tombs, including the Tomb of King Tutankhamen & the Temple of Queen Hatshepsut .
- The ancient city of the tomb builders, Deir el-Medina.
- The Luxor Museum & the Nubian Museum in Aswan .
- The Dendera, Edfu, and Abydos temples
- The Noble Tombs in Aswan & the temples of Pharaoh Ramses II / Queen Nefertari at Abu Simbel .
- The ancient Workmen's Village of Deir el Medina
- The Nubian village tour
- and much more...

-----
Prof. Manu Ampim is a leading primary researcher and historian on African & African American history and culture. He has written two books, conducted pioneering first-hand research in 18 countries, and has taken eight educational tours to Egypt and Central America . Ampim is currently an professor of history and Africana Studies at Contra Costa College and Merritt College in northern CA , and host of the popular internet radio program, "Africana Studies" on www.BlakeRadio.com

=====

FULL TRIP ITINERARY & REGISTRATION FORM

http://manuampim.com/kmt\_08.doc

FOR MORE INFO:

Prof. Manu Ampim
Director, Advancing the Research
510-482-5791

www.ManuAmpim.com
profmanu@acninc.net

TOUR REGISTRATION & PAYMENT:

Consolidated Tours Organization, Inc.
1675 Virginia Avenue, Suite 200
Atlanta, GA 30337
Tel. 404-767-2727
Fax. 404-766-4520

Email: ctoinc@aol.com

| 24811|2008-02-12 14:19:22|Marc Taylor|Kirkwood, MO (St. Louis) shooting or act of war|
Ta_Seti Group:

Below is an email concerning information about the shooting that happened in Kirkwood, MO (St. Louis) last week that I would like to share...actually it was not a shooting, it was an act of war and should be treated as such.

-----
Joe,

Thanks for this info...

Ive talked to a lot of people about this. A lot of people are talking about this. Most Black folks in this town (including myself) are saying that charles cookie thornton is an honorablehero and a fallen soldier. I dont know anyone that has viewed him as a murdering crazy gunman. It isimportant that his family and the community of meachum park knows this. its a shame that we dont have a black newspaper or radio station that has enough gutsto show him in this light and talk about this. In some shape form or fashion he needs to be memorialized. its a shame that all we have is a white media that tells and shows white folkscrying and sobbing when they getslapped back. But we all know the truth- myself and everyone ive talked to dont need channel 5 to tell us the truth. we know who the white mediais, its just unfortunate that a lot ofblacks 'DO' listen to these silly biased racist medias.is there some kind of way that your friend can give info on where to donate so that some type of statue or other memorabilia can be erected in meachum park for cookie thornton and that other young brother who went to war with these dreadful kirwood dictators. these brothers were real soldiers, not just another black madman with a gun. they are equivalent to nat turner and they should go down in the black history books. their families should be presented with some type of an african american version of a purple heart. african americans should not be fooled that our struggle is over. because it is not.... this brother cookie thornton showed us this.I amnot by any means advocating killing, but war is a necessary evil when injustice and oppression are inherent as in meachum park. Again, black folks in america are not as free as they think they are. Our struggle (or war) against our oppressors must not end until we are truly free.

wrote:

FYI.....just wanted to share the following from a close friend of mine regarding the Kirkwood incidents....while we all agree this is a tragedy we also can use this as a teaching lesson for our family and children about the history of Meachum Park.

This e-mail and any files transmitted with it are AT&T property, are confidential, and are intended solely for the use of the individual or entity to whom this e-mail is addressed. If you are not one of the named recipient(s) or otherwise have reason to believe that you have received this message in error, please notify the sender and delete this message immediately from your computer. Any other use, retention, dissemination, forwarding, printing, or copying of this e-mail is strictly prohibited.

---

Subject: Black Folks & Kirkwood/Meachum Park, MO

This is Black History Month, so here is a current history event that unfortunately fits.

Just wanted to encourage my family and friends to go to KSDK channel 5's web site, www.ksdk.com in St. Louis to hear the entire, but short press conference that the widow of Charles Lee "Cookie" Thornton did on Saturday, following the horrible shooting death of five Kirkwood city officials/police officers, and wounding of Kirkwood's Mayor Swoboda and a reporter sitting nearby. The media here only played a portion of it, but you need to see and hear the whole thing for yourself. I know Mayor Swoboda, and I knew one of the councilmen who was murdered, so I hurt for them and their families. I know them to be good folks, at least that's the impression I always got during my 4 years as Mayor of Greendale. Just fyi, Cookie's wife has been living in Tampa, FL for the last few years and working as a school principal. My understanding is she tried to get him to join her, but he would not, choosing instead to continue to fight what he thought was a just battle with Kirkwood city officials. Horribly, he murdered and injured these people at last Thursday night's City Council meeting, who, even if they had indeed wronged him, and I believe they definitely dogged this brother for many years, did not deserve to be gunned down. There is never and will never be a justification for what he did. But, neither is there one for what is done so often to black men all over the U.S., but it goes on anyway. My husband, Lamarr, knew Cookie, as did many others who are all saying what a great guy he was, spiritual and very committed and helpful to his community, church, etc. It appears that after all his legal battles ran their course and he lost for the final time, he lost all hope and sank into a deep revenge mode, too deep for him to recover after so many years of being obsessed with it all.

For those not from St. Louis area, you need to know, and natives need to remember that Meachum Park was and still is a Black part of St. Louis County. It was annexed in the early 1990s by the City of Kirkwood, which is predominantly white. A large section of the Meachum Park homes were bought out and a business development placed there. Even though the residents were paid a paltry sum and placed in newly built small homes at no cost to them I am told, many residents never endorsed what was done. Cookie led the charge against the Kirkwood city government from day one and he and others feel he was targeted by police and city officials because of it. He is a college grad who had an asphalt paving business that he ran out of his home, but once the annexation took place Meachum Park had to adhere to Kirkwood's ordinances about parking commercial vehicles on the street, etc. He got repeated tickets totaling thousands in fines over years. So much other stuff went on with him and Kirkwood. The blood is bad between these two areas and it has not been fully owned up to and addressed. Until it is, I am afraid that more ugliness will surely result as emotions continue to fester amid unresolved issues, the main one of which is racial. Please pray for all involved so that the real truth behind this incident does come out and folks are forced to address some very real and ugly problems relating to Meachum Park and its Black residents needing to become full and respected members of the greater Kirkwood community.

This issue has loomed large in my household since it happened. Lamarr and I have been deeply affected by it, so much so we had a tough time truly enjoying the Whispers and Stephanie Mills show Friday night. It's like a 9-11 for us in many ways. Just wanted to share some of it with you all in hopes you will stay tuned for the truth, too.

Monica

| 24812|2008-02-12 14:19:33|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Clinton's Advisers (Re:Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...)|

their all a disappointment and will continue to be disappointments

Alex van Deelen wrote:

Any of Obama's advisers are better than Hillary Clinton's:

Madeleine Albright

Albright called the half a million dead children from sanctions in Iraq a 'an acceptable sacrifice'. She called the President a Haiti 'a disappointment'

as if she was talking about her son in law, and after he had been removed from the country by his American 'bodyguards' and replaced by the leader of the death squads and the local drug trafficker.

- Richard Holbrooke

Both were ardent supporters of the war in Iraq.

Do you really think they are going to be the key individuals in ending it?

If you want to attack Obama for having corporate ties, you should do the same, even more so, in the case of Hillary.

Hillary has taken PAC money, and has close ties to AIPAC.

Obama has not and does not.

Alex

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24813|2008-02-12 14:19:44|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
theres a difference in a kappa and a omega but they are both greek, and will in the end bring about the greek agenda,,,,,,,,,

Vernessa McVay wrote:

So it's the same ol same...it doesn't matter who the president is.

--- "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
<emeagwali@mail.ccsu.edu> wrote:

> Oh my!

> GE

>

>

> _____

>

> From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Tafari
> khumbaka

> Sent: Thu 2/7/2008 1:21 PM

> To: isosceles woody

> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

> thanx great info!!!

>

> Men Sa Hai Neru wrote:

>

> Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)

> From: Men Sa Hai Neru
> To: soverykerrie tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com
> Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
> Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some > sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be > careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the > hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite
> as Clinton and the rest.
>
> Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral > Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor
>
> Austan Goolsbee(Skull& Bones-1991) -Economic Advisor
>
> David Cutler- Economic Adviser
>
> Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser
>
> Here's what these guys stand for:
> <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>

> Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

> _____
>
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with > Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

> http://us.rd.yahoo.com/evt=51733/\*http://mobile.yahoo.com/
> :\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tA\_cJ>

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now. http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tA.cJ

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24814|2008-02-12 15:44:09|shaimesh@grouply.com|Join Toni Morrison, Michael Cunningham & others for a Tribute to Chi|
From:smartlist@mail2.smarttix.com

Join Toni Morrison, Michael Cunningham, and others for a Tribute to Chinua Achebe

February 12, 2008

Join Toni Morrison, Michael Cunningham, Edwidge Danticat & others for PEN's Tribute to Chinua Achebe

on the 50th Anniversary of his novel, THINGS FALL APART
February 26, 8 p.m. at Town Hall

"Achebe is gloriously gifted, with the magic of an ebullient, generous, great talent."
- Nadine Gordimer

Nigerian writer CHINUA ACHEBE will be joined by writers such as TONI MORRISON, EDWIDGE DANTICAT, CHIMAMANDA NGOZI ADICHIE, HA JIN, CHRIS ABANI, SUHEIR HAMMAD, and COLUM McCANN for this exciting anniversary tribute to Things Fall Apart. MICHAEL CUNNINGHAM will introduce. The evening will also feature a special performance by the Francesca Harper Dance Project with dancers from the Alvin Ailey School. This event is presented by PEN American Center, in collaboration with Vintage Books and Bard College.

Published in English in 1958, Things Fall Apart is one of the great novels of the 20th century, and Achebe is arguably the father of modern African literature. It has been translated into fifty different languages, with millions of copies sold in the United States. In this novel, Achebe counters images of African societies and peoples as they are represented within the Western literary tradition and reclaims his own and his people's history. Things Fall Apart stands as one of the most illuminating and permanent monuments we have to the African experience as seen from within. Since 1990 Chinua Achebe has been the Charles P. Stevenson Jr Professor of Languages and Literature at Bard College, in Annandale-on-Hudson, New York. For more information, visit: www.pen.org

Tickets are $15, $12 for students with ID at Town Hall box office

Buy your A TRIBUTE TO CHINUA ACHEBE tickets today!

By Phone

212-307-4100

In-Person

Town Hall
123 West 43rd Street
New York, NY 10036

Online

www.ticketmaster.com

Terms and Limitations: This offer is valid for new purchases only and is subject to availability. This offer may be revoked at any time and may not be combined with other offers. Limit 8 tickets per order and normal service charges apply.

You are currently receiving this email from SmartTix because you subscribed to the SmartTix SmartList as: SHAIMESH@aol.com. To unsubscribe click here: <http://mail2.smarttix.com/u?id=202325.25f4ed62efc2192ca0f3cacbf2a3cd1a&n=T&l=smartlist&o=75986> or send a blank email to leave-75986-202325.25f4ed62efc2192ca0f3cacbf2a3cd1a@mail2.smarttix.com or call us at 212 868 4444

---

The year's hottest artists on the red carpet at the Grammy Awards. AOL Music takes you there.

| 24815|2008-02-12 17:09:00|Sptpy|Re: 9th Annual 4-A's Conference (Feb. 23 - Oakland, CA)|

Gye Nyame- Fear No One Except God.

ASSOCIATION OF AFRICANS AND AFRICAN-AMERICANS

Unity for Development of African Descendants Worldwide

presents

our 9th Annual HIV/AIDS in Africa Conference:

THE REAWAKENING OF THE AFRICAN MIND

IN TRIBUTE TODR. ASA G. HILLIARD III

renown educator, historian, and psychologist

Sunrise - August 22, 1933 Sunset - August 13, 2007

This conference includes

EGYPT, THE BLACK CIVILIZATION: REVIVING AFRICAN HISTORICAL MEMORY

presented by Manu Ampim, historian, primary researcher, author, and Professor of Africana Studies

at Merritt College and at Contra Costa College.

"FREE YOUR MIND": SURVIVAL OF THE HIP HOP GENERATION

presented by youth activists and scholars:

Ronald C. Williams II, Ph.D. student, African-American studies, UC Berkeley;

Shantina Jackson, Ph.D. student, Graduate School of Education, UC Berkeley;
and

Frederick Tatum, Epidemiologist, student, Masters Entry Program in Nursing, UC San Francisco.

Refreshments!!!

FREE - All ages welcomed!

TALENT CONTEST, $750 in PRIZES

Please note, this contest is open to ages 12 to 18

Saturday, February 23, 2008 - 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Acorn Town Center

1143 10th Street - Oakland, CA 94607

For information, contact Karen Aboiralor 510-465-5722 or Queen Thurston 510-452-4180

| 24816|2008-02-12 19:04:23|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Attachments :

---

Give hope a chance. McCain will send all our young men to a hundred year war. Just be vigilant. Our choices are limited.

Gloria Emeagwali
www.africahistory.net

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Tafari khumbaka
Sent: Mon 2/11/2008 11:46 PM
To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

theres a difference in a kappa and a omega but they are both greek, and will in the end bring about the greek agenda,,,,,,,,, Vernessa McVay <vrainette@yahoo.com> wrote:

So it's the same ol same...it doesn't matter who the president is.

--- "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
<emeagwali@mail.ccsu.edu> wrote:

> Oh my!
> GE
>
>
> _____
>
> From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Tafari
> khumbaka
> Sent: Thu 2/7/2008 1:21 PM
> To: isosceles woody
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
>
> thanx great info!!!

>
> Men Sa Hai Neru wrote:
>
> Date: Thu, 7 Feb 2008 01:17:31 -0600 (GMT-06:00)
> From: Men Sa Hai Neru
> To: soverykerrie tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com
> Subject: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
> Here's some of Barack Obama's advisers...some > sinister characters by anyone's definition. Be > careful of the hype. This guy is just as much in the > hip pocket of corporations and the Wall Street elite
> as Clinton and the rest.
>
> Zbigniew Brzezinski(Bilderberg, Trilateral > Commission)- Foreign Policy Advisor
>
> Austan Goolsbee(Skull&Bones-1991)-Economic Advisor
>
> David Cutler- Economic Adviser
>
> Jeffrey Liebman- Economic Adviser
>
> Here's what these guys stand for:
> <http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm> <<http://www.rense.com/general80/d2es.htm>>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka
>
> _____
>
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with > Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
>

<http://us.rd.yahoo.com/evt=51733/\*http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ

<http://us.rd.yahoo.com/evt=51733/\*http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ> >

>
>

"The black woman is the meteor that's coming to this earth!" -- Kola Boof

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and
know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ
<http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
<http://us.rd.yahoo.com/evt=51733/\*http://mobile.yahoo.com/;\_ylt=Ahu06i62sR8HDtDypao8Wcj9tAcJ>

| 24817|2008-02-12 20:00:18|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

.....
Attachments :
.....

Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.
Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.
Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist, visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak.
He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.

Gloria Emeagwali
www.africahistory.net

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala

Sent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PM

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>
> Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is not > derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have to fight.
> They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of his > magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.
>
> After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I came to the > conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.
>
> God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.
>

I agree. Things are rarely clear-cut especially at this level.

Obama has potential but he could also go bad. It depends on the totality of influences, advice and support that he's getting from all sides.

Reading "Dreams of My Father" is good idea before judging Obama.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

Ta_Seti Repository
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
Yahoo! Groups Links

| 24818|2008-02-12 21:19:25|Alex van Deelen|Re: C. Loring Brace: Paleolithic
Natufian/Palestinian was Black|

Posted by: "Paul Kekai Manansala" pmanansala@sbcglobal.net pinatubo.geo
Mon Feb 11, 2008 5:19 pm (PST)

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Alex van Deelen" wrote:

> >

> > But it is important to know that the origin of the > > Semitic language family is in Africa.
>
> Thus, the scriptural languages of Judaism, Christianity > and Islam are all of African origin.

Even more specifically, in Egyptian hieroglyphics and hieratic.

Alex

| 24819|2008-02-13 11:07:51|Terry Howcott|Black Love Day|

Black Love Day

An alternative to a corporate sponsored Valentine's Day.

At terryhowcott.com

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24820|2008-02-13 11:37:39|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past Hillary's delegate count.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

From: emeagwali@mail.ccsu.edu

Date: Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger. Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic. Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist, visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak. He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.

Gloria Emeagwali
www.africahistory.net

---

From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala
Sent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PM
To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>
> Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is not > derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have to fight.
> They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of his > magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.
>
> After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I came to the > conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.
>
> God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.
>

I agree. Things are rarely clear-cut especially at this level.

Obama has potential but he could also go bad. It depends on the totality of influences, advice and support that he's getting from all sides.

Reading "Dreams of My Father" is good idea before judging Obama.

Regards,
Paul Kekai Manansala

Ta_Seti Repository
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
Yahoo! Groups Links

To visit your group on the web, go to:
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/Ta\_Seti/

Your email settings:
Individual Email | Traditional

To change settings online go to:
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/Ta\_Seti/join
(Yahoo! ID required)

To change settings via email:
mailto:Ta\_Seti-digest@yahoogroups.com
mailto:Ta\_Seti-fullfeatured@yahoogroups.com

To unsubscribe from this group, send an email to:

Ta_Seti-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com

Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to:

<http://docs.yahoo.com/info/terms/>

---

Shed those extra pounds with MSN and The Biggest Loser! Learn more.

| 24821|2008-02-14 13:30:23|Atuma|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past Hillary's delegate count.

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: emeagwali@...: Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 - 0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.

> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.

> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist, > visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak.

> He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.

>

>

>

> Gloria Emeagwali

> www.africahistory.net

>

>

>

>

>

>

> From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo: Ta_Seti@...: [Ta_Seti] Re:
Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

> <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>

>

| 24822|2008-02-14 13:30:32|chitrakumari2009|study maths tricks for free new - updated| study maths tricks for free new - updated

<http://studymathematics.blogspot.com/> chitra

pls forward this email to your friends if you find useful.

| 24823|2008-02-14 13:31:11|Terry|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Well, you're right about that because he's already received plenty of right wing money, and purportedly has lots of right wingers in his midst - or on his staff.

Obama needs to discuss more specifics with me. I want to hear some discussion of public policy that will affect the masses in this country.

I already know what it's like to elect a Brother who is a lawyer, philosopher and great orator - claimed activist etc. His name is Kilpatrick.

The people want more, and deserve to hear more.

I argue we have to do more than support people - we have to question them and herd them in a direction that will suit our interests.

Otherwise, he'll be a charming philosopher, novelist Black President who in the past tense had a good gift a gab, but didn't deliver.

Terry

terryhowcoott.com

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>

> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.

> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.

> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist, > visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak.

> He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.

>

>

>

> Gloria Emeagwali

> www.africahistory.net

>

>

>

>

>

> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala

> Sent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PM

> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"

> emeagwali@ wrote:

>>

>> Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is not >> derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have to fight.

>> They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of his >> magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.

>>

>> After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I came to the >> conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.

>>

>> God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.

>>

>

>

> I agree. Things are rarely clear-cut especially at this level.

>

> Obama has potential but he could also go bad. It depends on the > totality of influences, advice and support that he's getting from all > sides.

>

> Reading "Dreams of My Father" is good idea before judging Obama.

>

> Regards,

> Paul Kekai Manansala

>

>

>

> Ta_Seti Repository
> http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
> Yahoo! Groups Links
>

| 24824|2008-02-14 16:05:44|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

I appreciate your comment.

Why dont you identify some specific questions to carry the discussion forward.

Thanks.

GE

---

From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com [mailto: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com ] On Behalf Of Terry
Sent: Thursday, February 14, 2008 8:30 AM
To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Well, you're right about that because he's already received plenty of right wing money, and purportedly has lots of right wingers in his midst - or on his staff.

Obama needs to discuss more specifics with me. I want to hear some discussion of public policy that will affect the masses in this country.

I already know what it's like to elect a Brother who is a lawyer, philosopher and great orator - claimed activist etc. His name is Kilpatrick.

The people want more, and deserve to hear more.

I argue we have to do more than support people - we have to question them and herd them in a direction that will suit our interests.

Otherwise, he'll be a charming philosopher, novelist Black President who in the past tense had a good gift a gab, but didn't deliver.

Terry
terryhowcoott.com

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com , "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>
> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.
> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.
> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist, > visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak.
> He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.
>
>
>
> Gloria Emeagwali
> www.africahistory.net
>
>
>
> _____
>
> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala
> Sent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PM
> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
>
>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com ,
"Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
> emeagwali@ wrote:
> >
> > Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is not > > derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have to fight.
> > They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of his > > magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.
> >
> > After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I came to
the > > conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.
> >

> > God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.
> >
>
>
> I agree. Things are rarely clear-cut especially at this level.
>
> Obama has potential but he could also go bad. It depends on the > totality of influences, advice and support that he's getting from all > sides.
>
> Reading "Dreams of My Father" is good idea before judging Obama.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>
>
>
> Ta_Seti Repository
> http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
> Yahoo! Groups Links
>

| 24825|2008-02-14 17:13:45|arumese|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
You must be in the Detroit area. Kilpatrick is the worst thing that could have happened to Black folks in the City of Detroit. He was told back when he first took office that his victory was nothing short of catching a "Tiger by the tail" and that he could not take his position lightly and expect to survive. He brushed it off then, but now I'm sure he wishes he had listened to sound advice.

He's in a big mess of his own making.

I think Obama is a much better person in general. But if he is capable of pulling this thing off, he'll be changed for life -- for better or even worse. Politics is a vicious game. It requires almost always that enemies become friends, while turning friends into enemies.

Fred

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:

>
>
>
> Well, you're right about that because he's already received plenty of > right wing money, and purportedly has lots of right wingers in his midst

> - or on his staff.

>

> Obama needs to discuss more specifics with me. I want to hear some > discussion of public policy that will affect the masses in this country.

>

> I already know what it's like to elect a Brother who is a lawyer, > philosopher and great orator - claimed activist etc. His name is > Kilpatrick.

>

> The people want more, and deserve to hear more.

>

> I argue we have to do more than support people - we have to question > them and herd them in a direction that will suit our interests.

>

> Otherwise, he'll be a charming philosopher, novelist Black President who > in the past tense had a good gift a gab, but didn't deliver.

>

>

> Terry

> terryhowcott.com <<http://terryhowcott.com>>

>

>

>

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"

> wrote:

>>

>> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a > war monger.

>> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but > opportunistic.

>> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher,
> psychologist, novelist,

>> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.'

> Go hear him speak.

>> He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by > the rightwing.

>>

>>

>>

> > Gloria Emeagwali
> > www.africahistory.net
> >
> >
> >
> > _____
> >
> > From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala
> > Sent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PM
> > To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> > Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
> >
> >
> >
> > --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
> > emeagwali@ wrote:
> > >
> > > Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is > > > not > > > derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have
> > > to > > > fight.
> > > They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of > > > his > > > magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.
> > >
> > > After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I > > > came to
> > > the > > > conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.
> > >
> > > God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > I agree. Things are rarely clear-cut especially at this level.
> >
> > Obama has potential but he could also go bad. It depends on the > > totality of influences, advice and support that he's getting from > > all > > sides.
> >
> > Reading "Dreams of My Father" is good idea before judging Obama.
> >
> > Regards,
> > Paul Kekai Manansala

> >

> >

> >

> > Ta_Seti Repository

> > http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

> > Yahoo! Groups Links

> >

>

| 24826|2008-02-14 20:41:53|shaimesh@grouply.com|Dr. Ray Hagins Upcoming Lecture Itinerary|

From:truthcenter@aol.com

Hotep (Peace),

Dr. Ray Hagins, the Chief Elder & National Spiritual Leader of The Afrikan Village, and the President & CEO of Black Liberation Radio (www.wblr.com), will be in the following cities and you are invited to attend these events. Click on the following links for more information about each particular event.

The Afrikan Village at Kansas City, KS
Friday & Saturday, February 22-23, 2008

Washington, DC - Friday, February 29, 2008

New Brunswick, NJ - Saturday, March 1, 2008

---

The year's hottest artists on the red carpet at the Grammy Awards. AOL Music takes you there.

| 24827|2008-02-15 04:10:28|prewitt|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's policies are by now, it's because they haven't done their homework. His legislative history speaks volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that person will not win an election.

We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided emails instead of doing our own investigations. There are so many urban legends out there on this brother, they could fill a book. But there is also more than enough information to make an informed judgement. He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did my research.

Everett Prewitt

www.ebrewitt.com

-----Original Message-----

From: "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"

Sent: Feb 14, 2008 7:04 PM

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

I appreciate your comment.

Why dont you identify some specific questions to carry

the discussion forward.

Thanks.

GE

---

From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com [mailto: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com ] On Behalf Of Terry

Sent: Thursday, February 14, 2008 8:30 AM

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Well, you're right about that because he's already received plenty of right wing money, and purportedly has lots of right wingers in his midst - or on his staff.

Obama needs to discuss more specifics with me. I want to hear some discussion of public policy that will affect the masses in this country.

I already know what it's like to elect a Brother who is a lawyer, philosopher and great orator - claimed activist etc. His name is Kilpatrick.

The people want more, and deserve to hear more.

I argue we have to do more than support people - we have to question them and herd them in a direction that will suit our interests.

Otherwise, he'll be a charming philosopher, novelist Black President who in the past tense had a good gift a gab, but didn't deliver.

Terry

terryhowcoott.com

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com , "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>
> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.
> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.
> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist,
> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak.
> He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.

>
>
>
> Gloria Emeagwali
> www.africahistory.net

>
>
>
> _____
>
> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala
> Sent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PM
> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>
>
>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com , "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)"
> emeagwali@ wrote:

> >
> > Not necessarily. We have to fight to make sure that the rev is not > > derailed. They would try and pull him to the right but we have to fight.
> > They have positioned themselves early to reap the benefits of his > > magnificent power but the deal is not sealed.

> >
> > After reading his first book ... 'Dreams of My Father..' I came to the > > conclusion that, yes, he was our best shot.

> >
> > God Bless Obama but he shouldn't curse Hillary.

> >
> >
> I agree. Things are rarely clear-cut especially at this level.

>
> Obama has potential but he could also go bad. It depends on the > totality of influences, advice and support that he's getting from all > sides.

>
> Reading "Dreams of My Father" is good idea before judging Obama.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>
>
>
> Ta_Seti Repository
> http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
> Yahoo! Groups Links
>

| 24828|2008-02-15 06:25:24|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
What a load of crap!!

The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that they can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill Clinton brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint Obama with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.

Regards,

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: arumeas@yahoo.com
Date: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:

>
>
> Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past Hillary's delegate count.
>
> Peter

>
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: emeagwali@.. : Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -
0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.
> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.
> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher,
psychologist, novelist,
> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak.
> He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.
>
>
>
> Gloria Emeagwali
> www.africahistory. net
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai
ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo: Ta_Seti@...: [Ta_Seti] Re:
Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
> <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>
>

---

Climb to the top of the charts!Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!
| 24829|2008-02-15 07:26:12|clyde winters|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
--- prewitt <prewitt@mindspring.com> wrote:

-----

If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's policies are by now, its because they haven't done

their homework. His legislative history speaks volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that person will not win an election.

We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided emails instead of doing our own investigations. There are so many urban legends out there on this brother, they could fill a book. But there is also more than enough information to make an informed judgement. He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did my research.

Everett Prewitt
www.eprewitt.com

Hi

Since you know so much about Obama please answer a few questions. I have studied his policies and I still don't see his stand on anything relevant to me as the average working man--let alone Afro-American. Since you are an expert, maybe you can tell me: 1) What are his specific policies to help Black America or America in general? 2) What experience does he have in budgeting and planning? 3) What leadership experience does he have generally, since he never served in a leadership position in any organization, the Illinois State legislature and U.S. Senate?

The American economy is out of it. Who ever becomes president will have a lot to do to solve the economy. This will take leadership.

Presently everyone is ignoring the issue of experience in relation to Obama. The experience issue will surface once Obama becomes president and he has to solve many problems; unless Obama and Clinton are replaced by someone at the Democratic Convention if they arrive on the scene dead even and the Super delegates have to decide on the Banner Carrier of the Party.

Too many Republicans support Obama. In fact, more whites support Obama than Blacks as proven by his Primary wins in Vermont, and states out West where you can't find a Black face except on College Campuses playing Basketball or Football. It makes you wonder if they know something we don't know. The last Black man supported by the Republicans, like Obama is being supported now , was Supreme Court Justice C. Thomas.

Have you noticed that none of the main Republicans in this country have spoken ill of Obama. Granted they mentioned his association with the Chicago slum lord. But other than that all of his mis-steps are ignored or down played.

Yes some people claim it is only a ploy to keep him the front runner so they can have an easy time of beating the Democrats come November. I don't think so.

Money talks and Bull...t walks. The rate of Big Corporation money being given to Obama suggest to me that he has been annointed by the Right as the best candidate for the presidency. Look at McCain's record, it is too liberal for the Republican Party and Big Business generally.

Have you failed to notice that eventhough McCain has become front runner the money is going to Obama--not McCain. In fact McCain's main advisor, who was also an advisor to little Bush, has made it clear he will not work with McCain if he runs against Obama. But the same advisor says he will help McCain in any campaign against any other potential Democratic candidate for President come November. Explain this reality, if you can.

The Big Coporations are supporting Obama because they see a winner. Obama is their man.

So again please tell us his stand on the issues and the solution he plans to implement. I'm old school. I love my Granny and hope she is watching over me today. What she has taught me over the years has made me the man I am. As grandma said if " "Dey" want em', ya better be dam sure em' go benefit ya. Dem don't support nobody deys don't trust and can't control".

Clyde

Clyde

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?

Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

| 24830|2008-02-15 07:38:34|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [SmaiTawi] Seeking Vending Partner:

Women Heart Health Fair @ M|

Tee Robby wrote:

To: SmaiTawi@yahoogroups.com

From: "Tee Robby"

Date: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 00:29:28 -0000

Subject: [SmaiTawi] Seeking Vending Partner: Women Heart Health Fair @ Madison Square Garden Friday!

Hello Community Conscious Fellow Viewers, Readers & Potential Vendors:

-- Vending event @ Madison Square Garden this Friday 7:30 am - 2:30pm.

The Women Health Heart Fair is sponsored by the Sister to Sister, a non-profit organization.

I'm interested in vending @ the event and I'm looking for someone to share a booth with. The normal fee is $1000.

However, Lisa Hogan, the company's rep, is willing to let me and a possible booth partner share a booth for the reduced non-profit rate of $400, originally, $500. If anyone is interested in sharing a booth, please let me know as soon as possible.

I should be reached at my home office IMMEDIATELY tonight, Thursday.

Please call me there 1st as my cell minutes are very limited until Friday evening.

[http://www.sisterto sister.org/ fairs/new\_york.php](http://www.sisterto sister.org/ fairs/new_york.php)

Here's the website w/ the info for the Women's Heart Health Fair if you want to check out the site or to pass on the info . Thank you for your time, consideration and blessings.

Home Office: 718-992-8068

Mobile: 646-824-8440

Email: teesbookandthings@yahoo.com

Thanks again. Stop by my booth and say hi. Look forward to doing business with you. And stop by LIU/ Long Island University, Brooklyn Campus, on Sunday, Feb. 17, 2008 for a Hip Hop Event that will be be Hip Hop Happenin. He there or be Hip Hop Square. I will post bout that shortly. Peace and God's Blessings.

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24831|2008-02-15 07:38:34|Maurice Humphrey|Re: The Slaughter of Black American Soldiers in 1943|

Hotep everyone!!!

Does anyone have any in depth info. on the murder of 1000 Black American soldiers in 1943 ?
There is a book called, The Slaughter: An American Atrocity by Carroll Case. Other than this book I haven't heard much about this tragedy.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24832|2008-02-15 07:38:59|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: She Echoes My Person's Sentiments| really good article , lots of info: and commentary thanx (tua)

tafari 🌸

Men Sa Hai Neru wrote:

Date: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 00:04:01 -0600 (GMT-06:00)
From: Men Sa Hai Neru
To: alandas@scsmemphis.com, Ausar65@aol.com, soverykerrie@hotmail.com,
tafari_sudra@yahoo.com
Subject: She Echoes My Person's Sentiments

The following is an essay that pretty much summarizes m/p's sentiments regarding this current US presidential election cycle. Carolyn presents an accurate assessment in m/p's opinion of this charade that every four years demands our attention. Check it out...u might just agree.

Hetep,
Men Sa Hai Neru

www.carolynbaker.net For the full essay w/links...

CELEBRATING UN-PRESIDENT'S DAY: WHY I WILL NOT VOTE
FOR A PRESIDENT IN 2008, By Carolyn Baker
Thursday, 14 February 2008

Four years ago, I wrote "Why I Will Not Vote In 2004" for which a number of readers thanked me profusely while another segment of readers sent scathing emails questioning how I could be so cynical and unpatriotic.

My intent in writing that article was not cynicism but honest questioning and exposure of what the voting process in this nation has become in recent years. It was authentic and sprang from genuine issues I had at the time regarding the wisdom of voting in a federal election. Since then, my skepticism of the integrity of the electronic voting machine process has deepened exponentially. And since then, Bev Harris of Black Box Voting produced an HBO documentary "Hacking Democracy" which exposes the jaw-dropping abuses of the electronic voting system and calls into question the veracity of any outcomes produced by it.

In fact, as recently as the New Hampshire primary, 2008, Black Box Voting and others have illumined spurious results in electronic voting in that state. Harvey Wasserman and Bob Fittrakis painstakingly researched the 2004 election and concluded in 2005 that, "The latest critical confirmation of key indicators that the election of 2004 was stolen comes in an extremely powerful, penetrating report from the Government Accountability Office that has gotten virtually no mainstream media coverage." In 2007, Wasserman shared his irrefutable confirmation of a stolen 2004 election in an exclusive interview on Democracy Now.

As I've frequently stated, I will never again vote in an election where I cannot use a paper ballot. For me to do otherwise, I believe, is to engage in a shell game of smoke and mirrors to which I will not sacrifice the preciousness of my right to vote in a so-called democratic republic.

As for my 2004 article, the world is remarkably different than it was then, and so am I. A larger, bleaker picture has emerged since then-one which for me calls into question the very process of selecting and electing candidates in the context of empire-in a culture of fascism, genocide, greed, corruption, and ecoside. It is that larger scenario that this article addresses.

For me, the first issue is the political system itself which is indistinguishable from the corporatocracy. The Democratic and Republican parties are de facto extensions of corporate America. Unless a candidate is systemically embedded in the corporatocracy, not only for the purpose of raising money, but in order to insure electability, she/he cannot succeed. Candidates from the Green Party or others such as Kucinich and Paul, are unequivocally consigned to the periphery, and while they may add fascinating nuances from the media-image perspective, they have exactly a snowball's chance in hell of prevailing. And while I could cast my vote for one of the peripheral candidates as a moral statement, it would be meaningless in terms of affecting change. In summary, if my vote won't make a difference, I'm not willing to cast it.

Mass Trance-It

Now let's examine more closely the notion of affecting change, and let's be painfully honest about whether the current political system in America is even remotely capable of it. If only candidates embedded in the corporatocracy have any chance of winning, what is the purpose of voting? Choosing the "lesser evil" you say? Holding one's nose and voting? Those very expressions belie the political, moral, philosophical, and cultural sewer into which the nation has deteriorated. They also belie the magnitude of the situation, the surface of which could not even be scratched by the most uncorrupted candidate, let alone a corporate clone. You really must have a great deal of blind faith and uncritical thinking when playing in this system; in fact, you must be swimming in raging rivers of denial in order to even engage with it.

But that should not surprise any of us. We live in an extraordinarily adolescent culture. The election charade that occurs every four years has been constructed by an emotionally pubescent media, creating and gratifying a puerile citizenry, which like the sixteen year-old male drooling over the prospect of owning a Hummer, cares about absolutely nothing but image. The level on which problems are even perceived, let alone addressed, is not even adolescent, it's downright infantile. An essential aspect of childhood is fantasy, and the infantile/adolescent fantasy of America is that a corporate clone, obligated to his/her ruling elite handlers and contributors, willing to say or do anything to get elected, needing to address only a narrow spectrum of issues in order to prevail, is capable of meaningfully confronting issues such as climate change, energy depletion, population overshoot, species extinction, and global economic cataclysm.

And who benefits from an infantilized citizenry? Quite simply, the street smart adolescent gang leaders with names like Bernanke, Paulson, Citigroup, and J.P. Morgan Chase. Even now, as adult economists are willing to admit the reality of global financial collapse, the home boys, Ben and Hank, are telling us there will be no recession in 2008, no doubt hoping that their prey will spend their forthcoming rebate checks (translation: hush money) on more stuff instead of paying off their debts.

If I sound incensed, it's because I am. America's political candidates are colluding in the mass delusion-the collective trance in which a willfully ignorant citizenry is somnambulating on the edge of a precipice, and the ones who have the backing of the corporatocracy are enabling the chimera. I'm insulted by their cluelessness about the state of this planet and their inability to analyze or address any issues from the reality of ecoside-that is, the collective murder of the earth by its human inhabitants. And dear readers, please do not fill my inbox with emails telling me that ecoside isn't really happening because climate change is a hoax not caused by humans but perpetrated by nasty tyrants in order to take away my freedom. For me, this issue is not up for debate or discussion because the earth, not you or I or any other mortals, will have the last word, and it is having it even as you read these words.

What more proof does one need as a result of the performance of both political parties in the past 16 years that there is only one of them? Progressives love to rant about the "Bush crime family" yet appear unable to comprehend that the American political system is exactly as I named it in my 2006 article "Godfather Government." Mike Ruppert said it best in "America From Freedom To Fascism" when he stated that the choice is between the Genoveses and the Gambinos with both crime families feigning vast differences between them but unequivocally joining forces the moment anything appears to threaten their collective racket.

What I would ask every reader of this article to consider is: If you are planning to vote in the 2008 presidential election, what is your need to engage with that system? How is it that you believe you have a valid, authentic choice between two divergent political and philosophical positions? What keeps you tethered to the charade? It's not important that I know your answer, but very important that you do.

Local Solutions: If It Isn't Local, It Isn't A Solution

An essential ingredient of the collective trance is that we must act nationally to address problems that candidates aren't even talking about. In true adolescent fashion, like pubescent males who live for bigger engines, bigger rock concerts, and bigger genitalia, we still believe that issues must be addressed by a change in mass consciousness and federal programs that allow the system to continue functioning as an empire-this based on ignorance or denial that the empire is collapsing and that a Second Great Depression is about to engulf the United States and the world. Conversely, a mature, awake adult is more likely to comprehend that the imperial miscreant is crumbling into myriad pieces and that this is not something to be mourned but celebrated-that our work now as grown-ups is to take the crumbled fragment that is our local community, hold it close to our breasts, caress and cherish it, and remake it for the wellbeing of ourselves, our families, and our bioregion. In this way, we assist ourselves and our loved ones in preparing for the collapse of the larger system and in the process, make it possible to create seed communities that can truly bring forth an authentic antidote to empire.

Some passionate citizens of the state of Vermont have taken this concept to the next level and have organized a Vermont Independence secession movement. I have no idea how successful they might ultimately be, nor do they, but I do know that theirs is a model that buys out of empire and into local, community-based, community-determined autonomy. Other communities across America would do well to learn from their efforts.

I love it when people say, "But we need leadership." Yes we do-our own. What we don't need is a feel-good celebrity candidate, owned by corporations, whored by handlers, clueless about the magnitude of the issues (if even aware of what the issues are), narrowly focused on the federal system, whose only mission in life is to get and stay elected. Alternatively, we need to focus on our local bioregions, work in concert and consensus with others who see and feel as passionately about the transformation of our communities as we do, and become our own leaders and team players.

Who Really Owns These Candidates?

In 2007 I reviewed Daniel Estulin's True Story of the Bilderberg Group, an expose of that group and two related monster organizations of the ruling elite, the Council on Foreign Relations and the Trilateral Commission. With control of central banks, discount rates, interest rates and gold prices, the core members of these organizations, Estulin demonstrates, have set out to loot the planet-and they are doing just that. The current mortgage crisis and ensuing global economic meltdown, as I stated in my review, is due to the stupendous success of the Big Three's strategy for planetary economic hegemony as the cacophony of their carefully engineered global economic cataclysm reverberates across America and around the world. It was never about home buyers who didn't read the fine print when taking out liar loans. It was always about silver-tongued, ruling elite politicians and financial systems which ultimately and skillfully stole and continue to steal governments from people and replace them with transnational corporations. No, I'm not making that up. One of the explicit goals of the Bilderberg Group, the Council on Foreign Relations, and the Trilateral Commission is the ultimate dissolution of nation-states to be replaced by global corporate hegemony.

In addition to Estulin's excellent expose of the Bilderberg Group, I highly recommend Trilateralism: The Trilateral Commission and Elite Planning for World Management, edited by Holly Sklar (1980) An overview of the book may be read at the Third World Traveler website.

The Trilateral Task Force Report of 1977, "Toward A Renovated International System" states:

The public and leaders of most countries continue to live in a mental universe which no longer exists-a world of separate nations-and have great difficulties thinking in terms of global perspectives and interdependence.

Holly Sklar summarizes: "In other words: "(1) the people, governments, and economies of all nations must serve the needs of multinational banks and corporations; (2) control over economic resources spells power in modern politics (and of course, good citizens are supposed to believe as they are taught; namely, that political equality exists in Western democracies whatever the degree of economic inequality); and (3) the leaders of capitalist democracies-systems where economic control and profit, and thus political power, rest with the few-must resist movement toward a truly popular democracy. In short, trilateralism is the current attempt by ruling elites to manage both dependence and democracy-at home and abroad." (4)

What is more, every American president since the inception of the Big Three has been a member of one or more them. Both Bill and Hillary Clinton are Bilderberg members, and Barack Obama and his wife are members of the Council on Foreign Relations, Michelle Obama currently serving on the board of the Chicago Council of Global Affairs.

Specifically, in regard to Obama's foreign policy, Los Angeles writer, Juan Santos, notes:

With respect to Black interests, Obama would be a silenced Black ruler: A muzzled Black emperor. A Black man at the head of the White Amerikkkan State - one who's unwilling to speak truth to power, but more than willing, like a Condi Rice or a Colin Powell, to become that power and to launch wars of aggression against other people of color.

In Obama's case the targets will be Iran (which he has threatened with "surgical" missile strikes) and Pakistan, rather than Iraq. That's the only difference between Obama and Rice and Powell, or Bush, for that matter.

Even ABC News notes that "Obama, one of the more liberal candidates in the race, is proposing a geopolitical posture that is more aggressive than that of President Bush." Washington Post columnist Robert Kagan, in a column entitled "Obama, the Intervensionist," cites Obama's claim that "he wants the American military to □ stay on the offense, from Djibouti to Kandahar." To help the empire stay on the offensive, and despite the fact that US military spending is breaking the bank at over $1 trillion a year, and far outstrips the spending of any potential imperial rival, Obama wants to beef up military spending, adding 65,000 troops to the Army and 27,000 more Marines beyond the obscene levels already under arms in the so-called "War on Terror."

For further insight into the candidate who is a "master of pretending to be progressive", see Carolyn Kay's "He Ain't A Saint: A Citizen's Guide To Barack Obama".

The Life And Death Issues Eclipsed By Election Hysteria

Specifically, here is what I would need from a candidate to even consider the possibility of voting for her/him:

□ 1) Is that candidate aware of and astutely informed regarding the reality and scope of climate change? Will he in the first month in office convene a worldwide summit on the issue and enact emergency measures in the United States to address it?

☐ 2) Is the candidate aware of and astutely informed regarding Peak Oil, Peak Natural Gas, Peak Water, and the depletion of all of the earth's substances which we have come to call "resources"? Will he in the first month in office convene a worldwide summit (in conjunction with a climate change summit) on Peak Oil and other energy depletion issues and enact emergency measures in the U.S. to address them?

☐ 3) Is the candidate aware of and astutely informed regarding the approximately 4 trillion dollars "missing" from the U.S. Treasury? Will she within the first month in office demand that Congress implement a full-scale investigation of the missing money?

☐ 4) Is the candidate aware of and astutely informed regarding the creation of the current housing bubble? Will he immediately demand a Congressional investigation of the key players in the current subprime mortgage crisis?

☐ 5) Only 16% of Americans believe the official story of 9/11. Has the candidate researched the events prior to, during, and after September 11, 2001? Will she immediately demand a Congressional investigation of September 11 in which all sessions of that investigation are open to the American public and in which all individuals who testify are under oath?

☐ 6) Did this candidate vote for the Patriot Act? In terms of the unprecedented shredding of the Constitution and the evisceration of civil liberties during the Bush II administration, is that candidate willing to demand repeal of the Patriot Act and all Executive Orders signed by George W. Bush.

☐ 7) Is the candidate fully aware of the catastrophic financial situation in the United States and the world in terms of debt, balance of trade, and fate of the dollar issues? Will he enact emergency measures to return the U.S. to a gold standard and implement a full-scale investigation of the Federal Reserve with the long-term goal of abolishing it?

I know what you're saying, "Carolyn, you've got to be kidding!"

My point exactly: No candidate who is committed to such an agenda has a prayer of getting elected, not only because she/he is owned by the corporatocracy, but because he/she would have to tell the American people thousands of things they refuse to hear, and because they have been unwilling to hear them for the past six decades, they now find themselves on the brink of unimaginable catastrophe.

I am thoroughly pessimistic that on a nationwide scale, Americans will awaken from their collective trance. I concur with Sally Erickson when she references Daniel Quinn's statement that "there is a secret plan", and the plan is that we are going to continue in the direction we're going until we can't anymore.

Estrogen Euphoria

Forty years ago I struggled diligently for equal rights for women-as fiercely as I fought for civil rights and against U.S. imperialism and the Vietnam War, and today I proudly call myself a feminist. That does not mean, however, that I am deluded by the assumption that if it's female, it's flawless. In fact, in 1996 I was moved to write a book Reclaiming The Dark Feminine in which I argued, among other things, that women can be as treacherous, driven, greedy, aggressive, corrupt, and duplicitous as any man has ever been. For this reason, I am not enamored with the notion of a female chief executive, particularly when it is clear that corporations, not presidents, govern what is left of the nations those corporations are intent on obliterating-and, when the female candidate in question is irrevocably engaged in assisting those corporations in achieving their agenda.

In addition to the fact that Hillary is a member of the Bilderberg Group, her voting record speaks for itself: Voting for the Iraq War, the Patriot Act, and voting with and for corporations in the 2005 Bankruptcy Bill. In addition, Hillary's healthcare nightmare, over which the American banking system is salivating, would create more personal debt in America by forcing people to buy health insurance. And what more need we add to her presence on the Walmart board of directors for six years which in itself speaks volumes?

Yet even more egregious are the Clinton ties to Monsanto about which I posted an article on my website on February 3, "An Open Letter To Hillary Clinton" written by a Wellesley alumna and classmate of Hillary's confronting Bill Clinton's ties to the genetically engineered and industrialized food giant, as well as Hillary's connections with Monsanto through her Arkansas Rose Law firm. The letter, written by Linn Cohen-Cole of Atlanta, was superbly documented and offered some of the finest research on the topic that I've ever read.

I was aghast, however, when I received an email from a woman who opined that we should not "blame Hillary for her husband's mistakes", as if somehow we can discern where Bill ends and Hillary begins. Furthermore, the letter from Cohen-Cole skillfully clarifies Hillary's specific connections to Monsanto, rather than blathering vaguely about her guilt by association. Yet this email comment is very telling in its unquestioning, naïve, almost sycophantic allegiance to Hillary the woman while disregarding the boots-on-the-ground track record of the shrewd politician who gives new meaning to the words "corporate clone."

You Have No Right To Complain If You Don't Vote

This nonsensical and frightening platitude sounds as if it might have been taken from Joseph Goebbels's propaganda playbook. What kind of tortured logic concludes that I can only complain about a rotting political system if I play by its rules? Whoever invented this notion had undoubtedly never read the Founding Fathers who asserted in no uncertain terms that if my government has become the enemy of the Constitution, it is not only prudent, but obligatory to "alter and abolish it."

I have every right to complain about "choices" that aren't really choices and election charades that distract my attention from issues that corporate clones dare not touch-like the 200 species that went extinct today and the million innocent citizens of Iraq who've died since 2003 and the unprecedented numbers of U.S. military suicides in the same period of time and the carcinogenic bovine growth hormones in my genetically engineered lunch and the guy down the street who blew his brains out over mortgage foreclosure and bankruptcy resulting from having no health insurance and the polar bears that drowned today because their ice shelves had melted away. All of this happened while the election distraction served the same purpose as mainstream media coverage of Britney Spears' latest psychotic episode or the true confessions of yet another steroid-crazed athlete.

I will complain-I will scream and rant bitch and whine, and I won't shut up, and what I will complain most loudly about is a culture where citizens get what they settle for because they refuse to face the reality that the system is completely rigged against them, and they prolong their own agony by hanging on to the fantasy of business as usual as their empire, well into collapse, sucks the last drops of their blood and rides off into a Stage Five smog-alert sunset to rape and pillage and plunder the rest of the planet in the name of things like "democracy", "the two-party system", "Super Tuesday", and let's not forget, "the first female president."

No, I won't be voting for a president of the United States in 2008. Should I be able to use a paper ballot, I may well vote for state and local officials in a venue where authentic choice exists.

But it's only the nasty Republicans who rig elections, right? Well, have you noticed how cozy Bill Clinton and Poppy Bush have become since Bubba left office? The mind reels imagining those intimate afternoon conversations between Bill and Poppy on Senior's yacht.

"So what's on your mind Bill? Do you mind if I call you Bill?"

"No, not at all sir. Well sir, I've been thinking a lot about 2008, and I know you know a lot about these things."

"Yes son, I do, and trust me, everything's under control."

Sorry, I couldn't help verbalizing my fantasy. It's all so touching. Do you feel the love?

And now Hillary wants to send them off together in the first few weeks of her presidency to repair the damage done around the world by Junior? It's enough to make one feel warm and fuzzy all over, isn't it?

I think my cousin said it best when I asked if she planned to vote for a president this year.

"Me vote?" she replied.

"No, not when my only choices are between Satan and the devil."

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24833|2008-02-15 10:19:55|arumese|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
Did you totally miss my point, or WHAT...?

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> What a load of crap!!

>

> The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that they can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill Clinton brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint Obama with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.

>

> Regards,

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: arumeas@...: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29
+0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>

>

> Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> >

> > To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@: Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject:
RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...> > Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist,> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.> > > Gloria Emeagwali > www.africahistory.net> > >
> > > From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai
ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo: Ta_Seti@: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd:
Obama's Unseen Hands...> > <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

---

> Climb to the top of the charts!Play the word scramble challenge with star power.

> http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?
icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_jan

>

| 24834|2008-02-15 11:24:53|prewitt|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from: The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare (health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children);(2) welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families);(3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing. He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection: (1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe that's why other white people like him too, maybe that's why they give him money, and maybe that's why so many people are jumping Hillary's ship to get on Obamas, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them? I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldn't trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clintons close friends said, They lie too easily.

Whats unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white womans bandwagon. Wheres the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

-----Original Message-----

>From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

>Sent: Feb 15, 2008 10:26 AM

>To: Ta\_Seti@yahogroups.com

>Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>--- prewitt <prewitt@mindspring.com> wrote:

>

>

>-----

>

>

>If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's
>policies are by now, its because they haven't done
>their homework. His legislative history speaks >volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al >Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that >person will not win an election.

>

>We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided >emails instead of doing our own investigations. There >are so many urban legends out there on this brother, >they will could fill a book. But there is also more >than enough information to make an informed judgement.
>He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did >my research.

>

>Everett Prewitt

>www.eprewitt.com

>

>Hi

>

>Since you know so much about Obama please answer a few >questions. I have studied his policies and I still >don't see his stand on anything relevant to me as the >average working man--let alone Afro-American. Since

>you are an expert, maybe you can tell me: 1) What are

>his specific policies to help Black America or America

>in general? 2) What experience does he have in >budgeting and planning? 3)what leadership experience

>does he have generally, since he never served in a >leadership position in any organization, the Illinois

>State legislature and U.S, Senate?

>

>The American economy is out of it. Who ever becomes

>president will have a lot to do to solve the economy.

>This will take leadership.

>

> Presently everyone is ignoring the issue of >experience in relation to Obama. The experience issue

>will surface once Obama becomes president and he has >to solve many problems; unless Obama and Clinton are >replaced by someone at the Democratic Convention if

>they arrive on the scene dead even and the Super >delegates have to decide on the Banner Carrier of the >Party.

>

>Too many Republicans support Obama. In fact, more

>whites support Obama than Blacks as proven by his

>Primary wins in Vermont, and states out West where you >can't find a Black face except on College Campuses

>playing Basketball or Football. It makes you wonder if >they know something we don't know. The last Black man >supported by the Republicans, like Obama is being >supported now , was Supreme Court Justice C. Thomas.

>

>Have you noticed that none of the main Republicans in >this country have spoken ill of Obama. Granted they >mentioned his association with the Chicago slum lord.

>But other than that all of his mis-steps are ignored

>or down played.

>

>Yes some people claim it is only a ploy to keep him
>the front runner so they can have an easy time of >beating the Democrats come November. I don't think so.

>

>Money talks and Bull...t walks. The rate of Big >Corporation money being given to Obama suggest to me >that he has been annointed by the Right as the best >candidate for the presidency. Look at McCain's record,
>it is too liberal for the Republican Party and Big >Business generally.

>

>Have you failed to notice that eventhough McCain has >become front runner the money is going to Obama--not >McCain. In fact McCain's main advisor, who was also an >advisor to little Bush, has made it clear he will not >work with McCain if he runs against Obama. But the >same advisor says he will help McCain in any campaign >against any other potential Democratic candidate for >President come November. Explain this reality, if you >can.

>

> The Big Coporations are supporting Obama because they >see a winner. Obama is their man.

>

>So again please tell us his stand on the issues and >the solution he plans to implement. I'm old school. I >love my Granny and hope she is watching over me today.
>What she has taught me over the years has made me the >man I am. As grandma said if " "Dey" want em', ya >better be dam sure em' go benefit ya. Dem don't >support nobody deys don't trust and can't control".

>

>

>Clyde

>

>

>Clyde

>

>

>

---

>Looking for last minute shopping deals?

>Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

>

>
>Ta_Seti Repository
>http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
>Yahoo! Groups Links
>
>
>
| 24835|2008-02-15 11:50:06|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
Prewitt,

Many thanks for this most illuminatiing response.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: prewitt@mindspring.com
Date: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 14:24:48 -0500
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from: The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare (health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children);(2) welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families);(3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing. He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection: (1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe that's why other white people like him too, maybe thats why they give him money, and maybe thats why so many people are jumping Hillarys ship to get on Obamas, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them? I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldnt trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clintons close friends said, They lie too easily.

Whats unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white womans bandwagon. Wheres the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

-----Original Message-----

>From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

>Sent: Feb 15, 2008 10:26 AM

>To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

>Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>--- prewitt <prewitt@mindspring.com> wrote:

>

>

>-----

>

>

>If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's
>policies are by now, its because they haven't done
>their homework. His legislative history speaks >volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al
>Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that >person will not win an election.

>
>We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided
>emails instead of doing our own investigations. There >are so many urban legends out there on this brother,
>they will could fill a book. But there is also more >than enough information to make an informed judgement.
> He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did >my research.
>
>Everett Prewitt
>www.eprewitt.com
>
>Hi
>
>Since you know so much about Obama please answer a few >questions. I have studied his policies and I still >don't see his stand on anything relevant to me as the >average working man--let alone Afro-American. Since >you are an expert, maybe you can tell me: 1) What are
>his specific policies to help Black America or America
>in general? 2) What experience does he have in >budgeting and planning? 3)what leadership experience
>does he have generally, since he never served in a >leadership position in any organization, the Illinois
>State legislature and U.S, Senate?
>
>The American economy is out of it. Who ever becomes
>president will have a lot to do to solve the economy.
>This will take leadership.
>
> Presently everyone is ignoring the issue of >experience in relation to Obama. The experience issue
>will surface once Obama becomes president and he has
>to solve many problems; unless Obama and Clinton are >replaced by someone at the Democratic Convention if >they arrive on the scene dead even and the Super >delegates have to decide on the Banner Carrier of the >Party.
>
>Too many Republicans support Obama. In fact, more >whites support Obama than Blacks as proven by his >Primary wins in Vermont, and states out West where you
>can't find a Black face except on College Campuses
>playing Basketball or Football. It makes you wonder if >they know something we don't know. The last Black man >supported by the Republicans, like Obama is being >supported now , was Supreme Court Justice C. Thomas.

>

>Have you noticed that none of the main Republicans in >this country have spoken ill of Obama. Granted they

>mentioned his association with the Chicago slum lord.

>But other than that all of his mis-steps are ignored

>or down played.

>

>Yes some people claim it is only a ploy to keep him

>the front runner so they can have an easy time of >beating the Democrats come November. I don't think so.

>

>Money talks and Bull...t walks. The rate of Big

>Corporation money being given to Obama suggest to me

>that he has been annointed by the Right as the best

>candidate for the presidency. Look at McCain's record,

>it is too liberal for the Republican Party and Big >Business generally.

>

>Have you failed to notice that eventhough McCain has >become front runner the money is going to Obama--not

>McCain. In fact McCain's main advisor, who was also an >advisor to little Bush, has made it clear he will not

>work with McCain if he runs against Obama. But the >same advisor says he will help McCain in any campaign

>against any other potential Democratic candidate for >President come November. Explain this reality, if you >can.

>

> The Big Coporations are supporting Obama because they

>see a winner. Obama is their man.

>

>So again please tell us his stand on the issues and

>the solution he plans to implement. I'm old school. I >love my Granny and hope she is watching over me today.

>What she has taught me over the years has made me the >man I am. As grandma said if " "Dey" want em', ya

>better be dam sure em' go benefit ya. Dem don't >support nobody deys don't trust and can't control".

>

>

>Clyde

>

>

>Clyde

>

>
>
> Looking for last minute shopping deals?
> Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. <http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>
>
>
> Ta_Seti Repository
> http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
> Yahoo! Groups Links
>
>
>

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!
| 24836|2008-02-15 11:53:12|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
NO! I just happened to disagree and think it was crap. Understand now?

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: arumese@yahoo.com
Date: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 18:19:53 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Did you totally miss my point, or WHAT...?

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>
>
> What a load of crap!!
>
> The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that they can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill Clinton brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint Obama with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.
>
> Regards,
>
> Peter

>
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: arumeas@...: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29
+0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
>
>
>
>
> Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups .com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> >
> > To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@: Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject:
RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...> > Yes. Agreed. Obama
has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic. > Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist,> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.> > > Gloria Emeagwali > www.africahistory. net> > >
> > > From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups .com on behalf of Paul Kekai
ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo: Ta_Seti@: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd:
Obama's Unseen Hands...> > http://biggestloser .msn.com/>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> _____
> Climb to the top of the charts!Play the word scramble challenge with star power.
> http://club.live.com/ star\_shuffle.aspx?
icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_jan
>

Well some may not vote at all. But by staying away from the polls they are actually voting for Mc Cain and Hillary.

GE

-----Original Message-----

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com mailto:[Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of prewitt

Sent: Friday, February 15, 2008 2:25 PM

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from: The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare (health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children);(2) welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families);(3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing. He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection: (1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe that's why other white people like him too, maybe that's why they give him money, and maybe that's why so many people are jumping Hillary's ship to get on Obama's, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them? I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldn't trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clinton's close friends said, "They lie too easily."

What's unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white woman's bandwagon. Where's the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

-----Original Message-----

>From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

>Sent: Feb 15, 2008 10:26 AM

>To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

>Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>--- prewitt <prewitt@mindspring.com> wrote:

>

>

>-----

>

>

>If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's
>policies are by now, its because they haven't done
>their homework. His legislative history speaks >volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al
>Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that >person will not when an election.

>

>We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided
>emails instead of doing our own investigations. There >are so many urban legends out there on this brother,
>they will could fill a book. But there is also more >than enough information to make an informed judgement.
> He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did >my research.

>

>Everett Prewitt
>www.eprewitt.com

>

>Hi

>

>Since you know so much about Obama please answer a few >questions. I have studied his policies and I still >don't see his stand on anything relevant to me as the >average working man--let alone Afro-American. Since >you are an expert, maybe you can tell me: 1) What are
>his specific policies to help Black America or America
>in general? 2) What experience does he have in >budgeting and planning? 3)what leadership experience
>does he have generally, since he never served in a >leadership position in any organization, the Illinois
>State legislature and U.S, Senate?

>

>The American economy is out of it. Who ever becomes
>president will have a lot to do to solve the economy.
>This will take leadership.

>

> Presently everyone is ignoring the issue of >experience in relation to Obama. The experience issue
>will surface once Obama becomes president and he has
>to solve many problems; unless Obama and Clinton are >replaced by someone at the Democratic Convention if >they arrive on the scene dead even and the Super >delegates have to decide on the Banner Carrier of the >Party.

>

>Too many Republicans support Obama. In fact, more >whites support Obama than Blacks as proven by his >Primary wins in Vermont, and states out West where you >can't find a Black face except on College Campuses
>playing Basketball or Football. It makes you wonder if >they know something we don't know. The last Black man

>supported by the Republicans, like Obama is being >supported now , was Supreme Court Justice C. Thomas.
>
>Have you noticed that none of the main Republicans in >this country have spoken ill of Obama. Granted they >mentioned his association with the Chicago slum lord.
>But other than that all of his mis-steps are ignored
>or down played.
>
>Yes some people claim it is only a ploy to keep him
>the front runner so they can have an easy time of >beating the Democrats come November. I don't think so.
>
>Money talks and Bull...t walks. The rate of Big >Corporation money being given to Obama suggest to me
>that he has been annointed by the Right as the best
>candidate for the presidency. Look at McCain's record,
>it is too liberal for the Republican Party and Big >Business generally.
>
>Have you failed to notice that eventhough McCain has >become front runner the money is going to Obama--not >McCain. In fact McCain's main advisor, who was also an >advisor to little Bush, has made it clear he will not >work with McCain if he runs against Obama. But the >same advisor says he will help McCain in any campaign
>against any other potential Democratic candidate for >President come November. Explain this reality, if you >can.
>
> The Big Coporations are supporting Obama because they >see a winner. Obama is their man.
>
>So again please tell us his stand on the issues and >the solution he plans to implement. I'm old school. I >love my Granny and hope she is watching over me today.
>What she has taught me over the years has made me the >man I am. As grandma said if " "Dey" want em', ya >better be dam sure em' go benefit ya. Dem don't >support nobody deys don't trust and can't control".
>
>
>Clyde
>
>
>Clyde

>
>
>

---

>Looking for last minute shopping deals?
>Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

>
>

>Ta_Seti Repository

>http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

>Yahoo! Groups Links

>
>
>

Ta_Seti Repository

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

Yahoo! Groups Links

| 24838|2008-02-15 15:41:29|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: FW: PBS to air" BANISHED" 2/19/08|

Attachments :

Subject: FW: PBS to air" BANISHED" 2/19/08

Date: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 12:36:34 -0600

To: "Tafari khumbaka" tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com

-----Original Message-----

From: Hayden, Lula B

Sent: Friday, February 15, 2008 10:36 AM

To: Hayden, Lula B

Subject: PBS to air" BANISHED" 2/19/08

P Please Consider the Environment Before Printing this Email

THE FILM

BANISHED tells the story of three counties that forcefully expelled African American families from their towns one hundred years ago. More than an historical documentary, or even a portrait of families looking to rediscover their roots, this 90-minute film is an examination of the legacy of racism. As descendants and viewers discover, the population of all three communities is, to this day, virtually all white. Filmmaker Marco Williams does not seek easy answers, nor does he shy away from difficult issues. Through conversations with current residents and the descendants of those who were driven out, he challenges viewers to contemplate questions of privilege, responsibility, denial, healing, reparations, race relations and identity.

Please mark your calendars and watch this very informative program on PBS, Tuesday February 19, 2008. See the attachment.

Every week night at 11:00 PM on Channel 10 is an African American Program this month.

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!(See attached file: banished_discussion.pdf)

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24839|2008-02-15 15:41:55|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

of all the choices i preferr Ron Paul, or Obama , or a no vote at all who ever it is, is gonna have too be prepared to go to africa and venezuela and slam american policy on the people's there for their natural resources mainly oil, the aspirations of the different caribislands especially Haiti must continue to be denied ; and the Iraq's oil must forever be the property of the U.S. the billions spent under therug monthly for the iraq-afghan war can never be investigated properly farmers must be able to pay south american workers below mi. wage and blacks ( or anyone now adays) must be kept on the plantations (private prisons) so america can act like its trying too solve crime and feel safe;;;.... the private prisons fuel wall street and bring jobs too small towns along with the armed services(thru war tech)and mercenary companies, none of this is gonna change , presidents are coaches and industry and corporations are the real decision makers ALL america's coaches have been for their employers those who pay them eXXXtreme amounts of money to sway and open doors for their interest, what any of the runners has done must be evaluated , but what maybe more important is who's giving them 100's and 100's of millions of dollars it aint because theirr winning its to buy favors. politics is fools gold,, politics is compromise

we blacks CANNOT have someone on our side in the whitehouse because he/she was a good decent , senator or 1st lady or because they always did right by the workers of america, or is honored by the U.N. or amnesty international

we must buy a politician. and wouldnt it be nice if that person had a record like obama or clinton or paul, really decent people

Peter Gray wrote:

Prewitt,

Many thanks for this most illuminatiing response.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups .com

From: prewitt@mindspring. com

Date: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 14:24:48 -0500

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about

Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from: The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare (health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children);(2) welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families);(3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing. He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection: (1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe that's why other white people like him too, maybe that's why they give him money, and maybe that's why so many people are jumping Hillary's ship to get on Obama's, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them? I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldn't trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clinton's close friends said, "They lie too easily."

What's unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white woman's bandwagon. Where's the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

-----Original Message-----

>From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

>Sent: Feb 15, 2008 10:26 AM

>To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

>Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>--- prewitt <prewitt@mindspring.com> wrote:

>

>

>-----

>

>

>If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's

>policies are by now, its because they haven't done

>their homework. His legislative history speaks

>volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al

>Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that >person will not when an election.

>

>We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided

>emails instead of doing our own investigations. There >are so many urban legends out there on this brother,

>they will could fill a book. But there is also more >than enough information to make an informed judgement.

> He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did >my research.

>

>Everett Prewitt

>www.eprewitt.com

>

>Hi

>

>Since you know so much about Obama please answer a few >questions. I have studied his policies and I still >don't see his stand on anything relevant to me as the >average working man--let alone Afro-American. Since >you are an expert, maybe you can tell me: 1) What are

 >his specific policies to help Black America or America
 >in general? 2) What experience does he have in >budgeting and planning? 3) what leadership experience
 >does he have generally, since he never served in a >leadership position in any organization, the Illinois
 >State legislature and U.S. Senate?
 >
 >The American economy is out of it. Who ever becomes
 >president will have a lot to do to solve the economy.
 >This will take leadership.
 >
 > Presently everyone is ignoring the issue of >experience in relation to Obama. The experience issue
 >will surface once Obama becomes president and he has
 >to solve many problems; unless Obama and Clinton are >replaced by someone at the Democratic Convention if >they arrive on the scene dead even and the Super >delegates have to decide on the Banner Carrier of the >Party.
 >
 >Too many Republicans support Obama. In fact, more >whites support Obama than Blacks as proven by his >Primary wins in Vermont, and states out West where you
 >can't find a Black face except on College Campuses
 >playing Basketball or Football. It makes you wonder if >they know something we don't know. The last Black man >supported by the Republicans, like Obama is being >supported now , was Supreme Court Justice C. Thomas.
 >
 >Have you noticed that none of the main Republicans in >this country have spoken ill of Obama. Granted they >mentioned his association with the Chicago slum lord.
 >But other than that all of his mis-steps are ignored
 >or down played.
 >
 >Yes some people claim it is only a ploy to keep him
 >the front runner so they can have an easy time of >beating the Democrats come November. I don't think so.
 >
 >Money talks and Bull...t walks. The rate of Big >Corporation money being given to Obama suggest to me
 >that he has been annointed by the Right as the best

>candidate for the presidency. Look at McCain's record,
>it is too liberal for the Republican Party and Big >Business generally.

>

>Have you failed to notice that eventhough McCain has >become front runner the money is going to Obama--not >McCain. In fact McCain's main advisor, who was also an >advisor to little Bush, has made it clear he will not >work with McCain if he runs against Obama. But the >same advisor says he will help McCain in any campaign
>against any other potential Democratic candidate for >President come November. Explain this reality, if you >can.

>

> The Big Coporations are supporting Obama because they >see a winner. Obama is their man.

>

>So again please tell us his stand on the issues and >the solution he plans to implement. I'm old school. I >love my Granny and hope she is watching over me today.
>What she has taught me over the years has made me the >man I am. As grandma said if " "Dey" want em', ya >better be dam sure em' go benefit ya. Dem don't >support nobody deys don't trust and can't control".

>

>

>Clyde

>

>

>Clyde

>

>

>

---

>Looking for last minute shopping deals?

>Find them fast with Yahoo! Search. http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/ category. php?category= shopping

>

>

>Ta_Seti Repository

>http://groups.yahoo.com/ group/ta\_seti2

>Yahoo! Groups Links

>

>

>

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24840|2008-02-15 15:42:13|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
thats an opinion, a none vote is a vote, whats important when none voting is too register ,that way the system stays in place by poplar demand but shows disgust in the candidates,,,,, i think a slot for a no vote ,like ralph nader saidwould be a true democratic method
tafari 🌺

"Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

Well some may not vote at all. But by staying away from the polls they are actually voting for Mc Cain and Hillary.

GE

-----Original Message-----

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com mailto:[Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com]

On Behalf

Of prewitt

Sent: Friday, February 15, 2008 2:25 PM

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from:
The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare (health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children);(2)

welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families);(3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing. He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection:

(1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill

Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe that's why other white people like him too, maybe that's why they give him money, and maybe that's why so many people are jumping Hillary's ship to get on Obama's, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them?

I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best

CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldn't trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clinton's close friends said, "They lie too easily."

What's unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white woman's bandwagon. Where's the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

-----Original Message-----

>From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

>Sent: Feb 15, 2008 10:26 AM

>To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

>Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>--- prewitt <prewitt@mindspring.com> wrote:

>

>

>-----

>

>

>If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's

>policies are by now, its because they haven't done

>their homework. His legislative history speaks

>volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al

>Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that >person will not win an election.

>

>We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided

>emails instead of doing our own investigations. There >are so many urban legends out there on this brother,

>they will could fill a book. But there is also more >than enough information to make an informed judgement.

> He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did >my research.

>

>Everett Prewitt

>www.eprewitt.com

>

>Hi

>

>Since you know so much about Obama please answer a few >questions. I have studied his policies and I still >don't see his stand on anything relevant to me as the >average working man--let alone Afro-American. Since

>you are an expert, maybe you can tell me: 1) What are

>his specific policies to help Black America or America

>in general? 2) What experience does he have in >budgeting and planning? 3)what leadership experience
 >does he have generally, since he never served in a >leadership position in any organization, the Illinois
 >State legislature and U.S, Senate?
 >
 >The American economy is out of it. Who ever becomes
 >president will have a lot to do to solve the economy.
 >This will take leadership.
 >
 > Presently everyone is ignoring the issue of >experience in relation to Obama. The experience issue
 >will surface once Obama becomes president and he has
 >to solve many problems; unless Obama and Clinton are >replaced by someone at the Democratic Convention if >they arrive on the scene dead even and the Super >delegates have to decide on the Banner Carrier of the >Party.
 >
 >Too many Republicans support Obama. In fact, more >whites support Obama than Blacks as proven by his >Primary wins in Vermont, and states out West where you
 >can't find a Black face except on College Campuses
 >playing Basketball or Football. It makes you wonder if >they know something we don't know. The last Black man >supported by the Republicans, like Obama is being >supported now , was Supreme Court Justice C. Thomas.
 >
 >Have you noticed that none of the main Republicans in >this country have spoken ill of Obama. Granted they >mentioned his association with the Chicago slum lord.
 >But other than that all of his mis-steps are ignored
 >or down played.
 >
 >Yes some people claim it is only a ploy to keep him
 >the front runner so they can have an easy time of >beating the Democrats come November. I don't think so.
 >
 >Money talks and Bull...t walks. The rate of Big >Corporation money being given to Obama suggest to me
 >that he has been annointed by the Right as the best
 >candidate for the presidency. Look at McCain's record,
 >it is too liberal for the Republican Party and Big >Business generally.
 >
 >Have you failed to notice that eventhough McCain has >become front runner the money is going to Obama--not >McCain. In fact McCain's main advisor, who was also an >advisor to little Bush, has made it clear he will not >work with McCain if he runs against Obama. But the >same advisor says he will help McCain in any campaign

>against any other potential Democratic candidate for >President come November. Explain this reality, if you >can.

>

> The Big Coporations are supporting Obama because they >see a winner. Obama is their man.

>

>So again please tell us his stand on the issues and >the solution he plans to implement. I'm old school. I >love my Granny and hope she is watching over me today.
>What she has taught me over the years has made me the >man I am. As grandma said if " "Dey" want em', ya >better be dam sure em' go benefit ya. Dem don't >support nobody deys don't trust and can't control".

>

>

>Clyde

>

>

>Clyde

>

>

>

---

---

>Looking for last minute shopping deals?

>Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

>

>

>Ta_Seti Repository

>http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

>Yahoo! Groups Links

>

>

>

Ta_Seti Repository

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

Yahoo! Groups Links

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24841|2008-02-15 15:42:55|Tafari khumbaka|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
who ever wins can be held accountable with money...blacks gotta learn this!

when politicians come to our places too preach their slogans, we blacks got our hands out when they go too white , chinese, arab, ethnic branches of whites- jews ,italians, even native americans (these days) the politicians got their hands out

"Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

Well some may not vote at all. But by staying away from the polls they are actually voting for Mc Cain and Hillary.

GE

-----Original Message-----

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com mailto:[Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com]

On Behalf

Of prewitt

Sent: Friday, February 15, 2008 2:25 PM

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from: The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare

(health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children);(2) welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families);(3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing. He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection: (1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe that's why other white people like him too, maybe that's why they give him money, and maybe that's why so many people are jumping Hillary's ship to get on Obama's, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them? I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldn't trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clinton's close friends said, "They lie too easily."

What's unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white woman's bandwagon. Where's the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

-----Original Message-----

>From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>

>Sent: Feb 15, 2008 10:26 AM

>To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

>Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>--- prewitt <prewitt@mindspring.com> wrote:

>

>

>-----

>

>

>If anybody in America doesn't know what Obama's
>policies are by now, its because they haven't done
>their homework. His legislative history speaks >volumes. If we want someone that talks like Al
>Sharpton or Jessie Jackson, that's fine, but that >person will not when an election.

>

>We fall into the trap of judging people by misguided
>emails instead of doing our own investigations. There >are so many urban legends out there on this brother,
>they will could fill a book. But there is also more >than enough information to make an informed judgement.
>He doesn't need to talk to me about anything. I did >my research.

>

>Everett Prewitt

>www.eprewitt.com

>

>Hi

>

>Since you know so much about Obama please answer a few >questions. I have studied his policies and I still >don't see his stand on anything relevant to me as the >average working man--let alone Afro-American. Since >you are an expert, maybe you can tell me: 1) What are

>his specific policies to help Black America or America
 >in general? 2) What experience does he have in >budgeting and planning? 3)what leadership experience
 >does he have generally, since he never served in a >leadership position in any organization, the Illinois
 >State legislature and U.S, Senate?
 >
 >The American economy is out of it. Who ever becomes
 >president will have a lot to do to solve the economy.
 >This will take leadership.
 >
 > Presently everyone is ignoring the issue of >experience in relation to Obama. The experience issue
 >will surface once Obama becomes president and he has
 >to solve many problems; unless Obama and Clinton are >replaced by someone at the Democratic Convention if >they arrive on the scene dead even and the Super >delegates have to decide on the Banner Carrier of the >Party.
 >
 >Too many Republicans support Obama. In fact, more >whites support Obama than Blacks as proven by his >Primary wins in Vermont, and states out West where you
 >can't find a Black face except on College Campuses
 >playing Basketball or Football. It makes you wonder if >they know something we don't know. The last Black man >supported by the Republicans, like Obama is being >supported now , was Supreme Court Justice C. Thomas.
 >
 >Have you noticed that none of the main Republicans in >this country have spoken ill of Obama. Granted they >mentioned his association with the Chicago slum lord.
 >But other than that all of his mis-steps are ignored
 >or down played.
 >
 >Yes some people claim it is only a ploy to keep him
 >the front runner so they can have an easy time of >beating the Democrats come November. I don't think so.
 >
 >Money talks and Bull...t walks. The rate of Big >Corporation money being given to Obama suggest to me
 >that he has been annointed by the Right as the best
 >candidate for the presidency. Look at McCain's record,
 >it is too liberal for the Republican Party and Big >Business generally.
 >

>Have you failed to notice that eventhough McCain has >become front runner the money is going to Obama--not >McCain. In fact McCain's main advisor, who was also an >advisor to little Bush, has made it clear he will not >work with McCain if he runs against Obama. But the >same advisor says he will help McCain in any campaign
>against any other potential Democratic candidate for >President come November. Explain this reality, if you >can.

>
> The Big Coporations are supporting Obama because they >see a winner. Obama is their man.

>
>So again please tell us his stand on the issues and >the solution he plans to implement. I'm old school. I >love my Granny and hope she is watching over me today.
>What she has taught me over the years has made me the >man I am. As grandma said if " "Dey" want em', ya >better be dam sure em' go benefit ya. Dem don't >support nobody deys don't trust and can't control".

>
>
>Clyde

>
>
>Clyde

>
>
>

---

>Looking for last minute shopping deals?
>Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.
<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

>
>
>Ta_Seti Repository
>http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
>Yahoo! Groups Links

>
>
>

Ta_Seti Repository

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2
Yahoo! Groups Links

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24842|2008-02-15 15:55:08|arumese|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
I understand that you are being belligerent without good cause. I'm done with it. It's not worth fighting over. What will be, will be.

Fred

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> NO! I just happened to disagree and think it was crap. Understand now?

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: arumese@...: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 18:19:53
+0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>

>

> Did you totally miss my point, or WHAT...?--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > What a load of crap!!> > The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that they can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill Clinton brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint Obama with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.> > Regards,> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@:

arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd:
Obama's Unseen Hands...> > > > Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@: Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...> > Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist,> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.> > > Gloria Emeagwali > www.africahistory.net> > > > > From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo: Ta_Seti@: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...> > <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>> > > > > >

> Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power.> http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?icid=starshuffle\_wlmailtextlink\_jan>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

---

> Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix".

> <http://www.msnmobilefix.com/Default.aspx>

>

| 24843|2008-02-15 18:28:11|elliottandelliottmtg|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

In my opinion any African American who is not supporting Obama is a sellout. Hillary paid the CBC for their support and she gave money to African American ministers so they would encourage African Americans to vote for her. If that is not sellingout then i dont know what is. She also voted for the war which over 90% of African Americans new was a mistake and she will continue the war and call it a "careful exit". Her main contributors are from the military industrial complex that got us in the mess in Iraq.

The former president and her conduct in the south carolina primaries speaks volumes about how the democratic elite take the votes of African Americans for granted. She said that MLK was powerless and ineffective without the support of "good white people" and she trotted out Bob Johnson to attack Obama not knowing that many African Americans do not even watch BET or have a high opinion of Johnson.

Out of Hillary, McCain and Obama, who can honestly say that Obama is not the best choice for African Americans specifically and America in general.

Issaias

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "arumese" wrote:

>
> I understand that you are being belligerent without good cause.
I'm
> done with it. It's not worth fighting over. What will be, will be.
>
> Fred

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>>
>>
>> NO! I just happened to disagree and think it was crap.
Understand

> now?

>>
>> Peter

>>

>>

>>

>> To: Ta_Seti@: arumese@: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 18:19:53

> +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>>

>>

>>

> >

> > Did you totally miss my point, or WHAT...?--- In

> Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > What a > load of crap!!> > The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to > oppose so that they can get down to the nasty business of tainting > her with the Bill Clinton brush. I think they would have a very hard > time trying to taint Obama with any scandalous past, simply because > he doesn't have one.> > Regards,> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@:

> arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re:

Fwd:

> Obama's Unseen Hands...> > > > Obama is the last best strategy

the > right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting

> that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream

> America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his > experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.--- In

> Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > Well

> summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past

> Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@:

> Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd:

> Obama's Unseen Hands...> > Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential.

> McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a > theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is

a > man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist,

> novelist,> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of

my > father.' Go hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make > sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.> > > Gloria

> Emeagwali > www.africahistory.net> > > > > From:

> Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon

> 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo: Ta_Seti@: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen

> Hands...> > <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>> > > > > >

> _____> Climb

to > the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star > power.> http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?

> icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_jan>

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> > Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-

> get your "fix".

> > <http://www.msnmobilefix.com/Default.aspx>

> >

>

| 24844|2008-02-15 18:28:21|Tafari khumbaka|bush goes too africa|

<http://www.earthtimes.org/articles/show/186144,bush-departs-for-africa.html>

click above

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24845|2008-02-15 18:28:30|ANGELINE BANDON-BIBUM|Suggestion for a good weekend read...Sojourner's Dream, a novel. (S|

Happy Friday Everyone!

May I suggest a good weekend read?

I suggest Sojourner's Dream, a novel.

Take a look at the book trailer for Sojourner's Dream:

<http://www.youtube.com/user/BANDONPRESS>

Angeline Bandon-Bibum, Author of Sojourner's Dream

Check out my websites:

<http://www.authorsden.com/msangelinebandonbibum>

<http://angelinebandonbibum.blogspot.com>

<http://sojournersdreamanovel.blogspot.com>

<http://sojournersdreamlamentationsofawarrior.blogspot.com>

Angeline Bandon-Bibum, Author of Sojourner's Dream

Check out my websites:

<http://www.authorsden.com/msangelinebandonbibum>

<http://angelinebandonbibum.blogspot.com>

<http://sojournersdreamanovel.blogspot.com>

<http://sojournersdreamlamentationsofawarrior.blogspot.com>

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24846|2008-02-15 22:35:42|K. Loganathan|Archaeologists dig up 'oldest' African human sacrifice|

Archaeologists dig up 'oldest' African human sacrifice

A recent handout picture shows the Freninitial excavations of a Neolithic tomb containing a 5,500-year-old man, believed to have been an important leader at the time of death, in El Kadada. French archaeologists in Sudan say they have uncovered the oldest proof of human sacrifice in Africa, hailing the discovery as the biggest Neolithic find on the continent for years.

French archaeologists in Sudan say they have uncovered the oldest proof of human sacrifice in Africa, hailing the discovery as the biggest Neolithic find on the continent for years.

The tomb of a 5,500-year-old man surrounded by three sacrificed humans, two dogs and exquisite ceramics were exhumed north of Khartoum by Neolithic expert Jacques Reinhold and his 66-year-old Austrian wife.

"This is the oldest proof of human sacrifice in Sudan, in Egypt, in Africa," Reinhold told reporters next to the remains in El Kadada village, a three-hour drive north of the Sudanese capital.

"I don't know of another example in Africa at this level... We don't have anything as strong in other excavations in other countries," said Reinhold, as villagers in traditional white robes carefully scrapped earth into buckets.

The archaeologist, who has led the excavation for several months, described the tomb as the most important Neolithic find in Africa since the 1990s.

That period -- which Reinhold calls the first global revolution -- marks the period when man evolved from hunter gatherers into farmers and producers, forever changing the structure of human society.

He says the find is nearly 1,000 years older what many consider Sudan's most spectacular discoveries of human sacrifice -- scores of bodies buried together.

Close to the Nile and highly fertile, the El Kadada area north of the modern town of Shendi would have been highly favourable for Neolithic settlers.

Reinhold and wife Ulla met in Khartoum and lived in Sudan for 25 years where he was director of the Section Francaise de la Direction des Antiquities.

The French team said that urns, materials used to grind wheat into flour, beads and bracelets also uncovered at the site will be donated to the National Museum in Khartoum.

2008 AFP

<http://www.physorg.com/news122310386.html>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24847|2008-02-16 07:51:26|Terry Howcott|Eve Out of Africa|

Our Genetic Eve Out of Africa

At terryhowcott.com

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24848|2008-02-16 07:52:32|Terry|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
Well, you've all said a mouthful.

I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at groups. I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all may seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.

Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific about his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a public official, and understanding the importance of effectively communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I have expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black President.

I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been waged against Black people in this country at least as well as he can articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support him.

I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride in being consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com, and then support someone who chants about hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s autobiography? (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the manner Obama would like.

If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who he's paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if he's not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then I'm not with him.

It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening with points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys).

On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the behavior we see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter how a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.

Thanks now, and good morning -

Terry

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>

>

> What a load of crap!!

>

> The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that they can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill Clinton brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint Obama with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.

>

> Regards,

>

> Peter

>

>

>

> To: Ta_Seti@...: arumeas@...: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>

>

>

>

> Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.---

>>>>>>>>>>

✓ ✓ ✓ ✓ ✓

The linked image cannot be displayed. The file may have been moved, renamed, or deleted. Verify that the link points to the correct file and location.

| 24850|2008-02-16 09:26:44|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

---

Attachments :

---

Go to the current issue of Ebony and there is a great interview with a lot of specifics. Read 'Dreams of his Father' and 'The Audacity of Hope' for more.

I must confess I have not found the time to read the second book because I was just totally immersed reading and re-reading the first book. I shall read the second book next week.

In 'Dreams.....' we have specifics about what he actually did in rundown Chicago and what his socio-political philosophy is.

GE

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala
Sent: Sat 2/16/2008 11:05 AM
To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:

>

> Well, you've all said a mouthful.

>

>

>

> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific about > his socio political intentions.

Barack has laid out his plans as specifically as any other candidate. You can download his "Blueprint for Change" at his website:

The Blueprint for Change <<http://www.barackobama.com/pdf/ObamaBlueprintForChange.pdf>>

For example, you can compare his healthcare plan in specifics to that of any other candidate.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

| 24851|2008-02-16 10:23:49|asar_imhotep|Metaphysics, The 7 Chambers of Poetry & The heART of MC'ing|

If you cannot view this html email, please visit:

http://www.houstonministryofculture.com/events/index.php?do=/public/event/view/id\_153/

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

| 24852|2008-02-16 10:25:13|Tafari khumbaka|health|

click below

<http://www.tauienterprises.com/store/p/358-ENZYMES-What-The-Experts-Know.aspx>

good health too ya!

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24853|2008-02-16 10:51:09|Alex van Deelen|Revolution (Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...)|

Hi Everett Prewitt,

Excellent breakdown of Obama's record.

Clyde,

For inspiration, check out the stories of these two great kids from South Carolina, and these interviews with his grandmother in Kenya:

An American Dream (full version) - Josh Stroman's story.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=c92bbYZXw0A>

Obama Supporter Brittany Washington

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w4WyajuB1Fc&feature=user>

Obama's Kenyan grandmother

Obama's Kenyan Roots

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UreJZMY\_2IY

Obama's Ancestral Home and Grandmother

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XxMy\_0qvLFU&feature=related

Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Posted by: "prewitt" prewitt@mindspring.com prewittx

Fri Feb 15, 2008 11:24 am (PST)

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from: The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare (health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children);(2) welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families);(3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing.

He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection: (1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe that's why other white people like him too, maybe that's why they give him money, and maybe that's why so many people are jumping Hillary's ship to get on Obamas, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them? I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldn't trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clintons' close friends said, "They lie too easily."

What's unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white woman's bandwagon. Where's the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

| 24854|2008-02-16 12:33:20|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Am I allowed to disagree without a dissertation? I simply said I thought what you said was crap. Arrest me!

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: arumese@yahoo.com
Date: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 23:55:02 +0000
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

I understand that you are being belligerent without good cause. I'm done with it. It's not worth fighting over. What will be, will be.

Fred

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>
>
> NO! I just happened to disagree and think it was crap. Understand now?
>
> Peter
>
>
>
> To: Ta_Seti@...: arumese@...: Fri, 15 Feb 2008 18:19:53 +0000
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
>
>
>

> Did you totally miss my point, or WHAT...?--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > What a load of crap!!> > The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that they can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill Clinton brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint Obama with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.> > Regards,> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@:
arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd:
Obama's Unseen Hands...> > > > Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:>> > Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past
Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@:
Tue, 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd:
Obama's Unseen Hands...> > Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential.
McCain is a chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic. > Obama is a man of the present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist,> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.' Go hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is not hijacked by the rightwing.> > > Gloria Emeagwali > www.africahistory.net> > > > > From:
Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon
2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo: Ta_Seti@: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen
Hands...> > <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>> > > > > >

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power.> http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?

icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_jan>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

---

> Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix".

> <http://www.msnmobil.efix.com/Default.aspx>

>

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

| 24855|2008-02-16 17:23:58|Bradenqp@aol.com|African Fractals: Video Lecture|

A videopresentation by Ron Eglash, author of African Fractals, on the occurrence of evidence of deep understanding of fractal theory in African architecture and culture:

<http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/198>

Paul Braden

---

Delicious ideas to please the pickiest eaters. Watch the video on AOL Living.

| 24856|2008-02-16 21:52:21|Mahari Mengistu|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Based on that argument I would assume that you have NEVER voted for a white President either. The simple truth is that with the exception of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none of them have done sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".

Give me a break! You just don't want to be generous -give the benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need to examine your self.

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:

>

> Well, you've all said a mouthful.

>

>

> I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at groups.

> I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all may > seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.

>

> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific about > his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a > public official, and understanding the importance of effectively

> communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've > never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I have > expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black

> President.

>

> I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but > that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been waged

> against Black people in this country at least as well as he can > articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support him.

>

> I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride in being > consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com

> <<http://terryhowcott.com>> , and then support someone who chants about > hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s autobiography?

> (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the manner

> Obama would like.

>

> If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who he's > paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if he's > not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then I'm not > with him.

>

> It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening with > points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys.

>

> On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the > concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the behavior we > see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter how > a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.

>

> Thanks now, and good morning -

>

> Terry

>

>

>

>

>

>

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:

>>

>>

>> What a load of crap!!

>>

>> The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that

they > can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill Clinton > brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint Obama > with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.

>>

>> Regards,

>>

>> Peter

>>

>>

>>

>> To: Ta_Seti@: arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject:

> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>>

>>

>>

>>

>> Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a Republican > back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic > Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for him due > to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that he > is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@ wrote:>> >

> Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past

> Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@: Tue,

> 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen

> Hands...> > Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a > chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological > dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of the > present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, novelist,> > visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.'

Go

> hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that he is > not hijacked by the rightwing.> > > Gloria Emeagwali >

> www.africahistory.net> > > > > From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on > behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo:

Ta_Seti@:

> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...> >

> <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>>

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

---

> > Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge
with > star power.

> >

> http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?

icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_j\

> an

> >

>

| 24857|2008-02-16 22:38:15|Asar Imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

This was a very good clip. This has far greater implications than what is apparent from viewing. You would wonder as if African people are the only ones with this type of architectural and city planning design, just how connected are the people in Africa.

Taking a cue from linguistics, if languages change over time to form new branches, and new branches in most cases represent a new philosophy (as words are simply the formation of world-view), then shouldn't we have new forms in the formation of our cities, villages, etc.? How does the same "philosophy" survive 100's of 1000's of years to remain uniquely African, where this philosophy and practice is not practiced anywhere else in world?

These are the questions I pose in my "Philosophical Cognancy" theory among African nations. So just like you can, using the comparative method in linguistics, compare the cognates of words for similarities, I pose you can do the same based on the theory and practice of African nations and this is one such example.

But as always, Europeans are late on concepts we've known for years.

Bradenqp@aol.com wrote:

A videopresentation by Ron Eglash, author of African Fractals, on the occurrence of evidence of deep understanding of fractal theory in African architecture and culture:

<http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/198>

Paul Braden

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.
| 24858|2008-02-16 23:02:10|shaimesh@grouply.com|How Scripture Verses Are Misused For Control - by Dr. Ray Hagins 2/1|

From: truthcenter@aol.com

This Sunday Night's Topic is:

How Scripture Verses Are Misused For Control & Why Religious Leaders Must Never Tell Us The Truth!

Don't miss this indepth discussion as Dr. Hagins answers questions about how church leaderstwists certainscriptures to control the thinking of the followers about giving money, and how they will be "raptured" (caught away) when Jesus comes back to escape this world system, and much more...

Call in or join the discussion in the "Sunday Night Live Chat Room" and free your mind!

Join Dr. Hagins Every Sunday Night
8:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight (EST)
(7:00 p.m.to 11:00 p.m. Central Time)

For "LIVE" talk radio andQ&A Log ontoto: www.wblr.com
Call-inlines: 1-877-454-1900 (Long Distance) & (314) 741-9507
(St. Louis area)

---

Delicious ideas to please the pickiest eaters. Watch the video on AOL Living.

| 24859|2008-02-17 02:27:53|Asar Imhotep|Using Multimedia to Engage African American Children in Classroom Di|

---

Attachments :

---

I thought this article is relevant given the recent discussions on this forum concerning media, the arts and social change. I've attached the article as a pdf. Let me know if it doesn't attach for you. The abstract is below.

Using Multimedia to Engage African American Children in Classroom Discourse

Jacqueline Leonard
Marc Lamont Hill
Temple University

The purpose of this study is to examine the discourses that emerged among third- and fourth-grade African American students and their teachers as they read stories about the Underground Railroad and complete a computer module. The study is framed by emergent, sociocultural, and critical race perspectives. Qualitative methods are used to determine the amount and quality of science discourse that emerged in three urban classrooms. Results show culturally relevant texts engage students and teachers in high levels of classroom discourse that is rich in science content. Students are also successful on the science section of a computer-based assessment, suggesting culturally relevant multimedia is effective in science instruction. Findings also reveal the use of culturally relevant multimedia supports science inquiry and changes the social norms and discourse dynamics in classrooms when issues of racial injustice are addressed.

Keywords: classroom discourse; cultural relevance; computer-assisted instruction; science inquiry; African American students

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.mochasuite.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24860|2008-02-17 06:48:25|Bradenqp@aol.com|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Asar,

I agree with you and your last remark is correct. However, I think Europeans are not staying "late". They are figuring many of these issues out. In the meantime too many of our people remain disinterested to the implications of much of this.

You have done a great service in this forum trying to have the importance of African religions be understood. Too many of our people head for the hills whenever these topics are brought up and they fail to understand the importance of "spirit" in the African reality. They study Africa only in ways accepted by Europeans. They think this makes them "scientific". Studying Africa without studying its spirituality

(deeply) will only lead one so far. Spirit and matter are inextricably interwoven in all things African. Yet, there is considerable resistance to delving into this area among a lot of our people throughout the world - even in Africa itself. Meanwhile significant leaps in understanding are being generated by Europeans who take the trouble to investigate these things themselves.

We should be concerned about Ron Eglash divulging material he was told in Africa by priests in (presumably) strict confidence. Marcel Griaule making the effort to study with the Dogon for decades in order to tell us what many of our leaders and intellectuals should have figured out themselves is a lesson we should not forget. There are technologies and tools and knowledge that remain right in front of our noses. But because they are soiled with the dirt and grime and squalor of present African material reality, we ignore them. I'm sure our ancestors are shaking their heads in disappointment.

Best,

Paul Braden

In a message dated 2/17/2008 1:38:34 AM Eastern Standard Time, asar_imhotep@yahoo.com writes:

This was a very good clip. This has far greater implications than what is apparent from viewing. You would wonder as if African people are the only ones with this type of architectural and city planning design, just how connected are the people in Africa.

Taking a cue from linguistics, if languages change over time to form new branches, and new branches in most cases represent a new philosophy (as words are simply the formation of world-view), then shouldn't we have new forms in the formation of our cities, villages, etc.? How does the same "philosophy" survive 100's of 1000's of years to remain uniquely African, where this philosophy and practice is not practiced anywhere else in world?

These are the questions I pose in my "Philosophical Cognancy" theory among African nations. So just like you can, using the comparative method in linguistics, compare the cognates of words for similarities, I pose you can do the same based on the theory and practice of African nations and this is one such example.

But as always, Europeans are late on concepts we've known for years.

Bradenqp@aol. com wrote:

A videopresentation by Ron Eglash, author of African Fractals, on the occurrence of evidence of deep understanding of fractal theory in African architecture and culture:

<http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/198>

Paul Braden

---

Delicious ideas to please the pickiest eaters. Watch the video on AOL Living.

| 24861|2008-02-17 07:47:05|Asar Imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

This is how you can if a scholar is intimate with Africa or not. I remember some years ago, I was talking privately to professor James Smalls about Africa and the state of African Studies in general. He said something to the nature of (and I am paraphrasing), "That you have to love Africa. Don't just flirt with it, love it."

It perplexed me a while later on what he meant beyond the surface of this statement. Not until I began to engage in different aspects of traditional culture did I come to a full understanding of the statement (at least in my opinion). For me, love is something you do. Love requires participation and a full immersion with that which you make the connection to. To be in love is to stand in the midst and be surrounded by phenomena and surrendering to the experience.

When you love something, you do any and everything you can to find out more about it, to safeguard it against harm, you write it poetry, you make sure it is happy, and most importantly, you feed it. Too many of our scholars are content with simply doing analysis based on book data, instead of "being" IN love with Africa and producing and expanding its legacy. They don't live amongst it.

The philosophy will be apparent when one surrenders one's self to the living universities and the only way we will differentiate European studies from that of African studies is when we immerse ourselves in the philosophy and began producing [to be Nganga] "things" (medicines, technologies, art, social systems, etc.) that enhance the human condition rooted in our world view. This is how you can tell the difference between someone who is "flirting" with African history, culture and wisdom, and someone who is "in love" with Africa. As Diop has stated:

"The cultural personality of Africa is inseparable from the restoration of our collective historical consciousness?After all, what is our objective if it is not that of recovering and promoting the creativity of our peoples? Man's mission is creation. African renaissance, black renaissance, is inseparable from the restoration of the black world creativity." - Cheikh Anta Diop

If we aren't producing with this knowledge, then what is our purpose? This can only happen by using the traditional methods of teaching and understanding the nature and purposes of our cosmology. Some may get upset at what I'm about to say, but this is how I feel. Personally, I think that Afrocentricity, as espoused by Dr. Asante, will never be a mass movement among our people because it lacks a Cosmology. I can defend at a later time. But it speaks to the heart of what you said below, that while many study Africa, rarely are they immersed in African perspectives enough to see what is truly great beyond pyramids and empires. It all starts with the cosmology.

Bradenqp@aol.com wrote:

Asar,

I agree with you and your last remark is correct. However, I think Europeans are not staying "late". They are figuring many of these issues out. In the meantime too many of our people remain disinterested to the implications of much of this.

You have done a great service in this forum trying to have the importance of African religions be understood. Too many of our people head for the hills whenever these topics are brought up and they fail to understand the importance of "spirit" in the African reality. They study Africa only in ways accepted by Europeans. They think this makes them "scientific" . Studying Africa without studying its spirituality (deeply) will only lead one so far. Spirit and matter are inextricably interwoven in all things African. Yet, there is considerable resistance to delving into this area among a lot of our people throughout the world - even in Africa itself. Meanwhile significant leaps in understanding are being generated by Europeans who take the trouble to investigate these things themselves.

We should be concerned about Ron Eglash divulging material he was told in Africa by priests in (presumably) strict confidence. Marcel Griaule making the effort to study with the Dogon for decades in order to tell us what many of our leaders and intellectuals should have figured out themselves is a lesson we should not forget. There are technologies and tools and knowledge that remain right in front of our noses. But because they are soiled with the dirt and grime and squalor of present African material reality, we ignore them. I'm sure our ancestors are shaking their heads in disappointment.

Best,

Paul Braden

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24862|2008-02-17 08:23:29|Terry|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

If I have to go to a website to see what he means by what he says, then that's also not acceptable. When people write me and ask what I think of Obama, I'm not going to send them to any damn website. That is absurd.

Websites go down - they disappear.

I want to hear him SAY what he means by what he says so that all the people of the world can hear him.

I'm not comparing him to other candidates. I have listened to Obama's and Clinton's stump speeches, and I assure you she is much more forthcoming about her plan on myriad issues.

I don't support her. But, I'm not Helen Keller, and I can see very plainly she's more descriptive on an array of topics and I don't have to go to her website to read what she means.

Dennis Kucinich was another one. He was specific about public policy.
So was that fellow who was Latino.

Obama can walk and chew gum at the same time. He can lay out ideas on hope and still discuss what he thinks of the prison industrial complex. He can talk about roadblocks and barriers folk face among people of color living in poverty - the disenfranchisement.

He can discuss the ability of Black men to vote when they are released from prison and have "paid their dues."

He can discuss cancer - prostate and breast cancer and the thousands of Black folk who are literally filling chemotherapy rooms across the country in droves. BLACK people are dying of cancer at a clip rate.

He should have accepted the invitation offered him by Tavis Smiley. Instead he wanted to send his wife.

Ironically, Michelle does a better job of discussing some of the specifics of this campaign than he does - but her speeches of course tend to fly below the radar. She is equally as forthcoming as Hillary, but noone gets to hear what she says.

With that, I'll not support him - not openly - until he speaks to the needs of the community I serve - which he is being associated with. People BELIEVE he will be the first Black President of the U.S.

He had better say something that DISTINGUISHES him as such.

Otherwise, I'll support him if he is nominated in the voting booth.

Terry

T.H.

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Paul Kekai Manansala" wrote:

>
> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:
> >
> > Well, you've all said a mouthful.
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific
> about
> > his socio political intentions.
>
> Barack has laid out his plans as specifically as any other candidate.
> You can download his "Blueprint for Change" at his website:
>
>
> [The Blueprint for Change]
> <<http://www.barackobama.com/pdf/ObamaBlueprintForChange.pdf>>
>
>
> For example, you can compare his healthcare plan in specifics to that

of > any other candidate.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>

| 24863|2008-02-17 08:23:53|Terry|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

I've never voted for a White person for President. I voted for the lesser of two evils, which is far different than voting for someone I wanted to vote for. We all know none of them have done a damn thing for us.

If Barack is nominated, I will obviously vote for him.

But, I refuse to openly support someone who is a Black candidate who I question re: his intent to do "sh-t" for us just the same as White folk.

Your suggestion that I wouldn't want to give the benefit of the doubt to a Black man? Now, there is where you're speaking out of the left and the right side of your neck simultaneously. You don't know me, you certainly don't know my love and concern for Black men and it is downright silly to make such claims whenever a Sister thinks before she acts in relation to her socio political position.

The ironic thing is that you are arguing for the election of a Black man who hasn't integrated Black men in one single public policy idea. Not one.

You don't give benefits of doubt regarding a Black man who is running for President. If he were a woman, I wouldn't give HER the benefit of the doubt. I don't give the benefit of the doubt to Black men who wage colorless campaigns.

I do give the benefit of the doubt to Black men who stand up and communicate a position on some of the barriers and concerns the masses of Black people face. I reject Black men in the public arena who send messages that a Black man can be successful if he only keeps his mouth shut about his people who are SUFFERING in the streets.

I'm sick of seeing this high percentage of Black men eating out of garbage cans. I want to see more of them have a place they can call home.

I'm sick of seeing Black men being released from 17, 18 years of incarceration to a society that won't hire them, won't provide them adequate resources to get back on their feet.

I have clients - all Black men who are brilliant people who need a President of the U.S. who understands their dilemma. George Jackson was killed in prison after being committed to 1 year to LIFE in prison for stealing 70 dollars.

I have clients who have served equally astronomical sentences for bullsh-it!

I'm tired of seeing Black candidates get elected and who serve the top 40 - Black folk who are successful and privileged.

I won't take no for an answer from a Black candidate anymore. I EXPECT nothing from a White candidate. But, I will not be reduced to expecting silence from a "Black man" while this community is falling apart at the seams.

With that, I urge people to hold their support as an act of protest. I protest Barack Obama's silence. I don't want to hear speeches from Obama. In fact, some folk have the nerve to compare him to Dr. King. I don't want a candidate who encourages the troops like Dr. King did, but who doesn't have a drop of the bravery he had to advocate for his people.

Had Dr. King ran for public office, he would have stated his case about specific issues of the day like a Black man - and he certainly wouldn't send anybody to martinlutherking.com to know what he meant.

Thanks,

Terry

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

>
> Based on that argument I would assume that you have NEVER voted for a > white President either. The simple truth is that with the exception > of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none of them have done
> sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".
> Give me a break! You just don't want to be generous -give the > benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need to examine your self.
> HTP,
> Mahari

>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:

>>
>> Well, you've all said a mouthful.
>>
>>
>> I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at groups.
>> I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all > may >> seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.
>>
>> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific
> about
>> his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a >> public official, and understanding the importance of effectively
>> communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've >> never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I have >> expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black >> President.
>>
>> I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but >> that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been > waged
>> against Black people in this country at least as well as he can >> articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support > him.
>>
>> I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride in
> being
>> consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com
>> , and then support someone who chants

> about
>> hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s > autobiography?
>> (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the > manner
>> Obama would like.
>>
>> If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who he's >> paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if > he's >> not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then > I'm not
>> with him.
>>
>> It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening
> with >> points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys.
>>
>> On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the >> concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the > behavior we >> see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter
> how
>> a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.
>>
>> Thanks now, and good morning -
>>
>> Terry
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>> What a load of crap!!
>>>
>>> The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that
> they >> can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill > Clinton
>> brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint
> Obama
>> with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.

>>>
>>> Regards,
>>>
>>> Peter
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> To: Ta_Seti@: arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject:
>> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a > Republican
>> back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic >> Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for > him due >> to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that > he >> is black.--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@
> wrote:>>>
>> Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past >> Hillary's delegate count.>> Peter>>>> To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@:
> Tue,
>> 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's
> Unseen
>> Hands...>> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a >> chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological >> dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of the >> present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist,
> novelist,>
>> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.'
> Go
>> hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that > he is
>> not hijacked by the rightwing.>>>> Gloria Emeagwali >
>> www.africahistory.net>>>>>> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on >> behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo:
> Ta_Seti@:
>> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...>>
>> http://biggestloser.msn.com/>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>

> > >

> > >

> > >

> > > Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge

> with > > star power.

> > >

> > http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?

> icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_j\

> > an

> > >

> >

>

| 24864|2008-02-17 08:24:14|Terry|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Yes, you see? You're referring me to his book and Ebony magazine.

You mean, that's how the world learns what Obama stands for?

Think about what you're saying.

You're saying students should put down their studies and read his book to know what he means?

That is very low level in terms of expectations. I expect much more from such a capable man. He has the capacity to state his case. He's just made a conscious decision to not state his case.

Why would he make that decision? He says he'll tell people what they "need" to hear. What does he mean by that?

What does he think we "need" to hear? Does he mean like in that sick fashion of let's say a Bill Cosby?

Does he mean in paternalistic fashion? Does he mean, he knows what we don't know - when he comes from Kenya and was raised in Hawaii? Is there something he could LEARN from a Sister or a Brother from Detroit or Harlem re" the reality of Black folk on the ground?

Was his experience in Chicago enough for him to cut through to the intricacies of how people get where they are?

I doubt it. And he won't tell me if I'm mistaken.

People deserve to hear more from Barack.

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>
> Go to the current issue of Ebony and there is a great interview with > a lot of specifics. Read 'Dreams of his Father' and 'The Audacity of Hope' > for more.
>
> I must confess I have not found the time to read the second book > because I was just totally immersed reading and re-reading the first book.
> I shall read the second book next week.
>
> In 'Dreams.....' we have specifics about what he actually did in rundown Chicago.
> and what his socio- political philosophy is.

>
>
> GE

>
> _____
>
> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala
> Sent: Sat 2/16/2008 11:05 AM
> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>
>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:

>>
>> Well, you've all said a mouthful.
>>
>>
>
>>
>> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific about >> his socio political intentions.

>
> Barack has laid out his plans as specifically as any other candidate. You can download his
"Blueprint for Change" at his website:

>
>
> The Blueprint for Change

>
>
> For example, you can compare his healthcare plan in specifics to that of any other candidate.
>
> Regards,

> Paul Kekai Manansala

>

| 24865|2008-02-17 08:24:47|Terry|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands 2|

I just want to say this too.

I approach these conversations with great openmindedness. I realize there may be speeches or public discussions I've missed that might bring about more clarity re: Obama's position. I'm ready and waiting for more understanding.

But, I'm struck here with how "support" works. Once we decide we'll support one another - like in basketball - we hunch our back, we dig in and we don't even hear people's concerns anymore.

If I were a supporter of Obama, I would have to at least admit there are some holes - that there is a void in his presentation. I'd have to at the very least tell people I'm just waiting for him to fill that void - rather than sending intelligent people to a website.

Our support of a candidate should fluid enough to at least recognize his weaknesses.

If you can't recognize his weaknesses, the Republicans will and they'll use them to their advantage.

In other words, you can't help your candidate if you can't send his campaign a letter of support that also criticizes his failure to annunciate concerns of Black people. That would make his support system as weak in substance as his speeches.

Obama will only become a better candidate and will only be a great President, if we criticize him.

Here's a word from S.E. Anderson at

<http://blackeducator.blogspot.com/2008/01/obamamania-does-not-mean-end-of-racism.html>

Thanks,

Terry

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

>
> Based on that argument I would assume that you have NEVER voted for a > white President either. The simple truth is that with the exception > of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none of them have done
> sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".
> Give me a break! You just don't want to be generous -give the > benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need to examine your self.
> HTP,
> Mahari

>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:

> >
> > Well, you've all said a mouthful.
> >
> >
> > I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at groups.
> > I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all
> may > > seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.
> >
> > Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific
> about
> > his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a > > public official, and understanding the importance of effectively
> > communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've > > never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I have > > expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black > > President.
> >
> > I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but > > that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been > waged
> > against Black people in this country at least as well as he can > > articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support > him.
> >
> > I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride in
> being
> > consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com
> > , and then support someone who chants
> about
> > hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s > autobiography?
> > (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the > manner

> > Obama would like.
> >
> > If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who he's > > paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if
> he's > > not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then > I'm not
> > with him.
> >
> > It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening
> with > > points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys.
> >
> > On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the > > concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the
> behavior we > > see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter
> how
> > a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.
> >
> > Thanks now, and good morning -
> >
> > Terry
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
> > >
> > >
> > > What a load of crap!!
> > >
> > > The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that
> they > > can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill
> Clinton
> > brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint
> Obama
> > with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.
> > >
> > > Regards,
> > >
> > > Peter
> > >

>>>
>>>
>>> To: Ta_Seti@: arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject:
>> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a > Republican
>> back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic >> Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for > him due >> to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that > he >> is black.--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@
> wrote:>>>
>> Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past >> Hillary's delegate count.>> Peter>>> To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@:
> Tue,
>> 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's
> Unseen
>> Hands...>> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a >> chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological >> dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of the >> present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist,
> novelist,>
>> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.'
> Go
>> hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that > he is
>> not hijacked by the rightwing.>>> Gloria Emeagwali >
>> www.africahistory.net>>>>>> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on >> behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo:
> Ta_Seti@:
>> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...>>
>> <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> _____
>>> Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge
> with

> > star power.
> > >
> > http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?
> > icid=starshuffle\_wlmailtextlink\_j\ > > an
> > >
> >
>

| 24866|2008-02-17 08:25:45|Bradenqp@aol.com|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Asar,

I agree entirely with what you've stated except for the issue of Asante's project.

It's my impression that Asante would not venture to create a cosmology because he would argue that one already exists. Asante is, after all, an Akan initiate. Although he has as yet not extensively formally addressed African cosmologies in his works, he has given lectures on Akan spirituality and African spirituality in general. It would seem to me that when one connects with the indigenous religions of Africa, it is better to have a long period of learning before one attempts to publish authoritatively on the subject. So it would seem to me that Asante would prefer that people who have been priests for longer periods than he should be writing authoritative cosmologies and text specifically on matters of this sort.

Ra un nefer Amen, for example, has done laudable work on Kemetic spirituality, but there are significant problems with his work that those who are immersed in African religions will point out. This is because it is only recently that he has engaged a specific African religion (Akan, as I understand it) to a deeper degree.

But as far as I know, it is actually the Temple University Afrocentric core who has made a point of being first hand practitioners of African religions. I believe Ama Mazama is a Vodoun priestess. Being initiated into Akan, Vodoun, Ifa and other African religions is pretty much common and (I would venture to suggest) expected in that group.

If others are more knowledgeable about these specifics please feel free to correct me. So Asar, could you expound on what you are suggesting? Is it your view that Asante should integrate existing cosmologies into his work or are you really suggesting, as you pointed out that he needs to Create (which by definition implies something new) a cosmology. I suppose I'm curious why he would create something that is already there and rather - one would argue - just needs deeper exploration and understanding before attempting to add new things to it.

Best,

Paul Braden

In a message dated 2/17/2008 10:47:34 AM Eastern Standard Time, asar_imhotep@yahoo.com writes:

This is how you can if a scholar is intimate with Africa or not. I remember some years ago, I was talking privately to professor James Smalls about Africa and the state of African Studies in general. He said something to the nature of (and I am paraphrasing) , "That you have to love Africa. Don't just flirt with it, love it."

It perplexed me a while later on what he meant beyond the surface of this statement. Not until I began to engage in different aspects of traditional culture did I come to a full understanding of the statement (at least in my opinion). For me, love is something you do. Love requires participation and a full immersion with that which you make the connection to. To be in love is to stand in the midst and be surrounded by phenomena and surrendering to the experience.

When you love something, you do any and everything you can to find out more about it, to safeguard it against harm, you write it poetry, you make sure it is happy, and most importantly, you feed it. Too many of our scholars are content with simply doing analysis based on book data, instead of "being" IN love with Africa and producing and expanding its legacy. They don't live amongst it.

The philosophy will be apparent when one surrenders one's self to the living universities and the only way we will differentiate European studies from that of African studies is when we immerse ourselves in the philosophy and began producing [to be Nganga] "things" (medicines, technologies, art, social systems, etc.) that enhance the human condition rooted in our world view. This is how you can tell the difference between someone who is "flirting" with African history, culture and wisdom, and someone who is "in love" with Africa. As Diop has stated:

"The cultural personality of Africa is inseparable from the restoration of our collective historical consciousnessAfter all, what is our objective if it is not that of recovering and promoting the creativity of our peoples? Man's mission is creation. African renaissance, black renaissance, is inseparable from the restoration of the black world creativity." - Cheikh Anta Diop

If we aren't producing with this knowledge, then what is our purpose? This can only happen by using the traditional methods of teaching and understanding the nature and purposes of our cosmology. Some may get upset at what I'm about to say, but this is how I feel. Personally, I think that Afrocentricity, as espoused by Dr. Asante, will never be a mass movement among our people because it lacks a Cosmology. I can defend at a later time. But it speaks to the heart of what you said below, that while many study Africa, rarely are they immersed in African perspectives enough to see what is truly great beyond pyramids and empires. It all starts with the cosmology.

Bradenqp@aol. com wrote:

Asar,

I agree with you and your last remark is correct. However, I think Europeans are not staying "late". They are figuring many of these issues out. In the meantime too many of our people remain disinterested to the implications of much of this. You have done a great service in this forum trying to have the importance of African religions be understood. Too many of our people head for the hills whenever these topics are brought up and they fail to understand the importance of "spirit" in the African reality. They study Africa only in ways accepted by Europeans. They think this makes them "scientific". Studying Africa without studying its spirituality (deeply) will only lead one so far. Spirit and matter are inextricably interwoven in all things African. Yet, there is considerable resistance to delving into this area among a lot of our people throughout the world - even in Africa itself. Meanwhile significant leaps in understanding are being generated by Europeans who take the trouble to investigate these things themselves.

We should be concerned about Ron Eglash divulging material he was told in Africa by priests in (presumably) strict confidence. Marcel Griaule making the effort to study with the Dogon for decades in order to tell us what many of our leaders and intellectuals should have figured out themselves is a lesson we should not forget. There are technologies and tools and knowledge that remain right in front of our noses. But because they are soiled with the dirt and grime and squalor of present African material reality, we ignore them. I'm sure our ancestors are shaking their heads in disappointment.

Best,

Paul Braden

Delicious ideas to please the pickiest eaters. Watch the video on AOL Living.

| 24867|2008-02-17 08:58:41|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands 2|

Attachments :

Sorry but since you don't like books, magazines, websites and speeches there is nothing anyone can do to convince you. Good luck.

GE

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Terry
Sent: Sun 2/17/2008 10:35 AM
To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands 2

I just want to say this too.

I approach these conversations with great openmindedness. I realize there may be speeches or public discussions I've missed that might bring about more clarity re: Obama's position. I'm ready and waiting for more understanding.

But, I'm struck here with how "support" works. Once we decide we'll support one another - like in basketball - we hunch our back, we dig in and we don't even hear people's concerns anymore.

If I were a supporter of Obama, I would have to at least admit there are some holes - that there is a void in his presentation. I'd have to at the very least tell people I'm just waiting for him to fill that void - rather than sending intelligent people to a website.

Our support of a candidate should fluid enough to at least recognize his weaknesses.

If you can't recognize his weaknesses, the Republicans will and they'll use them to their advantage.

In other words, you can't help your candidate if you can't send his campaign a letter of support that also criticizes his failure to annunciate concerns of Black people. That would make his support system as weak in substance as his speeches.

Obama will only become a better candidate and will only be a great President, if we criticize him.

Here's a word from S.E. Anderson at

<http://blackeducator.blogspot.com/2008/01/obamamania-does-not-mean-end-of-racism.html>

Thanks,

Terry

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

>

> Based on that argument I would assume that you have NEVER voted for a > white President either. The simple truth is that with the exception > of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none of them have done
> sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".

> Give me a break! You just don't want to be generous -give the > benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need to examine your self.

> HTP,

> Mahari

>

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:

>>

>> Well, you've all said a mouthful.

>>

>>

>> I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at groups.

>> I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all

> may >> seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.

>>

>> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific
> about

>> his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a > > public official, and understanding the importance of effectively

> > communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've > > never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I have > > expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black > > President.
> >
> > I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but > > that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been > waged
> > against Black people in this country at least as well as he can > > articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support > him.
> >
> > I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride in
> being
> > consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com > > <<http://terryhowcott.com>> , and then support someone who chants
> about
> > hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s > autobiography?
> > (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the > manner
> > Obama would like.
> >
> > If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who he's > > paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if
> he's > > not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then > I'm not
> > with him.
> >
> > It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening
> with > > points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys.
> >
> > On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the > > concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the
> behavior we > > see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter
> how
> > a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.
> >
> > Thanks now, and good morning -
> >
> > Terry
> >

>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>> What a load of crap!!
>>>
>>> The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that
> they >> can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill
> Clinton
>> brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint
> Obama
>> with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.
>>>
>>> Regards,
>>>
>>> Peter
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> To: Ta_Seti@: arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject:
>> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a > Republican
>> back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic >> Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for > him due >> to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that > he >> is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@
> wrote:>>>
>> Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past >> Hillary's delegate count.>> Peter>>> To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@:
> Tue,
>> 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's
> Unseen
>> Hands...>> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a >> chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological > > dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of the > > present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist,

> > novelist,>
> > visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.'
> Go
> > hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that > he is
> > not hijacked by the rightwing.> > > Gloria Emeagwali >
> > www.africahistory.net> > > > > From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on > > behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo:
> Ta_Seti@:
> > [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...> >
> > <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>>
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >

---

> > > Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge
> with > > star power.
> > >
> > http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx? > icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_j\ > > an
> > >
> > >
>

| 24868|2008-02-17 10:13:31|Asar Imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Paul

Yes you are correct, I am positing that we create a new "cosmology." What I am saying as far as Afrocentricity is that it really is an approach to knowledge, which is perfectly fine. I have no problems what-so-ever (that I can recall) with Afrocentricity. What I find lacking is it doesn't answer for the layman "why?" What do I mean by why?

African philosophy, spiritual systems and cosmologies are approaches to understanding man's place and purpose in the universe. It's aims are to try to answer who am I, where did I come from, what is my purpose, and what must I do to fulfill that purpose? This is what human beings seek and it is this line of questioning and need for spirituality that we get the spiritual systems and philosophies known (and unknown) in Africa.

Afrocentricity doesn't begin to answer these questions for the general populace as a theory itself:

it simply refers you to African religions. This is why Christianity and Islam will have a hold on our people in greater numbers than what Afrocentricity, as an approach to knowledge, will have. Christianity and Islam has a cosmology and answers for the layman who they are (outside of genetics) and their purpose and it is for this reason that the majority of the people we seek to help will not jump on the Afrocentric "bandwagon." Whether their answers are correct can be debated.

To truly understand what I mean, I must convey this. I remember some years ago I had a conversation with Dr. Malidoma Some and we were talking about the nature of African rituals and what purpose they served and all that "African" talk that comes with it. One thing really stood out in this conversation, and he echoes it in his work Healing Wisdom of Africa. He stated to me that (paraphrased),

"African spirituality is not hard and stiff. It is flexible and adjusts to one's environment. Our belief in the indigenous world is that your spirit agreed to be here to serve some purpose. Some of us believe that you even pick the geography in which you were born. That means that you have a special connection with the spirits in the place you were born. So this is why I don't make priests here in the states. It is up to you to develop your own thing. I am just providing the template, the philosophy, the approach on how to develop your own systems."

So what he is saying is that in our efforts to return to our spiritual home, we neglect the spirits that reside here. We totally ignore our own creative process and abilities and we continually look outside ourselves for our own liberation. And to me it makes perfect sense. Although African people come from a central locality in the lacustrine region of east Africa, they dispersed out and developed new cosmologies and systems of thoughts where they settled down; to where their world view and communities were just as old as the mother community over time. However, they still kept the philosophical & cultural umbilical chord intact.

I liken it to dreams. Have you noticed that your dreams speak to you in the language in which you were born into? I will never have dreams in Japanese because I don't speak Japanese. The universe adjusts to me and my level of understanding. This philosophy is why the spiritual systems changed as they changed geographies: they had new reference points.

We have new reference points and it is time we create our own cosmologies. This is what Free people do. We have the same intelligence and creative spirit our ancestors had. No matter how much we study indigenous African culture, we will never be like our indigenous brothers and sisters. They grew up in their culture, we grew up in a totally different culture, time and space. So although Afrocentricity attempts to put new lenses for us to see the world, it will never truly be "African".

I had the opportunity to meet the late Dr. Afolabi A. Epega (priest of Ifa and physicist), and he told me that he doesn't make Ifa priests here in America (as he initiates people into the system of Ifa). He said, "I make African-American Ifa priests." He told me that you could never understand fully Yoruba culture. You have to grow up into it. A lot of the stuff we learn, you couldn't use because of where you are at. So we take the basics and what is useful and give to you for you to create something where you are at. This again echoes Dr. Malidoma Some's sentiments mentioned above.

So what I am saying is that we must take the best of what Africa has to offer, get fully initiated into their systems, live a little and develop new systems for ourselves here. This is why I respect Dr. Maulana Karenga so much, what he did with Kwanzaa is truly in the spirit of what the elders are telling me from the continent. This also is why I love the film The Matrix. I do a lecture called African Spirituality and The Matrix and in it I use the Matrix film as an example on how to take ancient stories & philosophies and create a modern cosmology that is relevant and speaks to the current situation of your people.

As professor Smalls used to tell me, "The problem with African-Americans is we don't deify our recent ancestors." We need to deify Harriet Tubman, Mary Mcleod Bethune, Nat Turner, Sojourner Truth, Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, Marcus Garvey, etc. and place them into a pantheon and create a story that teaches us morality, science and health using them as the centers of the stories (no different than Asaru, Heru, & Isi). Only then can we truly say that we are expanding the philosophy of African people. We need to use the symbols of where we are at. We need to collect our proverbs and create a text, but not something that is dogma. Then and only then (IMO) will we be on the same footing as our ancestors. It's about creation (and even Asante talks about this in the first chapter of Afrocentricity - the creation aspect I mean).

What we need from Africa is the understanding of the natural environment, and its technologies. From there, we use that bases to understand our environment and create systems based on it.

Bradenqp@aol.com wrote:

Asar,

I agree entirely with what you've stated except for the issue of Asante's project.

It's my impression that Asante would not venture to create a cosmology because he would argue that one already exists. Asante is, after all, an Akan initiate. Although he has as yet not extensively formally addressed African cosmologies in his works, he has given lectures on Akan spirituality and African spirituality in general. It would seem to me that when one connects with the indigenous religions of Africa, it is better to have a long period of learning before one attempts to publish authoritatively on the subject. So it would seem to me that Asante would prefer that people who have been priests for longer periods than he should be writing authoritative cosmologies and text specifically on matters of this sort.

Ra un nefer Amen, for example, has done laudable work on Kemetic spirituality, but there are significant problems with his work that those who are immersed in African religions will point out. This is because it is only recently that he has engaged a specific African religion (Akan, as I understand it) to a deeper degree.

But as far as I know, it is actually the Temple University Afrocentric core who has made a point of being first hand practitioners of African religions. I believe Ama Mazama is a Vodoun priestess. Being initiated into Akan, Vodoun, Ifa and other African religions is pretty much common and (I would venture to suggest) expected in that group.

If others are more knowledgeable about these specifics please feel free to correct me. So Asar, could you expound on what you are suggesting? Is it your view that Asante should integrate existing cosmologies into his work or are you really suggesting, as you pointed out that he needs to Create (which by definition implies something new) a cosmology. I suppose I'm curious why he would create something that is already there and rather - one would argue - just needs deeper exploration and understanding before attempting to add new things to it.

Best,

Paul Braden

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24869|2008-02-17 10:31:27|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Attachments :

Sorry but since you don't like books, magazines, websites and speeches there is nothing anyone can do to convince you. Good luck.

GE

www.africahistory.net <<http://www.africahistory.net/>>

www.africahistoryonline.com <<http://www.africahistoryonline.com/>>

www.ccsu.edu/afstudy/archive.html <<http://www.ccsu.edu/afstudy/archive.html>>

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Terry

Sent: Sun 2/17/2008 10:17 AM

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Yes, you see? You're referring me to his book and Ebony magazine.

You mean, that's how the world learns what Obama stands for?

Think about what you're saying.

You're saying students should put down their studies and read his book to know what he means?

That is very low level in terms of expectations. I expect much more from such a capable man. He has the capacity to state his case. He's just made a conscious decision to not state his case.

Why would he make that decision? He says he'll tell people what they "need" to hear. What does he mean by that?

What does he think we "need" to hear? Does he mean like in that sick fashion of let's say a Bill Cosby?

Does he mean in paternalistic fashion? Does he mean, he knows what we don't know - when he comes from Kenya and was raised in Hawaii? Is there something he could LEARN from a Sister or a Brother from Detroit or Harlem re" the reality of Black folk on the ground?

Was his experience in Chicago enough for him to cut through to the intricacies of how people get where they are?

I doubt it. And he won't tell me if I'm mistaken.

People deserve to hear more from Barack.

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>

> Go to the current issue of Ebony and there is a great interview with > a lot of specifics. Read 'Dreams of his Father' and 'The Audacity of Hope' > for more.

>

> I must confess I have not found the time to read the second book
> because I was just totally immersed reading and re-reading the first book.
> I shall read the second book next week.

>

> In 'Dreams.....' we have specifics about what he actually did in rundown Chicago.
> and what his socio- political philosophy is.

>

>

> GE

>

> _____

>

> From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala

> Sent: Sat 2/16/2008 11:05 AM

> To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
>
> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:
>>
>> Well, you've all said a mouthful.
>>
>>
>
>>
>> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific about >> his socio political intentions.
>
> Barack has laid out his plans as specifically as any other candidate. You can download his
"Blueprint for Change" at his website:
>
>
> The Blueprint for Change
<<http://www.barackobama.com/pdf/ObamaBlueprintForChange.pdf>>
>
>
> For example, you can compare his healthcare plan in specifics to that of any other candidate.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>

| 24870|2008-02-17 10:36:49|Emeagwali, Gloria (History)|Critiquing the Obama Phenomena:
Separating the movement from the mom|

Attachments :

Critiquing the Obama Phenomena: Separating the movement from the moment
Rodney Coates*

As we watch Obama sweep across the nation in an apparent unstoppable wave of emotion perhaps it would do to look at what is happening. Clearly we are witnessing a historic moment in American history as not only a woman but also a black seems to be perched to win the presidential nomination of a major political party, and may well become the next president of these United States. While many are indeed caught up in this moment, many will miss while others will ignore the historical significance of the movement. Here, I would like to parse out the differences between the moment and the movement that so engulfs us. First of all the moment.

This moment, when race, class, religion and gender are crystallizing into a political campaign, is indeed significant. Rarely have we witnessed so clear and distinct cleavages along America's fault lines been so apparent. Always, throughout, our history when these lines have been so clearly demarcated there social historians have been able to point out (typically after the fact) the birth of a social movement. All too often, in the midst of such moments, many confused the moment with the movement to their own and others dismay. The crystallization of these forces reflect systematic symptoms of unrest, reservoirs of untapped human potential, resentment, alienation, frustration, and nihilism. This historical moment has been orchestrated by the total disregard, rejection, and obfuscation of issues of social, racial, gendered, and economic justice. While much of this orchestration can be directly tied to the Bush policies which have served to shift resources, attention, and solutions from domestic problems to fighting phantoms of global terrorism; the reality is that these policies actually go back to Reagan. And while there are those who might point to Bill Clinton as a deviant case, any serious look at his policies, programs, and presidency will conclude that his was a continuation of this process. Consequently, the moments represented by nearly 2 decades of racial amnesia, political expediency, and economic catastrophes where racialized, gendered, and exploited groups have found that the gap between their dreams and realities have increased exponentially at the same time when corporate profits have set all time highs.

These moments have thus served to reinvigorate nascent grassroots movements which are just now beginning to surface. Politicians, ever sensitive to such shifts, have historically tapped into such movements, and often have attempted to direct their paths. While, such direction has typically resulted in temporary gains by the politicians or social reformers, their ability to continue such associations is tied to their abilities to produce realizable results deemed important to the various constituencies. In those cases where such is possible we note the rise of political and social dynasties (Roosevelt, Kennedy, King, Gandhi etc.). Alternatively, when the political/social leaders do not produce desired results, the movement will continue in search of leaders who will. As we watch this particular moment unfold, it will be of interest if Obama will be able to not only capture this movement, but also to transform their concerns into political action. Absent such transformation, Obama, while he may be electable as president will find that the movement and history has left him along the path toward change.

*Note: Rodney D. Coates is professor of sociology, gerontology, and black world studies at Miami University. He can be reached at coatesrd@muohio.edu.

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Emeagwali, Gloria (History)
Sent: Sun 2/17/2008 11:56 AM
To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands 2

Sorry but since you don't like books, magazines, websites and speeches there is nothing anyone can do to convince you. Good luck.

GE

---

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Terry
Sent: Sun 2/17/2008 10:35 AM
To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands 2

I just want to say this too.

I approach these conversations with great openmindedness. I realize there may be speeches or public discussions I've missed that might bring about more clarity re: Obama's position. I'm ready and waiting for more understanding.

But, I'm struck here with how "support" works. Once we decide we'll support one another - like in basketball - we hunch our back, we dig in and we don't even hear people's concerns anymore.

If I were a supporter of Obama, I would have to at least admit there are some holes - that there is a void in his presentation. I'd have to at the very least tell people I'm just waiting for him to fill that void - rather than sending intelligent people to a website.

Our support of a candidate should fluid enough to at least recognize his weaknesses.

If you can't recognize his weaknesses, the Republicans will and they'll use them to their advantage.

In other words, you can't help your candidate if you can't send his campaign a letter of support that also criticizes his failure to annunciate concerns of Black people. That would make his support system as weak in substance as his speeches.

Obama will only become a better candidate and will only be a great President, if we criticize him.

Here's a word from S.E. Anderson at

<http://blackeducator.blogspot.com/2008/01/obamamania-does-not-mean-end-of-racism.html>

Thanks,

Terry

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

>

> Based on that argument I would assume that you have NEVER voted for a > white President either. The simple truth is that with the exception > of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none of them have done

> sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".

> Give me a break! You just don't want to be generous -give the > benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need to examine your self.

> HTP,

> Mahari

>

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:

>>

>> Well, you've all said a mouthful.

>>

>>

>> I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at groups.

>> I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all

> may > > seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.

> >
> > Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific
> > about
> > his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a > > public official, and understanding the importance of effectively
> > communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've > > never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I have > > expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black > > President.
> >
> > I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but > > that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been > > waged
> > against Black people in this country at least as well as he can > > articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support > > him.
> >
> > I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride in
> > being
> > consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com > > <<http://terryhowcott.com>> , and then support someone who chants
> > about
> > hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s > > autobiography?
> > (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the > > manner
> > Obama would like.
> >
> > If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who he's > > paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if > > he's > > not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then > > I'm not
> > with him.
> >
> > It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening
> > with
> > points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys.
> >
> > On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the > > concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the
> > behavior we > > see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter
> > how
> > a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.

> >
> > Thanks now, and good morning -
> >
> > Terry
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
> > >
> > >
> > > What a load of crap!!
> > >
> > > The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that
> they > > can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill
> Clinton
> > brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint
> Obama
> > with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.
> > >
> > > Regards,
> > >
> > > Peter
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > To: Ta_Seti@: arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject:
> > [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a > Republican
> > back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic > > Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for > him due > > to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that > he > > is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@
> wrote:>> >
> > Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past > > Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@:

Alex

| 24872|2008-02-17 12:18:31|Alex van Deelen|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Hi Gloria,

- > I appreciate your comment.
- > Why don't you identify some specific questions to carry
- > the discussion forward.
- > Thanks.
- > GE

The internet is being besieged with individuals who want to bad mouth Obama, and have no clear ideological or philosophical position of their own - other than that they want to see Hillary win.

Of course, they never say WHY they want to see Hillary win.

I think they are either actually Hillary supporters (which is scary, because at least they should know why they are for their candidate, which they apparently don't) or, more likely...

They are republicans, who want to run against Hillary, because they think that with Hillary, they at least have a chance of McCain beating her.

Their being Republicans would explain why they have nothing to say in favor of Hillary.

The Karl Rove/Frank Luntz lie machine is working overtime.

We should filter their statements the following way:

- 1) Who is lying to you? Who is misrepresenting the other candidate's record, and who is spouting talking points?
- 2) If they are in favor of a candidate, can they articulate WHY they are in favor of that candidate, or are they just attacking the other candidate?

They used to come out with all kinds of talking points against Obama. I'll list a few here:

- Hillary has the experience. She is 'ready to lead from day one'.

What experience? Caving in to Dubya? Voting for the Iraq War? Supporting the Zimbabwe Democracy and Economic Recovery Act of 2001 (which lead to the economic collapse we see today) alongside Jesse Helms? One problem I have with Hillary that as a woman, she feels the need to project an image that is tougher than she should be. As a result, she votes for legislation that she would otherwise ideologically not back at all. I think that is what happened with regards to Iraq and ZDERA. Some day a woman candidate will come along who is comfortable with herself and doesn't think she needs to compete with the guys in the toughness department. Otherwise, they could be electing the next Margaret Thatcher.

- We don't know anything about Obama

As you have pointed out, it is easy enough to check on his voting records in both the US Senate and the Indiana State Senate, which go back to 1996.
www.govtrack.us is a place to start.
<http://www.govtrack.us/congress/person.xpd?id=400629>

- He is not Black enough

Which they tried to pull on South Carolina voters. Not surprisingly, after they met him they overwhelmingly preferred him over Hillary Clinton.

- He is too Black

Trying to associate him with MTV/Gangsta Rap/whatever, trying to turn off White voters from supporting him. See for instance the Bros before Hoes tshirt (available from tshirthell.com). Which sounds a lot more like it was created by MC Karl Rove, than it was by any of the fresh faced, ideological young Obama supporters. This was an active attempt to turn white female voters off of Obama. It was a smear tactic, that hasn't found much traction.

Notice that all these attacks from anonymous 'Obama sceptics' (Clyde NOT included) are without specifics, without anything that attacks his record, etc.

Alex

| 24873|2008-02-17 12:53:01|Bradenqp@aol.com|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Asar,

I'm somewhat confused.

The issues of Ontology, Epistemology and fundamental implications of Cosmology are precisely what Asante's book Kemet, Afrocentricity & Knowledge is about.

Cosmology, Epistemology, Axiology and Aesthetic are the Four Principle Issues Afrocentricity is built on. Chapter 1 of Kemet, Afrocentricity & Knowledge lays this out and the rest of the book develops the ideas.

So this has been the basis of the theory since as far back as 1990 and one can see it reflected in the syllabuses of courses taught within the Temple University African American Studies program. So they may not be taught at a level conducive to triggering a large mass movement, but I'm not sure that's the point. The point is to educate a core of scholars in these matters at highly abstract levels so they can imbue Black thought with these ideas and develop them further in an inside to outside manner.

See Point (5) of the following speech delivered by Asante at U Liverpool in 2,000 :

www.asante.net/articles/Liverpool-Address.html

By the way, I agree with your general thesis and Malidoma Patrice Some is right. I'm always encouraged when African priests indicate a willingness to think abstractly about their religions and are not constricted by ritual and "tradition" and dogma. This has its place of course, and it's an important one. But yes, you are correct: for our religions to be able to contend with Christianity and Islam and Buddhism, we have to be able to answer fundamental questions of our relationship to the Creator and to Ancestors. I guess it has always seemed to me that this is precisely what Afrocentricity attempts to do.

Paul Braden

In a message dated 2/17/2008 1:13:55 PM Eastern Standard Time, asar_imhotep@yahoo.com writes:

Paul

Yes you are correct, I am positing that we create a new "cosmology." What I am saying as far as Afrocentricity is that it really is an approach to knowledge, which is perfectly fine. I have no problems what-so-ever (that I can recall) with Afrocentricity. What I find lacking is it doesn't answer for the layman "why?" What do I mean by why?

African philosophy, spiritual systems and cosmologies are approaches to understanding man's place and purpose in the universe. It's aims are to try to answer who am I, where did I come from, what is my purpose, and what must I do to fulfill that purpose? This is what human beings seek and it is this line of questioning and need for spirituality that we get the spiritual systems and philosophies known (and unknown) in Africa.

Afrocentricity doesn't begin to answer these questions for the general populace as a theory itself: it simply refers you to African religions. This is why Christianity and Islam will have a hold on our people in greater numbers than what Afrocentricity, as an approach to knowledge, will have. Christianity and Islam has a cosmology and answers for the layman who they are (outside of genetics) and their purpose and it is for this reason that the majority of the people we seek to help will not jump on the Afrocentric "bandwagon." Whether their answers are correct can be debated.

To truly understand what I mean, I must convey this. I remember some years ago I had a conversation with Dr. Malidoma Some and we were talking about the nature of African rituals and what purpose they served and all that "African" talk that comes with it. One thing really stood out in this conversation, and he echoes it in his work Healing Wisdom of Africa. He stated to me that (paraphrased) ,

"African spirituality is not hard and stiff. It is flexible and adjusts to one's environment. Our belief in the indigenous world is that your spirit agreed to be here to serve some purpose. Some of us believe that you even pick the geography in which you were born. That means that you have a special connection with the spirits in the place you were born. So this is why I don't make priests here in the states. It is up to you to develop your own thing. I am just providing the template, the philosophy, the approach on how to develop your own systems."

So what he is saying is that in our efforts to return to our spiritual home, we neglect the spirits that reside here. We totally ignore our own creative process and abilities and we continually look outside ourselves for our own liberation. And to me it makes perfect sense. Although African people come from a central locality in the lacustrine region of east Africa, they dispersed out and developed new cosmologies and systems of thoughts where they settled down; to where their world view and communities were just as old as the mother community over time. However, they still kept the philosophical & cultural umbilical chord intact.

I liken it to dreams. Have you noticed that your dreams speak to you in the language in which you were born into? I will never have dreams in Japanese because I don't speak Japanese. The universe adjusts to me and my level of understanding. This philosophy is why the spiritual systems changed as they changed geographies: they had new reference points.

We have new reference points and it is time we create our own cosmologies. This is what Free people do. We have the same intelligence and creative spirit our ancestors had. No matter how much we study indigenous African culture, we will never be like our indigenous brothers and sisters. They grew up in their culture, we grew up in a totally different culture, time and space. So although Afrocentricity attempts to put new lenses for us to see the world, it will never truly be "African".

I had the opportunity to meet the late Dr. Afolabi A. Epega (priest of Ifa and physicist), and he told me that he doesn't make Ifa priests here in America (as he initiates people into the system of Ifa). He said, "I make African-American Ifa priests." He told me that you could never understand fully Yoruba culture. You have to grow up into it. A lot of the stuff we learn, you couldn't use because of where you are at. So we take the basics and what is useful and give to you for you to create something where you are at. This again echoes Dr. Malidoma Some's sentiments mentioned above.

So what I am saying is that we must take the best of what Africa has to offer, get fully initiated into their systems, live a little and develop new systems for ourselves here. This is why I respect Dr. Maulana Karenga so much, what he did with Kwanzaa is truly in the spirit of what the elders are telling me from the continent. This also is why I love the film The Matrix. I do a lecture called African Spirituality and The Matrix and in it I use the Matrix film as an example on how to take ancient stories & philosophies and create a modern cosmology that is relevant and speaks to the current situation of your people.

As professor Smalls used to tell me, "The problem with African-Americans is we don't deify our recent ancestors." We need to deify Harriet Tubman, Mary McLeod Bethune, Nat Turner, Sojourner Truth, Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, Marcus Garvey, etc. and place them into a pantheon and create a story that teaches us morality, science and health using them as the centers of the stories

(no different than Asaru, Heru, & Isi). Only then can we truly say that we are expanding the philosophy of African people. We need to use the symbols of where we are at. We need to collect our proverbs and create a text, but not something that is dogma. Then and only then (IMO) will we be on the same footing as our ancestors. It's about creation (and even Asante talks about this in the first chapter of Afrocentricity - the creation aspect I mean).

What we need from Africa is the understanding of the natural environment, and its technologies. From there, we use that bases to understand our environment and create systems based on it.

Bradenqp@aol. com wrote:

Asar,

I agree entirely with what you've stated except for the issue of Asante's project. It's my impression that Asante would not venture to create a cosmology because he would argue that one already exists. Asante is, after all, an Akan initiate. Although he has as yet not extensively formally addressed African cosmologies in his works, he has given lectures on Akan spirituality and African spirituality in general. It would seem to me that when one connects with the indigenous religions of Africa, it is better to have a long period of learning before one attempts to publish authoritatively on the subject. So it would seem to me that Asante would prefer that people who have been priests for longer periods than he should be writing authoritative cosmologies and text specifically on matters of this sort.

Ra un nefer Amen, for example, has done laudable work on Kemetic spirituality, but there are significant problems with his work that those who are immersed in African religions will point out. This is because it is only recently that he has engaged a specific African religion (Akan, as I understand it) to a deeper degree.

But as far as I know, it is actually the Temple University Afrocentric core who has made a point of being first hand practitioners of African religions. I believe Ama Mazama is a Vodoun priestess. Being initiated into Akan, Vodoun, Ifa and other African religions is pretty much common and (I would venture to suggest) expected in that group.

If others are more knowledgeable about these specifics please feel free to correct me. So Asar, could you expound on what you are suggesting? Is it your view that Asante should integrate existing cosmologies into his work or are you really suggesting, as you pointed out that he needs to Create (which by definition implies something new) a cosmology. I suppose I'm curious why he would create something that is already there and rather - one would argue - just needs deeper exploration and understanding before attempting to add new things to it.

Best,

Paul Braden

A wealth of lunacy is associated with the Great Pyramid. Assem Deif* suggests that unorthodox views ignore the provenance of the pyramid and its place in the context of the overall pyramid complex and necropolis

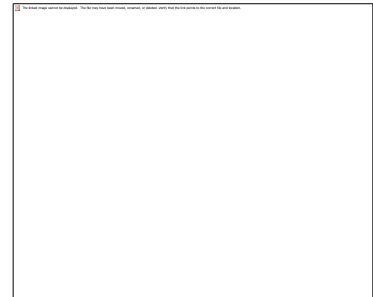

---

It has variously been claimed that the pyramids served as power plants, water pumps, astronomical observatories, sources of ill-defined pyramid- power energy vortices, guidance beacons for alien spacecraft sites for mystery initiation ceremonies.

Unfortunately there remains no known written record as to how the most famous of the more than 100 pyramids in Egypt, the Great Pyramid of Giza, was built, nor have any reliefs depicting the building ever been found. The Greek geographer Herodotus, writing in the fifth century BC, mentioned the theory that levers were used to lift pyramid stones. Perhaps this is the most tenable of the alternate theories; as reported by Egyptologist Selim Hassan in his opus Ancient Egypt, Part I, Cairo, 2000, p. 288. Hassan verified Herodotus's theory based on excavation conducted by Cairo University in the mid-20th century on the Giza Plateau, where the debris of two pulleys were found, one near the second pyramid and one inside the workmen's village east of the valley.

Leaving aside this theory, Egyptologists generally agree that the heavy blocks were most probably lifted into place by maintaining an ascending ramp of fractured pebbles. This view was supported by the discovery at Saqqara of an unfinished pyramid for King Sekhem-Khet of the Third Dynasty, where ascending ramps were found. This view of ascending roads is not shared by the Danish engineer Garde- Hanson, who reckoned that such a ramp as needed for the Great Pyramid would require 13,400,000 m<sup>3</sup>, seven times the amount of material used for the pyramid itself and necessitating a work force of 240,000 to build the ramp alone during Khufu's reign. Moreover, it would then require a workforce of more than 300,000 to dismantle it in a space of at least eight years. Even if such a ramp were to have been built on only one side of the pyramid, it would have required three times the pyramid volume instead of seven. However, since the ramp inclination could be at most to allow for the pulling of the heavy blocks, it would be about 10km long. In addition, to be able to support the weight of the stones the ramp would need to be made of nothing less in strength than the limestone material of which the stones themselves are made. These engineering facts cannot be disputed, and explain why there is as yet no convincing theory concerning the construction.

As for how the stones were transported to the site, no texts or even reliefs describing this operation remain. Egyptologists agree that the wheel was not yet invented, indeed the first recording of large blocks being moved with wheels comes 2,000 years after the Great Pyramid was built. However a relief from the tomb of Djehutihotep, created 800 years after the Great

Click to view caption

Clockwise from top: Pillars hall in Karnak Temple; a drawing featuring the removal of an ancient Egyptian statue; hexa temple; the Serapeum in Saqqara; a drawing sketching the construction work of the pyramid

---

Pyramid was built, shows 172 men pulling a huge statue over flat ground with a two-rail, flat-bottomed sledge. Some type of liquid, presumably a lubricant, is being poured in front of the sledge. Another illustration dating 1,000 years after the building of the Great Pyramid, the Turah Stele, shows three oxen pulling a block of stone on a similar sledge.

What is definite is that the magnificent pyramids of Giza (built c. 2500 BC) attest to the ancient Egyptians' accurate measuring ability, pointing to advanced knowledge in mathematics or geodesy. The Great Pyramid of Khufu, the greatest single building ever erected, used about 2,300,000 limestone blocks each weighing 2.5 tonnes on average, all precisely cut and none weighing less than two tonnes. Simple calculations show that, since it took 20 years to complete, and assuming eight or 10 hours' labour a day, one block was fitted almost every minute, or rather accurately

In other words, it took about 10 minutes to fit neatly in place seven blocks. This does not take into account the time taken to pave or demolish the ramp as it was built up all the way to the top of the pyramid, according to the general theory. Building and demolishing such a ramp would not only have required 500,000 workmen, but this alone would have taken the whole of Khufu's reign. Nor does it account for the time spent levelling the rocky site, nor for the time taken to position the nine granite blocks of 50 tonnes each constituting the inside of the royal chamber, nor the time to cover the whole edifice with the 115,000 pieces of fine limestone casing, some of which weighed more than 16 tonnes. An experiment funded by the Nissan Company in 1979, in which a Japanese team tested the feasibility of building a scale model of the Great Pyramid using new technology, was abandoned after it was found it would take 1,000 years to finish.

The casing stones covering the monument are so perfectly shaped that the joint in between is just 0.5 mm, and not even a knife can slide into the crevasses between the stones. Egyptologist Flinders Petrie compared such precision to that of the "finest opticians", well beyond the capabilities of modern technology. He showed that there are no tool marks, and the corners are not even slightly chipped. Moreover, the granite coffin in the King's Chamber is cut from a solid block of hard granite so precisely that its external volume is exactly twice its internal volume. It was first suggested that it could have been cut and hollowed using bronze saws set with diamond cutting points, but this theory was refuted because, when pressure was applied, the diamonds would have worked their way into the much softer copper, leaving the granite virtually unscathed.

The Great Pyramid is usually presented as the wonder of the world, as if the second and third pyramids were a degradation from perfection. If the other two pyramids were as carefully analysed as the Great Pyramid, this notion would be hard to sustain. The pyramid of Khafre differs by less than 3m in height and with a steeper face angle. Recording these dimensions, Petrie found their mean error did not exceed .04 of an inch; that is 1 mm.

Yet the pyramid is not alone in engineering mastery. Take the sarcophagi in the Serapeum in Saqqara, which contained the funerary remains of Apis bulls. Each of these great stone boxes, which weighs at least 65 tonnes, stands about 3.5m high, 4m long, and 2.5m wide. Adding the weight of its lid, it would amount to an assembled weight of 100 tonnes. Each sarcophagus sits in its own sunken rock-cut niche, and these niches form rows along the bedrock walls. The surfaces of both the sarcophagi and their lids are perfectly flat. The air between the two stone surfaces was pushed out, producing a very effective seal. Dunn's mind staggered as he reckoned the technical difficulties of producing both the lid and the sarcophagus to fit in this ultra-precise way. No equipment exists in the present day that is capable of producing a comparable monolithic sarcophagus.

No two Egyptologists agree on the proportions of the Great Pyramid's dimensions. On average, based upon different observations, the height is 146.6m (481 ft) while the side of the square base is 230.4m long (756 ft). The sides agree in length within 0.05 per cent r, or less than 1/8000 of the total length. The pyramid's 107m long descending passage to the subterranean chamber is so straight that it deviates from a central axis by less than 5mm from side to side and only 2.5mm up and down; which compares with the best laser- controlled drilling done today. The descending passage and the ascending one beneath the Grand Gallery share the same angle of inclination of 26 18' 10".

Further, the ratio of the perimeter of the base to the height was set at 2. This is perhaps the most controversial of the Great Pyramid's features. Early surveyors found the error of the angles at the corners to be only 12", or about 1/27000 of a right angle. The angle of inclination of the pyramid sides is 51 50' 34", the secant of which is equal to 1.618590, being remarkably close to the Golden Ratio. On the other hand, the cotangent of the same angle is 0.7857143, very close to  $\frac{1}{4}$  (this sets the Egyptian to about 3.142857). The Egyptians were indeed unaware of such terminologies as "cotangent" or "secant", but they still had a variant of the former called Seqed. Interestingly, from the properties of the Golden Ratio and Pythagoras's theorem, it follows that the height OS in the figure must be proportional to OM in the ratio of and equally to  $\frac{4}{1}$ , i.e. that the square root of the secant times is very close to 4 (it should be exactly equal to 3.996168), which coincides with the observations as being 3.998463. This can hardly be a numerical coincidence.

The face angle of 51 50' 34" also appears in two other pyramids, those of Seneferu (Khufu's father) at Meidum and Niuserre of the fifth dynasty at Abusir. Archaeologists call this triplet the pyramids. Most striking is the repeated face angle of 53 7' 48" created by a triangle with proportions 3:4:5 corresponding to the ratios (half-base: height: slant height). Examples of these pyramids are cited in the table below. The dimensions are measured to the nearest metre.

The Great Pyramid is so well planned that it is perfectly aligned with the earth's four cardinals. more so than any known building, past or present. No wonder that it has been the most studied architectural object in the world. Vast literature is still produced in order to expose another view, measurement, or another theory that will explain the rationale or non-rationale of this ancient mystery. It stood as the most majestic and mysterious monument ever erected by man on the face of earth.

We shall not accept, however, the myth that space aliens or people from Atlantis arrived to help. Certainly, other Egyptian monuments are no less grandiose. The Karnak Temple complex contains 134 granite columns 22m high and 3.5m in diameter. There also exist obelisks 42m high and weighing 1,100 tonnes. How were the ancient Egyptians able to raise them to an upright position? How did they manage to transport the statue of Ramses II, 1,200-tonnes of granite in a single block, from Aswan to the Ramesseum? These are not the only puzzling technological issues. The Hawara pyramid of Amenemhat III, the greatest monarch of the Middle Kingdom -- the mortuary temple of which was called the "Labyrinth" by Herodotus and Diodorus and was praised by Strabo as one of the wonders of the world -- contained complex security features like those visualised in Hollywood films.

The heaviest known blocks to be brought from Aswan to Giza are the massive granite stones deployed for the roof of the King's Chamber in the pyramid of Khufu, each weighing 50 tonnes. The Fifth- and Sixth-Dynasty pyramids included gabled roofs with blocks weighing up to 90 tonnes. The mortuary temple of Menkaure included limestone blocks weighing 200 tonnes. In the 18th Dynasty, two colossal statues of Amenhotep III, called by the Greeks the Colossi of Memnon and each weighing more than 700 tonnes, were moved an overland distance of 700km. How was this possible? Perplexing, perhaps; but this does not mean the ancient Egyptians could not have been the sole creators of such splendours.

Apart from the Great Pyramid itself, there are plenty of other pyramids and monuments that were created without superhuman intervention. As if this were not evidence enough, the tombs of both the builders and the workmen on the Giza Plateau have been excavated. Builders' tombs situated in the upper part of the necropolis bear the titles: "the Supervisor of Pulling the Stones", "Head of the Builders" or "Head of the Sculptors". They matched graffiti left by the workmen on the pyramids' stones. Easy to read are "Friends of Khufu", "the Great Guys" or "Gang of Menkaure." Debris found in situ included pottery, bread ovens, bones and dried fish left by the people who lived once there. Far from being the slaves spoken of in legend, these builders erected edifices for their divine ruler who represented for them the "image of the god". They participated with pride in accomplishing Egypt's national project. From time to time we come across graffiti like "the Craftsmen's Gang", "the Victorious Gang" or "the Enduring Gang", names that imply the workmen's pride in their work.

The Great Pyramid is the outcome of a long history of tomb design. As such, it did not arrive suddenly; rather as a progressive evolution from previous edifices starting from the early pre-dynastic mastabas and passing through Djoser's Step Pyramid to end with the Red Pyramid, Egypt's first true pyramid, setting the familiar shape of the Fourth Dynasty.

Even the weight was progressive, commencing with the Step Pyramid at about one million tonnes, to Meidum at 1 million, Seneferu's other pyramid, the Bent Pyramid, at 3 million tonnes, and finally the Great Pyramid at more than six million tonnes. Further, in most of the pyramids the entry passages to the burial chamber simulates a telescope to the celestial pole. We can therefore dismiss theories related to aliens or some lost culture as being responsible for their construction. There is just far too much evidence, including evolutionary changes, workmen's villages, tools, drawings and graffiti to rule such ideas obsolete.

One theory that often surfaces is that the Great Pyramid is made of concrete moulded on site. This hypothesis can easily be refuted, since the material of the blocks can be analysed for substance. This alleged theory found some credence based on the difficulty of achieving the close fit of 1/50th of an inch, i.e.  $\frac{1}{50}$  for the original casing stones with primitive tools. According to the concrete theory, such joints are easily achieved. Any civil engineer, however, will tell you that cast concrete looks very different. Photographs of the blocks clearly show the marks of flat as well as pointed tools of the workmen as they chiselled their way across the block.

The pyramids raise many riddles waiting to be resolved. As centuries unfold, their mystery becomes more and more puzzling, not only in how the ancient Egyptians were capable of building such colossal monuments, but also with such an astounding speed and splendour. They have stood in the Nile Valley for 5,000 years. As was once said: "Man fears time, yet time fears the pyramids."

\ The writer is a professor of mathematics at Cairo University and Misr University for Science and Technology.*

<http://weekly.ahram.org.eg/2008/884/heritage.htm>

| 24875|2008-02-17 13:03:20|Bradenqp@aol.com|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Hi Alex,

You are very welcome.

Paul Braden

In a message dated 2/17/2008 2:28:36 PM Eastern Standard Time, avdeelen@wanadoo.nl writes:

Hi Paul Braden,

- > A video presentation by Ron Eglash, author of African Fractals,
- > on the occurrence of evidence of deep understanding of fractal
- > theory in African architecture and culture:
- > <http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/198>
- > (<http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/198>)

Thank you VERY much for this link. I'll order Ron Eglash' book too.

Alex

---

Delicious ideas to please the pickiest eaters. Watch the video on AOL Living.

| 24876|2008-02-17 13:22:03|IMJs@webtv.net|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

First of all, thanks to "prewitt" for the informative reply.

I've been listening to all the suspicion and doubt about Obama amongst Black folks since very early on in his campaign... "can he be trusted", "is he Black enough / is he down with the hood", "what's his 'real' agenda", "who's he really working for", "is he a puppet for 'the man'.... etc., etc., etc.?

Well, while there are no saints - as he's already admitted - when it comes to worrying about the "unseen hands" influencing the remaining 3 Presidential candidates, it's not even a contest with me.... Give me Barack Obama over both the "Billiary" tagteam (and their dumptrucks full of dirt) AND John "McBush", who'll just give us a 3rd term of disastrous wild-west cowboy politics.

Choosing a President is first and foremost a character issue with me - all else is secondary.

A person of good character will make good *choices* (more times than not)... and in a contest of character I like what I've seen and read about Obama over the other two. I think one testimony to the character of Obama that is often overlooked is the woman he has at his side, his wife Michelle. From all I've watched, especially in her sit-down interviews, she comes off as a real straight-talking no B.S. type Black woman, she's more authentic every time I see her; almost honest to a fault sometimes.

*** [Isn't it a strange fact that in the political arena one's blatant honesty can (sometimes) be seen as a fault and NOT an asset? It just speaks to the upside-down backwardness nature of politics, where a lot of the voters always SAY they want nothing but straight-talk from their political leaders, yet when they get it, and it's news that they don't want to hear, they end up punishing the candidate who's bringing the bad news of shared sacrifice and tough roads ahead, in favor of the one who'll just keep feeding them the B.S. they want to hear.... thus nothing really changes.]

This twisted mentality must change.... and it'll require a CHANGE in the status-quo mentality!

And I don't see Hilliary as even knowing how to think in those terms.

As far as Clyde's concerns of Obama having too much in common with or getting too much support from Republicans, well don't worry Clyde, we all know if Obama gets the nomination this man will be "Wille Horton-ed" and "swift boated" to the nth-degree by the cut-throat GOP machine... have no doubt.

We need to stop setting up these extra 'hoops' for Obama to jump through that weren't in play w/ others... I sometimes get the feeling that some folks in the community expect Obama not only to be the first Black President, but to be a "what are you going to do for Black folks" President - in a NON-Black-majority country!...

This Black "savior" is not 'coming to America'. But we do have first man of Black heritage to come along so far w/ a REAL chance of being elected. Some folks are worried about him being a "Trojan horse"... IF that's the case and he gets elected due to the Black vote and then turns around and betrays his promises, then... I guess we'd end up being no worse than we are from voting for all those WHITE GUYS we've supported throughout the last 40 years!

But if he is what I think he is - the best choice for us - then I'd choose him now vs. sitting back waiting on the sidelines for some ideal/dream Black President.

One thing is for damn sure, a new President WILL be chosen in 2008, whatever the case... why not Barack Obama!

IMJ

| 24877|2008-02-17 13:28:44|Everett Prewitt|Re: Revolution (Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...)|

Thanks, my brother.

-----Original Message-----

From: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com mailto:[Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Alex van Deelen
Sent: Saturday, February 16, 2008 1:48 PM
To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Revolution (Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...)

Hi Everett Prewitt,

Excellent breakdown of Obama's record.

Clyde,

For inspiration, check out the stories of these two great kids from South Carolina, and these interviews with his grandmother in Kenya:

An American Dream (full version) - Josh Stroman's story.
<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=c92bbYZXw0A>

Obama Supporter Brittany Washington
<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w4WyajuB1Fc&feature=user>

Obama's Kenyan grandmother
Obama's Kenyan Roots
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UreJZMY\_2IY

Obama's Ancestral Home and Grandmother

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XxMy\_0qvLFU&feature=related

Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Posted by: "prewitt" prewitt@mindspring.com prewittx

Fri Feb 15, 2008 11:24 am (PST)

First, I come from the city that elected the first black mayor. And all of the ranting, conspiracy theories and misinformation that I hear about Obama, I heard about Carl Stokes.

Senator Obama has ten years of senate experience: eight years in Springfield, and two years in Washington, D.C. He has an 82.5 liberal rating in 2005 by the National Journal. On votes in the U.S. Senate that were decided largely along party lines, Senator Obama sided with the Democrats 97% of the time. And he had a liberal voting record in the Illinois State Senate. In 2006, he received 100% approval rating from: The League of Conservation Voters; Planned Parenthood. The National Education Association gives him an "A" on their most recent scorecard.

His signature bills while in Springfield were: (1) expanding Kidcare (health insurance for an additional 20,000 Illinois children); (2) welfare reform (a bipartisan bill passed in Republican controlled senate, generating major headlines); earned income tax credit (tax relief for working poor families); (3) and death penalty reform. (He supports the death penalty in exceptional circumstances, but wanted all interrogations to be videotaped. Initially viewed as a highly controversial proposal and opposed by the police, Republicans and other special interest groups, the senator was able to get this bill passed 58-0 and signed by the governor who also opposed the bill.

He was also responsible for Illinois passing the most ambitious campaign finance reform bill in 25 years and was lauded by good government groups for his efforts.

He also took the lead on opposing bills he believed were unconstitutional or poorly written, even if the vote could later be used in misleading 30 second commercials against him. He opposed a bill to toughen penalties for violent crimes committed by gang activity, because the bill didn't clearly define a gang member, and seemed targeted at Hispanics and Blacks. He, of course, also opposed the Iraq war.

When Democrats finally achieved a majority in the state senate, Senator Obama was elevated to Chairman of the Senate Health and Human Services Committee. During those two years, he sponsored 780 bills, and 280 of those were signed into law.

He sponsored laws against discrimination of gays in employment and housing. He worked on a ban on assault weapons. He supported a bill to allow retired officers to carry concealed weapons. He worked for legislation to expand health insurance coverage. (He proposed a study on how to provide universal health care to everyone in Illinois backed by a single payer health care plan run by the state.) He helped pass bills to increase aids funding. He sponsored a bill to investigate racial profiling by police, essentially second guessing police officers yet still won the endorsement of the state police officers union when he ran for U.S. Senate.

In his first two years in the U.S. Senate, Republicans tightly controlled the U.S. Senate. During that time, Senator Obama sponsored 152 bills and resolutions, and cosponsored 427 more. Senator Obama thus far has two bills which became law, that have his name on them. The Lugar-Obama bill and the Coburn-Obama Transparency Act. Both Lugar and Coburn are Republicans. That's why many Republicans like him, because he can work with them.

When the Senate passed a major ethics/lobbying reform bill. (Senator Obama had voted against a prior ethics reform bill that he said wasn't tough enough.) Newspapers give Senators Obama and Russ Feingold significant credit for insisting that this latest ethics bill included tough measures.

Senator Democratic leader Harry Reid has designated Barack Obama as the Democrats' point man on ethics, citing three reasons for his selection: (1) whenever Obama walks into a room, everyone stops talking and listens to what he has to say; (2) Obama is known for having unquestionable ethics and integrity; (3) Obama's expertise on ethics and campaign reform while in Springfield made him a leading expert on those same issues in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Obama is on the senate committees for foreign relations; homeland security; veterans affairs; health, education, labor and pensions.

Maybe his accomplishments are why Zbigniew Brezinski, Ted Kennedy, Bill Bradley, John Kerry and others endorsed him. Maybe thats why other white people like him too, maybe thats why they give him money, and maybe thats why so many people are jumping Hillarys ship to get on Obamas, just like they did with Carl Stokes.

Anybody can tell you what their policies are going to be, but the bottom line is what is their history and, most importantly, do you trust them? I already knew what Clarence Thomas was going to do once he was appointed to the Supreme Court. You should be able to tell where Obama is coming from based on the citations above.

And experience? Cheney, Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz had experience. The best CEO's have a vision. They hire the best people available to achieve that vision. As for Clinton, her experience has been inflated, plus, I wouldn't trust Hillary Clinton any further than I can throw a plow. As David Geffen, one of the Clintons close friends said, "They lie too easily."

What's unbelievable to me is that people will denigrate a black man because too many white people like him, then jump on a white woman's bandwagon. Where's the logic in that?

Most importantly though, the brother can hoop and he can dance.

Any other information you need can be obtained from his website or just Google, like I did.

Everett Prewitt

Ta_Seti Repository

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

Yahoo! Groups Links

| 24878|2008-02-17 14:36:16|Asar Imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Hopefully I can be more clear. All I am saying is that although Africa will always be the foundation, we really can't recapture our greatness until we forge our own identities, develop our own cultural practices, and develop our own cosmologies (our own reasons for being here on earth).

We need to regain our free African thought. We developed what we developed, not because we thought of ourselves as "Africans," but because we considered ourselves "God" having a human experience. Because of this foundation, culture and ethnicity coming in second, we were thinking of things like this:

<http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/18>

Talks Janine Benyus: 12 sustainable design ideas from nature

When we collectively get back to thinking like this, and creating technology based on this firm foundation, then we are back in business. The above link is our ideas, yet we talk about it but don't experiment with it (nature). We can talk about Africans did this and that, but today African-Americans don't make toothpicks, so how can we say we are using our historical knowledge affectively?

Africa is the foundation, we need to create our own branch and come up with our own cosmologies. Although Africa has a singular spirit that permeates throughout all African cultures, there are some fundamental cosmological differences that are not small deviations. For example, the systems of Ifa and the Dagara system are fatalistic, while the Kongo & ancient Egyptian systems are not. Although they express themselves in similar ways, the whole concept of purpose and fate distinguishes them tremendously. So to adopt an "African" world view can be problematic as we will again reduce that larger category down to individual ethnic world views.

So the best thing to do is to develop our own system of thought, rooted in our ancient systems of thought. That's what the elders are saying to do on the continent because that's what they've done. So basically we need to reinvent the wheel to fit the vehicle we are currently riding. Otherwise we are mimicking African culture, we won't be one with it.

Bradenqp@aol.com wrote:

Asar,

I'm somewhat confused.

The issues of Ontology, Epistemology and fundamental implications of Cosmology are precisely what Asante's book Kemet, Afrocentricity & Knowledge is about.

Cosmology, Epistemology, Axiology and Aesthetic are the Four Principle Issues Afrocentricity is built on. Chapter 1 of Kemet, Afrocentricity & Knowledge lays this out and the rest of the book develops the ideas. So this has been the basis of the theory since as far back as 1990 and one can see it reflected in the syllabuses of courses taught within the Temple University African American Studies program. So they may not be taught at a level conducive to triggering a large mass movement, but I'm not sure that's the point. The point is to educate a core of scholars in these matters at highly abstract levels so they can imbue Black thought with these ideas and develop them further in an inside to outside manner.

See Point (5) of the following speech delivered by Asante at U Liverpool in 2,000 :

www.asante.net/articles/Liverpool-Address.html

By the way, I agree with your general thesis and Malidoma Patrice Some is right. I'm always encouraged when African priests indicate a willingness to think abstractly about their religions and are not constricted by ritual and "tradition" and dogma. This has its place of course, and it's an important one. But yes, you are correct: for our religions to be able to contend with Christianity and Islam and Buddhism, we have to be able to answer fundamental questions of our relationship to the Creator and to Ancestors. I guess it has always seemed to me that this is precisely what Afrocentricity attempts to do.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24879|2008-02-17 15:16:06|Djehuti Sundaka|The War Against Women: A Dispatch From the West African Front|

The War Against Women: A Dispatch From the West African Front

<http://www.tomdispatch.com/post/174895>

By Ann Jones

TomDispatch.com

Sunday 17 February 2008

Kailahun, Sierra Leone - Greetings from a war zone that's not Iraq. And not Afghanistan either.

I'm checking in from West Africa, where I've been working with women in three neighboring countries, all recently torn apart by civil wars: Liberia, Sierra Leone, and C<sup>o</sup>te d'Ivoire. The Iraq debacle has monopolized attention and obscured these "lesser" wars - now officially "over" - but millions of West African women are struggling to recover. For them, the war isn't really over at all, not by a long shot. This is the war story that's never truly told. Let me explain.

Surely you remember these conflicts. Liberia's war came in three successive waves lasting 14 years altogether, from 1989 to 2003. Sierra Leone's war started in 1991 when guerillas of the Revolutionary United Front (RUF) of Sierra Leone, trained in Liberia, invaded their own country. The war drew many players and lasted until January 2002, a decade in all. In C<sup>o</sup>te d'Ivoire, a civil war started in 2002 when northern rebels attempted a coup to oust President Laurent Gbagbo, but by that time the international community had decided to act to prevent any further destabilization of the region. French, African, and later UN peacekeepers stepped in and a treaty was signed in 2003.

So, officially, these countries are no longer "war zones." Accords have been signed. Peacekeeping forces are on duty or close at hand. The UN and international aid agencies are assisting "recovery." Some arms have been surrendered; some refugees have returned from exile. Some men are making mud bricks and building huts to replace the spacious houses of embossed concrete and tile that once graced towns and villages throughout the region. Officially, Liberia, Sierra Leone, and C<sup>o</sup>te d'Ivoire are now designated "post-conflict zones," but they are so fractured, so traumatized, and - especially in the cases of Liberia and Sierra Leone - so devastated and impoverished that they cannot be said to be securely at peace either. Sierra Leone has replaced Afghanistan as the poorest country on the planet and, like Afghanistan, it is a nation of widows.

Visit one of these countries and you'll see for yourself that, at best, real peace will take a long, slow time to come. The destruction in Sierra Leone's Kailahun District, for instance, is as shocking as anything I ever saw in the devastated Afghan capital, Kabul. UN officials and an array of international aid organizations like to use the term "post-conflict" for such places in such moments. It sounds vaguely hopeful, even if it designates a desperate place embarked on a difficult period of "recovery" that may or may not be recognizable after a decade or two, or even a generation or two, as peace.

That's what our leaders don't bother to mention (possibly don't even grasp) when they talk blithely about war and peace as if they were simply opposite sides of the same coin, attained with equal ease with a heads-or-tails flip. Any fool can start a war swiftly with a shock and awe assault - as George Bush did from the air in Iraq or the RUF did on the ground in Sierra Leone - but peace is no sudden acquisition.

Just last month, the Special Court for Sierra Leone in The Hague resumed proceedings begun last June against Charles Taylor, the charming American-educated sociopath and former president of Liberia. Taylor faces 11 charges for war crimes related to matters including terrorizing civilians, murder, rape, sexual slavery, amputations, and enslavement. These atrocities were committed not against his own country but against his neighbor. It was Taylor who backed RUF rebels as they terrorized the populace and augmented their numbers by abducting civilians.

Both Taylor and RUF leader Foday Sankoh reportedly received tactical training in Libya from Muammar Gaddafi, who aimed to disrupt the West African region. Yet these wars were largely not about ideology or even politics. They were about greed, about the power to control and exploit the natural resources of the region - Liberia's primal rain forests and especially Sierra Leone's "blood diamonds." Political scientists and military historians may eventually advance other theories to explain these wars - though they'll be hard pressed to find any redeeming features, any "just cause" - but West Africans will tell you that they took place simply because a few "bad, bad men" craved power and wealth. When Foday Sankoh's RUF forces invaded Sierra Leone, they numbered no more than 150 men, but what they started laid waste to a promising country.

Here's what I want to remind you of, though: When you think about these men who start wars, remember what they've done not to soldiers on either side, but to civilian populations - especially to women. Today, it is civilians who are by far the most numerous casualties of war. Each successive conflict of recent times has recorded a greater proportion of civilians displaced, exiled, assaulted, tortured, wounded, maimed, killed, or disappeared. In every modern war, most of the suffering civilians are women and children.

In many wars, maimed and dead civilians are counted (if at all) merely as "collateral damage" - like the estimated 3,000 innocent citizens who died in the initial American bombing of Afghanistan in 2001. In the West African wars, civilians became the designated targets. Foday Sankoh intended to conquer Sierra Leone, but having only 150 fighters, he resorted to forcible recruitment. Like Charles Taylor's forces in Liberia, Sankoh's destroyed whole villages, murdering most of the residents and taking away only those who might serve them as soldiers, porters, cooks, or "wives." Again, many of the dead and most of the abducted were women and children.

And here's a little-known reality: When any conflict of this sort officially ends, violence against women continues and often actually grows worse. Not surprisingly, murderous aggression cannot be turned off overnight. When men stop attacking one another, women continue to be convenient targets. Here in West Africa, as in so many other places where rape was used as a weapon of war, it has become a habit carried seamlessly into the "post-conflict" era. Where normal structures of law enforcement and justice have been disabled by war, male soldiers and civilians alike can prey upon women and children with impunity. And they do.

So I'm writing to you, here in "post-conflict" West Africa, from an active war zone. I'm writing from the heart of the war against women and children.

Counting Casualties

Listen to this report from Amnesty International. It describes the least of the West African wars, the relatively short civil war in C<sup>o</sup>t<sup>d</sup>'Ivoire:

"The scale of rape and sexual violence in C<sup>o</sup>t<sup>d</sup>'Ivoire in the course of the armed conflict has been largely underestimated. Many women have been gang-raped or have been abducted and reduced to sexual slavery by fighters. Rape has often been accompanied by the beating or torture (including torture of a sexual nature) of the victim? All armed factions have perpetrated and continue to perpetrate sexual violence with impunity."

Human Rights Watch points out that "cases of sexual abuse may be significantly underreported," because women fear "the possibility of reprisals by perpetrators? ostracism by families and communities, and cultural taboos."

The Amnesty report documents case after case of girls and women, aged "under 12" to 63, assaulted by armed men. The more recent and thoroughgoing report by Human Rights Watch records the rape of children as young as three years-old. During the civil war, women and girls were seized in their village homes or at military roadblocks, or were discovered hiding in the bush. Some were raped in public. Some were raped in front of their husbands and children. Some were forced to witness the murder of husbands or parents. Then they were taken away to soldiers' camps to be held along with many other women. They were forced to cook for the soldiers during the day and every night they were gang-raped, in some cases by 30 to 40 men. They were also beaten and tortured. They saw women who resisted being beaten or killed by a simple slicing of the throat.

Many women were raped so incessantly and so brutally - with sticks, knives, gun barrels, burning coals - that they died. Many others were left with injuries and pain that still linger long after the war. Many who had been scarred as girls by "excision" or FMG (female genital mutilation) were literally ripped apart.

The Amnesty report coolly says: "The brutality of rape frequently causes serious physical injuries that require long-term and complex treatment including uterine prolapses (the descent of the uterus into the vagina or beyond)" - one has to wonder what lies "beyond" the vagina - "vesico-vaginal or recto-vaginal fistulas and other injuries to the reproductive system or rectum, often accompanied by internal and external bleeding or discharge." It notes that such women usually can't "access the medical care they need." Some still find it hard to sit down, or stand up, or walk. Some still spit up blood. Some have lost their eyesight or their memories. Some miscarried. Many contracted sexually transmitted diseases and HIV. No one knows how many of them died, or are dying, as a result.

And many are still missing, perhaps dragged across borders when rogue militias from a neighboring country went home. Perhaps slaughtered along the way.

War and Its Sequel

Historically, women have long been counted among "the spoils of war," free for the taking; but, in our own time, women in large numbers have also been pawns in deliberate military and political strategies intended to humiliate the men to whom they "belong" and to exterminate their ethnic groups. (Think of Bosnia.) The Amnesty report traces the wholesale violence against women in C<sup>o</sup>t<sup>d</sup>'Ivoire to December 2000 when a number of women were arrested, raped, and tortured at the government's Police Training School in Dioula - because their presumed ethnicity and political affiliation allied them with the opposition. According to Human Rights Watch, this was but one of many such cases incited by government-sponsored propaganda before the civil war even began.

No man responsible for any of these crimes has ever been brought to justice.

Next door in Liberia, by the time fighting ended in 2002, 1.4 million Liberians had been displaced within the country. Almost a million others had fled. In a country of three million people, that's one in three citizens gone. At least 270,000 people died. That's nearly 10% of the population. And here again the easy targets were women. A World Health Organization study in 2005 estimated that a staggering 90% of Liberian women had suffered physical or sexual violence; three out of four had been raped.

Typically, ending the war did not end the violence against women. A study in preparation by the International Rescue Committee - the organization for which I currently work as a volunteer - and Columbia University's School of Public Health concludes, "While the war officially ended in 2003, the war on women continued."

Well over half the women interviewed in two Liberian counties, including the capital city, Monrovia, had survived at least one violent physical attack during an 18-month period in 2006-2007, years after the conflict had officially ended. Well over half the women reported at least one violent sexual assault in the same period. Seventy-two percent said their husbands had forced them to have sex against their will. A 2003 IRC study among Liberian refugees in Sierra Leone found that 75% of the women had been sexually violated before they fled their country; after they fled, 55% were sexually assaulted again.

For women, war is not over when it's over.

Women Like Me

Countless women will never recover from the assaults they suffered during the war. I met many such women in Liberia.

On a visit I made to Kolahun, in Lofa County, where fighting had been heavy, one showed me her scars: a series of parallel horizontal ridges starting just below one ear and moving toward the throat. Some guerilla in Charles Taylor's army had locked this whisper of a woman against his chest and slowly, inch by inch, laid open the flesh of her neck in ribbons of blood. But that wasn't all. Taylor's men had broken all the fingers of her left hand so that they now point backwards at seemingly impossible angles. They slammed her back so forcefully with rifle butts that one leg and one arm (the one with the useless hand) are now paralyzed. She can still walk, leaning on a homemade wooden crutch; but that leaves her without a good arm, and she can't carry anything on her head, having lost the ability to balance. She has five children, some of them fathered by rape. The soldiers held her a long time. How many raped her she cannot say.

In the tiny village of Dougoumai I met a woman people refer to only as "the sick lady." She lay on a bed in a one-room mud-brick house. As I came in, she managed to sit up with great difficulty, using her twisted hands to move her swollen, useless legs. Her sister says she was captured by a militia fighting against Charles Taylor and gang-raped repeatedly by ten men. Nobody can say how long they kept her. They rammed their gun butts into her back - evidently a common technique - paralyzing her legs. She cannot walk. They smashed her hands. She cannot hold anything or feed herself or comb her hair. Her mother and two sisters, who luckily survived the war, feed her by hand, their lives too now dominated by the consequences of the violence done to this woman.

Recently the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the UN Fund for Population Activities (UNFPA) surveyed surviving women in Lofa County, the center of Charles Taylor's operations. More than 98% said that, during his war (1999-2003), they lost their homes; more than 90%, their livelihoods; more than 72%, at least one family member. Nearly 90% of them survived at least one violent physical assault; more than half, at least one violent sexual assault. No one inquired about the number of women now caring for the permanently disabled.

In Sierra Leone, where terrorizing the civilian population was the main tactic of war, the violence against women and children was, as Human Rights Watch has reported, even more brutal. All parties to the conflict committed countless atrocities. Official reports document appalling crimes: fathers forced to rape their own daughters; brothers forced to rape their sisters; boy soldiers gang-raping old women, then chopping off their arms; pregnant women eviscerated alive and the living fetus snatched from the womb to satisfy soldiers betting on its sex. A brother is hacked to death and eviscerated; his heart and liver are placed in the hands of his 18-year-old sister who is commanded to eat them. She refuses. She is taken to a place where other women are being held. Among them is her sister. She sees her sister and other women murdered. Their heads are placed in her lap. These crimes, which violate primal taboos, aim to destroy not just individual victims but a whole culture as well; yet the individual victims are important in their own right, and in most cases they are women and children.

Perhaps the worst crime of the bad, bad men has been turning children - mostly boys - into armed guerillas as bad as themselves. In his bestselling autobiography A Long Way Gone, Ishmael Beah vividly describes his life as a boy soldier. Separated from his family by the war, he was captured by soldiers in the army of Sierra Leone, trained to fight, kept high on drugs (as all soldiers were), and forced to kill. When boy soldiers begin to rape and murder girls and women willingly at the instigation of men, civilization has collapsed.

Crimes Against Women

In recent years, every kind of horror has been inflicted on girls and women in Liberia, Sierra Leone, and C<sup>o</sup>t<sup>d</sup>'Ivoire because they are female. If females were a particular ethnic group - Albanians, let's say, or Tutsis - or if they espoused a particular religion, as did Bosnian Muslims, we could recognize what goes on as a kind of "gender cleansing" or mass femicide. But we don't speak of crimes against women in that way. When did you last hear someone speak of "crimes against women" at all?

Interviewed for a TV documentary on mass rape in the Democratic Republic of Congo, a smiling guerrilla says he's "made love" to many women. The interviewer asks if all the women were willing, and he laughs. He admits that many fight him, and he says - still grinning - "If they are strong, I call my friends to help me." Despite his use of euphemisms, he knows just what he's doing. When the interviewer labels his love-making "rape," he typically insists that rape happens in wartime and that when the war is over, he won't do it anymore. The state of war excuses men's crimes against women because rape - so the claim goes - is something that just naturally occurs in war.

The war against women in West Africa and elsewhere is different from other wars - whether driven by ideology, politics, greed, or personal ambition - in that every faction, every side, makes war on women. They all abduct and rape and force women to labor. They all murder women. In West Africa, only the Civil Defense Forces (CDF) in Sierra Leone refrained for a considerable time from rape. They were traditional hunters, recruited by the government to defend their own areas from the rebels. Their customs kept them from sexual intercourse, believed to deplete a warrior's power, and they operated close to home, where they were known; but, as the war went on, they, too, began to act like all the other fighters. Their initial restraint was important, however, offering evidence that rape does not have to be something that "just happens" in war, but is instead an elective, wildly popular choice.

After war, in the "post-conflict" era, even some international peacekeepers have joined the war against women. Human Rights Watch and others have documented cases of rape by peacekeeping soldiers in West Africa, but none have been prosecuted. Perpetrators are simply repatriated or moved to a new post. Human Rights Watch also reports on the widespread practice among peacekeepers of using children who have turned to prostitution to survive. (There are few other options for girls who have been orphaned or rejected by their families, and many of these child prostitutes had already been used as sex slaves during wartime.) But apparently the peacekeepers recruit many girls themselves.

Here in Kailahun District, the place where the Sierra Leone war started and ended, women are upset and angry about the sexual exploitation of their adolescent daughters. Parents in this part of the country - many of them war widows - take seriously the advice to send their daughters to school, which costs more than most can easily afford. If a girl student becomes pregnant, she is required by law to drop out. (Consider the impact on a small village struggling to recover from war of the loss of even a few prospective teachers, nurses, or social workers.) If the father of the expected child is a fellow student, he can continue his studies, denying all responsibility. Often, however, it's not the boys who are to blame. Many still-virginal girls drop out of school early to escape predatory teachers, and women report that the incidence of teen pregnancy drops when peacekeeping forces leave town.

Even then, however, rape and child rape continue, largely unabated. It's hard to tell with certainty just how high this is, because raped women and girls are normally too shamed by the crime to report it. In war time, it was somewhat easier because they had so clearly been forced by armed men; with the war "over," rape once again becomes a woman's own fault. Nonetheless, angry parents in this region of Sierra Leone, increasingly report child rape to authorities. Here in Kailahun District, women mobilized to force the local magistrate to hear the case of a 7-year-old rape victim. The magistrate, apparently related to the admitted perpetrator, had prevented prosecution by postponing his trial, again and again.

Domestic violence - wife-beating, marital rape, emotional abuse, torture, economic deprivation, and the like - is common. Impoverished women with many children to feed have no choice but to endure "normal" levels of violence. But as in wartime, habitual violence invites the thrill of excess. Just the other day, a man in Moyamba District killed his wife and cut off her head.

Bad Men Make Good

For bad, bad men, terrorizing civilians holds advantages - beyond the immediate gratification of the rush of power. Such acts can land them important posts in government. When atrocities become sufficiently conspicuous and horrific - such as the notorious amputations of arms and legs in Sierra Leone - the international community steps in to initiate a peace process. Usually they bring to the negotiating table all the bad, bad men who have been causing so much trouble and buy them off with positions of power in a new "interim" or "transitional" government. Witness, in another part of the world where women are notoriously badly treated, all those well-known warlords the Afghan people wanted tried for war crimes who somehow wound up in President Hamid Karzai's cabinet, or - after elections advertised as democratic - in parliament.

Foday Sankoh had been condemned to death for treason when he was summoned to just such peace negotiations. From them, he emerged as the head of the government commission in charge of managing Sierra Leone's natural resources, including the diamonds that financed his war. Charles Taylor, while committing mayhem and rape in refugee camps for displaced persons, was elected president of Liberia. Voters seemed to figure, as battered women often do, that the best way to stop the man's violence was to let him have his way, though this is a path to certain disaster.

Bad, bad men are quick to learn from the rapid advancement of their brothers elsewhere. Laurent Kunda in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), widely recognized as a prime candidate for trial before a war crimes tribunal, is now said to be jockeying for a high position in the government of the DRC in exchange for laying down his arms. The current rapid descent of Kenya into "tribal warfare" owes much to the same theory. Raila Odingo, having lost a clearly suspect presidential election, exploits genocidal violence with good reason to hope that international intervention will usher him into office by the back door.

Although UN Security Council Resolution 1325 calls for women to be included in all peace processes, they are rarely invited to the table. With men in charge of governments almost everywhere, the fearful fascination with bad, bad men continues and the perverse preference for predators trickles down. In Sierra Leone, ex-combatants were rewarded with motorcycles. The theory was that violent young men would be less dangerous if they could serve a useful purpose and make some money carrying passengers on brand new highly-chromed bikes in a country where most cars had been torched. The result? Every public square in the dodgiest districts of Sierra Leone is now dominated by a motorcycle gang consisting mainly of young men already surely skilled in the sexual exploitation of girls. Perhaps in the end, the transport scheme will work out; but in Sierra Leone most women and girls still walk.

Here in Kailahun District, women tell the story - possibly apocryphal - of an old woman who was huddled over her cook fire when RUF rebels entered her village. She was frying some tasty frogs. Rebels surrounded her, peering into the pot to see what she was cooking, and one of them said: "We are freedom fighters of the Revolutionary United Front. We have come to save you from the government." The old woman - unafraid - replied: "Then you must go to the capital. The government is not in my pot." Women in Kailahun District tell that story over and over, and they laugh every time. They are so proud of that lone, bold, old woman who told those rebel men off. That's the spirit of survival, still alive in them, though they must know that the rebels probably shot the woman and ate her frogs.

---

Writer/photographer Ann Jones is working as a volunteer with the International Rescue Committee (IRC) on a special project for their Gender-Based Violence (read: Violence Against Women) unit called "A Global Crescendo: Women's Voices from Conflict Zones." Her blogs about the project can be found by clicking here. She is the author, most recently, of Kabul in Winter: Life Without Peace in Afghanistan (Metropolitan Books), a report from another war that's not over.

[Note on sources: A number of the reports discussed in this piece, all PDF files, can be read on-line:

Amnesty International, "Targeting Women";

Human Rights Watch, "'My Heart Is Cut': Sexual Violence by Rebels and Pro-Government Forces in Cote d'Ivoire;

The World Health Organization;

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the UN Fund for Population Activities, "Women's Reproductive Health in Liberia, The Lofa County Reproductive Health Survey";

Human Rights Watch, "'We'll Kill You If You Cry': Sexual Violence in the Sierra Leone Conflict";

UN Resolution 1325.]

-----

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power.

Play now!

| 24880|2008-02-17 18:15:13|clyde winters|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Hi Terry

You are a brave man to state your position. I agree with much of what you have written.

I think its pathetic that all of these Black people have come on board to support Obama, when they had reservations about Sharpton and Jackson, two true Afro-Americans. It is the same old story to me if the European says he's okay he's okay with me.

Don't you find it interesting that all these Europeans talk about the anti-poverty work of Obama, but we have no testimonies from these Blacks he's suppose to have help.

If Obama becomes the president I think he will become I look forward to seeing how many Afros will admit they voted for this man in the years to come.

Clyde

--- Terry <terrylynnh@yahoo.com> wrote:

>
>
> I've never voted for a White person for President.
> I voted for the > lesser of two evils, which is far different than > voting for someone I > wanted to vote for. We all know none of them have > done a damn thing for > us.
>
> If Barack is nominated, I will obviously vote for > him.
>
> But, I refuse to openly support someone who is a > Black candidate who I > question re: his intent to do "sh-t" for us just the > same as White folk.
>
> Your suggestion that I wouldn't want to give the > benefit of the doubt to > a Black man? Now, there is where you're speaking > out of the left and > the right side of your neck simultaneously. You > don't know me, you > certainly don't know my love and concern for Black > men and it is > downright silly to make such claims whenever a > Sister thinks before she > acts in relation to her socio political position.
>
> The ironic thing is that you are arguing for the > election of a Black man > who hasn't integrated Black men in one single public > policy idea. Not > one.

>
> You don't give benefits of doubt regarding a Black > man who is running > for President. If he were a woman, I wouldn't give > HER the benefit of > the doubt. I don't give the benefit of the doubt to > Black men who wage > colorless campaigns.
>
> I do give the benefit of the doubt to Black men who > stand up and > communicate a position on some of the barriers and > concerns the masses > of Black people face. I reject Black men in the > public arena who send > messages that a Black man can be successful if he > only keeps his mouth > shut about his people who are SUFFERING in the > streets.
>
> I'm sick of seeing this high percentage of Black men > eating out of > garbage cans. I want to see more of them have a > place they can call > home.
>
> I'm sick of seeing Black men being released from 17, > 18 years of > incarceration to a society that won't hire them,
> won't provide them
> adequate resources to get back on their feet.
>
> I have clients - all Black men who are brilliant > people who need a
> President of the U.S. who understands their dilemma.
> George Jackson was > killed in prison after being committed to 1 year to > LIFE in prison for > stealing 70 dollars.
>
> I have clients who have served equally astronomical > sentences for > bullsh-it!
>
> I'm tired of seeing Black candidates get elected and > who serve the top > 40 - Black folk who are successful and privileged.

>
>
> I won't take no for an answer from a Black candidate > anymore. I EXPECT > nothing from a White candidate. But, I will not be > reduced to > expecting silence from a "Black man" while this > community is falling > apart at the seams.
>
> With that, I urge people to hold their support as an > act of protest. I > protest Barack Obama's silence. I don't want to > hear speeches from > Obama. In fact, some folk have the nerve to compare > him to Dr. King. I > don't want a candidate who encourages the troops
> like Dr. King did, but > who doesn't have a drop of the bravery he had to > advocate for his > people.
>
> Had Dr. King ran for public office, he would have > stated his case about > specific issues of the day like a Black man - and > he certainly wouldn't > send anybody to martinlutherking.com to know what he > meant.
>
>
> Thanks,
>
> Terry
>
>
>
> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" > wrote:
>
>
> > Based on that argument I would assume that you > have NEVER voted for a > > white President either. The simple truth is that > with the exception > > of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none > of them have done

>> sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".
>> Give me a break! You just don't want to be > generous -give the >> benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need > to examine your self.
>> HTP,
>> Mahari
>>
>> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" > terrylynnh@ wrote:
>>>
>>> Well, you've all said a mouthful.
>>>
>>>
>>> I've written so much on this matter in emails to > folk and at groups.
>>> I'll be happy to gather it all together and post > it here. It all
>> may >>> seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my > drift.
>>>
>>> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright > shamefully non specific
>> about >>> his socio political intentions. Having served > as an appointee for a >>> public official, and understanding the > importance of effectively
>>> communicating the scope of one's public policy
> in campaigning, I've >>> never really seen anyone present so evasively.
> In any case, I have >>> expectations of someone who particularly wants > to be the first Black >>> President.
>>>
>>> I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or > acknowledge it, but >>> that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the > war that has been
>> waged >>> against Black people in this country at least as > well as he can >>> articulate public policy related with Iraq -

> then I can't support
> > him.
> > >
> > > I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I > take some pride in
> > being > > > consistent. How could I have a site like > terryhowcott.com
> > > <<http://terryhowcott.com>> , and then support > someone who chants
> > about > > > hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis > Jr.'s
> > autobiography?
> > > (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance > to change in the > > manner
> > > Obama would like.
> > >
> > > If he comes correct, and produces some sound > discussion of who he's > > > paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a > Brother. But, if
> > he's > > > not me and the masses of Black people living in > this place, then
> > I'm not
> > > with him.
> > >
>

==== message truncated ====

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals?

Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

| 24881|2008-02-17 19:20:22|Terry Howcott|Salif Keita: African Woman|

Salif Keita

African Woman

(Celebrate!)

At terryhowcott.com

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24882|2008-02-17 19:20:53|Bradenqp@aol.com|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Asar, is it your opinion that thefa systemis intrinsically fatalistic? It seems to me that this is more a matter of presentapplication and use of the system by some prieststhan with any inherent limitations with it at the level of theory.

In other words, it seems to me thishas more to do with the way priests apply the system in traditional settings. I see nothing in the system that prevents a more expansive view. In fact, it seems to me that view is implicit in the system without having to make any modifications to it.

Paul Braden

In a message dated 2/17/2008 5:36:32 PM Eastern Standard Time, asar_imhotep@yahoo.com writes:

Hopefully I can be more clear. All I am saying is that although Africa will always be the foundation, we really can't recapture our greatness until we forge our own identities, develop our own cultural practices, and develop our own cosmologies (our own reasons for being here on earth).

We need to regain our free African thought. We developed what we developed, not because we thought of ourselves as "Africans," but because we considered ourselves "God" having a human experience. Because of this foundation, culture and ethnicity coming in second, we were thinking of things like this:

<http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/18>

Talks Janine Benyus: 12 sustainable design ideas from nature

When we collectively get back to thinking like this, and creating technology based on this firm foundation, then we are back in business. The above link is our ideas, yet we talk about it but don't experiment with it (nature). We can talk about Africans did this and that, but today African-Americans don't make toothpicks, so how can we say we are using our historical knowledge affectively?

Africa is the foundation, we need to create our own branch and come up with our own cosmologies. Although Africa has a singular spirit that permeates throughout all African cultures, there are some fundamental cosmological differences that are not small deviations. For example, the systems of Ifa and the Dagara system are fatalistic, while the Kongo & ancient Egyptian systems are not. Although they express themselves in similar ways, the whole concept of purpose and fate distinguishes them tremendously. So to adopt an "African" world view can be problematic as we will again reduce that larger category down to individual ethnic world views.

So the best thing to do is to develop our own system of thought, rooted in our ancient systems of thought. That's what the elders are saying to do on the continent because that's what they've done. So basically we need to reinvent the wheel to fit the vehicle we are currently riding. Otherwise we are mimicking African culture, we won't be one with it.

Bradenqp@aol. com wrote:

Asar,

I'm somewhat confused.

The issues of Ontology, Epistemology and fundamental implications of Cosmology are precisely what Asante's book Kemet, Afrocentricity & Knowledge is about.

Cosmology, Epistemology, Axiology and Aesthetic are the Four Principle Issues Afrocentricity is built on. Chapter 1 of Kemet, Afrocentricity & Knowledge lays this out and the rest of the book develops the ideas. So this has been the basis of the theory since as far back as 1990 and one can see it reflected in the syllabuses of courses taught within the Temple University African American Studies program. So they may not be taught at a level conducive to triggering a large mass movement, but I'm not sure that's the point. The point is to educate a core of scholars in these matters at highly abstract levels so they can imbue Black thought with these ideas and develop them further in an inside to outside manner.

See Point (5) of the following speech delivered by Asante at U Liverpool in 2,000 :

www.asante.net/articles/Liverpool-Address.html

By the way, I agree with your general thesis and Malidoma Patrice Some is right. I'm always encouraged when African priests indicate a willingness to think abstractly about their religions and are not constricted by ritual and "tradition" and dogma. This has its place of course, and it's an important one. But yes, you are correct: for our religions to be able to contend with Christianity and Islam and Buddhism, we have to be able to answer fundamental questions of our relationship to the Creator and to Ancestors. I guess it has always seemed to me that this is precisely what Afrocentricity attempts to do.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

< div class="bottombox width25 separator float-left">

---

Delicious ideas to please the pickiest eaters. Watch the video on AOL Living.

| 24883|2008-02-18 05:26:07|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Great IMJ,

As you say, some people will just continue creating more hoops for Obama to jump through, as if they could only support a black candidate if he were the lord himself. I couldn't agree more that nothing will be worse than continuing to support the hierarchy that's been in political office for the last century.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: IMJs@webtv.net
Date: Sun, 17 Feb 2008 16:22:01 -0500
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

First of all, thanks to "prewitt" for the informative reply.

I've been listening to all the suspicion and doubt about Obama amongst Black folks since very early on in his campaign... "can he be trusted", "is he Black enough / is he down with the hood", "what's his 'real' agenda", "who's he really working for", "is he a puppet for 'the man'.... etc., etc., etc.?

Well, while there are no saints - as he's already admitted - when it comes to worrying about the "unseen hands" influencing the remaining 3 Presidential candidates, it's not even a contest with me.... Give me Barack Obama over both the "Billiary" tagteam (and their dumptrucks full of dirt) AND John "McBush", who'll just give us a 3rd term of disastrous wild-west cowboy politics.

Choosing a President is first and foremost a character issue with me - all else is secondary.

A person of good character will make good *choices* (more times than not)... and in a contest of character I like what I've seen and read about Obama over the other two. I think one testimony to the character of Obama that is often overlooked is the woman he has at his side, his wife Michelle. From all I've watched, especially in her sit-down interviews, she comes off as a real straight-talking no B.S. type Black woman, she's more authentic every time I see her; almost honest to a fault sometimes.

*** [Isn't it a strange fact that in the political arena one's blatant honesty can (sometimes) be seen as a fault and NOT an asset? It just speaks to the upside-down backwardness nature of politics, where alot of the voters always SAY they want nothing but straight-talk from their political leaders, yet when they get it, and it's news that they don't want to hear, they end up punishing the candidate who's bringing the bad news of shared sacrifice and tough roads ahead, in favor of the one who'll just keep feeding them the B.S. they want to hear.... thus nothing really changes.]

This twisted mentality must change.... and it'll require a CHANGE in the status-quo mentality!

And I don't see Hilliary as even knowing how think in those terms.

As far as Clyde's concerns of Obama having too much in common with or getting too much support from Republicans, well don't worry Clyde, we all know if Obama gets the nomination this man will be "Wille Horton-ed" and "swift boated" to the inth-degree by the cut-throat GOP machine... have no doubt.

We need to stop setting up these extra 'hoops' for Obama to jump through that weren't in play w' others... I sometimes get the feeling that some folks in the community expect Obama not only to be the first Black President, but to be a "what are you going to do for Black folks" President - in a NON-Black-majority country!...

This Black "savior" is not 'coming to America'. But we do have first man of Black heritage to come along so far w/ a REAL chance of being elected. Some folks are worried about him being a "Trojan horse"... IF that's the case and he gets elected due to the Black vote and then turns around and betrays his promises, then... I guess we'd end up being no worse than we are from voting for all those WHITE GUYS we've supported throughout the last 40 years!

But if he is what I think he is - the best choice for us - then I'd choose him now vs. sitting back waiting on the sidelines for some ideal/dream Black President.

One thing is for damn sure, a new President WILL be chosen in 2008, whatever the case... why not Barack Obama!

IMJ

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!

| 24884|2008-02-18 05:35:33|asar_imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Bradenqp@... wrote:

>
>
> Asar, is it your opinion that the Ifa system is intrinsically fatalistic? It > seems to me that this is more a matter of present application and use of the > system by some priests than with any inherent limitations with it at the > level of theory.
>
> In other words, it seems to me this has more to do with the way priests > apply the system in traditional settings. I see nothing in the system that > prevents a more expansive view. In fact, it seems to me that view is implicit in > the system without having to make any modifications to it.
>
>
> Paul Braden
>

This is exactly why I am careful with Applying the broad term African now-a-days to certain world views. I understand fully that there is some inherent differences between houses or lineages and one of the major differences is the assumption of fate within the Ifa system. It's even inherent in one of the major "deities" Orunmila (witness of "fate"). As Dr Afolabi Epega (Ifa priest of Ode Remo) states in his work Ifa The Ancient Wisdom (2003: 39), "Every newly-born child is taken to Ifa priest in order to ascertain his or her fate and the kind of training suited to him or her."

I was taught by him that you choose (your spirit) when and where you would be born and the circumstances in which you would experience. This line of thought was also expressed to me by Dr. Malidoma Some of the Dagara tradition. The major conflict this poses for students of African philosophy is the nature of free-will.

Those who study ancient Ta-Merrian thought will notice that the AE didn't possess this philosophical doctrine. As Dr. Maulna Karenga notes in MAAT: The Moral Ideal in Ancient Egypt pg 247, that the grounds for free will is in divine endowment and is further supported by the Maatian concepts of: 1) malleability of human nature and 2) the absence of an overriding concept of fate.

This is also expressed by Dr. K. Bunseki Fu-Kiau in Self-Healing Power and Therapy chapter 8. The whole chapter is about the free-will of men and how one's life can be prolonged or shortened based on "Nsimi mu zingu" (wise and rational reasoning), or "Zomina zingu" (rush in life) respectively. This contrast greatly with the notion, as taught to me, in Ifa that "the only thing that can't be changed is when someone is born and when they die." But even with that, when one is "off path" that the Orishas will cause things to happen to make you get on path, just like the story of Jona and the whale in the Biblical myth. So regardless you are to play out this "path" and there is nothing you can do about it because you signed a "contract" in the spirit world before you arrived here.

The Matrix film hints on this dichotomy in Revolutions when the dialogue goes:

Neo:

I suppose the most obvious question is, how can I trust you?

The Oracle:

Bingo! It is a pickle, no doubt about it. The bad news is there's no way if you can really know whether I'm here to help you or not. So it's really up to you. You just have to make up your own damn mind to either accept what I'm going to tell you, or reject it. Candy?

Neo:

D'you already know if I'm going to take it?

The Oracle:

Wouldn't be much of an Oracle if I didn't.

Neo:

But if you already know, how can I make a choice?

The Oracle:

Because you didn't come here to make the choice, you've already made it. You're here to try to understand why you made it. I thought you'd have figured that out by now.

Since the cosmology is the very foundation in which ethnic groups make their decisions, these kinds of differences can make a big difference in how people interact with each other.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

| 24885|2008-02-18 06:00:22|kungfuhustle|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

This is a first, hearing Obama now compared to the Lord.

Over the last few months, I've endured a lot of idiotic comparisons of Obama to;

- 1) Martin Luther King
- 2) Malcohm X
- 3) Marcus Garvey
- 4) and now, The Lord

I suppose people will see anything they like, but to be honest, if the Lord himself came down and ran for political office, I wouldn't vote for him/her either.

Finally, I'd like to exactly hear Obama say something about his plans, and I really don't wish to read it from one of his books, which BTW, also do not spell out any effective plans he has in mind.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 08:26:06 -0500

Great IMJ,

As you say, some people will just continue creatings more hoops for Obama to jump through, as if they could only support a black candidate if he were the lord himself. I couldn't agree more that nothing will be worse than continuing to support the hierarchy that's been in political office for the last century.

Peter

---

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

From: IMJs@webtv.net

Date: Sun, 17 Feb 2008 16:22:01 -0500

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

First of all, thanks to "prewitt" for the informative reply.

I've been listening to all the suspicion and doubt about Obama amongst Black folks since very early on in his campaign... "can he be trusted", "is he Black enough / is he down with the hood", "what's his 'real' agenda", "who's he really working for", "is he a puppet for 'the man'.... etc., etc., etc.?

Well, while there are no saints - as he's already admitted - when it comes to worrying about the "unseen hands" influencing the remaining 3 Presidential candidates, it's not even a contest with me.... Give me Barack Obama over both the "Billiary" tagteam (and their dumptrucks full of dirt) AND John "McBush", who'll just give us a 3rd term of disastrous wild-west cowboy politics.

Choosing a President is first and foremost a character issue with me - all else is secondary. A person of good character will make good *choices* (more times than not)... and in a contest of character I like what I've seen and read about Obama over the other two. I think one testimony to the character of Obama that is often overlooked is the woman he has at his side, his wife Michelle. From all I've watched, especially in her sit-down interviews, she comes off as a real straight-talking no B.S. type Black woman, she's more authentic every time I see her; almost honest to a fault sometimes.

*** [Isn't it a strange fact that in the political arena one's blatant honesty can (sometimes) be seen as a fault and NOT an asset? It just speaks to the upside-down backwardness nature of politics, where alot of the voters always SAY they want nothing but straight-talk from their political leaders, yet when they get it, and it's news that they don't want to hear, they end up punishing the candidate who's bringing the bad news of shared sacrifice and tough roads ahead, in favor of the one who'll just keep feeding them the B.S. they want to hear.... thus nothing really changes.]

This twisted mentality must change.... and it'll require a CHANGE in the status-quo mentality!

And I don't see Hilliary as even knowing how think in those terms.

As far as Clyde's concerns of Obama having too much in common with or getting too much support from Republicans, well don't worry Clyde, we all know if Obama gets the nomination this man will be "Wille Horton-ed"
and "swift boated" to the inth-degree by the cut-throat GOP machine... have no doubt.

We need to stop setting up these extra 'hoops' for Obama to jump through that weren't in play w' others... I sometimes get the feeling that some folks in the community expect Obama not only to be the first
Black
President, but to be a "what are you going to do for Black folks"
President - in a NON-Black-majority country!...

This Black "savior" is not 'coming to America'. But we do have first man of Black heritage to come along so far w/ a REAL chance of being elected. Some folks are worried about him being a "Trojan horse"... IF that's the case and he gets elected due to the Black vote and then turns around and betrays his promises, then... I guess we'd end up being no worse than we are from voting for all those WHITE GUYS we've supported throughout the last 40 years!

But if he is what I think he is - the best choice for us - then I'd choose him now vs. sitting back waiting on the sidelines for some ideal/dream Black President.

One thing is for damn sure, a new President WILL be chosen in 2008, whatever the case... why not Barack Obama!

IMJ

---

Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge with star power. Play now!

| 24886|2008-02-18 06:51:02|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Terry,

What exactly is your beef with Bill Cosby? Is he too "paternalistic" for telling black people that education is the only means of self improvement, and that it will not be attained by wearing your pants around your knees or talking ebonics?

Secondly, so what if Obama was born in Kenya and raised in Hawaii? Maybe he does know some things you don't know.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: emeagwali@mail.ccsu.edu
Date: Sun, 17 Feb 2008 13:31:03 -0500
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Sorry but since you don't like books, magazines, websites and speeches
there is nothing anyone can do to convince you. Good luck.

GE

www.africahistory.net

www.africahistoryonline.com

www.ccsu.edu/afstudy/archive.html

---

From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Terry
Sent: Sun 2/17/2008 10:17 AM
To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Yes, you see? You're referring me to his book and Ebony magazine.

You mean, that's how the world learns what Obama stands for?

Think about what you're saying.

You're saying students should put down their studies and read his book to know what he means?

That is very low level in terms of expectations. I expect much more from such a capable man.

He has the capacity to state his case. He's just made a conscious decision to not state his case.

Why would he make that decision? He says he'll tell people what they "need" to hear. What does he mean by that?

What does he think we "need" to hear? Does he mean like in that sick fashion of let's say a Bill Cosby?

Does he mean in paternalistic fashion? Does he mean, he knows what we don't know - when he comes from Kenya and was raised in Hawaii? Is there something he could LEARN from a Sister or a Brother from Detroit or Harlem re" the reality of Black folk on the ground?

Was his experience in Chicago enough for him to cut through to the intricacies of how people get where they are?

I doubt it. And he won't tell me if I'm mistaken.

People deserve to hear more from Barack.

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>
> Go to the current issue of Ebony and there is a great interview with > a lot of specifics. Read 'Dreams of his Father' and 'The Audacity of Hope' > for more.

>
> I must confess I have not found the time to read the second book
> because I was just totally immersed reading and re-reading the first book.
> I shall read the second book next week.

>
> In 'Dreams.....' we have specifics about what he actually did in rundown Chicago.
> and what his socio- political philosophy is.

>
>
> GE
>
> _____
>

> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Paul Kekai Manansala
> Sent: Sat 2/16/2008 11:05 AM
> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

>
>
> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:

>>
>> Well, you've all said a mouthful.

>>
>>

>
>>
>> Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific about >> his socio political intentions.

>
> Barack has laid out his plans as specifically as any other candidate. You can download his "Blueprint for Change" at his website:

>
>

> The Blueprint for Change
>
>
> For example, you can compare his healthcare plan in specifics to that of any other candidate.
>
> Regards,
> Paul Kekai Manansala
>

---

Need to know the score, the latest news, or you need your Hotmail-get your "fix". Check it out.
| 24887|2008-02-18 06:55:32|Ferg|The Bantu in Ancient Egypt|

Attachments :

Greetings.

For the first time ever there is a reference to the Bantu in Ancient Egypt.

Read on.

somo

| 24888|2008-02-18 06:55:59|prewitt|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

"Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate, our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure.

It is our light, not our darkness that most frightens us." Nelson Mandela.

Come to the light y'all.

-----Original Message-----

>From: clyde winters <olmec982000@yahoo.com>
>Sent: Feb 17, 2008 9:15 PM
>To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
>Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
>
>Hi Terry
>
>You are a brave man to state your position. I agree >with much of what you have written.
>
>I think its pathetic that all of these Black people >have come on board to support Obama, when they had >reservations about Sharpton and Jackson, two true >Afro-Americans. It is the same old story to me if the >European says he's okay he's okay with me.

>
>Don't you find it interesting that all these Europeans >talk about the anti-poverty work of Obama, but we have >no testimonies from these Blacks he's suppose to have >help.
>
> If Obama becomes the president I think he will become
>I look forward to seeing how many Afros will admit >they voted for this man in the years to come.
>
>Clyde
>
>--- Terry <terrylynnh@yahoo.com> wrote:
>
>>
>>
>> I've never voted for a White person for President.
>> I voted for the
>> lesser of two evils, which is far different than >> voting for someone I >> wanted to vote for. We all know none of them have >> done a damn thing for >> us.
>>
>> If Barack is nominated, I will obviously vote for
>> him.
>>
>> But, I refuse to openly support someone who is a >> Black candidate who I >> question re: his intent to do "sh-t" for us just the >> same as White folk.
>>
>> Your suggestion that I wouldn't want to give the >> benefit of the doubt to >> a Black man? Now, there is where you're speaking >> out of the left and >> the right side of your neck simultaneously. You >> don't know me, you
>> certainly don't know my love and concern for Black
>> men and it is >> downright silly to make such claims whenever a >> Sister thinks before she >> acts in relation to her socio political position.
>>
>> The ironic thing is that you are arguing for the >> election of a Black man

>> who hasn't integrated Black men in one single public >> policy idea. Not >> one.
>>
>> You don't give benefits of doubt regarding a Black >> man who is running >> for President. If he were a woman, I wouldn't give >> HER the benefit of >> the doubt. I don't give the benefit of the doubt to >> Black men who wage
>> colorless campaigns.
>>
>> I do give the benefit of the doubt to Black men who >> stand up and >> communicate a position on some of the barriers and >> concerns the masses >> of Black people face. I reject Black men in the >> public arena who send >> messages that a Black man can be successful if he >> only keeps his mouth >> shut about his people who are SUFFERING in the >> streets.
>>
>> I'm sick of seeing this high percentage of Black men
>> eating out of >> garbage cans. I want to see more of them have a >> place they can call >> home.
>>
>> I'm sick of seeing Black men being released from 17, >> 18 years of >> incarceration to a society that won't hire them,
>> won't provide them
>> adequate resources to get back on their feet.
>>
>> I have clients - all Black men who are brilliant
>> people who need a
>> President of the U.S. who understands their dilemma.
>> George Jackson was >> killed in prison after being committed to 1 year to >> LIFE in prison for >> stealing 70 dollars.
>>
>> I have clients who have served equally astronomical >> sentences for

>> bullsh-it!
>>
>> I'm tired of seeing Black candidates get elected and
>> who serve the top >> 40 - Black folk who are successful and privileged.
>>
>>
>> I won't take no for an answer from a Black candidate >> anymore. I EXPECT >> nothing from a White candidate. But, I will not be >> reduced to >> expecting silence from a "Black man" while this >> community is falling >> apart at the seams.
>>
>> With that, I urge people to hold their support as an >> act of protest. I >> protest Barack Obama's silence. I don't want to >> hear speeches from >> Obama. In fact, some folk have the nerve to compare >> him to Dr. King. I >> don't want a candidate who encourages the troops
>> like Dr. King did, but >> who doesn't have a drop of the bravery he had to >> advocate for his >> people.
>>
>> Had Dr. King ran for public office, he would have >> stated his case about >> specific issues of the day like a Black man - and >> he certainly wouldn't >> send anybody to martinlutherking.com to know what he >> meant.
>>
>>
>> Thanks,
>>
>> Terry
>>
>>
>>
>> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu"
>> wrote:
>> >
>> > Based on that argument I would assume that you >> have NEVER voted for a >> > white President either. The simple truth is that >> with the exception >> > of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none

>> of them have done
>> > sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".
>> > Give me a break! You just don't want to be >> generous -give the >> > benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need >> to examine your self.
>> > HTP,
>> > Mahari
>> >
>> > --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry"
>> terrylynnh@ wrote:
>> > >
>> > > Well, you've all said a mouthful.
>> > >
>> > >
>> > > I've written so much on this matter in emails to >> folk and at groups.
>> > > I'll be happy to gather it all together and post
>> it here. It all
>> > may >> > > seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my >> drift.
>> > >
>> > > Barack Obama has been terribly, downright >> shamefully non specific
>> > about >> > > his socio political intentions. Having served >> as an appointee for a >> > > public official, and understanding the >> importance of effectively
>> > > communicating the scope of one's public policy
>> in campaigning, I've >> > > never really seen anyone present so evasively.
>> In any case, I have >> > > expectations of someone who particularly wants >> to be the first Black >> > > President.
>> > >
>> > > I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or >> acknowledge it, but >> > > that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the >> war that has been
>> > waged

>>>> against Black people in this country at least as >> well as he can >>>> articulate public policy related with Iraq - >> then I can't support
>>> him.
>>>>
>>>> I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I >> take some pride in
>>> being >>>> consistent. How could I have a site like >> terryhowcott.com
>>>> <<http://terryhowcott.com>> , and then support >> someone who chants
>>> about
>>>> hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis >> Jr.'s
>>> autobiography?
>>>> (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance >> to change in the >>> manner
>>>> Obama would like.
>>>>
>>>> If he comes correct, and produces some sound
>> discussion of who he's >>>> paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a >> Brother. But, if
>>> he's >>>> not me and the masses of Black people living in >> this place, then
>>> I'm not
>>>> with him.
>>>>
>>

>=== message truncated ===

>
>
>
>

---

>Looking for last minute shopping deals?

>Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

<http://tools.search.yahoo.com/newsearch/category.php?category=shopping>

>
>

>Ta_Seti Repository

>http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ta\_seti2

>Yahoo! Groups Links

>

>

>

| 24889|2008-02-18 07:41:21|Peter Gray|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Asar,

I don't think you can create a cosmology like you can create Kwanzaa. Cosmologies require a historical link rooted in surviving ritual(s), not simply the political will to better your community. Since most of these links and rituals have been shattered by the experience of slavery, it's difficult to reinvent the wheel, though probably not impossible.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

From: asar_imhotep@yahoo.com

Date: Sun, 17 Feb 2008 10:13:28 -0800

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] African Fractals: Video Lecture

Paul

Yes you are correct, I am positing that we create a new "cosmology." What I am saying as far as Afrocentricity is that it really is an approach to knowledge, which is perfectly fine. I have no problems what-so-ever (that I can recall) with Afrocentricity. What I find lacking is it doesn't answer for the layman "why?" What do I mean by why?

African philosophy, spiritual systems and cosmologies are approaches to understanding man's place and purpose in the universe. It's aims are to try to answer who am I, where did I come from, what is my purpose, and what must I do to fulfill that purpose? This is what human beings seek and it is this line of questioning and need for spirituality that we get the spiritual systems and philosophies known (and unknown) in Africa.

Afrocentricity doesn't begin to answer these questions for the general populace as a theory itself: it simply refers you to African religions. This is why Christianity and Islam will have a hold on our people in greater numbers than what Afrocentricity, as an approach to knowledge, will have. Christianity and Islam has a cosmology and answers for the layman who they are (outside of genetics) and their purpose and it is for this reason that the majority of the people we seek to help will not jump on the Afrocentric "bandwagon." Whether their answers are correct can be debated.

To truly understand what I mean, I must convey this. I remember some years ago I had a conversation with Dr. Malidoma Some and we were talking about the nature of African rituals and what purpose they served and all that "African" talk that comes with it. One thing really stood out in this conversation, and he echoes it in his work Healing Wisdom of Africa. He stated to me that (paraphrased) ,

"African spirituality is not hard and stiff. It is flexible and adjusts to one's environment. Our belief in the indigenous world is that your spirit agreed to be here to serve some purpose. Some of us believe that you even pick the geography in which you were born. That means that you have a special connection with the spirits in the place you were born. So this is why I don't make priests here in the states. It is up to you to develop your own thing. I am just providing the template, the philosophy, the approach on how to develop your own systems."

So what he is saying is that in our efforts to return to our spiritual home, we neglect the spirits that reside here. We totally ignore our own creative process and abilities and we continually look outside ourselves for our own liberation. And to me it makes perfect sense. Although African people come from a central locality in the lacustrine region of east Africa, they dispersed out and developed new cosmologies and systems of thoughts where they settled down; to where their world view and communities were just as old as the mother community over time. However, they still kept the philosophical & cultural umbilical chord intact.

I liken it to dreams. Have you noticed that your dreams speak to you in the language in which you were born into? I will never have dreams in Japanese because I don't speak Japanese. The universe adjusts to me and my level of understanding. This philosophy is why the spiritual systems changed as they changed geographies: they had new reference points.

We have new reference points and it is time we create our own cosmologies. This is what Free people do. We have the same intelligence and creative spirit our ancestors had. No matter how much we study indigenous African culture, we will never be like our indigenous brothers and sisters. They grew up in their culture, we grew up in a totally different culture, time and space. So although Afrocentricity attempts to put new lenses for us to see the world, it will never truly be "African".

I had the opportunity to meet the late Dr. Afolabi A. Epega (priest of Ifa and physicist), and he told me that he doesn't make Ifa priests here in America (as he initiates people into the system of Ifa). He said, "I make African-American Ifa priests." He told me that you could never understand fully Yoruba culture. You have to grow up into it. A lot of the stuff we learn, you couldn't use because of where you are at. So we take the basics and what is useful and give to you for you to create something where you are at. This again echoes Dr. Malidoma Some's sentiments mentioned above.

So what I am saying is that we must take the best of what Africa has to offer, get fully initiated into their systems, live a little and develop new systems for ourselves here. This is why I respect Dr. Maulana Karenga so much, what he did with Kwanzaa is truly in the spirit of what the elders are telling me from the continent. This also is why I love the film The Matrix. I do a lecture called African Spirituality and The Matrix and in it I use the Matrix film as an example on how to take ancient stories & philosophies and create a modern cosmology that is relevant and speaks to the current situation of your people.

As professor Smalls used to tell me, "The problem with African-Americans is we don't deify our recent ancestors." We need to deify Harriet Tubman, Mary Mcleod Bethune, Nat Turner, Sojourner Truth, Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, Marcus Garvey, etc. and place them into a pantheon and create a story that teaches us morality, science and health using them as the centers of the stories (no different than Asaru, Heru, & Isi). Only then can we truly say that we are expanding the philosophy of African people. We need to use the symbols of where we are at. We need to collect our proverbs and create a text, but not something that is dogma. Then and only then (IMO) will we be on the same footing as our ancestors. It's about creation (and even Asante talks about this in the first chapter of Afrocentricity - the creation aspect I mean).

What we need from Africa is the understanding of the natural environment, and its technologies. From there, we use that bases to understand our environment and create systems based on it.

Bradenqp@aol. com wrote:

Asar,

I agree entirely with what you've stated except for the issue of Asante's project.

It's my impression that Asante would not venture to create a cosmology because he would argue that one already exists. Asante is, after all, an Akan initiate. Although he has as yet not extensively formally addressed African cosmologies in his works, he has given lectures on Akan spirituality and African spirituality in general. It would seem to me that when one connects with the indigenous religions of Africa, it is better to have a long period of learning before one attempts to publish authoritatively on the subject. So it would seem to me that Asante would prefer that people who have been priests for longer periods than he should be writing authoritative cosmologies and text specifically on matters of this sort.

Ra un nefer Amen, for example, has done laudable work on Kemetic spirituality, but there are significant problems with his work that those who are immersed in African religions will point out. This is because it is only recently that he has engaged a specific African religion (Akan, as I understand it) to a deeper degree.

But as far as I know, it is actually the Temple University Afrocentric core who has made a point of being first hand practitioners of African religions. I believe Ama Mazama is a Vodoun priestess. Being initiated into Akan, Vodoun, Ifa and other African religions is pretty much common and (I would venture to suggest) expected in that group.

If others are more knowledgeable about these specifics please feel free to correct me. So Asar, could you expound on what you are suggesting? Is it your view that Asante should integrate existing cosmologies into his work or are you really suggesting, as you pointed out that he needs to Create (which by definition implies something new) a cosmology. I suppose I'm curious why he would create something that is already there and rather - one would argue - just needs deeper exploration and understanding before attempting to add new things to it.

Best,

Paul Braden

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Shed those extra pounds with MSN and The Biggest Loser! Learn more.

| 24890|2008-02-18 07:48:08|Asar Imhotep|Re: The Bantu in Ancient Egypt|

Ferg

Good work as always. Yeah, the Cameroon hypothesis doesn't make any sense and flies in the face of all of the Bantu speaking people's oral tradition which say they come from Ta-Meri, even the Zulus. Here is the prevalent theory

*OMLL (Eurocores, ESF) ? Language, Culture and Genes in Bantu:
a Multidisciplinary Approach of the Bantu-speaking populations of Africa*

Map 1. Bantu Expansion: Presumed expansion routes.

Zones retained for hypotheses testing.

Presumed major expansion routes, convergence zones, and secondary expansion zones. The Bantu homeland is situated in the Northwest (borderland Nigeria-Cameroon). From this place, the Bantu populations gradually moved across the rainforest to the East (one major movement) and to the South (other major movement). Some of eastern populations continued their southward spread. Convergence between eastern and western populations occurred at different times and places (cf. the Ambo population, R22 (Guthrie's classification). The different shades (colours) in the arrows have been used to differentiate major regional 'migration' movements. Map created with Bantu Map Maker (T. Schadeberg, Leiden University, The Netherlands.)

But this again doesn't match up with the oral tradition of the people of Zaire (Kongo). Here is an account that places them in the Sahara before the desertification period. [Here are the notes taken from my Bantu Cosmology & The Origins of Egyptian Civilization notes]:

=====

Babutidi in 'Bantu Migration and Settlement,' in Laman's Kongo Cultural Collection, (20,000 pp. microfilm, Lidingo, Sweden, 1914. Film No. 1, Cahier XVIII/13), goes on to state:

?A long time ago in antiquity, people did not exist in this Lower-Congo; they come from the north of the country. There also, in the north, people came from far off north, the very north of Kayinga. Kayinga is the name of the country [region] where lived our ancestors in antiquity?There they already knew how to weave the cloths they wore, forge hoes and knives that they used. The main reason for their coming in this country [area] was the famine that hit Kayinga. For many years the drought reigned; crops and fruit trees they planted dried up. They suffered a lot for this. Unable to support the suffering they said to each other: ?Let?s go to Banda-Mputu [Let?s pass through the dense forest, the unbreakable wall] and organize chieftaincies, because we have a lot of hunger up here.? So they agreed: ?Let?s go.?

In the past, two chieftaincies ruled this part of the world [region]. When people escaped from the north of Kayinga, they separated on their way; some crossed the Nzadi [Congo river], these are people who live in the Nsundi area [the left shore of Nzadi] and others are those who live on the Simu-Kongo [the right shore of the Nzadi].?

=====

Kayinga is the Kongo name for the Sahara. The accounts from their historians say they didn?t come from West Africa, but from the far north of the Sahara. I am not saying they didn?t live in West Africa, but that we cannot say ALL of the Bantu speaking people left to populate southern Africa from Cameroon.

Their account of famine agrees with the current data on the Naptan Pluvial period from 10,000 BCE to around 5,500 BCE. This is a period in North African history where what is now the Sahara (Arabic for desert), was plush land and was hospitable for large populations of people because of the consistent rains due to the collapse of the last ice age. After this period of immense rain, the rains stopped and the desert began forming around 5000 BCE due to the retreat of the African Monsoon southward. Dates by paleoclimatologists differ in their dates: usually between 5000-3000 BCE.

The problem is the current data on Bantu dispersion from Cameroon (as seen on the above maps) says they didn?t leave until around 5000 BP. For those who do not know, BP means ?Before the Present? time. Before the present time is before 1950 AD; so our date for leaving the Cameroon area is around -3000 BCE (5000 BP ? 1950 AD). This is 2000 years after the beginnings of the drying up of what is now the Sahara (5500 BCE).

***** [End Notes]

So it's nice to see other work that backs up even this account from 1914. It's kind of hard to make a claim against Bantu migrations out of the Nile Valley when one of their greatest Nsw Bity's was M(u)ntu Hotep III (Muntu being the Bantu singular for man/human being).

Keep em coming. I guarantee I have something to back it up.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24891|2008-02-18 07:54:05|norenxaq|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Peter Gray wrote:

Terry,

>Secondly, so what if Obama was born in Kenya and raised in Hawaii? >Maybe he does know some things you don't know.

>Peter

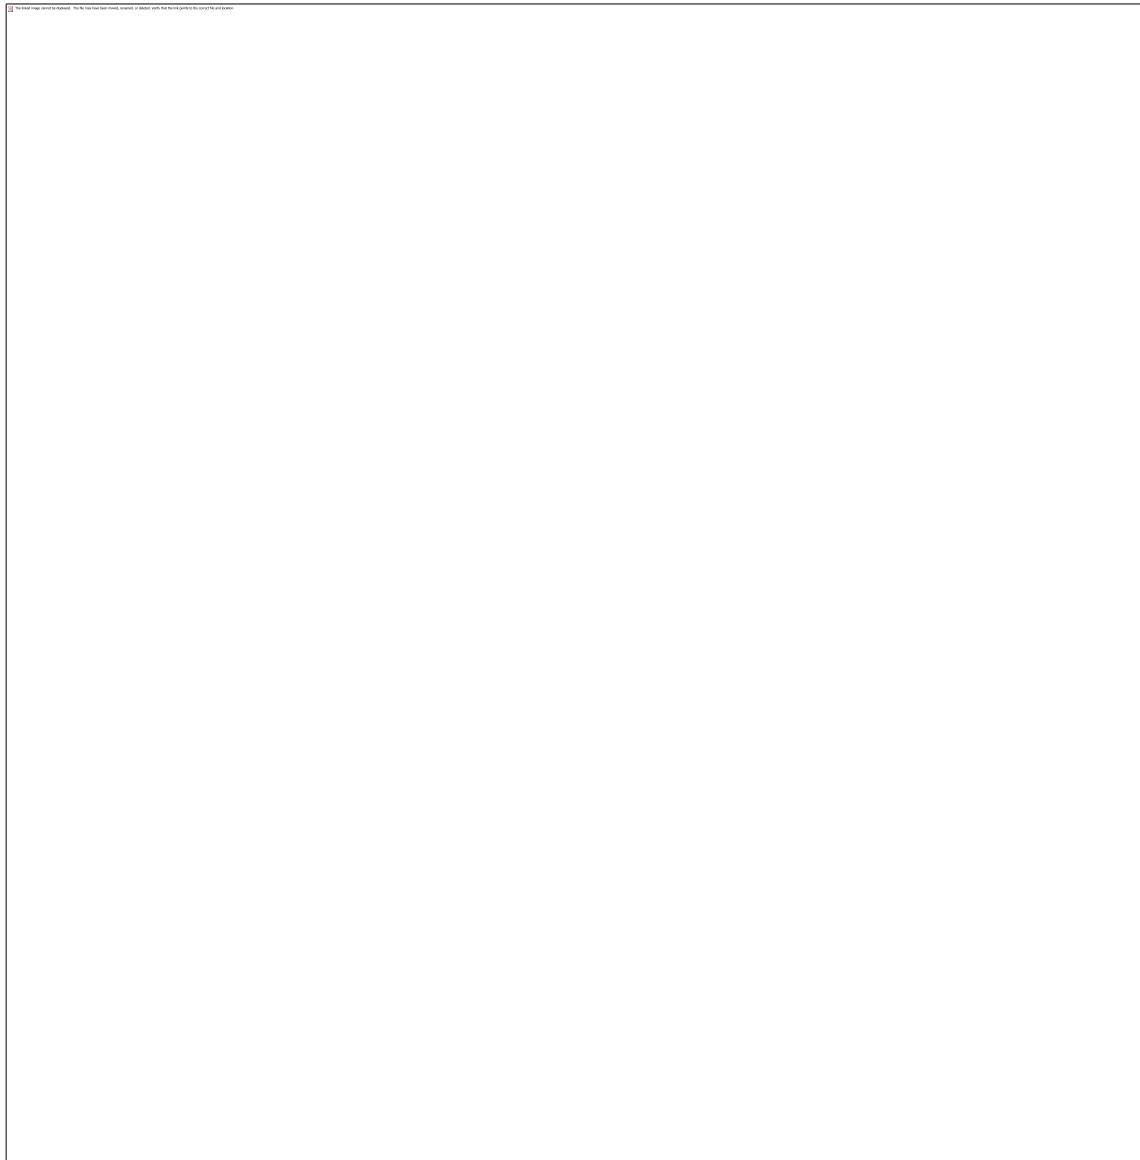

Obama was born in Hawaii. his father's family came from Kenya. if Obama was not born an American, it would be unconstitutional for him to run for president

| 24892|2008-02-18 08:01:04|Asar Imhotep|Re: The Bantu in Ancient Egypt [correct formatting]|
Sorry for the formatting errors in the previous reply. Here is the resend

*****

Ferg

Good work as always. Yeah, the Cameroon hypothesis doesn't make any sense and flies in the face of all of the Bantu speaking people's oral tradition which say they come from Ta-Meri, even the Zulus. Here is the prevalent theory

*OMLL (Eurocores, ESF) ? Language, Culture and Genes in Bantu:
a Multidisciplinary Approach of the Bantu-speaking populations of Africa*

Map 1. Bantu Expansion: Presumed expansion routes.

Zones retained for hypotheses testing.

Presumed major expansion routes, convergence zones, and secondary expansion zones. The Bantu homeland is situated in the Northwest (borderland Nigeria-Cameroon) . From this place, the Bantu populations gradually moved across the rainforest to the East (one major movement) and to the South (other major movement). Some of eastern populations continued their southward spread. Convergence between eastern and western populations occurred at different times and places (cf. the Ambo population, R22 (Guthrie's classification) . The different shades (colours) in the arrows have been used to differentiate major regional ?migration? movements. Map created with Bantu Map Maker (T. Schadeberg, Leiden University, The Netherlands.)

But this again doesn't match up with the oral tradition of the people of Zaire (Kongo). Here is an account that places them in the Sahara before the desertification period. [Here are the notes taken from my Bantu Cosmology & The Origins of Egyptian Civilization notes]:

+++++

Babutidi in ?Bantu Migration and Settlement,? in Laman?s Kongo Cultural Collection, (20,000 pp. microfilm, Lidingo, Sweden, 1914. Film No. 1, Cahier XVIII/13), goes on to state:

?A long time ago in antiquity, people did not exist in this Lower-Congo; they come from the north of the country. There also, in the north, people came from far off north, the very north of Kayinga. Kayinga is the name of the country [region] where lived our ancestors in antiquity?There they already knew how to weave the cloths they wore, forge hoes and knives that they used. The main reason for their coming in this country [area] was the famine that hit Kayinga. For many years the drought reigned; crops and fruit trees they planted dried up. They suffered a lot for this. Unable to support the suffering they said to each other: ?Let?s go to Banda-Mputu [Let?s pass through the dense forest, the unbreakable wall] and organize chieftaincies, because we have a lot of hunger up here.? So they agreed: ?Let?s go.?

In the past, two chieftaincies ruled this part of the world [region]. When people escaped from the north of Kayinga, they separated on their way; some crossed the Nzadi [Congo river], these are people who live in the Nsundi area [the left shore of Nzadi] and others are those who live on the Simu-Kongo [the right shore of the Nzadi].?

+++++

Kayinga is the Kongo name for the Sahara. The accounts from their historians say they didn?t come from West Africa, but from the far north of the Sahara. I am not saying they didn?t live in West Africa, but that we cannot say ALL of the Bantu speaking people left to populate southern Africa from Camerron. Their account of famine agrees with the current data on the Naptan Pluvial period from 10,000 BCE to around 5,500 BCE. This is a period in North African history where what is now the Sahara (Arabic for desert), was plush land and was hospitable for large populations of people because of the consistent rains due to the collapse of the last ice age. After this period of immense rain, the rains stopped and the desert began forming around 5000 BCE due to the retreat of the African Monsoon southward. Dates by paleoclimatologists differ in their dates: usually between 5000-3000 BCE.

The problem is the current data on Bantu dispersion from Cameroon (as seen on the above maps) says they didn?t leave until around 5000 BP. For those who do not know, BP means ?Before the Present? time. Before the present time is before 1950 AD; so our date for leaving the Cameroon area is around -3000 BCE (5000 BP ? 1950 AD). This is 2000 years after the beginnings of the drying up of what is now the Sahara (5500 BCE).

===== [end notes] =====

So it's nice to see other work that backs up even this account from 1914. It's kind of hard to make a claim against Bantu migrations out of the Nile Valley when one of their greatest Nsw Bity's was M(u)ntu Hotep III (Muntu being the Bantu singular for man/human being).

Keep em coming. I guarantee I have something to back it up.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24893|2008-02-18 08:20:13|Asar Imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

I didn't say it was going to be easy, but it definitely isn't impossible. I use Kwanzaa as an example because it takes the philosophy behind harvest celebrations from various locations across the continent, and amalgamated them with African-American culture & world view and created a celebration that all African-Americans can participate in.

The unity of a people comes with the acceptance of a national folklore. I'm not saying we need to create another religion (lord knows we don't need any more of them), but a story and theme that can unite and give us a reference for dialogue with moral and scientific teaching. This is what happened in The Matrix films. You can't go anywhere without someone referring to the universe as "The Matrix." It has become its own buzz word.

The same can be done using our own created "folklore." This method was used to unify Upper and Lower Ta-Meri. All they did was combine the various folklore and created a single pantheon that was inclusive of each nomes' ancestors.

This is why creating a great story including Harriet Tubman, Malcolm X, Marcus Garvey, John Henrick Clarke, Fannie Lou Hamer, Rosa Parks, Nat Turner, Frederick Douglas, Khalid Muhammad, etc. is so important. It won't happen in the world of academia. This is where the creative writer, with a rich sense of history and science, comes into the picture.

Peter Gray wrote:

Asar,

I don't think you can create a cosmology like you can create Kwanzaa. Cosmologies require a historical link rooted in surviving ritual(s), not simply the political will to better your community. Since most of these links and rituals have been shattered by the experience of slavery, it's difficult to reinvent the wheel, though probably not impossible.

Peter

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24894|2008-02-18 09:01:16|IMJs@webtv.net|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
Meninarmer,

Peter can obviously speak for himself, but how have you concluded that he was comparing Obama to anyone's "lord".... I've re-read what he wrote four times and I still haven't come away with that interpretation.

And if you don't know his plans and views on the issues it's not like somebody's hiding the info from you.

<http://www.barackobama.com/index.php>

<http://econ4obama.blogspot.com/>

IMJ

| 24895|2008-02-18 09:50:37|Tafari khumbaka|Fwd: [societyofthegeez] Re: Update| cool stuff
tafari

"Lawrence J. Rogers" wrote:

To: societyofthegeez@yahoogroups.com
From: "Lawrence J. Rogers"
Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 08:50:31 -0000 Subject: [societyofthegeez] Re: Update

Selam, Everybody,

I finally made a website for this language, the Ge'ez. It's free, but it's out there. Hopefully it'll be accessible by Google in a few weeks: Give it a few good hits.

<http://www.freewebs.com/ge6ez/index.htm>

Thanks for you support,
Lawrence

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24896|2008-02-18 09:50:49|Tafari khumbaka|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

ifa seems to me too be in kind with my faith(ausarian, sanatana, chan-tibetan) which is based in

reincarnation,,, yes we have our destiny and it is fatalistic as u put it(  funny term), but only here in this drama we call earth(time-space) so the one philosophically is determined by the whole no-one person has the advantage of making up his/her own determination here on earth only thing u can determine here on earth is wheter u live according to the high morale perogatives of the Ifa oracle(metu-neter, astrologicalhouse's etc.)or the low. but u are stuck in the boat(so too speak) of ya incarnation objective.

u say yourself the 1 makes the choice before the elders (shepu, orisha's) so there is choice only its in the neter-world , of course crass-materialist don't see(pun intended) before their birth or after it so all they have is this life, and that would definately make one's choices his/her own because you are playing off the cuff ; making it all up as ya go , one only has the here and now and as such his/her perogatives are faustian and there may be hope for inclusivness but no iron-clad reality to work off of

 tafari

asar_imhotep wrote:

--- In Ta_Seti@yahooogroups .com, Bradenqp@... wrote:

- >
- >
- > Asar, is it your opinion that the Ifa system is intrinsically fatalistic? It
- > seems to me that this is more a matter of present application and use of the
- > system by some priests than with any inherent limitations with it at the
- > level of theory.
- >
- > In other words, it seems to me this has more to do with the way priests
- > apply the system in traditional settings. I see nothing in the system that
- > prevents a more expansive view. In fact, it seems to me that view is implicit in
- > the system without having to make any modifications to it.
- >
- >
- > Paul Braden
- >

This is exactly why I am careful with Applying the broad term African now-a-days to certain world views. I understand fully that there is some inherent differences between houses or lineages and one of the major differences is the assumption of fate within the Ifa system. It's even inherent in one of the major "deities" Orunmila (witness of "fate"). As Dr Afolabi Epega (Ifa priest of Ode Remo) states in his work Ifa The Ancient Wisdom (2003: 39), "Every newly-born child is taken to Ifa priest in order to ascertain his or her fate and the kind of training suited to him or her."

I was taught by him that you choose (your spirit) when and where you would be born and the circumstances in which you would experience. This line of thought was also expressed to me by Dr. Malidoma Some of the Dagara tradition. The major conflict this poses for students of African philosophy is the nature of free-will.

Those who study ancient Ta-Merrian thought will notice that the AE didn't possess this philosophical doctrine. As Dr. Maulana Karenga notes in MAAT: The Moral Ideal in Ancient Egypt pg 247, that the grounds for free will is in divine endowment and is further supported by the Maatian concepts of: 1) malleability of human nature and 2) the absence of an overriding concept of fate.

This is also expressed by Dr. K. Bunseki Fu-Kiau in Self-Healing Power and Therapy chapter 8. The whole chapter is about the free-will of men and how one's life can be prolonged or shortened based on "Nsimi mu zingu" (wise and rational reasoning), or "Zomina zingu" (rush in life) respectively. This contrast greatly with the notion, as taught to me, in Ifa that "the only thing that can't be changed is when someone is born and when they die." But even with that, when one is "off path" that the Orishas will cause things to happen to make you get on path, just like the story of Jona and the whale in the Biblical myth. So regardless you are to play out this "path" and there is nothing you can do about it because you signed a "contract" in the spirit world before you arrived here.

The Matrix film hints on this dichotomy in Revolutions when the dialogue goes:

Neo:

I suppose the most obvious question is, how can I trust you?

The Oracle:

Bingo! It is a pickle, no doubt about it. The bad news is there's no way if you can really know whether I'm here to help you or not. So it's really up to you. You just have to make up your own damn mind to either accept what I'm going to tell you, or reject it. Candy?

Neo:

D'you already know if I'm going to take it?

The Oracle:

Wouldn't be much of an Oracle if I didn't.

Neo:

But if you already know, how can I make a choice?

The Oracle:

Because you didn't come here to make the choice, you've already made it. You're here to try to understand why you made it. I thought you'd have figured that out by now.

Since the cosmology is the very foundation in which ethnic groups make their decisions, these kinds of differences can make a big difference in how people interact with each other.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24897|2008-02-18 09:51:27|Ferg|Re: The Bantu in Ancient Egypt [correct formatting]|

Thanks Asar for the additional information, particularly the "Bantu Migration and Settlement" Nice to know that the word for the Sahara desert is Kayinga. I think the evidence is out now, especially by pinpointing the AE word BATU meaning Bantu to an area in the Sudan. Plus of course your work together with the work on Bantu and AE cognates exposed earlier on, all add up for a good case to suggest that the civilisation of AE consisted of a mixture of Bantu and Nilotic people, plus others of course. The Luo and Bantu people have always supported each other on their lengthy migrations and have lived together right from the earliest of times. The two groups are like a cup and its saucer!

Muntu-hutuapo is next on the list!

Somo

----- Original Message -----

From: Asar Imhotep

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Sent: Monday, February 18, 2008 4:01 PM

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] The Bantu in Ancient Egypt [correct formatting]

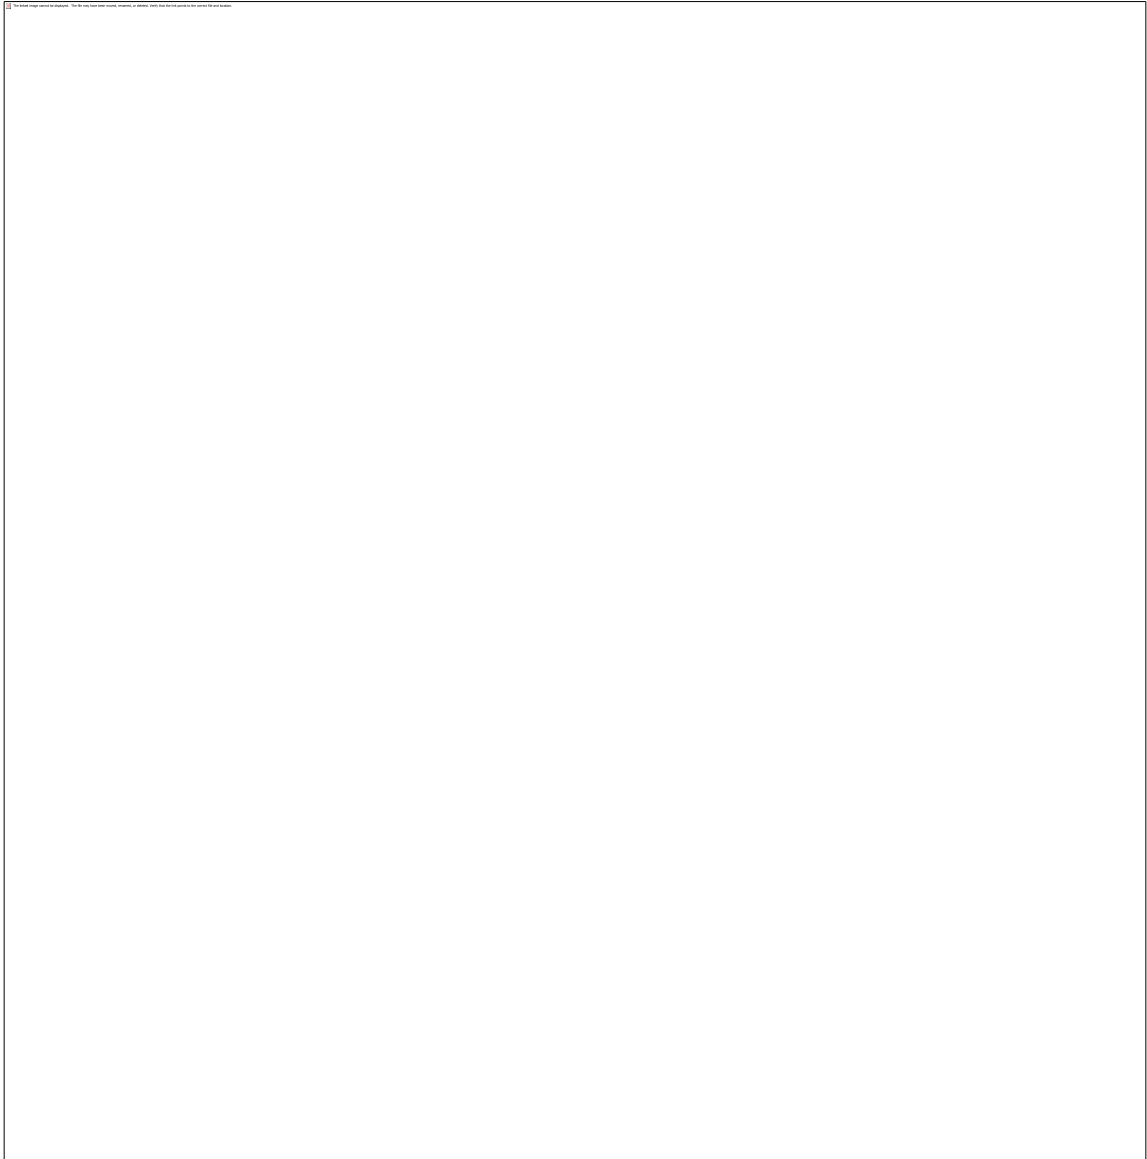

Sorry for the formatting errors in the previous reply. Here is the resend

*****

Ferg

Good work as always. Yeah, the Cameroon hypothesis doesn't make any sense and fly in the face of all of the Bantu speaking people's oral tradition which say they come from Ta-Meri, even the Zulus. Here is the prevalent theory

*OMLL (Eurocores, ESF) ? Language, Culture and Genes in Bantu:
a Multidisciplinary Approach of the Bantu-speaking populations of Africa*

Map 1. Bantu Expansion: Presumed expansion routes.

Zones retained for hypotheses testing.

Presumed major expansion routes, convergence zones, and secondary expansion zones. The Bantu homeland is situated in the Northwest (borderland Nigeria-Cameroon) . From this place, the Bantu populations gradually moved across the rainforest to the East (one major movement) and to the South (other major movement). Some of eastern populations continued their southward spread. Convergence between eastern and western populations occurred at different times and places (cf. the Ambo population, R22 (Guthrie's classification) . The different shades (colours) in the arrows have been used to differentiate major regional ?migration? movements. Map created with Bantu Map Maker (T. Schadeberg, Leiden University, The Netherlands.)

But this again doesn't match up with the oral tradition of the people of Zaire (Kongo). Here is an account that places them in the Sahara before the desertification period. [Here are the notes from my Bantu Cosmology & The Origins of Egyptian Civilization notes]:

+++++

Babutidi in "Bantu Migration and Settlement," in Laman's Kongo Cultural Collection, (20,000 pp. microfilm, Lidingo, Sweden, 1914. Film No. 1, Cahier XVIII/13), goes on to state:

"A long time ago in antiquity, people did not exist in this Lower-Congo; they come from the north of the country. There also, in the north, people came from far off north, the very north of Kayinga. Kayinga is the name of the country [region] where lived our ancestors in antiquity. There they already knew how to weave the cloths they wore, forge hoes and knives that they used. The main reason for their coming in this country [area] was the famine that hit Kayinga. For many years the drought reigned; crops and fruit trees they planted dried up. They suffered a lot for this. Unable to support the suffering they said to each other: "Let's go to Banda-Mputu [Let's pass through the dense forest, the unbreakable wall] and organize chieftaincies, because we have a lot of hunger up here." So they agreed: "Let's go."

In the past, two chieftaincies ruled this part of the world [region]. When people escaped from the north of Kayinga, they separated on their way; some crossed the Nzadi [Congo river], these are people who live in the Nsundi area [the left shore of Nzadi] and others are those who live on the Simu-Kongo [the right shore of the Nzadi]."

+++++

Kayinga is the Kongo name for the Sahara. The accounts from their historians say they didn't come from West Africa, but from the far north of the Sahara. I am not saying they didn't live in West Africa, but that we cannot say ALL of the Bantu speaking people left to populate southern Africa from Camerron.

Their account of famine agrees with the current data on the Naptan Pluvial period from 10,000 BCE to around 5,500 BCE. This is a period in North African history where what is now the Sahara (Arabic for desert), was plush land and was hospitable for large populations of people because of the consistent rains due to the collapse of the last ice age. After this period of immense rain, the rains stopped and the desert began forming around 5000 BCE due to the retreat of the African Monsoon southward. Dates by paleoclimatologists differ in their dates: usually between 5000-3000 BCE.

The problem is the current data on Bantu dispersion from Cameroon (as seen on the above maps) says they didn't leave until around 5000 BP. For those who do not know, BP means "Before the Present" time. Before the present time is before 1950 AD; so our date for leaving the Cameroon area is around -3000 BCE (5000 BP - 1950 AD). This is 2000 years after the beginnings of the drying up of what is now the Sahara (5500 BCE).

===== [end notes] =====

So it's nice to see other work that backs up even this account from 1914. It's kind of hard to make a claim against Bantu migrations out of the Nile Valley when one of their greatest Nsw Bity's was M(u)ntu Hotep III (Muntu being the Bantu singular for man/human being).

Keep em coming. I guarantee I have something to back it up.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24898|2008-02-18 09:58:13|Asar Imhotep|Re: The Bantu in Ancient Egypt [correct formatting]|
Thank you. Here is some more information that might interest you. Although this "technically" isn't Bantu, at least by oral tradition, it backs up what you said.

Here is an excerpt from the Ghanaian writer and scholar Ayi Kwei Armah speaking about his research in the oral traditions of the people of Ghana (whose language family is part of the Niger-Congo phylum in which Bantu is under).

The Eloquence of the Scribes

http://www.africasia.co.uk/newafrican/na.php?ID=863&back\_month=56

"Now I had grown to adulthood. Inside our larger history I was undertaking life journeys of my own, and though I had imagined other paths, I was moving into the future as a writer. The more I learned about our history, the clearer it seemed to me that if I wanted to write, I would have to study it more seriously, since all available evidence indicated that the narrative of our social history was at the centre of the art of our poets, storytellers and spokespersons. I followed the trail of evidence backward in time. It led me to the oral traditions. The oral traditions took me back to traditions of migration. Those traditions, beginning with acknowledgments of places reached by groups traveling under pressures too extreme to adapt to, referred to an earlier place of departure. Sometimes the reference was simply to the Great River or the Great Water. More frequently, the traditions of migration mentioned Misri, Msiri, or Luti. Those are just other names for the area now known as Egypt, though in ancient times it went by other, indigenous names: Ta Meri, Beloved Land, Tawi, Two Lands, and, more often, Kemet, the Black Nation."

Ferg wrote:

Thanks Asar for the additional information, particularly the "Bantu Migration and Settlement" Nice to know that the word for the Sahara desert is Kayinga. I think the evidence is out now, especially by pinpointing the AE word BATU meaning Bantu to an area in the Sudan. Plus of course your work together with the work on Bantu and AE cognates exposed earlier on, all add up for a good case to suggest that the civilisation of AE consisted of a mixture of Bantu and Nilotic people, plus others of course. The Luo and Bantu people have always supported each other on their lengthy migrations and have lived together right from the earliest of times. The two groups are like a cup and its saucer!

Muntu-hutuapo is next on the list!

Somo

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.
| 24899|2008-02-18 10:14:16|kungfuhustle|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
IMJ

Thanks for your response, but as I stated, I have no interest in "predicting" what Obama's plan's are based on the mealy-mouthed wording from a political book or website.

I'd much prefer to hear the man's plans from his own lips as other African Americans have done such as, Al Sharpton, Jesse Jackson, and even Alan Keyes who were forthright in their views on required change, and how they planned to go about implementing it.

The response is, to give himself the best chance to win, unlike past African American candidates, Obama will simply ignore black issues, as well as downplay and set-aside, his own blackness.

As a result, we get Reagan style mealy-mouthed messaging such as,

I believe that Americas free market has been the engine of Americas great progress. Its created a prosperity that is the envy of the world. Its led to a standard of living unmatched in history. And it has provided great rewards to the innovators and risk-takers who have made America a beacon for science, and technology, and discoveryWe are all in this together. From CEOs to shareholders, from financiers to factory workers, we all have a stake in each others success because the more Americans prosper, the more America prospers.

Barack Obama, New York, NY, September 17, 2007

OK, I agree with some of this, but uhh, where's the plan, and more importantly, where do blacks fit into all of this extremely profitable and good free enterprise? Obama's presentation's are filled with this "safe" and unbinding politician speak. He is no doubt, a career politician in every sense. In the end, the result will be determined mainly by the fact that white men dislike the idea of a white women as president over electing a bi-racial male candidate that resembles the mythical ancient human they point to as the founders of Africa, the Ethiopian "black" skinned white man.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: IMJs@webtv.net

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 12:01:08 -0500

Meninarmer,

Peter can obviously speak for himself, but how have you concluded that he was comparing Obama to anyone's "lord".... I've re-read what he wrote four times and I still haven't come away with that interpretation.

And if you don't know his plans and views on the issues it's not like somebody's hiding the info from you.

<http://www.barackobama.com/index.php>

<http://econ4obama.blogspot.com/>

IMJ

| 24900|2008-02-18 10:22:10|MR|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Hey Asar, just one question I've always wondered about. Why is there necessarily a problem between predestiny and free will when the spirit world is outside of time and space and, therefore, not beholden to its rules? If time is seen 'within' a bubble of material incarnation, then past, present and future are simultaneously visible. Hence, no contradiction. ~Rah

On Feb 18, 2008 10:52 AM, Tafari khumbaka <tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com> wrote:

ifa seems to me too be in kind with my faith(ausarian, sanatana, chan-tibetan) which is based in

reincarnation,, yes we have our destiny and it is fatalistic as u put it(  funny term), but only here in this drama we call earth(time-space) so the one philosophically is determined by the whole no-one person has the advantage of making up his/her own determination here on earth only thing u can determine here on earth is wheter u live according to the high morale prerogatives of the Ifa oracle(metu-neter, astrologicalhouse's etc.)or the low. but u are stuck in the boat(so too speak) of ya incarnation objective.

u say yourself the 1 makes the choice before the elders (shepu, orisha's) so there is choice only its in the neter-world , of course crass-materialist don't see(pun intended) before their birth or after it so all they have is this life, and that would definately make one's choices his/her own because you are playing off the cuff ; making it all up as ya go , one only has the here and now and as such his/her prerogatives are Faustian and there may be hope for inclusiveness but no iron-clad reality to work off of

tafari

asar_imhotep <asar\_imhotep@yahoo.com> wrote:

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoo.com, Bradenqp@... wrote:

- >
- >
- > Asar, is it your opinion that the Ifa system is intrinsically fatalistic? It
- > seems to me that this is more a matter of present application and use of the
- > system by some priests than with any inherent limitations with it at the
- > level of theory.
- >
- > In other words, it seems to me this has more to do with the way priests
- > apply the system in traditional settings. I see nothing in the system that
- > prevents a more expansive view. In fact, it seems to me that view is implicit in
- > the system without having to make any modifications to it.
- >
- >
- > Paul Braden
- >

This is exactly why I am careful with Applying the broad term African now-a-days to certain world views. I understand fully that there is some inherent differences between houses or lineages and one of the major differences is the assumption of fate within the Ifa system. It's even inherent in one of the major "deities" Orunmila (witness of "fate"). As Dr Afolabi Epega (Ifa priest of Ode Remo) states in his work Ifa The Ancient Wisdom (2003: 39), "Every newly-born child is taken to Ifa priest in order to ascertain his or her fate and the kind of training suited to him or her."

I was taught by him that you choose (your spirit) when and where you would be born and the circumstances in which you would experience. This line of thought was also expressed to me by Dr. Malidoma Some of the Dagara tradition. The major conflict this poses for students of African philosophy is the nature of free-will.

Those who study ancient Ta-Merri thought will notice that the AE didn't possess this philosophical doctrine. As Dr. Maulana Karenga notes in MAAT: The Moral Ideal in Ancient Egypt pg 247, that the grounds for free will is in divine endowment and is further supported by the Maatian concepts of: 1) malleability of human nature and 2) the absence of an overriding concept of fate.

This is also expressed by Dr. K. Bunseki Fu-Kiau in Self-Healing Power and Therapy chapter 8. The whole chapter is about the free-will of men and how one's life can be prolonged or shortened based on "Nsimi mu zingu" (wise and rational reasoning), or "Zomina zingu" (rush in life) respectively. This contrast greatly with the notion, as taught to me, in Ifa that "the only thing that can't be changed is when someone is born and when they die." But even with that, when one is "off path" that the Orishas will cause things to happen to make you get on path, just like the story of Jona and the whale in the Biblical myth. So regardless you are to play out this "path" and there is nothing you can do about it because you signed a "contract" in the spirit world before you arrived here.

The Matrix film hints on this dichotomy in Revolutions when the dialogue goes:

Neo:

I suppose the most obvious question is, how can I trust you?

The Oracle:

Bingo! It is a pickle, no doubt about it. The bad news is there's no way if you can really know whether I'm here to help you or not. So it's really up to you. You just have to make up your own damn mind to either accept what I'm going to tell you, or reject it. Candy?

Neo:

D'you already know if I'm going to take it?

The Oracle:

Wouldn't be much of an Oracle if I didn't.

Neo:

But if you already know, how can I make a choice?

The Oracle:

Because you didn't come here to make the choice, you've already made it. You're here to try to understand why you made it. I thought you'd have figured that out by now.

Since the cosmology is the very foundation in which ethnic groups make their decisions, these kinds of differences can make a big difference in how people interact with each other.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Thanks for the dose of common sense, IMJ. The simple point I was making was that some people are just professional obstacle makers who consistently find one or another objection to (in this case) Barack Obama.

Peter

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: IMJs@webtv.net
Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 12:01:08 -0500
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Peter can obviously speak for himself, but how have you concluded that he was comparing Obama to anyone's "lord".... I've re-read what he wrote four times and I still haven't come away with that interpretation.

<http://econ4obama.blogspot.com/>

IMJ

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

| 24902|2008-02-18 10:54:27|kungfuhustle|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|
Peter

You visit the site;

<http://www.barackobama.com/index.php>

and pull out any specifics to any plan that affects black Americans. You cannot, because, there are none.

Rather than seeing real common sense, you choose to see facts as obstacles.

Obviously, you and I have telling differences in our expectations of the next US president.

I stand by what I know as fact, Obama has not addressed and African American specific issues, nor has he yet presented any specific proposed actions to address these African American specific issues.

As the above blog indicates, there is nothing there except PR and marketing type drivel with not one AA issue examined.

If a man can't say what's on his mind while campaigning, he damn sure won't somehow "find" the courage to be proactive after elected.

In the meantime, black birthrates continue to decline.

AIDS in black males and females continues to rise.

Black imprisonment continues to rise, now privatized and corporate owned, and an intimate part of the free enterprise model Obama praises in his 2007 speech.

Black male school drop out rate rises above 50%.

Black unemployment rise.

Obama, the "black" candidate, has nothing to say about any of the above, but is perfectly free to tell the Israeli's how he understands how they have been hurt and misunderstood in the middle-east, and how when elected, Israel will continue to have his full support. This of course translates to 100s of billions of dollars to Israel. Yet, this "black" candidate can't promise US blacks even $10 million dollars for training black youth, or any other "crumb" to show his support.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 13:26:21 -0500

Thanks for the dose of common sense, IMJ. The simple point I was making was that some people are just professional obstacle makers who consistently find one or another objection to (in this case) Barack Obama.

I can't see a comparison to any lord either.

Peter

---

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: IMJs@webtv.net
Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 12:01:08 -0500
Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Meninarmer,

Peter can obviously speak for himself, but how have you concluded that he was comparing Obama to anyone's "lord".... I've re-read what he wrote four times and I still haven't come away with that interpretation.

And if you don't know his plans and views on the issues it's not like somebody's hiding the info from you.

<http://www.barackobama.com/index.php>

<http://econ4obama.blogspot.com/>

IMJ

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

| 24903|2008-02-18 10:59:27|Asar Imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

Hello MR

The question is problematic, using your example, because you would have to answer for yourself how could there be predestination in a realm with no time? How could there have been a choice made prior to our existence as we know it, if to make a choice, you would have to do it in a realm of time? There would have to be you before the choice is made and you making the choice. One precedes the other, thus a time lapse.

So now the issue becomes purpose. Does life have inherent meaning? If so, is it given to us, or do we develop meaning for ourselves. And also, there is the problem of justice. For if I chose to come to this life and be a mass murderer, or I was "given that assignment" from someone higher up, am I in this life really responsible for my actions? I am just following protocol. These are the fundamental questions you must ask.

I don't claim to have the answer to this. I only point out these examples to show just how the very crux of a given culture's cosmology sometimes can not be compatible with others. So the system of Ifa, at its core, cannot be compatible with that of the Kongo system in Zaire. This is because they have two different reasons for us humans being here. And all of the rituals, laws, taboos, etc. would be set-up based on that premise.

There are some African nations that don't create ancestor shrines. They don't feel it necessary. Whereas there are others where that is the basis of all rituals. This is why you can't always blanket African philosophies in one lump sum because the core cosmologies may conflict. So you have to study a wide variety of cosmologies to see where they differ. For instance, the Bantu people in Rwanda say their God is a Smith, not a potter (like Knum in the Egyptian cosmology). So they have a fundamental difference in explaining the process of human creation. But at the core, they are speaking about "God" creating man from the elements of the earth (the potter from dust, and the smith from metals). And both from a heating process. The basic premise is the same, although using different elements and occupations.

MR wrote:

Hey Asar, just one question I've always wondered about. Why is there necessarily a problem between predestiny and free will when the spirit world is outside of time and space and, therefore, not beholden to its rules? If time is seen 'within' a bubble of material incarnation, then past, present and future are simultaneously visible. Hence, no contradiction. ~Rah

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24904|2008-02-18 11:14:11|Tafari khumbaka|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

ancient egypt was a society based on oracle's and astrology just like the dogon and yoruba, they (dogon and yoruba) can be considered a continuation of the traditional values of old khamy; . alot of people want ancient egypt to be more crass-scientific especially in academic circles but it was a traditional african society where they used oracle's and believed in reincarnation,,,,, the whole view of AE as aempiracle scientific society is really a view of AE thru the eyes of aristotle's grecian egypt

MR wrote:

Hey Asar, just one question I've always wondered about. Why is there necessarily a problem between predestiny and free will when the spirit world is outside of time and space and, therefore, not beholden to its rules? If time is seen 'within' a bubble of material incarnation, then past, present and future are simultaneously visible. Hence, no contradiction. ~Rah

On Feb 18, 2008 10:52 AM, Tafari khumbaka <tafari\_sudra@yahoo.com> wrote:

ifa seems to me too be in kind with my faith(ausarian, sanatana, chan-tibetan) which is based in reincarnation, ,, yes we have our destiny and it is fatalistic as u put it(  funny term), but only here in this drama we call earth(time-space) so the one philosophically is determined by the whole no-one person has the advantage of making up his/her own determination here on earth only thing u can determine here on earth is wheter u live according to the high morale perogatives of the Ifa oracle(metu- neter, astrologicalhouse's etc.)or the low. but u are stuck in the boat(so too speak) of ya incarnation objective.

u say yourself the 1 makes the choice before the elders (shepu, orisha's) so there is choice only its in the neter-world , of course crass-materialist don't see(pun intended) before their birth or after it so all they have is this life, and that would definately make one's choices his/her own because you are playing off the cuff ; making it all up as ya go , one only has the here and now and as such his/her perogatives are faustian and there may be hope for inclusivness but no iron-clad reality to work off of

tafari

asar_imhotep <asar\_imhotep@yahoo.com> wrote:

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Bradenqp@... wrote:

>

>

> Asar, is it your opinion that the Ifa system is intrinsically fatalistic? It > seems to me that this is more a matter of present application and use of the > system by some priests than with any inherent limitations with it at the > level of theory.

>

> In other words, it seems to me this has more to do with the way priests

> apply the system in traditional settings. I see nothing in the system that > prevents a more expansive view. In fact, it seems to me that view is implicit in > the system without having to make any modifications to it.

>

>

> Paul Braden

>

This is exactly why I am careful with Applying the broad term African now-a-days to certain world views. I understand fully that there is some inherent differences between houses or lineages and one of the major differences is the assumption of fate within the Ifa system. It's even inherent in one of the major "deities" Orunmila (witness of "fate"). As Dr Afolabi Epega (Ifa priest of Ode Remo) states in his work Ifa The Ancient Wisdom (2003: 39), "Every newly-born child is taken to Ifa priest in order to ascertain his or her fate and the kind of training suited to him or her."

I was taught by him that you choose (your spirit) when and where you would be born and the circumstances in which you would experience. This line of thought was also expressed to me by Dr. Malidoma Some of the Dagbara tradition. The major conflict this poses for students of African philosophy is the nature of free-will.

Those who study ancient Ta-Merrian thought will notice that the AE didn't possess this philosophical doctrine. As Dr. Maualna Karenga notes in MAAT: The Moral Ideal in Ancient Egypt pg 247, that the grounds for free will is in divine endowment and is further supported by the Maatian concepts of: 1) malleability of human nature and 2) the absence of an overriding concept of fate.

This is also expressed by Dr. K. Bunseki Fu-Kiau in Self-Healing Power and Therapy chapter 8. The whole chapter is about the free-will of men and how one's life can be prolonged or shortened based on "Nsimi mu zingu" (wise and rational reasoning), or "Zomina zingu" (rush in life) respectively. This contrast greatly with the notion, as taught to me, in Ifa that "the only thing that can't be changed is when someone is born and when they die." But even with that, when one is "off path" that the Orishas will cause things to happen to make you get on path, just like the story of Jona and the whale in the Biblical myth. So regardless you are to play out this "path" and there is nothing you can do about it because you signed a "contract" in the spirit world before you arrived here.

The Matrix film hints on this dichotomy in Revolutions when the dialogue goes:

Neo:

I suppose the most obvious question is, how can I trust you?

The Oracle:

Bingo! It is a pickle, no doubt about it. The bad news is there's no way if you can really know whether I'm here to help you or not. So it's really up to you. You just have to make up your own damn mind to either accept what I'm going to tell you, or reject it. Candy?

Neo:

D'you already know if I'm going to take it?

The Oracle:

Wouldn't be much of an Oracle if I didn't.

Neo:

But if you already know, how can I make a choice?

The Oracle:

Because you didn't come here to make the choice, you've already made it. You're here to try to understand why you made it. I thought you'd have figured that out by now.

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

— —

"The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists." - J. Edgar Hoover

🐣🐣🐣🐣🐣🐣🐣

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Asar Imhotep wrote:

Here is an excerpt from the Ghanaian writer and scholar Ayi Kwei Armah speaking about his research in the oral traditions of the people of Ghana (whose language family is part of the Niger-Congo phylum in which Bantu is under).

The Eloquence of the Scribes

http://www.africasia.co.uk/newafrican/na.php?ID=863&back\_month=56

"Now I had grown to adulthood. Inside our larger history I was undertaking life journeys of my own, and though I had imagined other paths, I was moving into the future as a writer. The more I learned about our history, the clearer it seemed to me that if I wanted to write, I would have to study it more seriously, since all available evidence indicated that the narrative of our social history was at the centre of the art of our poets, storytellers and spokespersons. I followed the trail of evidence backward in time. It led me to the oral traditions. The oral traditions took me back to traditions of migration. Those traditions, beginning with acknowledgments of places reached by groups traveling under pressures too extreme to adapt to, referred to an earlier place of departure. Sometimes the reference was simply to the Great River or the Great Water. More frequently, the traditions of migration mentioned Misri, Msiri, or Luti. Those are just other names for the area now known as Egypt, though in ancient times it went by other, indigenous names: Ta Meri, Beloved Land, Tawi, Two Lands, and, more often, Kemet, the Black Nation."

Ferg wrote:

Thanks Asar for the additional information, particularly the "Bantu Migration and Settlement" Nice to know that the word for the Sahara desert is Kayinga. I think the evidence is out now, especially by pinpointing the AE word BATU meaning Bantu to an area in the Sudan. Plus of course your work together with the work on Bantu and AE cognates exposed earlier on, all add up for a good case to suggest that the civilisation of AE consisted of a mixture of Bantu and Nilotic people, plus others of course. The Luo and Bantu people have always supported each other on their lengthy migrations and have lived together right from the earliest of times. The two groups are like a cup and its saucer!

Muntu-hutuapo is next on the list!

Somo

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

| 24906|2008-02-18 11:48:33|Mahari Mengistu|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

Quite honestly, I agree with all the points you have put forward. And my response is that life in these United States is extremely complicated as a black man. This is not offered as an excuse. It is just a fact. I, too, would LOVE for him to address all the issues that face black folks that you have insightfully listed.

But the fact is - and I think we need to face it and select a different tactic- a black man would NEVER get elected President of the US if he addressed those issues you mentioned in his "stump" speeches as a mainstay of his presidency. Most of here know that white racism has "morphed" into a more expressively subtle form but it is still racist. To accomplish some things we have to be more devious. "They" would call it "smart". In some instances it may be smart but it is always devious. We as black people tend to avoid those tactics because we think of them as sneaky and immoral. Consequently, we want a black candidate to stand up and speak bluntly about our suffering and injustices. That presumes that there is substantial morality on the other side that would elicit a beneficial effect. At this time in American history I don't believe a black presidential candidate would EVER get elected speaking in such a manner. I am not in favor of cutting your nose off to spite your face. Incremental steps - as long as they are moving forward - sometimes is acceptable -- to me.

However, I definitely respect your stance.

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" wrote:

>

>

>

> I've never voted for a White person for President. I voted for the > lesser of two evils, which is far different than voting for someone > wanted to vote for. We all know none of them have done a damn thing for > us.

I

>

> If Barack is nominated, I will obviously vote for him.

>

> But, I refuse to openly support someone who is a Black candidate who I > question re: his intent to do "sh-t" for us just the same as White folk.

>

> Your suggestion that I wouldn't want to give the benefit of the doubt to > a Black man? Now, there is where you're speaking out of the left

and > the right side of your neck simultaneously. You don't know me,

you

> certainly don't know my love and concern for Black men and it is > downright silly to make such claims whenever a Sister thinks before she > acts in relation to her socio political position.

>

> The ironic thing is that you are arguing for the election of a Black man

> who hasn't integrated Black men in one single public policy idea.

Not

> one.

>

> You don't give benefits of doubt regarding a Black man who is running > for President. If he were a woman, I wouldn't give HER the benefit

of > the doubt. I don't give the benefit of the doubt to Black men who wage > colorless campaigns.

>

> I do give the benefit of the doubt to Black men who stand up and > communicate a position on some of the barriers and concerns the masses > of Black people face. I reject Black men in the public arena who send > messages that a Black man can be successful if he only keeps his mouth

> shut about his people who are SUFFERING in the streets.

>

> I'm sick of seeing this high percentage of Black men eating out of > garbage cans. I want to see more of them have a place they can call > home.

>

> I'm sick of seeing Black men being released from 17, 18 years of > incarceration to a society that won't hire them, won't provide them > adequate resources to get back on their feet.

>

> I have clients - all Black men who are brilliant people who need a

> President of the U.S. who understands their dilemma. George

Jackson was > killed in prison after being committed to 1 year to LIFE in prison

for > stealing 70 dollars.

>

> I have clients who have served equally astronomical sentences for > bullsh-it!
>
> I'm tired of seeing Black candidates get elected and who serve the top > 40 - Black folk who are successful and privileged.
>
>
> I won't take no for an answer from a Black candidate anymore. I EXPECT
> nothing from a White candidate. But, I will not be reduced to > expecting silence from a "Black man" while this community is falling > apart at the seams.
>
> With that, I urge people to hold their support as an act of protest. I > protest Barack Obama's silence. I don't want to hear speeches from > Obama. In fact, some folk have the nerve to compare him to Dr.
King. I > don't want a candidate who encourages the troops like Dr. King did,
but > who doesn't have a drop of the bravery he had to advocate for his > people.
>
> Had Dr. King ran for public office, he would have stated his case
about > specific issues of the day like a Black man - and he certainly wouldn't > send anybody to martinlutherking.com to know what he meant.
>
>
>
> Thanks,
>
> Terry
>
>
>
> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:
> >
> > Based on that argument I would assume that you have NEVER voted for a > > white President either. The simple truth is that with the exception > > of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none of them have done
> > sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".

> > Give me a break! You just don't want to be generous -give the > > benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need to examine your self.
> > HTP,
> > Mahari
> >
> > --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:
> > >
> > > Well, you've all said a mouthful.
> > >
> > >
> > > I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at
groups.
> > > I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all
> > may > > > seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.
> > >
> > > Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific
> > about > > > his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a > > > public official, and understanding the importance of effectively > > > communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've > > > never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I
have > > > expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black
> > > President.
> > >
> > > I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but > > > that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been > > waged
> > > against Black people in this country at least as well as he can > > > articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support > > him.
> > >
> > > I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride
in
> > being > > > consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com > > > <<http://terryhowcott.com>> , and then support someone who chants

> > about
> > > hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s > > autobiography?
> > > (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the > > manner
> > > Obama would like.
> > >
> > > If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who
he's > > > paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if
> > he's > > > not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then > > I'm not
> > > with him.
> > >
> > > It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening
> > with > > > points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys.
> > >
> > > On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the > > > concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the > > behavior we > > > see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter
> > how
> > > a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.
> > >
> > > Thanks now, and good morning -
> > >
> > > Terry
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > What a load of crap!!
> > > >
> > > > The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so
that

> > they > > > can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill
> > Clinton
> > > brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint
> > Obama
> > > with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.
> > > >
> > > > Regards,
> > > >
> > > > Peter
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > To: Ta_Seti@: arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29
+0000Subject:
> > > [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a > > Republican
> > > back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic > > > Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for > > him due > > > to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that
> > he > > > is black.--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@
> > wrote:> > >
> > > Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past > > > Hillary's delegate count.> > Peter> > > To: Ta_Seti@:
emeagwali@:
> > Tue,
> > > 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd:
Obama's
> > Unseen
> > > Hands...> > Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a > > > chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological > > > dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of
the > > > present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, > > novelist,>

>>> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.'
>> Go
>>> hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that >> he is
>>> not hijacked by the rightwing.>>> Gloria Emeagwali > >>> www.africahistory.net>>>>>> From:
Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com on >>> behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo:
>> Ta_Seti@:
>>> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...>>
>>> <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>

---

>>>> Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge
>> with >>> star power.
>>>>
>>> http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx? >> icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_j\ >>> an
>>>>
>>>
>>
>

| 24907|2008-02-18 11:59:09|Peter Gray|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...|

I too would like to hear more specifics from Obama, particularly regarding America's relationship with the African continent, about Iraq, the war in Afghanistan, etc. And you're right, the web site offers little. Furthermore, on the domestic front, I am one who believes that no president can alter the self-hate paradigm in black people. On the contrary, a change of such magnitude comes from within, when a society itself comes to recognize the non-productivity of its ways. Of course, leaders like many who have already been cited (MLK, Malcolm, etc.) can and do catalyze the process. In other words, the problems associated with inner city/urban conflict (i.e., black people), will only be resolved when black people such as (I dare say it) Bill Cosby have the guts to start talking the truth to each other instead of wandering in search of some mythical deliverer, as painful as the remedy may sound.

So we both have our opinions, Menina Armer.

Peter

---

To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com
From: shalomic@nc.rr.com
Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 13:54:25 -0500
Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Peter

You visit the site;
<http://www.barackobama.com/index.php>

and pull out any specifics to any plan that affects black Americans. You cannot, because, there are none.

Rather than seeing real common sense, you choose to see facts as obstacles.

Obviously, you and I have telling differences in our expectations of the next US president.

I stand by what I know as fact, Obama has not addressed and African American specific issues, nor has he yet presented any specific proposed actions to address these African American specific issues.

As the above blog indicates, there is nothing there except PR and marketing type drivel with not one AA issue examined.

If a man can't say what's on his mind while campaigning, he damn sure won't somehow "find" the courage to be proactive after elected.

In the meantime, black birthrates continue to decline.

AIDS in black males and females continues to rise.

Black imprisonment continues to rise, now privatized and corporate owned, and an intimate part of the free enterprise model Obama praises in his 2007 speech.

Black male school drop out rate rises above 50%.

Black unemployment rise.

Obama, the "black" candidate, has nothing to say about any of the above, but is perfectly free to tell the Israeli's how he understands how they have been hurt and misunderstood in the middle-east, and how when elected, Israel will continue to have his full support. This of course translates to 100s of billions of dollars to Israel. Yet, this "black" candidate can't promise US blacks even $10 million dollars for training black youth, or any other "crumb" to show his support.

Meninarmer

-----Original Message-----

From: Peter Gray <atenergy@hotmail.com>

Reply-To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

To: ta\_seti@yahoogroups.com

Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 13:26:21 -0500

Thanks for the dose of common sense, IMJ. The simple point I was making was that some people are just professional obstacle makers who consistently find one or another objection to (in this case) Barack Obama.

I can't see a comparison to any lord either.

Peter

---

To: Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com

From: IMJs@webtv.net

Date: Mon, 18 Feb 2008 12:01:08 -0500

Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...

Meninarmer,

Peter can obviously speak for himself, but how have you concluded that he was comparing Obama to anyone's "lord".... I've re-read what he wrote four times and I still haven't come away with that interpretation.

And if you don't know his plans and views on the issues it's not like somebody's hiding the info from you.

<http://www.barackobama.com/index.php>

<http://econ4obama.blogspot.com/>

IMJ

---

Connect and share in new ways with Windows Live. Get it now!

---

Shed those extra pounds with MSN and The Biggest Loser! Learn more.

| 24908|2008-02-18 11:59:14|Tafari khumbaka|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

no claims to certain places that are with out time,, although the realm of amen would be such a place, here is the foundation of the bodhisattva tradition and the clear light , but there are realms in the cosmogonie where(lol) time-space is less important of course itis here where we are talking aboutbecause 1 can stand there ,and its not a place like nun's(amen atem) realm ..... (a water world in myth denoting absence of time-space)

in those places where lesser master's gather , places of transmigration such details are worked out ,, yes life has purpose if it was purposeless it would not exist..... if a rock is here its purpose is to be here,( question are there high purpose's that align with basic human idea's of a purposful life) the ancients have determine in their way of life of oracle's and astrology that life has a purpose and the teachings of reincarnation give the rapist mass murderer the hope of reintegration with the ONE, that person is acting as he/she should and will advance eventually to a shep-u - boddhisattva-christ -orisha

a God of one-ness that becomes 2 -4 -6 etc. must , be a god of all that is good and evil until the many become 1 and the 1 no-things

hence the big bang and the big crunch or slow melt the big bang and the elegant universe make the same exact points too be found in traditional systems of reincarnation and oracular divination ,that 1 thing became many and reality preceeds time-space

maat has her foundation in creation book of knowing the manifestations of ra metu-neter pg 51

ra un-nefer amen

their is in the end one great choice 1 GOD that diverges into many things many gods and u and me,,,

Asar Imhotep wrote:

Hello MR

The question is problematic, using your example, because you would have to answer for yourself how could there be predestination in a realm with no time? How could there have been a choice made prior to our existence as we know it, if to make a choice, you would have to do it in a realm of time? There would have to be you before the choice is made and you making the choice. One precedes the other, thus a time lapse.

So now the issue becomes purpose. Does life have inherent meaning? If so, is it given to us, or do we develop meaning for ourselves. And also, there is the problem of justice. For if I chose to come to this life and be a mass murderer, or I was "given that assignment" from someone higher up, am I in this life really responsible for my actions? I am just following protocol. These are the fundamental questions you must ask.

I don't claim to have the answer to this. I only point out these examples to show just how the very crux of a given culture's cosmology sometimes can not be compatible with others. So the system of Ifa, at its core, cannot be compatible with that of the Kongo system in Zaire. This is because they have two different reasons for us humans being here. And all of the rituals, laws, taboos, etc. would be set-up based on that premise.

There are some African nations that don't create ancestor shrines. They don't feel it necessary. Whereas there are others where that is the basis of all rituals. This is why you can't always blanket African philosophies in one lump sum because the core cosmologies may conflict. So you have to study a wide variety of cosmologies to see where they differ. For instance, the Bantu people in Rwanda say their God is a Smith, not a potter (like Knum in the Egyptian cosmology). So they have a fundamental difference in explaining the process of human creation. But at the core, they are speaking about "God" creating man from the elements of the earth (the potter from dust, and the smith from metals). And both from a heating process. The basic premise is the same, although using different elements and occupations.

MR wrote:

Hey Asar, just one question I've always wondered about. Why is there necessarily a problem between predestiny and free will when the spirit world is outside of time and space and, therefore, not beholden to its rules? If time is seen 'within' a bubble of material incarnation, then past, present and future are simultaneously visible. Hence, no contradiction. ~Rah

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24909|2008-02-18 12:18:45|asar_imhotep|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>

> ancient egypt was a society based on oracle's and astrology just like the dogon and yoruba, they (dogon and yoruba) can be considered a continuation of the traditional values of old khamy; . alot of people want ancient egypt to be more crass-scientific especially in academic circles but it was a traditional african society where they used oracle's and believed in reincarnation,,,,, > the whole view of AE as a empiracle scientific society is really a view of AE thru the eyes of aristotle's greecian egypt

>

Take it from me, and you don't have to take my word for it, what you think is myth is science. It's just the African method of teaching.

What you read in Egyptology books is almost always wrong when it comes to the meaning of deities, rituals and observances. Lord Scraton is one of the few of European descent who has recognized this in his works Science of the Dogon and Sacred Symbols of the Dogon.

Ta-Meri had an esoteric side to them, that is not up for debate. But the philosophy behind common practices is grossly misunderstand. Most people do not know the philosophy behind divination or oracles. It seems like you are implying that traditional African cosmologies are based on, what Dr. Ben would say, spookism instead of their empirical and theoretical knowledge and observations. The traditional African preferred method of teaching is through myth (for general population), but the substance of all myths (outside the moral component) is based on science.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasuite.com>

| 24910|2008-02-18 13:36:29|Tafari khumbaka|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|

hey thats what i said

asar_imhotep wrote:

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>

> ancient egypt was a society based on oracle's and astrology just like the dogon and yoruba, they (dogon and yoruba) can be considered a continuation of the traditional values of old khamy; . alot of people want ancient egypt to be more crass-scientific especially in academic circles but it was a traditional african society where they used oracle's and believed in reincarnation, ,,, > the whole view of AE as a empiracle scientific society is really a view of AE thru the eyes of aristotle's greecian egypt

>

Take it from me, and you don't have to take my word for it, what you think is myth is science. It's just the African method of teaching.

What you read in Egyptology books is almost always wrong when it comes to the meaning of deities, rituals and observances. Lord Scraton is one of the few of European descent who has recognized this in his works Science of the Dogon and Sacred Symbols of the Dogon.

Ta-Meri had an esoteric side to them, that is not up for debate. But the philosophy behind common practices is grossly misunderstand. Most people do not know the philosophy behind divination or oracles. It seems like you are implying that traditional African cosmologies are based on, what Dr. Ben would say, spookism instead of their empirical and theoretical knowledge and observations. The traditional African preferred method of teaching is through myth (for general population), but the substance of all myths (outside the moral component) is based on science.

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.mochasui te.com>

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24911|2008-02-18 14:27:32|Pearl Jr|Oprah-Traitor to her Gender & Review-Welcome Home Roscoe Jenkins|

OPRAH WINFREY ANSWERS
"TRAITOR TO HER GENDER" AIRING NOW!!!!

www.TRUtalk.us

Elbow Grease Productions

in association with

www.BlackMediaReview.com

Review - Welcome Home Roscoe Jenkins

COME FOR AN EVENING OF COMEDY. COMEDIANS FROM BET, COMIC VIEW, HBO, & C

"Hot" Comedy @
Club Red Square 20001 Ventura Blvd. 101 Exit Winnetka Blvd.

Doors open @ 8pm - Show start @ 8:30pm
Booking: 818.694.3088
Promoted by J.C. 818.454.4578
VIP & Reservations w/ Daphne: 818.941.3361
Spinning Live: DJ Star Trak
Admission: $15.00, $10 w/ Flyer; Two drink minimum

Full Bar & Appetizers

SPONSORED BY: SHOW ME STATE PRODUCTIONS

www.myspace.com/showmestateproductions www.Clubredsquare.com

www.myspace.com/showmestateproductions

Last Wednesday's comedy night was off the chain! Cecil and I laughed so hard, our cheeks hurt!

Come and have some fun and lots of laughs!

Sincerely,

Pearl Jr
Elbow Grease Productions

www.BlackWomenNeedLoveToo.com

| 24912|2008-02-18 14:27:42|Tafari khumbaka|africa and math|

hey check this out,,,and it gets even better as he lectures

<http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/198>

click above

forward to interested parties

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

| 24913|2008-02-18 14:28:05|Tafari khumbaka|divination and oracles|

here is where i said divination and oracle's are based on logic and rationale thought and there is a way too unlock the myth's of AE and other ancient societies , DR. ben was right when saying AE was not based on spookism, and AE was not a atheistic society either nor was it a society that was science for science sake, as marimba ani has so beautifully taught us,,, they used oracles like Ifa and metu-neter and the great oracle of Tibet;

many academians laugh that priest were behind walls and in elaborate statues speaking as if the statue was actually speaking,,, they did this over millenia „sons of farmers in many cases that were trained in the use of oracles,accepted into the temple they were not tricking people likescholar's say.....they were using oracles to answer the peoples concerns and the people knew this the same as chinese people know that there are people under statues and costumes of their many festivals; these priest use oracles and astrology for medical diagnosis and prognosis also,,,the medical knowledge was scientific but it was not western empirical science, it more closely aligned with tibetan medical practices and was both esoteric and scientific

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

To: isosceles woody

From: Tafari khumbaka

Date: Wed, 6 Feb 2008 10:11:05 -0800 (PST)

Subject: Re: [Ta_Seti] Fwd: boogie213 sent you a video!

myth like the illyad , where troy was actually found or the other world myths that are based on historical facts,,,,, ramayana or popul voh etc.

its a way of writing that ancient masters used and only knew .
 yes the bible is definately myth one of the worser written mythological works,fraught with contradictions from writers who have added to it over millenia, writers who in some cases knew little of the allegories and orientalism and timelines of their predecessors, the power of human-socio dynamics is n the myth , the myth is were u truly learn lessons for life is the ramayana myth ? the bhaga-vad-gita ? , what about the the tale of two brothers yes yes yes,,,are they also history lessons yes!; people in india may fight u about their holy books and the people belonging too islam may kill u same with the jews when one is in a religion its like having on horse peripheral blinders, i think my thang is actually real and how can some1 believe in a elephant headed boy yet i believe in a flying god-man or talking snakes! or a world flood and all the creatures of the world in a boat..... ::;
 check out :
 mircea eliade
 joseph campbell
 gary greenberg
 ahmed osman
 remember the dreaded dysyus are still in india also, but that does not make the GREAT WILD SPECTACular tales and stories of indra and krishnaa literally historical fact.
 the Dogon of west africa gave us the secret to unlocking all ancient writing and marimba ani in yurugu explains it all, also dieterlin in conversations with Ogotomelli and also in his book the pale fox, they show us how to use the 4 words benne-so ,,giri-so ,, etc.etc.....

tafari

cristofori whitakara wrote:

thank you for your answer. it takes me back to my original question. is the bible myth then if in modern times we have descendants of the biblical canaanites?

Tafari khumbaka wrote:

the caanites ,the old city states of sumer eridu, nippur, lagash, ur and also susa and elam were in their golden period and infancy black ( dark brown -black melinated ) people, and their are still blacks in those areas from 10,000 b.c. until now ,;the work of biologist are proving the archaeology to be correct ( pictures and right brain culture) that those people call caanan, Ca-annu were black,,,

cristofori whitakara wrote:

being descendants of the biblical kannanites

Tafari khumbaka wrote:
liars about what?

crisofori whitakara wrote:
if the bible is a myth then are these people liars?

Note: forwarded message attached.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Subject: boogie213 sent you a video!

From: YouTube Service

To: boogie_down_black@yahoo.com

Date: Thu, 31 Jan 2008 14:00:04 -0800 (PST)

YouTube Broadcast Yourself?

boogie213 wants to share a video with you

watch video

Video Description

As these folks just said, they are the aborigines of the Holy Land, descendants of the remnants of the ancient Canaanites whom Yahweh let remain in the land after their people apostatized from El El Yon (Yahweh), causing most of them into the Diaspora in lower Africa. Genesis 9:25 -27 (when read according to correct Hebrew grammar) clearly teaches the Canaanites in America will be the victimized ebedim (slaves) to the Yephetics (Europeans) and later become the "men and women" servants to Yahweh EloheShem in leading a world wide last days revival (Acts 2:18). Ebedim can mean either a slave or a minister as Moses was called. To accept my friend request, click here. To respond to boogie213, click here. Thanks,

Using YouTube

YouTube Help

Check the Help Center for answers to common questions.

Your Account Settings

To change your preferences, settings, or personal info, go to the 'My Account' section.

Email Notifications

To change or cancel email notifications from YouTube, go to the Email Options section of your Profile.

Report Spam Email

If this is a spam email, please report it.

boogie213

2008 YouTube, Inc.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Never miss a thing. Make Yahoo your homepage.

Tafari-sudra, Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24914|2008-02-18 16:58:10|elliottandelliottmtg|Re: africa and math| excellent video

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Tafari khumbaka wrote:

>
> hey check this out,,and it gets even better as he lectures
> <http://www.ted.com/index.php/talks/view/id/198>
> click above
>
> forward to interested parties
>
>
>
>
> Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka
>
>
> -----
> Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile.

Try it now.

>
> | 24915|2008-02-18 17:40:42|MR|Re: African Fractals: Video Lecture|
I think many of the differences you point out are minor, for instance, between a 'smith' and a 'potter'. They both have a creative function and the case can be made that they represent the same divine propensity toward creation. My comment regarding time/space and predestination includes all dimensions where choice is possible. Outside of time, outside of space, lies what Ra Un Nefer Amen called Amenta, the Formative Void. There is no time there. No space there. And yet, it is integrally connected to the realms/dimensions where time and space do occur. The predictive texts (koran, bible, book of the coming forth by day) come from that realm, as do the 'powers' of prophets and seers. ~Rah

On Feb 18, 2008 1:59 PM, Asar Imhotep <asar\_imhotep@yahoo.com> wrote:

Hello MR

The question is problematic, using your example, because you would have to answer for yourself how could there be predestination in a realm with no time? How could there have been a choice made prior to our existence as we know it, if to make a choice, you would have to do it in a realm of time? There would have to be you before the choice is made and you making the choice. One precedes the other, thus a time lapse.

So now the issue becomes purpose. Does life have inherent meaning? If so, is it given to us, or do we develop meaning for ourselves. And also, there is the problem of justice. For if I chose to come to this life and be a mass murderer, or I was "given that assignment" from someone higher up, am I in this life really responsible for my actions? I am just following protocol. These are the fundamental questions you must ask.

I don't claim to have the answer to this. I only point out these examples to show just how the very crux of a given culture's cosmology sometimes can not be compatible with others. So the system of Ifa, at its core, cannot be compatible with that of the Kongo system in Zaire. This is because they have two different reasons for us humans being here. And all of the rituals, laws, taboos, etc. would be set-up based on that premise.

There are some African nations that don't create ancestor shrines. They don't feel it necessary. Whereas there are others where that is the basis of all rituals. This is why you can't always blanket African philosophies in one lump sum because the core cosmologies may conflict. So you have to study a wide variety of cosmologies to see where they differ. For instance, the Bantu people in Rwanda say their God is a Smith, not a potter (like Knum in the Egyptian cosmology). So they have a fundamental difference in explaining the process of human creation. But at the core, they are speaking about "God" creating man from the elements of the earth (the potter from dust, and the smith from metals). And both from a heating process. The basic premise is the same, although using different elements and occupations.

MR <Rahkyt@gmail.com> wrote:

Hey Asar, just one question I've always wondered about. Why is there necessarily a problem between predestiny and free will when the spirit world is outside of time and space and, therefore, not beholden to its rules? If time is seen 'within' a bubble of material incarnation, then past, present and future are simultaneously visible. Hence, no contradiction. ~Rah

Asar Imhotep
<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

Be a better friend, newshound, and know-it-all with Yahoo! Mobile. Try it now.

—

"The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists." - J. Edgar Hoover

| 24916|2008-02-18 21:57:38|Mahari Mengistu|Re: The Bantu in Ancient Egypt|
Asar,

White historians often or even usually discount the stories of "connections" to Egypt by inner-Afrakans as lies. And there does seem to be a tendency for Afrakans to disclaim their Afrakan-ness in favor of "something else": Arab or whatever. Whether Afrakans lie or not - and of course lying is common amongst all people - we know unquestionably that these europeans lie consistently: so they are really the ones to suspect.

Nonetheless, what is the evidence that makes you believe in the veracity of these accounts of migrations from and connections to Misri by these Afrakan groups? (BTW, it is interesting that this [Misri] is close to the biblical or Hebrew term for Egypt - "Mizraim".)
HTP,
Mahari

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Asar Imhotep wrote:

- >
- > Ferg
- >
- > Good work as always. Yeah, the Cameroon hypothesis doesn't make any sense and flies in the face of all of the Bantu speaking people's oral tradition which say they come from Ta-Meri, even the Zulus. Here is the prevalent theory
- >
- >
- >
- > OMLL (Eurocores, ESF) ? Language, Culture and Genes in Bantu:
- > a Multidisciplinary Approach of the Bantu-speaking populations of Africa
- >
- > Map 1. Bantu Expansion: Presumed expansion routes.
- > Zones retained for hypotheses testing.
- >
- > Presumed major expansion routes, convergence zones, and secondary expansion zones. The Bantu homeland is situated in the Northwest (borderland Nigeria-Cameroon). From this place, the Bantu populations gradually moved across the rainforest to the East (one major movement) and to the South (other major movement). Some of eastern populations continued their southward spread. Convergence between eastern and western populations occurred at different times and places (cf. the Ambo population, R22 (Guthrie's classification). The different shades (colours) in the arrows have been used to differentiate major regional "migration" movements. Map created with Bantu Map Maker (T. Schadeberg, Leiden University, The Netherlands.)
- > But this again doesn't match up with the oral tradition of the people of Zaire (Kongo). Here is an account that places them in the

Sahara before the desertification period. [Here are the notes taken from my Bantu Cosmology & The Origins of Egyptian Civilization notes]:

> =====

> Babutidi in "Bantu Migration and Settlement," in Laman's Kongo Cultural Collection, (20,000 pp. microfilm, Lidingo, Sweden, 1914. Film No. 1, Cahier XVIII/13), goes on to state:

>

> "A long time ago in antiquity, people did not exist in this Lower-Congo; they come from the north of the country. There also, in the north, people came from far off north, the very north of Kayinga. Kayinga is the name of the country [region] where lived our ancestors in antiquity? There they already knew how to weave the cloths they wore, forge hoes and knives that they used. The main reason for their coming in this country [area] was the famine that hit Kayinga. For many years the drought reigned; crops and fruit trees they planted dried up. They suffered a lot for this. Unable to support the suffering they said to each other: "Let's go to Banda-Mputu [Let's pass through the dense forest, the unbreakable wall] and organize chieftaincies, because we have a lot of hunger up here." So they agreed: "Let's go."

>

> In the past, two chieftaincies ruled this part of the world [region]. When people escaped from the north of Kayinga, they separated on their way; some crossed the Nzadi [Congo river], these are people who live in the Nsundi area [the left shore of Nzadi] and others are those who live on the Simu-Kongo [the right shore of the Nzadi]."

>

> Babutidi in "Bantu Migration and Settlement," in Laman's Kongo Cultural Collection, (20,000 pp. microfilm, Lidingo, Sweden, 1914. Film No. 1, Cahier XVIII/13), goes on to state:

>

> "A long time ago in antiquity, people did not exist in this Lower-Congo; they come from the north of the country. There also, in the north, people came from far off north, the very north of Kayinga. Kayinga is the name of the country [region] where lived our ancestors in antiquity? There they already knew how to weave the cloths they wore, forge hoes and knives that they used. The main reason for their coming in this country [area] was the famine that hit Kayinga. For many years the drought reigned; crops and fruit trees they planted dried up. They suffered a lot for this. Unable to support the suffering they said to each other: "Let's go to Banda-Mputu [Let's pass through the dense forest, the unbreakable wall] and organize chieftaincies, because we have a lot of hunger up here." So they agreed: "Let's go."

>

> In the past, two chieftaincies ruled this part of the world [region]. When people escaped from the north of Kayinga, they separated on their way; some crossed the Nzadi [Congo river], these are people who live in the Nsundi area [the left shore of Nzadi] and others are those who live on the Simu-Kongo [the right shore of the Nzadi]."

> =====

>

> Kayinga is the Kongo name for the Sahara. The accounts from their historians say they didn't come from West Africa, but from the far north of the Sahara. I am not saying they didn't live in West Africa, but that we cannot say ALL of the Bantu speaking people left to populate southern Africa from Cameroon. Their account of famine agrees with the current data on the Naptan Pluvial period from 10,000 BCE to around 5,500 BCE. This is a period in North African history where what is now the Sahara (Arabic for desert), was plush land and was hospitable for large populations of people because of the consistent rains due to the collapse of the last ice age. After this period of immense rain, the rains stopped and the desert began forming around 5000 BCE due to the retreat of the African Monsoon southward. Dates by paleoclimatologists differ in their dates: usually between 5000-3000 BCE.

> The problem is the current data on Bantu dispersion from Cameroon (as seen on the above maps) says they didn't leave until around 5000 BP. For those who do not know, BP means "Before the Present" time. Before the present time is before 1950 AD; so our date for leaving the Cameroon area is around -3000 BCE (5000 BP ? 1950 AD). This is 2000 years after the beginnings of the drying up of what is now the Sahara (5500 BCE).

> ***** [End Notes]

>

> So it's nice to see other work that backs up even this account from 1914. It's kind of hard to make a claim against Bantu migrations out of the Nile Valley when one of their greatest Nsw Bity's was M(u)ntu Hotep III (Muntu being the Bantu singular for man/human being).

>

> Keep em coming. I guarantee I have something to back it up.

>

>

>

>

> Asar Imhotep

> <http://www.asarimhotep.com>

>

> -----

> Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

$$>$$

| 24917|2008-02-18 22:28:19|Mahari Mengistu|Re: The Bantu in Ancient Egypt

An interesting project would be to breakdown the derivation of "Misri". What is its literal meaning? Or did I miss that?

HTP,

Mahari

--- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" wrote:

$$>$$

> Asar,

- > White historians often or even usually discount the stories > of "connections" to Egypt by inner-Afrakans as lies. And there does > seem to be a tendency for Afrakans to disclaim their Afrakan-ness

in > favor of "something else": Arab or whatever. Whether Afrakans lie or > not - and of course lying is common amongst all people - we know > unquestionably that these europeans lie consistently: so they are > really the ones to suspect.

> Nonetheless, what is the evidence that makes you believe in the > veracity of these accounts of migrations from and connections to > Misri by these Afrakan groups? (BTW, it is interesting that this > [Misri]is close to the biblical or Hebrew term for Egypt -

"Mizraim".)

> HTP,

> Mahari

$$>$$

> --- In Ta\_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Asar Imhotep wrote:

 $\gg$

> > Ferg

 $\gg$

> > Good work as always. Yeah, the Cameroon hypothesis doesn't make any > sense and flies in the face of all of the Bantu speaking people's oral > tradition which say they come from Ta-Meri, even the Zulus. Here is > the prevalent theory
> >
> >
> >
> > OMLL (Eurocores, ESF) ? Language, Culture and Genes in Bantu:
> > a Multidisciplinary Approach of the Bantu-speaking populations of > Africa
> >
> > Map 1. Bantu Expansion: Presumed expansion routes.
> > Zones retained for hypotheses testing.
> >
> > Presumed major expansion routes, convergence zones, and secondary > expansion zones. The Bantu homeland is situated in the Northwest > (borderland Nigeria-Cameroon). From this place, the Bantu populations > gradually moved across the rainforest to the East (one major > movement) and to the South (other major movement). Some of eastern > populations continued their southward spread. Convergence between > eastern and western populations occurred at different times and > places (cf. the Ambo population, R22 (Guthrie's classification).
The > different shades (colours) in the arrows have been used to > differentiate major regional "migration" movements. Map created
with
> Bantu Map Maker (T. Schadeberg, Leiden University, The Netherlands.)
> > But this again doesn't match up with the oral tradition of the > people of Zaire (Kongo). Here is an account that places them in the > Sahara before the desertification period. [Here are the notes taken > from my Bantu Cosmology & The Origins of Egyptian Civilization notes]:
> > =====
> > Babutidi in "Bantu Migration > and Settlement," in Laman's Kongo Cultural Collection, (20,000 > pp. microfilm, Lidingo, Sweden, 1914. Film No. 1, Cahier > XVIII/13), goes on to state:
> >
> > "A long time ago in antiquity, people did not exist in > this Lower-Congo; they come from the north of the country.
There

> also, in the north, people came from far off north, the very > north of Kayinga. Kayinga is the name of the country [region] > where lived our ancestors in antiquity? There they already knew > how to weave the cloths they wore, forge hoes and knives that > they used. The main reason for their coming in this country > [area] was the famine that hit Kayinga. For many years the > drought reigned; crops and fruit trees they planted dried up.
 > They suffered a lot for this. Unable to support the suffering > they said to each other: "Let's go to Banda-Mputu [Let's pass > through the dense forest, the unbreakable wall] and organize > chieftaincies, because we have a lot of hunger up here." So
 they > agreed: "Let's go."
 > >
 > > In the past, two chieftaincies ruled this part of the world > [region]. When people escaped from the north of Kayinga, they > separated on their way; some crossed the Nzadi [Congo river], > these are people who live in the Nsundi area [the left shore of > Nzadi] and others are those who live on the Simu-Kongo [the right
 > shore of the Nzadi]."
 > >
 > > Babutidi in "Bantu Migration and Settlement," > in Laman's Kongo Cultural Collection, (20,000 pp. microfilm, Lidingo,
 > Sweden, 1914. Film No. 1, Cahier XVIII/13), goes on to state:
 > >
 > > "A long time ago in antiquity, people did not exist in this Lower-
 > Congo; they come from the north of the country. There also, in the > north, people came from far off north, the very north of Kayinga.
 > Kayinga is the name of the country [region] where lived our ancestors > in antiquity? There they already knew how to weave the cloths they > wore, forge hoes and knives that they used. The main reason for their > coming in this country [area] was the famine that hit Kayinga. For > many years the drought reigned; crops and fruit trees they planted > dried up. They suffered a lot for this. Unable to support the > suffering they said to each other: "Let's go to Banda-Mputu [Let's > pass through the dense forest, the unbreakable wall] and organize > chieftaincies, because we have a lot of hunger up here." So they > agreed: "Let's go."
 > >
 > > In the past, two chieftaincies ruled this part of the world > [region]. When people escaped from the north of Kayinga, they > separated on their way; some crossed the Nzadi [Congo river], these > are people who live in the Nsundi area [the left shore of Nzadi]

and > others are those who live on the Simu-Kongo [the right shore of the > Nzadi]."
> > =====
> >
> > Kayinga is the Kongo name for the Sahara. The accounts from their > historians say they didn't come from West Africa, but from the far > north of the Sahara. I am not saying they didn't live in West Africa,
> but that we cannot say ALL of the Bantu speaking people left to > populate southern Africa from Cameroon. Their account of famine > agrees with the current data on the Naptan Pluvial period from 10,000
> BCE to around 5,500 BCE. This is a period in North African history > where what is now the Sahara (Arabic for desert), was plush land
and > was hospitable for large populations of people because of the > consistent rains due to the collapse of the last ice age. After this > period of immense rain, the rains stopped and the desert began > forming around 5000 BCE due to the retreat of the African Monsoon > southward. Dates by paleoclimatologists differ in their dates:
> usually between 5000-3000 BCE.
> > The problem is the current data on Bantu dispersion from > Cameroon (as seen on the above maps) says they didn't leave until > around 5000 BP. For those who do not know, BP means "Before the > Present" time. Before the present time is before 1950 AD; so our date > for leaving the Cameroon area is around -3000 BCE (5000 BP ? 1950 > AD). This is 2000 years after the beginnings of the drying up of what > is now the Sahara (5500 BCE).
> > ***** [End Notes]
> >
> > So it's nice to see other work that backs up even this account
from > 1914. It's kind of hard to make a claim against Bantu migrations out > of the Nile Valley when one of their greatest Nsw Bity's was M(u) ntu
> Hotep III (Muntu being the Bantu singular for man/human being).
> >
> > Keep em coming. I guarantee I have something to back it up.
> >

> >

> >

> >

> > Asar Imhotep

> > <http://www.asarimhotep.com>

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> > -----

> > Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo!

> Search.

> >

>

| 24918|2008-02-18 22:38:39|shaimesh@grouply.com|International Black Queens Day 3/7/08 @
6pm - NJ|

From:okera322@hotmail.com

International Black Queens Day

DATE: Friday March 7th 2008

TIME: 6:00 pm

LOCATION: The Wisommm African Cultural Center

MORE: 15 James St. Newark, NJ

---

Delicious ideas to please the pickiest eaters. Watch the video on AOL Living.

| 24919|2008-02-19 05:53:13|Asar Imhotep|OT - Tavis Smiley's response to Obama letter|

Peace Phamily. I know this is off topic in comparison to classical African civilizations, but I found Tavis Smiley's response to Barack Obama's letter declining to participate in the State of the Black Union forum in New Orleans interesting given the recent discussion on Obama. Here is the letter in full.

+++++

Commentary by TAVIS SMILEY

Senator Barack Obama and the State of the Black Union 2008

Tom Joyner Morning Show

Thursday, February 14, 2008

By now many, if not most of you, have either read or heard about the letter faxed to me by Senator Barack Obama yesterday to officially inform me that he would not be attending the State of the Black Union symposium next Saturday, February 23, in New Orleans, live on C-SPAN. The letter was apparently made public on the Internet by the Obama campaign.

This morning a few thoughts now about the letter, about Senator Obama and for that matter, about Michelle Obama.

First, I want to thank Senator Obama for his letter, although I regret his decision. I said on Tuesday and I reiterate today, that I believe that this is a critical miscalculation and a missed opportunity.

Having said that, I also feel that should Senator McCain or Governor Huckabee, like Mr. Obama, end up denying our invitation to appear at this annual Black think tank, it would also be for them as well, in the long run, a critical miscalculation and a missed opportunity.

Particularly for Senator John McCain, who appears to now be the presumptive Republican nominee and who decided, as you recall, not to appear last year before Black America in Baltimore.

Indeed, I personally expressed that sentiment to Senator McCain earlier this week. Don't think that in the general election, should he be the nominee, that he ain't going to get reminded frequently that he kept passing on opportunities to speak to Black and Brown audiences. That's pretty much Political Science 101. That's going to happen, trust me.

Two. For the record, with regard to this letter and the statements made therein, my office was never contacted by the Obama campaign offering Michelle Obama as a proxy speaker. It never happened. No letter. No fax. No e-mail. No phone call. No document whatsoever from the Obama camp to my office, ever, regarding Michelle Obama. She was never offered, it was never discussed.

Three. While I have great admiration and affection for Michelle Obama, had she been offered to us I would have respectfully declined. Just as we would have declined had Hillary Clinton offered Bill Clinton; had John McCain offered Cindy McCain; had Mike Huckabee suggested Janet Huckabee.

By any measure, by any measure, Michelle Obama's personal story is empowering and inspiring. I am moved by her personal story, as I have been, since I first met her. From the South side of Chicago to Princeton, to Harvard Law, it is a quintessential American story of overcoming.

That said, last year at Howard, live on PBS, we spoke to candidates only. And that's what we intend to do next Saturday, February 23, in New Orleans, live on C-SPAN, speak to candidates only, with all due respect.

And speaking of Howard, point number four. When we invited Senator Obama last year to Howard, with all of the other announced Democratic candidates at the time, so many people, so many people, said publicly, that Tavis is stacking the deck in Obama's favor. Black college. Black book. Black audience. Black journalists. Black moderator. 'Smiley is stacking the deck for Obama,' they said.

The Washington Post Editorial Board said that to me to my face. 'Aren't you stacking the deck for Mr. Obama?' Now, eight months later, another simple invitation, along with all the other remaining viable candidates, and now he's being boxed in by me?

Respectfully, that dog just won't hunt. Because by that logic, at this point in the campaign, any gathering of Black thought-leaders, opinion-makers and influencers who invite Senator Obama to appear on stage at a nationally televised event, that invitation --- in and of itself, given that logic --- would be tantamount to 'boxing him in.'

This was simply an invitation, nothing more. There has not been, there is not now, nor will there be, any effort on my part to snap on the Obama campaign, or the McCain campaign or the Huckabee campaign, if they choose not to attend. It was just an invitation to him and every other candidate. Accept or reject. An invitation, nothing more, nothing less.

I've lost count now of how many debates the Democrats have had to address other issues that, in fact, do matter to us. But I can tell you exactly how many times they've gathered to specifically address our issues. There is no comparison.

Point number five. Senator Obama is on a mission. As he suggested in his letter, his mission is to become the next President of the United States. And I ain't mad at him. As I've said before, and I'll say it again, I revel in his historic run for the White House. As a Black man, I celebrate his past accomplishments. I celebrate his future aspirations.

Respectfully, I knew Barack Obama long before most of us learned to pronounce his name correctly. So long ago, in fact, that years ago Barack Obama was working with the kids in my Foundation, speaking to them about leadership development way back when.

I have no personal animus toward Barack Obama.

To quote that great philosopher, George Wallace, 'I love him and there ain't nothing he can do about it!' That said, I love Black people, too. And I have a vocation. I have a calling. I have a purpose. And since this ain't just about me, you have a purpose too. You have a calling, you have a vocation as well.

And I would hope, this morning, that at the center of our collective calling, is an unconditional love for Black people. His job right now is to get elected. Our job is to do our part to ensure that whoever gets elected will be held accountable to the issues that matter most to Black people.

And in that regard, all that I have ever tried to do, with the media platforms, including this one, that I have been blessed to have access to, is to attempt to speak a love language, to ask critical questions, to engage in sober assessment and to counsel wise enthusiasm.

If Barack Obama is your candidate, I ain't mad at you! If Hillary Clinton is your candidate, I ain't mad at you! I am not personally in the endorsement business. My small part is to engage in Socratic questioning. As a Black person, a member of the media, I've said many times on this program, my job is to ask questions, raise issues, address topics, and profile people that otherwise wouldn't get that kind of air play.

Now, as the old folk used to say, 'I done spoke my piece.'

Senator Clinton has decided to join us. Senator Obama has decided not to. Senator McCain and Governor Huckabee, we shall see.

But once again, it has never, ever been about them. It has always been about us. We cannot confuse candidates with the cause. The cause of suffering Black people who are catching hell every day.

So, I personally; I can only speak for Tavis, I personally have no intention, no interest in discussing this matter beyond this commentary no matter what's said about me. Except to promote the Symposium, which I've done every year for almost 10 years now.

I'm told by the folk in the Lt. Governor's office in Louisiana that it looks like we will have the largest gathering of volunteers for a single day next Friday on our Day of Service, since Katrina hit back in 2005. That's what matters. Loving and serving everyday Black people.

Our conversation next Saturday promises to be spirited, soulful and inspiring.

Finally this morning, as I always say?today, more than ever?love wins. Love wins. Love wins. Happy Valentine's Day!

To hear Tavis' commentary, please visit <http://www.tavistalks.com>

Asar Imhotep

<http://www.asarimhotep.com>

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24920|2008-02-19 07:46:59|Tafari khumbaka|traditional africa & afr. america|

<http://www.tauienterprises.com/store/p/349-The-Son-of-Nkonya>Returns.aspx>

click above

once we wrote with pyramids now we must write in the hearts of men

tafari

Tafari-sudra,Khumbaka

---

Looking for last minute shopping deals? Find them fast with Yahoo! Search.

| 24921|2008-02-19 07:47:14|Terry|Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands 2|

Don't put that on "anyone." There is nothing you can say to convince me if referring me to a website and a best seller is the best you can do in describing the public policy initiatives of a man who plans on being the first Black President.

I don't even have to do that with Dr. King and Malcolm X - and they're deceased. Dr. King pronounced he was "Black and Beautiful" over 30 years ago. Each was very verbally direct about their position on an array of policies that impacted their people.

Now, I don't expect such fanfare from Obama - but I expect to hear something that sounds like bravery with respect to the conditions faced by Black people on the ground.

I can't make that any plainer.

T.H.

--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Emeagwali, Gloria (History)" wrote:

>

> Sorry but since you don't like books, magazines, websites and speeches
> there is nothing anyone can do to convince you.Good luck.

>

> GE

>

> _____

>

> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on behalf of Terry

> Sent: Sun 2/17/2008 10:35 AM

> To: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com

> Subject: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands 2

>

>

>

>

>

> I just want to say this too.

>

> I approach these conversations with great openmindedness. I realize there may be speeches or public discussions I've missed that might bring about more clarity re: Obama's position. I'm ready and waiting for more understanding.

>

> But, I'm struck here with how "support" works. Once we decide we'll support one another - like in basketball - we hunch our back, we dig in and we don't even hear people's concerns anymore.

>

> If I were a supporter of Obama, I would have to at least admit there are some holes - that there is a void in his presentation. I'd have to at the very least tell people I'm just waiting for him to fill that void - rather than sending intelligent people to a website.

>

> Our support of a candidate should fluid enough to at least recognize his weaknesses.

>

> If you can't recognize his weaknesses, the Republicans will and they'll use them to their advantage.

>

> In other words, you can't help your candidate if you can't send his campaign a letter of support that also criticizes his failure to annunciate concerns of Black people. That would make his support system as weak in substance as his speeches.

>

> Obama will only become a better candidate and will only be a great President, if we criticize him.

>

>

> Here's a word from S.E. Anderson at

>

> <http://blackeducator.blogspot.com/2008/01/obamamania-does-not-mean-end-of-racism.html>

>

>

> Thanks,

>

> Terry

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

> --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Mahari Mengistu" mahari@ wrote:

>>

>> Based on that argument I would assume that you have NEVER voted for a >> white President either. The simple truth is that with the exception >> of Lyndon Johnson - who we didn't vote for - none of them have done
>> sh-t for us. They have not "delivered".

>> Give me a break! You just don't want to be generous -give the >> benefit of the doubt - to a black man. You need to examine your self.

>> HTP,

>> Mahari

> >
> > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, "Terry" terrylynnh@ wrote:
> > >
> > > Well, you've all said a mouthful.
> > >
> > >
> > > I've written so much on this matter in emails to folk and at groups.
> > > I'll be happy to gather it all together and post it here. It all
> > may > > > seem a bit scattered, but I think you'll get my drift.
> > >
> > > Barack Obama has been terribly, downright shamefully non specific
> > about
> > > his socio political intentions. Having served as an appointee for a > > > public official, and understanding the importance of effectively
> > > communicating the scope of one's public policy in campaigning, I've > > > never really seen anyone present so evasively. In any case, I have > > > expectations of someone who particularly wants to be the first Black > > > President.
> > >
> > > I know he doesn't chat about it, reflect upon or acknowledge it, but > > > that's what he'll be. If he can't discuss the war that has been > > waged
> > > against Black people in this country at least as well as he can > > > articulate public policy related with Iraq - then I can't support > > him.
> > >
> > > I may wish I could support him, but I can't. I take some pride in
> > being
> > > consistent. How could I have a site like terryhowcott.com
> > > , and then support someone who chants
> > about
> > > hope - and regurgitates the title of Sammy Davis Jr.'s > > autobiography?
> > > (Yes we can). I'm too committed to substance to change in the > > manner
> > > Obama would like.
> > >
> > > If he comes correct, and produces some sound discussion of who he's > > > paying attention to and why, I'll be there for a Brother. But, if
> > he's > > > not me and the masses of Black people living in this place, then > > I'm not
> > > with him.
> > >
> > > It's very late now, but I'll definitely come back tomorrow evening

> > with > > > points I've raised elsewhere (so I don't type my keys.
> > >
> > > On Kwame, yes he's really hurt us bad, but I don't suggest he is the > > > concern per se. His conduct is no less troubling than the > > behavior we > > > see coming out of the Black Congressional Congress. Doesn't matter
> > how
> > > a person doesn't represent, but rather that they don't.
> > >
> > > Thanks now, and good morning -
> > >
> > > Terry
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > > --- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray wrote:
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > What a load of crap!!
> > > >
> > > > The Republicans would much rather have Hillary to oppose so that
> > they > > > can get down to the nasty business of tainting her with the Bill
> > Clinton
> > > brush. I think they would have a very hard time trying to taint
> > Obama
> > > with any scandalous past, simply because he doesn't have one.
> > > >
> > > > Regards,
> > > >
> > > > Peter
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > To: Ta_Seti@: arumeas@: Wed, 13 Feb 2008 20:42:29 +0000Subject:
> > > [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > Obama is the last best strategy the right has for getting a > > Republican

>>> back into office. They are betting that if he wins the Democratic >>> Nomination, the majority of mainstream America will not vote for >> him due >>> to a lack of confidence in his experience and perhaps the fact that >> he >>> is black.--- In Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com, Peter Gray atenergy@
>> wrote:>>>
>>> Well summarised, Gloria. I totally agree. Let's help him fly past >>> Hillary's delegate count.>> Peter>>>> To: Ta_Seti@: emeagwali@:
>> Tue,
>>> 12 Feb 2008 23:00:13 -0500Subject: RE: [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's
>> Unseen
>>> Hands...>> Yes. Agreed. Obama has great potential. McCain is a >>> chameleon and a war monger.> Huckabee is humorous but a theological >>> dinosaur. Hillary is nice but opportunistic.> Obama is a man of the >>> present and the future. Lawyer, philosopher, psychologist, >> novelist,>
>>> visionary, orator and activist. ....Read 'Dreams of my father.'
>> Go
>>> hear him speak. > He needs our support. We have to make sure that >> he is
>>> not hijacked by the rightwing.>>>> Gloria Emeagwali >
>>> www.africahistory.net>>>>>>> From: Ta_Seti@yahoogroups.com on >>> behalf of Paul Kekai ManansalaSent: Mon 2/11/2008 8:26 PMTo:
>> Ta_Seti@:
>>> [Ta_Seti] Re: Fwd: Obama's Unseen Hands...>>
>>> <http://biggestloser.msn.com/>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>

---

>>>> Climb to the top of the charts! Play the word scramble challenge
>> with >>> star power.
>>>>
>>> http://club.live.com/star\_shuffle.aspx?
>> icid=starshuffle_wlmailtextlink_j\ >>> an
>>>>
>>>
>>
>>
>

